Hijackers holding out for prisoners' release

NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI) — Palestinian guerrillas announced today they would free about 100 more hostages from a hijacked French airliner — all but those with Israeli or dual nationality. They extended to Sunday their deadline for release of imprisoned guerrillas from five nations.

The dramatic announcement by the hijackers came just minutes before the expiration of the original 8 a.m.

deadline they had set for Israel and the four other countries to release 53 "freedom fighters" in exchange for the lives of 209 hostages they were holding at Uganda's Entebbe airport. The new move would leave more than 100 hostages still held by the hijackers at the airport.

It was broadcast by Uganda radio shortly after the Israeli government announced it had decided to open negotiations for the release of 40 imprisoned guerrillas demanded by the gunmen who seized the Air France jet Airbus from Athens to Uganda Sunday.

The Israeli national radio said the cabinet agreed to authorize a team of ministers "to open negotiations with the view of releasing the prisoners."

The Israeli cabinet met in the Defense Ministry building in Tel Aviv as dozens of relatives of Israeli hostages gathered outside to demonstrate for the release of the imprisoned guerrillas.

The hijackers' statement today set a new deadline of 7 a.m. EDT Sunday for compliance with their demands. It said that in addition to the Jewish hostages and those of "dual nationality" — presumably non-Israeli Jews — they would continue to hold the airliner and its crew.

The guerrillas did not repeat their previous threat to massacre hostages by blowing them up in the Air France Airbus.

The hijackers had released 48 hostages Wednesday — women, children and elderly passengers. The promised release of 100 more would leave 109 still held at the Entebbe airport, four days after the Air France jet Airbus was hijacked as it left Athens on a flight from Tel Aviv to Paris.

Thunderstorm causes many power outages

More than 1,000 Manchester homes and businesses lost their electrical power Wednesday night in a fast-moving thunderstorm which caused little flooding.

Elsewhere in the state, the high winds and heavy rain knocked down trees and power lines, blacking out large areas of northwestern Connecticut.

A Hartford Electric Light Co. spokesman said there were three blackouts in Manchester during the storm. At 9:46 p.m., an estimated 24 customers on W. Center St. and 1,034 customers on Broad St. and W. Middle Tpke. lost power. Service was restored in about an hour. At 10:20 p.m., service blackouts affected six customers on N. Lakewood Circle; lights came back on in two hours.

HELCO officials said another 440 customers lost their power for 40 minutes, starting at 12:15 a.m., while repairs were being made.

The Southern New England Telephone Co. reported "minimal" trouble in the Manchester area, with service interruptions affecting about 50 customers, most of them in Glastonbury.

Flooding problems were reported in a parking lot at Green Rd. and Woodbridge St. and on property at Dougherty and McKee Sts., according to the town Highway Department.

Highway crews were out in full force this morning, cleaning up after several minor erosion problems.

The Town Fire Department reported a handful of emergency calls about flooded cellars, fewer than expected.

Few storm-related incidents were reported in Manchester area towns. In Vernon, there was a washout near a construction site on West Rd.; in South Windsor, minor flash flooding was recorded; and in Coventry, police said a few street lights were hit by lightning.

After dumping between an inch and an inch and a half of rain in southern New England, the storm began moving out to sea by early morning. Tonight's forecast is for partly cloudy weather, with Friday expected to be partly sunny.

In northwestern Connecticut, Connecticut Light & Power said about 2,000 homes and businesses were without power for periods ranging from a few minutes to several hours. About 1,550 customers were affected in Waterbury, Goshen and Cornwall, while 200 customers were blacked out in Prospect, 175 in Colebrook and 17 in Winsted.

In Massachusetts, about 4,000 Boston area homes were blacked out, lights were delayed at Logan International Airport, heavy rain closed roads into Williamson, Mass., and a foot of water covered roads in North Adams, Mass.

In Vermont, Bennington officials estimated $10,000 in damages from a separate storm which began late Tuesday and ended at 9 p.m. Wednesday. Apple crops in the area were heavily damaged and state emergency funds were being sought.

Rains roamed the length of the Atlantic Seaboard and stretched into the Ohio Valley, eastern Michigan and the Gulf Coast area. A few tornadoes were reported near Buffalo, N.Y., causing some tree damage.

State starting new fiscal year on 'cautiously optimistic' note

HARTFORD (UPI) — Having survived 12 months of changing expectations about its financial health, Connecticut began a new fiscal year "cautiously optimistic" today.

The state began operating on a $1.8 billion budget, which gives business tax relief, but avoids higher levies for the citizenry, mostly through use of a series of bookkeeping devices. State Comptroller Edward Caldwell said Wednesday when the books were closed the state would complete the year with a $11 million surplus, a far cry from the $80 million deficit Gov. Ella T. Grasso warned of last November.

She ordered a series of austerity measures to eliminate part of the deficit — including laying off 500 state workers.

The legislature approved her bookkeeping devices — and added some of its own — to enable the state to finish the year in the black and give expectation of the same for the fiscal year beginning today.

But they rejected the two key parts of plan, lengthening the week of state employees without a pay raise and liquidation of a $29 million veterans fund.

"I'm cautiously optimistic" about the coming year, Mrs. Grasso said Wednesday. "The indices and signs are good."

Finance Commissioner Jay O. Tepper, Mrs. Grasso's top budgetary expert, said he didn't expect the state to face the same problems in the coming year it did in the past.

"We think things look better, the projected revenues look to be accurate and we hope to be able to control spending," he said.

Tepper said a change in the collec-

President begins busy round of Bicentennial activities

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford today began a busy round of Bicentennial activities with a salute to the nation's past and present and a prediction that "the best of the American adventure" will be in the future.

"Our country must never cease to be a place where men and women try the untried, test the impossible and take uncertain paths into the unknown," Ford said in a prepared speech for the dedication of the new Smithsonian Air and Space Museum.

The next 100 years of American adventuring, the President said, can mean harvesting "the great riches of the oceans," developing farm methods "so all the deserts of the earth can bloom" and curing cancer and heart disease.

"The hallmark of the American adventure has been a willingness—even an eagerness—to reach for the unknown," the President said.

Ford also was presiding at the Capitol opening of a Centennial Safe with mementos of 1876.

A parade, a protest march and a gigantic fireworks display were on tap for the next three days in observance of the 200th anniversary of the nation's birth. Ford's appearance at the opening of the Air and Space Museum and the Capitol's "safecracking" kicked off a busy

Bicentennial schedule which will take him to Valley Forge, Philadelphia, New York City and Charlottesville, Va. during the holiday weekend.

Thousands of visitors thronged into the city for the weekend events, although hotels in the area still had vacancies.

The Air and Space Museum, covering three city blocks in the Mall area between the Capitol and the Washington Monument, cost $41.5 million and is expected to attract up to 50,000 visitors a day. It features U.S. progress from Kittyhawk to the first moon landing.

Town offices to be closed on Monday

The Municipal Building will be closed Monday, July 5 in observance of the July 4 holiday. In case of emergency, the following phone numbers will be in service: Highway, 649-5070; refuse, 649-1886; sanitary sewer and water, 649-9697.

Coming Friday

Friday's Herald will include a special supplement, "Happy Birthday, U.S.A.," covering the area's history and Bicentennial events in stories and photographs. Also included are many more pictures of the recent Manchester Bicentennial parade.

Friday night, the Manchester Bicentennial Committee and the American Legion are cosponsoring a fireworks display at Mt. Nebo. Saturday night will be the rain date.

Tolland man dies in collision

Charles E. Adams, 67, of Rt. 30, Tolland, was pronounced dead at the scene of this accident on Upper Butcher Rd., Ellington, Wednesday night. Adams was driving a pickup truck east and collided head-on with a car coming over the crest of the hill driven by Robert MacVarish, 22, of Crystal Lake Rd., Ellington. MacVarish was treated and released at Rockville General Hospital. The accident is still under investigation, state police said.

Opinion

Postal crisis could be worse

When people start reducing serious things to the silly level we know the situation is bad — as when Lyndon Johnson went around turning off lights in the White House, or when the postmaster in one city orders mailmen to take shortcuts across lawns.

Unscreening all the light bulbs in the United States wouldn't have made a dent in the billions of dollars Johnson poured into the Vietnam sinkhole. Neither would the grave financial crisis the U.S. Postal Service is in be helped in the slightest if every letter carrier walked over every lawn in the country.

The magnitude of that crisis is becoming staggering. The service's deficit may total $1.4 billion this fiscal year, compared with only $13 million in 1973, when we thought things were bad enough.

What would help? Failing a massive boost in the government's subsidy, which Congress seems to be in no mood to approve, closing smaller post offices would, says John Gentile, chief financial officer of the U.S. Postal Service. So would ending Saturday delivery, or delivering mail only every other day, or charging everybody on a postal route a monthly fee.

So would increasing postal rates again, although here we are already close to the point of diminishing returns, if not past it, as more and more businesses, as well as the government itself, are cutting down on their mailings or are looking for other ways to deliver bills, checks, notices, etc.

For whatever comfort it may be to Americans, it is interesting to learn from a recently reported survey that imperfect as it is, the U.S. Postal Service is superior to the systems in many other countries.

It may be cheaper in some countries — in India, for example, it costs as little as two cents to mail a letter — but there as elsewhere low postal rates usually reflect a low state of the economy.

Even in Western Europe and Japan, postal service has been deteriorating and there are routine deficits, which are met out of profits from telephone and telegraph services, which are also government run.

In many countries it is customary to pay a steep surcharge to insure a delivery, and pilferage and the opening of mail by censors are common.

In any event, no country has anything approaching the volume of mail that is handled in the United States, and few have anything like the distances involved.

The U.S. Postal Service is a lot like the trolley cars our cities used to have. We never appreciated their value until they were gone, and then we wished we had done something to preserve them when we could.

The large economy barrel

In case you've ever wondered why a barrel of oil holds 42 gallons instead of some nice round number, or even if you haven't, National Geographic Society researchers who specialize in odd bits of intelligence have come up with the answer.

It stems from the fact that back in the 19th century, oil was transported in wooden, 50-

New York City's big league thievery

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON — In my callow youth I lived for a time in New York City's Greenwich Village, an experience much enjoyed. My room was over an Italian grocery run by my landlord, Mr. Calabrese.

Mr. Calabrese was skimming through the Daily News one evening when his eye lit on an item reporting that a visitor from Des Moines had been roused of $1,200 by a man and wife playing the old ladder game.

"Gee!" exclaimed Mr. Calabrese. "Serve the sucker right. What'd he expect coming here from where-the-hell-that-place-is, Des Moines?"

I pluck this bit of trivia from memory's bank because New York is performing up to expectations in its preparation for the Democratic National Convention, opening in its front yard July 12. Assorted news organizations have cut back on working space and physical equipment originally planned to meet their coverage of the monkey-shines in Madison Square Garden.

The reason given is price gouging

Telephone Co. is levying special "Convention service charges." Units that cost $4,000 at the Miami Conventions in 1972 are going for $7,000 in the nation's budget game capital. Then there are the delivery fees for every ounce of equipment carried into the Garden — $15 an hour per man. The workers get $12.44 an hour; the balance is a surcharge for "administrative and supervisory" costs.

Alas. We folks who participate in and cover national political Conventions have been spoiled. For many years we have snuggled up to the relatively hospitable bosoms of such hamlets as Miami, Chicago, San Francisco and Los Angeles. Four years ago I didn't mind spending $2.50 for a ham sandwich at Miami's Eden Roc Hotel because I knew it would cost $5 in New York. And San Francisco, of course, is nice even to people from Des Moines.

Then there is Chicago. Its businessmen have always gone easy on the larceny bit for the good reason that if they didn't Mayor Dick Daley would exile them to Cicero, with no time off for good behavior.

The big difference is that those cities are run by somebody, whereas New York has no perceptible government. Its mayor, poor Abe Beame, couldn't run the Student Council at Slippery Rock College, and its City Council apparently is in the employ of the labor unions. In New York, theft is not only permissible, it is a sacred tradition. The city is headquarters for the flower and chivalry of confidence men posing as merchants and trash collectors.

Apparently, the Democratic National Committee had no expert advice on New York's manners and morals. It just went ahead and scheduled the Convention in that admittedly exciting city as though its pocketbook would be as safe there as in Goldsboro, N.C. Mr. Calabrese — who, incidentally, led me when I was broke — could have told them that New York treats all outsiders impartially — like dogs.

Soviets yield a missile point

Ray Cromley

WASHINGTON — With the clamor of the presidential primaries occupying our attention these past few months, the signing of what may be the most significant agreement we've made with the Soviet Union has passed virtually unnoticed.

This is the agreement on peaceful nuclear testing.

The crucial point here is that the Soviet Union, for the first time in its history, has agreed to on-site inspection of nuclear weapons, possibly including intercontinental ballistic missile sites.

If such an agreement were reached, iron clad in wording and practice, it would be the first significant advance in the prevention of nuclear war since the United States and the Soviet Union began talking about these matters in the Eisenhower administration.

Some of the scientists beginning to have some hope in this matter have been among those objecting most strongly to the unequal provisions and loopholes of the strategic arms limitation agreements thus far signed, agreements which they feel have given significant edge to the Soviet Union. That is, these are hard-headed men not usually given to wishful thinking.

The significance of this Russian change of heart goes far beyond arms talks.

As men close to the negotiations see it, the Russians are tough horse traders and will wrangle for years if necessary to get whatever advantages they can. But they're realists. When, after interminable stalling, they've exhausted their trading tactics and find their opposite numbers unmoved and unwilling to dish out the type of free giveaways this country passed out with SALT I, then they'll come around if they want a treaty.

If they don't want a treaty, there won't be one anyway. If it is necessary, therefore, to make one-sided concessions after concession in the hope of inducing the Russians to go along, as Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has so often done.

The Russian agreement in this case, and in similar backdowns in

 It was late at night.
 But I must reprimand you.
 You blame Watergate,
 And you curse politics,
 But what about hate
 And all your cute tricks.
 You're dishonest and greedy,
 And won't help your neighbor.
 Always in a hurry,
 Nobody else matters.
 You're so quick to blame,
 The other poor soul.
 You should be ashamed,
 Your contribution is poor.
 God and the Flag,
 Used to go hand in hand.
 And I know God was glad
 To be part of our plans.
 I've been true to you,
 And I sometimes resent
 That with my Red, White and Blue
 It's you I represent.
 I must add there are still
 The ones who stayed true,
 And that's quite a thrill,
 I'm depending on you.
 If each individual,
 Will objectively search
 His heart for renewal,
 We'll have a new birth.
 God Blessed America years ago.
 I'm sure He'll do it again.
 We just have to let Him know,

 With faith, softly praying

Today's thought

In college I used to be a member of the TGIF club — in fact overtime president. Thank God it is Friday! This week we have talked about leisure time, activities, change of pace and how to rejuvenate ourselves through silence and quiet. The fact of the matter is, that none of those ways of dealing with life will work any wonder at all, if there is not the basic foundation of life that has a faith in God.

Sometime ago I saw an amusing cartoon of a doctor and a patient. The doctor is telling the patient, "I am afraid that you are allergic to yourself."

How true of many people. They try everything to find happiness but only discover nothing works because they are allergic to themselves.

We each need to have a faith for the future that involves more than ourselves. We need to learn to walk one day at a time, and when we get tired, we have to sit down. When we become lethargic, we need to perk up. That kind of attitude prevents us from being allergic to ourselves.

Unexpended budget funds amount to $130,306.82

Budgeted funds not spent during the 1975-76 fiscal year equaled $130,306.82, a drop of over $60,000 from the previous year.

Town Controller Thomas S. Moore explained that these unspent funds are not actually the surplus for the 1975-76 year. The final surplus figure will include revenue taken in by the town. If revenue taken in exceeds budget estimates for the 1975-76 year, the surplus will be higher than the $130,306.82. Likewise, if intake is below the estimates, the surplus will drop below the unspent figure.

The exact surplus figure will not be known until the budget and revenue have been audited. This may not be completed until as late as December, Moore said.

He said the $130,306.82, known as the unexpended appropriation balance, is "lower than it has been in recent years." Last year's balance was $220,699.05, which is $90,392.23 more than remained this year, park, $12,955.66; and police, $12,869.41.

The reason for the drop in the unexpended appropriation balance is the 1975-76 budget was "a bit leaner" than past years, Moore said. "More of the total appropriations were needed to operate the town," he said.

The largest chunk of the unexpended appropriation balance was $50,000 of "seed money" used for grant programs. Moore said this money is reserved for grants which require the project be started before funds can be made available. Thus, the town uses its money to start the project and, when the grant comes through, the grant money replaces the funds the town used.

Such "seed money" has not been budgeted for the 1976-77 fiscal year, which begins today. "There are enough advanced monies coming into the grant fund that it is now self-sufficient," Moore said.

Other areas with substantial unexpended appropriation balances were: Public works, highway, $10,153.78; Public works, park, $12,955.66; and police, $12,869.41.

Driver responsible for his own death

Hartford County Coroner Henry Ramenda has ruled that Hugh R. Hamilton of East Hartford, killed in an April 5 traffic accident on W. Middle Tpk., Manchester, was responsible for his own death.

Hamilton, 31, of 30 Woodlawn Circle, was one of three drivers involved in a 7 p.m. accident near Wickham Park Memorial Hospital, after suffering extensive head injuries.

Ramenda's report, issued today, said Hamilton failed to have his automobile under proper control, failed to keep a proper lookout for oncoming vehicles, failed to drive in the established lane, and was driving while under the influence of liquor.

Car inspections planned

The state Motor Vehicles Department spot inspection team will be in Manchester July 23, a Friday, MVD Commissioner Stanley Pac has announced.

While releasing the July schedule for inspections throughout Connecticut, Pac urged motorists — "for their own safety" — to participate in a voluntary brake inspection program being conducted along with the spot inspections.

Pac said faulty brakes have been found to be one of the major mechanical causes of traffic accidents.

Spot inspectors will offer cards to motorists whose vehicles pass visual brake inspection and have more than 25,000 miles on the odometer. The motorist can redeem the card for a complete brake inspection at a designated service station within 10 days, at no charge. There are no penalties if defects are found, Pac said.

Murder increases
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — The murder rate increased in three Connecticut cities while declining in the rest of the nation, according to the FBI.

Statistics for the first three months of 1976 showed murder increasing in Hartford, Waterford and New Haven. Stamford reported the same rate as last year while murders in Bridgeport declined.

The number of larceny and theft cases increased in all Connecticut cities, the FBI report said.

No "Pride" in Sunday Opening
 Almost every person with any knowledge of the food business understands that opening supermarkets on Sunday will do nothing else but raise the cost of food in this state. There are only so many dollars people have to spend on food. The facts are costs will surely rise. Sunday openings for supermarkets serve as a further erosion of the quality of life of which we hear so much. We believe everyone is better off by not having Sunday a widespread day of business. Anyone who needs items like bread, milk, or soft drinks can still get them. It is necessary to have gigantic stores open on Sunday as well? Finally, we are opposed to the idea of Sunday openings because it will mean that some food store people are going to give up a deserved day of rest to go to work. From almost any viewpoint — dollar splitting, energy wasting, employee leisure and quality of life, we believe the idea of opening of supermarkets on Sunday is a proposal which should be beaten down by everyone in our industry who recognizes that it will do little for the public in general and certainly will damage the food industry.

The new grand knight is a graduate of Fairfield University and the University of Connecticut School of Law. Other officers installed during the ceremonies were William H. Burke Jr., financial secretary; Alphonse Kirka, treasurer; Charlie Rathbun PGK, advocate; immediate past grand knight, Roland R. Bicentennial boosts tourism

HARTFORD (UPI) — Tourism in Connecticut is expected to be up 10 to 15 per cent from last year's $75 million level because of the Bicentennial, according to Barnes Laschever, state tourism director.

The state's new gambling facilities and the Hartford Civic Center also are expected to contribute to a $67 million increase in tourism income, he said.

The tourist industry provides about 34,000 jobs in the state, according to Laschever.

Some areas already show the strain, he said. "Practically all the major spots are full" along the shoreline, he said. In the New London area, "all the weekends through September are pretty much booked up," Laschever said.

He said hotel rooms may be available in inland cities such as Hartford, "but my best advice to tourists is to make a reservation."

The Valley Railroad of Essex, run solely for tourists, is expecting a 50 per cent ridership increase based on advance registration, while Mystic Seaport is "way ahead" of its normal bookings for group tours, according to Laschever.

"What we don't expect is a prediction made three or four years ago that the Eastern Seaboard will be availed for the Bicentennial. I don't know why that was so far off," he said.

Tourism in the state has been increasing steadily over the years, but this year's growth is about five per cent more than normally would be expected, he said.

Laschever attributed much of the increase to gambling and Bicentennial events. He said the "tall ships" event this weekend drew a number of people to Connecticut areas near Rhode Island.

Laschever also said, "The lot at the Plainfield dog track is filled with cars from Rhode Island and Massachusetts."

Connecticut areas near Rhode Island.

On Sept. 29, 1775, John Paul Jones, in the refitted French vessel renamed the Bonhomme Richard in honor of Benjamin Franklin's "Poor Richard", engaged the British captain of the Serapis in the east coast of England. He captured and boarded the ship as his own vessel sank. The World Almanac recalls Jones' famous words to the British captain of the Serapis when asked "Do you ask for quarter?" were "I have not yet begun to fight!"

Court moves

Manchester no longer has a court facility in town. Common Pleas Court 12, which had moved its criminal and motor vehicle sessions to East Hartford last year, Wednesday closed the local facility for civil matters and moved to East Hartford because East Hartford Police Chief Judge Roman J. Leston said the move to court facilities in the East Hartford Police Station is an interim solution to the court's plan to expand to a new East Hartford location.

Leston noted that the local court, housed on the second floor of the Manchester Police Station, was also moved because Manchester Police needed extra space in the building.

Police, on the verge of installing new computerized record-keeping equipment, have been pushing to reclaim the court space in their building at 239 E. Middle Tpk. Leston said a new site for Common Pleas Court 12 has been selected in East Hartford because East Hartford Police also want to reclaim space in their station. The new site is awaiting approval by the state's Property Review Board.

Lucas Moe of Wales Rd., dress were wrong in a Andover is one of the photo captives in his cousins recently Wednesday's Herald, sustained in the bishopric of the Manchester Ward of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormonism). His name and address.

International celebration

CALAIS, Maine (UPI) — Shortly after midnight on July 4, representatives from this town and St. Stephen, New Brunswick, will meet on the International Bridge between the two communities and exchange a keg of gunpowder. Heralded as the first international, Bicentennial, Fourth of July ceremony in North America, the traditional event will culminate in an explosion which last year shattered windows in both towns. The event dates back to a Fourth of July during the year of 1812. It seems the folks in Calais had no gunpowder with which to celebrate the holiday. Because the two communities were isolated and joined by long friendships, the war had little impact on them. So St. Stephen residents donated a keg of gunpowder for the American town's festivities. The scene has been re-enacted ever since, though this year two beautiful pageant queens will make the exchange. The international celebration will continue into the afternoon, when Lynn Start of St. Stephen and John Wallace McLean Jr. of Calais are to be married. The wedding will feature period costumes and an official celebration, again on the bridge.

SAM interviewers talk with town manager

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter
Lights, microphone and camera in place, Town Manager Robert B. Weiss sat down for a television interview yesterday afternoon.
The interview was organized by five young men from Manchester who are working for cable television this summer.
Marc Hirschfeld, a junior at Syracuse University, Mark Zarbo, a University of Connecticut junior, and Rick Carlton and Chris Spacone, students at Manchester High, are being paid for their work through money provided by Summer Activities in Manchester (SAM). The interviewer for yesterday's session, Jerry Perrett, a junior at UConn, is working on a volunteer basis.
Hirschfeld, who is majoring in television and film at Syracuse, said the interview lasted 20 minutes and concentrated on the town budget. He said the televised interview will last about 15 minutes.

Gloria endorsed

DANBURY (UPI)—The Connecticut Young Democrats have unanimously endorsed Secretary of the State Gloria Schaffer for the Democratic U.S. Senate nomination.
"Mrs. Schaffer's repeated election victories indicate that she is the Democrat who has the best opportunity to succeed this November," said organization President James Dyer of Danbury.
"Gloria Schaffer's continuing efforts to assure the voting rights of the people of Connecticut reflect well the dedication she has to the goal of honest and good government," Dyer said.

Flu immunization program to start late in August

More than $2 million worth of swine flu vaccine has been earmarked by the federal government for Connecticut and inoculations will begin in August, state health commissioner Dr. Douglas Lloyd told a news conference Wednesday.
The state is also expected to be allotted $16,000 from the government to provide personnel and equipment, including pressure vaccination guns.
The state will provide existing personnel and services at an estimated cost of $300,000, Lloyd said.
The two-phase program, scheduled to begin in late August, will be administered first to the elderly and the high risk persons, said Winston Helmer, public information officer at the state health department. Those considered to be in the high risk group are persons with chronic lung, kidney or heart diseases, diabetes or cancer.
The rest of the population will be immunized in the second phase, which is scheduled to begin in September, Helmer said.

Youth charged with murder

ROXBURY (UPI)—State police today charged an 18-year-old youth with murder in the fatal shooting of his mother in their home Wednesday night.
Mrs. Carroll Yovan, 41, the mother of five children, was found shot to death about 7 p.m. in the home on Palmer Hill Rd.
Her son, Eric, was picked up a short time later while walking on a street near the home. He was taken to Fairfield Hills State Hospital pending a court hearing today in Court of Common Pleas at New Milford.

Baseball fun at Fenway

BOSTON (UPI)—Baseball is getting to be fun again for the home team at Fenway Park after almost three months of tension, discontent and poor play.
The Red Sox got timely hitting, fielding and pitching sweepstakes in its 4-1 win over the Baltimore Orioles. The win marked a second of a three-game series in which the Sox finally resembled the unit that won the American League pennant last year.
Fred Lynn went four-for-four and threw out two base-runners. Jim Rice hit a two-run homer to spark a three-run rally in the sixth, and Jim Willoughby hurled four scoreless innings in relief.
"Fun," said Willoughby. "It's finally getting to a point where we're just going out and playing and enjoying ourselves."
The Boston players feel that, instead of concentrating on baseball, the team had been feeling the pressure of having to repeat last year's heroics.
"Until now, our players have been going out there saying 'last year, I hit .317. I have to do it this year,'" said Willoughby. "I don't think it's a conscious thing. But it's detrimental just the same. The thing that was so great last year was that we all went out there and played."
Boston took a 5-1 lead into the fifth thanks largely to Lynn and Carlton Fisk. In the third, after Paul Blair doubled, Rick Dempsey singled to center and Lynn caught Blair trying to score. But Al Bumbry singled Dempsey home before being thrown out on an attempted steal by Fisk.
The next inning, Lynn nailed Bobby Grich trying to stretch a single into a double.
Meanwhile, Boston got a run in the first when Butch Hobson and Lynn singled and Carl Yastrzemski hit a sacrifice fly. In the second, Boston got two more thanks to an error by Grich.
The Orioles scored three in the fifth off Luis Tiant to go ahead on a walk to Ken Singleton, double by Blair, single by Doug DeCinces, and triple by Bumbry. But in the sixth, Lynn's bad-hop grounder went skidding into right for a triple and Yastrzemski's double tied the score before Rice hit his 14th homer of the year over the screen in left.
"I hit an inside fastball," said Rice, who is using a lighter bat. "Pitchers have been trying to come inside on me a lot lately. I'm using the lighter bat because it's easier to swing."
Boston travels to Milwaukee tonight as Ferguson Jenkins will face the Brewers' Jim Slaton.
The Orioles scored three in the fifth off Luis Tiant to go ahead on a walk to Ken Singleton, double by Blair, single by Doug DeCinces, and triple by Bumbry. But in the sixth, Lynn's bad-hop grounder went skidding into right for a triple and Yastrzemski's double tied the score before Rice hit his 14th homer of the year over the screen in left.

Thomas rolls another 300

Registering a perfect 300 game in 10-pin competitive career Monday night.
The 25-year-old Manchester man reached the magic 300 point total at the New London 10-Pin Bowl while participating in the Connecticut Proprietors' Traveling League.
Thomas carries a 195 1976-76 season average and in one league compiled a fine 208 game standard.
The third 300 score is believed to be the most by any New England bowler.
Thomas, a former town champion and generally recognized as the No. 1 big pinner in Manchester, achieved perfect games in each of the past three seasons, hitting 300 in Newton in 1974 and matching that total last year at the Parkade Lanes. He's the only local bowler to roll 300 here and holds the Parkade Lanes house single effort.
Thomas is an estimator with the Jon-Ko Roofers.

Thoughts aplenty

By Len Auster

Maybe the bubble will burst long before the stretch drive of September but right now the New York Yankees are sitting pretty atop the American League East standings.
Depending on your vantage point, the present-day Yankees in a way resemble the old. No, they don't tear the cover off the ball and strike fear in the hearts of opponents. But at the same time they dipped into the swap market to come up with quality players. That's been the formula used by present general manager Gabe Paul.
There was a loud cry a year ago when the Yankees acquired first baseman Chris Chambliss from Cleveland. No one is questioning this deal any longer. Prior to this season Paul went hunting for a dependable second baseman and came up with Willie Randolph, who is a top candidate for Rookie of the Year.
Paul also brought in speedy Mickey Rivers, outfielder Oscar Gamble and pitchers Dock Ellis and Ed Figueroa. They might not be the superstars of the league but they are accomplished professionals who've been most productive.

Lau getting credit for Royals' surge

By Len Auster

NEW YORK (UPI)—Last year, Jack McKeon's attempt to banish Charlie Lau to the boonies launched a player rebellion and it was not just coincidence McKeon was given his walking papers by the Kansas City Royals shortly afterwards.
George Brett, whose three hits led the Royals to a 4-2 victory over the Minnesota Twins Wednesday night, was one of those players totally loyal to Lau—and with good reason.
Brett, who leads the American League in hitting with a .360 average, said, "Charlie Lau, more than anyone else, has to take the credit for my improvement. He taught me more about hitting than any other single man."
The Twins took a 2-0 lead before the Royals tied the game in the fourth on a single by Hal McLean and doubles by Al Cowens and Buck Martinez.
Take your pick. There are basketball, baseball, softball and soccer games nightly for your viewing pleasure. Just drive around town and stop at one of the fields which are in constant use and you'll find something to watch.
MCC Relays: "This is great. I'll be back next year." Several other competitors expressed the same feeling and this must make the organizer, Thomas, very pleased. There were a few bugs but overall it was a smooth running affair.
Just Wondering Department: Why do they lock up Manchester High's Memorial Field when the Rec Department isn't using the area for soccer? People would love to use the track for jogging, etc., but can't gain access.

Yank fans didn't like the trading away of Bobby Bonds and his big bat but Rivers has proven to be everything advertised and then some. His speed turns a single into double, etc. And Figueroa has proven he can beat someone other than the Red Sox.
The Yankees are flying high and Paul gets a lot of credit. Just hope the good times keep on rolling.

Randy Jones still mows them down

NEW YORK (UPI) Randy Jones Wednesday night continued to display the pitching form that has made him the National League's best pitcher this season. He hurled a six-hitter to lead the San Diego Padres to a 3-1 victory over the West Division-leading Cincinnati Reds.
It was his 14th victory in 17 decisions — a four better than his nearest competitor, Jim Lonborg, who has 10.
In the process, he limited Pete Rose, a .327 hitter going into the game, to two infield grounders, a walk and once caught him looking at a third strike.
"I just pitched him like I would to any lefty," Jones said. "It didn't make any difference to me."
Rose, a switchhitter who normally bats right handed when facing a left-handed pitcher was so desperate he switched to batting left handed.
"I did it only once before, against Jim Brewer, to take the screwball away," Rose explained. "He (Brewer) got me out anyway. He (Jones) can pitch. Ain't nobody in the league better."
No one else did much, either. The Reds put together a run in the third on a single by Cesar Geronimo, the walk to Rose and Ken Griffey's line single to right.
Elsewhere in the NL, San Francisco drubbed Houston, 10-2. Pittsburgh defeated Chicago, 7-5, and Atlanta dumped Los Angeles, 8-3. Philadelphia at Montreal and St. Louis at New York were rained out.
Gary Thomsom knocked in three runs and Ed Halicki pitched a seventh-inning shutout for San Francisco over Houston. Thomsom drove in and led the Giants' third run with a fourth-inning single and slammed a two-run double in the fifth. Halicki struck out eight and walked two to up his record to 7-10.
Pirates 7, Cubs 5
Richie Zisk drove in three runs, two of them in a four-run sixth, in helping Pittsburgh to its third straight win and Chicago its sixth straight loss. Bruce Kison, with ninth-inning relief from Bob Moose, guided the victory, the Pirates 12th in 16 games.
Braves 8, Dodgers 3
Earl Williams and Willie Montanez each slugged three-run homers to help Phil Niekro to his fifth straight win, raising his record to 8-4. Jimmy Wynn also homered for Atlanta.

It was an easy win for the Olympic team, now 5-1 in exhibitions. The only loss was to the Denver Nuggets, which the team later to its third straight win and Chicago its sixth straight loss. Bruce Kison, with ninth-inning relief from Bob Moose, guided the victory, the Pirates 12th in 16 games.
Braves 8, Dodgers 3
Earl Williams and Willie Montanez each slugged three-run homers to help Phil Niekro to his fifth straight win, raising his record to 8-4. Jimmy Wynn also homered for Atlanta.
The Olympians raced out to an 18-2 lead in the first five minutes and led 55-30 at the half. The pros never got closer than 12 points.
Quinn Buckner of Indiana's NCAA champions had 18 points. Adrian Danley of Notre Dame had 15, Walter Davis of North Carolina scored 14, Mitch Kupchak of North Carolina netted 13 and Scott May of Indiana and Phil Hubbard of Michigan both scored 12.

Potto, 24, who grew up in Staten Island, played the last two years with the New England Whalers of the World Hockey Association. He agreed to a two-year contract.

Ice hockey player acquitted by jury

TORONTO (UPI) — Dan Maloney of the Detroit Red Wings was a free man today, not because the jury that acquitted him condoned his violent on-ice actions but because the prosecution failed to prove he committed criminal assault.

The jury of eight women and four men, after nearly nine hours of deliberations, Wednesday found Maloney innocent of assault causing bodily harm to Toronto Maple Leafs defenseman Brian Glennie in an National Hockey League game, last November.

Crown Prosecutor Robert McGee, who had the panel polled before accepting the verdict, said he would appeal.

In announcing its verdict shortly after 9 p.m. EDT, the jury took the unusual action of submitting an explanation of its verdict.

Jury foreman Raymond Boney told County Court Judge Patrick LeSage's crowded courtroom: "While our verdict was based on the evidence and

Evert, Goolagong final materializes

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — Roscoe Tanner says there should be no favorites in the Wimbledon semifinals but the bookmakers disagree.

That's why Tanner, whose racket serves Tuesday pierced Jimmy Connors' bid for his second men's singles championship, has been listed as the even money choice to beat fourth-seeded Bjorn Borg of Sweden. It is their first-ever meeting today in the semifinals round of the $280,000 Wimbledon tennis championships.

Town Fire Department rescue truck bids sought for July 28 opening

The Town of Manchester is seeking proposals - with bids to be opened July 28 - for a heavy-duty rescue truck for the Town Fire Department.

Bid specifications for the truck call for a vehicle with a gross weight of 10,000 pounds fitted with special compartments for rescue gear, a power winch, lighting equipment and a heavy-duty generator.

The town is authorized by the Board of Directors in April, when the board voted to approve spending $18,000 to surplus funds for the purchase of a vehicle to be used by the Eighth District Fire Department. The truck is not only a rescue vehicle but a "fast-attack, mini-pumper," carrying 500 gallons of water.

The truck to be purchased by the Town Fire Department won't be assigned to transport victims, but it will be capable of emergency transportation if necessary.

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren
DEAR ABBY: For the past three months, I've been dating a guy I'll call Red. He's 27 and I'm 24. Red has a good business, so I know he's not hurting financially. In fact, he's very well off. Well, he is the slightest man I've ever known. Abby, he's never taken me to a really nice restaurant. It's always a quick hamburger somewhere, and his idea of an entertaining evening is going to one of his friends' apartments and watching TV. His took me to an opera once only because someone gave him some tickets. I work and am not exactly loaded, but I find myself leaving tips at the diner, paying for parking and "lending" him a dollar or two-which he never pays back. If I ask him to pick up a pack of cigarettes for me, he'll hand them to me and say, "See, cigarettes have sure gone up-they're 65 cents a pack." (Translation: "You owe me, so pay up.") I enjoy his company, but his stinginess irritates me. Should I continue seeing him, hoping he'll change, mention my feelings or just call it quits?

DEAR ABBY: I am a 21-year-old girl with a very complicated problem. The "Mom" and "Dad" who raised me are really my grandparents. My real mother, whom I was taught to call "Sis," was married when I was born so her parents raised me as their child. Ms. their very own blood child, they don't even claim! This isn't all. Two months ago Bruce dropped dead of a heart attack. He was worth a lot of money, a golf fanatic, but his adopted daughter is sitting pretty with a big trust fund. This is all true. My aunt told me. Don't you think I'm entitled to something? And how can I get it? Both my grandparents are in a rest home now, completely off their rockers. FEELS CHEATED DEAR FEELS: I am not qualified to give legal advice, which is what you need. Engage a lawyer. You could have a good case.

Ask the Jacobys
A Missouri reader asks if it is true that Eastley plays five-club response to show zero or three aces and five diamonds one or four. The answer is that some five-club responses are made up, except he does use the club to show zero or four.
