State

HARTFORD—The father of the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. has suggested a new congressional investigation of his son's murder will be futile. "They'll never find out who did it," he said Friday after being a luncheon guest of Gov. Ella T. Grasso at the executive mansion.

HARTFORD—Until something is done about polluted New York and New Jersey air drifting into Connecticut, officials say they will hold up almost $21.4 billion in federal funds targeted for those two states. Environmental Commissioner Joseph N. Gill said Friday the difference in air pollution standards between the states was responsible for the problem.

Regional

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—Gov. Philip W. Noel pulled into the lead over Richard Lorber in the U. S. Senate Democratic primary early today. The unofficial latest count — still incomplete — show Noel ahead by 73 votes when the count stopped at 2 a.m. It was to resume again this morning with about 1,800 more absentee votes and shut-in ballots to be counted.

BOSTON—The first full week of school in Boston under the third year of a court-ordered desegregation plan ended without major incident Friday. Some scuffles were reported, but there were no serious incidents of violence in the schools. Citywide attendance was 77.6 per cent of projected enrollment, normal for a Friday, officials said.

National

WASHINGTON—A civilian deep-sea salvage company has been hired by the Navy in its race to beat the Soviet Union to an F14 Tomcat jet fighter that plunged from the deck of the aircraft carrier USS John F. Kennedy off the coast of Scotland. An attempt to raise the $20 million plane from 1,900 feet of water will begin next week.

DETROIT—United Auto Workers officials charged Friday that Ford Motor Co.'s desire to maintain super high profits forced the nationwide strike now entering its fourth day for 170,000 Ford workers.

UNITED NATIONS—The stalemated U. N. Conference on the Law of the Sea adjourned Friday, delaying for at least two years an international treaty to control mining of the trillions of dollars worth of deep-sea minerals.

SAN FRANCISCO—Patricia Hearst, captured a year ago today, will be sentenced Friday on her conviction of being a member of an SLA robbery team that struck a San Francisco bank.

FRESNO, Calif.—Four Fresno Bee newsmen who spent two weeks in jail rather than reveal a news source have been freed by a judge who said they were still in contempt of court.

International

HONG KONG—Hundreds of thousands of Chinese gathered at sunrise today for a last memorial to Mao Tse-tung, the peasant's son who led a rag-tag army to transform the world's most populous nation into a Communist power. Funeral rites were conducted in Peking's Tien An Men (Gate of Heavenly Peace) Square.

MANILA—Rescuers expressed hope today intermittent emergency signals from a 4,800-foot mountain may be from survivors of a missing light plane with eight persons — including three Americans — aboard. The search has been hampered by bad weather.

BEIRUT, Lebanon—President-elect Elias Sarkis, due to assume leadership of this war-torn nation in five days, left Saturday for last-minute, summit-level talks with the leaders of Syria and Egypt.

African peace shuttle in second round

PRETORIA, South Africa (UPI)—Secretary of state Henry A. Kissinger said today he came to southern Africa to avert a race war which could have "profound implications for international stability."

Kissinger held a second round of talks with South African Prime Minister John Vorster at Libertas, the premier's hilltop residence surrounded by lush flower gardens where the loudest noise is the chirping of birds.

After the 2½ hour talks he addressed the U.S. Embassy staff at the Burgerspark hotel, his base for the three-day visit. He said South Africa "holds the key" to peace in the region, and added:

"What has brought me here was a culmination of historical tragedies in southern Africa that bear within them the seeds of great complications."

"The United States, which throughout its history has stood for dignity, equality and respect between the races, in its own interests and in the interest of southern Africa, decided to take an initiative. It did so because the dangers of conflagration in southern Africa were real."

"We hope that progress is being made on subjects that have a long legacy and are extremely painful to deal with for all parties," Kissinger said. "I hope we can feel a step forward has been taken."

"War between the races," Kissinger said, "if it once started, would have the profoundest implications for international stability on a global scale."

Kissinger, although he was speaking in the South African capital, indirectly condemned the country's policy of institutionalized segregation.

His listeners included Americans and South Africans. Some 30 of them were black. He told them:

"We have had occasion to say that as far as the United States is concerned, the concept of human dignity must have universal application. We cannot agree with any concept that is based on the separation of the races."

Kissinger drew a roar of laughter when he said, "secretaries of state come and go. It is the only thing that keeps up the morale of my associates." But he indicated that U.S. foreign policy, together with its implications for racial justice, "does not fluctuate with political campaigns. It cannot be altered every four or eight years."

"I have talked to so many different leaders that I am beginning to lose my voice," Kissinger said hoarsely. The Kissinger-Vorster talks were held against a background of violence in which eight blacks, including six schoolchildren, were shot dead by police Friday during anti-Kissinger demonstrations in a black township near Johannesburg, according to witnesses.

The two men's discussions Friday and Saturday have lasted a total of seven hours.

Newquakes hit Italy

ROME (UPI)—More shocks were felt in earthquake-devastated Friuli today and mild tremors rocked an Alban Hills town near the summer residence of Pope Paul VI.

Four shocks measuring between 4 and 5 on the 12-degree Mercalli scale caused no new casualties or damage in the Alpine foothills of Friuli, where nearly 1,000 died in an earthquake May 6 and another 13 in a second shock earlier this week.

Four hundred miles to the south, the second tremor in two days occurred at 7:04 a.m. (1:04 a.m. EDT) at Genzano, a wine-growing town overlooking Lake Nemi in the Alban Hills.

The shock, with a Mercalli rating of 3 to 4, caused no harm in Genzano and was not even felt 4.5 miles away in Castel Gandolfo where Pope Paul is spending the final days of an annual working vacation.

Seismologist Rodolfo Console of the Monteporzio Geophysical Observatory said the shock in Genzano, 19 miles southeast of Rome, posed no danger for the capital's 3.5 million inhabitants. He said moderate shocks have been reported through the centuries in the extinct volcanoes of the Alban Hills.

Man killed in auto crash

Gary Miner, 27, of South Rd., Ellington died this morning, the apparent victim of an auto accident at 2:02 a.m. on E. Main St. in Rockville.

Miner was driving a pickup truck east on E. Main St. when he drove off the side of the road and struck a utility pole opposite the Albi Manufacturing Co., police said. He was pronounced dead on the scene by the medical examiner, Dr. Harold Shapiro.

The White-Gibson-Small Funeral Home, 65 Elm St., Rockville, is in charge of arrangements which were incomplete late this morning.

Machinists idle TWA

By United Press International Picket lines began springing up at airports across the nation early today following a strike by 12,000 machinists against Trans World Airlines.

The strike, which immediately grounded all TWA flights, was called at midnight Friday when negotiations between the nation's third largest commercial carrier and the International Association of Machinists reached an impasse.

No new talks have been scheduled, but a TWA spokesman said, "both sides will be at the call of the mediation board."

The machinists, who service and refuel TWA's jets, had been working without a contract since last October. The strike deadline signified the end of a 30-day federally-mandated cooling off period. The strike vote was taken by the union about two weeks ago.

The first picket lines were spotted shortly after midnight at airports in Los Angeles, Boston, Pittsburgh, Kansas City, San Francisco and New York.

TWA personnel immediately began calling passengers booked on the airlines' flights to inform them they would be booked on other airlines.

TWA carries about 40,000 passengers daily on more than 400 domestic and 40 overseas flights.

Carr given three life terms

MIAMI (UPI)—In a move designed to put Robert Frederick Carr III, 32, of Norwich, Conn., in prison for the remainder of his life, a circuit court judge has sentenced him to three life terms plus 360 years in prison, all to be served consecutively.

Judge Natalie Baskin admitted that Carr, who preyed on hitchhiking youths and confessed to four sex murders and six rapes, could be considered for parole after serving 25 years.

She attached a recommendation to the sentences passed Friday that any parole application which might be made by Carr be rejected.

Baskin sentenced Carr, a television repairman, to three consecutive life terms for the sex murders of two 11-year-old Miami boys and a 16-year-old Miami girl.

She also sentenced him to four, consecutive 90-year terms for rape. Carr had pleaded guilty to all seven crimes.

He also confessed from the witness stand earlier this week to the sex murder of a 20-year-old woman in Connecticut and two additional rapes in the Miami area.

He testified before a sentencing jury which recommended he be imprisoned for life with no chance for parole.

The jury's recommendation, however, was not binding on the judge nor is the judge's recommendation for no parole binding on the state Pardon and Parole Board.

After his arrest last May on rape charges, Carr confessed to the sex murders of the three Miami youths and the Connecticut woman.

He then accompanied Miami authorities to Mississippi, Louisiana and Connecticut where he pointed out the shallow graves of his victims.

Baskin said she did not sentence Carr to the electric chair because "the mitigating circumstances outweigh the aggravating circumstances in this case."

The death penalty would relieve society with dealing with Robert Frederick Carr, but this country has fought wars and consistently rejected the extermination of the weak, sick and the handicapped.

She said Carr "knew the difference between right and wrong but his capacity for control was impaired."

Candidates prepare for first debate

By ROBERT KAYLOR
United Press International
President Ford and Democratic nominee Jimmy Carter both took a weekend break from their normal campaign ritual to prepare for their first nationally televised confrontation Thursday.

Carter returned to Plains, Ga. after winding up the second week of his fall campaign on familiar ground in the Deep South, where he praised officials for "ending the long preoccupation with the racial issue." Ford, in keeping with his campaign strategy of spending most of his time at the White House in his role as chief executive, played host Friday to a group from the League of Republican Women. He told them polls showed he was closing the gap on Carter and that "We have the momentum."

The President told the Republican women the Mississippi riverboat start of a southern tour next Saturday will be an example of a "very, very fast" six weeks of campaigning to close and added: "I would much rather be a fast finisher than an early starter."

Carter was joined Friday in Gulfport, Miss., by Sens. John Stennis and James Eastland, both of whom have voted against civil rights legislation.

"The racial issue is one that I, Sens. Stennis and Eastland and others and millions of Southern people have faced successfully and with courage," he said.

"New relationships between white and black citizens, with equality of opportunity and the integrated society we now enjoy, has liberated the South as well as the rest of the nation," Carter said.

The Democratic nominee also told Mississippi audiences that Republicans have always tried to control inflation through high unemployment rates — a theme he is expected to hit hard during the nationally televised debate with Ford in Philadelphia Sept. 23.

The debate — the first of three such appearances — will focus on domestic issues.

Aides to both candidates said they expect them to use the weekend break to prepare for the Thursday meeting.

GOP vice presidential nominee Bob Dole, meanwhile, went to Birmingham, Ala., and flung down the gauntlet to his opponent, Walter Mondale. "I issue a challenge from this very spot, asking Senator Mondale to agree to have our debate in the South," Dole said. He and Mondale are scheduled to have one televised debate between the second and third presidential sessions.

"I think Southerners ought to have a chance to examine the Mondale record," said Dole. "It's proof positive that (Jimmy) Carter is a real liberal — we're hoping that Mr. Mondale may yet come South."

PZC ruling upheld

The Hartford County Court of Common Pleas has ruled against Louise and Harry England in their quest for a zone change to construct a shopping center at Manchester Green.

The court upheld a 1974 Manchester Planning and Zoning Commission ruling, which denied the Englands a zone change that would have permitted construction of a shopping center on a five-acre parcel of land at E. Middle Tpke. and E. Center St. The property is the site of the old W. Harry England Lumber Co.

The case dates back to 1969, when the Englands first sought a zone change from Residence A and B Zones to Business 3 Zone, which would permit construction of the 48,750-square-foot shopping center they were seeking to build.

At that time the PZC ruled in favor of the Englands and granted the zone change. This decision, however, was appealed and eventually overturned by the State Supreme Court in December 1971. The court ruled the shopping center would aggravate traffic problems in the area.

After some roadway improvements were made, the Englands again brought the case to the PZC in November 1974. This time the commission denied the requested zone change.

The Englands appealed the denial to the Court of Common Pleas, which Friday issued its decision to reject the appeal.

The court, citing the case of "Morningside Association vs. Planning and Zoning Board," said "Courts can grant relief on appeal only where the local authority has acted arbitrarily or illegally and has thus abused the discretion vested in it."

The court ruled that the local authority, in this case the PZC, had taken no such arbitrary or illegal action and, thus, had not abused its powers.

How they voted

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., was campaigning for re-election in Connecticut Friday and missed a vote on a Senate proposal that would have barred the use of federal funds for most abortions.

Rep. William Cotter, D-Conn., was alone among Connecticut's seven House members in voting for the ban on federally funded abortions when it was considered in the lower chamber Thursday.

Weicker said he would have voted against the compromise plan, which was approved, 47-21.

The measure, part of a $56.6 billion Labor-HEW appropriations bill, was sent to President Ford, who is expected to veto it because it exceeds his budget request by $3.9 billion.

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., voted against the abortion measure, saying "a poor woman is entitled to the same treatment as a rich woman." Critics said the measure would have the effect of denying abortions to the poor who could not afford to pay for them on their own.

Learning something from teacher strikes

It has become a regular rite of autumn - the teacher strike. Across the country, from Manchester, N.H., to Buffalo, N.Y., to Marion, Ill., school systems faced either actual strikes or threatened strikes as students prepared to return to classes. Worst afflicted was Pennsylvania, where some 20 separate strikes involved 4,500 teachers and affected more than 85,000 children.

Planned strikes in other cities, as in Boston, Philadelphia and Tacoma, Wash., were averted at the 11th hour. Eventually all the strikes will be settled and teachers can get down to the business of teaching and their pupils to the business of learning - until next time.

No uninformed outsider is qualified to pass judgment on the merits of any of these disputes, but the fact that the teacher strike has become a routine phenomenon is a matter of concern to all Americans, whether or not they have school-age children. There is no question but that teaching is one of the most demanding of jobs. We note, however, that in the past few years teachers in both public and private schools have won impressive financial gains commensurate with their vital role in society. No longer is the teacher one of the lowest figures on the economic totem pole.

Unfortunately, there is accumulating evidence that higher teacher pay has not been accomplished by higher academic achievement among the nation's youth.

They may not realize it, but the striking teachers are still teaching, even though they may be holding a picket sign outside a school building instead of a textbook in a classroom. They are giving their students an impressive lesson in the power of organization, and of the might of people to get together to bargain collectively with their employer and to withhold their services if necessary.

We wonder how many teachers will take the time later to give their students an equally as impressive lesson in the responsibilities that are the other side of that right.

They might point out, for example, that there is always an interested third party to any labor dispute - the public - and that it is the public that always ultimately foots the bills for the settlement. In the case of a factory strike, it is the taxpayers.

That being true, the public is fully justified in expecting greater value received for the great financial outlay it is called upon to make.

Teachers might also discuss the underlying reason for most strikes today, which is the natural desire of people to keep up with inflation and the rising cost of living. They might usefully explore with their students to what degree this inflation is the result of too many Americans demanding too many benefits from government without being willing to pay for them - again, the imbalance between rights and responsibilities.

The teachers are teaching, but far too often it may be the wrong lesson.

Cyclists beware

To the editor:
With back to school time upon us, we would like to remind all cyclists about safe use of their bicycle on our city streets. The following is a list of safety guidelines for which we all should abide by:

1. Obey all traffic regulations, stop signs, one way streets, red lights, etc.
2. Keep to the right and ride with traffic - NOT against it. Ride single file in a straight line.
3. For night riding a front light is a MUST. Be sure to have a white reflector in the front and a red reflector in the back and reflectorized pedals.
4. Slow down at all intersections.

5. Always give pedestrians the right of way.
6. Watch out for cars pulling into traffic and beware of car doors opening.
7. Do not ride double or carry packages that interfere with vision or control.
8. Always use proper hand signals for turning or stopping.
9. One of the unwritten rules of cycling is whenever and wherever you leave your bike, lock it.
10. These rules have been written for the use of all bikers and mopeds riders. Their continued use will make cycling much safer and more enjoyable for all.

HOW THEY STAND

On youth employment

"Approximately 1.5 to 2 million new job applicants come into the labor market every year and they primarily come from high schools and colleges. The youth unemployment rate is higher than the national average rate for everybody. We have got to expand the economy to absorb that influx. I think the best place to do it is in the private sector where five out of six jobs in our society now exist.

"As a last resort, public employment jobs need to be created similar to the CCC and the WPA during the depression years, particularly for young Americans who have an extremely high unemployment rate - in excess of 40 per cent for black young people."
"No. Quite often they are not part of a family structure. There is no unemployment compensation for them, there is no welfare program when they reach the age of 18. They're forced out into the world with the same economic needs as a 45-year old."

Gut reaction

"Spaghizesthai!" With this first word and this heading it looks as if we were going to discuss the latest disease. We are not. But would that "spaghizesthai" might spread like a disease through the society of our western culture and throughout the whole world? The basic meaning of this strange word is "to be moved with compassion." It is a Greek verb from the noun that means the higher viscera: the heart, the lungs, the liver, and the intestines. The Greeks held these to be the seat of the emotions, especially of anger, of anxiety, of fear, and even of love. Thus this word means more than a passing curiosity about another man's misery but rather a compassion which comes from the very depth of one's being. Perhaps a modern analogy is the person who his chest with his fist and says, "It gets me right here," when he is made aware of some great disaster. It might be called a "gut reaction."

This would appear in the New Testament only in Matthew, Mark and Luke; and except for three occurrences in the parables it is always used of the master who had compassion on the servant who was unable to pay his debt (Matt. 18:23), of the compassion which made the father welcome home to prodigal son (Luke 15:20); and of the compassion which made the good Samaritan help the wounded traveler (Luke 10:33). Whenever Jesus is "moved with compassion" the Gospels tell us why: he saw the crowd like sheep without a shepherd (Mt. 9:36); he saw them hungry and in pain (Mt. 14:14); he saw them sorrowing. When he met the funeral procession of the son of the widow of Nain he was not detached and indifferent. The sorrow of the widow was his own sorrow. Jesus entered into the human situation and was moved by its poignancy to that compassion which compelled him to help and to heal. His reaction was never annoyance, at the inconvenience, or mere toleration, but always pity. Each suffering individual was a soul loved by God. How our world needs "spaghizesthai" today!

The great significance of this word is that to a Greek its use about anyone who was divine would have seemed totally incredible. The Stoics who were the highest thinkers of the age, believed that the essential characteristic of God was "apatheia," which means incapability of feeling. If one person can be affected by another either to joy or sorrow, it means that other person has power over him. Thus, the Greek argued that if man could affect God in any way then the deity was not omnipotent. Jesus revealed God as a compassionate "heavenly Father." The very essence of the Christian idea of God is that God voluntarily chose to feel for and with men. The grim thing about pagan ethics was that the gods taught that man should seek to make himself like

God, and should drive out all emotion and feeling from the mind. Their aim was a life from which all pity and compassion were absent. We think it commonplace that God is love, and that the Christian life should be one of love. We would never have known that without the revelation of Jesus Christ, of whom it is so often recorded that he was "moved with compassion."

"Spaghizesthai" is a word not likely to be used in our everyday conversation but Barclay's analysis of it in his "New Testament Words," from which this paragraph is taken, gives deeper significance to that familiar word LOVE which we use so casually.

Red Cross honored
In the summer issue of "The Red Cross Volunteer" there are two references to what is going on in Manchester. One states that 770 years of volunteer service have been given. What an achievement! The other is a citation of merit from the Northeastern Multiple Sclerosis Society for "distinguished service to our fellow-Americans who suffer with Multiple Sclerosis." We are grateful for the many people in our community who go about quietly "lighting candles in the darkness."

Poem of the week
The world stands out on either side
No wider than the heart is wide;
Above the world is stretched the sky -
No higher than the soul is high.
The heart can push the sea and land
Farther away on either hand;
The soul can split the sky in two,
And let the face of God shine through.
But East and West will pinch the heart
That can not keep them pushed apart,
And he whose soul is flat - the sky
Will cave in on him by and by.

Carter's argument for cuts is sound

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON - I do not plan to join President Ford in figuratively putting Jimmy Carter to the rack for daring to suggest that defense spending be cut by $5- to $7-billion. A Pentagon budget of $104-billion has got to include some frills and waste.

As even Richard Nixon - no enemy of the generals-admirals complex - once remarked: "You can safely say that the budget of any government department or agency at any time is 10 per cent higher than it needs to be." Nixon, of course, did little or nothing to reduce Pentagon spending, but like most recent Presidents he was swayed by political exigencies; it's dangerous for the man in the White House to seem to be endangering the national defense.

Well, let that pass. What is relevant today is that Carter does not buy the proposition that the Pentagon is a sacred cow whose hide must never feel the prod of unkind economists. In doing so, Carter shows his courage. For reasons I could never fathom there is a big bloc of voters that wants more and more defense year after year. It may be a hangover from Cold War days, but these decent and well-meaning people seem to feel it's unpatriotic to buy fewer warplanes, tanks and hand grenades than the Pentagon demands.

Carter is saying to them, in effect, that they'll have to bear with him. Wherever he goes, he reiterates his stand: "I say if we cut the fat and frills and get back to a defense establishment designed to fight, it will be stronger, not weaker." He continues to urge that the U.S. withdraw troops from Western Europe and Korea.

Carter's argument is sound. Thirty-two years after the end of World War II, we still have some 300,000 military bodies in Western Europe. Twenty-three years after the Korean "police action," we are still wet-nursing South Korea with 42,000 troops in that highly militarized country. We are spending more on defense than we can afford, and if we are not careful we'll defend ourselves into bankruptcy.

For today, let's forget our European allies who are determined to let the U.S. defend them into eternity. Consider instead the administration's rationale for keeping American troops in South Korea. It is to butter up Communist China.

That rationale was first enunciated in 1974 by then Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger, a liberal and a hawk, and is still U.S. policy. Our leaders have "discovered" that Peking no longer is "anxious" to see American troops leave Asia; it sees those troops as maintaining a balance of power against Soviet ambitions in the area.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield has called the argument specious. I'd call it crazy. The idea that the beleaguered American consumer, victimized by the highest cost of living since World War II, should finance a buffer force for the Chinese Reds makes seem quite sane.

Of course the United States wants to keep the peace in Asia. But we don't owe the Chinese regime any favors - not yet anyway. Besides, Peking could keep peace in Asia by dropping its policy of forcibly "integrating" South and North Korea. If Moscow is an obstacle to pursuing that policy, it should be Red China's tough luck, not ours.

The cry has gone up from the White House that Jimmy Carter would "desert our allies." Hogwash. Like this housewife in Dubuque eyeing a pot roast in the supermarket, he just wants to get the most defense for the taxpayer's dollar. And if our foreign policy experts have reached the point where they want Americans to pay taxes to protect Red China against the Soviet Union, it's time to call a shrink.

Recollections of Mao Tse-tung

Ray Cromley

WASHINGTON - This is of Mao the man. And of his relationship to Chairman Mao of China and to Mao the Communist.

My knowledge of Mao comes from eight months in the caves of Yenan in World War II before he came to power. I was an American Army officer in contact with Mao and his aides, four months of the time as acting commander of the American military mission there.

Mao, above all was intensely interested in ideas - ideas for putting things into practice - almost disdainful of theory. Time and again he would search out people who knew more about a subject than he and probe their minds.

He was woefully weak in mathematics. And had little understanding of economics, industry or even of agriculture - though he grew up on a farm. His interest was in organization and the relationship of people. He wanted to know how organizations worked - whether armies, governments, political groups, schools or even theaters - and if they could be useful in accomplishing his aims.

Superbly confident, certain of the correctness of this thinking and his actions, he loved to argue with friends, associates and even strangers. But if the arguments turned too philosophical, he would turn away.

He had great faith in self-planned. And in planning. He planned so thoroughly in fact, that after a run of defeats which would have felled another man, he was able to come back with greater strength, time and again.

For himself, he cared little for money, or clothing, or art or

News for senior citizens

Hello everybody. The first bit of news today is about our up and coming shuffleboard tournament. It is scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 25 and 26, right across the street from our center. This marks the second year the Manchester Jaycees have volunteered to run this program, and they will also supply the trophies for the winners.

On Wednesday we had 11 tables for pinocle with the following winners: Martin Bakstan, 623, John Derby, 601; Audrey Durey, 575; John Gally, 568; Robert Schubert, 561; Josephine Schuelz, 558; Mina Reuther, 558; Marjorie McLain, 551; Robina Carroll, 552, and George Laft, 551.

On Thursday a bus load took off for the races, and you will have to wait until next week's column to find out who the winners were. Meanwhile, back here at the center some of the members got in some shuffleboard practice. We have been asked about a trip to see the foliage, and so we have a nice day all worked out, thanks to our good friend Paul Ryan. On Oct. 19, we will take a jaunt up to Massachusetts and New Hampshire where we will be treated to a delicious meal at the Old Mill, and then across the street there is a gift shop that you can browse around in. You'll hopefully see lots of pretty colors as the leaves should be turning by then. This complete package for the trip is $10.00, and we plan on signing up for it on the week of October 4th.

Hawaii trip I might as well take this time to let you know there is still room on the Hawaiian trip, and it is now open to the public. meaning you don't have to be a senior citizen to go along. So time really is running out, and Paul tells me that there are about nine seats left. You'll be flying in a big 747 out of Chicago, which will make the long run to Hawaii more pleasant.

OK, so let's hear about the happenings here at the center. It all starts with the results of the first week action. They are still looking for more people to join, so come on you eager can have a big effect on especially you seniors, we here at the center are working very close with Dr. Alice Turek, the town's health physician. We will be arranging transportation on an hourly basis with our big bus making the routine run, and also we will have wheels available to pick up you folks not on the bus route. Shots will be given from 3 to 8 p.m. We have been told that these shots for the most part will not have any drastic after effects. It's very similar to the shots given last year, and you who look them know it wasn't all that bad. Even if it did hurt a little but, I'm sure it's worth a little discomfort than not having the shot and then catching the flu. We're going to keep you posted from time to time about this swine flu because we feel it is very important to your health, and I for one believe that if the doctors say the flu is dangerous, then you folks and I should get the shot. I'm going to follow orders, and hope you folks all do too. Arrangements are also being made by the public health nurses to give them the shot. So you see, there is really no excuse for any of our seniors not to take the shot. Next Thursday we will be serving our first big meal, and in the afternoon for entertainment we will be showing our first big movie of the Bicentennial Parade, and some of the Round Table Singers, and then we will take a quick trip to Disney World, and Sea World in Florida, and color slides featuring the Disney World's big Bicentennial. Your pilot for the day will be yours truly. We're looking forward to a large turnout to show appreciation to the Jaycees for wanting to hold this tournament for us. If you are interested in participating in this tournament, be sure to sign up on Monday so that we can have time to make up the schedule of play.

Area students high in merit

Two area young women with much in common were both also named National Merit Scholarship contest semi-finalists this week. They are Penelope Sibun, 17, of Rham High School in Hebron and Sheila E. Crowley, of Penney High School in East Hartford.

Both are recipients of the Harvard Book Prize, an award given to the top junior in her high school for best all-around achievement. It is meant to encourage the student to apply to Harvard University.

Both have done well in their studies of languages. Peni received awards in Latin studies and plans to study linguistics in college.

Sheila was named a French Regional Scholar placing fifth in the state National French Contest and seventh in New England. However, in college she plans to pursue studies of biology and biochemistry.

Peni, 17, is now a senior at RHAM and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Sibun of East St. Penney High School is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald P. Crowley of 84 Northfield Dr., East Hartford. She is a senior at the George J. Penney High School where she is co-editor of the yearbook, a member of the French Club, and on the girl's track team.

Peni is a Sunday school teacher at her church and worked for the Hebron Bicentennial Commission and the Hebron Historical Society.

Sheila, 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald P. Crowley of 84 Northfield Dr., East Hartford. She is a senior at the George J. Penney High School where she is co-editor of the yearbook, a member of the French Club, and on the girl's track team.

Both women hope to study at Harvard, possibly Yale. Peni will specialize in linguistics. Sheila will major in the sciences. Their hobbies are very different.

Penelope loves to read and to act. Sheila enjoys macramé and weaving as well as the piano.

Mike helps the peach festival

Michael Haugh, 4, son of Correnda and John Haugh of Tinker Pond Rd., Bolton, offers to help his grandmother, Mrs. Lena Morra, also of Tinker Pond Rd., as she prepares for the Bolton Volunteer Fire Department Auxiliary peach festival to be tonight at the firehouse on Notch Rd. It starts at 5 p.m. Morra is chairman of the event. Proceeds aid the equipment fund of the department. (Herald photo by Barlow)

Auxiliary raffling to goal

The Jones-Keefe-Batson Unit 95 American Legion Auxiliary is on the last phase of its Honor Roll Bicentennial Project by conducting a raffish. Prizes are listed as a stereo, an Afghan and a coffee carafe.

The drawing will be held Oct. 30 at 10 p.m. during the joint installation of officers at the Legion Hall on Rt. 66.

It is hoped that 1,000 books of tickets will be sold to raise funds for the project. Members are urged to return ticket stubs and money by Oct. 25. More books are available if members run out.

Board member vote set

Hebron KAREN BISKUPIAK The Board of Selectmen set Monday, Nov. 15 for the referendum on a reapportionment plan for Regional District 8 Board of Education.

A study committee Tuesday sought the referendum, following state approval, to comply with the court-ordered one-man-one-vote ruling.

The proposal would allow the town of Andover three representatives, Marlborough four, and Hebron five. There are now three members from each town despite population differences.

The change will also include a change in the terms of office from three to four years. This change will bring the terms in compliance with state statutes.

Public hearings on the plan are Nov. 8 in Hebron, Nov. 9 in Marlborough, and Nov. 10 in Andover.

The selectmen noted the polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. as mandated by local ordinance.

Mayor hopes for Arts Commission

By a resolution next Tuesday night Mayor Thomas Benoit will ask the Town Council to approve the formation of a Fine Arts Commission and then approve 10 members to serve on it.

When the town was considering the theater building on School St. last winter the need for such a commission was discussed.

The mayor said the group could coordinate dates for use of town facilities such as the schools and the Lottie Fish Building.

He said it could also be instrumental in forming various types of outdoor activities such as concerts and art shows and also work with the Tri-Town Players.

Samuel Goldfarb, music supervisor in the Vernon school system, will be named to head the commission. Its members will represent such groups as the clergy, the Recreation Commission, Art Association, Friends of Music, the players' group, and two high school students.

McCoys said he will organize an energetic campaign to elect Campbell. He said Campbell is "eminently qualified for the position by reason of his many years of experience in local government."

He said Campbell understands state and local issues, has consistently supported fiscal responsibility to the benefit of the taxpayers, has experience in private industry and a record for hard work as a representative of the people of Vernon.

Campbell is running against Democratic candidate Chester Morgan.

Campbell has served several terms on the Town Council as well as the Board of Education.

McCoys said, "It is extremely important that Vernon Campbell be elected so that the people of Vernon will be fully and genuinely represented at the Capitol.

"At a time when suburban towns are being damaged by lax zoning, coercion, and harassment by the big-city Democratic machines, we need suburban representatives such as Morgan Campbell whose decisions will not be influenced by party loyalties and political pressures."

Productions of New York City, will be present.

The theme of the show will be, "R.C. For Seventy-Six. Love, P.R.N." Tickets may be purchased by contacting Carolyn Schwartz, 35 Carriage Dr., Tolland. They are $5.

Anyone wishing for tickets should indicate whether they want to go to the Oct. 15 or 16 performance.

The auxiliary uses the proceeds from the show to buy needed equipment for the hospital.

Obituaries

George H. Koon, 92, formerly of Coburn Rd., died Thursday at a Manchester convalescent home. He was a husband of the late Kathie Mae Koon. Mr. Koon was born in Onarga, Ill., and lived in Manchester for many years before moving to California nearly 20 years ago. He had recently returned to Manchester. Survivors are 2 daughters, Mrs. Alfred W. Cavedon of South Windsor and Mrs. C.K. Grant of Dayton, Ohio; 4 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren. The funeral and burial will be private. Holmes Funeral Home, 400 Main St., is in charge of arrangements. There are no calling hours. The family suggests that any memorial gifts may be made to the Heart Association of Greater Hartford, 310 Collins St., Hartford.

Mrs. Marion S. Alvord Mrs. Marion S. Alvord, 88, of 102 Hawthorne St. died Friday at Manchester Memorial Hospital. She was the widow of Harold C. Alvord, who at the time of his death in 1948 was president of the former Manchester Trust Co., which later was merged into the Connecticut Bank and Trust. Mrs. Alvord was born Sept. 17, 1888 in Manchester, daughter of the late Walter and Edith Abbott Saunders, and had lived here all her life. She attended Center Congregational Church and was a member of Orford Parish Chapter, D.A.R. Survivors are two sons, John S. Alvord of Manchester and Robert C. Alvord of Oradell, N.J.; five grandsons and a granddaughter. The Watkins Funeral Home, 142 E. Center St., is in charge of arrangements, which are incomplete.

In Memoriam In loving memory of Herbert Dentally, who passed away September 18, 1976. It doesn't take a special day, to bring me out and see you. The days we do not think of you, are very hard to find. Love, Larry and Family

Bakery owner charged with maintaining unsanitary conditions

The owner of the Parkade Bakery has been served a warrant charging him with maintaining unsanitary conditions at the bakery and ordering him to appear Oct. 4 in the Court of Common Pleas at East Hartford. Harold Greenbaum, 51, of 89 Shallowbrook Lane, went to the police station Friday to accept service of the warrant obtained by Consumer Protection Commissioner Mary M. Heslin. He is charged with violation of the state Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act. The charges were lodged after inspections at the bakery June 24, July 14, and July 22, and Aug. 17, according to the Consumer Protection Department. The department held a hearing with Greenbaum Aug. 9 at which the results of the previous

Area police report

Andover Gloria Vining, 42, of North Windham suffered minor neck injuries in a trailer truck-car collision Friday at 11:45 a.m. on Rt. 6. The truck was driven by George Hillenbrand, 36, of Catskill, N.Y. who swerved into the left lane and she, unable to avoid in time, struck the rear of the truck. She was taken by Windham Memorial Hospital where she was treated and released. No police action was taken. Bolton Both Gloria Russell, 22, of Hemlock Rd., Coventry and Gail Laszinski, 21, of Storrs were taken to Manchester Memorial Hospital with minor bruises and cuts after their cars collided on Rt. 44 in Bolton Friday at 8:15 a.m., state police said. The Laszinski car had slid on the wet pavement and was struck by the Russell car following it. No police action was taken.

Church of Christ noting anniversary

Sunday will mark the observance of the 15th anniversary of the Church of Christ, Lydall and Vernon Sts. It will also be the closing day of a special evangelistic series which began Monday. Jim Ponder, guest evangelist from Murfreesboro, Tenn., will speak at the 10 a.m. worship hour on the theme "My Yoke is Easy, My Burden is Light." At noon, there will be a basket dinner on the church lawn, weather permitting, or in the fellowship room. An old-fashioned hymn sing will begin at 2:30, with visitors expected from many area congregations.

Church School classes will resume at Emanuel

Church School classes for all ages resume Sunday at 9:45 a.m. at Emanuel Lutheran Church, under the supervision of Mrs. Judy Torstenon, coordinator of Christian education. The teachers of the various classes are: Mrs. Laurie Gaskill and Miss Sandi Gustafson, three year olds; Mrs. Barbara Bowman, Mrs. Barbara Bus, four year olds; Mrs. Siste Sigmund, Miss Darlene Hack, five year olds; Mrs. Sharon Hamilton, Mrs. Madeline Peterson, Grade 1; Mrs. Marlene Christensen, Mrs. Denise Carter, Grade 2; Mrs. Joan Bourque, Mrs. Linda McGeahan, Grade 3; Mrs. Nancy Fournier, Miss Cynthia Hultgren, Grade 4; Mrs. Lynne Gustafson, Miss Debbie

Drinking water quality source of complaints

Six Manchester residents complained about their drinking water at Thursday night's Board of Directors meeting. The people said their water is smelly and murky. It was tested, but they were not told of the results, they said. The six people said storm basins in their area haven't been cleaned recently. They are serviced by the Porter Reservoir. A man complained that a medical building at the corner of Washington and Main Sts. has overflow parking. Many of the cars park on the neighborhood streets, he said. He also said that Arthur's Fine Foods has a zoning variance that allows for existing only onto Foster St. Cars are exiting onto Center St. from the lot. (Alan Lamson of the Planning Office said that the variance in question dates back to 1969, when A&P owned the building. The variance allowed for the owners to use Foster St. for an exit only. There is no restriction, however, against cars also exiting onto Center St.) Another man said that there is excessive truck traffic on Parker St. between Middle Pike and Woodbridge St. He said that "No Thru Truck" signs should be posted. Another man said that the refuse collector is throwing newspapers into his garbage truck.

Police report

Manchester Ronald L. Bowers, 19, of 117E Tudor Lane was arrested Friday at 7:28 p.m. at the Sears store in the Parkade by security guards and police charged him with third-degree larceny, forgery, criminal impersonation, and illegal use of a credit card. He allegedly attempted to purchase items with a card that had been reported stolen. He was released on a $1,000 non-surety bond for appearance in Common Pleas Court 12 in East Hartford Oct. 4. Kevin R. Carney, of 242 Oak St., South Windsor was arrested today at 5:27 a.m. at 465 N. Main St. and charged with breach of peace. He allegedly would not cooperate with police efforts to locate his missing motorcycle. Court is Oct. 11. Michael C. Brainard, 32, of 52 Bissell St. was arrested Friday at 1:50 a.m. on a court warrant charged with breach of peace in connection with a domestic dispute. Court is Oct. 5. Kenneth B. Langille, 18, of Rt. 31, Coventry was arrested Friday at 11 a.m. on a court warrant charging him with conspiracy to commit third-degree burglary and fourth-degree larceny. Langille allegedly was involved in a July 26 break into an apartment where $12 was stolen with the help of a 12-year-old boy, police said. He was released on a $2,000 surety bond for court Sept. 27. The boy, arrested earlier this month, has been referred to Juvenile Court. About $1,000 worth of insulation and copper pipe was stolen Thursday night from the house at 57 Spring St. now under construction by Leo A. Girard of Bloomfield. Wires and pipes were struck up throughout the house. A 14-year-old Manchester girl, upset over just breaking up with her 16-year-old boyfriend, walked up to the I-84 bridge over the Mt. Nebo to Charter Oak Park walkway Friday evening. She was crying, police were told. She then fell from the bridge onto a grass area, witnesses told police, although whether she caused the fall herself is not clear. She was then transported unconscious to Manchester Memorial Hospital where she was treated for a broken wrist. She appeared to have been drinking, police said. She was later transferred to St. Francis Hospital in Hartford at the request of her family physician. Fireworks were set off Friday at 6:55 p.m. near the railroad tracks off Homestead St. by two boys age 12 and 14, police said. They had bought the fireworks from a 12-year-old girl who had gotten them from her brother, police said. They had originally been purchased in Tennessee. The parents of both boys were not at home when police sought to speak to them about the incident.

About town

The Lutz Junior Museum will be open to the public Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. John Haberern will be hosts. The Hockanum River Linear Park Committee will sponsor a walk along the river Sunday starting at 1 a.m. from Robertson School on N. School St. Also, Rodney Andersen, Leonard Hokanson, James Reiter, Grade 7; Mrs. Gloria Kjellson, George Bourque, Grade 8; Miss Jennie Jones, covering various subjects of interest. Tomorrow, Miss Jones will talk on the seminary life and there will be a question and answer period. The fall schedule of worship has started, with worship service at 8:30 and 11 a.m. Children are encouraged to attend worship with parents, and just before the sermon, they will be escorted to the chapel where a children's service will be conducted. Children of the area who do not have a church home are invited to enroll in the church school.

Smith in 10th spot Ron "Red" Smith, one of a number of top-flight New England golfers who passed up playing in the Manchester Open last Monday, grabbed the 10th place in the New England Open this week staged at Danvers, Mass. Smith is the head pro at Kennebunkport, Maine. Members of this fall's East Catholic High varsity football squad hail from 16 different communities. Home towns are East Hartford, South Windsor, Marlborough, Vernon, Hartford, East Windsor, Andover, Manchester, Rockville, Tolland, Somers, Coventry, Glastonbury, Bolton and Hebron. Ten of the 46 youngsters reside in Manchester. Sandy Hamm, a reserve infielder, compiled a .091 batting average with the Connecticut Falcons in the Women's Professional Softball League. The former Manchester High faculty member had one hit in 11 official at bats. Vin Fandetti, long distance running chairman for the AAU in Connecticut, reports Dan McDavid, who won the Bicentennial Relays' Six Mile Road Race here last summer, placed 4th in a field of 60 in the Olympic marathon in 2:27.07. Fandetti points out that Amy Burfoot, who trailed McDavid here, had a 2:27.56 clocking in the Boston Marathon last April. "At Montreal," Fandetti said, "it rained, and that is the best weather for a marathon, since it maintains a safe body temperature. In summary, all runners who ran Boston and the Olympic marathon, improved their times by three minutes. Thus, Burfoot's time would have been 2:24, or three minutes faster than McDavid. Amy can still run with the best in the world!"

Whalers to start New England Whalers will launch pre-season drills Monday at the Glastonbury Arena. Thirty five players are slated to report at 1 o'clock. Starting Tuesday, the squad will work under coach Harry Neale in the arena. The team will play 12-30 and start a third season at 4 or 4:30. Wendy Ehrlich, women's club champion at Ellington Ridge, set a course record for the late set at the Glastonbury Country Club Monday with a two under par 33-38-71 score. Hartford Civic Center will carry the closed circuit telecast of the Mahamud Ali-Ken Norton 15-round heavyweight title fight from Yankee Stadium on Sept. 28. Popular Don Blackburn will concentrate on scouting talent for the Whalers in his new capacity. The former NHL and WHA standout and Whaler coach is one of the best liked guys on the circuit. Mark Kravitz' Quality Inn in Talcottville will again serve as training camp headquarters for the Whalers. Lynn Prior, publicist for the Women's Division at the Manchester Country Club, is happy with a recent 84 round. "My aim is to break 80," she said. Age no barrier for Luis, Yaz

DETROIT (UPI) — Luis Tiant says age doesn't matter. He and Carl Yastrzemski proved it. Tiant, 35, won his 15th game of the season Friday night, 8-3 over the Detroit Tigers. Carl Yastrzemski, 37, in his 16th major league season for the Boston Red Sox, played a vital role in the victory. Yastrzemski drove in a pair of runs off Mark Fidrych that put him 31st on the all-time list of run-producing major league players with 1,334, one ahead of Duke Snider. Phillies continue skid, Pittsburgh closing gap

NEW YORK (UPI) — With 16 games remaining, the National League East pennant race is closer than it has been in several months — thanks to Pittsburgh's concerted drive and Philadelphia's sustained slump. Philadelphia star reliever Tom McGraw, who pitched three hitless innings Friday, declared: "We're doing it to ourselves. If we knew why, we'd stop it." The skidding Phillies now have lost three straight games and 18 of their last 23. Philadelphia's undoing came with one out in the 12th when shortstop Larry Bowa dropped a pop fly by Chicago pinch-hitter John Summers for an error. The Cubs loaded the bases on an intentional walk to Joe Wallis and another pass to Pete LaCock before Jerry Morales slashed a two-out ground single into left field to score Summers and win the game. Meanwhile, in New York, Doc Medich got clutch relief help from Dave Giusti and a pair of RBIs from Frank Taveras to lead Pittsburgh over New York, Medich hurled 7 1/3 innings, allowing six hits and one run.

bombed St. Louis 9-5 and Atlanta split with Los Angeles, winning 1-0 in 12 innings before losing 1-7. Houston and San Diego were idle. Giants 4, Reds 2 Randy Oufitt bailed out Jim Barr with one out in the eighth inning by cutting short a Cincinnati rally to preserve a San Francisco victory. Moffitt, taking over with runners on second and third, allowed George Foster a sacrifice fly but then induced Cesar Geronimo to fly out. Pete Rose got his 300th hit for the eighth time in 14 years. Expos 9, Cardinals 5 Rookie Andre Dawson and veteran Wayne Garrett each drove in two runs as Montreal defeated St. Louis. Dawson's first major league triple put the Expos ahead 5-2 and he scored what proved to be the winning run in a single by Gary Carter. Garrett added a two-run homer. Braves 1-7, Dodgers 0-11 In the opener, Tom Paciorek scored from third base on a passed ball by Los Angeles catcher Ellie Rodriguez with one out in the 12th as Atlanta won the first game of a two-night doubleheader. In the nightcap, Ted Stiemore batted in five runs and Steve Garvey went three-for-three as the Dodgers gained a split.

Sad night for Aaron who hangs up spikes

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Henry Aaron had one of his greatest moments Friday night but it was also "one of the saddest times" in his life. Aaron, the man who broke Babe Ruth's home run marks, was honored by baseball greats and officials before a crowd of more than 40,000 in Milwaukee County Stadium where he began his career 23 years ago. "This is the end for me," Aaron said. "That was greeted by shouts of 'no,'" from the fans. "This is probably one of the saddest times in my life," said Aaron. There are a few more games for Aaron and the Milwaukee Brewers this season but the Salute to Henry Aaron Night was a fitting end to the Milwaukee County Stadium career that came before a game with the New York Yankees. "Your achievements are unique. I can say you have made a major contribution to our game," said Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn. "There will never be anyone else like you." Kuhn, who was greeted by scattered boos when introduced, was one of several top baseball officials on hand to honor Aaron. They included Warren Giles, former president of the National League, and Bob Fishel, representing American League president Lee MacPhail. Jack Ford, the President's son, represented his father and presented Aaron with a pewter cup from the President. The ceremonies started with a two minute standing ovation from the fans who had impatiently waited an extra 30 minutes for the start of the program. "Thank you very much," Aaron tried to say. But the crowd clapped and cheered even louder and he smiled and cried again. "Thank you, I would like to go," he said, but he was drowned out again by the joyous crowd. When he finally was able to speak, he thanked the fans for "doing so much for me. I would like to say I've been extremely lucky in baseball." Also on hand were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Aaron, his wife Billye, and several of his children, including Henry Aaron Jr. A number of past Milwaukee Braves' teammates like Warren Spahn, Eddie Mathews, Johnny Logan and Billy Braton were there, along with other baseball greats like Willie Mays and Mickey Mantle. Milwaukee Brewer first baseman George Scott, who homered in the bottom of the first inning, is perhaps Brett figure up. He was bothered by his statistics posted on the ball park scoreboard.

Brett was perfectly satisfied with his batting average, .334, second in the A.L. to teammate Hal McRae, but he was disturbed that he only had 60 RBIs for the season. "My first time up I looked at the scoreboard and saw I only had 60 RBIs," said Brett. "I thought, 'I bet I know I better get my act in gear.'" Brett went out and drove in three runs to back the seven-hit pitching of Dennis Leonard and lead the Royals to a 3-2 win over the Kansas City Royals Friday night, giving Kansas City its third victory in its last four games. "The victory, combined with Oakland's 4-3 loss to Texas, increased the Royals lead to 5½ games in the West." The Royals have now won six of their last 10 games after dropping nine of their previous 10. "We were in a slump but we were never choking," said Brett. "You never saw our guys make mental mistakes and taking three strikes. We're not going to change our style, we know how we did the first 120 games and where that got us." "We believe in ourselves and know that we're the best team in the American League. We've played aggressively all year and we're going to keep it up." In other games, New York topped Milwaukee 5-3 in 11 innings. Boston downed Detroit 8-3. Minnesota trounced California 11-2 and Baltimore at Cleveland was rained out.

Sports briefs

Joyce wins MERIDEN (UPI) — A two-hit shutout by pitcher Joan Joyce led the Connecticut Falcons to a 3-0 victory Friday over the San Jose Suburbs in the first game of the Women's Professional Softball World Series. The second game of the best-of-seven series will be played tonight at Falcon Field. Joyce struck out 19 batters. Bobby traded NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Guard Henry Bibby of the New Orleans Jazz was traded to the Philadelphia 76ers Friday for an undisclosed amount of cash. Barry Mendelson, Jazz vice president, announced the trade. He said Bibby had his best season in the pro ranks with New Orleans last year. He averaged 9.3 points and was the team's fifth highest scorer. Twins 11, Angels 2 Larry Hille belted a two-run homer in the second inning and Dar Ford contributed a two-run single in a four-run Minnesota seventh as the Twins routed California

Case for lowering the CB age limit

By INK DIPPER

There is a movement afoot to have the Federal Communications Commission change its rules to permit young people under 18 years of age to obtain a license to operate a Citizens Band radio.

At this writing young operators must be a member of a family in which there is a license issued to someone 18 or older. However, there have been so many instances where proficient operators younger than 18 have performed "heroic" roles that the hue and cry for licensing is being raised.

"CB is for everyone," goes the battle cry.

Earthquake benefit

Anthony Squillacote Jr., known professionally as Anthony Scotti and formerly of Manchester, will be joined by his wife Carol Toscano in vocal solos and duets in Al Gentile's Italian-American Revue to be presented Sunday at the Oakdale Theatre in Wallingford.

The proceeds from the show will benefit the Venetian Earthquake Relief Inc. For information and reservations, call 800-382-0582.

Dinner theaters

The Pine-Brook Dinner Theatre in Higganum (Exit 9 on Rt. 9) is offering "Godspell" tonight and Sunday. Beginning Tuesday and playing through Oct. 17 is "Man of LaMancha," the musical which began its long stage run at Goodspeed Opera House in East Haddam.

Chateau de Ville Dinner Theatre in East Windsor is presenting "Bottoms Up," a musical comedy revue, through Sept. 26.

"The Pajama Game," a musical comedy, continues at Coachlight Dinner Theatre in East Windsor through Oct. 6.

"Godspell" will be held over at the Pine-Brook Dinner Theatre in Higganum through Sept. 26. "Camelot" will open at Pine-Brook on Sept. 28. The dinner theater will be decorated to suggest the atmosphere of King Arthur's Court, and the restaurant and box office staff will be dressed in medieval costumes.

'Annie' at Goodspeed

The world premiere of "Annie," a musical comedy based on the cartoon strip Orphan Annie, is playing at Goodspeed Opera House in East Haddam through Sept. 26.

For reservations, call 873-8668.

Music workshop

Classical guitarist and luteist Morris Mizrahi will present a free workshop and a separate free concert at Southern Connecticut State College during his two-day visit to the campus in New Haven next week. The workshop is Wednesday from 2 to 3 p.m. in Earl Hall 156. The concert of guitar and lute music will be Thursday at 8 p.m. in Engleman 115. Both events are open to the public.

Gene Mallick, prominent Washington FCC attorney, says: "The movement has two thrusts. The first is that CBing has become a hobby with many younger people and they feel they have a right to have a license in their own identity. Secondly, it has become widely-known at the Commission that younger people are operating units, even when there isn't a license in their family and the feeling developing at the FCC is that it would be better to permit them to be licensed in their own name."

The popular song, "Teddy Bear," written by a veteran trucker and CBER Dale Royal and recorded by Red Sovine, tells the story of a crippled boy in his earliest teens who talks with truckers on his home CB unit. The recording has sold over a million copies.

Don Stewart, known to many as Michael Bauer on television's "The Guiding Light," stars in "The Pajama Game" at the Coachlight Dinner Theatre in East Windsor.

Broadway series

Six Broadway productions reinaugurate the Broadway season of musicals and plays at the Bushnell Memorial Hall in Hartford. The following shows will be presented:

- Nov. 3 - "Raisin."
- Dec. 14 - "Shenandoah."
- Jan. 1 - "Sherlock Holmes."
- Jan. 31 - "West Side Story."
- March 5 - "The Music Man."
- April 9 - "The Belle of Amherst" with Julie Harris.

For free brochures, call 527-3123.

Fiedler and pops

Arthur Fiedler and the full Boston Pops Orchestra will make their third appearance in less than two years in the Springfield Civic Center in Springfield, Mass., on Sept. 26. Special guest artists will be the piano team of Ferrante and Teicher.

For information and reservations, call 413-781-7080.

Country dance

The Gallery Dancers will sponsor an evening of English Country Dance Friday at 7:30 p.m. at Foot Prints Gallery, 466

Main St. The group holds a country dance session every second and fourth Friday of the month at Foot Prints. For specific information, call Frank Van Cleef at 649-9208.

Art events

"A Whaling Portfolio," an exhibit of marine paintings depicting the adventure of whaling aboard the 19th century whaleship Charles W. Morgan opens Monday and continues through Dec. 31, in the R.J. Schaefer Building at Mystic Seaport, Mystic.

The exhibit contains 12 paintings by Charles Lundgren and 32 sketches by Mel Crawford. The artists will discuss their paintings at the opening.

Among the lecture series for the public at Wadsworth Athenium in Hartford are "Take Ten at Twelve Noon," a series of 10 to 15-minute talks on objects in the Athenium collections, available without charge (included in museum admission) Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays at noon throughout most of the year.

Also at the Wadsworth Athenium, "Sounding Sculptures by Francois and Bernard Basset," musical sculptures designed to produce sounds are in the Lions Gallery of the Senses through Nov. 28.

Over 1,000 pieces of American and European glass selected from the Athenium's collection will be in the Austin Gallery Sept. 30 through Nov. 7.

The Peruvian exhibit and a special lithograph display will continue through September.

A display of about 100 prints from "The Esmark Collection of Currier & Ives" is being presented at the William Benton Museum of Art, University of Connecticut in Storrs through Oct. 17. The exhibit is free.

Weekend

Weekend, an entertainment and television supplement, is published each Saturday by The Manchester Evening Herald, Herald Square, Manchester, Conn. 06040. Deadline for Forum of the Arts: Eight days before publication. Advertising deadline: Five days before publication.

Ask Kleiner

By Dick Kleiner

DEAR DICK: It seems to me that many actors on Broadway and in Hollywood films and TV for some reason change their names. Tony Curtis' real name was Bernard Schwartz. I see nothing wrong with Schwartz as a surname, so why do they do this? H. POWELL, Vancouver, B.C., Can. They used to do it much more than they do today. It used to be thought bad to have anything but an Anglo-Saxon surname, but today, happily, anything goes.

DEAR DICK: My son and I have a bet. He says George Fenneman, who used to be Groucho Marx' announcer, is living and I say he is deceased. Could you give us the answer? M.M., Fort Collins, Colo. Sonny boy knows. Fenneman is alive, healthy and working hard.

DEAR DICK: My friend and I are super good fans of Starsky and Hutch. We were wondering if the Starsky and Hutch show will be taken off the air in the fall. If so, why? DENISE MILLER AND MISSY NIBERT, Brush Valley, Pa. Starsky and Hutch was (and is) a hit, so it will be back next year, just as thrilling as ever.

DEAR DICK: Could you please tell me the name of the man whose voice is the scrub brush on the cleanser commercials, that goes down the drain saying, "We do all the work so you don't have to-o-o-o." Also, who played the next door neighbor with the nervous laugh on the old life of Riley series starring William Bendis? BETTY J. DUNN, Chester, Ark. The scrub brush is played, and neatly, too, by ventriloquist Paul Winchell. Your second question refers, I believe, to Tom D'Andrea, who was Gillis on that show.

DEAR DICK: Could you please tell me where I can get a copy of the poem that Glynnis O'Connor said in "Ode to Billy Joe." I don't mean the theme song. BILLIE NIDAY, Troy, Ohio. That poem, which was especially written for the film, is included on the Warner Bros. soundtrack album of the movie.

DEAR DICK: My question has been bothering me for quite a while. Are Anson Williams of Happy Days and Cindy Williams of Laverne and Shirley related? DAVID LEWIS, Welland, Ont., Can. No.

DEAR DICK: For months now, a friend at work and I have been trying to remember the name of an actor in a particular episode of Columbo about an American and Russian chess player. The American murdered the Russian. JUDITH W. COHEN, Birchrunville, Pa. That was a very good Columbo, and the actor who played the American was the late Laurence Harvey.

DEAR DICK: You recently had a question from a reader about Louise Massey and the Westerners, and you could find no location for her. This note is to let you know that Louise Massey lives in Roswell, New Mexico, on a ranch. THELMA SIGLER, Orange, Ca. Thank you.

NOTE: Many readers have written in to request the address of the Samuel French firm, which sells scripts of certain Norman Lear-produced shows. The address is: Samuel French, Inc., 7623 Sunset Blvd., Los Angeles, Ca. 90046.

OCEANS

COURSES BY NEWSPAPER

Writers at sea

This is the second of 16 weekly articles in the Courses by Newspaper program, "Oceans: Our Continuing Frontier," published in The Herald's Weekend magazine each Saturday. The course is offered for college credit by Manchester Community College. For details about this and future Courses by Newspaper, call MCC's Division of Community Services, 646-2137.

By GEORGE P. ELLIOTT

Poems about the sea — of these there will surely never be an end so long as there are poets and the sea. But the day of the great sea stories may well be over, at least for a long time, at least in the English-speaking world.

One reason for this is the accomplishments of the literary giants Herman Melville and Joseph Conrad. Not many storytellers are incautious enough to enter what is a narrowly defined genre after its possibilities have been explored so splendidly, so exhaustively.

Sea-experience was handsomely suited for treatment by romantic realism, the dominant role in 19th Century fiction, but since Conrad that mode has been eclipsed almost entirely, and with it has waned the sea-tale.

Another reason for this decline is a change in the relations of a seaman to the sea and to shipboard society.

Technology and labor unions have so drastically altered these relations from what they were a century or even half a century ago, have so depersonalized life at sea, that the sense of immediate moral, symbolic conflict identical with or inextricable from sailing a ship has been much weakened. Not a great loss to literature, granted the fine stories we already have, but a real one.

What has the sea traditionally meant to novelists and poets throughout the centuries? Just as the sea is one of the great natural givens of human existence, so it has permeated literature.

Sometimes the sea appears as a far-off power to be referred to in a passing metaphor, sometimes as the occasion of a poem or the scene of a story, sometimes as a central presence dominating the human characters of the drama.

The mystery of the sea

Perhaps the sea is even more important in literature than in life because it is the strongest of natural symbols. Land and sky, too, are unimaginably vast and powerful.

But man is intimately connected with the land all his life; he can know and be at home on the land as he can never know or be at home on the sea, which retains its mystery — its otherness — no matter how long he lives on or by it. And the sky is so remote that man can never know it with that richness of sensory, emotional, economic, philosophical, religious experience with which he knows the sea. You can see a few of the things of the sky, but for the most part your knowledge of it is intellectual, thin, remote like the sky itself.

No matter how much you love it, it will not return your love.

But the sea you can know in many and intimate ways, on your skin, in your muscles, down into your inmost being and also into those "oceanic" states of mind you share with all mankind. Nevertheless, it always remains alien and potentially dangerous.

You do not forget, when you are at sea even in calm weather, that you are there as a wary visitor, not as a native. No matter how much you love it, it will not return your love. And still, to know it well can be to learn things about the world and yourself you could learn in no other way, above all about necessity. So we learn from the greatest sea writers, Homer, Melville, and Conrad.

Supreme though these three are, many other writers have dealt with the sea, in a fine variety of ways that need to be mentioned here.

Most simply, there are reports of voyages, battles, and explorations; but by and large they are so straightforward and plain that they rarely ascend above the foothills of literature.

A divine presence

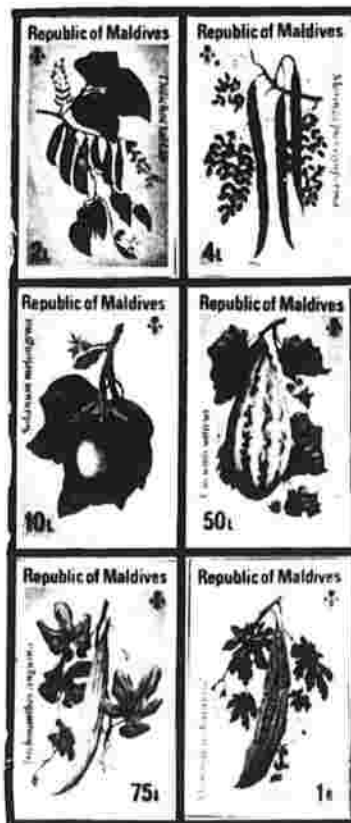

Far more complexly, poets have used the sea as an overpowering, even divine presence, the meaning of which is liable to change at any moment — like the Greeks' shape-shifter of a sea-god, Proteus.

There are fantastic sea voyages that are also a kind of spiritual exploration; of these, none can compare with Samuel Taylor Coleridge's "The Rime of the Ancient Mariner." Sometimes the poet imagines himself on the shore, saying the far-ranging thoughts and larger-than-self feelings generated in him by the sea, as Matthew Arnold does in "Dover Beach." John Synge used the sea as the dominant presence in his lovely Irish play, "Riders to the Sea" (1904), and so did an old Scottish poet in the lamenting ballad of "Sir Patrick Spens."

In our own day no poet in English uses the sea more effectively than the American Philip Booth. In several of his meditative lyrics, the poet puts himself into complex connection with the sea along the coast of Maine, whether in fear or in reverence, whether the meaning he finds in it comes from the experience of sailing or from symbolic projection.

Maldives' cornucopia of vegetables

By RUSS MacKENDRICK

Here is a showy collection of vegetables-on-stamps from the Republic of Maldives. The common names are not given — just the Latin — such as Dolichos lablab and Moringa pterygosperma. Diligent research has unearthed an easier terminology.

Starting over (in order of value): hyacinth bean, horseradish tree, eggplant, their idea of a cucumber, snake gourd, and balsam pear. This last one goes into some of their fire-breathing curries and is also used for liniments and poultices. A tight cough might be steamed away with a Mormordica charantia plaster instead of a plain old mustard one.

The Maldives are many — over a thousand islands and atolls straddling the Equator. The total population is less than 130,000, but they have been a member of the UN since 1965 and a republic since 1968. They have an amazing literacy level of 90 per cent. Previously they were a Moslem sultanate (their flag is red with a green rectangle and a crescent moon), and away back, a British colony.

Their nearest neighbor and best customer is Sri Lanka (Ceylon). Typically, a Maldivian ship sets out for the port of Colombo with a load of preserved fish and coconut products. Other "exports" (these for U.S. crossword puzzle fans) are the words Addu Atoll and baggala (a sailing vessel).

Stamps and coins

They put out nice-looking stamps but investment people would say "wall-paper," as they seem to just lie there, pricewise, year after year. Actually only the first set, the 1906 Ceylon overprints, has any great value.

The production was scattering until 1960 — but something every year since then. In 1975 they had an issue showing a guava, a mulberry, mountain apple, bananas, mangoes, pomegranates, and coconuts — and now, this cornucopia of vegetables.

(After all this horticulture talk, Frank Atwood should feel free to retaliate with a dissertation on the Omaha stamp issue of 1898 or whatever).

Spend bills

Ask for two-dollar bills to help get them going. A fresh-guy columnist has referred to them as Edsels, turkeys, and Jonahs — all in one breath. It has been said that two-thirds of those accepted have been squirreled away. First-day stamp cancellations took care of a few. So spend two-dollar bills like mad to make the government guessers turn out right, at least on this.

Painted stamps

A block of Canadian 6-cent stamps, issued plain, and worth peanuts, were daubed with fluorescent paint to make them a "hibrite" rarity, and eventually sold for $1,000. The last buyer appealed to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Counterfeit Section, who thereupon pooh-poohed the whole thing, saying that they were still stamps and valid for postage and who cares? The buyer did get his money back from the dealer after a hassle. The dealer is still grouching because he feels that the RCMP report proved that the stamps are philatelically genuine, whatever their history.

Something to do

At Plainville High School, Walnut St., tomorrow: the PLAIN-PEX 1976. There will be exhibits, a souvenir card, a dealers' bourse, and refreshments. Also a USPS substation, a UN booth with a special imprint stamp, and door prizes. Gerry Gerath of the East Hartford "First Sunday" affairs is the chairman. There will be a Connecticut Philatelic Society meeting — promised to be mercifully short.

And another one tomorrow — the Third Sunday Stamp and Coin Show starting up. It will be at the American Legion Hall, Grassy Hill Road, Orange, Connecticut.
