Olympics just memory

MONTREAL (UPI) - The Olympic flame has gone out, the Village is deserted and the tourists have gone home.

Outside of a few posters no one would know Montreal had played host to the 1976 Games. Already they are a memory, and maybe it's just as well, because for many the games held here always will be remembered as the ones that nearly ended the Olympic movement. Lord Killanin, the stately Irishman whose demeanor and speech seems from another era. saved these games for Montreal, but before leaving for home Monday he put the next hosts—the Russians—on notice the International Olympic Committee will pull the rug, even at the last minute, if politics are introduced. Up until now only the Canadian government knows how close Killanin came to calling off these games over the Taiwan issue and the only reason he didn't was because of the inconvenience it would have cost a lot of countries and their athletes. In a news conference here Monday, Killanin said if the Russians attempt the same sort of political maneuver as the Canadians pulled off here he will cancel the Olympics in a minute

Killanin said the Soviet government has guaranteed that every National Olympic Committee recognized by the IOC will be invited to send a team to Moscow. That would include countries Russia doesn't recognize, such as the Republic of China, Chile and Israel. The Cana dian government doesn't recognize the ROC either, and its refusal to permit entry to the Chinese from Taiwan at the last minute put the IOC on the spot.

After painful deliberations, which at one point had the United States ready to pull out, the IOC backed down. The ROC athletes went home and Canada got its way. "We had to consider the athletes, some of whom already were in residence at the Olympic

Village," said Killanin. "If we had canceled a month before the games, it would have been a disaster. Following that loss of face, the IOC revised its rules and now its executive board can take "immediate action" if confronted with a similar political question, and that includes sanctions or outright dismissal of countries such as the bloc of African and Arab countries

(29), who pulled out in protest over the presence of New Zealand. Before returning to Dublin, Killanin said there is serious concern about the staggering costs of staging the games (It cost Canada $1.5 billion with two thirds of that figure expected to be a loss) and a change might be made. Presumably, the subject will next be taken up when the executive board meets in October in Barcelona, Spain. Montreal is now part of Olympic history.

DEAR ABBY: A letter in your column about visiting the elderly in nursing homes prompts my first "Dear Abby"

I agree, it's a great service to visit an elderly friend or relative in a nursing home, but consider this: Instead of going there to sit with him while you both look at the same four walls he looks at day in and day out, why not give him a change of scenery?

Take him for a little drive and stop for a bite to eat. Or take him for a little drive and stop for a bite to eat. Or take him window shopping. Or treat him to a home-cooked meal with the family. Just being away from the institution will relieve his boredom and lift his spirits.

If he isn't able to walk, be aware that they now make lightweight wheelchairs that can be easily folded and tucked into the trunk of the car.

Abby this is a plea to your senders who will. Abby, this is a plea to your readers who visit someone in a nursing home: Please turn those routine duty visits into special events by treating the patient to an occasional outing. It will do wonders for him. And for you, too. I know. I've been a volunteer in such a home for over 10 years.

BESS

DEAR BESS: What a pity you'll never know how much happiness your suggestion will bring to countless residents

DEAR ABBY: I am so glad I can write to you with this problem because it has bothered me for years and I can't go o anyone else with it. You see, my parents were never married, which makes me illegitimate, right? I'm not exactly proud of it, but I don't let it bother me too much because there is nothing I can do

What must I do to make my children legitimate? Thank children born to a married couple are legitimate, regardless of the legitimacy (or illegitimacy) of their parents.

DEAR BRIDE: I think it might look as though you wer trying to create a Broadway musical production effect. And for those who are superstitious, it's bad luck to open an

DEAR MOM: You did it. You married their father. All

DEAR ABBY: I am planning my wedding. I want my bridesmaids to wear southern belle-type dresses and enter carrying parasols instead of flowers. I want them to walk down the aisle with their parasols open, until they reach the front of the church. Then they would turn to face the congregation and close their parasols, keeping them closed for the duration of the service My fiance and his mother say this would look stupid.
