PZC faces amendment decision

The Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC) will act Monday night on zoning regulation amendments that would permit the sale of Christmas trees and wreaths only in December and only in these two zones.

The amendment concerning hotels and motels is simply an additional sentence defining hotels and motels as buildings "with not less than 18 rentable sleeping accommodations."

The PZC will also be asked to approve an amendment that will limit the sale of beer by various organizations to six days per year. Any school, college, church, civic or fraternal body, municipal body or trade organization having offices in an outdoor property in a business zone, Lamson said. This, it is now technically against the regulations to sell Christmas trees in Manchester.

The amendments would allow buildings in Residence C zone to use basements for office facilities. The present regulation allows basements to be used only for storage and janitorial space.

The change would permit all uses except residential units for the basement. This change was sparked by a recent case concerning a Main St. building owned by Hayden L. Grinstead Jr. and Walter S. Fuss. They wanted to use the basement of the building for offices and had to obtain a relief from zoning regulations from the Zoning Board of Appeals.

The PZC will also hear three subdivision preapplication reviews.

UAW ready for strike at Ford at midnight

DETROIT (UPI) — United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock says agreement on a new contract with the Ford Motor Co. by the strike deadline at midnight tonight is "absolutely impossible."

The union began preparations to pull its 170,000 workers out of plants in 22 states in what could be an economy-wrenching strike. Woodcock late Monday rejected a company request that the contract be extended.

Labor observers said the question was no longer whether there would be a strike but how long it would last. In a last attempt to prevent its second national walkout in nine years,

Ford to play up his incumbency

By DEAN REYNOLDS
United Press International

President Ford will stay put in the White House for the most part until much later this fall, playing up his incumbency and ignoring the Democrats' goadings to make a light of it.

New word from his aides Monday indicates Ford, sticking to his "presidential" image, will not begin a major campaign swing until mid-October.

Democratic challenger Jimmy Carter was busy with his "meet the people" strategy Monday, but offered some newly conservative language.

Well into the second week of his formal campaign, Carter went to Montana and North and South Dakota today, seeking to shore up conservative backing believed eroded since his choice of liberal running mate Walter Mondale.

The conservative tone of this week's speeches was due in part to a worrisome poll over the weekend, showing Carter's lead in his native South to be slipping.

Carter, who spent last week luring voters from Democratic strongholds of the North, stumbled in the South and Southwest Monday, seeing Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama, attending a fund-raiser for Morris Udall in Arizona and landing the Supreme Court's endorsement.

"I believe the Burger court is moving back in the proper direction," Carter said in Oklahoma City, adding that he favored "shifting back

Public school enrollment 9,607

By DOUG BEVINS
Herald Reporter

The 1976-1977 enrollment in Manchester public schools will be very close to the estimates made last year, although the first week's figures are below the projections, School Supt. James Kennedy said.

Kennedy said today that student enrollment was 9,607 as of Monday.

The abortion controversy which dogged Carter last week got a new flavor Monday when the National Organization for Women demanded the opportunity to influence Ford and Carter on the issue as had Roman Catholic bishops.

NOW leaders charged both candidates ignore the majority view that abortion is not an overriding issue and that there should be no constitutional amendment barring it.

The vice presidential candidates were busy criss-crossing the country Monday with some citizens in Florida Monday, and planned talks with students in Illinois today. His GOP counterpart, Bob Dole, was in San Francisco earlier today, reading another heading campaign dash across the country with stops in St. Louis and Washington, D.C.

State man killed in air collision

BRIGHTON, Fla. (UPI) — Force Base, where the fighter was based, said Air Force regulations prohibited the release of information from the survivor of Monday's crash. Maj. Thomas V. Mehlhoff, an instructor-pilot with the 307th tactical fighter squadron.

Mehlhoff, 35, of American Falls, Idaho, parachuted to safety and was examined and released from a hospital, spokesman Capt. Mike Gallagher said.

An official of the National Transportation Safety Board in Miami said both planes were on "Visual Flight Rules" when they collided.

The Air Force, Coast Guard and Florida County sheriff's deputies searched the remote, swampy area for nearly nine hours before finding the body of Mellor, a student pilot assigned to the 307th.

Gallagher said Mellor's body was found about one-quarter mile from the fighter.

The men aboard the Cessna 414 were identified as Joseph Golden Patrick Reed, 49, president of Ruel Insurance Corp.; John Conlin, 44, a flight engineer with National Air Lines in Miami; Paul White, 38, and Charles Eggerstrom, 32, both safety supervisors with the city of Fort Lauderdale.

U. S. blocks admission of Vietnam to U. N.

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — President Ford's decision to block admission of Vietnam to the United Nations prompted the cancellation of today's meeting of the Admissions Committee of the Security Council. U.S. Ambassador William Scranton announced in Washington Monday Ford had ordered him to veto Hanoi's membership application because of its failure to provide information about 795 Americans missing in the Indochina War.

The move drew an angry response from Vietnamese officials but was praised by an organization representing families of the missing Americans.

PZC tables proposed liquor license amendment

By GREG PEARSON

Following a loud outcry against the proposed amendment to the Planning and Zoning Commission liquor license amendment that would allow organizations to sell liquor to sell beer for up to six days a year.

The proposed regulation reads: "The sale of beer may be conducted for not more than 6 days in each calendar year by any school, college, church, civic or fraternal body, municipal body or trade organization having offices in the Town of Manchester. Written approval of the Zoning Enforcement Officer shall be obtained prior to applying to the Liquor Control Commission for a temporary beer permit."

Planner J. Eric Potter said that under present regulations, beer sales are by a nonlicensed group are not allowed, and any group wishing to have such a sale must obtain a variance from the town Zoning Board of Appeals.

Zoning Enforcement Officer Ernest Machell, however, said that groups do not have to go through the Zoning Board of Appeals for such approval. All that is required before an organization goes to the State Liquor Control Commission for a temporary liquor license is permission from the town Police and Fire Departments and the town clerk.

He said that some beer fests in the past have taken place without any notification of zoning officials.

Frank Lupien, like most of those who spoke Monday night, was especially concerned that the new regulation would make it too easy for young people to obtain beer.

"When this is put on the books, it will make it even harder for law enforcement agencies to keep up with the amount of young people using alcohol," Lupien, of 21 Sunset Dr., said.

Mary Mayo, of 195 Henry St., called herself "a person who is interested in young people," and also expressed opposition to the proposal.

"I am opposed to the sale of beer at any time at schools and churches. Young people have priority at these places," she said. "In the interest of the young people of the community, we should say no to this proposal."

Machell spoke against the proposed amendment, saying he would be concerned about the number of "beer fests" that would appear in town if the commission approved. He also said that in the Central Business District a beer fest could be held in front of an already established business. (In all other zones, there would be a 1,000 foot requirement from other businesses.)

On other matters, the commission approved an amendment permitting the traditional outdoor sales of Christmas trees and wreaths in Rural Residence and Business zones.

Such sales are not now legally permitted in town, and would be allowed only during November and December under the new provision.

The commission approved two other amendments. One requires all motels and hotels to have at least 18 rooms.

The second allows buildings in Residence C zones to use basements for everything except residential units. The present regulation allows basements to be used only for storage and janitorial space.

An amendment to add all Business 2 zone uses to the Central Business District zone was tabled. This amendment would simply extend the hotel and motel room requirement to the Central Business District, according to Potter. But, Commission Member David Paris said he would like to study the amendment before voting on it. The commission agreed.

These men and women might some day run for the presidency. More importantly, this coverage is needed because the successes and failures in one state have important lessons for the citizens of other states.

We recognize the importance of distant countries in our coverage of foreign news. We too often forget the even greater importance of local experiments in neighboring state capitals.

Likewise, throughout this nation there are sizeable numbers of men and women, other than governors and members of Congress, doing remarkable administrative jobs in education, science, industry and agriculture.

There is no reason, except custom, why a president of the United States must come from the Congress or have been governor of a state, though one would think from our recent history that it was a rule engraved in stone.

If one considers the administrative responsibilities, difficult decisions and personal problems faced by the presidents of our great universities, the executive chiefs of our major companies, and by the heads of our leading scientific organizations, it is clear that numbers of these men have developed the expertise and judgment required for the White House.

If they were better known nationwide through continued coverage of their achievements, more of these outstanding citizens might be drawn into political office — in their state, in Congress or in the White House itself.

New blood could bring fresh ideas in solving unemployment, inflation, crime and corruption, in handling the problems of energy and raw materials shortages and in the management of our foreign affairs.

We recognize the importance of distant countries in our coverage of foreign news. We too often forget the even greater importance of local experiments in neighboring state capitals.

Likewise, throughout this nation there are sizeable numbers of men and women, other than governors and members of Congress, doing remarkable administrative jobs in education, science, industry and agriculture.

There is no reason, except custom, why a president of the United States must come from the Congress or have been governor of a state, though one would think from our recent history that it was a rule engraved in stone.

If one considers the administrative responsibilities, difficult decisions and personal problems faced by the presidents of our great universities, the executive chiefs of our major companies, and by the heads of our leading scientific organizations, it is clear that numbers of these men have developed the expertise and judgment required for the White House.

If they were better known nationwide through continued coverage of their achievements, more of these outstanding citizens might be drawn into political office — in their state, in Congress or in the White House itself.

New blood could bring fresh ideas in solving unemployment, inflation, crime and corruption, in handling the problems of energy and raw materials shortages and in the management of our foreign affairs.

This publicity is desirable only on the off chance that one of these men and women might some day run for the presidency. More importantly, this coverage is needed because the successes and failures in one state have important lessons for the citizens of other states.

Tigers' HRs sink Yanks

NEW YORK (UPI)—Imagine how the New York Yankees would be if their highly paid pitching duo of Jim "Catfish" Hunter and Ken Holtzman were pitching up to Ken Griffey and the Detroit Tigers. The Yankees' offense was stifled by the Tigers' pitching staff, which consisted of Griffey, Alan Trammell, and Bill Stein.

Coscina Open king

Monday is a day off for most golf professionals from their regular club duties and it's a day when tournaments are offered around the state and give all an opportunity to pick up a little extra money.

Yesterday, 31-year-old Dennis Coscina, reigning Connecticut PGA champion and currently enjoying a red hot streak, visited town and captured the 30th Manchester Open with a four-under par 68. The victory was worth $1,000.

Until the heavy-set Cliffside Country Club was in mid-afternoon, his assistant had set the pace for Nelson's 69 score stood up and he walked off with a check for $600.

There were 128 pros bringing the two-day total to 365. The field of 227 amateurs on Sunday was led by a trio of Manchester golfers, all in with 73 were Steve Matava, Bill King and Dick Steeves.

Defending champion Wayne Levi did not compete. Bruce Doble of Worcester was third with 37-33-70 and Roy Pace of Wee Burn was all alone in fourth place with 36-35-71.

Bracketed in the 75 group was Austin Straub of New York, also a former PGA touring pro. Never before in the three decades of play have two golfers from the same club topped first and second prize money.

Chechov and Ribis each won $50, splitting the money set aside for the best scorer as a Senior, a player by 10 or more years than the winner.

Coscina went out in 33, three under par, and came in with a one under 69. He picked up birds on the third, fourth and fifth holes, paring all others over the first nine and birdied the 10th, 13th, 14th and 17th while bogeying the 12th, 15th and 18th.

The champ's putter was red hot. He one-putted 11 times and needed just 23 shots to get in the hole in a field which was not up to caliber of recent years.

"I played as good as I can," the dark-haired, nattily dressed shot-maker said. He had no argument from anyone.

"This is the 10th time I've played in the (Manchester) Open and it's the first time I broke 74. I never made a dime before in Opens, Pro-Am's.

"Everyone has a course that gives him trouble and this was mine, up until today," he added.

Over the past two weeks, Coscina had three wins and a tie for first in four tournaments, prior to the Manchester. He won a Pro-Am at Farmington Woods, was one of 10 with 79 rounds on a beautiful Sunday day.

Royals drop pair

NEW YORK (UPI)—White York (UPI)—Kevin Herzog has always had a reputation for being a stand-up guy and with his Kansas City Royals in their worst slump of the season, he's not backing down now.

"We've got to get off our heels and play baseball," said Herzog Monday night, after the Royals dropped a 5-4, 4-3 doubleheader to the Chicago White Sox and saw their first-place lead over Oakland in the American League West slip to four games.

Jim Spencer's three-run homer with one out in the eighth inning won the game for the White Sox.

Herzog, who is the Royals' first baseman, thinks maybe the Royals are merely victims of baseball's game of nerves. "The bad breaks they're having now are evening things up, but they probably don't realize that," said Herzog.

"They lost three of their starting pitchers, Doug Bird, Paul Splittorff and Steve Busby and if that hadn't happened they'd probably be ahead by 20 games now."

Baltimore, determined to at least salvage second place in the AL East, won its fifth straight game as Tony Muser's two-run homer in the 10th inning. It was Muser's first homer as an Oriole since being acquired from the White Sox June 15, 1975. Reggie Jackson preceded the homer with his second double.

Winning soccer program should continue at MCC
By DAVE ROBACK
Correspondent
Soccer at Manchester Community College has attained a level of high prestige and success during the previous two seasons.

In that period, the booters compiled a 21-4-4 record while collecting two CCCAA championships and a ranking of fifth in New England. Coach Jim Dyer is optimistic that this success will continue starting Saturday against Rhode Island Junior College here at Cougar Field.

Transfers and graduation have severely changed this season's roster. Goalkeeper Dave Treschuk, a main cog for the past two years, has moved into a starting role at Philadelphia Textile.

Darrington College acquired two former MCC standouts, Tom McConville and Fred Gerber. McConville, an all-league forward and 1975 captain, contributed seven goals and four assists. Also the services of Bob Henry, MCC's top scorer with 14 goals, will be sorely missed.

A mixture of returning veterans and newcomers should provide with the depth needed for success in the forthcoming campaign. Returning at midfield will be Captain Chip Behrman and Mike Shensie. Last season Behrman was selected for the all-league team, scoring 12 goals and assisting in two others.

Teaming up with the duo will be Gary Perrelli and Bill Young. Perrelli arrives after enjoying a fine season at Waterford High. Young comes from East Lyme.

The forward consist of all-league Tim Cyr and second team player Dan Arenas. Cyr, from Ellington, produced 12 goals and five assists. Arenas, a high school star, is a sophomore at Waterford. He collected 28 goals for Bulkeley of Hartford, eye starting berth.

Battling for the backfield positions will be Doug Pinto and Scott Green. Pinto returns after a one-season stay at Keene State. Freshman seeking Starting roles as Tayo Stima (Manchester), Mike Gerber (South Windsor), Doug Durdan (Tolland), and John Ooms (Coventry). Ooms was an All-State selection in high school.

Filling the shoes of the graduated Treschuk will be difficult, but Mike Motta, former Bulkeley High star, is willing to try. Dyer labeled Motta a solid completer who will be a key to a successful season.

There has been a change in the schedule. The Cougars will face a more competitive NCHA slate while sacrificing formidable Connecticut Community College foes. "With the cancellation of some soccer programs around the state, we (MCC), decided to emphasize the NCHA schedule to upgrade our junior college standing," explained Dyer.

The Collegians will continue to compete nationally ranked Mitchell College, and J.V. teams of Eastern, Southern, and UConn. Added to this are Rhode Island, Dean, and Post Junior Colleges, with Buniker Hill and regionally ranked Holyoke Community College.

Schmidt sets pace

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mike Schmidt speaks for all the Philadelphia Phillies when he says the one thing they can't afford to do is "play the scoreboard."

He means the Phillies' sole concern should be the game they are playing. Apparently blasting their way out of their slump, the Phillies increased their first-place lead to five games Monday night when they defeated the Montreal Expos 7-2, while the New York Mets shut out the Pirates, 5-0.

Schmidt drove in four runs with his 34th and 35th homers in pacing Steve Carlton to his 17th victory against six losses. Schmidt hit his first homer of the game with two on in the first inning to give the Phillies a 3-2 lead and his second in the fifth to give them a 5-2 margin.

The homers vaulted Schmidt past Dave Kingman of the Mets into the league lead in home runs. The first home run was the second in the fifth inning to give the Phillies a 3-2 lead and his second in the fifth to give them a 5-2 margin.

Betty's notebook

By Betty Ryder

Hope you all had a wonderful Labor Day weekend. I did. I helped celebrate the birthday of a dear friend, Eddie Reed, Cavy's noted pianist.

Eddie is a gracious host, and although the day was a bit cool, the sun kept us from freezing to death. Learned a new game, too. It's called Boogie. Well, you see, you toss out this little manual colored ball, then, armed with two larger balls you toss them to see just how close you can get to the small ball.

But your opponent, if he's accurate can knock your ball away from the small ball, and steal your place.

It was a fun day. The steak, steamed corn and the scrambled eggs were great. To say nothing of the company.

It was Tuesday morning that I decided Boogie may not be for me. I had two very itching arms and cramped uncontrollably. I hope as I typed the day away at work.

Guess it's like anything else - practice makes perfect.

School Days

Was your house as confusing as mine was on the first day of school? I thought I had everything scrambled, but it didn't work out that way.

Well, I tried to stagger the "getting out of bed" schedule. That worked out okay. And I cooked the fried eggs before I cooked the scrambled eggs so the frying pan wouldn't be a mess. One had toots, the others settled for Danish.

But something went wrong when it came to teeth-brushing time.

We have two bathrooms, one upstairs and one down.

There must be something that makes children very tired after breakfast, 'cause none of them seem to be able to make it to that upstairs bathroom.

And, the parade went on. It starts with a knock on the bathroom door.

Had a tour of the VIP House in Hartford last week, and while it was impressive, it was sadening, too. The house, in operation since 1971, serves delinquent and pre-delinquent teen-agers from all over Connecticut ranging in age from 13-17. No more than 12 boys are in residence at any one time, and most have had a history of delinquent behavior.

Daniel A. Leone of South Windsor serves as its executive director and he has asked me to serve on its board of directors.
