Connecticut delegates united behind Carter

NEW YORK (UPI) — They stomped, clapped, waved, sang and when they headed home today, Connecticut's Democratic National Convention delegates left little doubt they were united behind Jimmy Carter.

When it came to the business of the evening they stood together, giving Minnesota Sen. Walter Mondale — Carter's choice — all 51 of the state's votes for vice president.

Carter only received 35 of those votes when he was overwhelmingly given the presidential nomination Wednesday night.

Town fathers too hasty

THORNDALE, Tex. (UPI) — There was not enough crime in this Central Texas town in the last 2 1/2 years to warrant more than a one-man police force.

Thursday morning shortly after the meeting to reconsider the matter, the council called a special meeting to reconsider the matter.

He helped in the only way he could — he made telephone calls to try to get help.

What happened next may have been just coincidence, or maybe word spread quickly.

The council had voted 3-1 Wednesday to abolish Holland's job, saying it was too expensive for the small town, population 1,100, to maintain.

He told them when I heard on the radio that the council had voted to abolish the job, I was glad.

Some of the 14 employees stated their contributions were personal and did not involve incorporation funds.

The Connecticut Citizens Action Council asked for the FBI probe but no indictments were returned.

Richard Jackson, an accountant who led a taxpayers revolt in Willimantic, was a close 2nd in nomination race against William Daniels of Lyme.

Clinton, a local businessman. Connecticut House Speaker defeated lone challenger Stamford City Councilman Richard Cunningham.

Mary Sullivan of Greenwich, president of the liberal Caucus of Connecticut Democrats, said she was pleased with the Mondale selection.

Mrs. Sullivan said Mondale was especially appealing when considering the more conservative alternatives of Jackson, Glenn or Muskie.

"I'll go away from the convention happy with Mondale and he had better not disappoint me," she said.

Bloomfield man wins bonus draw

PUTNAM (UPI) — Money right into a trust fund for Ronnie, Robert S. Gruenberg, 55, of Bloomfield has won $10,435 in the state lottery's weekly Miles of Money bonus drawing.

Gruenberg bought the winning ticket at Giovanni's Restaurant on Hartford Rd., Manchester.

John Zocco, restaurant owner, said Gruenberg has been his paper goods supplier. The salesman had a letter to buy a lottery ticket.

Finally Zocco convinced him to buy one.

Red Cross warns of blood shortage

BOSTON (UPI) — The Red Cross today warned that this country is on the brink of its worst blood shortage because of dwindling donations.

"If blood collections continue at the sluggish pace it has in the past four weeks, Maine and Massachusetts as well as the rest of the country will experience the worst blood shortage this country has ever known," said Nelson Vogelsohn, administrative director of the National Red Cross Blood Program.

Repeated public appeals have been to no avail and help from outside programs throughout the country is nowhere in sight since no program has any extra blood ship to the Northeast sector, Vogelsohn said.

Harold Connolly dies from crash injuries

Harold Connolly, 58, of 247 Charter Oak St. died Thursday at Hartford Hospital from injuries he received Monday in an automobile accident in Rocky Hill.

Connolly's car collided Monday with a police cruiser driven by Rocky Hill Patrolman Wayne Chandler as Connolly was leaving the parking lot of the Patten Drug Store on the Silas Deane Highway, police said.

The accident is still under investigation according to Rocky Hill police.

Mr. Connolly was born Feb. 19, 1918 in Queens, N.Y., and had lived in Manchester for the past 20 years.

He had been employed as an inspector at Pratt and Whitney Division of United Technologies Corp., East Hartford, Conn.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Annie Goldstein Connolly; two sons, Thomas Connolly of Manchester and Warren Connolly of East Hartford; and a sister, Mrs. Mabel Weidman of Queens.

The funeral is Saturday at 1 p.m. at Holmes Funeral Home, 400 Main St. Burial will be in the veterans section of East Cemetery.

Friends may call at Mrs. Connolly's home after the funeral.

The family suggests that any memorial gifts may be made to Euphemia in care of the Connecticut Lung Association, 45 Ash St., East Hartford.

Livermore, Calif. (UPI) — Twenty-five school children and a driver, kidnaped from a bus at gunpoint by masked gunmen, were rescued Thursday night after digging themselves out of a cavern in a secluded rock quarry.

Their first request was for hamburgers. Alameda County Sheriff's deputies made a fast run to a quick-food stand and purchased food for the youngsters — 19 girls and seven boys, ranging in age from five to 15.

Authorities issued an all-points bulletin for two suspects — and possibly a third — along with two late-model vans. One kidnaper was described as six feet in height and in his 40s. He was armed with a pistol and double-barreled shotgun.

Another was described as about 35 and 40 with long hair and also a six-footer. There was no description of the third.

FBI agent-in-charge Charles Bates said the children and driver had been placed in the cavern at 3:30 a.m. Friday and wood and metal had been placed over a hole in the top.

Alameda County Sheriff Tom Houchins said the only exit was "kind of like a submarine conning tower."

"We drove last night — I don't know where, just around and around," Houchins said.

Bates said the kidnappers wore stocking masks all the time and spoke very little. "We have no indication of why they did what they intended to do," he said.

An officer said he went to the California Rock & Gravel Co., four miles west of Livermore and about 45 miles west from San Francisco, after a maintenance man reported seeing children in the remote area.

The children were given physical examinations at the Santa Rita Rehabilitation Center before being transported home. Some were treated for exposure and cuts and bruises.

Text of President's speech

HARTFORD (UPI) — Here is the text of President Ford's speech Saturday to the Connecticut Republican Convention:

It is an honor for me to address this great convention of the Connecticut Republican Party. The long series of primaries and state delegate conventions comes to its conclusion today, here in Connecticut and across the continent in Utah.

This healthy and vigorous competition has taught us much about the needs of the American people in 1978.

Here in Connecticut as in all 50 states, there is a growing feeling of confidence in the future. The American people feel good about themselves and about their country.

The Bicentennial celebration reached its climax two weeks ago and revealed a spirit of harmony, goodwill and optimism in America which had been eclipsed during the turmoil of the last decade and a half.

It comes as a surprise to me that, for all our past troubles, we have emerged as a stronger and wiser people.

The American people, descendants of the hardest stock of many nations, have a deep reservoir of strength which has served the nation well for the past 200 years and will serve us well in the future.

Bailey talk inspires GOP

By GREG PEARSON (Herald Reporter)

A long-winded, four-hour session of the Republican State Convention ended on a high note Friday night with Pearl Bailey asking for worldwide respect for fellow human beings.

"One cultural exchange will get you closer to another country than any exchange of weapons," Miss Bailey, the convention's keynote speaker, said.

"Armed force will not be necessary if we all starve to death. When a man has a full stomach, he doesn't want missiles," the 58-year-old entertainer told the audience.

Before the start of her speech, she received a one-minute standing ovation from the audience. When they quieted down, she said, "With all the applause, I should be running for something."

She spiced her speech with jokes and was frequently interrupted by laughter and applause from the crowd. But there were also plenty of serious moments in her speech.

On gun control, she said, "We should control weapons. They say we need them for hunting. But we are not hunting animals. We are hunting human beings. We must stop."

And on the conditions of the elderly, Miss Bailey said, "The older people must live in decency — not some crowded place where someone brings a rose once a week, says 'Hi Mom,' and leaves." Manchester delegates to the convention felt Miss Bailey's speech was the highlight of the evening.

"It was worth the long wait to hear Pearl," Elsie Swenson said. "She spoke plain, good-old-American common sense. That's what we need."

"I'm looking forward to coming back Saturday. I didn't feel that way at 11 o'clock, but after hearing Pearl Bailey, I'm fired up," she said.

Harriet Hasset said, "I thought she was tremendous. She made a lot of good points with good humor."

Vivian Ferguson said she thought the two best speakers of the night were both women — Miss Bailey and Shirley Scott, who gave a second speech when Lowell Weicker's name was placed in nomination for U.S. Senator.

The biggest dispute of the evening arose when Dave Gessert, a delegate from Wallingford, proposed an amendment to the platform.

The amendment, which was defeated, was an attempt by Reagan backers to win at least a handful of Connecticut delegates for their candidate. This afternoon the convention will name 17 at-large delegates and 18 district delegates (three from each Congressional District) to the Republican National Convention.

President Ford is expected to sweep all 35 of these delegates.

The people who proposed the amendment should have had their shot," he said.

Mrs. Hasset voted against the amendment, but she agreed the situation could have been handled smoother. "Most people felt the chairman got a little mixed up," she said.

Nominations for the U.S. Senate position were also made Friday night. Incumbent Lowell Weicker, Sen. Dr. George J. Gamble and former U.S. Rep. Albert P. Morano were nominated and each had one nominating and several seconding speakers.

The crowd, waiting for the keynote speaker, showed its impatience by chatting and milling around during some of the talks.

Some matters that normally would have been taken care of today were moved up to Friday to make room for President Ford, who spoke at the convention at 11:30 a.m.

When the amendment was made, it was for the entire nursing home care program in Connecticut, and the substitute of District 1199 apparently attempting to negotiate a contract.

Meadows back to normal

By JUNE TOMPKINS (Herald Reporter)

Operations at the Meadows Convalescent Home at 323 Bidwell St. will be restored to normal next week following a week of stress uncertainty prompted by staff resignations which left the quality of patient care in question.

Officials met Friday in the state Health Department offices in Hartford. Before the meeting ended at 2:15 p.m., occupants of the building were ordered to evacuate for about an hour while reports of a bomb scare were investigated.

Roland Simmons, director of the medical care division of the state Health Department, expressed his deep concern over the potential problems at the health care facility which resulted from the personnel resignations.

He said that he was concerned primarily with the Geri-Care management and its continuance of the patient care at the Meadows for which it has had an excellent reputation. The Meadows is one of four convalescent homes owned by Geri-Care.

According to Fred Joslin, Geri-Care vice-president, there were two reasons for the current situation at the convalescent home — the inequitable reimbursement formula

Dr. Robert Butterfield, medical director of the Meadows, commented on the arrival of Local 1199, who came to the current problems. Simmons sympathized with the problems at the Meadows, but said it was time for the Health Department to take action in the area of patient care, and inquired if it was possible to take action to resolve it.

'Quality' most important word in Affirmative Action Plan

By GREG PEARSON
(Herald Reporter)

Department heads in town spoke favorably of the recently approved Affirmative Action Plan and stressed that the word "quality" will remain the most important one when it comes time to hire an individual.

Town department heads and employees received memos Tuesday from Town Manager Robert B. Weiss concerning the plan, which was approved at the Board of Director's July 6 meeting. The memo briefly described affirmative action and the plan's objectives.

The plan outlines steps to be taken to increase the number of women and minority group members hired by the town. The town will review job specifications and testing procedures to make sure they are fair and unbiased. A change is also expected in the advertising of openings to ensure that qualified women and minority group members are notified of job opportunities with the Town of Manchester.

"For any openings we have, I would think getting a wider range of applicants would be favorable," Dr. Alice J. Turek, director of health said.

She said the Health Department has four women and one black among its ten employees. "We're doing our share," she said.

Jay J. Giles, director of public works, agreed that reaching more potential applicants for a job would be advantageous for the town.

"I think the plan is good," he said.

News for senior citizens

By WALLY FORTIN

Hi folks! Well here we are halfway through July, and half of summer is gone already.

By the way, the trip to the horse races is set for Aug. 5, and not Aug. 15, as stated in Wednesday's column. We will register for this trip on July 26, which is one week from Monday. This past week we signed up for the three-day New Hampshire trip, and at this time we have one bus, and only 16 people for bus No. 2. We must have the second bus in order for it to go, so we extend the deadline until this coming Wednesday.

News here at the center starts off with our golf team taking on the seniors from Wetherfield, and once again we can chalk up another victory for our "pros," for they won by 15 strokes over their opponents. They will have a rematch July 28 at Goodwin Park.

On Wednesday morning we had 10 tables for pinocle with the following winners: Joseph Windsor, 636; Arvid Peterson, 626; Al Gates, 607; Arch Houghaling, 594; Robert Schubert, 584; Josephine Schuetz, Martin Bakstan, and Rene Mairo, 583; Bess Noonan, 573; and Grace Moore, 569.

In the afternoon it was bridge, and it was nice seeing some of the regulars back. There were five tables and the lucky winners were: Irene Quish, 3,770; Dorothy Andrew, 3,000; Vivian Lesperance, 4,900; Josephine Schuetz, 4,560; and Jack Owen, 4,200.

On Thursday, like it always does when we plan something outdoors, it was a beautiful day for our picnic-splash party at the Coronado Club Apartments on Prospect Street.

Turnover on the police force is relatively low, he said, with an average of four employees leaving in a year. Because of this, Sartor does not expect any immediate, significant impact because of the plan.

"We hope to continue to ensure the most effective hiring practices without being discriminatory," he said.

Tax Assessor Ed Belleville said his department is made up of four men and four women. "We don't have any minorities, but the Affirmative Action Plan might eventually change that."

Belleville added, "I'm not fighting the present situation. But, I would not go out of my way to hire someone who's less qualified, no matter what color or sex he or she is."

Pillowtex plans good for Manchester area

The announcement by the state Department of Commerce that Pillowtex Corp. of Dallas, Tex., will be opening a pillow factory in Manchester this fall is good news in many different ways.
First, of course, is the 60 jobs initially and the potential of as many as 100 jobs eventually the firm will create. This will mean a lessening of our unemployment rate and give the local economy a boost because of the added payroll to the community.
Second, the firm plans to utilize the building once occupied by Iona Manufacturing on Regent St. Idle buildings tend to deteriorate and anything that can be done to make use of existing buildings is not only good for the community but good business, too.
Third, the announcement reflects the persistence of the state Department of Commerce in seeking ways and means to provide more

Has Jimmy Carter peaked too soon?

Andrew Tully

NEW YORK — Talk to veteran Democratic politicians and observers of politics and they will candidly admit that Jimmy Carter has some problems to surmount in his race for the Presidency. They believe he reasonably should be favored over either Gerald Ford or Ronald Reagan, but they see the campaign as a horse race.
One problem could be that Carter has peaked too soon. All the polls show that his lead over Ford has remained about the same since late April — something around 47 per cent to 38 per cent. When the leading candidate stands still in the ratings, it frequently means he's in trouble.
Carter, of course, is an excellent campaigner; he knows which steps to take out, and when. He can be expected to run fast all the way, as he did in the primaries. So the polls may be simply a misleading aberration.
Still, at this point Carter has his job cut out for him. One of his problems was inherited; he represents the party that controls Congress. This could hurt him because in a time when high and tight taxes Congress is blamed not only by Ford and Reagan but by an unknown but undoubtedly large number of plain citizens for being a spendthrift.

Reagan laid it out in the Republican line in his recent television speech. "You don't discipline an irresponsible and wasteful Congress," he said, "by putting an indulgent friend in the White House." On the same day, Ford vetoed a $3.6-billion public works employment bill, and assailed Congress for enacting "empty promises and giveaway programs."
If the electorate listens when Carter asks that they "trust" him, that he will bring order out of Washington's chaos, it also listens when the two Republican candidates claim the high cost of hamburger is the Democrats' fault — listens and wonders whether a Democratic President could curb a Democratic Congress' spending habits.
Then there is the problem of the so-called ethics. Throughout his campaign for the nomination, Carter has seemed so preoccupied with winning the black vote that the ethnic groups have felt ignored. That's why he did poorly in so many Northern industrial states, where the vote is heavily weighted with citizens of Polish, Italian and Balkan extraction.

Most of these ethnic are Roman Catholics, which leads to another problem. There are some 48 million Catholics in the United States, and although Americans generally are much more tolerant than they were a generation ago, there is the danger — to Carter — that Catholics will ask themselves whether they want an evangelical Baptist in the White House. This is not a safe subject to discuss; major cannot be buried in a closet on a grounds that to acknowledge it is bad manners.
On a related subject, Carter is a Southerner. Despite all their protestations of purity, there are many liberal Northerners who are still prejudiced against politicians from Dixie. They are fond of taking moralistic stands against bigotry, but they tend to look down their noses at Southerners who are not wealthy descendants of Robert E. Lee and did not attend the right Northern schools.

Ridiculous? Of course. Carter's credentials as potential President stand comparison with those of Ford and Reagan. He was a good governor of Georgia and is concerned with human beings. He is a man of intelligence, a decent citizen. But in certain sections of the country Carter is the object, to a far lesser degree, of the same brand of prejudice that destroyed the Catholic Al Smith. He is even, in this supposedly enlightened age, ridiculed in some precious quarters for speaking kindly of God.
Finally, Carter has one big advantage. He came to the nomination at a time when there is considerable disenchantment with what might be called the Democratic candidates. John Kennedy's Camelot image has been largely shed, and George McGovern was surrounded by too many swinging, unconventional voters. Now the Democrats are going with a combination of Harry Truman and Jerry Ford, a man who might well be the power's neighbor, complete with voter woe. In a country that seems to be yearning for normalcy, that could be his greatest asset.

Answering the call

This is the 100th year of the telephone, one of those basic inventions or discoveries of the 19th century on which our amazing 20th-century technology has been built.
Prophetically, the first telephone call in history was an emergency call, made when Alexander Graham Bell (or was it Don Ameche?), having spilled some acid on himself, called to his assistant in the next room: "Mr. Watson (or was it Henry Fonda?) — come here, I need you!"
Today, there are more than 145 million telephones in the United States — a figure representing a phone, or phones, in 95 per cent of the nation's households and virtually every place of business — and the uses to which Bell's invention has been put since 1876 would fill a book as thick as the Manhattan directory.
Yet while we have come to accept the telephone as an indispensable tool in commerce and for day-to-day communication, few celebrations of the telephone's centenary have mentioned its role as a lifesaving or health-preserving tool.
The simple little black, green, red, yellow, pink or white instrument that sits by the bedside saves more lives every day and night of the year than the oxygen tent, the

In search of the real Jimmy Carter

Tom Tiede

PLAINs, Ga. — Jimmy Carter is trustworthy, loyal, friendly, courteous, kind, cheerful, thrifty, brave, clean and reverent. Lordly, how reverent.
He is a farmer, a scientist, a sailor, a nuclear physicist, a businessman, a writer and a former governor. His wife says she loves him so much even his picture turns on. His children say he's the best daddy in the cosmos. And his neighbors believe he can spin gold from straw.
Why, then, have half the reporters in the Western World come here to where the kudzu meets the honeysuckle, where the water runs heart and cancer test findings to medical centers throughout the U.S., as well as serves as a liaison between hospitals in North and South America.
The increasing demand for rapid and error-free data transmission on a 24-hour basis has seen the telephone answering business grow into a $300-million industry in recent years, or about one per cent of the telephone industry's $43.4 billion in revenues last year.
And all because of a little spilled acid.

puritan overtones, an anti-politician and an anti-ideologue who doesn't seem to carry about his own contradictions? Correct. According to Carter he is not capable of contradictions. The record, however, indicates otherwise; and it can be embarrassing.
To start, there is no doubt that race was the unspoken issue, and Carter was the unspoken issue, and Carter was the unspoken issue.
And so it has been today, throughout the presidential nominating season. Carter has been the fellow with something to prove; that the bumpkin can knock off the slicks, that his faith in himself is justified, that a proper candidate from the South can be just as potent as anyone else.
The last factor is most important. Friends say Carter has long resented the "southern stigma" he has carried about. "I think one of his real joys," says a northern aide in his Atlanta headquarters, "is that he has brought honor to the people down here."
Yet the honor has not been without heavy costs. Even in Georgia, where Jimmy Carter has become as dear as Dr. Pepper, the candidate is criticized for some of his tactics. A preacher in nearby Augusta, a friend of the Carter family who asks for anonymity, says sadly: "He has used God, I think, for his own ends. We all do this little, but Jimmy is brazen. I think he'll come to regret it one day."
What the preacher means is that the candidate has established for himself a moral image, which he can't possibly maintain in the realities of politics. Already he has shown a mean side, by forcing George McGovern to sack an aide who was organizing a "Stop Carter" movement; and already there are defectors from his camp who say he is a fraud. A White House with Carter, some feel, would be politics wrapped in piety — and there is nothing so evil as self-righteous evil.
But that is the pessimistic view of the "Hay" hunters here. One can speculate any gloom, but in clear fact there is little of substance to pin on Jimmy Carter. Even the soft rap that he has no sense of humor does not stand up. Any native of Plains knows, for example, that a seven-course meal for a cracker in peason pie and a six pack. And recently at a class reunion, when an old classmate told the service to help on the farm, but he was a country bumpkin no more, one Pentagon official who has studied Carter's Navy records says if he had continued his career he'd have two or three stars today.

Today's thought
"It is not the old that are wise and know what is right. It is the spirit of God in a man that makes him understand. Listen to me — let me also declare my opinion — I do not hear God in what you say about the world and it's problems — in this you are not right — I will tell it to you as it is. — Parts from a speech by a young man named Elihu to Job and his friends twenty-six hundred years ago.
Tension between generations is not new of modern. It has existed as long as man has existed. It seemed to me pacemaker, the hyperbaric chamber or the dialysis machine all put together, says an answering service official.

"Is it the telephone that initiates the action that makes it possible for the doctor to respond to each sudden emergency?"
After all, what use are the billions of dollars worth of medical equipment and lifesaving apparatus and the elaborate installations that house them if a patient making an emergency call at 3 a.m. can't get in touch with his doctor? Besides rousing doctors out of bed in the wee hours, however, it performs a number of rather more sophisticated functions combining the telephone and the exotic communications equipment that has evolved with the telephone.
For example, it fascinates heart and cancer test findings to medical centers throughout the U.S., as well as serves as a liaison between hospitals in North and South America.
The increasing demand for rapid and error-free data transmission on a 24-hour basis has seen the telephone answering business grow into a $300-million industry in recent years, or about one per cent of the telephone industry's $43.4 billion in revenues last year.

Wings of evening

Our nation's birthday has come and gone. What a celebration! And now — God bless America as we begin our third centennial year.
When I say "bless" it is not asking God to make us rich and powerful and smug, but rather asking that He will guide us through the unknown perils that lie ahead. We recognize that with all the glory of the past there has also been agony, and the future will contain both. With the passing of two hundred years we have achieved greater realism about what we can and should do in our relationship with other nations, and have gained a new maturity for action within our own nation. As we gird up our loins for the long, hard journey which lies ahead, let us pray that God will bless America.

Contrast this type of behavior with that person who has a goal in life which gives purpose and meaning to existence. The Christian does not claim to be perfect in conduct but does claim to have "perfection of direction."
Jesus said, "If the Son makes you free, you will be free indeed." (John 8:36) This does not mean freedom from all restraint, but freedom for the pursuit of the highest goal.
A phrase from a familiar hymn comes to mind: "Firmly bound forever free." This kind of individual freedom does not disregard the rights of another person, but enhances them. With such "free" citizens our country is enabled to be free in the best sense of the word.
A Place of Peace
Many a troubled soul has been uplifted by the insight of the great poet Edward Markham:
"Al the heart of the cyclone tearing the sky
And flinging the clouds and the towers by
Is a place of central calm;
So here in the roar of mortal things
I have a place where my spirit sings
In the hollow of God's palm."
Chuckles
A Roman priest who received a gift of towels marked "His" and "Hers" asked his bishop what to do with them. The reply was, "The things are going in the Catholic church your better hold on to them." (related by Rabbi William Silverman of Kansas City, Mo.)
When Dave Runge of the Milwaukee Journal wrote up the final report on the National Conference of Catholic Bishops at Chicago which had proposed a study on marriage, the four-column headline was headed: "US Bishops Approve Broad Celibacy Study." The story was quickly posted on the Journal's bulletin board with this comment: "Why don't you bishops mind your own business?" — signed a Celibate

Promises, promises
The claims made here were in a recent issue of "Punch." Without the picture at the bottom of the page it would be impossible to guess what is certified by these words:
"It will reassure you when you need it.
It will help restore your confidence should it desert you.
It will soothe and solace you after a hectic day.
It will insulate you from the noise and chaos of the outside world.
It will rebuild your morale, your ambitions.
But most of all, it will remind you that your life has not been totally without success."
If these claims are made in the name of religion they have a ring of truth. Beneath the words is the picture of a shiny, sleek automobile. How glibly advertisers overstate their case, making extravagant claims for products that really believe. On the other hand, the claims of religious faith are often understated or ignored.
As the familiar phrase goes: "Don't keep the faith, spread it."

Board protests elite grouping

Poor communications and a report labeled "misleading" resulted in Board of Education members objecting to homogeneous (same skill level) grouping for some students in Grades 7 and 8. A report by Siegmund Blamberg, acting principal, to the board said scheduling for the 1976-77 school year had been completed. The report said there was homogeneous grouping for one high level section in math only in Grade 7 and 8. Andrew Maneggia, board member, asked if the students identified for Project Talent, a gifted program were the same students in this "elite" group. He said the board agreed to homogeneous grouping in math only. He said when the school system had homogeneous grouping up to Grade 8 in the past, many problems resulted and the board voted to go away with it. Board members objected to Blamberg's report and the fact they were not informed homogeneous grouping in all areas was being done.

Attorney arrested

State Police Thursday arrested Michael G. Moore, 29, of Muldraugh, Ky., formerly of Coventry, Conn., on charges stemming from his alleged forgery of Common Pleas Court documents and mishandling of clients' funds. The arrest took place at Bradley International Airport in Windsor Locks. Moore traveled to Connecticut to surrender after resigning Thursday from his captaincy in the U.S. Army. He had been assigned to the staff judge advocate's office at Ft. Knox, Ky.

Georgia choir visits

The Youth Choir of the First Baptist Church of Americus, Ga., as guest of the Baptist Church of Tolland, will conduct a unique program of Backyard Day Camps July 19 to 23. The camps have been developed by the Tolland church. They combine the elements of day camps and vacation Bible schools and are adapted to lawns or backyards. The activities are designed especially for children aged 6-12. Sim-

Adding tapes to the library

Students need real life

Ellington To meet the needs of talented students, Ellington High School is seeking the aid of local business. Graig Plunkett, head of the school's math department, said this week. Plunkett appealed to the board of directors of the Rockville Area Chamber of Commerce. Business people might provide valuable learning experience for the students. He said a number of talented students each year find the EHS program, flexible and varied though it may be, not sufficient either because the student's interests are so specialized or the student has exhausted the courses. He said they would like to give such students a learning opportunity within the community which will correspond to their interests and talents. He suggested computer programming. The high school offers a course in basic programming techniques but doesn't have the facilities or the finances to more. Another area is aviation science. He said the school newspaper provides some experience in journalism. But its scope and depth is not sufficient. The fifth interest he listed was power mechanics which he said the school's industrial arts facilities do not allow them to offer. Plunkett's program is called the Independent Study Program. It is not connected with the Cooperative Work Experience Program. The I.S.P. is not looking for career education but rather to give the students a real life learning experience.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I'm afraid I blew it. I am a 47-year-old widow with three children, and I'm good-looking but not too smart about men. I met this beautiful, eligible bachelor and we were attracted to each other instantly. He asked me out, and on the first date, in a weak moment, I went to bed with him. Now I could kick myself because he promised to call me. He said he had to go out of town on business, so maybe that's where he is.

Should I call him? Do you think he lost respect for me? If he does call again, should I play hard to get? Or do you think he'll expect me to hop into bed with him because I was a pushover on the first date?

How should I handle this? He acted like he really liked me, and he is the kind of man I want to marry.

DEAR PUSHOVER: Don't call him. If he calls you, explain that you got "carried away" and now regret it. (It's true.) If you blew it with this man, take your lumps and learn from the experience. A man may want a pushover for a date, but not for a wife.

DEAR ABBY: My fiance said he wanted to present me with "a stone" that had been in his family for a long time, so naturally I was all excited when he handed me a small ring box. I imagine how I felt when I opened it and found an ugly little gray stone which he laughingly identified as a "diamond"—one of many that had been surgically removed from his mother!

What do you think about a clown like this? NOT LAUGHING

DEAR NOT: His mother may have had the gallstones, but he's got the GALL.

DEAR ABBY: I am 10 years old, and I am dying to get my extra piercings, but my mother says I am too young. Abby, I am NOT too young. All my friends have their ears pierced, and I have heard that some girls have their noses pierced when they are a year old.

I have some money of my own saved up, and I could pay for myself, but my mother says I can't spend it that way. Please help me, Abby. I am depending on you.

WANTS PIERCED EARS

DEAR WANTS: Sorry, but 10-year-olds must abide by their mothers' decisions. Meanwhile, be patient, dear, and when you come of age, have yourself an ear-piercing celebration.

For Sunday, July 18, 1976

ANUS (March 31-April 19) You have honorable intentions today, but they're not enough to excuse your making people who help feel obligated to you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be satisfied that what people offer you today is the best they can give. It's not fair to expect others to try to operate by your standards.

QUEREN (May 21-June 20) You can be very gracious to those who accept to your wishes today. Falsely who try to think for themselves won't please you nearly as much as you deserve.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Whether or not you realize it, your motives are transparent today. It'll be of little avail for you to try to put others on.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Although you have a tendency to deal in illusion today, you must come to grips with reality. It would be a serious mistake to do otherwise.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) In business dealings today, make up your mind to give your teeth and hold the line. Your opponent is determined to have his way.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) An inability to decide which way the scales are leaning could cause you to delay so long that whatever you say or do is really irrelevant.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 22) Usually you're ready to jump in with both feet when there's something to do today, you're likely to look for an excuse to hold back.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) You're more glib than usual today. You tend to believe what friends tell you, though you know in your heart it's not true.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 19) You have sympathy today with those under you. This would be fine, except that you should be exercising discipline rather than restraint.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) It would be nifty today if you could stay in bed and shut the world out. Scale down your activities as much as possible.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If you plan to begin a new project today, line up your list of materials before you start. You could be very much more than needed otherwise.

Rain helped save one-man golf show

HARRISON, N.Y. (UPI) — It rained at the Westchester Country Club Friday, and it may have saved the $300,000 Westchester Classic from becoming a one-man show named David Graham.

The 30-year-old Aussie, who fired a sizzling 63 Thursday to share the first-round lead with Carlton "Sugar" White, began Friday's round with six birdies on the first 10 holes and was 14 under par for the tournament after 29 holes, when disaster struck.

Heavy rain accompanied by a strong wind hit the area as Graham was approaching the 11th tee, and almost before he could get his umbrella raised, his magic touch was gone. Though he managed to finish with a 68 for a two-day lead of 11-under 141, his lead over his nearest competitors is only four strokes.

"When I started out in the morning the weather was perfect and everything was going good," said Graham. "It was warm and relaxed and swinging easy. The rain started to fall when I reached the 11th tee and by the time I got to the 12th tee there were two groups backed up. "I don't know why the field backed up. I guess it was because of the weather. The temperature must have dropped 10 degrees and I got cold and wet."

The weather proved to be a hazard to practically everyone who teed off in the afternoon session. White, whose 63 Thursday was the lowest of his competitive career, struggled to a one-over-par 72 in the rain and dropped into a second-place tie with Watson and Larry Ziegler. Tom Watson, Jack Nicklaus and Mike Hill were others who slouched around the course in sloppy fashion. Nicklaus had a double bogey on the 16th hole and posted a 72. Watson struggled to a two-over-par 73 and just barely made the cut which was determined at 143. Hill had a 65 in the first round but slipped to 72. Those who went off in the morning enjoyed much more success. Arnold Palmer, Johnny Miller and Andy North all came in with the same score. Palmer, it was the first time in

Top golf winner needs more cash

DUBLIN, Ohio (UPI) — "I figured I better play good," said Judy Rankin, the first-round leader in the $70,000 Borden Classic. "I've got to go shopping."

The year's leading money winner and the first ever to surpass $100,000 in prize money, Rankin, 29, of the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour in one year, referred to the fact more than $6,000 worth of jewelry, clothes and luggage was stolen from her hotel room Thursday night.

But, it didn't seem to bother her concentration Friday as she ripped off three straight birdies to start her round en route to a four-under-par 68 on the par 72, 6,250-yard Riviera Country Club course.

Close on Rankin's heels going into today's second round are Roberta Albers, Sally Little and JoAnne Carner, recently crowned U.S. Open champion, all with three under 68. Another shot behind, at 70, were a group of 11 golfers and then came another nine at 71 as 38 players shot par golf or better.

Despite her 68 score, Rankin felt it could have been much better. "I really had about 15 makeable birdie putts," said the Midland, Tex. native, "and I don't think any of them were outside 20 feet."

GHO entry

Legendary Sammy Sneed will be back in the GHO Golf Tournament Aug. 19-22 at the Wethersfield Country Club after an absence of 21 years when he walked home with top prize money.

Sneed's appearance along with Arnold Palmer is expected to be a big help in attracting golfing fans to the 25th edition next month.

SMITHFIELD, R.I. (UPI) — Rookie quarter-backs Tom Owen and Tom Shumann tried their hand at running the New England Patriots offense Friday and Coach Chuck Fairbanks liked what he saw.

"The offense moved the ball pretty well and I thought they both (Owen and Shumann) did a pretty good job. Both threw well," said Fairbanks as the rookies worked hard during a 30-minute scrimmage at Bryant College, preparing for the arrival of the veterans this weekend. Fairbanks also said he was impressed with the strong running of rookie Ike Forte.

Both Shumann and Owen, who was obtained from San Francisco as part of a trade which sent Jim Brown to the West Coast, will get a chance to see Plunkett's heir-apparent, Steve Grogan, in action next week.

Julius Adams, Ray Hamilton, Sam Hunt and Craig Hanemann showed up at camp Friday, one day before the reporting deadline for veterans set by Fairbanks. The vets are to go through physicals Sunday morning, practice Sunday afternoon and start two-day workouts Monday.

Veterans back - NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (UPI) — The Buffalo Bills announced Friday that 26 veterans reported on schedule to the club's pre-season training camp at Niagara University.

A team spokesman said that two veterans, wide receiver J. D. Hill and offensive tackle Donnie Green, who did not check out to the team, were "presumed en route" to camp.

Baseball

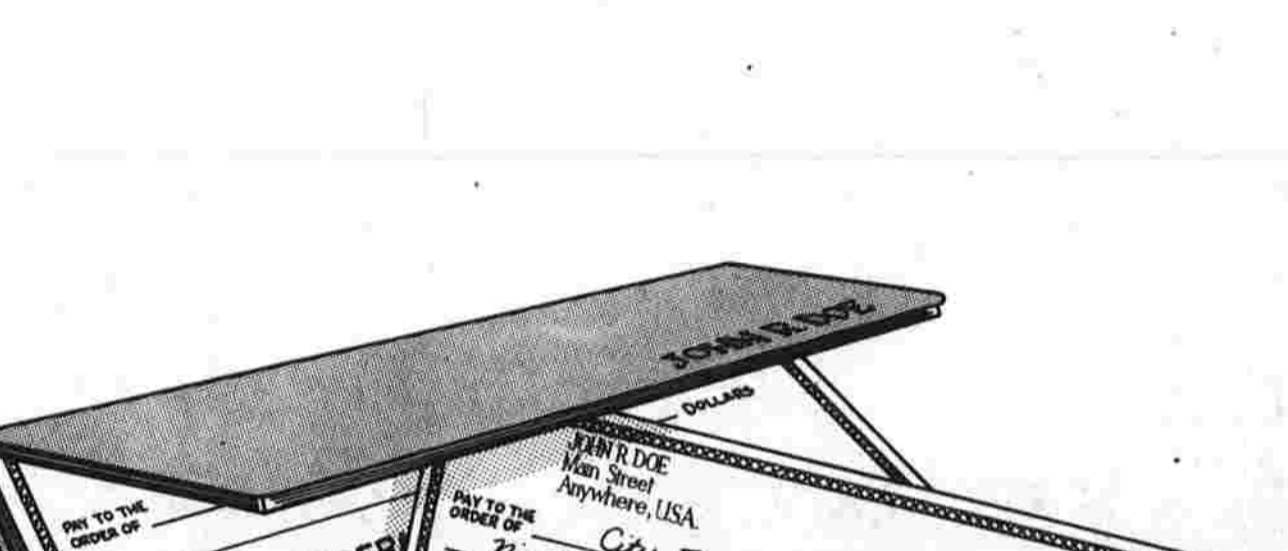

ALUMNI JUNIOR - Jon Brandt's three-run homer in the sixth inning enabled Moriarty Juniors to come to a comeback and walk off with a 7-5 win over Leggett's Parkade last night at the West Side Oval.

Each side had five hits with Brandt collecting two and Jim Gubrosky a pair, one a triple, for the Juniors. John Dion and Brian Fazzino each added a double.

Matt Gubrosky gained the mound win and fanned seven batters.

Dave Miller blasted a two-run homer for the losers and Ralph Maccarone added a double.

SBM to pass $200 million

The Savings Bank of Manchester, in its semi-annual financial statement, reports assets increased by $22,538,333 from June 30, 1975 to June 30, 1976, putting the total assets of the bank at $199,018,859.

In his announcement, William Johnson, president, said: "With our present growth rate we should pass two hundred million dollars in total resources sometime during the next few months. We are pleased that we will reach our two hundred million milestone during the same year our country is celebrating its 200th birthday and we plan to continue to offer the same personal service that has contributed to this growth since our founding in 1905."

Johnson said he was particularly pleased that mortgage loans played a significant part in the bank's growth during the past year. Mortgage loans increased by $15,891,517 from June 30, 1975 to June 30, 1976, an increase of over 12 per cent.

Also contributing to the bank's growth was a new service and a new branch. The new service, made available in January of this year, was personal

First six months in 1976 best in Heritage history

The first six months of 1976 were the best in the 85-year history of Heritage Savings and Loan Association, according to William H. Hale, president.

Highlights of the first six months were the introduction of new customer services, the lowering of mortgage interest rates, the payment of more interest to saving customers, the largest increase in reserves and surplus, and the largest asset gain in the association's history, he said.

"In January we lowered the mortgage interest rate as a stimulus to the local real estate market and continued our policy of investing new savings capital only in local real estate loans. The result was a $6 million gain in our mortgage portfolio in the first six months of the year. In addition, through our high yield certificates of deposit we were able to continue the especially high returns we are providing our loan borrowers on funds on deposit here."

Of the new services introduced in the six-month period, the most popular has been the NOW checking account which was made available to the public on a free basis. The response to NOW accounts has been excellent according to Hale.

The first half of the year also saw the introduction of Annuimut — an annuity invested in a Heritage Savings account. The federal income tax on the interest is deferred.

With over-all earnings remaining strong, Heritage Savings made the largest addition in history to their reserve account (reserves are a barometer of financial strength), Hale said.

Armor coating may replace regular bituminous paving

"Armor coating" is a term that may not be a household phrase, but it will soon be replacing bituminous concrete as the major form of road pavement in Manchester.

Armor coating is a process where an oil substance is spread on the road. A layer of 1/4-inch stone is placed on top of it and the street is rolled. Director of Public Works Jay J. Giles said this costs about 25 cents a square yard compared to the $2.25-per-square-yard cost of conventional paving with bituminous concrete, grade II.

The armor coating is a "sealer" and is used on roads that have just started to deteriorate. Giles said it cannot be used on roads that are severely cracked or filled with potholes.

"Our goal would be to get to the situation where 98 per cent of our roads could be taken care of by armor coating," Giles said. This would require more using bituminous concrete on roads that have eroded beyond the point where armor coating would be useful. Then, once these roads have been paved with concrete, the armor coating process can be used when the roads begin to show signs of deterioration.

Giles said a coat of armor coating would be required about once every five years to keep a road in good shape. He said this is generally about how often the town roads are now paved with concrete.

Armor coating has been used occasionally by the town in the past. It is the high cost of bituminous concrete coating, it is now being turned to as the future paving method for Manchester.

Several streets will be paved with concrete in the next few months. Giles said. These include parts of Kenney St., McKee St., Cooper St. and Parker St. These roads, and others, are being paved with concrete because they have deteriorated too much.

Two streets — Hillstown Rd. and part of Gardner St. — will undergo the armor coating process within the next couple months, Giles said.

Hopefully, once the need it has been paved with concrete they can be maintained with a seal of armor coating.

Another advantage of armor coating is that it is thinner than concrete. One layer of armor coat is between 1/4 and 1/2-inch thick, while one layer of concrete is 4 to 6 inches thick, Giles said. This means curbs on the side of the road will not be "hidden" after only three or four pavings.

Giles said armor coating will cause no more wear on an automobile's tires than the concrete paving.

LEGAL NOTICE

TOWN OF MANCHESTER, CONNECTICUT
Notice of Finding of Significant Effect on the Environment

This notice is published in accordance with the Department of Housing and Urban Development's Rules and Regulations as printed in the July 16, 1975 Federal Register entitled, "Title 24 HUD Part 58 Environmental Review Procedure for the Community Development Block Grant, Subsection 58.16: as amended."

The following multi-year projects will be on-going:

- Housing Rehabilitation Loans for low and moderate income homeowners in core census tracts of Manchester.
- Housing Rehabilitation Loans will be made available to allow homeowners the opportunity to repair their houses to meet housing code standards. This will ensure safe and adequate housing, as described by the housing code, for Manchester residents.
- This project will have no significant adverse effect on the environment because the project will not effect water quality, air quality, noise, or wildlife in the area. The newly repaired houses will also improve the aesthetic qualities in the neighborhood.
- Housing Code Enforcement is designed to improve housing conditions in Manchester by developing housing code ordinances that will allow flexibility in dealing with hardship cases, by supporting housing inspections, and by educating the public on the goals and objectives of the housing code. The project will not effect water quality, air quality, noise or wildlife in the area. Therefore, the project is an action which will have no significant adverse effect on the environment. There will be a positive although limited effect on the environment.
- Purchase and Operation of a Bus to the Nike site for the handicapped.

The bus will have special features to help the handicapped with their special needs.

The renovation of two Nike Site buildings for use as the handicapped.

Renovating the buildings will include ramping entrances, converting outside doors into swinging doors, widening inside doors, and altering bathrooms for handicapped use. This project will have no significant effect on the air quality, water quality, noise, or wildlife in the area. Therefore, the project will have no significant adverse effect on the environment.

The Environmental Review Records may be examined and copied in the Town Manager's Office, Town Hall, during business hours. On the basis of these findings, no further reviews are necessary or will be conducted. The Town intends to request release of funds for these projects from HUD.

Any comments or questions on the environmental status of these projects may be submitted to the applicant, Mr. Robert B. Weiss, General Manager, Town Hall, Town of Manchester, Conn. 06040 no later than August 1, 1976.

This notice first published on July 17, 1976 in compliance with Rules and Regulations Section 58.17 (b).

Dated at Manchester, Connecticut this 13th day of July, 1976.

Town of Manchester
Charles F. McCarthy Jr.
Assistant General Manager

Yale in Norfolk

Soprano Phyllis Curtin sings the only song recital of the Yale-In-Norfolk Summer Festival of Music in Norfolk tonight at 8:30. She will sing Aaron Copland's "Poems of Emily Dickinson," and songs by South American composers. Tickets will be sold at the door of the Music Shed, or reservations are available by calling 542-5537.

Free events

Leon and the Gypsy Strings will perform a program of romantic music Monday at 7:30 p.m. on the patio behind the Student Union at Southern Connecticut State College in New Haven. In the event of rain, the concerts are moved inside the college union.

The Southern Connecticut Symphonic Pops will perform each Thursday in July at 7:30 p.m. in Southern Connecticut State College's Lyman Auditorium.

Wednesday at noon at Trinity Episcopal Church at 120 Sigourney St., Hartford, Neil Keen and Mary Bon will perform duets for pipe organ. Graduates of Hartt College of Music, both have been heard in concerts at New York's Cathedral of St. John the Divine. Beverages will be provided after each program for those who bring their lunch.

Wednesday, a concert of chamber music at 6 p.m. at Trinity College in Hartford will precede a carillon concert. A free guided tour of the college chapel follows the recital.

Elaine Comparone, harpsichordist, appears in a recital Monday at 8:15 p.m. in Von der Mehden Recital Hall at University of Connecticut in Storrs.

Also at UConn on Tuesday the movie "American Graffiti" will be shown at 8 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom.

Movies at MCC

The weekly Monday night movie schedule at Manchester Community College will present a double feature Monday at 9 p.m. including "The Candidate" with Robert Redford, and "Cool Hand Luke" with Paul Newman at the college auditorium.

The following weeks, the double feature "The Stepford Wives" and "Go Ask Alice," and "The Day of the Dolphin" will be shown. Admission is $1.

Exhibit at Durham Fair

Mrs. Alma Brooks of Manchester, with her committee, has arranged a "Grand Attic" exhibit at the Connecticut Agricultural Fair July 23, 24 and 25 at the Durham Fair Grounds in Durham.

Items have been gathered from attics in every area of the state and will include a red cape made 200 years ago by Mrs. Trumbull, wife of the then Gov. Jonathan Trumbull of Connecticut.

During the Revolutionary War period, the ladies made articles of clothing which were sold to raise money for the war fund. The red cape on display at the fair, was auctioned along with other clothing items at that time at the Lebanon Church in Lebanon.

USCG Band concert

The U.S. Coast Guard Band directed by Lt. (j.g.) Lewis J. Buckley, will open its 1976 summer concert series, "Under The Stars," Sunday at the U.S. Coast Guard Academy in New London.

The concert will begin at 8:30 p.m. on the Academy's Cadet Memorial Field. In the event of inclement weather, the concert will be moved indoors to Leamy Auditorium.

These concert performances are free and open to the public. Groups wishing to reserve seating should contact the band offices at 443-8463, ext. 283, before the performance.

Sunday's program will include an arrangement of tunes from "Jesus Christ, Superstar," Jerry Blik's "American Civil War Fantasy" and Charles Ives' "Variations on America" in addition to a medley of Sousa marches.

Soloists will be trumpeter Jose R. Cordero and clarinetist Daniel Lukens.

Other USCG summer concerts are scheduled for Aug. 1, which will be a Coast Guard Academy Centennial Concert, and Aug. 15 when the New London Surfers Drum and Bugle Corps will be featured.

'Mother Jones' at UConn

The Labor Theater of New York City will present "Mother Jones: Storming the Altars of Power" at the University of Connecticut's (Storrs) Von der Mehden Recital Hall Tuesday at 8:15 p.m.

The one-woman show features Dorothy Lancaster and includes traditional music performed by two singer-musicians and was adapted from Mother Jones' own words by Terry Uppenberg who directs the play.

Mary Harris (Mother) Jones was a dressmaker and schoolteacher who crusaded against child labor and for coal-miner unionization in their era around the turn of the century.

Tickets are available at the Von der Mehden box office.

Weekend

Weekend, an entertainment and television supplement, is published each Saturday by The Manchester Evening Herald, Herald Square, Manchester, Conn. 06640. Deadline for Forum of the Arts: Eight days before publication. Advertising deadline: Five days before publication.

Meet Maxene at Coachlight

A "Meet Maxene" night will be held Thursday at Coachlight Dinner Theatre in East Windsor with Maxene Andrews of the famous Andrews Sisters vocal trio.

Immediately following the Coachlight's current production of "Call Me Madam," starring Maxene Andrews, there will be Andrews Sisters' film clips, songs and then an informal question and answer period and an autograph session.

"Call Me Madam" runs through Aug. 15. Reservations are recommended.

Interviewing

NEW YORK (UPI) — The three networks employed more than 1,500 persons and spent millions of dollars to cover the Democratic convention, watched at one time or another by an estimated 100 million persons — and it all ended up with reporters interviewing each other.

They had to — they had already interviewed everybody else in the hall in an effort to live up to the televised proceedings.

When TV covered Wilkie Saturday, July 24

NEW YORK (UPI) — When the galleries shouted "We Want Wilkie" during the 1940 Republican convention in Philadelphia, television cameras were recording their first presidential nominating convention.

Of course, almost nobody owned a television receiver, and the broadcast of the GOP's nomination of Wendell Wilkie didn't go farther than the East Coast. The pioneer network, NBC, placed some sets in public places — mostly bars and grills, according to recollection.

"I suspect maybe 500 people saw it — it couldn't have been a helluva lot," said Chet Hagan, who is producing the news and sports segments of NBC's tribute to itself, "The First 50 Years."

The convention was reported by a two-man team — Stuart Finley, an announcer on radio station KKY, NBC's Philadelphia affiliate, and Ray Forrest, who did announcing honors on a New York children's radio show.

KEEP SMILING KEEP HAPPY

Dominique Sanda will costar with George Peppard and Jan-Michael Vincent in "Damnation Alley" at 20th Century-Fox.

Ask Kleiner

By Dick Kleiner

DEAR DICK: I recently heard (supposedly from a friend and traveling companion of Elvis) that Elvis has a blood cancer and is dying. Please tell me that this is another nasty rumor. SHERRY CASTLE, San Diego, Ca. OK. This is another nasty rumor. I checked with a legitimate friend of Elvis', and he assures me Elvis is OK.

DEAR DICK: My friends and I were having a dispute on whether or not Ellery Queen was a real person, who tracked down criminals, or was he just a person that was made up in a book. ROBBIE WATSON, Richmond, B.C., Can. Neither. He was created by two writers, who invented the name and the man and then wrote book using the Ellery Queen by-line.

DEAR DICK: On a recent episode of Baretta, Baretta was seen playing pool, and playing really well. Is Robert Blake actually that good a pool player? ERIC HILL, Fairview, Pa. Yes, he's a shark. As a young man, he used to work in a pool hall, so he knows his Ps and cues.

DEAR DICK: My husband insists that the late Ernie Kovacs died in an airplane crash and that he wasn't married. I say that he was killed in an automobile accident and that he was married to Edie Adams. Which of us is correct? GERALDINE GREEN, Stockton, Ca.

You are. Your husband is wrong on both counts. Ernie was married to Edie Adams and was killed when his sports car crashed on Sunset Boulevard in the Bel Air section of Los Angeles.

DEAR DICK: I once saw an Elizabeth Taylor movie on TV called "Raintree County." It was a very good movie. I'd like to see it again. Is it going to be on TV again any time soon and, if so, when? S.D., Demopolis, Ala.

That movie is 25 years old, and so it is extremely doubtful if it will ever make it to network TV again. It is possible it may show up on your local station some day, on the late, later, latest show, but you'd have to check with them about that.

DEAR DICK: I heard a rumor that Spunky on The Little Rascals grew up to be Jackie Gleason. Is that true? C.M.M., Sallinas, Ca.

No. Right physique, wrong fellow.

DEAR DICK: I attended the Civic Light Opera in San Francisco and saw the very popular musical, "A Chorus Line." We did not see the orchestra. We were wondering if the music was taped. MRS. GEORGE LAURITSON, Manteca, Ca.

"A Chorus Line" concerns an audition of dancers for a musical show. To heighten that illusion, the orchestra is in the pit, but the pit is covered with black velvet so they are not visible. But it is all live music.

DEAR DICK: I'm a fan of Donny and Marie Osmond. I've heard that ABC is taking some shows off next fall and replacing them. I was wondering if the Osmond show would be taken off the air. If so, why? J.H., Springfield, Mo.

No, Donny and Marie will be back, in all their glory.

DEAR DICK: I saw a movie last night about the Bermuda Triangle. Why not ask Jacques Cousteau to go under and solve the mystery? MRS. BEVERLY MONTROY, Ogdensburg, N.Y.

It might make an interesting program for him, but there is considerable doubt as to just how "mysterious" this mystery is. PBS recently aired a program on Nova, which debunked the mystery. Anyhow, can a square investigate a triangle?

ABC Sports' coverage of the XXI Olympic Games in Montreal, Canada, today to Aug. 3, on the ABC Television Network, will include extensive reporting on the track and field competition among both the male and the female athletes. Providing expert commentary on the women's track and field competition will be Wyomia Tyus, a former Olympic track champion who won back-to-back gold medals in the 100 meter dash in the 1964 and 1968 Olympics.

Olympic uniforms indicate roles

The basic function of the uniforms for the 1976 Olympic Games in Montreal is to facilitate communications. Some 20,000 people will be doing 39 different jobs in six different job categories, and their uniforms must make them easily identifiable and thus help them do those jobs.

This is a major concern for the team of four Montreal fashion designers responsible for the uniforms — Leo Chevalier, Marielle Fleury, Michel Robichaud and John Warden.

The six major job categories had to be recognizable by the uniform category with the color of the uniform denoting the actual area of responsibility.

Red denotes an official function; blue indicates a press function; grey is used as complementary color for trousers and skirts; green indicates an Olympic Village function; orange, a service function; yellow, a technological function; purple, a cultural and protocol function; and magenta, a Youth Camp function. Beige, although not an official color, is being used to designate sports personnel.

The Symbol

The symbol for the Games of the XXI Olympiad illustrates the human element stressed by Baron Pierre de Coubertin, founder of the modern Olympics.

The podium, at the top, indicates the crowning glory for the winners as well as their spirit of chivalry on the way to victory. It also represents the graphic interpretation of the letter "M," the first letter of Montreal. At the heart of the Symbol, the simplicity and the dignity of the Olympic stadium's track imply man's faith in an ideal.

Finally, the five Olympic rings denote universal brotherhood.

'The world's most valuable coin?'

By RUSS MacKENDRICK

"The world's most valuable coin." Perhaps. Anyway, it is insured for a cool million.

It is a unique 20-dollar pattern in ultra-high relief that was made for President Theodore Roosevelt by his friend, "the rearest of modern sculptors,"

Augustus Saint-Gaudens. It could be thought of as a memento of that pint-sized only war alluded to in this column some months ago.

TR has a "thing" about having the name of the Deity on coins that were to kick round in pockets and purses. So when the 10th Congress was well out of town, he had several new gold designs made up without the "In God We Trust." The 10-dollar coins had the date and a head with an Indian war bonnet on the front, and a standing eagle on the back. The twenties that went into circulation had a walking Liberty figure on the front (or obverse), and a lying eagle on the back, like the one shown on this pattern piece.

The coin above presents a pretty problem as to which side is which. The obverse is usually taken to be the head side, but the august Webster's second edition defines it thusly: "In coins of the United States, the side bearing the date, 'respectively of the device' — (is the obverse). Note where the date is on this coin — just under the eagle!

This valuable item is out of a collection of 45 pattern coins recently acquired by the A-Mark Coin Co. of Beverly Hills. These are the people that were last seen wimming in a sea of silver dollars that had cost them over seven millions, and a big-time barter has been hinted at. Whatever the crass details, the transaction was certainly not handled like a light under a bushel. Instead it was announced, r-ta ta-taa, and the coins exhibited, in a bank conference room in the presence of representatives of two of the major TV networks, some radio stations, and several business magazines.

Stamps and coins

Eight or 10 of the coins in the lot are said to be unique, but the one shown is to be cherished above all others.

219 Bicen issues

An ad in Linn's offers 219 new philatelic productions — stamps or souvenir sheets — of world-wide Bicentennial issues. And Minkus puts out a special album just for such as these.

The champ seems to be Equatorial Guinea with an even dozen items. Next comes Upper Volta with nine and Comoro with eight. So good of them to remember us — may their handiwork survive the black-blotting of the APS Watchdog Committee.

The British showed a touch of class by getting out an appropriate commemorative in time for the Interphil. This in spite of being held up and shot at as the bad guys all these Bicentennial months.

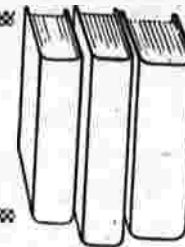

A joint venture

The new Ben Franklin 13-cent stamp is attractive in its various shades of blue. It has only a smidgin of that gruesome yellow-brown that has so beset us ever since the Contributors to the Cause four-some that was voted the worst of 1975. Perhaps they have come to the bottom of their cauldron of the stuff.

The stamp is a joint design with Canada. This is fitting since Franklin served each country as its first Postmaster General. The Canadian adhesive is a 10-center, as they still manage to get by with that nice round figure up there. This is only the second joint U.S.-Canada philatelic venture. The other was the St. Lawrence Seaway in 1959. Remember the Canadian invert? Scott lists it at $2,500 — hasn't changed in 10 years.
