Among Connecticut delegates

Muskie most mentioned as Carter running mate

NEW YORK (UPI) — There is no consensus among Connecticut's Democratic National Convention delegates on which of the men Jimmy Carter is considering for the vice presidential nomination they favor.

As the state's 51 delegates held their first caucus today, there was no unified feeling in the Connecticut delegation about a vice presidential nominee, although Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine was perhaps the most frequently mentioned possibility.

In addition to Muskie, Carter has narrowed his choices to Sens. Walter Mondale of Minnesota, Henry Jackson of Washington, John Glenn of Ohio, Frank Church of Idaho, Adlai Stevenson III of Illinois and Rep. Peter Rodino of New Jersey.

"I personally would like someone from the Northeast. I'd be very comfortable with Muskie," State Democratic Chairman William O'Neill said Sunday.

Henry Parker, the state treasurer and highest elected black official in the state, was a Jackson delegate until switching to Carter. Not surprisingly he would like to see Jackson get the second spot on the ticket.

"I would like to see Jackson the nominee," he said.

Labor Commissioner Frank Santaguida, an uncommitted delegate who switched to Carter at the urging of Gov. Ella T. Grasso, said all the speculation didn't matter and the delegates' preferences should not be a factor in Carter's decision.

"I believe it's up to the nominee. It should be his choice," he said.

Mrs. Marion Newberg of Middletown, who was elected to vote for Morris Udall for president, is also for Muskie, the party's 1968 vice presidential candidate and an unsuccessful candidate in 1972 for the top spot on the party's ticket.

"I got to see him several times when he was running for vice president in 1968 and I think he has all the right qualities," she said.

William F. Bell, of Fairfield, a teacher who was one of Carter's early supporters, wore a Mondale button, but said "Whoever he (Carter) comes up with is all right with me."

Connecticut GOP on the spot

HARTFORD (UPI) — Connecticut names its delegates to the Republican National Convention Saturday with party leaders expected to deliver all 35 to President Ford at the risk of dividing the state GOP.

Connecticut Republicans had hoped to avoid the bloodletting between supporters of Ford and Ronald Reagan that has split the GOP elsewhere, but under heavy White House pressure party harmony has become a secondary concern.

Connecticut's state convention, along with a similar gathering to name Utah's 20 delegates Saturday, ends the selection process nationally.

Ford to appear

Ford has scheduled an appearance at the convention, while an appearance by Reagan is under consideration, his aides say. If they both appear it will be the first joint appearance of the campaign.

Neither apparently will have the 1-130 needed for nomination, but if Ford wins all 35 it will put him within a handful of the magic number.

Connecticut GOP Chairman Frederick K. Biebel, a Ford supporter, says his poll of party members shows 79 per cent for Ford, 11 per cent for Reagan and the rest undecided.

Reagan's supporters say they have more support, but can't prove it.

Biebel has spent the last year rebuilding the Connecticut GOP, now virtually powerless on a state level, and despite his private leanings toward Ford didn't take a public stand until last month.

But he has abandoned any pretext of impartiality and says he doesn't see why Reagan should get any delegates, although he admits the former California governor has some support.

The party leaders' allegiance to Ford stems from his more moderate ideology and out of fear a Reagan nomination will mean defeat for their state candidates in November.

"No, I don't think he deserves any delegates," Biebel said. "I'm not worried about alienating anyone. If you've got the votes you go and get them and President Ford has the votes. I'll be glad to give Reagan 20 per cent of the delegates if he'll give the President 20 per cent of the California delegation."

California precedent

Reagan won all 187 California delegates last month despite Ford's getting about 40 per cent of the primary vote.

"It's still an uphill fight, frankly whether we break into the delegation is a longshot," said Charles Black, Reagan's deputy campaign manager. He admits his strategy for avoiding

Democrats convene tonight

NEW YORK (UPI) — Democrats convene tonight for a four-day festival of love and newfound harmony climaxing when they give their presidential nomination to Jimmy Carter, a shrewd newcomer from the Deep South and a stranger to most of them.

Hours before Democratic National Chairman Robert S. Strauss gavel the party's 37th national convention to order at 8 p.m. EDT in Madison Square Garden, the only suspense centered on Carter's choice of a running mate.

The former Georgia governor said only that "so far as I know," his candidate for the vice president nomination would come from among seven members of Congress. Of the seven, he said, "Three are top of my list."

The seven are Sens. Frank Church of Idaho, John Glenn of Ohio, Henry M. Jackson of Washington, Walter Mondale of Minnesota, Edmund S. Muskie of Maine and Adlai E. Stevenson III of Illinois, and Rep. Peter Rodino of New Jersey.

All would give Carter ticket geographical balance and a link to the Washington political establishment that has never known him.

Carter, who said Sunday he had changed his mind three or four times about his favorites, promises to observe tradition and withhold announcement of his decision until after he is nominated late Wednesday night. The convention will ratify his choice Thursday afternoon during the final session.

Additional delegate votes continued to shift into Carter's column as the convention opening approached.

Running second — as he did in most of the primaries — was Rep. Morris Udall of Arizona with less than 350 votes. Udall says his name probably will be placed in nomination to satisfy his supporters, but he likely will withdraw immediately or allow his votes to shift to Carter before the first ballot ends.

Before giving Carter the nomination — and their hopes for reclaiming the White House after a long decade of bitter party strife — the Democrats present for opening night on prime time television tonight a pair of keynote speakers heavy with symbolism.

They are Glenn, the Ohio senator who was the first astronaut to orbit earth, and Rep. Barbara Jordan, D-Tex., the first black woman elected to Congress from the South.

And to underscore the unity theme, the 5,034 convention delegates and alternates also hear welcoming speeches by New York City Jewish mayor, the state's Irish-American governor and woman lieutenant governor, and the Democratic National Committee's black vice chairman.

Delegates surveyed on vice president

Whoever Carter wants, Carter gets

NEW YORK (UPI) — Labor loves Walter Mondale. Westerners favor Frank Church, John Glenn is the man in parts of Dixie — but whoever Carter wants, Carter gets.

From Alaska to Florida and New Mexico to New York, a UPI survey of Democratic Convention delegates indicated today the party's grass roots leaders will happily make their bed with Jimmy Carter's choice to run for vice president.

The Hawaiians, armed with cases of island beer and juicy pineapples, came more than 5,000 miles to announce that whoever Jimmy likes, they like.

"The presidential nominee should make his own choice and I don't think geography should be an issue one way or the other," said state Democratic Chairman Minoru Hirabara.

"I'd be glad to have any one of them," said Georgia Gov. George Busbee, chairman of Carter's homestate delegation, after Carter announced Sunday he had narrowed the vice presidential field to seven men. "Carter is a winner."

"I don't have objections to any of the frontrunners," said Lily-Roland Hall of Anderson, S.C. But she had "a hunch it will be Glenn."

The six U.S. senators — Mondale of Minnesota, Church of Idaho, Glenn of Ohio, Henry Jackson of Washington state, Edmund Muskie of Maine and Adlai Stevenson III of Illinois — and Rep. Peter Rodino of New Jersey all have scattered support at the convention.

But most of the 39 state delegations surveyed showed no consensus for any of the seven.

Oregon, Idaho, Nevada, Utah, Wyoming, Nebraska and Vermont lean strongly toward Church, obviously because it would put a Westerner comfortably close to the seat of power.

Mondale drew backing from New York, Iowa and the labor-oriented state of Michigan. Labor delegates from other states also joined in support of Mondale — the most liberal of the seven and a strong labor ally on Capitol Hill — while voicing dislike for Glenn, who last year voted against a construction industry picketing bill.

"But it's his (Carter's) choice, and we respect his right to make it," conceded one labor leader.

Carter has strong backing down South and many of the delegations are willing to go with his choice. UPI's Tallahassee Bureau Chief, Barbara Frye, reported more than a dozen "favorites" have cropped up among the state's 81 delegates, but the spirit of compromise also reigns among the palms.

Glenn drew goodly support from the Ohio, Texas, Kentucky, Alabama and Mississippi delegations. But he also drew the charge of "lightweight" from several sources.

"Whoever Carter picks, everybody in the delegation will go for," said Maryland delegate Jack I. Bregman of Bethesda. "But some of the people think Glenn is a lightweight and if the delegation were going to split, it would be on Glenn."

Muskie drew support from his homestate of Maine and from next door neighbor Massachusetts. Illinois was solidly for Stevenson and he also got backing from New Hampshire.

In the California delegation, currently committed to diehard presidential hopeful Jerry Brown, there was strong vice presidential support for black Los Angeles Mayor Tom Bradley.

"I'm flattered," said Bradley, "but it is unlikely that I would be selected. He's looking for the Washington connection."

In state chairman battle

Local committee members favor Rep. William O'Neill

By GREG PEARSON

The battle is brewing for the state Democratic party chairmanship, and local people who have a voice in the matter are leaning toward the incumbent, William A. O'Neill.

O'Neill, a state representative from the 34th District who also serves as House majority leader, has been party chairman since the death of former chairman John M. Bailey in April 1975. Gov. Ella Grasso picked O'Neill for the role, and the State Central Committee agreed with the governor's choice, electing O'Neill.

In the past 15 months, however, Mrs. Grasso has apparently become disenchanted with O'Neill as party head. She now appears to be supporting Hartford Democratic Town Chairman Peter G. Kelly for the state chairmanship.

The Democratic State Central Committee, made up of two representatives from each senatorial district, will make the final decision between O'Neill, Kelly and a third, "compromise candidate," New Haven County Sheriff Henry Healey Jr. of Derby, on July 19.

Local members of the State Central Committee are:

Fourth District representatives John Sullivan, 89 Finley St., and Audrey Wasik from South Windsor, and Third District representatives Mary LeDuc, 162 Homestead St., and Eugene Paganetti of East Hartford.

The Fourth District members, Sullivan and Mrs. Wasik, are already pledged to O'Neill. On June 9, at the Fourth District convention to elect members to the State Central Committee, those in attendance urged the backing of the incumbent O'Neill for the chairmanship.

Sullivan and Mrs. Wasik both said they will follow the urging of their district members and vote for O'Neill.

Sullivan said he recently received a phone call from Mrs. Grasso's husband, Tom, asking him to vote for Kelly. He has decided to stick with O'Neill. Mrs. Wasik said she has received no phone calls from Grasso. She called O'Neill "popular" and "approachable," but she did add that some of the pro-Bill feelings are anti-Ella feelings.

Neither of the Third District State Central Committee members, Mrs.

LeDuc or Paganetti, have announced how they will vote.

"We won't yet publicly state what we are going to do," Mrs. LeDuc said. She did say, however, that she felt O'Neill has done an "exceptional job" as party chairman.

"I think Bill did a very fine job in the transition after John Bailey's death. It took a rare person to get in there and do what he did," she said.

She said she is not interested in the compromise candidate Healey, who may be an important factor in the final vote. "I don't think that's the answer," she said. "I think it has to be either O'Neill or Kelly."

Mrs. LeDuc also said, "I could work with either on O'Neill or Kelly."

Sullivan, Mrs. LeDuc and Mrs. Wasik all felt the race is very close and only Sullivan would even take a stab at the final outcome. "I feel Bill O'Neill is very close to winning," he said. Paganetti, who is now attending the Democratic National Convention, could not be reached for comment.

Anti-abortionists, gays stage Sunday rallies

Certificates presented

NEW YORK (UPI) — The opening today of the Democratic national convention, expected to be a five-day tribute to Jimmy Carter, was preceded by two rallies designed to coincide with the political show — but not choreographed to please its star.

Right-to-life activists and supporters of gay rights staged separate rallies Sunday at Madison Square Garden, the convention site, to demand repeal of laws which they say stifle their respective causes.

Police estimated about 8,000 anti-abortion supporters gathered in Central Park to hear presidential candidate Ellen McCormack, who has campaigned almost exclusively on the right to life issue and has five delegates to show for her efforts.

Most of the protesters then marched to the Garden, carrying signs which read "Jimmy Carter: Abortion Isn't Anything to Smile About" and "With Christians Like Carter, Who needs Pagans?"

The coalition called for repeal of laws which prohibit sodomy and the passage of gay civil rights legislation. They too, had reservations about Carter.

Dickman-Callis

Priscilla Callis of Manchester and William B. Dickman of East Hartford were married July 11 at Greek Orthodox Church in Hartford.

Mrs. William B. Dickman

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Stella Tatem of 25 Sunset St. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Ann Kostia of East Hartford.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Stephen B. Callis of Vernon, wore a gown designed with high neckline, Empire bodice trimmed with lace appliques, long sleeves, and lace-trimmed skirt terminating into a chapel-length train. Her chapel-length veil was attached to a lace-trimmed, floor-length mantilla. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses, white daisies, baby's breath and stephanotis.

Mrs. Marie Rozanitis of Wethersfield and Mrs. Lori Callis of Vernon, the bride's sisters-in-law, were matrons of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Fran Dube of East Hartford, Miss Patricia Ondricka of Ledyard, and Miss Marcia Generis of Manchester, the bride's cousin. Miss Christine Rozanitis of Wethersfield, the bride's cousin, was flower girl.

Ronald Dube of East Hartford served as best man. Ushers were George Parker of Broad Brook, Alex Callis of Manchester, the bride's brother; and Peter Rozanitis of Wethersfield, the bride's cousin. Mark Rozanitis of Wethersfield, the bride's cousin, was ring bearer.

A reception was held at Veterans Memorial Clubhouse in East Hartford, after which the couple left for Spain and Morocco. For traveling, Mrs. Dickman wore a three-piece white pantsuit. They will reside in East Hartford.

Mrs. Dickman is employed in the laboratories at Manchester Memorial Hospital. Mr. Dickman is currently attending Manchester Community College and is employed at TTT Continental Bakery.

35th anniversary

Mr. & Mrs. James L. Perry

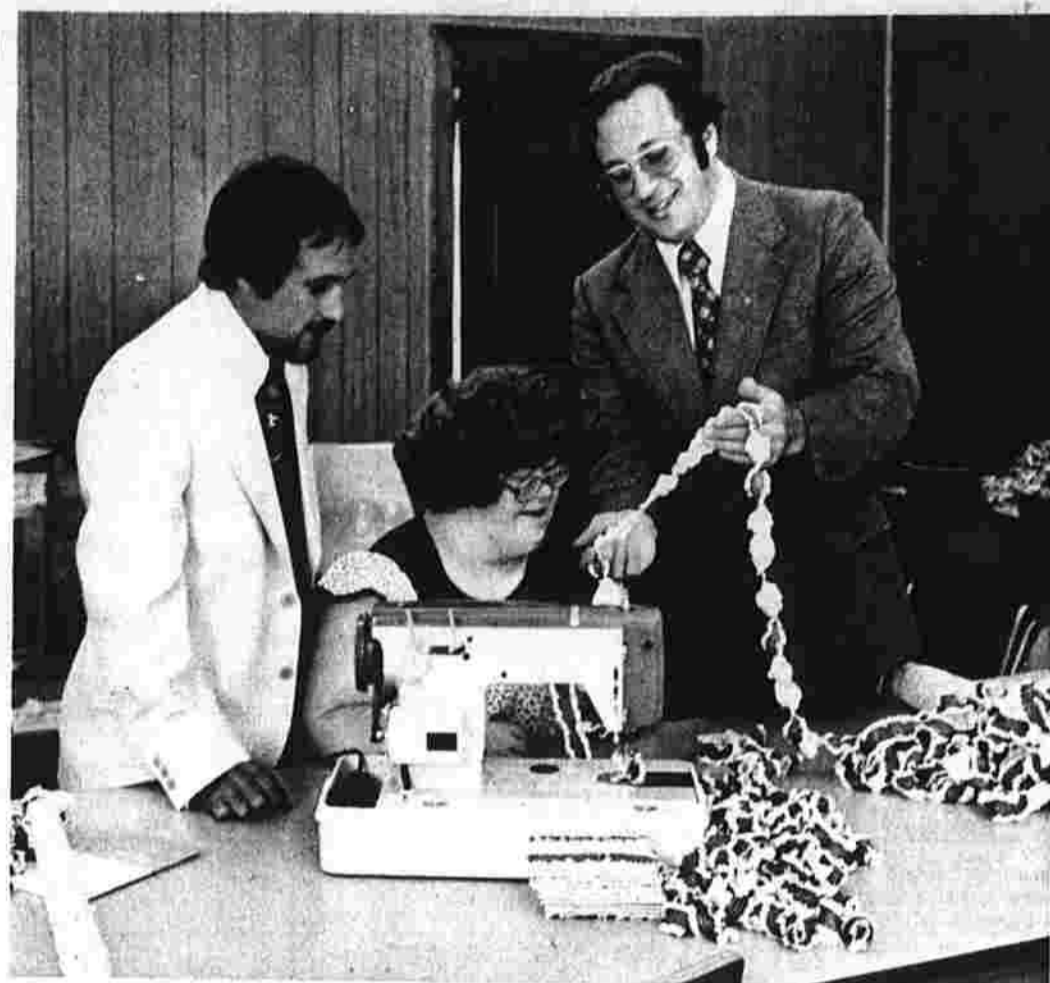

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Perry of 290 Scott Dr. were recently honored at a surprise party in honor of their 35th wedding anniversary. The party was hosted by their children, Kathleen M. Odeit of Glastonbury, Elizabeth A. Perry of Manchester, John F. Perry of Vernon, and James L. Perry Jr. of Saybrook.

The Perrys were married at St. James Church, Manchester, June 10, 1941. They have nine grandchildren. Attending the affair were many friends and relatives. Fritz Kilmartin of Hartford, best man, and Josephine Morse of Manchester, maid of honor, were also present. Music was provided by Michael Fendell of Manchester.

The Perrys were presented a jade statue in remembrance of the occasion.

Mrs. Perry is the former Estelle M. Odermann of Manchester. She is a past president and member of the Manchester Square Dance Club, and a past member of the Manchester Woman's Club and Catholic Ladies Guild.

Mr. Perry is a past president and member of the Manchester Square Dance Club and was a charter member of the Manchester Lodge of Elks. He had been active in various phases of Manchester town development including supervision of the building of Manchester High School, completed in 1956. Currently, he is employed by Ellerbe Associates in charge of new construction at the Hospital of St. Raphael in New Haven.

Sheltered Workshop acquires new sewing machine

Aaron Cheerman, owner of the Manchester Sewing Machine Center, at right, gives Susan Pariseau, a client at the Manchester Sheltered Workshop a few tips on using the new sewing machine he has donated to the workshop. Looking on is Lewis Stein, workshop director. Clients will be trained in the use of the machine which is equipped with a needle guard. Stein said acquisition of the machine will open up new opportunities in securing sub-contract work for the workshop. The workshop, located in Lincoln Center, is owned and operated by the Manchester Association for Retarded Citizens. It is interested in securing sub-contracts for light assembly work, collating, preparing advertisements for mailing, addressing and stuffing envelopes, etc. Interested persons may call Stein at 646-5718. School building group to meet with PTAs

The Board of Education's building and sites committee will meet tonight with Parent and Teacher Associations (PTA) from the Bentley and Washington Schools and other concerned parents to discuss the progress of proposed renovations at the schools.

They will meet at 8 p.m. in the board room at 45 N. School St. The two local projects were approved by townpeople in a referendum last November, but voters set a local spending limit of $1.4 million. The estimated cost of the total project was $2.37 million, with the difference to be made up by state grants. However, the state is not expected to act on approval of reimbursement funds until late next winter.

Ford revamping staff

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dropping his television adviser and dividing powers held by his senior aide, President Ford shook up his image-making staff in preparation for battling Ronald Reagan and perhaps Jimmy Carter.

Out went television adviser Robert Mead, blamed by presidential press secretary Ron Nessen for spoiling last week's nationwide telecast of Ford's White House dinner for Queen Elizabeth.

Counselor Robert Hartmann, with Ford since his days in Congress, lost control of all written presidential statements but will still supervise speech writing.

Ford promoted former assistant speech writer David Gergen to serve as White House communications director under Nessen and handle written presidential statements. He replaced Margita White, a Swedish-born Californian nominated to the Federal Communications Commission.

William Rattigan returned to the White House as Gergen's assistant. Both are former aides to President Richard Nixon.

Neal Cheney, 82, dies; was retired official

Neal A. Cheney, 82, of Sunny Brook Village, New State Rd., formerly of 89 Brookfield St., retired chief clerk of the Manchester Board of Assessors, died Saturday in a Windsor Convalescent Home. He was the husband of Mrs. Mary Lillian McCulley Cheney. They celebrated their 56th wedding anniversary last October.

Neal A. Cheney

Mr. Cheney was born in Barre, Vt., and lived in Manchester for 53 years. He retired in 1959 after 35 years of service with the town, the longest of any employee's service at that time. Mr. Cheney began in 1920 in the town's engineering department. In 1927 he was transferred to the assessor's department.

He was a former chairman of the town's Memorial Day Committee. He was a founder of the Manchester Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 2046, and was the group's second

Thunderstorms roam the East

By United Press International. Powerful thunderstorms roamed much of the East Sunday, spawning tornadoes and flash floods. At least five persons were killed and six others injured, one critically.

The storms whipped across New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Virginia. The combination of winds, lightning and twisters killed three persons in New York and two in Pennsylvania.

Record round

Forty days after trying the Manchester Country Club course record for women golfers, Nancy Narkon went out and erased the existing standard with a one-under par 35-37-72.

The record was established Saturday while the 17-year-old was playing in a foursome with Helen Mitty, Florence Barre and Lynn Prior.

Queen's oust Moriarty's

Jones vs. Fidrych

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) - It's the kind of pairing that Arch Ward had in mind for his "dream game" when he founded the All-Star contest in 1933 as part of the Chicago World's Fair.

Randy Jones versus Mark Fidrych. What better matchup could there be than baseball's two most exciting pitchers and biggest gate attractions of the season showing their stuff to the guys in the "other league" before the President of the United States and the largest All-Star Game crowd in more than two decades?

That confrontation became official Sunday when Darrell Johnson, manager of the American League, named the colorful 21-year-old Fidrych to start against the National League in the 47th mid-summer classic Tuesday night at Veteran's Stadium.

Jones, the winningest pitcher in the majors with 16 victories, had previously been named by manager Sparky Anderson to start for the National League. All-Star Game rules prohibit a starting pitcher from going more than three innings and chances are neither pitcher will have a dramatic effect on the game's final outcome.

In getting the nomination, Fidrych will join in history to start an All-Star game. The first was Dave Stenhouse of Washington, who started the second All-Star game of the 1962 season. Unfortunately, that proved to be the high point of Stenhouse's career.

Booted out of Games

MONTREAL (UPI) - The Republic of China team retained its name, its flag and national anthem and got booted out of the Olympic Games. But it promised to fight back.

Five days of non-stop talk ended Sunday when Lord Killanin, president of the International Olympic Committee, announced the nine-man executive board will recommend the exclusion of the Republic of China team when the Games open July 17.

New hope for Giants, Astros

NEW YORK (UPI) - While the Philadelphia Phillies and Cincinnati Reds look past Tuesday night's All-Star game to the glitter and glory of the playoffs, the San Francisco Giants and the Houston Astros try to turn their springs of despair into the summer of hope.

The future for those two National League also-rans looked brighter Sunday when a pair of young right-handers came up with outstanding pitching performances as both the Giants and the Astros scored shutout victories.

Meanwhile, the Astros are on the verge of such a transformation, thanks to 22-year-old Joaquin "pronounced 'Was-keen'") Ladieu. A Jan. 1965 draft pick, he last year appeared to be well on his way to becoming a career minor league, never having won more than eight games.

Soccer squads split

Winning one and losing one last Saturday at Manchester High were Manchester's Connecticut Junior Soccer Association (CJSA) entries.

The "A" team overwhelmed Springfield, Mass., 5-1, while the "B" team was bested by the Nova Soccer Club of Manchester, England, 4-0. The leading 1-0 at the half, the "A" team broke it open in the second half with four goals. Three straight goals, Nicky Tattou and Paul Turner, were sandwiched around a Dan Wilson 20-yard scoring drive, made it 4-0 before Springfield's Bill Berg cut the deficit.

Crispino's gain A softball finals

Crispino's advanced to the finals in the Connecticut ASA State Women's "A" Division Softball Tournament with three victories last weekend.

The Manchester entry did it the hard way, coming from behind each time. Crispino's downed Zanibar on Saturday, 4-3, and Sunday, 4-3, and conquered New Haven at Fairfield, 15-14, and EB-S's Army & Navy of New Britain, 7-6.

All-Star game 'great big nothing' - Billy Martin

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) - There was a time when you could call baseball's annual All-Star game a spectacle and nobody would laugh. It used to be an intensely exciting, eagerly anticipated event that not only fascinated the fans, but also had significant appeal for the players and managers.

There's nothing to it, says Billy Martin, the Yankees' manager. "It doesn't prove a damn thing. All it amounts to is the two league presidents trying to outdo each other. The All-Star game doesn't represent a team effort. It's only a bunch of individuals pushing their own ability, and the guy who pushes least is the pitcher. He's got nothing to gain by pushing. If you're out there pitching for the All-Star Tuesday night and you know you're gonna have to start your own team Thursday, are you gonna bust your back?"

For them, it's super," says Martin. "Everyone ought to be in an All-Star game at least once." With the Yankees 91-games up in the American League East, Martin could be managing the All-Star this time next year. "If I ever manage in an All-Star game, I'll manage the only way I know and that's to win. But I still say the All-Star game is a great big nothing. It doesn't prove that one league is better than the other, only the World Series proves that."

BOSTON (UPI)—The Boston Red Sox, hovering around the 500 mark this season, need more than bats and gloves to earn a repeat World Series engagement — they need their brains and their concentration.

The Yankees, who have won the last two American League East titles, seem to have lacked all season, and it has cost them ball games.

"When you get a couple of runs ahead, you can give them away — and I mean give them away. You have to go out and make them (other teams) work for it," said Boston captain Carl Yastrzemski.

"You're three or four steps faster when you concentrate," said Yastrzemski.

"There's room for improvement. We have to improve our hitting and defense — we have to."

Aaron basking in spotlight

NEW YORK (UPI) — It was a scene right out of that glorious, beer-soaked pennant year of 1957. Hank Aaron stood there grandly, basking in the cheers of some 28,000 Milwaukee fans after another dramatic game-winning home run.

Even if the uniform, the team and the situation were different, the delicious Milwaukee fans sensed the significance of Aaron's one-out, 10th-inning homer which gave the hometown Brewers a 5-4 victory over the Texas Rangers and a sweep of Sunday's doubleheader. So, too, did baseball's all-time home run king.

"The home run I hit in 1957 against the St. Louis Cardinals, which won the pennant was my biggest thrill here," said Aaron. "But I'd have to say this one ranks second."

Aaron's homer, his ninth of the season and 754th lifetime, came after the Brewers won the first game, 6-5, behind the four-hit pitching of Jim Slaton and then rallied to tie the nightcap in the ninth inning on run-scoring singles by king Billy North swiped second base in the first inning to set up one run and drove in two others as the A's completed a three-game sweep of the Indians.

North, who scored three times, singled home two out. Paul Mitchell, 5-5, was the winner with 3-2-3 in-ning of shutout relief from Paul Lindblad.

19th hole 20-win season Figueroa goal

NEW ORK (UPI) — Ed Figueroa, off to the best start of his career, has a season goal which revolves around ethnic pride.

"I'd like to win 20 games because it would make me the first Puerto Rican to game winner," the 27-year-old Yankee right-hander said Sunday after hurling a three-hit, 5-0 shutout over the Chicago White Sox before a Jacket Day crowd of 33,160.

Figueroa's victory leaves him halfway toward his goal, with a 10-6 record, including three shutouts. Last year he won 16 and lost 13 with the California Angels, a second-division club. He and All-Star outfielder Mickey Rivers were acquired during the offseason for Bobby Bonds.

Is he surprised by the Yankees' success?

"No, I could tell in spring training that we had pitching and good hitting, so the big lead (9½ games) didn't surprise me," he said.

Figueroa was supported by Oscar Gamble's towering two-run homer. The second-inning blast, his eighth, was one of the longest home runs ever hit in Yankee Stadium, landing in the last few rows of the right field bleachers. No one has ever hit a fair ball out of Yankee Stadium. Rivers added a two-run double.

Gamble, who stood watching at the plate for 30 seconds after belting his tape-measure job, said: "Every now and then I get a hold of one."

Added star PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Second baseman Phil Garner of the Oakland A's was added to the American League All-Star team Sunday to replace injured rookie Willie Randolph of the New York Yankees.

Garner, who earned the A's starting second base job as a rookie last season, will serve as backup to starter Bobby Grich.

Summer program under way

Bolton

The summer recreation program got under way today at Herrick Memorial Park.

The six-week program will be held daily from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Activities include many arts and crafts, sports and games.

If raining in the morning but dry by noon, the program will start at noon. If the program opens at 9:30 a.m. and it begins raining, the program will close at noon.

However, parents are requested to pick up their children as soon as possible when it rains.

Soft drinks will be sold. There is a low registration fee.

Karen McCooe is the staff director.

Maintenance man sought

Bolton

The Town of Bolton is seeking a person for maintenance of all town buildings and grounds, excluding schools.

The newly created position has a salary range of from $3 to $4 per hour for a 35 hour week.

Experience in various trades is required including carpentry, plumbing, electrical, grounds keeping, equipment maintenance, welding, janitorial, and heavy equipment. They should also have supervisory experience.

Applications may be obtained at the election's office. They must be returned by Friday.

The selection plan to chose a person by their meeting July 20.

Hebron Lions steal Bolton club charter

Bolton

Larry Converse, president of the Bolton Lions Club, recently led a delegation of club members to Hebron to retrieve the club's charter.

Ernie Reed, president of the Hebron Lions Club, had notified Bolton its charter had been stolen.

The delegation included Norm Luck, Tom McVeigh, Loren Otter and Marshall Latilippe.

"Borrowing" is common practice among Lions clubs because it brings club delegates together. It creates a

"we can do them one better" attitude.

Besides the charter, Hebron also "borrowed" Bolton's bell and had it engraved, "Stolen by Hebron Lions Club, May 15, 1976." It was returned.

At last report Bolton was in full possession of all its items with the exception of Latilippe's "money pack." It disappeared during a recent meeting.

The Lions meet regularly the first and third Tuesday of each month at Vito's Restaurant at 7:30 p.m.

Anyone interested in joining the club may attend the dinner meetings.

Deaf worker wants outside interpreter

EAST HARTFORD (UPI) — A deaf employee involved in a salary dispute against Pratt & Whitney Aircraft has threatened a discrimination suit because the firm refuses to bring in an outside interpreter.

Donald LaRoche of Stafford Springs said the refusal amounts to a denial of effective communication with company and union officials taking part in the grievance procedures.

A company spokesman said the firm has a person who can adequately interpret the procedures in sign language, but LaRoche said

Thursday the person can only spell words by using the signs for individual letters.

He would prefer an interpreter who can keep up with the fast-paced talks by using combinations for spelling words and phrases in sign language.

He has worked at Pratt & Whitney for 11 years as an inspector of jet engine parts.

Barbara Brasel, executive director of the Agency for the Deaf and Hearing Impaired, said other firms have been willing to call in outside interpreters when they have labor troubles with deaf employees.

GOP Women of Coventry plan bake sale

Jane Welles, at left, and Clara Hladky, committee members of the Republican Women's Club of Coventry check out posters and goodies as they prepare for the club's bake sale to be held Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on the grounds of Coventry High School. Proceeds will benefit the high school's Student Fund. Arline Ferguson is committee chairman.

Bicentennial cookbooks ready

Coventry

Rose Fowler, Coventry Bicentennial Commission member, said today the Coventry Bicentennial Cookbooks are available for sale.

The 181-page book contains 307 colonial recipes, some of them authentic. There are 17 sections each beginning with an imaginative and beautiful sketch of Coventry scenes.

"We are very pleased with the complete book. It's a tribute to Coventry to create a cookbook of this size and content. Marily Richardson's artwork and Sandy Staves' artwork and Sandy Staves' artwork have combined to make a cookbook with personality and warmth," she said.

The book is dedicated to the past, present, and future residents of Coventry.

Ordered books may be picked up at the town clerk's office during business hours. The books will be on sale at the Artifacts Show July 17-18.

The books will be available at Whipples Restaurant, the Booth and Dimock Library, the Porter Library, B and G Cleaners and also from Mrs. Fowler, 742-6962, Sandy Stave, 742-7854, or Lib Motyka, 742-7134.

There are 100 books available. About 300 were previously ordered.

Robert Heins greets queen

Bolton

When Queen Elizabeth stepped ashore at Boston Sunday from her yacht, Britannia, she was greeted by an honor guard commanded by a Bolton man.

J.L. (Jip) Robert E. Heins Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Heins, 13 Rosewood Lane, commands the Coast Guard Ceremonial Honor Guard which is stationed in Alexandria, Va.

After the ceremonies in Boston, the honor guard took part in a parade at Worcester, Mass.

Mr. Heins is a 1962 graduate of Manchester High School.

Noise ordinance sought

East Hartford

Atty. Barry Ponticelli recently spent several days at Town Hall reviewing the town ordinances. A tentative draft of the ordinance will be in the council's hands soon. The draft will also be available to the public by July 15.

Council members and the public will have two weeks to study the draft to be fully informed of the content before the public hearing.

The hearing is August 3 at 7:30 p.m.

He told the council recently "To get a good finished product I don't want to rush. There are many areas to study and each should be studied carefully."

No profit at fair if law says no beer

South Windsor

The Town Council will hold a work session Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the caucus room of Town Hall.

They will discuss the proposed amendment to an ordinance allowing a temporary permit which will enable concession stands and the sale of alcoholic beverages in a public park.

The matter has come before the council and the Planning and Zoning Commission recently, when Wapping Fair Association members realized that the ordinance could pretty much wipe out all hopes for a profit at this year's Wapping Fair.

To date most of the money at the annual fair is made at the popular beer tent, where there is also nightly musical entertainment.

"Without that," said publicly chairman of the fair, John Woodcock, "we couldn't carry on with the fair."

Fair committee members admitted they aren't sure how the problem suddenly came about. The fair has operated annually for some time with concession stands and the beer tent as well.

However, the antiquated town ordinance does exist which states that no alcoholic beverages may be brought to or consumed on town parks.

The fair is scheduled to run Sept. 10 to 12. It will have an old-time country fair theme.

Park still closed

Vernon

The swimming area at Valley Falls Park will remain closed until further reports are received from the state health department.

The man-made lake at the park was closed Saturday after Charles Vassilopoulos, the town's sanitarian officer said a water test had shown a build-up of bacteria.

The recreation office said it is expected these reports will be in Tuesday or Wednesday and the area will be reopened as soon as possible after the problem is corrected.

Vassilopoulos said the routine tests show a concentration of coliform organisms in excess of that which is considered acceptable for bathing.

Recreation officials said coliform is an intestinal organism but there hadn't been any reported cases of illness by persons using the area.

Baums at convention

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Democratic National Convention is a family affair for Devra Baam. She's just glad it won't turn into a family fight."

Her husband Lester is a Jimmy Carter delegate, while her mother and sister are pledged to Morris Udall.

She's been in the middle of more than one argument during the past year around the dinner table at her Vernon, Conn., home.

"My sister and my husband have never agreed on anything for more than 20 years we've been married," says Mrs. Baam. "They fight all the time."

Fortunately, the family feud never reached the "Drop dead" stage, she says.

And Carter's early victory in the presidential sweepstakes has restored some semblance of family togetherness.

"I'm glad there's not going to be a

Four persons killed in weekend accidents

United Press International Highway crashes took four lives in Connecticut this weekend.

Michael R. Inanuntun, 28, of Milford, died when the car he was driving crashed into another vehicle on Platt Street in Milford at about 3:40 a.m. Sunday.

Three men, passengers in the car, were injured in the accident and taken to Milford Hospital for treatment.

Police said the driver, Brooks, 21, also of Mystic, was charged with second degree manslaughter. He was released on a $1,000 bond and is due to appear in court Aug. 20.

Rails and another passenger, Richard John, 21, of Mystic, were treated and released at Lawrence and Memorial Hospitals in New London.

Harold Brewer, 19, of Wallingford, died Saturday in court Aug. 20.
