Manchester problems, solutions aired at Town Meeting '76

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

For most people, a Saturday afternoon in the fall means heading to the local football game or raking leaves in the front yard. But for over 270 people, last Saturday meant spending the day discussing the problems Manchester faces and developing possible cures to those troubles.

Town Meeting '76, held at Manchester High School on Saturday, was a day-long forum where people could voice their opinions on what they feel is wrong with the town, and then work together to solve the problems they had mentioned.

And the people did come. A total of 272 had registered as of 4 p.m., and a few more filtered in after that, even though there was only an hour left in the program. Alan Lamson, a coordinator for the program, was pleased with the crowd. He said that he had been hoping for a turnout of 200 people.

Those who did come were a varied group. There were plenty of representatives from local organizations, but there were also town officials, young married couples, and a heavy sprinkling of senior citizens.

The participants in Town Meeting '76 divided into three workshops for the morning session. Each group followed a detailed step-by-step procedure to describe problems facing Manchester residents today.

American Jews observe Yom Kippur today

NEW YORK (UPI) — American Jews today are observing Yom Kippur, a 24-hour period of fasting, prayer and repentance, the most sacred Jewish holy day.

The "Day of Atonement" began at sundown Sunday with the chanting at synagogues of the traditional Kol Nidre, a prayer, which asks for God's forgiveness for mistakes and broken vows of the last year.

Today marked the end of a 10-day period that began on Sept. 24 with the observance of Rosh Hashanah, New Year's Day on the Hebrew calendar. It ends at sundown today with the sounding of the shofar, or ram's horn.

While millions of Jews spent the day in introspection at synagogues, the nation's Jewish leaders issued Yom Kippur statements calling for a renewed commitment to religious principles and support for Israel.

Abraham Beame, mayor of the city with the largest Jewish population in the nation, said he hopes "that the Jewish year of 5737 will see the world at peace, our nation prospering and our people finding harmony and fulfillment."

Each step had to be completed within a certain time limit, so the groups had to act quickly.

Problems mentioned in the morning session ranged from "division of the town," in reference to the recent dispute between the town and the Eighth Utilities District, to "public apathy," in connection with the lack of people attending local government meetings open to the public.

People spoke freely about the town's problems. Town Manager Robert Weiss was present in one group, yet one woman said that she felt Manchester needed a "strong mayor form of government" rather than a town manager.

After a break for lunch, people broke up into three groups to discuss solutions to the problems by category. There was one group for political problems, another for economic, and a third for cultural. A fourth group also was created to work on creation — they were assigned the task of developing a town symbol, song, and story.

At 4 p.m., all the participants reconvened in the school cafeteria, which was decorated with streamers, balloons, and poster on America, for the final segment of the program.

The 15 solutions developed by the groups were read aloud. One suggested that a task force be organized to work on revitalizing the Main St. area. The task force was to look into improved bus service and establishment of a "farmer's market" in Center Park.

Another suggestion was for a town wide Annual Fair to stimulate people's interests in the community and develop a greater sense of Economic problems high on list of concerns

Participants in Town Meeting '76 Saturday defined for themselves 14 challenges in economics, politics and culture and arrived at 15 proposals to meet those challenges.

One of the economic challenges was the deterioration of downtown Manchester. Another was lack of information about socio-economic problems. The third was disunity and lack of individual commitment to the community.

The economic proposals included one for a public referendum on downtown renewal with an analysis of the cost of further deterioration.

A related proposal suggests exploring such things as improved bus service and a Sunday farmer's market in Center Park.

Another economic proposal calls for neighborhood meetings to encourage citizen involvement (a similar proposal was made as a political objective).

One suggestion is for better communication and establishment of priorities through a committee composed of all civic organizations.

The political challenges include the following:

- Ineffective justice, slow litigation, parent irresponsibility and vandalism.
- Uncommunicative government and the consequent fear of loss of freedom.
- Lack of public participation in government and resulting loss of talent.
- Lack of adequate communication in the community and in the family.
- Fear of political change.
- An uninformed electorate.

As a means of encouraging citizen involvement, the political proposals worked out by the participants

Butz controversy continues

Candidates prepare for second debate

By ELIZABETH WHARTON
United Press International

President Ford and Jimmy Carter headed west today, their arguments in the next presidential debate perhaps tipped in advance by the men they chose to brief them for it.

Two old adversaries, Henry Kissinger and James Schlesinger, are acting the roles of "seconds" for the next televised confrontation between Ford and Carter Wednesday night in San Francisco.

Ford had more on his mind than the debate, however. The latest controversy over what many felt were racist remarks by Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz swirled in the media all weekend, with many Democrats — and some Republicans — calling for his immediate dismissal.

A stiff reprimand by Ford Friday apparently had little effect in stilling public protests over a racial joke Butz is said to have made aboard Air Force One after the GOP convention last month.

Butz remained out of contact Sunday and canceled two scheduled campaign appearances Monday in Ohio.

Over the weekend, Secretary of State Kissinger briefed Ford while

Bulletin

Butz resigns

Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz, under fire for telling a dirty joke with racial overtones, today announced his resignation and that President Gerald Ford had accepted.

former Secretary of Defense Schlesinger helped Carter prepare for Wednesday's debate on foreign policy and national defense.

Schlesinger, an economist who headed the CIA briefly before moving to the Defense Department under Richard M. Nixon, is a "hard-liner" on U.S. defense needs and holds the view the Soviet Union had the better of detente and the nuclear arms agreements.

So the hours he spent closeted with Carter in Plains, Ga., fueled reports the Georgian would adopt a conservative anti-Communist stand in the debate Wednesday, while Ford was expected to extol the peaceful benefits of detente.

New polls published over the weekend represented good news and bad news for Carter. The Yankelevich poll published in Time magazine showed the two candidates in a dead heat at 43 per cent each.

Carter cake cutting had slight delay

Nancy Phillips of Manchester ran into a new problem Friday when she accepted the innocent task of getting a knife to cut Jimmy Carter's birthday cake.

Miss Phillips, who works in the Democratic presidential candidate's Hartford headquarters, was assigned to serve as an aide to the Secret Service when Carter came to the city Friday afternoon.

Carter, who was celebrating his 52nd birthday, was presented a cake by Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, but he had no knife to cut it.

So Miss Phillips was assigned to get the knife. She obtained one and was returning to the platform when Connecticut State Police, wary of people carrying knives at appearances of presidential candidates, stopped her.

Miss Phillips insisted she was working with the Secret Service, but it took a few minutes to straighten out the confusion before the knife could get to Carter.

The cake was finally cut and the rest of the day was apparently uneventful for Miss Phillips.

Court refuses to review busing plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today refused to reconsider its June 14 decision not to interfere with Boston's controversial school desegregation plan, under which 21,000 students were ordered bused.

The petition for reconsideration was filed by the Boston Home and School Association, which represents more than 125 local parent-teacher groups.

The association cited the Supreme Court's Pasadena, Calif., decision last June 28, that — regardless of white flight — school districts need not be redrawn annually once the effect of official discrimination has been erased.

The petition said Boston pupils should not have been reassigned to about 110 of the city's 160 schools where racial imbalance could be shown to stem from normal population movements.

The changes should have been confined to about 50 schools in which the high court's Pasadena holding that pupils need not be reassigned for the sole reason that teachers and administrators have not been fully desegregated.

Vernon youth killed in one-car crash

Richard Ugolik, 17, of 4 John Dr., Vernon, was pronounced dead on arrival at Rockville General Hospital Sunday afternoon and a Vernon girl is in critical condition. They were involved in a one-car accident on Tripp Rd. in Ellington.

Ugolik was driver of the car. Sharon Rowe, 16, of 21 Gerald Dr., Vernon, is in critical condition in St. Francis Hospital, Hartford, where she was transferred with head injuries.

A second passenger in the car, Michael Wallbillich, 17, of 117 Gerald Dr., was admitted to Rockville General Hospital. A hospital spokeswoman said he is in satisfactory condition. He suffered a lacerated ear and abdomen and is under observation for a possible concussion.

The accident happened on Tripp

Rd. which runs along Ellington Ridge golf course. State Police said the car was apparently traveling north. Residents of the area said the car was going at a very high rate of speed when the driver apparently swerved to avoid hitting another car, struck a guard post and then crashed sideways into a tree.

The loud explosion could be heard for some distance away. The engine landed on a lawn and was burning and other parts of the car were scattered in every direction.

Police said apparently two of the victims were thrown out on impact and a third youth was pulled from the wreckage by witnesses. Police are not sure which victim was trapped.

The accident is still under investigation.

State

HAMDEN — There is strong support in Connecticut for legislation that would ban non-returnable beverage containers, according to a poll released Sunday by the state League of Women Voters. Of 491 persons questioned, 63 per cent favored such legislation, 17 per cent opposed it and 20 per cent had no opinion.

STORRS — Playboy Magazine's editor who conducted the now famous "adultery in my heart" interview with Jimmy Carter, says the Democratic presidential nominee could have extracted any part of the interview he wanted.

G. Barry Golson said in an interview published today in the Connecticut Daily Campus, Carter never used the opportunity.

PORTLAND, Maine — Gov. James B. Longley, the nation's only independent governor, has again stopped short of endorsing President Ford, but attacked Jimmy Carter's various stands.

BOSTON — The prosecutor in the Susan Saxe armed robbery-felony murder trial, presenting his case faster than expected, says he plans to call only four or five more witnesses before turning the case over to the defense. The trial will resume Tuesday.

Regional

BOSTON — Police Commissioner Robert J. DiGrazia, 48, who has been the symbol of authority during the city's three years of court-ordered school desegregation, is quitting, the Boston Herald American said today. He is reportedly going to take a similar job in the Washington, D. C. suburb of Rockville, Md.

National

ATLANTA — The nationwide swine flu immunization program has gotten under way with no immediate complaints about sickening side effects from the vaccine but some shortages of the medicine were reported.

MAGGIE VALLEY, N. C. — FBI Director Clarence Kelley married Shirley Ann Dyckes, a Washington schoolteacher and former nun, over the weekend. He had been a widower for 11 months and vows were exchanged Saturday in a private ceremony attended only by family members and two photographers.

HONOLULU — Rep. Spark Matsunaga won the Democratic nomination for the U. S. Senate in the Hawaii primary election by a 21,000 vote margin over Rep. Pat T. Mink Saturday. He will face former Gov. William F. Quinn, the Republican nominee, in the general election.

DETROIT — Agreement on a contract to end a 20-day strike by 170,000 workers against Ford Motor Co. appeared imminent today following marathon negotiations and meetings that ran into the early morning hours. No major items are standing in the way of an agreement, according to one source.

International

VATICAN CITY — Sunday, Beatrice da Silva, a 15th-century nun, was proclaimed a saint by Pope Paul VI before 30,000 persons in St. Peter's Basilica. St. Beatrice founded the Sisters of the Holy Conception.

BONN, West Germany — Chancellor Helmut Schmidt survived West Germany's closest parliamentary election in history Sunday night with an eight-seat majority, but opposition leader Helmut Kohl today challenged his right to form a new government.

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Fighting subsides in Lebanon as attention focuses on international efforts to settle the country's 18-month civil war.

Opinion Let's lease new firehouse to the Eighth District

The majority members of the Town Board of Directors and Town Manager Robert Weiss should come up with some answers for the taxpayers of Manchester concerning what it intends to do about the Buckland fire protection dispute.

It appears to us the recent ruling against the town is correct in the light of legislation which, with some irony, was drafted by Eighth District Council John LaBelle.

But changing that legislation, no matter how meritorious it might be in the long term, does not change the fact that the Town of Manchester at great expense has constructed a firehouse in the heart of an area in which it cannot legally provide fire protection to at this time.

We do not question the need for the firehouse in the Buckland area - only its prematurity.

We would like Mr. Weiss to tell us what additional cost the town will incur to operate and maintain the Buckland fire station as compared with the costs of paying the Eighth District to fight fires in the town-protected areas of Buckland.

Only if the town can operate the new firehouse without added costs overall, can it really have a valid reason for operating and maintaining the facility.

Logic tells us, however, that without the recently Eighth District-annexed residential property, Buckland firehouse operations will be higher than the costs to the town at present.

Foot Prints support urged

It attracts people to Manchester who otherwise have never known we're on the map, and it enriches the quality of our community life. (Who knows - it may even attract some new taxpayers!)

To him, the value of the arts was self-evident, and he would be surprised to hear that some of us in Manchester are now questioning "whether support of cultural activities, using taxpayers' money, is a high enough priority when compared to other town needs" (Hartford Courant, Friday, Sept. 24.)

Carter is a guy trying to give candor a bad name

WASHINGTON - As a campaigner, President Ford is about as candid as the Bobbly Twins, but with Jimmy Carter for an enemy he may not need any friends.

As the two candidates square off for their second debate, Carter people have to wonder, not how well he'll do, but if he can keep his guff to a minimum. This is a guy who is trying to give candor a bad name.

It's hard to figure out what Democratic career politicians can do with their Presidential nominee. He seems at times to be running against Congress, which has been controlled by his party for more than 40 years.

By "political leadership," I presume Carter was referring to Eisenhower, Nixon and Ford. But in the past 30 years, we have also had Democratic Presidents named Truman, Kennedy and Johnson. And, in any case, the most powerful half of that political leadership has been composed of Democratic Congresses. Thus, when Carter calls our tax system a "disgrace," he's attacking Democrats who wrote all those tax bills.

There is no way to predict how many voters will turn from Carter because of those unfortunate remarks. This is, of course, a more liberated age and I know weekly churchgoers who season their afterthoughts with bawdy phrases.

I suggest that Carter consult regularly with California's Gov. Jerry Brown. Should he do so, he might decide to tell all interested parties - as Brown told Playboy - that his thoughts on sex are nobody's business, and to stop inviting Gerald Ford to fumble against the sins of Carter's Democratic allies on Capitol Hill.

Mr. Ford's theme, on the one hand, is steady as you go - which means in essence that if we wait the problem will go away. On the other hand, he relies almost solely on controlling the money supply, a one-pronged approach questioned even by Arthur Burns of the Federal Reserve Board.

With the over-all efficiency of U.S. industry growing at a snail's pace as compared with its potential, with growing domestic shortages of raw materials for which our laboratories are not finding substitutes with sufficient rapidity, with our schools falling behind in the teaching of the

35th wedding anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond V. Lavery of 21 Terry Rd. celebrated their 35th wedding anniversary Sept. 19 at the home of their son, Russell M. Lavery in West Hartford.

The couple was married Sept. 20, 1941 in St. Justin's Church in Hartford with the Rev. Joseph Cunningham officiating.

Members of the wedding party who attended are Mrs. Charles A. Woodbury of Manchester, maid of honor; G. A. Lavery of Bristol, best man; and Matthew Keever of Springfield, Mass. and G. Edward Lavery of Wetherfield, ushers.

Hosting the party were the couple's children, Mrs. M. J. Terry of Andover, Mr. Lavery of West Hartford, Mr. and Mrs. R. Bruce Lavery of Manchester and their daughter, Heather Lynn.

The couple received many gifts from the 50 people attending.

Mrs. Lavery is a registered nurse at Manchester Memorial Hospital. Mr. Lavery is employed by the Metropolitan District, Hartford.

50th wedding anniversary

Daniel and Agnes Kilgariff Donofrio of 44 Grandview St. celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Sept. 2 with their daughter, Major Anne Donofrio, at the Minot, N.D., U.S.-Air Force base. Major Donofrio is a nurse anesthetist there. The Donofrios renewed their vows at St. Theresa Little Flower Church in Minot, and were presented with new gold wedding rings by their daughter. They were feted at a dinner party afterward attended by military personnel from the base. The Donofrios were married at St. Michael's Church in Hartford. Besides their daughter, they have three sons, Bernard Donofrio of South Windsor, Daniel Donofrio Jr. in East Hartford and Robert Donofrio of Vernon; seven grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. Mr. Donofrio worked for the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Co. and Penn Central until his retirement six years ago. They are communicants of St. James Church. (Herald photo by Dunn)

40th wedding anniversary

James and Catherine Colavecchio Gleeson were honored at a 40th wedding anniversary party recently at a buffet in Enfield. They were married Sept. 28, 1936, at Our Lady of Sorrows Church in Hartford. The event was hosted by their two sons and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Gleeson of Hyde Park, N.Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis J. Gleeson of Enfield. About 90 friends and relatives attended from Connecticut, California, Pennsylvania, New York, Maine and Massachusetts. The cake was baked by Mrs. Martin DiFilippo, a niece. Mr. Gleeson is retired from The Travelers Insurance Co. in Hartford where he worked for 46 years. Mr. and Mrs. Gleeson are communicants of St. James Church. Both their sons were former Herald delivery boys. (Herald photo by Dunn)

Flu clinics set up

Coventry
Town residents can receive swine flu immunizations here Oct. 29 and 30.
A clinic will be held by Dr. Robert Bowen and the Coventry Public Health Nursing Association at the Nathan Hale School Friday, Oct. 29 from 3 to 6 p.m. and Saturday, Oct. 30 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.
The Coventry Jaycees will assist them.
Homebound people will be given vaccine by the nurses in their homes. They will need written orders from their physicians before the nurses come. To learn more about this, call the PINA office at 742-7369.
All people over 18 can receive immunizations at the clinics.
People should not get the vaccine if they are under 18, allergic to eggs, who have a fever or who have received another type of vaccine within 14 days of the clinic.

Meetings scheduled

Coventry
The Planning and Zoning Commission will meet with Barak Homes tonight at 7 at Town Hall.
The PZC will review some of the conditions in the approval of the 340-unit apartment complex planned by Barak Home for land at Town Hall.
Barak Homes has filed a court appeal protesting some of the provisions of the conditional approval. They said they hope to iron out any differences between themselves and the PZC to avoid pursuing the appeal.
Abbott Schwedel, town attorney, has said the PZC may discuss "technical aspects of the conditional approval."

DevCo talk
William Farley, president of the Farley Company, an East Hartford real estate firm, will discuss the status of the former DevCo land at tonight's Town Council meeting.
The council plans to take action on the teachers salary contract, town hall maintenance contract and discuss public works legislation.
The council will also announce the demolition bids on the town-owned Bi-Products Plant.

GOP meets
The Republican Town Committee will take action to fill the vacancy on the Board of Education created by the resignation of Tom Gillung Tuesday night at 8 at Town Hall.

The committee is also seeking candidates to act as local coordinator for Richard Jackson and Gerald Ford.

Authority meets
The town Sewer Authority will also meet tonight at 8 at the Town Hall.

State sits on land deal

Andover
Mrs. Margaret Jurovaty of Jurovaty Rd. said this morning she is going to Gov. Ella Grasso's office today with a petition urging the governor to accept 400 acres of Andover land for open space.
About 275 Andover residents in this town of about 2,000 people signed the petition.
They are fearful the governor will not accept the land in time to prevent a deal with a Boston developer.
Clint Nangle of Nangle and Partner of Boston hopes to put a development of about 150 homes on the land, said Mrs. Jurovaty.
The residents hope the state will take the land and keep it as woods and fields surrounding a lake now of 150 acres, she said.

Bishop's Swamp
The location of the lake was once a swamp with a brook running through it. It was full of cattails and bogs.
An earth dam created a small pond which provided swimming and fishing for nearby farm boys in the summer and clear ice and skating in the winter.
Even today, the water is clear and safe for all types of wildlife.
The present owner of the largest part of the land, over 400 acres, is Robert Fuller, former Manchester business leader. Fuller is now the owner and manager of Fuller Motor Sales Inc. in Easton, Md. selling mainly the Honda and Volvo cars.
Fuller offered his land to the Town of Andover for $200,000 some time ago, said town officials. But the officials decided they could not manage the offer.
Fuller then offered it to the state Department of Environmental Protection, Open Space Acquisition Unit, applied to the federal Department of the Interior office in Boston for funding.
The federal government approved the purchase and agreed to provide 75 per cent of the price, said David Yeomans last week.
However, due to the state's fiscal woes, it appeared the state could not raise its 25 per cent share of the price which was not available to the press. The property has been appraised by DEP Assessor Jerald Knight at $435,000, said State Rep. Al Ahearn, D-Bolton.

Union signs contract

Vernon
The Ameribelle Corp. of Rockville, announced today that the third year of a three-year contract with the Amalgamated Clothing Textile Workers Union, Local 471, becomes effective today.
All time workers in the plant will receive an increase in wage rates of 3 1/4% cents an hour. In addition there are changes in the fringe benefit program costing an additional 2 1/4% cents an hour for a total of 5 3/4% cents, company treasurer, Nat N. Schwedel said.
He said although the insurance program involving Connecticut Blue Cross and Connecticut Medical Service are not having any changes in benefits, the increases in rates paid by the corporation are substantial. The corporation pays the entire cost of all insurance and pension benefits.
Schwedel said the contract was negotiated through the Southern New England joint board of the ACTWU, managed by Richard McFadyen and Local 471 whose president in Rockville is Lewis King.

Family outing set

Vernon
The Tri-Town Youth Organization, a newly formed group in Vernon, Tolland, and Ellington, will sponsor a fall family outing Oct. 10 from 1 to 5 p.m. at Valley Falls Park in Vernon.
The event will be open to the public. The only admission requirement will be that persons bring one usable, useable toy which the members of the organization will paint and repair to donate to the annual toy drive of the firemen. The toys are distributed to needy children at Christmas time.
During Sunday's activities the fire departments from the three towns will have a display of their equipment. Smokey the Bear will also be on hand along with Pockets the clown. Refreshments will be sold.
The members of the youth organization, as one of their first efforts, assisted the Tri-Town United Way in stuffing 15,000 envelopes for distribution to area residents.
The petition circulated by Mrs. Jurovaty and others noted the Bishop's Swamp deal has the full approval of the federal Department of the Interior and the state DEP.
The council is also expected to resolve of "technical questions."
He said the whole matter was turned over to the Attorney General's office with these questions. This office will give a "legal reading of the whole thing," he said.
"If we don't have the answers," he said, "We can't make a determination."
He said he could not comment on the claims by Andover people they could not get through to anyone at the governor's office. He said he had only just learned of the matter.
He had no idea of the present status of the "legal reading" nor what the governor planned to do.
Neither could he name the people who are currently responsible for making the "legal reading."

Council meets tonight

South Windsor
The Town Council will meet tonight at 8 in the Town Hall.
The council is expected to okay Town Manager Paul Talbot's entering a police mutual aid compact.
The compact, allows lending of police aid, records and equipment between towns.
The agreement does not bind any town to respond to any given call. Any request is directed to the chief of police.
Park lights
The naming of the new lighted softball field at Rye Street Park is expected to be removed from the agenda, with the field left unnamed.
Two names, John Madden Field and John, Sagorski Field, were suggested to the council. However, the council was unable to decide.
"The last thing we want to do is to try to honor a man and have it controversial," said Councilman John Mitchell.
The council is also expected to make appointments; one to the Planning and Zoning Commission for an alternate and the other to the Zoning Board of Appeals.

Parks are buzzing

East Hartford
The town's parks, especially McLaughlin Park, are "beehives of activity," said Park Department Director Frank DeGregorio recently, "and isn't it great?"
Tennis courts and softball diamonds are always in use and neighborhood children always make good use of the facilities.
Besides these activities, McLaughlin fields flag and midgeet football games from early Sunday morning until late afternoon.
DeGregorio is delighted that a great number of people using the parks but he wants to remind the park-going public of the Park Department ordinances.
DeGregorio said, "The ordinances are placed in conspicuous places throughout each park." He also said "Of the 25 ordinances, six are frequently violated."
The six rules make it unlawful for persons to:
Have any intoxicating liquors within the parks or playgrounds.
Sell, offer or expose for sale any goods or wares, except under a written permit from the Director of Parks and Recreation.
Solicit any subscription or contribution.
Drive or propel any bicycle, automobile or other vehicle in any park except on the regular park roads.
Deface or injure any notice placed by the Director of Parks and Recreation in any park.
Drive to park any automobile in any park after dark except for special, authorized, scheduled activities.

She will fight for ERA

East Hartford
Ms. Celeste P. Bayek of 171 Greenwood St. was elected president of the Central Connecticut Chapter of the National Organization for Women last week.
She has been active as chairperson for the media reform task force.
Ms. Bayek said her top priority will be the continued effort to ratify the Equal Rights Amendment. The ERA was passed by Congress in March, 1972 but has only been ratified by 34 of the required 38 states since. It falls if four more states do not ratify it by 1979.
The ERA places the right of women to full and equal status with men into the U.S. Constitution.
About NOW, Ms. Bayek said, "In the past 10 years, NOW has an inventory of accomplishments and has raised the consciousness of people to sexism as a critical public problem which affects every man, woman and child."
The purpose of NOW is to bring women into fully equal partnership with men, she said.
"Connecticut women have a reservoir of untapped potentials and want to become involved as shapers of their political, economic, and social lives," she said.
The chapter chose Jane Mendenhall Echelson also of East Hartford as vice president.
Susan Yolan of Simsbury was elected treasurer, Louise Richard of Newington, secretary, and Brenda Jorgensen of Hartford, state board representative.
Ms. Bayek said she will also concentrate on issues of sexism in education and employment, rape, child care, household violence and the image of women in the mass media.
NOW has over 24 task forces supporting efforts to eradicate discrimination. It welcomes all men and women regardless of race, color, age, nationality, or economic background, she said.

PTO seeks members

Hebron
The Hebron PTO opened its membership drive at the semi-annual potluck supper recently. The drive will continue through October. Parents are to send their names and $1 per family membership to school.
The PTO presented Hebron Elementary School Principal Paul White and Gilead Hill School Principal Ralph Saccuzzo with checks by last year's officers Carol Pelletier and Diane Boucher. They will buy reading aid machines.
Treasurer Anne Boynton explained the balance raised last year will be put in a savings account for use by the principals when needed.
PTO President Lorraine Bielecki said there are still openings on the board. Anyone interested should call her. Grade 4 teacher Robin Selavka told the PTO she would work with the new Cultural Arts Program.

Fashion show is scheduled

Bolton
The "Harvest Moon Fashion Debut," a fashion show sponsored by the Ladies of St. Maurice Church, is scheduled for Oct. 29 at 8 p.m. at Flano's Restaurant.
Fashion shows will be provided by the Coventry Shoppe of Coventry and will be modeled by women and teenage members of the church.
Terry Bolduc Beauty Salon of Bolton and the Creative School of Hairdressing of Manchester will combine talents to show the latest in hairstyles.
Catherine Peterson will provide a professional background music.
Margaret Maneggia is chairman of the event. She is being assisted by Janet Toohy and Jane Helbig, co-chairmen.
Mrs. Maneggia said they have many surprises in store for a grand evening of entertainment.

Committee to study funds use

Vernon
Mayor Thomas Benoit is setting up a special committee to study the possibility of use of funds bequeathed the town by the late Emily B. Swindell.
Stephen Marcham will be chairman of the committee. The other members will include Gerald Allen (Allen and Marcham are councilmen), Samuel Goldfarb, music supervisor in the Vernon School system, Donald Berger, recreation director, and some members of the Recreation Commission who are yet to be named.
The Recreation Commission recently recommended that the fund be used to purchase a mobile music shell for the town.
Mrs. Swindell bequeathed $20,000 to the City of Rockville "to be used for said city for recreational purposes."
Because the city and the town of Vernon were consolidated about 12 years ago, the town of Vernon has acceded to all of the property of the city and hence owns all of the money in the account, Martin Burke, town attorney said.
Burke said the only limitation placed upon the bequest was that it be used for recreational purposes upon authorization of the Town Council.
Mayor Benoit said he wants the newly formed committee to study further the Recreation Commission's recommendation and to find out the costs and such of the mobile shell and report back to the council.

College tests

VERNON—Juniors and seniors at Rockville High School will be taking two college entrance exams at the school. Juniors planning on college should take preliminary scholastic aptitude, National Merit Scholarship Qualification test, Oct. 23. The top scorer may be eligible for scholarships.
"Y" workshops
VERNON—The Indian Valley YMCA will offer workshops in theater and puppetry, for school students, in Vernon and South Windsor.

All year long, these United Way agencies help one out of every three families in sixteen Greater Hartford communities. With services for the elderly, for young people in trouble, for families with problems. With counseling and companionship, with training and rehabilitation, with recreation and health care programs.
And, in these times of rising costs, it's worth noting that 92% of every dollar you give to the United Way of Greater Hartford goes directly to support these agency services.
In so many ways, Greater Hartford communities are better, stronger, more productive, because of those who serve... and those who support.

THANKS.

Powerful Hornets sting Indians, 41-0

MHS's Craig Ostrout gets off pass. Tackle Bob Valentine led Hornets' rush.

By STEVE ARMSTRONG

Led by the power running of Larry Komarenko and the fine passing of quarterback Jim Ogle, East Hartford High romped to an easy 41-0 rout of Manchester Saturday afternoon at Memorial Field. It was a disappointing Homecoming Day for Manchester, with a crowd of 1,000 dropping to almost zero at game's end, thanks to the lopsided score and a steady rain which began in the third quarter.

The loss dropped Manchester to 0-2 on the season. East Hartford, which was sixth ranked in last week's statewide polls, pulls its record to 3-0, which includes two shutouts and 138 total points scored.

Komarenko was all the Hornets needed, as the big runner scored three touchdowns and rushed for 134 yards. Komarenko has now scored 10 touchdowns this season. Manchester, on the other hand, although able to move the ball fairly well in the middle of the field, had trouble passing, and was able to get only one good scoring drive.

Freshman Manchester coach Jack Holik had nothing but praise for the Hornets. Holik stated that "East Hartford certainly played one great game. The key was that they simply beat us off the line — we'll never again see a team that gets off the line like that. I can definitely promise one thing, in the next week we're going to find out who really wants to play football here. I want to find out who the talkers are and who the real players are."

The East Hartford defense hit hard all day, and accounted for 10 points. The first time Manchester had to punt was on a holding penalty back on their own six-yard line. Manchester tried the reverse but East Hartford read it perfectly, as halfback Scott Carpenter was

East fails to hold big lead and bows to Locks, 14-10

By LEN AUSTER
Herald Sports-writer

Just like a race horse bred for speed, East Catholic's football team got out of the gate fast Saturday against Windsor Locks. But the Eagles didn't have the staying power to go the distance and wound up on the short end of a 14-10 score under dreary, rainy conditions.

The only consolation for 0-3 East is that it finally got on the scoreboard after being shutout its first two games.

"Windsor Locks is a tough team. They're not big but No. 30 (Steve Michalewicz) is a big blocking back and that quarterback (Frank Netco) was hard to bring down," offered East Coach John LaFontana.

It looked as if East was going to be in for a splendid afternoon as it scored the first two times it had possession of the pigskin. The outstanding Raiders, now 3-0 for the season, received the kickoff but failed to move. Michalewicz got off a two-yard punt and the Eagles were in business on the Raider 30.

A look-in pass from Dave Kisner to Brian Sirois gained 11 and after two running plays failed to gain, converted tailback Bob Frank scampered 14 yards for a first down. Mike Parlong gained two and then Frank bulled his way into the end zone from three yards out with Jim Dakin adding the conversion for a 7-0 lead at the 3:27 mark.

A Furlong 40-yard punt return set up East's second score. The Eagles failed to move, as it has most of the campaign, and Dakin tooted a 42-yard field goal.

Windsor Locks, meanwhile, was gaining bundles of yards but not putting any points on the board. The Raiders finally broke through, marching 61 yards in 13 plays, 42 yards capped by a Netco 10-yard Brazalovich six-yard scoring aerial. The conversion was blocked leaving the score 10-0 early in the second quarter. Locks drove late in the period but a field goal attempt at the half fell short.

East came out strong the third can't to but a fairly good drive stalled and a Dakin 44-yard field goal attempt failed. Locks drove late in the period but a field goal attempt at the half fell short.

With the rain coming down steadily, an important series occurred near the East goal line. After stopping a Locks drive at the nine, the Eagles were pinned back at their own two. LaFontana taking a calculated gamble conceded a two-point conversion with Kisner falling on the pigskin in the endzone with 10:33 left.

LaFontana was hoping his defense, which was outstanding but on the field much too much, could hold the Raiders. But his dream went up in smoke as the Raiders took the ensuing free kick and paraded down the field with worksome halfback Tom Morris plunging over with the game-winning touchdown with 5:18 showing on the clock from two yards away.

I told the team at the half we needed to score more to beat them. But our offense didn't control the ball and that just puts too much stress on the defense," LaFontana conceded.

East had one last ditch effort but second-string quarterback Ken Brass had an aerial picked off by Derek Taylor and the Raiders ran out the final 1:36, the Eagles using up their allotment of timeouts with five minutes left.

Two Patriots enjoying game. Steve Grogan and John Hannah watch rout of Raiders.

UConns improve but still losing

University of Connecticut football fans should take heart. Statistically, the Huskies have improved as much as possible without winning.

Despite their 2-21 loss to New Hampshire, the 0-4 Huskies collected more points than the total of their first three games, (20). They surpassed the Wildcats in first downs (18-10-12), passes completed (11-0-25 vs. 7-0-18), and were only one yard behind the Wildcats in total yardage with 375 yards.

"We played our best game of the year and still came up short," said UConn coach Larry Navaux, who noted his team overcame a 21-0 first half deficit and lost it only in the final 55 seconds on a field goal.

Speaking of the unbeaten, Yale did a good job Saturday against Lehigh's 3-0 record with a 21-6 win at Yale Bowl. The Bulldogs will have a chance to bust another undefeated bubble when they host Dartmouth.

winners of four straight games.

In other results, the state's only unbeaten team, Trinity, picked up its second win, 24-0, over Bates. Wesleyan (1-1) dumped Colby 38-0; Western Connecticut (3-1) beat state rival (1-1) New Haven 16-4; Central Connecticut (2-2) came out on top of a scoreless over Cortland St., 48-41; and Southern Connecticut (2-2) lost to Springfield 14-7 and the Coast Guard (1-3) was scuttled by Norwich 38-0.

The rest of this week's schedule has Wesleyan at Southern, New Haven at Bridgewater St., Central at Montclair St., and Trinity at Williams, which saw its 14 game unbeaten string snapped Saturday by Middlebury.

Arenas standout in MCC triumph

Danyel Arenas and Mark Maillet each connected for two goals as Manchester Community College cruised to a 5-2 soccer victory over Thames Valley Community College Saturday, at Cougar Field.

MCC, 4-1, faces Dean Jr. College Wednesday at 3:30 at Cougar Field.

MCC started the scoring early in the first half on a break — Away involving Tymo Simac and Arenas. Valley goalie Mark Attila's attempt to intercept a Simac pass failed as Arenas dribbled around the fallen keeper and scored from 10 yards out.

Late in the first half the booters squeezed a baseline shot between Attila and the post for a 2-0 margin.

Midway into the first period Arenas was involved in another Cougar rally. His midfield pass set up an openfield goal by Maillet who put the shot into the upper left of the net.

Late in the first half the booters struck again for a 4-0 margin. Gary Perrilli cross to Maillet set up the score past the leaping Attila.

Second half play was a complete turn around from the first. While MCC controlled the first 45 minutes the Sonics took advantage in the second allotment.

MCC's picked up momentarily with seven minutes remaining. Roberto Cicero beat Attila to an Arenas lead with Cicero chipping a shot over the keeper. Valley defenders were unable to retreat in time as the booters buldged became 5-0.

Unwilling to give up Thames struck twice in a 25-second span. A shot by Jim Serwiniski beat goalie Mike Motta with Henry recording the second goal 10 seconds later. Thames, 1-3, found themselves outshot 20-15. Netminders Mike Gerber and replacement Motta combined in making nine saves.

Grogan helps put Patriots on map

NEW YORK (UPI) — It's taken just one short month of the National Football League season to transform Steve Grogan from a virtual unknown to the most potent offensive force in the league.

Grogan, the 6-foot-5 second-year man from Kansas State, who was handed New England's starting quarterback job last winter when Jim Plunkett was traded to San Francisco, Sunday led the Patriots to their third consecutive upset victory.

This time the victims were the Oakland Raiders, who went into Foxboro, Mass., unbeaten in three games and left with their worst beating in the last few seasons.

And as was the case in upsets of Miami and NFL Champion Pittsburgh, the architect again was Grogan. He threw for three touchdowns and ran for two more as the Patriots trampled Oakland, 48-17, and ran their record to 3-1.

"In the last two weeks, people haven't hit me," said Grogan, who had TD passes of 21 and 15 yards to Terry Stungy and 16 yards to Martin Briscoe and also scored on runs of two and 10 yards. "I wasn't sacked once today or last week. On those two pass plays to Stungy, I was able to stand there and stand there and wait for him to be open. The offensive line was superb."

New England took a 21-10 halftime lead and then turned the game into a rout in the second half, building a 48-17 lead.

"I just wish all this was happening at the end of the season and we were in the playoffs," added Grogan. "Everyone gives me the credit, but it's so easy to play when everyone is playing so well."

"Our top guys match up with any in the league," said New England Coach Chuck Fairbanks. "What I have been afraid of for four weeks is that we have been a little too thin in some areas. I thought all week we could beat Oakland but I didn't think we could beat them as decisively as we did."

The other games Sunday:

Rams 31, Dolphins 28
James Harris, playing with a brace on his injured throwing hand, threw TD passes of 58 and 43 yards to Ron Jessie and Tom Dempsey hit a game-winning 19-yard field goal with less than two minutes left to lift the Rams over Miami. The Dolphins took a 14-0 lead in the first half before Harris, who passed for 436 yards, rallied the Rams with a 21-0 TD pass and ran a yard for the go-ahead score. His 50-yard pass to Harold Jackson set up Dempsey's field goal.

Bears 33, Redskins 7
Bob Avellini ran four yards for one TD and threw six yards to James Scott for another score to spark Chicago to its upset of Washington. Walter Payton ran for 394 yards and a TD for the Bears, whose defense held the Redskins scoreless until the final second when Joe Theismann threw a yard to Jerry Smith.

"Our top guys match up with any in the league," said New England Coach Chuck Fairbanks. "What I have been afraid of for four weeks is that we have been a little too thin in some areas. I thought all week we could beat Oakland but I didn't think we could beat them as decisively as we did."

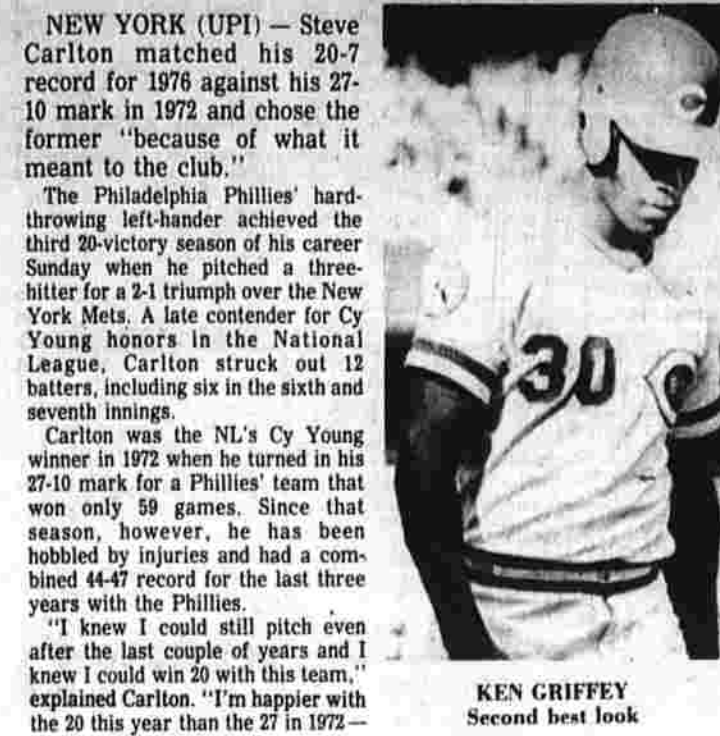

between the NFL's two highest scoring clubs.

Bengals 45, Browns 24
Ken Anderson threw four TD passes, two each to Isaac Curtis and Leslie Elliott, as Cincinnati blitzed Cleveland. Anderson hit Curtis with throws of 44 and seven yards and Elliott on passes of 19 and 39 yards. Willie Shelby had a 97-yard kickoff return for a Bengal TD and Brian Sipe threw two TD passes for the Browns.

Buffalo 10, Kansas City 17
Joe Ferguson struck three TD passes to Bob Chandler in the first half and O.J. Simpson ran for 130 yards and scored twice to spark Buffalo's rout of Kansas City. Chandler caught TD passes of one, five and seven yards, Simpson got his first two TDs of the year on short runs and Tony Greene had a 101-yard interception return for a score.

Colts 42, Buccaneers 17
Bert Jones had two TD passes and a 52-yard punt return for a TD and Jim Turner kicked four field goals to lead Denver past previously unbeaten San Diego. Lonnie Perrin also scored from a yard out for the Broncos, who recorded their first shutout in five years in a duel

Post-game altercation

Brett's homer wins bat title

The Kansas City Royals, who tried nearly every possible way to lose the American League West title in their final two weeks, lost the season finale, 5-3, to the Minnesota Twins Sunday — their ninth defeat in the last 11 games.

Then, in one last demonstration of their ritual fortunes of recent weeks, they staged a post-game altercation with the Twins, which even saw racial overtones rear their ugly head.

Actually, the real significance of the season finale was the batting championship race, in which George Brett and Hal McRae of the Royals and Rod Carew of the Twins all had a shot to win with a good day at the plate.

All of them did, but it was Brett, getting three hits in one game for the 28th time this season, who wound up the champion with a .333 average. In order to win it, though, Brett needed an inside-the-park homer on his last at-bat — and that, or rather the manner in which the ball was handled by Twins' left fielder Steve Brye, is what pushed McRae to a season-ending boiling point.

McRae, who wound up second by one percentage point to Brett, accused Twins' Manager Gene Mauch of ordering Brye to let Brett's fly ball drop — possibly for racially motivated reasons.

"I just hope everybody knows why I lost it," said McRae, who upon grounding out in the ninth inning made several gestures at the Twins' dugout before charging Mauch. "I'm glad George won but I hate to see it happen this way. I think he deserves the title but I think both of us wish it could have been decided cleanly."

Mauch was visibly disturbed that McRae felt he ordered Brye to let the ball drop.

"If I thought he (Brye) hadn't lost the ball I would make a campaign to run Steve Brye out of baseball," said Mauch. "I can't believe anybody would believe I'd do anything that might hurt this game...."

"I owe it everything I have," Brye said he simply made a mistake. "I was playing too deep," he said. "It was my mistake. Gene told me to play shallower but I messed up. I was caught in between and it just fell in."

Dear Abby By Abigail Van Buren. DEAR ABBY: Our middle son, Andy, is a very intelligent young man of 19. He went to college for one year just to please us, then he quit, saying, "I don't want to waste any more of my time and my money."

DEAR ABBY: I disagree. College is NOT for everybody. If Andy prefers to work with his hands, that's what he should do. It's not true that people work with their hands because they aren't smart enough to work with their minds. Some handwork requires more skill, talent and know-how than many professions.

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine was married for 22 years when her husband died. Two years later she married another man. That marriage lasted just about a year and ended in divorce.

DEAR ABBY: My date and I were dining out, and as he was adding the tip to the credit card, the waiter said, "Don't bother adding the tip to that - I won't get it anyway." Then the waiter explained that after the restaurant is reimbursed by the credit card companies, the waiters rarely get their tips.

DEAR MARION: The top credit card companies and restaurants state that waiters are reimbursed immediately by their employers for their tips. Most waiters insure themselves against being gyped by keeping a record of tips due them.

DEAR FRIEND: Technically she's a divorcee, but if she wants to call herself a widow, it's all right with me. DEAR ABBY: My date and I were dining out, and as he was adding the tip to the credit card, the waiter said, "Don't bother adding the tip to that - I won't get it anyway."
