Routing school buses is a chore

"It gets more difficult each year," says Elmer Thrall, the man responsible for preparing schedules and routes for Manchester school buses.

Thrall, president of Manchester Bus Service Inc., says the ever-increasing difficulty is a result of the development pattern of Manchester.

"People are building houses farther from the center of town," Thrall said, "and that requires more busing."

Last week, Thrall finished the three-week job of preparing the schedules and routes, which was complicated even more this year by a Manchester Board of Education cost-cutting move.

Even though the number of students requiring bus transportation may increase, the school board decided to try to save money by cutting the number of buses on the road.

Asst. School Supt. Wilson E. Deakin Jr. said there will be five fewer buses this year, for a total of 59 buses and 17 vans or station wagons. The bus cut will mean a radical change in school opening hours, to stagger them for busing reasons, which haven't been announced yet.

Most buses will be making three trips apiece this year. Thrall said. Last year, most buses made only two trips apiece.

The difficulty in arranging the transportation plan also stems from a variety of other things, Thrall said. It is not the only things, like details on where buses can turn and where they can't. Thrall might be able to prepare the bus routes by computer.

"We tried it one year," he said, "and what a mess!"

"One of the problems is that the computer can't take into account that Mrs. Murphy's kids don't get along with Mrs. Jones' kids," Thrall said.

Thrall's company is going into the third year of a three-year contract for school transportation in Manchester. The firm has provided service to local schools for 17 years.

The Board of Education buses students to technical schools and parochial schools as well as public schools, and last year's bused student total was 4,858, according to reports from Raymond Demers, school business manager. Demers says the estimate for 1976-1977 transportation isn't steady yet, and the precise total won't be available for a long time.

Platform work nearly completed

Ford, Reagan pursue uncommitted delegates

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Satisfied that the final platform will be acceptable to either candidate, supporters of President Ford and Ronald Reagan turned elsewhere today for the handful of delegates each needs to clinch the Republican presidential nomination.

Three days before the GOP National Convention opens in a deep, gleaming white Kemper Arena hard by the stockyards of old Kansas City, the outcome of balloting for the delegates to oppose Democratic nominee Jimmy Carter in the fall campaign still was uncertain.

Political strategists for both Ford and Reagan were claiming a first-ballot victory was in sight. But the latest UPI balloting showed both candidates still short of the 1,130 delegates needed — Ford with 1,122 votes and Reagan 1,075, with 102 uncommitted.

Tornadoes hit trailer park

By United Press International

Madonna Brown looked outside from the candle-lit recreation room of her trailer home.

"I looked outside and said 'My God, I think we're having a tornado,'" she said.

Three twisters swirled over the heavily populated trailer park area near Largo on Florida's Gulf Coast Thursday. When they hit, at least one person had been killed and at least 13 injured.

Police said the twisters cut through a half-mile-long, quarter-mile-wide area of Pinellas County on a peninsula jutting into the Gulf, west of Tampa.

Authorities early today were searching the rubble of more than 100 destroyed or damaged trailers for more dead or injured.

Three of 'San Quentin Six' convicted

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (UPI) — It had been California's longest jury trial. Deliberations lasted a record 24 days. Superior Court Judge Henry Broderick took 45 minutes to read the verdicts before the crowded, hushed courtroom.

Refinery blast kills 12

CHALMETTE, La. (UPI) — An explosion ripped through a 28-story oil refinery tower Thursday night, and men working inside were trapped by a flash fire and a deadly barrage of flying debris.

Twelve persons were killed and seven others injured, five of them critically, in the blast at the Tenesse Oil refinery alongside the Mississippi River.

"It will be a couple of days until they pull out all the parts of the bodies," said Ralph Carrera, a St. Bernard Sheriff's deputy, who was called to the scene.

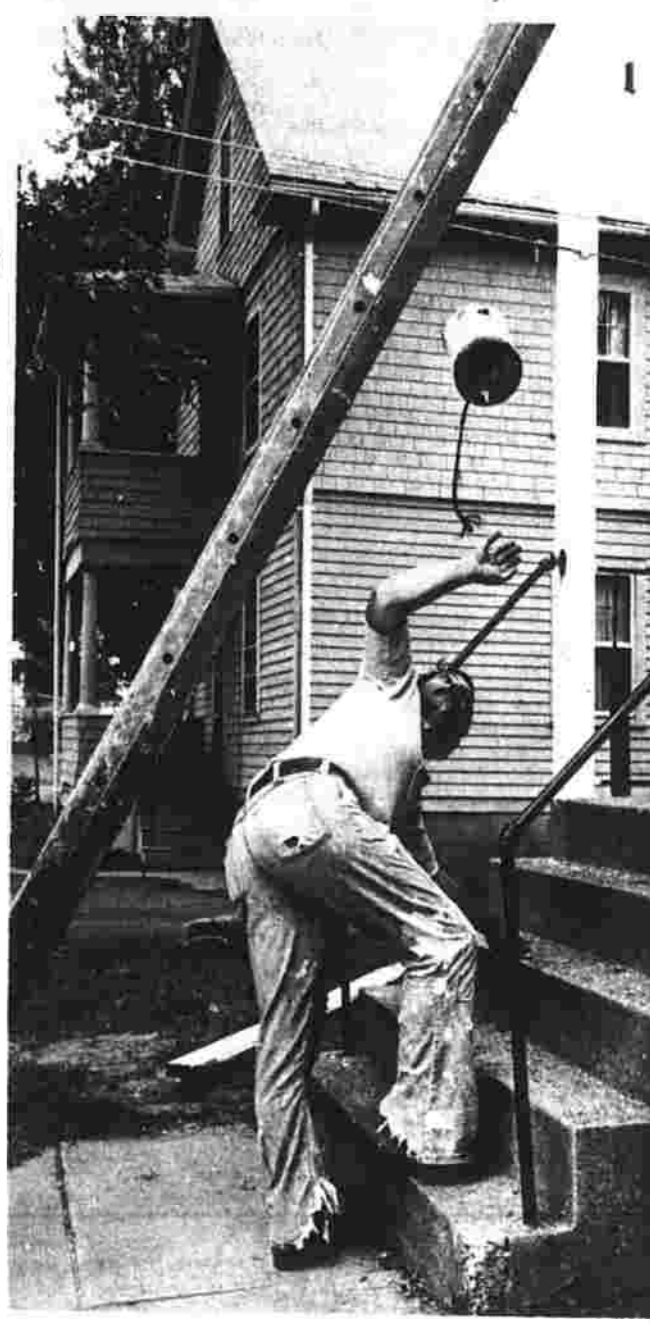

"It was like hell in there. It was hot. The sides of the tower were charred and a lot of the guys were cut in half by the falling metal."

The only outside signs of the explosion were a muffled thud and a puff of smoke from the 305-foot tower live miles downriver from New Orleans.

Bicentennial band shell to fulfill varied needs

By ALICE EVANS
Herald Reporter

Manchester summers will be filled with a variety of entertainment when the proposed Bicentennial band shell becomes a reality later this year.

The band shell (music shell, amphitheater or whatever one wants to call it) is being designed to provide the people of the community with a facility for a full and varied summer schedule of performing arts programs.

Planned as a fitting permanent memorial to the Bicentennial year, the town Bicentennial Act, expects the shell to be an act as a stimulus and to serve as a showcase for local theater, music, choral and dance groups.

Large enough to hold a symphony orchestra, the shell will be 67 feet wide, 32 feet deep and 30 feet high at the proscenium. It will include electrical conduits, a sound system and provisions for a house curtain and stage lights.

Construction on the shell is expected to begin by September with the ground-breaking ceremonies set for Sept. 12. The construction on the shell is scheduled to be completed by Christmas. The opening performance and dedication ceremonies are tentatively planned for the middle of May 1977.

The site selected for the shell is on the Manchester Community College campus, adjacent to the college's Wetherell St. entrance. The topography of the site provides a natural amphitheater and is away from the densely populated areas of town. There will be space for up to 10,000 people and abundant free parking.

The college will provide 24-hour security services, which would be impossible to obtain if the shell were located at any of the other suggested sites in town.

The projected schedule of programs to take place at the shell in 1977 will include something for everyone. For the lovers of classical music there may be two or three symphony concerts. There also will be band concerts, programs by jazz bands, string ensembles, gospel bands, and a variety of other entertainment.

"I was down the road and I didn't hear anything, but it's sure a mess in here," said Carrera.

Rescue workers used light bulbs lowered on black electrical cords to illuminate the site.

One workman reporting for the overnight shift said he was surprised by the blast.

"Somebody must have messed up in there. They've been working in there for a week and a half and there hasn't been any trouble," he said.

The night illuminated Thursday night by thousands of tiny light bulbs and a full moon, is located use mile off the nearest major highway. Deputies blocked access routes and prevented all but coroner's wagons and plant workers from entering.

Opinion Compromise deflates auto air bag issue?

Transportation Secretary William T. Coleman is once again the man in the hot seat, charged with making a decision that will directly affect the health and safety and pocketbooks of millions of Americans.

A couple of months ago, Coleman pleased some people and angered many others by deciding to permit the controversial Concorde supersonic airliner to begin a trial period of flights between the United States and Europe. He must now render a verdict on the even more controversial question of air bags in cars, and whatever he decides will please some people and anger many others.

It is a curious story in human psychology that a safety device whose efficacy has been pretty well established during five years of testing should arouse so much impassioned opposition. Critics of the air bags range from the automobile industry, which says they aren't as effective as claimed and would increase the price of a car by several hundred dollars, to civil libertarians, who fear yet another encroachment on personal liberty by the heavy hand of Big Brother.

The industry's arguments can perhaps be dismissed in light of its record of resistance to every government-ordered change in the way automobiles are made. So can the doubts about the reliability of air bags. Even if they worked only half the time and saved only half the 17,000 lives a year which the insurance industry and traffic safety consumer groups say they would, air bags would still be the most valuable contribution to safety in the history of the automobile.

What Coleman cannot disregard is the attitude of the general car-owning public, and here he has as a guide the ignition interlock fiasco of 1973. Designed to prevent a person from starting his car until he has fastened his seat belt, this safety measure aroused such a storm that Congress abolished it the following year.

It can be argued, however, that the ignition interlock was a purely nuisance device that angered seat-belt users and nonusers alike, while air bags would remain unseen and untouched until the first, crucial split-second of a collision when they would be automatically deployed.

It can also be argued that this same public willingly spends hundreds of dollars on such luxury options as vinyl roofs and stereo tape players, so why should it object to something no more expensive than has proven it can save their lives? (According to one insurance company president, the cost of air bags could be brought down to less than $100 a car if they were routinely installed on the assembly line, and this cost would be more than offset by savings in insurance premiums over the life of the car.)

Coleman must also weigh the testimony of people who have actually been in crashes in cars equipped with air bags and who are alive today because of it. These people are passionate on the subject, too, as they revealed in hearings the secretary held in Washington the other day. It would be a crime, some of them said, if the government did not make air bags mandatory.

As for the question of "freedom of choice," another insurance company head has pointed out that to have this choice in the case of air bags. They are extremely difficult to obtain and for most cars are absolutely unavailable.

This suggests a possible compromise solution. This would be for the Department of Transportation to require the automakers to provide air bags on all cars as an option for everyone who wanted them and at the same time, as the automakers urge, launch an educational effort to try to reach the seven out of 10 drivers who adamantly refuse to wear seat belts.

This, of course, would increase the unit cost of air bags, and seat-belt campaigns have been notoriously unsuccessful in the past. But it may be the only practical compromise.

A question of law enforcement priorities

WASHINGTON — The conviction in Salt Lake City of U.S. Rep. Allan T. Howe on a charge of "soliciting sex acts for hire" has not persuaded me that law enforcement is doing its job. It has, instead, raised the question of law enforcement's priorities.

That is not to say that I endorse the employment of whores or plug for "desecrimation" of the oldest profession. The private morals of others are none of my business unless they damage the public interest. I consider the sale and purchase of sex an untidy trade, but not being God I do not stand in judgment of what might loosely be called romantic suspected criminal who is likely to offend a constitutional question. Communities also have a right to protect what is called community standards and mores. Spitting on the sidewalk is a crime in some localities.

But Howe's conviction poses a special case. He was arrested after he approached two policemen employed as a decoy to go after males seeking the services of whores. To me, that constitutes a trap of the worse sort because it victimizes otherwise law-abiding individuals suffering only from an ancient lust.

The Supreme Court has ruled, police entrapment is acceptable if it involves deceiving a known or suspected criminal who is likely to offend a constitutional question. Howe was not, so far as I know, a known or suspected criminal. He was not, for example, a creep who could be persued to buy or sell a few ounces of heroin or to knock off some toothrighteous labor leader. All of which leads into the question of priorities. There are few free-lance prostitutes. Most of them are owned by pimps, who in turn are owned by organized crime. I do not claim prostitution could be abolished if there were no pimps and no organization crime syndicates. I do say we could clean up, as it were, the trade if our lawmen concentrated on the real criminals.

Kid me not. In every city and town in the country, the pimps who run the whoring operation are known to the cops, and to many of those holding public office. The pimps roam about town in their big cars, dressed with the panache of a Parisian boulevard on the streets doing business with enough cops. What I'd like to see is police departments using their manpower to go after the criminals who are a real and present danger to the people's lives and limbs. I should like our law enforcement agencies to dispatch decoys to trap the muggers and dope pushers in order to catch them in the act with witnesses. Why waste valuable time picking on the Allan Howes, when citizens are robbed, beaten and murdered on our streets every day of the week?

Howe's case is an appeal. If the lower court is upheld, I suppose he'll have to pay the penalty — set at a $100 fine and 30 days in jail. But it is not really a moral issue. Note that he is not charged with prostituting a female decoy, but with agreeing to pay for whatever pleasure she might give him.

Civil liberties pall at White House

WASHINGTON — Until recently the White House was a unique among palaces. It was relaxed, open, accessible. People could wander in off the street to shake hands with the chief executive. It was a place where a tourist popped in on the President at his dinner one evening. The mansion had a security force, but it also had a heart, and was known as the only official residence in the world where the head of state was not afraid of the people.

Then change began during the tensions of the Depression era. And after the death of John Kennedy, the White House had become a fortress of fear and suspicion. Today it is protected by perhaps the most elaborate electronic security system in the world, guards whose orders are "shoot to kill," and an arsenal of terrible weapons which include a reported heat-seeking anti-aircraft missile.

Not only does the head of state no longer trust the people around his home, he does not, to a high degree, even tolerate them there. Tourists are allowed inside the gates, but merely in tightly controlled areas. Others breach the walls only at their domestically. Often his letters have explained that he is not downgrading America, which he feels is a "wonderful country" but that unfortunately, it is being ill-served by its government and big business.

For his honesty, Heller found himself in a jam again. Agent Gibson summoned the Washington police who arrested the visitor and transported him to a local looney hospital for a "mental review." The law says such actions can only be taken with citizens when they are dangerous to themselves or others, but never mind the law where White House security is concerned. Heller spent 48 hours in confinement. His suit now pending, asking $150,000 in damages.

What happened to Peter Heller happens to some 300 other folks annually. Heller decided to write Heller. He checked in with the Secret Service, which told him to see agent Rick Nelson at the White House. Following directions, Heller went to the mansion gate where an agent named Gerald Gibson, not Rick Nelson, interviewed him. They talked for 30 minutes regarding letters and related matters.

During the conversation, Heller mentioned that his letter writing had gotten him into a jam in the 1960s. He'd said some intemperate things in correspondence to corporate moguls who themselves had him committed to a mental institution. But he said he was not crazy, just angry at careless government and big business.

Rosalynn, a power in her own right

WASHINGTON — A friend who teaches the deaf, and who therefore is expert at reading lips, watched TV daily during the recent Democratic National Convention.

This watching told her something about Rosalynn Carter, her place in the Carter family and her relationship with her husband.

Scene One: Mrs. Carter is whispering inaudibly to her husband, who is busy talking with a man of some stature at the convention.

"Move on," says Mrs. Carter sternly and vigorously, speaking obviously in a voice no one but her husband can hear — not even the man he's talking to. "You've spent enough time with him," she continued. "Move on over there." Jimmy Carter, without intones, obeys, cuts the conversation, and turns to the person Rosalynn Carter has indicated.

Scene Two: Mrs. Carter, smiling in a most gracious way at people in front of and to the side, is sitting next to the Carter children. Then one son lights up a cigarette. Without a change in her expression or a break in her smiling and nodding to delegates and visitors in the convention hall, she whispers, in a voice so low it cannot be picked up by the sensitive TV sensors trained on her, "But out that cigarette. Meekly he obeys in one quick motion.

Scene Three: Shortly after Sen. Walter Mondale was voted the Democratic nominee for vice president, Mrs. Mondale was asked by newsmen where she thought she would fit into a Carter administration — that is, what she thought her field might be.

She'd hardly gotten a sentence out of her mouth — on how she would be interested in helping unfortunate children and families, when Mrs. Carter stepped to the front, moving Mrs. Mondale from her short stint in the limelight. "Yes," Rosalynn Carter reportedly said, "She'll be a big help to me," publicly making it clear the relationship between the First Lady and Number Two, if the Carters should win in November.

peril; there was no official remorse for the man shot down recently on the White House lawn. Secret Service agents instead said that his death was "an ideal operation" insofar as the security reaction was concerned.

No nervous have the sentries been actually, that White House visitors no longer even have to break the rules to risk scorn or manhandling. One need only be suspected of being a potential rule breaker. Case in point is a Philadelphia taxi driver named Peter Heller, age 38. His harmless visit to the White House a year ago in June has since forced him to sue the government for false arrest.

Heller's ordeal, as he relates it, actually began in 1969 when he started writing letters of complaint to the President. His grievance, which continues to this hour, was that the nation's intelligence operatives were polluting the ideals of democracy and importing dirty tricks for use when Jimmy Carter was a young Navy officer. As he notes: "While Rosalynn and I were in Norfolk, I worked at sea all week and one-third of my weekends. This meant that Rosalynn had to manage all the affairs of our home, as she has continued to do ever since."

All this has set some Democrats and Republicans to wondering what role his strong and obviously very intelligent woman would play in the White House if Jimmy Carter is elected president. Some fear that influence. Others welcome it.

There have been many courageous First Ladies to be sure. It takes great inner strength to be the wife of a president under the best of circumstances. Political strength is another matter.

Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt was intensely active politically after the death of her husband, but apparently carried little influence in Mr. Roosevelt's decision making. Mrs. Wilson reportedly carried the weight of the presidency on her shoulders when illness overcame Woodrow Wilson late in his term of office.

But such influence has been far from common.

The pattern of the Carter household was set from the start.

Today's thought

In Corinthians 1:9 Paul says "You know (do you not?) that at the sports only one wins the prize. Like them, run to win! But every athlete goes into strict training. They do it to win a fading wreath, we, a wreath that never fades. For my part, I run with a clear goal before me: I am like a boxer who does not beat his air, many entered the Olympics, hopeful but anxious, knowing that

Michaud wins Sam biathlon

Bob Michaud was the winner Thursday of the men's division of the second biathlon this summer at Globe Hollow with a time of 24:40. He was defending champion of the first biathlon held earlier this summer.

Dave Lamieux took second in the men's at 25:40, with Robert O. Butler repeating his third place finish of this summer's first race with a time of 29:34.

Leslie Scott took first place in the women's division with a time of 29:34 while Janine Dobson finished second in running time only at 15:14.

The biathlon included running a two-mile loop beginning at and returning to Globe Hollow followed by a plunge into the pool for a half-mile swim.

The event was sponsored by Summer Activities in Manchester (SAMI).

Area man hits $200G lottery

Edward Bondarko of 539 Burrside Ave., East Hartford won the top prize Thursday in the weekly state lottery drawing.

The 52-year-old construction worker had his $100,000 top prize doubled to $200,000 because of a color match.

Runner-up winners included Raymond T. Quish of Manchester, $3,000, and Michael R. Patrick of East Hartford, $1,000.

Winning numbers in this week's lottery are 98 and 314. Lucky color: Red, Miles of Money. Red.

Motocyclist in critical condition

Robert Bard, 43, of 18 Englewood Dr. was reported in critical condition today at Hartford Hospital, with serious head injuries suffered in an early morning motorcycle accident on Octet St.

Manchester Police said Bard was driving west on Octet when he crossed the road and threw him. He was taken to Manchester Memorial Hospital by ambulance and later transported to Hartford, authorities said.

Police report

The 12:30 a.m. accident is still under investigation, police said.

Arrests made or summonses issued by Manchester Police included:

Gregory D. Morgan, 22, of South Glastonbury, charged with driving while under the influence of liquor, in connection with an early morning traffic accident at Porter and Autumn Sts. ## Levitt Corp. reports loss

HARTFORD (UPI) — Levitt Corp., the company formed after the bankruptcy of the Levitt Brothers home-building empire, has reported an operating loss of $285,000 on sales of $10.59 million during the second quarter ended June 30.

Victor Palmieri & Co., Inc., trustee for the corporation, said in a report filed with the Federal District Court for Connecticut the loss had been expected by Levitt's management due to seasonal homebuilding factors.

Palmieri said Levitt officials predict the company will show a profit for the year as a whole.

Levitt was one of several units of International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. agreed to give up five years ago in settlement of Justice Department antitrust suits which enabled ITT to retain Hartford Fire Insurance Co.

Palmieri was appointed Levitt trustee in January, 1975.

Town women look forward to Kansas City excitement

By GREG PEARSON

Two local women, heading to Kansas City for the Republican National Convention, expect to be part of what may be the hardest-fought convention the party has held in years.

In the past, Republican conventions have generally resembled this year's Democratic convention — cut-and-dried affairs with little suspense other than the selection of a vice-presidential candidate.

But this year, things are different in the Republican ranks. President Gerald Ford and Ronald Reagan are involved in a tight struggle for the party's top post.

"I decided, if I could go, this would be an exciting year to do it," Elmor Hashim, who will be an alternate delegate from the First Congressional District, said.

This will be her first trip to a national convention, though she has been to one for several years.

"All of the things I've done in politics, this is the one ambition I've always had — to go to a national convention," she said.

Connecticut sends three delegates from each of the six congressional districts and 17 at-large delegates. Ms. Hashim is the first alternate from the First District. If one of the delegates is unable to attend a voting session, she will become a voting delegate.

Since she has never been to a national convention before, she is not quite sure what to expect.

"Sometimes on TV, the conventions look chaotic and sometimes they look boring. I think this one will be very exciting," she said.

Ms. Hashim is hoping for, and expects to see, a victory for President Ford.

"It's so close. It's just a matter of a few votes," she said. But, she added, if he does not win the nomination on the first ballot, the party could be in for a long series of votes.

She does not like the idea of a third candidate entering the race. "I think it would be divisive and would hurt the whole party," she said.

Ms. Hashim has received invitations to several social events, which she has decided to pass up for rather obvious reasons.

A Republican luncheon costs $1,000 per plate for those who attend. A breakfast affair for keynote speaker Howard Baker, the Tennessee senator, and a get-together featuring several Republican senators and representatives are a little cheaper — $250 per person.

While Ms. Hashim is a new hand at this, Carol Kuehl, of 74 Mountain Rd., is attending her second straight Republican National Convention.

She was a guest at the Miami convention in 1972 and will be a guest next week in Kansas City.

"Ever since the convention in Miami, I've been looking forward to this one," she said.

"This year should be more exciting than four years ago because there is a contest," she said. She is also hoping for a Ford victory.

Mrs. Kuehl recalled that in 1972 the bus carrying Connecticut delegates was damaged by rock-throwing demonstrators.

"I'd like to think we won't have a recurrence of what happened in Miami, but how can you tell?" she said. "When you're dealing with a metropolis the size of Kansas City, you're bound to find people who don't like some things."

Part of the reason she enjoys attending conventions is because she meets people from all over the state and country.

She said it is like a family reunion when she attends state party functions. "I see old friends from Miami and we remember when..." she said.

Ms. Hashim and Mrs. Kuehl will both be staying at the Holiday Inn in Kansas City that will house the entire Connecticut and Alaska delegations. The Connecticut delegation will fly out of Bradley International Airport on Saturday morning and will return next Saturday.

Court delays oil site sale

NEW YORK (UPI) — A federal judge today granted a preliminary injunction barring the sale next Tuesday of 800,000 acres of offshore oil drilling sites off the coast of New Jersey.

U.S. District Court Judge Jack B. Weinstein in a 200-page decision, said he was blocking the scheduled sale because the "litigation has substantial economic, social, environmental and political impact."

The sale of the land, located in the Baltimore Canyon stretching 50 to 90 miles along the Atlantic coast off the coast of New Jersey and New York's Long Island, was expected to bring bids ranging from $400 million to $600 million.

The suit was brought by New York State, the Long Island counties of Nassau and Suffolk and a group of environmentalists who feared the effects the drilling might have on the region's economy, on the atmosphere and on coastal fishing grounds.

For period ending 7 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 14. During Friday night, showers and thundershowers will be scattered across parts of the north Pacific coast, the upper Plains and along the north Atlantic coast. Fair to partly cloudy skies should prevail elsewhere. Minimum temperatures include: (approximate maximum readings in parentheses) Atlanta 66 (80), Boston 69 (84), Chicago 61 (75), Dallas 74 (85), Denver 57 (69), Duluth 45 (68), Houston 72 (94), Jacksonville 73 (88), Kansas City 66 (83), Los Angeles 61 (76), Miami 76 (90), New Orleans 74 (92), New York 71 (82), Phoenix 76 (88), San Francisco 59 (69), Seattle 54 (66), St. Louis 66 (86), Washington 72 (87).

CONVENTIONS IN CRISIS

4. The Republicans: 1920

The World War had been over for a year and a half, a Republican Congress was still debating the Versailles Treaty. President Wilson, after a futile appeal to the people to accept the League of Nations, was doing the Prohibitionists had finally made the country dry, women had finally won the vote. The nation had retreated back into its isolationist shell. The people were satisfied.

Election year 1920 was going to be a Republican year and the Republicans knew it. The fact that they had candidates of outstanding caliber didn't bother them as they assembled in Chicago in June.

Out of nearly a score of mentioned candidates, the most prominent were Gen. Leonard Wood, Gov. Frank Lowden of Illinois, Sen. Hiram Johnson of California, Ford Administrator Herbert Hoover, Massachusetts Gov. Calvin Coolidge and Warren Gamaliel Harding, senator and newspaper publisher from Ohio.

Shrewd Harry Daugherty, Harding's campaign manager, prophesied: "The convention will be devalued and after the other candidates have gone their limit, some 12 to 15 men, worn-out and bleary-eyed from lack of sleep, will sit down about two o'clock in the morning in a smoke-filled room in

by Don Oakley and Ed Kudlaty

Some hotel and decide the nomination. When that time comes, Harding will be selected.

That is exactly what happened, and the phrase, "smoke-filled room" entered the vocabulary.

After eight ballots, neither the deadlocked front-runners, Lowden and Wood, could be persuaded to step down. The convention adjourned and into a hotel room went the Republican leaders. For two hours, amid the burning cigars, they talked to Harding. When voting resumed, he was nominated on the 10th ballot.

Harding had taken a chance and won, for he had had to decide between trying for the presidential nomination or retiring for the 11th senatorial race since his congressional term expired that year.

Harding campaigned from his front porch in Marion, Ohio on the slogan, "Back to normal." His vice-presidential mate, Calvin Coolidge, chopped wood at Plymouth Notch, Vt. In November, they won handily — 16 million to 9 million — over their Democratic opponents James M. Cox and Franklin Delano Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the Navy.

The people had chosen "normality," which, apparently, meant the least government by the least capable.

There is one vacancy on the board and three members are on vacation. The remaining three members discussed school business for hours.

Included in the suggestions by Cloutier were combining all grade levels on the bus runs, single pass pickups and possibly relaxing the 30-minute limit for students to be on the bus.

Fire needs still here

Although a referendum vote turned down appropriations for fire equipment and housing for it, Mayor Thomas Benoit said the need for the items still exists.
Benoit said Thursday he plans to re-activate the fire study committee which prepared reports prior to the referendum last September.
The mayor blamed the rejection of the referendum question on the poor turnout of voters.
"We'll have to do a better job to get more people out if it does go to a referendum vote in the future," he said.
He said just because it lost in that referendum doesn't mean the

Barbara Kennelly pleased with tour

Vernon
"It was one of our better trips," said Mrs. Barbara Kennelly, member of Hartford's City Council, discussing Wednesday's tour of the city and Vernon by city and town leaders.
The joint tour was the third for Mrs. Kennelly and the city's leaders. They held earlier joint tours with leaders from Eastfield and Glastonbury.
The tours were prompted by friction between seven suburban towns and the city over a law suit of the city's blocking federal funds directed toward the towns. The suit charged the seven towns did not measure truthfully the number of poor people who might be "expected to reside" in their towns if housing were made available they could attract.
The city won an injunction in the U.S. District Court in Hartford blocking the towns from use of the funds.
"The day of easy politics is over," she said. "You work so hard all week and when it's over, you wonder if you've accomplished anything."
"But Wednesday was a real pleasure. I enjoyed Wednesday very much."

Fire house appearance to be like Town Hall

South Windsor
The Town Council is expecting the proposed plans for the new Fire House 1 at its meeting Aug. 23.
The firehouse, which will replace the old dilapidated Fire House 1 on Elmington Rd., is to go before the voters in November.
Preliminary plans drawn up by Architect Greg Montana call for a building which will look somewhat like Town Hall with a three-story apartment room.
Also included in the 12,000 square feet of space is a washdown room, a workshop, parts and clothing areas, lavatories, a bank room, meeting room, a firemen's lounge and kitchen, equipment storage rooms, a lobby, janitor's closet, secretary's vestibule, fire marshal's and chief's offices, and a conference area.
The exterior of the building will be brick with bronze tinted glass.
A letter of intent to build has been sent to federal officials informing them the town will file application for funding the firehouse through the new public works projects bill.
Officials are concerned the public will object to what they consider an extravagance such as proposed carpeting rather than the carpeting, however, has proven to be more economical in that it is seldom replaced and requires less maintenance.
The Public Building Commission is expected to meet with Montana to firm up plans prior to the meeting with the council Aug. 23.

Food retailers losses cost everybody money

Losses to the food retailing industry from shoplifting, vandalism, shoplifting, pilferage, etc. are on the upsurge according to Supermarket Institute Public Information Division.
Shrink to a super-market operator is a term used to describe a cost of doing business which can result from:
Spoiled, damaged, or broken merchandise; waste, employee theft, vendor pilferage, customer shoplifting, vandalism, bad checks, burglaries or robberies.
What are the major contributors to supermarket shrink costs?
By far the largest crime-related acts: shoplifting by customers or employees (estimated to total at least $600 million per year) and bad check losses ($450 million).
The Supermarket Institute's report cited a variety of examples of unintentional carelessness by food shoppers that contribute to shrink.
Customers contribute to supermarket shrink costs when they unconsciously:
• Eat or feed their children something which is being sold in the store, and is of course discarded and forgotten by the time they reach the checkout counter.
• Leave an item they don't want, here and there, instead of putting it back where it belongs. For example, leaving a frozen item on a shelf with paper towels.
"Pinch and squeeze produce or punch and tear holes in packages, which they don't buy, also when shoppers take a taste of something and then decide they don't want it after all."
"Completely rearrange displays of food products, particularly produce, into one big, unattractive mess."
It is generally thought that employees account for about half of the crime-related acts in stores. Discounting at the cash register and backroom thefts are two of the big trouble spots.
Most of the crime-related loss is attributed to amateurs — not professionals. The most shoplifted items seem to be cigarettes and meat.
A reformed shoplifter explaining his preference for meat said, "If I needed a fast buck, I'd always make quick money out of the street with a steak. And steaks will bend over your arm so a jacket could cover it."
The Institute says shoplifting has increased 400 per cent in the last 10 years and 85 per cent since 1969.
The exact reason for these growing statistics is not known, but inflation and price increases of recent years may have made shoplifters and thieves of some well-meaning customers and employees who used it to make ends meet on tight budgets.
Summing it up, one supermarket manager

Dick's American winner in Class A softball play

It's one team down and three to go in the Recreation Department's Town Class A Slow Pitch Softball Tournament following last night's play.

Still in the running are the Six City League entries, Bogner's Packers and Trudon's American of the Candlelight loop. Ousted last night was Candlelight regular season champion Holiday Lanes by Dick's

6-0, at Robertson Park. Trudon's hold the upper hand in the double elimination play with two wins in as many starts after stopping Bogner's at Fitzgerald, 8-6. The Packers are 1-1.

Tonight at 7:30 at Robertson, Bogner's and Dick's tangle with the loser going to the sidelines and the winner earning the right to meet Trudon next week.

All the Holiday Lanes could get in the run column were goose eggs.

Bob Morrow led Dick's with three hits and Dick Marsh, Lyle Eastman and Leo Williamson each came through with two singles.

John Wiggins was a perfect three-for-three for the Lanes at the plate and Bob Gorman added two more hits.

The game's longest hit was Ron Laliberte's triple.

Bob Buttram and Greg Pawlowski led the winners with two hits each with the latter's second safety accounting for the tie-breaking runs in the bottom of the sixth frame.

Telephone gains Rec softball title

Championship laurels in the Rec Softball League were garnered last night by Telephone Society after an easy 16-7 verdict over Center Congo at Keeney.

Tonight the losers face CBT with the winner gaining the right to participate in the Class B Town Tournament next week. The top two teams qualify.

Big stickers for Telephone were Clay Nivison and Paul McNamara, each with three singles, and Wayne Johnson with a homer.

The winners started off with a bang, hitting around, plus, and scoring 10 times in the first inning. Congo never recovered and the rout was on.

Irv Foster scattered six Congo hits, three by Jim Collins. Cliff Coffin accounted for three runs with a bases loaded triple.

WOMEN'S REC
Three hits by Dot Bradnamour Jr. and Paula Sullivan led the Leopards to a 9-5 decision over the Cougars last night at Cheney. Bobbie Godin had two hits for the losers.

FELINE
Fishing the season with a 9-6 record, Crispino's downed Scuse Paint last night at Noho, 6-3, with Sheryl Kane and Debbie Caouette each collecting three base hits. Pam Cooper and Lori Christiana added two more to the winning cause.

Cathy Grant and Johnah Patelli paced the Painters with two hits each.

NIKE
Five-run second inning helped Sportsman Tavern pin an 8-6 loss on Bob & Marie's last night at Nike to advance to the town tournament.

Mark Anderson enjoyed a perfect four-for-four show at the plate and Woody Clark and Bob Trigg added three two singles each and Dave Bidwell homered.

Bob Plenzio and Tony Quintillani were in the two-hit group for Bob's.

Designated hitter for World Series

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — The designated hitter, one of the most hotly debated issues in baseball, will be permitted for the first time in this year's World Series.

American League owners won their battle for acceptance of the designated hitter — a 10th player batting for the pitcher — at baseball's annual summer meetings Thursday.

Commissioner Bowie Kuhn cast the tie-breaking vote, adopting an AL proposal that the DH be used in alternating World Series, beginning this year. The National League, which had succeeded in banning the rule from the Series since the AL adopted it in 1973, remained staunch against any use of the designated hitter.

NL owners said the rule was unfair to pitchers, that it applied to Kuhn and members of each league to address themselves to the problem and the ways and means of reaching agreement.

In other action, the owners agreed to pay any indemnification incurred by officers of baseball acting in good faith and the performance of their duties. Specifically, it applied to Kuhn and members of each league to address themselves to the problem and the ways and means of reaching agreement.

NEW YORK (UPI) — In the World Championship clubhouse of wall-to-wall stars, outfielder George Foster is only beginning to be recognized.

By the end of the season it is quite possible the 27-year-old Foster will be considered the National League's Most Valuable Player.

"My goal this season was to reach my full potential," says Foster. "I don't know what that really is. But the idea is to keep improving."

He drove in four runs with his 25th and 26th homers and became the first major leaguer to drive in 100 runs this season Thursday when the Reds won, 8-3, over the Chicago Cubs.

Foster tied the score at 3-3 with his first homer in the eighth inning and hit the three-run homer as the Reds clinched the game with four runs in the ninth. Joe Morgan and Johnny Bench also homered for the Reds, who have won 13 of their last 15 games.

Manny Sarmiento, who pitched one shutout inning, received credit for the victory while Bruce Sutter was the loser. Pete LaCock homered for the Cubs. Atlanta defeated Philadelphia, 4-3, and San Diego beat New York, 3-0, in the only other scheduled National League games.

Bruce A. Phillips 3 Willie Montanez' two-run homer climaxed a three-

LaCock picked up his first major league victory after six losses while Jim Lonborg suffered his eighth setback compared to 12 wins.

Padres 3, Mets 0
Fred Kendall's two-run single was the big blow of a three-run second inning as the Padres dealt Tom Seaver his eighth defeat against nine victories. Seaver, the Mets' $225,000-a-year pitcher, hasn't won since July 8 although he has pitched effectively in most of his appearances. Rick Sawyer pitched an eight-hitter for San Diego to make his record 3-0 and lower his earned run average to 0.92.

Catfish snaps skein

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (UPI) — Catcher Hunter broke a personal four-game losing streak and the New York Yankees backed him up with 12 runs on 15 hits for a 12-3 rout of the Minnesota Twins Thursday night.

"I was going to see Catfish winning again," Martin said. "We need him effective in order to keep going."

It was the Yankees' third win in their last four games. They recently took two out of three from the Kansas City Royals in a battle between the American League division leaders.

"No, we didn't push any harder against the Royals than the Twins," Martin said. "Every game is important in our race."

Hunter, 33-12, allowed nine hits, walked two and struck out seven in his 16th complete game of the year. He allowed only a first-inning run until Steve Braun unloaded a bases-loaded

Mets' extend Frazier pact

NEW YORK (UPI) — Despite the fact that his club is 17 games out of first place, Joe Frazier still hasn't given up on the New York Mets' chances of finishing first in the National League East. The Mets still haven't given up on Frazier.

The Mets announced Thursday that they have given Frazier, a self-described "organizational man," a one-year extension on his present contract which was to expire at the end of this season.

"We're satisfied with him and he's satisfied with us," said Mets Chairman of the Board M. Donald Grant in a statement from Phoenix, where Grant is attending the annual major league summer meetings.

"I don't need a vote of confidence," Frazier said. "Our ballclub is doing good and we're still in the running for second place. Maybe first if we get a few breaks and Philadelphia should falter."

"All I asked for is a one-year contract. Maybe I don't want to manage more than one year. Maybe I do, maybe I don't. A one-year contract is the only way to do it. I'm an organization man. They asked me to manage and I did it. I go along with their policies. That's the way we work."

The Mets are third in the National League East, 17 games behind Philadelphia. The Mets finished last year with a record of 91-75.

Lynn delivers clutch single

ANAHEIM (UPI) — Fred Lynn came through in the clutch Thursday night, slashing a broken bat single into center field to give the Boston Red Sox a 2-1 victory over the California Angels in the 10th inning.

Louis Tiant was the winner, but his scoreless inning streak was snapped at 20 2/3 innings when he pitched into a four-run inning in the seventh to tie the game. Tiant improved his record to 12-10.

The loser was Nolan Ryan, who dropped his 9-12 record. Ryan threw pretty hard at times tonight," said Lynn. "When he gets it in a good location, he's real tough." Lynn, who signed a multiyear contract Sunday after a season of negotiations, hit a one-two pitch for the winning run.

"The first two outside pitches that he threw me I couldn't even swing at," said Lynn. "They were so well-placed. Then on the pitch I hit, it was a real good pitch, but I was looking to make contact in that situation."

"Sure, I broke my bat, but the law of averages were in our favor. We were bound to get one in after all those line drives that were caught."

"If you're a good hitter, you'll hit the ball hard 70 per cent of the time and maybe get two or three hits out of 10 at bats. For every ball I hit like that, I must line out five times."

Ryan went the distance, scattering nine hits and striking out nine.

"I made the pitch I wanted. He (Lynn) just flared it in," said Ryan. "If you miss with a pitch and make a mistake, it's a different thing — you should get beat then."

Ryan said his delivery still isn't consistent, but was rather pleased with his fastball.

"My delivery hasn't got one bit better since the beginning of the season," he said. "I'm still looking for the consistency that I had as far as my delivery is concerned. It comes and goes at times. Tonight, my overcast skies and endless rain washed away a full schedule of SAM activities last weekend, as the dismal dampness forced postponement of a craft fair, a concert, a field day, and two summer theater performances.

Originally planned, the day will include a cookout, a scavenger hunt, Ping Pong, Frisbee, volleyball, and a variety of other games and activities. The day is planned to bring young and old together for a chance to enjoy each other's company and ease some of the stereotypes that keep the generations apart.

Last year the field day was very successful, and participants from both ends of the age range said they were glad they had the chance to talk and play with those on the other side of the generation gap.

Nebo Concert Although it did not rain last Saturday, the Abaddon concert at Mt. Nebo was called off because of the threat of rain and the wet ground. Both of which meant trouble for the band's expensive electrical equipment and the audience's comfort.

The decision on whether or not to hold a concert has to be made hours before the concert in order to make necessary adjustments, and the threat of rain looked heavy Saturday afternoon. The concert was not rescheduled for tomorrow because of staffing problems. However, Abaddon will play at the next SAM concert August 21.

Summer theater The summer theater performances scheduled for Bowers and Buckley playgrounds Monday morning were indefinitely postponed, since the players perform outdoors in the grass. Public acclaim resulting from other performances may ensure that those playgrounds get their show.

Cancellation phone Those who want to know if a weekend SAM event has been cancelled may find out by calling the Rec. Department cancellation number (643-4700). The number only carries cancellations of weekend events. The radio stations WDRG, WINF, WVIC, and WAQY carry cancellations of Tuesday evening movies.

Teen tennis tourney finishes The final volley of the Manchester Board of Realtors-SAM teen tennis tourney was shot last week at the Manchester High School courts as players completed the finals after having been rained out the week before.

In the high school and college divisions, the winners were as follows: Men's singles — Ashley Saunders, men's doubles — Robert Caron and David Belfleur, women's singles — Annette Duke, women's doubles — Annette Duke and Holly Franklin, and mixed doubles — Annette Duke and Wayne Gryk.

In the junior high school division, there were the top players: boys' singles — Joseph Lovell, boys' doubles — John Haslett and Robert Saunders, girls' singles — Monica Murphy, girls' doubles — Monica Murphy and Beth Tobin, and mixed doubles — Kathy Sullivan and John Haslett.

In the youngest division, the fourth through sixth graders, the following youths landed top spots: boys' singles — Joseph Gallagher, boys' doubles — Ken Marshall and Robert Crowley, girls' singles — Danielle Duke, and girls' doubles — Pam Cunningham and Janice Bosier. All winners in the tourney are getting trophies for their excellence. SAM gives many thanks to Manchester Board of Realtors and hopes they will continue their support of the event. A special note of thanks goes to Joe Lombardo because without him the tournament could not have been as successful. Also, many thanks go to Steve Hedge, local tennis expert, who lent a hand.

SUMMER YOUTH SCENE

Outdoor play tours town

SAM summer theater's smash tour of town playgrounds and convalescent homes came to a soggy halt Monday as rain washed out the final two outdoor performances.

The have-come-to-will-travel children's theater group had traveled all around town the week before, bringing their show to their audiences. Children, elderly, and even middle-agers came and sat in the grass as the actors involved them in an immensely enjoyable half hour of jokes and Bicentennial papers.

The play that the troupe put on, entitled "And That's the Way It Was??" traces an improbable origin of the American flag, in which Betsy Ross' boyfriend Fred is depressed because Betsy spends so much time working on the flag that he never gets to see her anymore.

A set of spies with suspiciously Soviet accents enter the scene to seize the Stars and Stripes for the British. The action then breaks wide open as the flag is snatched back and forth, with an unlikely dog named Banker Hill thwarting the spies at every turn.

In the end, naturally, Betsy gets the flag and Fred gets Betsy, and the villainous spies are left to brood on why it is that crime doesn't pay.

The audience enjoyed themselves as the spies. Fred, even and the huge dog Banker Hill came out among them to search for the missing flag. The spies had their problems, however, with youngsters in the

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 14 and have a terrible problem. I nagged my mother to get me contact lenses (I wore glasses), and three months ago she finally got me some. Now I can't wear the contacts because they are just too hard to get used to. They irritate my eyes and I can't keep them in. (They are the hard kind, not soft. It is just terrible, Abby. Kids shouldn't be allowed to get hard contacts because they hurt too much.) I don't know how to tell my mother. She will get mad at me because she spent a lot of money on them and she didn't want to get them in the first place, but I begged so hard she gave 'em.

Please help me, but don't write back because my mother might get the mail first. Thank you.

RED EYES
DEAR RED EYES: Tell your mother. She'll take you back to the place you bought your contacts for a consultation. Others have become accustomed to the hard lenses and you probably can, too, if you follow instructions. But first see your eye doctor to find out whether your problem is with your eyes or the contact lenses.

DEAR ABBY: I've been going with a guy for three years off and on. I've tried to break up with him, but every time I make the attempt, he cries, begs and carries on. He's even threatened to commit suicide, so I get soft-hearted and change my mind. If he were to kill himself because of me, I'd never be able to forgive myself. I have begged him to go with other girls, but he won't. I've even gone out with other guys, hoping he'd date other girls just to get even, but it hasn't worked. He says if he can't have me, he doesn't want anyone.

Now he's pressuring me to marry him. I don't really want to, but I feel so sorry for him. I'm tempted to say yes. He's not a bad guy. In many ways he's really nice and I'm sure some girl would feel lucky to have him.

I have told him I am not in love with him. But he says he doesn't care because he loves me, and after we married I'll learn to love him. He's 26 and I'm 22. What now?

TRAPPED
DEAR TRAPPED: Do yourself (and him) a favor and tell him it's not fair to either of you to continue the relationship. There are other girls out there. If you allow him to play on your sympathy, he may eventually wear you down to the point of marriage. Then YOU will be the one who will need the sympathy.

DEAR ABBY: Ever since my mother died 10 years ago I have been wearing her wedding band on my key chain. It fits my little finger, but I am wondering if it would be proper for me to wear it.

I'm afraid it might provoke a lot of questions. Then what would I say? I don't want to appear a sentimental fool.

MAMMA'S BOY
DEAR BOY: Go ahead and wear it. And what's wrong with being sentimental? If anyone inquires, tell them the truth. I think it's a beautiful idea.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You can expect anything you set your sights on today if you're prepared to really work for it. Get up your sleeves. Get going!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Any social activity that requires organization should be left in your capable hands today. You'll make it turn out fun.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Today, hold a special party for yourself. You're promising for you. There's a lot of fun to be had if you do something you've been hoping for.

CANCER (June 21-July 21) Aim high today. Even if you fail you'll be ahead of where you started, especially in career or financial matters.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 22) Try to spend time in the company of people today whom you feel you can learn from. Valuable ideas will be exchanged.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) This is a good day for you to get in touch with anyone who owes you something from the past. Your touches of collecting look promising.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Conditions will be much to your liking. If you're planning to go on a trip, it's a good time to do so. Friends are involved.

Large-than-usual accomplishments are possible for you this coming year. Let your ambitions soar. Let your dreams be big and enterprising.

Magic act highlights book awards program

A hall full of youngsters watched in awe Wednesday as a magician entertained with sleight of hand in Whiton Memorial Library auditorium Wednesday morning.

Teen-aged Steven Sloan of 35 Oakwood Rd. produced a rabbit and a dove from mysterious places, and did other surprise tricks.

The occasion was the final program of the combined Manchester public library summer book clubs from Mary Cheney Library and Whiton Memorial Library. More than 260 children were enrolled in the reading clubs. One of two reading clubs at Mary Cheney was designed especially for children who had been in reading improvement classes during the past school year.

Pins and certificates were awarded to club members who had earned them by their reading achievements.

Sloan, a sophomore at East Catholic High School, is a member of the Society of American Magicians. He is usually assisted by his sisters—Laura, who is a fourth grader at Bowers School and one of the youngest professional magicians in the state, and Pamela, an older sister, who helps with the staging.

Bloodmobile short of monthly quota

The Bloodmobile collected 134 pints of blood Thursday during its visit at Manchester Memorial Hospital just 16 pints short of the monthly quota.

Of the 144 donors who appeared, 10 were deferred until another time.

Orrin West of 14 Agnes Dr. became a seven-gallon donor.

Other gallon donors were Allan R. Aronson, six gallons, and Daniel LeBlanc, three gallons.

The next Bloodmobile visit will be Sept. 24 from 12:30 to 5:30 p.m. at South United Methodist Church.

Although the recent blood supply crisis in the state has been greatly relieved through the donations during the past month, officials say there is still a low supply.

Persons in good health between the ages of 18 and 66 can donate blood.

Appointments may be made by calling the local Red Cross office at 643-5111. Walk-in donors will be welcome.

Irish wins support for state GOP position

Wallace Irish Jr., the only candidate now seeking the Third Senatorial District seat on the Republican State Central Committee, has received the endorsement of two members of the Republican Town Committee.

Nathan G. Agostinelli and Donald S. Genovesi have both announced their support of Irish.

Agostinelli, president of the Manchester State Bank and former state comptroller, said he felt Irish would do a good job in the position.

Genovesi, former assistant majority leader of the state House of Representatives, said, "Wally is young, enthusiastic, and a hard worker. He has a political sense that the State Central Committee can use."

Vivian Ferguson had also announced she was seeking the committee seat, which was vacated when Elinor Hashim moved out of the district. Mrs. Ferguson, however, withdrew from the race Thursday.

Hays quits the race

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (UPI) — Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, who admitted having an affair with Washington staff aide Elizabeth Ray, today withdrew as a candidate for reelection to Congress.

Despite having won re-nomination in the June 8 primary after the scandal broke, Hays, 65, said in a letter to the Columbiana County Board of Elections in his 18th Congressional District of eastern Ohio he will not run for a 15th term.

The House ethics committee is now investigating the allegation that Miss Ray was paid $14,000 a year to be Hays' mistress.

Hurricane damage revised

HARTFORD (UPI) — An updated report on Hurricane Belle released today showed the storm caused damages in Connecticut totaling $4.6 million, $1.7 million higher than originally estimated.

Damage to private property was estimated at $2.5 million, primarily in New Haven and Fairfield counties. Utility firms suffered damages totaling $1.5 million and agricultural damages were $200,000. Most of the

Carr to withdraw guilty pleas

MIAMI (UPI) — The new lawyer for confessed slayer Robert Frederick Carr III says his client will withdraw his guilty pleas today and ask for a trial on the three first-degree murder charges.

Carr told attorney Ronald Dresnick the state has not been fair with him over the sentencing arrangements.

Carr said the state had promised him a sentence of 25 years to life for the slayings of three Miami youngsters, but says they now want to sentence him to die in the electric chair.

Dresnick was assigned to the case Monday after Carr said he was not getting along with public defender Michael Von Zamit.

Carr had originally pleaded guilty and asked to be sentenced immediately without an advisory recommendation from a jury. Circuit Judge Natalie Baskin asked the Florida Supreme Court whether the jury sentence recommendation was required under the constitution.

In the meantime Carr decided he wanted a jury to recommend a sentence after all. The judge decided to hold a ruling on that motion, pending the outcome of the Supreme Court ruling.

GLOSSARY
(What Those Words Mean)

Abstract— A summary of the history of the legal title to property.

Amortization— Provision for gradually paying off the principal amount of a loan, such as a mortgage loan, at the time of each payment of interest. For example, as each payment toward principal is made, the mortgage amount is reduced or amortized by that amount.

Appraisal— An evaluation of the property to determine its value. An appraisal is concerned chiefly with market value — what the house would sell for in the market place.

Binder or "Offer to Purchase"— A receipt for money paid to secure the right to purchase real estate upon agreed terms.

Certificate of Title— Like a car title, this is the paper that signifies ownership of a house. It usually contains a legal description of the house and its land.

Closing Costs— Sometimes called settlement costs. Costs in addition to price of house, including mortgage service charges, title search and insurance, and transfer of ownership charges. Be sure your sales contract clearly states who will pay each of these costs — buyer or seller.

Closing Day— The date on which the title for property passes from the seller to the buyer and/or the date on which the borrower signs the mortgage.

Condominium— Individual ownership of a dwelling unit and an undivided interest in the common areas and facilities which serve the multi-unit project.

Cooperative Housing— An apartment building or a group of dwellings owned by residents and operated for their benefit by their elected board of directors. The resident occupies but does not own his unit. Rather, he owns a share of stock in the total enterprise.

Depreciation— A decline in the value of a house as the result of wear and tear, adverse changes in the neighborhood and its patterns or for any other reason.

Earnest Money— The deposit money given to the seller by the potential buyer to show that he is serious about buying the house. If the deal goes through, the earnest money is applied against the down payment. If the deal does not go through it may be forfeited.

Easement Rights— A right of way granted to a person or company authorizing access to or over the owner's land. Electric companies often have easement rights across your property.

Equity— A buyer's initial and increasing ownership rights in a house as he pays off the mortgage. When the mortgage is fully paid off the buyer has 100% equity in the house.

Escrow Funds— Money, or papers representing financial transactions, which are given to a third party to hold until all conditions in a contract are fulfilled.

Hazard Insurance— Insurance to protect against damages caused to property by fire, windstorm and other common hazards.

Home Mortgage Loan— A special kind of long-term loan for buying a house. There are three main kinds of mortgage financing for single family homes in the United States — the conventional mortgage; the VA (Veterans Administration), sometimes called the GI mortgage; and the FHA (Federal Housing Administration) insured loan.

Mortgage Commitment— The written notice from the bank or other lender saying that it will advance you the mortgage funds in a specified amount to enable you to buy the house.
