HARTFORD — Four state technical colleges should be given an extra $578,000 to train more skilled workers, according to House Minority Leader Gerald F. Stevens, R-Milford. He considers the money an investment in the state's economic future.

HARTFORD — Hartford area Texaco service stations have begun reducing their gasoline prices one cent a gallon in what could be a widening round of price cuts because of a large surplus of gasoline, according to Charles R. Matties, a director of the Connecticut Gasoline Retailers Association.

HARTFORD — State Tax Department figures show Connecticut's budget surplus has grown again — from $25 million to $30 million — because of higher than anticipated revenues from the state sales tax. The tax take was $5 million higher than projected in the $1.68 billion budget drafted in the spring of 1975.

AUGUSTA, Maine — At least 4,000 names on nominating petitions for Communist presidential candidate Gus Hall have been ruled invalid, Secretary of State Mark Gertzel said Friday. The decision could keep Hall off the ballot since he filed 12,786 signatures and 10,918 are needed to qualify. Most of the names disqualified were those of unregistered voters, Gertzel said.

Recalls experiences

Bill Andrulot talks over some of his experiences during the past 40 years with the town Park Department. Andrulot, who began working for the town Dec. 6, 1936, is retiring at the end of this month. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Andrulot's service to town spans almost four decades

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

He started his work career on a farm 52 years ago. He was 13 years old.

Today, the job and employer are different, and Bill Andrulot has grown a little older and gained a lot of work experience.

He still comes to work every day, but he won't be for much longer. Andrulot will be retiring Aug. 31 after almost 40 years of work for the Town Park Department.

Andrulot, who is a work coordinator for the Park Department, left farm work after a few years and moved on to the Cheney Mill at the ripe old age of 16.

Within four months, he became a foreman on a night shift in charge of eight men. "Some of them were old enough to be my grandfather," he said.

He worked at the silk mills until Dec. 6, 1936, his first day of employment with the town.

Over the near-40 years, Andrulot has seen a lot of different things happen in the time of Manchester. Two periods of his work career during those last 40 years stand out, however.

He recalled working in the rain and wind of the Hurricane of '38. He was one of a group of workers assigned to Center Springs pond. They were to keep the area from flooding.

After the job was completed, the crew decided to drive home, except there was one minor problem.

"By that time, the winds had blown so much, we had to walk home. There were no roads open," he said.

Andrulot said the other period of his working career that stands out was the 1973 ice storm. "We were just trying to keep the roads open. That's the most important thing we can do during a storm like that," he said.

He said the proudest accomplishment of his time with the town has been the increased construction of baseball and softball fields. When he started working there were only two ball fields in town. Now there are 19.

"I've enjoyed the job," Andrulot, dressed in a colorful yellow cap and shirt with blue pants, said. "It's a challenge to keep your workers happy and the people of the town happy," he added.

There is another part of Bill Andrulot's life that was reported extensively in the Reflections column by Managing Editor Hal Turkington on Jan. 19. It was ice skating at Center Springs Pond.

Andrulot "ran" skating there from 1936 until 1970, when the Town

Recreation Department took over. He sharpened skates, cleared the pond after a snowstorm, kept the fireplace going, and sold coffee and hot chocolate to shivering skaters.

He is looking forward to the retirement days ahead.

"After almost 40 years, I'm ready to sit back and let someone else take over," he said.

He plans to do plenty of fishing, a sport he has always enjoyed. He and his wife, Julia, who live at 307 Cooper Hill St., will also do some traveling around New England.

"Besides that, I'll play it by ear," he said.

More than 200 people showed up for a retirement party fellow workers gave Bill Thursday night at the Army and Navy Club.

Andrulot has three children. William teaches at Oakville High School. Joyce, who lives in Atlanta, flew up for her Dad's retirement dinner Thursday night, and Richard lives at home.

Ford relaxes in rockies

VAIL, Colo. (UPI) — Buoyed by his nomination victory, President Ford today took time out from his tiring political schedule for a relaxing weekend at this resort in the Rockies.

Ford was so wound up when he arrived Friday afternoon that he immediately headed for the golf course and played nine holes. His wife, Betty, looked completely fatigued after an exciting but exhausting week at the Republican National Convention in Kansas City where she was in the constant spotlight.

Ford met with Secretary of State Henry Kissinger for 40 minutes on the Korean situation before leaving Kansas City. But the Vail White House was silent on the tense developments in the Pacific.

Very much on Ford's mind is his forthcoming national campaign — the first of his long political career — in which he will be pitted against Democrat Jimmy Carter.

His campaign chairman, Rogers Morton, flew to Vail with Ford. Others, including Sen. Robert A. Dole, his running mate, will be converging on Vail next week for political strategy talks.

Morton rejected reports that Ford, in selecting the Kansas senator as his running mate, had written off the Northeast and the South.

"We haven't written off anything," Morton said. "We're going to campaign on Carter's doorstep."

Within the next few days a Ford emissary will contact Carter to arrange for televised debates in the fall campaign.

In a dramatic gesture during his acceptance of the nomination, Ford told cheering delegates he was "ready, eager" to debate Carter face to face "on the real issues."

But the details of the format still must be worked out.

Reagan ponders future

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Vanquished Republican presidential challenger Ronald Reagan says a loss by his party in November could be a signal from the American people that they want a third party.

At an airport news conference Friday following the three-hour flight from Kansas City, Reagan said he believes "there is a great majority" of Americans who are dissatisfied with the philosophy of the Democratic Party.

He added that should President Ford lose the presidential contest, "there would have to be a reassessment of where we go and how we put that great new majority together."

"If there is such a loss, I think the Republican Party and many of us are going to have to take a look because there is a great majority throughout this country, I think, with a philosophy that is contrary to the Democratic philosophy and the Democratic platform," he said.

Reagan, who came within 60 delegate votes of the Republican nomination, refused to slam the door on the possibility that he would lead such a movement. "I don't think you lead something unless somebody wants you to be a leader," he said. He noted, however, that only 18 percent of the nation's registered voters are willing to identify themselves with the Republican Party.

Reagan said for the time being he intends to be a "conservative conscience" for the country as a radio commentator and columnist.

The 65-year-old former California governor appeared relaxed as he flew home on his chartered airliner, but admitted he was tired after the grueling months on the campaign trail.

Proposed Burr Corners McDonald's cleared by zoning board

The Zoning Board of Appeals has approved a special exception and three variances requested for construction of a McDonald's in the Burr Corners Shopping Center.

The board did grant the exception and variances on the condition that a traffic barrier system, consisting of two to four foot curbs, be installed in the shopping center parking lot.

The board's action clears the way for the McDonald's to be built once the traffic barrier system is installed. The restaurant will be at the northern end of the center near the Caldor's Auto Store.

When the board met July 19, they heard the proposals requested by Franchise Realty Interstate Corp., McDonald's national corporation. They tabled the requests and asked for more information about traffic flow in the lot. The board said they feared further creation of a traffic "hodgepodge" in the shopping center lot.

A special business meeting was called for Tuesday, Aug. 17 at noon to rehear the requests. No public notice or notification of local press was issued before the meeting.

According to Alan F. Lawson, an assistant in the planning and zoning office, no public notice is required before a special business meeting. The board must notify the town clerk's office of its intention to meet. This step was taken.

Approved by the board was a special exception for construction of the facility. Also approved was a variance allowing the restaurant to use existing parking space, a variance permitting use of the septic system, and a variance allowing a free-standing sign of 100 square feet.

A requested variance for the free-standing sign to be higher than 18 feet was denied.

The board also granted relief from a zoning section to Hayden I. Griswold Jr. and Walter S. Fuss. The relief means the two can use the basement of a Main St. building for a use other than storage or janitorial space, the only two uses the zoning section allows.

The board had already approved the building, which will be used for doctors' offices, at their June 21 meeting.

Two persons die in fire

NEW BRITAIN (UPI) — Two elderly persons died today when a fire raced through a six-family wood frame apartment house on Grove Street.

Joseph Machowski, 65, and Mary Kaminski, 60, both of the Grove Street address, were pronounced dead at a local hospital, fire officials said.

Machowski was found in a first-floor hallway and Mrs. Kaminski was found in her third-floor bedroom.

Firemen said the first alarm was sounded at 2:45 a.m. and by the time they reached the building it was engulfed in flames. They battled the blaze for 90 minutes before it was declared under control.

Three of the apartments were vacant and a woman and her daughter occupying a second-floor apartment managed to escape the fire. Fire officials said.

Officials said the cause of the fire was under investigation.

Gary Minor promoted to police sergeant

Policeman Gary Minor has been promoted from patrolman to sergeant effective Sunday, Police Chief Robert Lannan announced Friday.

Minor, 27, received his new badge in a brief afternoon ceremony in Lannan's office, which was followed by the swearing-in ceremony for a new patrolman.

The new patrolman, joining the force as of Sunday, is Richard V.C. Busick, 25, of Manchester.

The promotion and new appointment are the latest round in a series of departmental reassignments touched off earlier this month by the creation of a new police job, the deputy chief.

Patrol Capt. Richard Sartor became deputy chief; Lt. Henry Minor became patrol captain; and Sgt. Joseph Brooks became a lieutenant in other promotions this month.

Hiring of Busick fills one of four vacancies on the police force, Lannan said. The other three patrol slots will be filled soon after testing of new police candidates is finished, he said.

Minor, the new sergeant, has been a patrolman since April 1971. He holds an associate's degree in law enforcement from Manchester Community College and is continuing college study. He and his wife, Joan, have two children.

Busick, who will begin courses Monday at Connecticut's Municipal Police Training Academy, was an automobile salesman before coming to the police department. He has attended the University of Connecticut, he is married and has one son Richard Busick was sworn in as a patrolman by Police Chief Robert Lannan in brief ceremony Friday. Busick, who starts training Monday, fills one of four patrol vacancies on the Manchester Police force.

Police Chief Robert Lannan (left) hands sergeant's badge to Patrolman Gary Minor as Minor's wife, Joan, looks on in brief promotion ceremony Friday. Minor's promotion, effective Sunday, is the latest elevation in the department as a result of creation of a new deputy chief position earlier this month.

Manchester week in review

Days active for GOP

The race for Republican registrar began in earnest this week. Marion Mercer, the party endorsed candidate, named M. Adler Dokkin as her campaign manager. Fred Peck, Republican registrar since 1960, selected co-chairman Robert H. Vinbeck, and Clara Henningway.

Former Director Paul Cervini proposed that the district taxes be collected by the party and he claimed his plan would save the district as much as $3,500 a year. The current directors questioned Cervini's figures but decided to look into the matter anyway.

The Board of Directors has been asked to appropriate $5,000 for the Sept. 7 primary for the registrar position. This is the first primary for a party registrar of voters in Manchester history.

Two Republican candidates for the state assembly also named campaign managers. Walter Joyner, opposing incumbent Theodore Cummings in the 12th District, selected Atty. Hilkey Gallagher to run his campaign.

Another Republican candidate, Dr. Frederick Spaulding is reconsidering his decision to run for state senate in the Third Senatorial District. He said he expects to make a final decision by the end of the month.

Manchester Republicans expressed surprise at President Gerald Ford's selection of Kansas Sen. Robert Dole for vice president. Most, however, were pleased with the choice and felt Dole would be a plus to the party's ticket.

Buckland suit The Town of Manchester submitted its summary brief this week in the Buckland fire protection lawsuit, and attorneys for the town and the Eighth Utilities District made their written arguments public.

Both Town Counsel Victor Moses and Eighth District Counsel relied heavily on differing interpretations of Special Act 200 of 1963, the legislation which gave the Eighth District power to expand if met certain conditions.

Moses raised the issue of "equitable estoppel," claiming the town should prevail in the Superior Court lawsuit even if the district technically could expand, and LaBelle alleged that Town of Manchester officials violated the Town Charter when they decided to serve Buckland.

No one could estimate when Judge Edward Hamill would rule on the suit, which seeks a determination of who — the district or the town — has jurisdiction for fire protection in Buckland.

Meanwhile, the Eighth District government continued its normal business. District directors Monday night decided to review a suggestion for town collection of district taxes, and they learned of plans to create a new fire department shop.

A meeting of officials from the Meadows Convalescent Home and the union with a federal mediator was unsuccessful in solving a deadlock in contract negotiations. The mediator was called in after the July 20 meeting, resulting in an impasse between the health facility and the union. There will be another meeting in a couple of weeks in an effort to reach a settlement which will avoid a possible strike from Meadows employees.

A seven-week strike by employees of the Manchester Parking Co. ended today with ratification of a three-year contract by union workers. The employees will return to work Monday, company co-owner Don Bogner said.

A key issue in the long impasse reportedly dealt with union demands for a closed shop, which is one of the issues involved in the Meadows dispute.

Hospital budget Manchester Memorial Hospital's proposed budget of $16 million was cut $1.1 million by the Connecticut Association of Hospitals and Health Care (CAHHC).

At a hearing Friday hospital officials argued against the cuts. The CAHHC must vote on 35 hospital budgets, including Manchester's, by Sept. 16.

People Stephen O'Donnell, 29, of Vernon was named director of Crossroads Manchester's drug counseling center. O'Donnell, selected from three finalists this week, succeeds James Breitenfeld, who has taken a position with Manchester Community College.

Atty. Eugene Kelly, former mayor and chief prosecutor of Common Pleas Court 12, was named a Common Pleas Court judge this week by Gov. Ella T. Grasso. It will be the Manchester Democrat's second time as a judge; he served on the bench of the old Town Court in the late 1950s.

Minor was promoted to sergeant this week as Police Chief Robert Lannan continued to fill a series of slots caused by the creation of a new deputy chief's position. A new patrolman, Richard Busick, was also hired, leaving three vacancies on the force.

The local swine flu immunization clinic has been scheduled to begin next week, but some $9 to 70 utility poles will have to be moved before actual road work can begin. The contractor will work on relocating water, sewer, and storm drainage lines in the meantime. It is hoped all relocation of utility lines and moving of poles can be completed by the end of the fall so road work can begin in early spring.

News for senior citizens

Gloria Benson

Hi everyone! As the song on a popular TV program says, "Welcome Back." I want you to know that your friend Gloria is tickled pink to be back with the people she loves and loves working with.

I must say I never expected to be out this long, nor did I realize what a serious operation I had. Your prayers and cards made it so much easier for me. I had anticipated catching up on things you neglect when you're working, but when you can't bend, stoop, lift or turn on that side, all you can do is sit and grow fat.

I had a wonderful doctor who was so kind and wonderful. I put my trust in him and he didn't let me down, but I really made him earn his money, he tells me.

I had to have my eye bandaged for the first five weeks while my eye was healing, and of course this brought many stares from people, so needless to say I didn't care to go out in public too much.

On Monday morning we started signing up for the Penn Dutch Country. The first bus was filled immediately, so we have arranged to have another bus on Oct. 21, 22 and 23. We have about 15 seats left on this bus, and of course we have to fill it before we can take it, so come in and sign up.

On Tuesday I started to try to catch up on about six weeks work, the bus was taking the shoppers to the stores and back, while in the afternoon the bowlers were at the Parkade Lanes.

On Wednesday morning was a beautiful morning which found the seniors taking to the shuffleboard courts. We also had 10 tables for our Wednesday pinocle games, and the winners were:

Marjorie McLain, 616; Grace Windsor, 609; Samuel Schors, 580; John 565; May Tivona, 564; Martin Bakstan and Nadine Malcolm, 559; Helena Gavello, 544; Robert Schubert, 542; Archie Houghtaling, 538, and Al Chelman, 535.

Just received news that the Manchester Senior Golfers played the Wetherfield Senior Golfers at Tallwood Country Club and won the very margin. In the afternoon Irvin Gartside had a 41, Henry Rau, Merrill Dickinson and Ernest Seegerberger had a 43.

is too ill to have visitors, but I'm sure a card would help to cheer her up. Our bridge players were 16 in number, and these are the lucky winners: George Last, 4,280, and Lou Buller, 3,790.

Monday morning bright and early our Senior League golfers were out playing golf at the East Hartford Golf Course, with some of the better scores being Jack DuPont and Vince Porter, 45; Al Boils and Al Bourret, 47; Irvin Gartside and Ernest Seegerberg, 48; Merrill Dickinson and Thomas Halemar, 49; Agnes Green hit a 57. There were 34 players in all.

Monday morning starting at 10 o'clock they played kitchen social games, and in the afternoon we had 14 tables playing pinocle, and these are the winners:

Joseph Windsor, 741; Nadine Malcolm, 720; Violet Dion, 703; Leon Fallot, 702; Edward Scott, 701; Frank Gadoski, 697; Mabel Wilson, 695; Ann Thompson, 690; Fritz Wilkinson, 674; Wesley Frost, 665; Al Gates, 664; Josephine Schaez, 662; Catherine Gleason, 645, and Ann Husarik, 640.

Just a reminder that our building will be closed to activities, but open to business as usual next week while the building is being spruced up. The bus will be in the garage for a tune up in preparation for next season.

All those going to Lake Winnesaukee next Friday should be here about 8:30 in the morning as we leave promptly at 9 o'clock.

Thank you On behalf of Wally and myself, I want to thank all the volunteers who have helped out during the past months. I have been told Violet Dion did a great job along with Ernestine Donnelly, Dot Andrew, Marge Hall, Johanna Radstueber, Ceil Wandt, Martha LaBate, Ann Thompson and Helen Silver. Also a big thank you to Lyla Steele who not only did her stint, but pinched in for Sue Kerr, Cecilia Benson and Helen Gavello when they were away.

Our bingo callers, Bob Doggart who was always on the job, Ernie Erwin and George Vallone, kept the games hopping.

A big thank you to Elizabeth Cone, Ann Thompson and Helen Martino for taking care of the phone on Joe's day off, and while she was on vacation. I hope I didn't overload anyone, but to all of you once again, thanks.

We have just received word that Nellie Moran is a patient at the Manchester Memorial Hospital. She and these are the winners:

Republican party needs a miracle

Andrew Tully

KANSAS CITY — Only Pollyanna would have found the Republican Convention a joyous occasion. The fun was all non-political — boozing, womanizing and gourmandizing at Bryant's barbecue joint.

There is much talk about unity, but at this juncture the GOP is only slightly less united than Cain and Abel. Too many delegates have sworn they would not support a Presidential nominee from "the other side."

Presumably GOP leaders in the Republic's various neighborhoods will woo or whip many of the intraparty pronouncements on the Convention floor opening night. Even at Democratic conventions, which ordinarily are late tests, that kind of thing would be considered frightening.

But to win, Ford must successfully appeal to the 32 per cent of the voters who call themselves Independents. Indeed, he needs practically all of them; adding 32 per cent to 22 per cent produces 54 per cent.

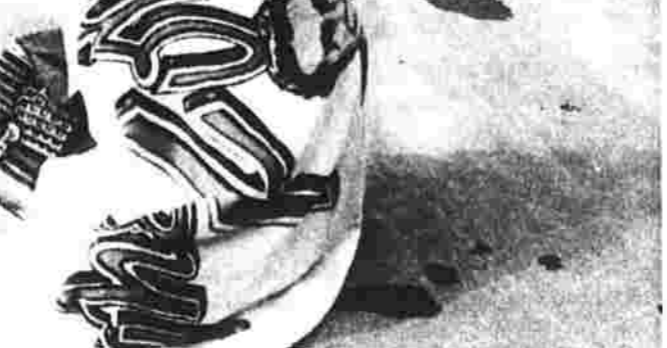

Ford, of course, cannot expect to sweep the Independent vote. That's why he somehow must unify his party in the months ahead into a bloc that will give him virtually unopposed support in November. It's perhaps an impossible job, given the nastiness that prevailed in hotel corridors and saloons at the Convention.

For example, there are the festering rows resulting from Reaganite charges that Ford threatened uncommitted delegates with political booby prizes, and the "revelation" by a prominent Ford critic that Reagan people had offered bribes to two Illinois delegates.

Even that stuff wouldn't have mattered had the Republicans not been so determinedly divided when they arrived here. But it convinced many delegates on both sides that the position was not only disagreeable, but evil.

It is too bad, there have never been a dime's worth of difference ideologically between Gerald Ford and Ronald Reagan. Both are conservatives. Reagan more rigidly. They could have flipped a coin for the nomination and the winner's policies would have been generally acceptable to the loser.

Now the party is in extremis. Jerry Ford's only hope is that Jimmy Carter's support is stronger than his own in New York suggests. Maybe Ford can take comfort from the fact that Carter lost five of the last primaries to the late-arriving California Governor Jerry Brown, who campaigned vigorously for only a month, but the Republican party needs to go shopping for miracles.

Opinion

Hindsight criticism unjustified

Hindsight is better than foresight — and sometimes it can be a bit unfair.

During the day of Hurricane Belle's visit to the Manchester area, we heard no official complaints about the way local utilities were going about the job of defusing safety hazards and restoring service.

As a matter of fact, they may have overreacted a little in that during the Great Ice Storm, they made many specific promises as to when power would be restored and were unable to keep those promises. This made many people, quite justifiably, angry.

During the first hours after Belle's visit, the utilities did not make any firm commitments, but worked as hard and as fast as its manpower resources would permit to restore service.

Tepper, Houley still at odds

HARTFORD (UPI) — Connecticut Finance Commissioner Jay O. Tepper has fired another salvo in his continuing dispute with a top lawmaker who says Tepper cannot delay state hearings already approved by the legislature.

In a letter Thursday to Appropriations Committee chairman Sen. Robert D. Houley, D-Vernon, Tepper said he did indeed have the power to block any state hearings that are not essential to the government. Houley has charged the commissioner's delay of 113 non-academic hearings at the University of Connecticut approved by lawmakers in the 1976 session amounts to an executive veto of legislative action. Tepper answered last week that the delays occurred as his office tried to insure the jobs were needed. But Houley interquestioned whether the delays were an illegal veto of legislative action.

A public hearing on the state Department of Transportation (DOT) plans to improve driving conditions on Sullivan Ave. (Rt. 104) near Sand Hill, Pierce and Strong Rds. is at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Town Hall. The discussion will concern reassignment of a section of Sullivan Ave. which has experienced a substantial increase in traffic over recent years. A sharp "S" curve has been the scene of many accidents. DOT's plan which involves realignment and widening of Sullivan Ave. and minor adjustments to connecting local roads, is being undertaken with federal-aid funds as a high hazard location project.

CCM seeks act changes

East Hartford

The Connecticut Conference of Municipalities Friday asked the federal government to assure a fair share of funds for state cities and towns under the new Public Works Employment Act. CCM's request for three immediate steps was contained in a letter from Richard H. Blackstone, CCM president, to John E. Corrigan, Atlantic regional director of the Commerce Department, which is administering the act. Blackstone, also mayor of East Hartford, asked that if there is an allocation of funds by the state, the amounts allocated should reflect the differences in cost of living among the states as well as the unemployment rate.

Grant gives new frequency

Fire Chief William V. Borst said his department has received a federal matching grant through Title IV of the Rural Development Assistance Act of 1972. The grant of $28,000 will add a second radio frequency to all department radios including base, mobiles and portables.

Adding a second frequency has been a priority project for several years, but because of unanticipated expenditures, it has always fallen by the wayside," he said. The Hebron department operates on the same primary frequency as most other companies in Tolland, Windham and New London Counties. "We have a big problem with congestion which would be alleviated in great part by a second operational frequency," Borst said. It would also permit training operations without interference with emergency transmissions. Presently the Hebron department is one of the few fire services in the area that can't do this.

DEP sets repair schedule

Bolton

Negro Brothers and Steven and Michael Boudreau have been jointly ordered to correct the septic field problem at the Scenes Inn or face the prospect of being closed down. The state Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) issued an order against both parties with a schedule that must be followed. Randy May, sanitary engineer for DEP, said the department would prefer having the problem corrected more rapidly but it has to follow legal constraints. He said the corrective order is as tight as the law allows. The order gives the time schedule various stages of correction must be submitted for the review and approval of Robert Taylor, director of water compliance and hazardous substances. By Aug. 31, an engineering report must be submitted. Calvin Hutchinson, sanitarian, said if the deadline comes and there is no word from either party, the DEP will act. By Sept. 30 contract plans and specifications must be submitted. By Oct. 31 construction must be started. By Nov. 30 the constructed facility must be in operation. The septic field problem has been evident at the Scenes Inn since early June. By state law both landowner, Negro Brothers, and tenant, the Boudreau brothers, are responsible for correcting the system.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We have two sons, both in college, for which we're very thankful because they both dropped out and decided to go back. Both are working part-time, but they prefer to live at home. The problem is that they are on a "health" kick, and they look like they are ready to drop dead from malnutrition. They won't touch meat or fat of any kind. And no dairy products unless they are positively fat-free. The boys live on fresh fruits, fresh vegetables, nuts, rice and wheat germ. They meditate twice a day like a pair of zombies, and I'm afraid one day they'll put themselves into a trance and won't be able to come out of it. I suppose we should thank God they're not into drugs, (they won't even touch cigarettes), but how we would love to see them eating like normal human beings again to get a little more out of their bones. Can you help us?

DISTRAUGHT PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: Maybe you need help to understand that your sons don't need the kind of "help" you'd like to give them. Count your blessings while they count their vitamins. Considering what some parents have gone through in recent years, you're among the lucky ones.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a mother who would start having an affair with her former son-in-law? And immediately after her daughter's divorce? Well, that's what my mother did. And she's the one who kept telling me that he was no good and that I should leave him. I divorced my husband because he abused our children and beat me up so brutally that I had to be hospitalized. My mother knew all this, yet she couldn't wait until he was out of our house before she started dating him. My mother is 42 and divorced, and my husband is 32. I can't imagine these two together, but I heard it from about a dozen people already. I just can't accept it, and I have told her so. She insists they are just "friends," but people have seen his car in front of her apartment all night and on weekends. What do you think about a setup like this? HURT AND ANGRY

DEAR HURT: They could deserve each other. DEAR ABBY: I was 11 years old when my parents decided to get a divorce. I felt terrible about it and cried and begged them not to, but they wouldn't listen. Then my dad moved out and my mom and I stayed alone in the house. I got used to the idea, and it really wasn't so bad because Mom and I got closer. Then one night my dad came over and they talked nearly all night long and he stayed over night. My Mom even let Dad kiss her! Now they say they are going to try to make a go of their marriage. I'm jealous. How come? I should be glad they aren't splitting up, but I'm not. I'm upset. What is wrong with me? JEALOUS AND UPSET

DEAR JEALOUS AND UPSET: Neat. You enjoyed having your mom all to yourself, and now that you have to share her with your dad again, you're jealous and upset. These reactions are normal, so don't feel guilty. Look at it this way: If they do make a go of their marriage, it could be better for everybody.

DEAR HURT: To wind up your answers on point count we want to stress once more that cards take time, not points. In valuing your hand late in the bidding, voids and singletons become very important if you have trump control and your opponents are bidding those suits. On the other hand they aren't worth anything for purposes of doubling your opponents if they are in their suits, but will be if they are in your partner's suits.

Tiant, Hobson combine to pace Red Sox victory

NEW YORK (UPI) — When Don Zimmer begins the task of rebuilding the fallen Boston Red Sox next spring, it'll likely be around something old and something new.

The something old is 34-year-old workhorse right-hander Luis Tiant. The something new is rookie third baseman Butch Hobson.

Together, Tiant and Hobson helped the Red Sox to a 2-1 victory over the Oakland A's Friday night. Tiant hurled a seven-hitter for his 14th win against 10 losses, while Hobson, the 24-year-old youngster who appears to have won the third base job from veteran Rico Petrocelli, drove in one run scored another and saved possibly more.

"Tiant pitched an outstanding ball game," said Zimmer, who two weeks ago was given the Red Sox job on a half-year extension to the Tigers, 3-2, California in the time basis next year. "I've never seen anyone who rises to the occasion like he does at Fenway Park. Hobson's sacrifice fly drove home Cecil Cooper with the winning run in the ninth inning and he scored the first Boston run in the first on a wild pitch by A's starter Mike Torre. In the second, Hobson speared a Baltimore put away Chicago, 6-4, and Texas shut out Cleveland 3-0. Naves' 3, Indians 3. Bert Blyleven turned stopper by tossing a three-hitter as the Rangers snuffed a six-game losing streak. It was Blyleven's fifth shutout of the season and raised his record to 10-1. Toby Harrah drove in all three Texas runs with singles in the first and fifth.

Angels 5, Yankees 3. Don Kirkwood yielded solo homers to Craig Nettles and Oscar Gamble, but combined with Mickey Scott on a seven-hitter to beat the Yankees. Terry Humphrey singled home the tie-breaking run in the seventh inning for California.

Elsewhere in the American League, Kansas City blanked Milwaukee 3-0, Minnesota downed Detroit, 8-5, after losing to the Tigers, 3-2, California in the time basis next year. "I've never seen anyone

Murcer feels better after big hit spree

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bobby Murcer has a batting average that has hovered around the .250 range all year and he says it embarrasses him.

However, his spirits got a boost Friday night, as he belted two homers and knocked in four runs, to pace the San Francisco Giants to a 6-3 victory over Montreal, which dealt the Expos their sixth straight defeat.

"I told myself a couple of days ago that I don't want to be a .250 hitter," he said in a rant until hitting coach Gene Sauer told me to move my feet up in the cage tonight," Murcer said. "I got good pieces of the ball the last two times I was up and now I'm going to have fun for the rest of the season."

Darrell Evans helped the Giants win with a two-run, fourth-inning double, while George Foster, the leading candidate for the league's most valuable player award, blasted his 28th home run of the year in the eighth after a double by Garry Matthews and accounted for the Giants' last two runs. Randy Moffitt worked out of an eighth-inning jam to gain his ninth save and help Ed Halicki gain his 10th win in 23 decisions. Larry Parrish hit a solo homer in the second and a two-run shot in the seventh to account for all the Montreal runs.

Another solo homer to power Cincinnati, Gary Nolan picked up his 11th victory against eight defeats. He had help from Rawly Eastwick, who blanked the Cubs over the final 2 1/3 innings for his 17th save of the year.

Hawkie pitcher Dan Larson — who entered the game with just two RBIs for the season — drove in four runs with a triple and a single while hurling a five-inning shutout for the Philadelphia Phillies. Steve Garvey doubled home Bill Buckner to ignite a three-run fourth-inning rally, which sent the Los Angeles Dodgers off to a romp. Doug Ruan, whose last victory came July 25, improved his record to 11-10, scattering nine hits and striking out five in 7 2/3 innings.

In the only other games, Cincinnati stopped Chicago, 4-3. St. Louis stopped the Red Sox, 4-0. Houston George Foster, the leading candidate for the league's most valuable player award, blasted his 28th home run of the year in the eighth after a double by Garry Matthews and ac-

Giants continue habit of defeating Steelers

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Giants are making it a habit of beating the Pittsburgh Steelers — when it doesn't count.

The Giants, playing without starting running backs Larry Conko and Doug Kotar, handed the Steelers their first loss in five exhibition games Friday night with an embarrassing 17-0 triumph in front of 50,159 Pittsburgh fans viewing their team in person for the first time since it captured Super Bowl X.

The Giants now have beaten Pittsburgh three of the last four times the two teams have met — all pre-season encounters. New York controlled the line of scrimmage against Pittsburgh both offensively and defensively. The Giants defense caused six turnovers, recovering five fumbles and intercepting one pass, while reserve fullback Marsh White rushed for 10 yards and rookie halfback Gordon Bell for 70.

Two other reserves, running back Larry Tucker and tight end Jim Orlowski, scored. Quarterback Joe Ferguson threw two second-half touchdown passes to wide receiver Bob Chandler as the Buffalo Bills ran off to a 37-0 triumph over the Green Bay Packers. Ferguson, who played only the second half, tossed three touchdowns and a pass to Chandler to make it 23-0 at 4:16 of the third period and then tossed a four-yard scoring pass to the veteran wide receiver four seconds into the final quarter to make it 30-0.

In games today, Dallas meets Detroit, Miami travels to Tampa Bay, and the New York Jets play at Houston. New England visits Atlanta, Los Angeles journeys up the coast to Oakland, San Francisco plays San Diego, St. Louis battles Chicago, Washington engages Kansas City and Seattle is at Denver.

The Colts rallied for 10 points in the final 4 1/2 minutes of regulation time to tie the game but when Tom Landrum missed a 24-yard field goal try after Jackie Wallace intercepted a Bob Scott pass and returned it to the New Orleans 14 in the overtime season.

The Saints then took over on their own 20-yard line and Scott hit four passes — 19 yards to Larry Burton and 15 yards to Paul Seal, and a 35-yarder to Elton Wright — to move the ball into range for Strachan's scoring burst.

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (UPI) — Dr. Renee Richards, the transsexual tennis player, plans to be in the first round of the Tennis Week Open tournament today, but 23 other women players have decided to boycott the competition.

The 23 players, which included top-seeded Terry Holladay of LaJolla, Calif., decided to skip the 600,000 Tennis Week Open after it was disclosed that Dr. Richards would be allowed to compete.

Instead, they will participate in a hastily formed Women's Tennis Association event in Harrison, N.Y.

Dr. Richards, the former Dr. Richard Rankind of New York, underwent a sex-change operation last year. She is scheduled to meet Cathy Beene of Houston, Tex., in her first-round match.

Weekend

Aug. 21, 1976

Whether it's bubble blowing, sack racing, or tire pushing, kids always keep themselves entertained in the summer. These scenes occurred earlier this week at picnics at Rachel Rd. and Squire Village.

Both picnics were held to celebrate the end of summer crafts and recreation programs paid for through federal funding and sponsored by the Connecticut Region Education Council.

Manchester 'pops' concert

The Greater Manchester Summer Pops Orchestra will perform Aug. 28 at 8 p.m. in the auditorium at Manchester Community College, Bidwell St. campus.

Dr. Robert E. Richardson Jr., English professor at the college, will direct the orchestra in an all-American program including a march composed by Dr. Richardson which will be played for the first time.

Featured guests on the program will be the Credit Chords, a barbershop quartet that appeared last spring with the combined Manchester Civic Orchestra and barbershop chorus pops concert. The Credit Chords are preparing for barbershop group competition in October.

Also appearing on the program will be three young children who play violin by the Suzuki method. Each will play a solo accompanied on the piano by Dr. Richardson.

The event is free.

'Annie' beguiles at Goodspeed

By JUNE TOMPKINS

The little carrot-topped orphan Annie that captivated the hearts of millions of readers who followed her daily life in a syndicated cartoon strip, is again captivating audiences at Goodspeed Opera House in East Haddam.

It isn't just Annie, it's also the rest of the characters who helped make Annie famous, like Daddy Warbucks, President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Mr. and Mrs. Bixby, Miss Hannigan, and, of course, Sandy, the dog.

This brand new musical that is world premiering at Goodspeed has a score that's delightful with some of the music reminiscent of Grieg. Some of the tunes stand a chance of becoming a hit, particularly the song about "Tomorrow" always being a day away.

Charles Strouse, who wrote the music for "Applause" and "Bye, Bye Birdie" composed the score for "Annie" assisted by Martin Charnin who wrote the lyrics.

The apple-hawkers on a New York street in the opening scene set the play's period during the Depression.

Annie appears in the next scene which is a dingy orphan asylum displaying the upstairs dormitory where the little girls cleverly fit into undersized beds.

The play includes all the memorable events in the cartoon history of Annie—the awful orphan asylum from which she is adopted, her brief spell as a waitress in a beanery, her invitation to spend Christmas with multimillionaire Oliver Warbucks, her meeting with President Roosevelt, and her continual search for her real parents.

And, of course, there's adorable Sandy, the dog who steals the short scene in which he appears.

Playwright Thomas Meehan has remarkably tied together many of the events in Annie's life in a beguiling story that should fascinate an audience of all ages.

Lyricist/director Martin Charnin is blessed with a cast which makes a great show out of a simple story.

The 12-year-old Kristen Vigard gives the impression at times that Annie is a little too much for her, and sometimes her lines sound more read than they do spoken extemporaneously. The "Aw, gee" which seemed to be her byword in the cartoon was less stereotyped there than it is on the stage. With continued performances, perhaps Kristen will grow more comfortably into her role.

However, the best of Kristen is complimented by the others in the cast, particularly Reid Shelton as Mr. Warbucks. Shelton wears his role well with his good looks and his surprisingly fine singing voice. He is indeed the multimillionaire prototype.

Hartford library concerts

The Hartford Public Library at 500 Main St., Hartford, will start its fall season of coffee concerts Sept. 2 with a series of films about music.

The first film will be a complete performance of Aaron Copland's ballet, "Appalachian Spring," danced by the Martha Graham dance company. The following weeks will feature films about contemporary music, opera symphony and the violin.

Each film will be shown twice, starting at 12:30 p.m., to accommodate those with different lunch hours.

The coffee concerts offer downtown office workers a quiet place to eat a sandwich and be entertained before going back to work. The library art and music department serves free coffee.

Information about coming programs may be obtained by phoning the art and music department of the Hartford Public Library, 525-9121.

Goodspeed in New York

The Goodspeed Opera House production of "Going Up" which has completed a seven-week record-breaking run at the Victorian theater in East Haddam will open at the Golden Theatre in New York City on Sept. 19.

All of the original Goodspeed cast will move with the New York production.

The opera house is now showing the world premier of "Annie" based on the Little Orphan Annie syndicated comic strip that has entertained readers for years.

For information and reservations, call 873-8664.

On television, art imitates life

NEW YORK (UPI) — On television, art imitates life — and what could provide a better action-adventure plot than the recent hijacking that ended with the Israeli commando raid on Uganda's Entebbe airport?

Certainly that's what NBC believes — Irwin Segelstein, the network's executive vice president, programs, has announced that "a major drama" based on the stunning Israeli rescue operation earlier of 103 hostages held by terrorists at Entebbe Airport is an NBC development project.

The play will be produced by Edgar J. Scherick from an original script being written by Barry Beckerman. It will deal with the complete story, from the June 27 hijacking of a Paris-bound Air France flight right through to the end of the commando action.

The "major drama" fits into NBC's concept of "event" television and likely will wind up as one of the network's Sunday night "Big Event" shows. It also fits the trend at all three networks toward "actuality dramas," which last season included CBS's "Helter Skelter" and NBC's "Lindbergh Kidnaping," among many others.

NBC would be well advised to move quickly with this made-for-television movie.

Bantam Books already is out with a paperback version of the dramatic events called "90 Minutes at Entebbe," by William Stevenson, author of the current best-seller, "A Man Called Intrepid."

Paramount Pictures has bought the film rights, with Sidney Lumet scheduled to produce, and Paddy Chayefsky to produce and write the screenplay, with filming scheduled to begin early next year.

There was a time when Chayefsky wrote for television, but writers of that ilk seldom can be persuaded to work for the small screen now, since they demand not only money but that desperately scarce commodity, time.

It will be interesting in the long run to compare the television and motion picture versions of the story — presuming that both come off — for accuracy, casting, how each handles violence.

Then there's format — the emphasis could be on the commandos, for an action adventure drama, or on the hostages, which would make the movie into a kind of "Grand Hotel" of terror?

Tune in next year for the answer.

Country fair season comes to Connecticut

City and suburban families come in droves for the country fair season in Connecticut. They desert the metropolitan scuffle on weekend afternoons in August and September and toodle off to the countryside where the tents are up and the barkers out and lines are forming for the ferris wheel.

City dwellers are enchanted by the chance to get in touch with their rural past, however remote it may be, and to rediscover country things.

At a country fair—and Connecticut puts on more than 50 per year—you can learn the difference between a Holstein and a Guernsey; you can note that blue ribbons go not so much to giant eggplants and cabbages but to perfect ones; you can see handmade quilts done not in the 18th Century but last winter; you can play ring-toss, shoot mechanical ducks, sit down to a church supper, watch the ox-draw, guess how many beans in the jar and win a stuffed plush shark.

Children enjoy fairs no less than grown-ups. They can ride a pony—or sometimes an elephant—throw balls and darts at nearby targets, get a balloon that wants to go straight up, see their fill of sheep, goats, ducks, and chickens. But the great charm of the fairs lies in the universal and unwavering good humor that pervades the grounds. Cheerful strangers answer questions, remark on the heat, exclaim over the exhibits, and generally bid you welcome.

The country welcome is as warm as a local grange fair where the crowd runs under 200 as it is at the "major fairs" like Goshen, North Haven or Berlin, where up to 5,000 come out.

The state's biggest is the Danbury State Fair, a 10-day extravaganza combining agricultural events with amusements and considerable professional entertainment. The dates this year are Oct. 2 to 11, when fair officials expect to better last year's attendance figure of 325,000.

The state's oldest fair is at Brooklyn, in eastern Connecticut, scheduled for Aug. 27 to 29. Dating back to 1820, the fair may indeed be the oldest in the country.

Typical events include cattle, horse, and poultry shows, oxen and horse drawing, sheep shearing, grease pole climbing, farm machinery exhibits, bean suppers, band concerts, sawing and woodchopping contests, chicken barbecues, flea markets, baking competition, wrestling and as the hucksters say, much muck more.

Figures show that somewhere in the neighborhood of a million souls heed the call of the country fair in Connecticut each year and head out to Bethlehem, Guilford, Portland, Durham, Ledyard, Wapping, Mad River, Hamden, Greenfield Hill, Woodstock, Glastonbury.

Boat building set

Mystic Seaport's small boat builders will begin work soon on four 14-foot Marblehead dory skiffs in the maritime museum's Small Craft Shop.

Museum visitors will be able to watch the boat builders using skills and tools of the 19th Century to complete the wooden boats in the Small Craft Shop exhibit building.

The dory skiffs are the type designed by William Chamberlain, famous builder of Marblehead Beachcomber, Salem Alpha and racing dories. An improved version of the working skiffs used by Marblehead and Cape Ann fishermen during the past 200 years, the boats will be equipped to sail with centerboard, rudder and an unstayed, removable mast.

Stamps and coins

Isle stamps recall history

By RUSS MacKENDRICK

Here is a Barroose beaker, a Cronk Aust food vessel, and a Laxey jug — ceramics from the Isle of Man.

The first two date back some 3,000 years to the early Bronze Age. Barroose is a town and Cronk Aust means east hill. The Laxey jug was made in 1854 for an occasion at the Laxey lead mines on the island.

Note the "Europa" written up-and-down with "CEPT" underneath. This is short for Conference of European Postal and Telecommunications Administrations of which the Isle of Man now seems to be a member.

It is a land area of only 12 by 30 miles in the sea between England and Ireland, but it carries a world of legend and history.

There are two great castles, the Peel and the Rushen, with their share of ghost stories and weirdo traditions. The best haunt is at the Castle Peel with a monstrous black dog called the Moddey Dhoo that was mentioned by Sir Walter Scott in a poem. It would come into the castle guardroom and sit beside the fire. And sit and sit...and stare...then — zip — disappear.

For sicjoke buffs there is an ancient execution center called "Hango Hill."

The Isle is noted for motorcycle races and bob-tailed cats. They put out a stamp three years ago for the 50th anniversary of their Motorcycle Grand Prix.

Tourists are avid in their demand for the cats and some unethical residents have been known to snip the tails off plain kittens rather than lose a sale. What a surprise when the next generation is just ordinary! See the Manx cat on the five-penny stamp on July 1973.

Isle of Man stamps are mostly attractive pictorials, just over a hundred in all, with the most expensive a Postage Due at $15 — nothing out of sight like some Jersey and Guernsey issues.

A scalding tear

Drop a scalding tear for the General Services Administration as they are stuck with nearly a million Carson City silver dollars after five sales.

The coins have been individually wrapped, ultrasonically sealed and ready for mailing for the last two years.

The GSA, the governmental finger in the numismatic pie, has managed to balloon an investment of $3 million up to 48 million and now they are pondering the next move in the way of squeezing out the maximum profit.

Why didn't they dispense the things through banks in the first place and give collectors a break?

Write to Umtata

You can get stamps from Transkei on the 26th of October. It is the new government for the Bantu homeland between Lesotho and the Indian Ocean, breaking away from South Africa. There will be four dullsville commems and 17 pretty good pictorial definitives.

This first regular issue will be a series of topicals — tea picking, wood carving, weaving, logging and so on. One of the best cattle pictures since our own Aberdeen-Angus, Big Moo, of 1973, will be a white-faced beef critter on their 25-cent value.

Ground floor details are available from the philatelic agency at their capital-to-be — this is great — Umtata.

Remarkable feature

A recent Lynn's has a story of the new edition of the "Arizona Territorial Postmark Catalog" by Dike and Kriege. It gives the dope in nearly 1,500 postmark types from 415 towns, nearly all with pictures.

The presentation is tabular — towns from acme and Adair to Yuma and Zenos. Valuations are in code from less than $2 to over $300. Earliest and latest reported dates of usage are given.

A most remarkable feature is the identification of the present owner of each item.

Next meeting

The next Manchester Philatelic Society meeting will be at Mott's on the 24th.

At one just past there was some murmuring over the new USPS tie-in sale. They will let you have a set of the Bicent souvenir sheets only if you also purchase the 30-stamp Mint Set book for another $7.50.

Preventing those 'dangling wires'

By INK DIPPER

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Ink Dipper (KYZ-3916) is the handle of the editor of The CB Times Journal.)

The theft of CB radios has reached crisis proportions. If you haven't already had your CB stolen, then it is only a matter of time before you return to your four-wheeler to find a few ripped wires where the once proud instrument rode.

That is, unless you take some very basic precautions. Most people don't. So for the thief who wants, or needs, to make a quick buck ripping off your CB is easy.

Here are 10 simple steps that will greatly reduce the chances of your CB being taken.

1. Use common sense.
2. Always park in a well-lighted area.
3. Never leave car without locking it.
4. Remove lock bolt covers on car doors.
5. Have CB mounted so it can be removed when away from car.

7. Get a metal engraving pen from local hardware store and etch Social Security number on the CB chassis.

8. Record serial number of CB and keep it in a safe place.

9. Purchase auto burglar alarm.

10. Encourage local police department to initiate a program to mark all CBs with metal engraving pens.

With the use of these precautions most CB thieves can be thwarted. But recently in Cincinnati the police caught up with an accomplished CB thief.

In an interview, the thief — who was only identified as "John" — explained how he had made more than $20,000 in two months stealing CBs and other things.

"By the time I walked up to a car and put my hand on the door handle, I would have a coat hanger in the window and the door unlocked," he said.

"Anybody who saw me open a car that fast thought I had a key," he explained.

He could even enter cars that were equipped with burglar alarms.

He said stealing CBs enabled him to build up a sizable bank account, pay the rent, take friends out to dinner "and blow about $300 a night" at a local race track. John found hotels and motels very profitable because large numbers of salesmen who stay there leave their CBs and other wares in their cars. Parking lots at theaters were lucrative, too, because he could time the owner's return to their cars with the ending of each showing of the movie.

Interestingly enough, he frequently used his CB to sell the CBs he had just stolen. He would go out on an interstate and cruise, ratchet-jawing with other CBers. When he found a likely prospect, he would arrange to meet them at the nearest restaurant or truck stop. He usually sold CB units for $30 to $40 below retail price.

A favorite story John tells is the time he ripped off another thief.

"I was just sitting in my car, watching a parking lot, when I saw this guy taking a CB unit out of a car. I waited until he had gotten it out, and then I went over and told him it was my car. He just looked at me and handed me the radio and took off," John said.

Luckily most thieves are not like John. They have not perfected the art.

If the simple rules listed above are carefully followed, the CB thief will take an easier target, leaving yours alone. Then you won't find some dangling wires when you return from the movie.
