Admire coffee table in center workshop

After the formal dedication program Sunday for the Regional Occupational Training Center at Wetherell St. and Hillstown Rd., several of the principals toured the facility and were intrigued with the coffee table being made by handicapped students in the center's woodworking facility. From left are: Dr. Mark Shedd, Connecticut commissioner of education; Norman Fendell, director of the new facility; The Rev. Newell Curtis Jr., pastor of Center Congregational Church; Dr. Ronald Denison, president of Manchester Community College; and Dr. James P. Kennedy, Manchester superintendent of schools and program master of ceremonies. The men are holding windshield ice scrapers the school is manufacturing for sale to the public this fall. Educator challenges community to make full use of learning center

By FLOYD LARSON

Herald Reporter
"But it's not enough — it never is," Dr. Mark Shedd, Connecticut Commissioner of Education, said Sunday in opening his challenge to the communities, teachers and parents involved in the Regional Occupational Training Center on the Manchester Community College campus.
Dr. Shedd was the guest speaker at formal dedication of the center for the training of special students in the 14 to 20 age group and which became operational in September after almost two years of construction and more than a decade of planning.
After outlining the history of the facility which cost $1.4 million and has a capacity for almost double its present 77-member student body, Dr. Shedd said,
"Despite a great deal of activity in recent years toward developing vocational programs for the non-college bound student, too little thought has been given to whether or not job openings will be available once they complete their training.

And I am not just talking about the problem of job shortages — although that is a big one, one we must deal with — I'm talking about a more subtle problem that has to do with the kind of unemployment facing us," he said.
"What purpose are we serving by producing a surplus of employees in any field? We are just beginning to ask these kind of questions — the right kind of questions, in my opinion — when evaluating our vocational education programs. We're forced too — there just aren't enough jobs out there anymore."
"And for the handicapped youngster, the situation has become critical. But ROTC is a start — a great start. Because of this program, a group of handicapped kids are going to have a shot at self-supporting jobs. They are going to be able to compete with skills that measure up to those of others in that job market.
"But it's not enough — it never is. They (they current 77 ROTC students) represent only a small portion of the number of students who could benefit from this program.

"This facility's capacity for contributing to education for the handicapped and to vocational education in general is much greater than 150 students. The opportunities here are enormous and we can't lose sight of them," Dr. Shedd said.
He urged summer programs and workshops for students and teacher training to make full use of the facility the year around. He suggested evening programs for teachers from nearby colleges and universities and short-term training programs for special education students beyond the full-time enrollment figure of 250.
"Why not adult education programs for the handicapped in the community? Why not administrative in-service training sessions for other districts in the area? Or from other parts of the state? Or from other states?
"Why not indeed. You've got something here — something very important, if only you will share it. It has a tremendous potential as a truly central service center: it must be used.
"I hope this Regional Center might

Carter and Ford taking time off

By ELIZABETH WHARTON
United Press International
President Ford and Jimmy Carter took time off from campaigning today to begin preparing for their debate Friday night, when the two can be asked about any subjects.
Carter spent most of the day at home in Plains, Ga., before beginning a scheduled two-day trip to Florida, North Carolina and New York. After that, he plans to spend the rest of the week getting ready for the final debate in Williamsburg, Va.
Ford, back at the White House, also prepared for the debate, and planned to swear in his new education commissioner, Edward Aguirre, in a Rose Garden ceremony, and meet with U.S. Ambassador to England Anne Armstrong.

The vice presidential candidates, Republican Robert Dole and Democrat Walter Mondale, meanwhile, continued seeking votes in the Midwest.
Except for a quick up-and-back trip to New York Thursday for the annual Al Smith dinner, Ford was expected to stay close to the White House until the final debate Friday in Williamsburg, Va.
Aides said he was marshaling his energy and his finances for an intensive 10-day non-stop campaign swing from Friday night until election day to try to overcome Carter's lead.
Carter has outspent Ford by a ratio of more than two to one so far, which means that Ford has the bulk of his federally allotted funds still available for use in the crucial closing days of the campaign.
Ford, after attending church Sunday, met in the White House with a Cabinet-level task force to discuss urban policy. Carter attended the Plains, Ga., Baptist church and later issued a statement condemning Ford for coming under the influence of industry lobbyists.
Carter's campaign headquarters also released a formerly secret list of contributors to his 1970 gubernatorial campaign. It showed about 5,000 donations totaling almost $700,000, and revealed more support from corporations than from organized labor. But most of the contributions from all sources were $100 or less.

Dole was invited to answer questions from the pulpit of the Colonial Congregational Church in Kansas City, Mo., Sunday, and apparently conceded the congressional election to the Democrats, to make a point.
"I'm convinced that we will have a Democratic Congress," he said, "and if you turn over to Governor Carter the White House and have a liberal Democratic Congress like they have now, then I say to the taxpayer you better hang onto your wallet."
Mondale, appearing on CBS' Face the Nation, said the Ford administration has "applied the wrong remedy for inflation."

Mondale said — and Carter echoed him in a statement from Plains — that "what we do need is a selective jawboning policy just like John Kennedy in the 1960s stood up to the steel industry when it was trying to rip off the American people ..."
Carter said "Large companies (are) ... confident that a president who listens to their lobbyists will let them get away with it." The reference apparently was to Ford's golf outings at the expense of U.S. Steel and its chief lobbyist, William Whyte.

Fire injunction appealed by town

The Town of Manchester has taken a second legal step in its appeal of the Buckland fire jurisdiction decision which favored the Eighth Utilities District.
Town Counsel Victor Moses has filed an application to stay the operation of the permanent injunction granted by Superior Court Judge Edward Hamill. Moses had earlier filed a Supreme Court appeal of Hamill's declaratory judgment which allowed the Eighth District to expand to Buckland.
Under state statute, an appeal automatically stays the declaratory judgment, Moses said, but a separate application is required to stay an injunction.
The permanent injunction granted by Hamill prevents the Town of Manchester from "interfering with, preventing or hindering" the Eighth District from extending its boundary lines and serving Buckland.
Moses said the intent of the application is to allow both sides to return to a "status quo" situation in which the Eighth District serves Buckland but the Town of Manchester has the bottom-line responsibility, at least until the Supreme Court appeal is decided.

The state statute under which Moses filed his application requires the Superior Court to stay the injunction unless the court feels that a stay would cause "great and irreparable injury" or that the application was made "only for delay and not in good faith."
HONG KONG (UPI) — Students swarmed through the streets of Shanghai today with large drums and gongs supporting the purge of Mao Tse-tung's widow and three radical leaders, an American visitor said.
Posters accused Madame Mao, or Chiang Ching, and her radical associates of plotting the assassination of new party leader Hua Kuo-feng and attempting to seize power even before Mao died last month.

Three Americans win Nobels

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI) — Prof. William N. Lipscomb of Harvard University today won the 1976 Nobel chemistry prize — the sixth American to win a Nobel prize thus far this year.
Earlier today the Nobel physics prize was awarded jointly to Prof. Burton Richter, 45, of the Stanford Linear Accelerator Center, Stanford, Calif., and Prof. Samuel C.C. Ting, 40, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, for discovering a new heavy elementary particle.

Lipscomb was given the chemistry prize for his studies "on the structure of boranes illuminating problems of chemical bonding," the Royal Swedish academy of Sciences said.
Boranes is the accepted name for boron hydrides which are the compounds of the element boron with hydrogen.
Lipscomb, 56, received his doctorate in chemistry from the California Institute of Technology in 1946 and then transferred to the University of Minnesota. He went to Harvard in 1959.
The Academy said there were a great number of boranes but very little was known about them. They had to be studied at very low temperature, they were usually unstable and chemically aggressive, explosive and toxic.
"It was not until Lipscomb's works from the beginning of the 1950's onwards that the problems in borane chemistry could be satisfactorily solved," the Academy said in its announcement.
The Academy said Lipscomb has been able to identify the possible combinations of feasible bondings. He determined geometric structures through X-ray diffractions and by using modern quantum mechanical calculations, he was able to determine and predict the stability and reactions of the molecules under varying conditions.

"Knowledge of the subject field, covering the boranes and related chemical compounds has thus been enormously enriched," the Academy said.
The Academy Profs. Richter and Ting shared the physics award for "the greatest discovery ever" in a search for the smaller particle on earth.
The awards carry a cash prize of $150,000 in each category — with joint winners sharing the amount.
Today's laureates brought to six the number of Americans to win Nobel Prizes since the 1976 series of awards began last Thursday.
Economics Professor Milton Friedman of the University of Chicago won the economic award and the medicine prize was shared by professor Barch Blumberg, of Philadelphia, and Dr. Carleton Gajdusek of Bethesda, Md. The 1976 Nobel peace prize was not awarded this year.

HARTFORD — Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., says President Ford is trying to be on both sides of the Arab boycott of Israel issue. Ford has claimed he supported laws to penalize companies cooperating with the Arab boycott, but Ribicoff said Sunday administration aides worked to defeat the measure.

STAMFORD — Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., has now raised $401,122 in his re-election campaign effort, his treasurer reports. His Democratic opponent has collected about $200,000.

ENFIELD — Lester M. Martin III, 18, of Independence, Kan., and four other persons, including three 15-year-old girls, were arrested on arson charges as they sat in a car watching a fire early Saturday which caused $500,000 damages to a shopping center. Authorities say the fire was set to cover up a burglary.

VATICAN CITY — John Ogilvie, who was executed for high treason more than 350 years ago, became the first Scottish saint to be formally canonized since Queen Margaret in 1250. Pope Paul VI conducted the canonization rites before 20,000 persons, including 4,000 Scottish pilgrims, Sunday.

Nkomo wants Crosland to chair conference

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (UPI) — Black nationalist leader Joshua Nkomo demands Britain send its foreign secretary to chair the forthcoming Geneva conference on setting up an interim government in Rhodesia.
Nkomo, one of the nationalists invited to Geneva to try to work out an interim government with Rhodesia's white leaders, made the demand in a speech Sunday before some 5,000 black supporters of his wing of the African National Council.
The conference is to open formally Oct. 28 under the chairmanship of British U.N. Ambassador Ivor Richards. Nkomo demanded the chairman be Foreign Secretary Anthony Crosland.
"You want to devalue our conference," said Nkomo, addressing himself to the British government.
"We are not a devalued country, you know. We are Zimbabwe in full and therefore, we say to Mr. Crosland and to his chief (Prime Minister James Callaghan) we expect to meet Mr. Crosland at Geneva on the 28th to chair that conference.
"Or it may take us quite a number of days — if not weeks — to discover what the shape of that (conference) table will be," he added, laughing.
Nkomo spoke before flying to Nairobi, Kenya, for talks with President Jomo Kenyatta. Later this week he travels to Soviet-backed Somalia to meet President Siad Barre.
In preparation for Geneva, Nkomo has formed a "patriotic front" with the more radical Robert Mugabe's Zimbabwe African National Union. Without mentioning Mugabe, Nkomo devoted most of his address to assuring Rhodesia's 275,000 whites they would not be the object of discrimination when political power goes to the hands of the country's 6 million blacks.

"Nobody wants to take anybody's home," he said.
"Our economic system will be based on the traditional and cultural heritage of the people of Zimbabwe — a heritage of land belonging to the people. But we have got to know that we now live in a world that uses a money economy in a technological age."

Deaths apparently frighten away many people from flu clinics

By SCOTT MACLEOD
United Press International
The deaths of several aged recipients of swine flu shots frightened thousands away from immunization clinics in some states, but federal health authorities said Sunday the impact can't be measured until later this week.
In Allegheny County, Pa., where the three deaths a week ago kicked up a stir over President Ford's $135 million national inoculation program, clinics reopened but only 17,074 of an expected 100,000 showed up.
Figures were not completely available as Michigan's immunization program resumed in eight counties, but health officials were disappointed with the turnout. In Jackson County, where 20,000 were expected before the flu shot scare began, 3,550 people were immunized.

"With the bad publicity we lowered our sights, but we were still hoping for at least 9,000 today," said Jackson County Health Department nursing director Delores Ray. "I guess we were too optimistic."
Health officials in Louisville, Ky., Macon, Ga., and Dade County, Fla. also reported weekend immunizations dropped off sharply.
Besides Allegheny County and Michigan, immunizations were resuming in Louisiana, Vermont, Texas, Wisconsin, Maine, Virginia, Illinois, New Mexico and Alaska. All halted programs following the Pittsburgh deaths and the reports of similar fatalities that followed.

The Center for Disease Control in Atlanta ruled out any connection between the deaths nationwide of 35 persons within 48 hours of their inoculations and the vaccine or the way it was administered.
The CDC was using a "hyped up" surveillance program to monitor turnouts at clinics to gauge the effect on the program designed to protect Americans from a flu outbreak this winter.
"It's a little early yet to say the program is picking up after the scare," said spokesman Don Barreth. "We receive weekly reports from the states about midweek and until then there's no way to know what is happening with local programs."

State auditors oppose restructuring plan

HARTFORD (UPI) — A proposal to consolidate the state bureaucracy into 14 "superagencies" does not meet with the approval of state auditors.

Auditors Henry J. Becker Jr. and Leo V. Donohue said the proposal of the Committee on the Structure of State Government released last week could cut efficiency while increasing costs.

"It could end up costing more with the public getting less," Donohue said.

The committee, headed by Aetna Life & Casualty Co. Chairman John Filer, recommended the state's 256 government units be merged into 14 departments in hopes of giving taxpayers better service.

"It doesn't matter whether the governor has 14 buttons on his desk or 26, as long as she knows which one to push to get action," Becker said.

The committee's recommendations — which members emphasize are only in the draft stage — would set up 13 cabinet-level departments and a separate "staff agency" under the governor to coordinate them.

Among specific recommendations of the Filer Committee was that the auditors disagreed with one that would eliminate an elected state official — the comptroller.

"If there's one function of state government that requires public credibility and independence it's the reporting of the state's fiscal position," Donohue said.

"Any accountant will tell you that the basic control factor is that responsibility is dispersed among a number of different people," Becker said. "The comptroller's operation is unspectacular, but in the course of a year its magnitude is tremendous."

Becker said he also disliked the idea of creating an Office of Policy and Management, which would be the governor's staff agency for budgeting and controlling the 131 cabinet departments.

"We are dead set against a financial control system which puts the initiation of fiscal policy, disbursement of funds, recording of transactions and issuing of reports under one person," he said.

Earnings drop
 Southern New England Telephone Co. of New Haven has reported third quarter earnings of $1.14 per common share, compared with $1.16 for the same period a year ago.

SNET President Alfred W. Van Sinderen said the slightly lower earnings reflect the impact of Aug. 1 cost-of-living wage increases for the Connecticut Union of Telephone Workers. Damage caused by Hurricane Belle also caused extra expenses, he said.

Opinion

A right distorted becomes a wrong

One of the most important decisions the U.S. Supreme Court will hand down in its 1976-77 session is a challenge to its controversial 1968 Miranda ruling concerning the admissibility of evidence against criminal suspects.
A better case for overturning or severely curtailing Miranda could not have been presented to the high court than an appeal by the state of Iowa of a conviction of the 1968 sexual murder of a 10-year-old girl.
It seems that the suspect, one Robert A. Williams, had turned himself into Davenport police and was advised by two lawyers not to make any statements until he was returned to Des Moines. Police agreed not to question him.
On the way to Des Moines, however, an officer persuaded Williams to lead him to the girl's body before it was hidden by snow. Her parents, he said, "should be entitled to a Christian burial for the little girl who was snatched away from them on Christmas Eve and murdered."

cept of a defendant's rights under the law. What an insult to the rights of all decent, law-abiding people.
If the Supreme Court abolishes Miranda, it will have been because of the outrageous behavior of the legal profession - of judges, who have freed accused murderers not because the evidence against them was not conclusive but because in obtaining it the police had not conformed with every jot and tittle of the law, as the judges interpreted it. Of lawyers, who have forgotten that their essential duty is to see that their clients receive a fair trial, not to get them off by any means possible.
If the Supreme Court abolishes Miranda, it will have been because a scandalized and abused society is demanding that the legal system begin serving again the true end of justice, which is the identification and punishment of those who break society's laws.
It may be true that Miranda came about because of past abuses by the police. No one wants to return to third-degree methods of interrogation.
But Miranda has gone too far. Or more accurately, judges and lawyers have permitted it to go too far.
As Supreme Court Associate Justice Byron R. White, one of four dissenters in Miranda, predicted in 1966: "In some unknown number of cases the court's rule will return a killer, a rapist or other criminal to the streets and the environment which produced him, to repeat his crime, whenever it pleases him."
That prophecy has come true.
We agree with Iowa Attorney General Richard C. Turner, who told the court that the sole constitutional requirement for admissibility of evidence should be that it be given voluntarily.
Even that would leave a plenty wide enough loophole for clever lawyers to exploit.

A powerful name
The Disciple John once spoke to Jesus (Mark 9:38): "Master, we saw a man who is not one of us casting out devils in your name..." Jesus responded: "You must stop him; no one who works a miracle in my name is likely to speak evil of me." It is an old idea that the name of a powerful spirit can hold sway over a lesser power.

Catholic church criticized for actions against abortions
To the editor:
Incipient national tragedy casts its shadow over this nation now the "right of life" is operating with such militancy that separation of church and state as mandated by the Constitution is in jeopardy. This fundamental principle, so carefully constructed by our forefathers, has blossomed out country by allowing all religions to live together in peace. Catholics and all others are free to refrain from abortion procedures; free to procreate without limit whatever their circumstances, with no tax increases for necessarily increased public services; they have access to public education or tax-exempt schools and churches of their choice; and no one questions these rights which have been our peaceful heritage for 200 years.

Now, Catholic bishops and their followers, under direct orders from the Pope, are attempting to violate this heritage by injecting their religious concerns into our presidential election in a massive effort to mutate the United States Constitution.
They approve a candidate who has demonstrated his great "concern for human life" by a lifetime record of vetoes for programs concerned with human welfare. During his years in Congress he consistently opposed Social Security and Medicare and under his aegis Social Security has been robbed by inflation and Medicare eroded by increasingly higher payments for greatly decreased benefits while his Secretary of State runs around the world spending a few billions here and there to make his foreign policy look effective.
He has vetoed food stamps for the hungry, hot lunches for under-nourished children, day-care centers for working mothers, and the Humphrey-Hawkins bill which the Congress passed over his veto. He has curtailed benefits for veterans and his solicitude for the unemployed has not been in evidence, nor come to think of it, in his long political career has he ever taken any stand on abortion until confronted with the loss of votes in clinging to the presidency.
Apparently these militants have decided that God isn't interested in the quality of life; only that every fetus shall mature and be born however inhumane and circumstances awaiting it. To me it is incongruous that God should be thus agitated while around the world millions of people including children and babies, with stick-like limbs and distended abdomens, undergo the agony of death by starvation. Red was a predominant color at the British American Club Sports Night last Wednesday. The BA's honored its 1946-47 basketball team, the one that took the game out of the East Side Rec and into the State Army and brought bigtime basketball to Manchester.
There were red slacks in solids and in checks. Shirts - both open neck with leisure suits and those who wore ties - were in shades of pink and cranberry. Jackets came in several shades of red, too.
Rather appropriate, when you remember that the club's uniforms were red and white.
But the dominating shade of red was still worn on the top of Red Gavello's head.
As Tom Kelly put it, "I haven't seen Red in 25 years, but you can't mistake him when you walk into a room; he hasn't changed much, and his hair is just as red."
Eight of the twelve members of the ball team were there: Puit Saimond, Johnny Greene, Pat Murdoch, Dick Cobb, Mike Zwick, Paulie (Brow-Wow) Worobel, Gavello, and the Reflections author.
Earl Yost was in New York for the Yankees-A's American League playoffs; neither Johnny Hillini nor Russ Allett could make it; Fran Mahoney said he didn't have any luck...

Woman serious hurt in auto accident

A Vernon woman hurt in a Sunday traffic accident in Manchester was seriously injured and was towed away. Police are still investigating the accident.
The car, a Volkswagen, was badly damaged and was towed away. The driver, Mrs. Joan Jewett, 28, of Maple Dr., Coventry, apparently lost control as she was going east. The car went off the road and struck a fire hydrant, police said.
Rice wasn't hurt, police said. His car was towed. He was issued a summons for failure to drive right; court appearance isn't required.

Cargo ship feared sunk

NEW YORK (UPI) - A Panamanian cargo ship carrying 37 crew members is feared sunk in an area of the Atlantic Ocean known as the "Bermuda Triangle," the Coast Guard said today.
"it doesn't look too good," a Coast Guard spokesman said. "We fear that the freighter Sylvia L. Ossa has been sunk, and there are no signs of survivors at this time."
The spot where the ship is thought to have gone down is part of the "Bermuda Triangle" area, which has been the subject of several books dealing with the disappearance of ships and aircraft.
An aerial search of more than 8,200 square miles of ocean, centered 160 miles west of Bermuda, yielded no results," the spokesman said.
The search continued Monday with two long-range planes from Elizabeth City and a Navy P3 plane from Bermuda sweeping an extended sea area.
The spokesman said, however, that "an oil slick, an overturned lifeboat and a life ring," tentatively identified as having come from the 590-foot ship, were found about 160 miles west of Bermuda and 420 miles southeast of Elizabeth City, N.C.
He said there was evidence the life preserver "had been near fire."
The spokesman said the ship, enroute from Brazil, was carrying a cargo of iron ore and was due in Philadelphia at 5 a.m. Friday. It reported its last position at 5 a.m. Wednesday as 140 to 150 miles west of Bermuda and said gale force winds had forced it to reduce speed.
He said the Coast Guard started an air search for cargo vessel, represented by the Omnium Shipping Co. of New York City, when it failed to arrive on schedule.

Four ZBA hearings set for tonight

The Zoning Board of Appeals will meet tonight at 7 o'clock in the Municipal Building's hearing room. Four public hearings on requested zoning variances are scheduled.
Louis M. Cherrone is asking for a variance to erect a free-standing floodlighted sign at 64 E. Middle Tpk. The sign, which will be for a package store at the site, will be ten square feet. The property is Residence Zones C and A.
The other three public hearings will be for minimum side yard variances.
Mary Ellen Lee is seeking a variance to reduce her north side yard to seven feet. She wants to build an additional attached garage at 48 Sleep Hol Lane. The land is Residence Zone AA, which requires a 15-foot side yard if no variance is granted.
John Hutchinson is also asking for a variance to reduce his north side yard for construction of a garage. The land, at 88 Irving St., is in Residence Zone A, which requires a ten-foot side yard without a variance. Hutchinson is seeking an eight-foot, four-inch side yard.
The third request for a side yard variance is from B. Z. Gordon of Colebrook and M. G. Davis of Farmington. They want to reduce the north side yard at 46 Adams St. to 5.3 feet to construct an addition to an existing building at the site. The property is in an industrial zone, which requires a 15-foot side yard without a variance.

ARE GLORIA STEVENS FIGURE SALONS DIFFERENT FROM THE OTHERS?

Gloria Stevens Figure Salons are the largest system of weight control salons exclusively for women in New England.
An estimated 50,000 women of all ages attend each week.
Naturally, there are other figure salons and health spas Gloria Stevens competes with throughout New England. Then why is Gloria Stevens so successful?
Women can control their weight. Gloria Stevens works. Women can simply their weight. Gloria Stevens has their goal, even though they have tried other methods and have failed.
The Gloria Stevens uses the MED Method. The technicians, all certified by Gloria Stevens Director of Training, are there to help each member reach her goal.
"The technicians really care about you," is a statement heard over and over again. "They're as excited as you when you lose weight."
Each program of exercises is individualized for the member, with each exercise approved by the Director of Training at Gloria Stevens. Each diet, nutritionally balanced, is compiled by Gloria Stevens' registered dietitian.
An introductory offer, 6 weeks of unlimited for just $25, shows each member what Gloria Stevens can do for her.
That is why Gloria Stevens Figure Salons are different from the others - she really cares and shows it.

Educator challenges community

"The state taxpayers have invested $1.4 million in this new facility and you and the groups you represent have invested many more hours and dollars to put this program together. Don't let it stop with 150 students, with one building, and with one small staff. Let this be the very smallest beginning of a very big step forward for other handicapped youngsters in this state," he concluded.
Dr. Shedd was introduced by Dr. James Kennedy, Manchester superintendent of schools who was a master of ceremonies for the dedication attended by more than 200 dignitaries, educators, teachers, students, parents and citizens.
Other program participants were Martha White, who directed the Manchester High School Round Table Singers; Rev. Nevell Curtis Jr., Center Congregational Church pastor, who gave the invocation; Paul Phillips, chairman of the town building committee; Dr. Ronald Denison, MCC president; Alan Thomas, chairman of the Manchester Board of Education; Mrs. Marcie Negro and Mrs. Phyllis Finnie; Norman Fendell, director of the center.
After the program, tours of the new facility were conducted and refreshments were served under the supervision of Kathy O'Connell.
The new facility provides special training in several fields such as food service, woodworking, auto service, printing, retail sales, art and academics.

Two convicts transferred

SOMERS (UPI) - Two convicted murderers said by prison officials to be involved in recent disruptions at the state prison have been transferred to federal facilities.
Prison officials have described both men as troublemakers in the past years and said they allegedly were instrumental in two demonstrations last month at the prison.
In one of them, riot-equipped guards using night sticks had to force 66 demonstrating inmates from a recreation area and place them in segregated cells.
Consume was sentenced to life for the 1970 strangulation of a Wilton housewife. Chapelle was given a life term for the slaying of a Hartford policeman in 1964.
Lopes said the transfers were not punitive but were carried out because the two could not make adjustments in the state maximum security facility at Somers.

HOW THEY STAND On arms control and nuclear proliferation

Asked if he thought the American people needed convincing about SALT, Ford said he was "convinced the American people want their President, their government, to make responsible and safe agreements. On the other hand, I do not believe the American people want their President to give more than he gets."
Referring to the SALT negotiations, Carter said: "Unfortunately, the agreements reached to date have succeeded largely in changing the buildup in strategic arms from a 'quantitative' to a 'qualitative' arms race. It is time, in the SALT talks, that we complete the stage of agreeing on ceilings and get down to the centerpiece of SALT - the actual negotiation of reductions in strategic forces and measures effectively halting the race in strategic weapons technology."
The longer ineffective arms reductions are postponed, the more likely it is that other nations will be encouraged to develop their own nuclear capability."
Carter suggested that the United States and the Soviet Union should immediately "conclude an agreement prohibiting all nuclear explosions for a period of five years, whether they be weapons tests or so-called 'peaceful nuclear explosions, and encourage all other countries to join... A contribution also has been made to the world's determination of the signatory states to call a halt to the further development of nuclear weaponry."

Sochacki-Person

Vicki L. Person of East Hartford and John S. Sochacki III of Oaklyn, N.J. were married Oct. 16 at South Congregational Church in Hartford.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Person Jr. of 137 Madison St., East Hartford. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Sochacki Jr. of Oaklyn, N.J.

The Rev. Raymond Clarke of Hartford performed the double-ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an ivory gown designed with high neckline, long sleeves with lace appliques and seed pearls and a long train. She wore a finger tip veil of illusion and carried a bouquet of gardenias, baby's breath and stephanotis.

Miss Jill Kirwin of East Hartford was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Diane McDonald of Trenton, N.J. and Mrs. Kathleen Ling of Saugus, Mass., the bride's sisters; and Mrs. Nancy Ford of Pennsauken, N.J. and Miss Barbara Sochacki of Oaklyn, N.J., sisters of the bridegroom.

Edmond Malinowski of Boston, Mass. was best man. Ushers were William Sochacki of Oaklyn, N.J., the bridegroom's brother; John Ford of Pennsauken, N.J., the bridegroom's brother-in-law; Nikolai Sobanchak of Oaklyn, N.J.; and Donald Smyth of Hartford.

A reception was held at the Masonic Temple in Manchester, after which the couple left for Florida. They will live in Lindenwald, N.J.

Mrs. Sochacki is employed as a medical secretary at Aetna Life and Casualty. Mr. Sochacki was discharged from the U. S. Army in 1975 and is employed as a draftsman for I.T.E. Imperial in Beltsman, N.J.

Indians play impressively in defeat

By LEN AUSTER

Don't look at the final 20-0 score. Yes, it goes into the record books as another loss for Manchester High's football team and a victory for Concord High on its home field in West Hartford Saturday. If anything, look at the second half.

The Silk Towers had been pushed around pretty awful in the first half by the 40 Chiefs fans which a 13-4 edge had been erected. Concord ran at will, not having to punt, and racked up 171 yards on the ground and 11 more in the air the first 24 minutes. Touchdown number of 28 yards by David Brophy and two yards by Tim Diarabella and a conversion boot by Mark Roth more than offset a seven-yard scoring jaunt by Manchester signal-caller Ed White.

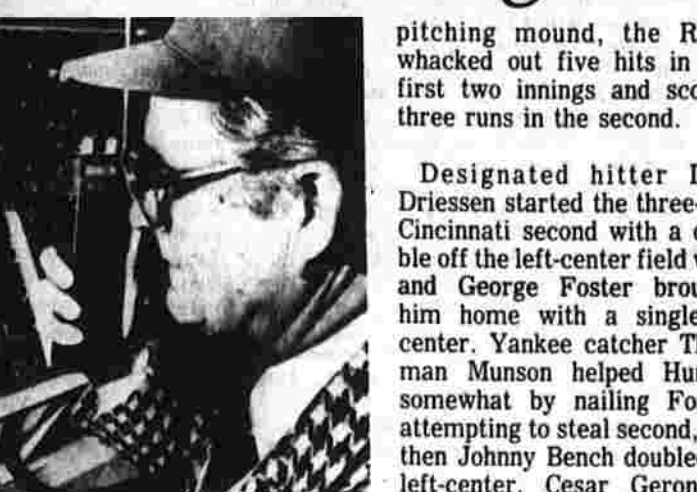

"I feel this will turn our season around. The way we played in the second half shows we can do it and I'll give our team the confidence it needs," continued the rookie Indian coach.
Conard was limited to 43 yards in the second half and one first down, that early in the fourth stanza. Manchester, meanwhile, totaled 132 second-half yards including 69 in the air. White completed nine of 23 passes for 87 yards over-all but was intercepted three times, the third at the final gun. One dropped aerial could've made a world of difference. Immediately after the Chiefs fans went up by a 13-4 count, White tossed something for Manchester, they'll continue it Saturday at the friendly confines of Memorial Field where Wetherfield Hill will provide the opposition. And the Indians will be out to play 48 all-out minutes of football.

Reds don't believe manager

NEW YORK (UPI) - Sparky Anderson still says the World Series will go seven games. Luckily, he hasn't got his Cincinnati Reds players believing it.
"I still think it's going to go seven," said the ever-cautious Anderson Sunday night after the Reds, seeking to become the first National League team in 54 years to win back-to-back World Series championships, left home for Yankee Stadium with a 2-0 game lead over the New York Yankees.

That two-game bulge was achieved when Tony Perez warmed the 54,816 chilled Cincinnati fans, who braved the near-freezing weather of the first-ever Sunday night series game, with a game-winning, ninth-inning single that gave the Reds a 4-3 victory over the Yankees.

"I knew with the winning run on second base, I had to get him in," said Perez, who was given that opportunity after Yankee shortstop Fred Stanley threw wildly on Ken Griffey's two-out grounder for a two-base error and Yankee Manager Billy Martin ordered Joe Morgan walked intentionally. "When I got to the plate I didn't feel the cold. It was warm for me. I hit the ball so good I didn't feel a thing."

pitching mound, the Reds whacked out five hits in the first two innings and scored three runs in the second.

Designated hitter Dan Driessen started the three-run Cincinnati second with a double off the left-center field wall and George Foster brought him home with a single to center. Yankee catcher Thurman Munson helped Hunter somewhat by nailing Foster attempting to steal second, but then Johnny Bench doubled to left-center, Cesar Geronimo walked and Dave Concepcion singled home the second run of the inning. A sacrifice fly by Griffey later gave the Reds a 3-1 lead.

After that, though, the cold weather plus Hunter's sudden effectiveness, kept the Reds in check while the Yankees began pecking away at the lead. In the fourth, they scored their first run on singles by Munson, Chris Chambliss and Graig Nettles. And in the seventh they tied it on a single by Willie Randolph, a double into the left field corner by Stanley, a single by Roy White and Munson's infield out. White's single knocked out Reds' starter Fred Norman and brought on Jack Billingham, who wound up the winning pitcher by retiring all eight batters he faced.

Stanley said he was aware of Griffey's speed when he made the throw first. "As soon as he hit I said, 'Oh hell.'"

"I had to make a quick, off-balance throw," said Stanley. "He had 38 inches in his arm. He had to do everything to do with the play."

"We just aren't doing things right at this time and the Reds seem to be doing everything right. His speed breaks for us in these two games and it is an entirely different situation."

Griffey went to second on Stanley's errant throw, which went into the Cincinnati dugout and Yankee pitcher Catfish Hunter then intentionally walked Joe Morgan, which brought up Tony Perez.

"I respect Perez as a hitter," said Yankee Manager Billy Martin, "but I'd still rather pitch to him than the other guy (Morgan)."

Perez hit the first pitch by Hunter to drive in Griffey with the winning run.

"I didn't get it out far enough," said Hunter. "As soon as he hit it I said, 'Oh hell.'"

Martin vowed "things are going to change" when the series switches to New York Tuesday.

"It's time we do some hitting," said Martin. "Everytime they hit a blooper it falls in for a hit. They count as hits, big hits, but they're still bloopers."

"The Reds play good baseball, they're aggressive. At the plate and on the field they are not afraid to make mistakes."

"But we are better hitters than we have shown," said Martin. "We're better. They're still going to win this."

Perez felt 'warm,' but hot, night cold

CINCINNATI (UPI) - It was a cold night, but Tony Perez knew how to make it hot for the New York Yankees.

Insisting he felt "warm" at the plate despite temperatures in the high 30s, Perez heated up all of chilly Riverfront Stadium late Sunday night with a sizzling game-winning single for the Cincinnati Reds.

And Perez' clutch hit really put the heat on the Yanks.

"The New Yorkers limped back home today down 2-0 in games, deep in the pressure cooker against the red-hot Reds, who are threatening to sweep the Yanks in four straight just like they finished off Philadelphia in three straight in the National League playoffs."

Perez personally gave the Reds victory No. 2 Sunday night. With his score tied, 3-3, and two out in the bottom of the ninth, Perez stroked a single to score Ken Griffey from second base with the winning run.

"When I got to the plate I didn't feel the cold," Perez said, ignoring temperature. "It was warm for me. I hit the ball so good I didn't feel a thing."

Perez, who went 0-15 through the first four World Series games a year ago, is off to a sizzling start against the Yankees - three hits Saturday and two more Sunday night.

Reds' Manager Sparky Anderson said there couldn't have been a better hitter at the plate in Sunday night's tense situation than Perez.

"For 10 straight years he's had over 90 RBIs," pointed out Anderson.

Stanley made good play but...

CINCINNATI (UPI) - "I made what I thought was a good play," said New York Yankee shortstop Fred Stanley. "But I end up being the dog. That's what's so crazy about the whole thing."

It was a throwing error by Stanley on Ken Griffey's grounder in the bottom of the ninth inning that set up the winning run for the Cincinnati Reds in their 4-3 World Series victory over the Yankees Sunday night.

"Five inches to the left and he would have been out," said Stanley. "Maybe three inches."

Stanley said he was aware of Griffey's speed when he made the throw first. "As soon as he hit I said, 'Oh hell.'"

"I had to make a quick, off-balance throw," said Stanley. "He had 38 inches in his arm. He had to do everything to do with the play."

Namath leads Jets at New England

FOXBORO, Mass. (UPI) - Remember when Joe Namath was the hottest kid trying, and succeeding, in quarterback duels against old masters like John Unitas and Sonny Jurgensen?

Well, tonight Namath is the wizened veteran in a little drama at Schaefer Stadium as he leads his injured Jets against young stallion Steve Grogan and the upstart New England Patriots.

The Patriots are listed as 13-point favorites, but they have defied the betting line in each of the last four weeks. The Jets were underdogs last week against Buffalo, but pulled an upset.

So the nationally televised contest comes down to Namath's craftiness versus Grogan's scrambling style.

Namath has completed 51.5 per cent of his passes this season for 360 yards and one touchdown. Grogan has completed 51.7 per cent of his tosses for 388 yards and nine touchdowns. Grogan has also rushed for four touchdowns.

Namath, however, has been intercepted four times in 103 passing attempts. Grogan has had 12 of his 42 aerials stolen in 129 attempts.

Barber held a three-stroke lead after the third round, also played on Sunday, and appeared headed for victory until Baird, playing in the same threesome as the leader, hit his ace with a three-iron on the 182-yard 12th hole.

Barber still raised his hands in victory on the 18th when he laid his approach shot next to the cup. But Baird, whose last victory came in 1965, sank his 15-foot putt for a seven-under 65 and the tie. Barber had a 70 on the final round.

Baird carded two bogies early in the round but also hit seven birdies and the hole-in-one for a seven-under-par 65 on the final 18 holes. His total score numbered 68-70-65-67-73 and the $25,000 first prize raised his earnings to $82,476 for the year and $264,864 for his career and qualified him for all of next year's tournaments.

Briece Lietzke finished alone at third place and collected $8,875. Finishing fourth at 10-under-par 278 and collecting $4,637.40 each were Dave Hill, Gary Koch, Sandy Galbraith, Al Geberger and George Cade.

Defending champion Don January finished at five-under 283 and 1973 champion Ben Crenshaw, hoping to take over the No. 1 position on the money list from Jack Nicklaus, finished in a five-way tie for 11th and collected only $813. Crenshaw is still $10,000 shy of topping Nicklaus with two tournaments left on the tour.

Angry Jim Hart leads Cards over Cowboys

NEW YORK (UPI) — It doesn't pay to get Jim Hart angry. The Dallas Cowboys learned that the hard way Sunday.

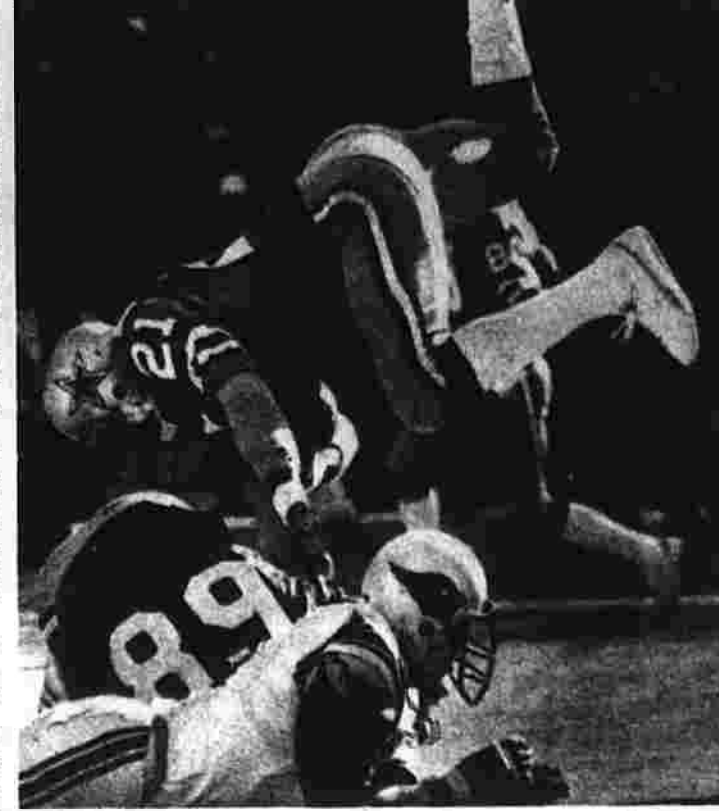

The Cowboys picked off two of Hart's passes on their one-yard line just before halftime and the St. Louis quarterback was fuming. Hart came back in the second half to finish with 36 yards passing, including three touchdowns, as he led the Cardinals to a 21-17 victory over Dallas that tied the clubs for first place in the National Conference East at 5-1.

"At halftime, I was mad, very mad with myself," Hart said. "There were some dumb moves on my part. You have two options and you wish you had run the second one. That way even if those two interceptions had been incompletions, they would have been at least six points more on two field goals."

Hart threw a 54-yard TD pass to Mel Gray in the second period and then put St. Louis ahead, 14-7, in the third period with a four-yard flip to Terry Metcalf. His 17-yard TD pass in the final period to 35-7-20, who caught seven catches for 152 yards, put the game out of reach and sent the Cowboys, who were the NFL's only undefeated, united team, to their first loss.

"It's a big win any time you beat Dallas," said Gray. "There had been talk that they're the best team in the NFL. I was ready for the game — psyched up. I couldn't get any higher than I was today."

Hart hit 22-of-32 passes and Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach, who entered the game with a 73.1 completion percentage, hit, for him, a sub- par 21-of-42.

The key point came late in the third period when the Cowboys blocked a punt and took over at the Cardinals' eight. Tackle Mike Dawson, the Cards' No. 1 draft choice, then led a goal-line charge that turned back Charles Young on a fourth-and-one plunge. Hart then hit four passes for 77 yards, the last one a 17-yarder which Cowboy safety Cliff Harris tipped into Gray's hands in the end zone.

"That touchdown to Mel Gray should have been intercepted," Landry said. "That was really the game."

Staubach hit Drew Pearson with an 11-yard TD pass with a little more than a minute left in the game and Dallas moved to the St. Louis 21 in the final seconds before a desperation pass bounced off the hands of Billy Joe Dupree in the end zone as the clock ran out.

"It would have been a super catch," Landry said.

In other NFL action Sunday: Steelers 23, Bengals 6

Francis Harris had an NFL record 41 carries for 143 yards and two TDs to lead Pittsburgh to an upset of Cincinnati that tightened the AFC Central race. Harris, who broke former Penn State teammate Lydell Mitchell's record of 40 rushes, scored twice on one-yard runs. The Steelers forced three turnovers and dumped Bengal quarterback Ken Anderson five times.

Colts 31, Bills 13

Mitchell pushed Baltimore ahead with a six-yard run and Bert Jones added two short TD passes as the Colts downed Buffalo and spoiled Jim Ringo's coaching debut. The Colts are now 5-1 and lead the AFC East.

Vikings 24, Giants 7

Fran Tarkenton threw for two TDs, including a 41-yarder to Chuck

Foreman, and became the NFL's first quarterback with 3,000 career completions as the Vikings beat the white Giants. Foreman had 201 total yards, 118 yards on eight receptions and 83 yards on 23 rushes. Denver, the Broncos rallied with 26 seconds left when Steve Ramsey completed passes to Otis Armstrong and Haven Moses but time ran out after Armstrong's 17-yard run to the Raiders' 25.

Chargers 30, Oilers 27

Lawrence McCutcheon, whose third-period fumble set up Chicago's only TD, burst 18 yards for a score with 5:31 gone in the last quarter to lift Los Angeles past the Bears.

Monte Jackson intercepted three Bob Avellini passes for the Rams, two of them in the last period.

Chiefs 20, Dolphins 17 (ot)

Jan Stenerud's 24-yard field goal with 17 seconds left in a rainy over- time pushed Kansas City over Miami. Garo Yepremian's 27-yard field goal tied the game for Miami in nine seconds left in regulation. It was the third straight loss for the Dolphins, their longest since 1970.

Coach Don Shula's first year with the club.

Seahawks 13, Buccaneers 10

Jim Zorn threw a 15-yard TD pass to Sam McCullum and John Laybold, who kicked two field goals as Seattle outlasted Tampa Bay in a duel of previously winless expansion clubs.

Zorn connected with McCullum in the second period after the Bucs had taken the lead on a first-period field goal.

Illing player won race to ball Bennet's Jim Gluhoski came out second best

Bennet defeats Illing on soccer field, 2-0

The first meeting of the year between Illing and Bennet Junior Highs on the soccer field resulted in a 2-0 Bennet victory Saturday morning at Illing.

Although the Rams dominated play, it was the outstanding individual talent of Jeff Lombardo that provided the margin of victory.

After a scoreless first period, Lombardo broke through and scored with a beautiful left footer from the left wing to the opposite corner on which the Illing goalie had no chance. Continued pressure by Illing's midfielders failed to produce the equalizer.

Late in the third period, Lombardo provided the clincher, this time with a right footed drive. Fouring quarter efforts by Illing couldn't find the back of the net.

Playing well for the 4-2 Bennet Bears were Lombardo, Tim O'Brien, Dan Collins, Ed Kennison and Ken Marshall. Illing, better than its 1-1 record indicates, got good efforts from Chris Hoyng, John Kelly, Alex Britnell, Chuck Costello, Terry McConnell, Steve Gallagher and Bill Herbit.

Eagles in heartbreaking loss

Dropping a heartbreaking 3-1 decision Saturday was East Catholic's soccer team to St. Thomas Aquinas at Cougar Field. The setback drops the Eagles to 5-4-1 in the campaign with their next start Tuesday in Bristol against St. Paul.

Aquinas opened the scoring with Terry Alexander converting a Jeff Stratton pass at the 14:10 mark of the first quarter. It remained 1-0 at the half.

East came out in the third period knowing the importance of the game and played very inspired soccer. At the five-minute mark of the fourth quarter, freshman Mark Marciano picked up a loose ball in front of the goal after an indirect kick and fired it by the Aquinas netminder to knot the score at 1-1.

Then the unbelievable happened. With East now pressing Aquinas late in the contest, St. Thomas fired the ball just over mid field. At this time Eagle goalie Don Martin called for the ball to "come through" but one of his fullbacks obviously didn't hear him, headed the ball and it bounced over Martin's head into the net. The goal was credited to John Kissisik.

"It was a tough game to lose," East Coach Tom Main noted. "But I guess that's the way the ball bounces. If these two games were special" the ones this week are crucial if we hope to qualify for post-season play.

"Our team has shown the desire this year not to give up and we are batters all the way. I'm very optimistic that this desire will get us the two games we need," the third-year Eagle coach concluded.

East outshot Aquinas, 21-12, with Marciano, Martin and Kevin Williams standouts in defeat.

In what MCC cross country Coach Dick Williams called "the most exciting meet for me in the two years here," the Cougars pulled off a stunning upset in topping the Naval Academy Prep Rams of New Haven Saturday, 23-34.

With the contest field on the 5.4 mile Manchester course, the Cougars went all out in gaining their fourth victory of the season compared to one loss.

MCC captured the 23-4-5-9 positions for its margin of victory. Brian Collins finished second with a time of 30:49 with Bruce Bayles, Bruce Caldwell, Mike Martin and Ted DeCarli taking the other spots for MCC.

Prep's Joe Suggs was the individual winner with a record-setting time of 28:52. The previous course record was 30:19 held by Caldwell.

Results: 1. Suggs (N), 28:52 course record; 2. Collins (MCC), 3. Bayles (MCC), 4. Caldwell (M), 5. Martin (MCC), 6. Connolly (N), 7. Driscoll (N), 8. Sota

Colleg Wednesday in Massachusetts.

It took less than a minute for the Cougars to get on the scoreboard. A Danyel Arenas pass set up a Gary DeGiacom goal as the midfielder booted a shot past South Central goalie John Osmak.

With 20 minutes expired, MCC scored again. Arena's dribbling technique, eluded two opponents before blasting a shot to the right side of the net. With seven minutes left in the half, Gary Perrelli passed to Bill Young in an open area and the latter's tally made it 2-0.

Early in the second half, a Scott Green chip set up a Roberto Cicero score. An indirect kick set up the next Cougar score. An MCC diversion worked perfectly as Mark Mailet's pass to Mike Motta traveled untouched with Motta having a clear shot on net. Arenas collected his second goal of the game when he intercepted a pass outside the penalty area, dribbled the ball to the right side of the net, and scored unassisted.

The Cougars outshot South Central, 29-3.

HARTFORD (UPI) — Trinity and Yale rolled up their fourth straight wins and Wesleyan powered its way to a third successive victory to highlight the football season's midway point in Connecticut.

Trinity came out on top 15-6 against Williams in a battle of underdogs. Yale made it look easy in a 37-6 Ivy League romp over Columbia and Wesleyan scored its second win in the first period in a 43-21 thrashing of WPI.

In other results, Southern Connecticut continued reeling downward, losing its 6th straight, 24-13 to Maine.

Also, New Hampshire outlasted Central Connecticut 34-21, Bridgewater State dumped Western Connecticut 24-7 and New Haven succumbed to Plymouth St. 19-7.

In this week's action, Yale, 4-1, visits Penn; Trinity, 4-0, hosts winless Colby; Wesleyan, 3-1, visits Amherst; UConn, 0-6, travels to Massachusetts; Central Connecticut, 3-3, welcomes Glassboro St.; Coast Guard, 1-5, goes to Western Connecticut, 3-2; New Haven, 1-4, is at Nichol and Southern Connecticut, 4-2, is idle.

Trinity's defense was scored on for the first time in 12 quarters but they contributed to three of the Bantams' four scores in recovering Middlebury fumbles.

Trinity sophomore Bill McCandless kicked three field goals, and Mike Brennan plunged one yard for a touchdown to make Trinity the only undefeated team in New England.

Tony Trivella led the Trinity defensive backs with an interception and five pass deflections and defensive end Don Grabowski sacked the Middlebury quarterback three times.

Yale halfback John Pagliaro continues his brilliant play for the Bulldogs, running for three touchdowns and gaining 118 yards in 12 carries.

Pagliari scored on runs of 18 and seven yards in the first quarter and added a 25-yarder midway through the third to give Yale a 4-1 season record, 2-1 in the Ivy League.

Yale halfback Ed Lewis also scored on a three-yard run in the fourth quarter. Southern Connecticut's effort overshadowed the running of fullback Mike Southworth, who picked up 108 yards in 11 tries for Yale.

All Columbia could do against the stubborn Eli defense was manage two field goals of 38 and 21 yards by Bob McKeon.

Wesleyan explored for 27 points in the first period, more than enough for the Cardinals' third straight win.

Quarterback Brad Vanacore threw for three Cardinal touchdowns.

Halfback Andy Darpino opened the scoring with a three-yard ramble, John Papa added two field goals and Dennis Robinson scored a punt 41 yards for another touchdown. A safety rounded out Wesleyan's scoring.

WPI rallied in the last quarter for three touchdowns but it was too little, too late.

Absentee voter rules announced

Vernon
During a presidential election, special provisions are made concerning absentee ballots allowing for voting for the president and vice president only.
Town Clerk Henry Butler said these provisions are added to the regular rules that apply to absentee ballots.
Any unregistered resident who will be 18 or older Nov. 2 and a qualified resident of Vernon who missed the Oct. 12 deadline for registering, is allowed to vote absentee for president and vice president. These persons must apply for an absentee ballot by Oct. 25. A former resident may apply for absentee ballot at any time.
An elector who will be absent from Vernon during all of the hours of voting on election day must apply for an absentee ballot by Nov. 1.
Absentee voting rules that apply to all elections allow voting by this method for the following reasons:
• Absence from the state during all the hours of voting. (Members of the armed forces need only be absent from town.)
• Illness or physical disability.
• Because religious tenets forbid secular activity on election day;
• Status as students or spouses of such students in a college or other institution of higher learning located in another town, who will be absent from town;
• Absence from town during all hours of voting.
Members of membership in a religious community, who may have a temporary place to live in another town.
These persons may apply for special application forms at the office of the town clerk, Memorial Building, Park Place either by mail or in person.
Completed ballots must be returned, by mail, unless a voter applies in person and fills out the ballot at the clerk's office. Mailed ballots must be received in the mail no later than election day.

Ahearn, Miller debate Tuesday Bolton
The public is invited to a meet the candidates night Tuesday at 8 at Herick Memorial Park.
Aloysius Ahearn (D) and Dorothy Miller (R), candidates for state representative from the 55th District, will talk.
They will answer questions. Coffee will be served.
The event is being sponsored by the Bolton Women's Club.

Breakfasts get another month
Hebron
Caterina Head Margery Forter presented the results of the experimental breakfast program to the board Tuesday.
It is going well considering that it cost 34.2 cents to prepare each breakfast and the department has about 35.5 cents to spend.
She said she received about 39 cents toward the cost from reduced priced meals and about 36.5 cents from free meal students.
The first problem was to find a menu the children liked. She said that waffles was a "handdown winner."
The program is averaging about 94 students per day, 72 who pay the full price of 25 cents, six at reduced prices of 5 cents and 17 free of charge.
She said that last spring when she introduced the program to the board, she estimated it would take about 70 students from both schools to carry the program. She said that due to unforeseen food price increases and the labor involved, that this figure was no longer realistic.
She stated that if more reduced and free meal students registered in the program, that it would be more successful because of the reimbursements from the government.
She said a loss of $3.50 per day could not be absorbed within the program.
The board agreed to continue the breakfast program for one more month while looking for solutions to the problems.

Phys ed to go coed by 1978
Vernon
BARBARA RICHMOND
Herald Reporter
In 1978 the physical education program in Grades K-12 in Vernon will be co-educational all the way through, Mrs. Claire Albom, physical education supervisor, told the Board of Education last week.
Mrs. Albom was speaking at a proposal to conduct a four-day workshop for Vernon teachers with the purpose of eliminating sex stereotypes from the classrooms.
The board approved an appropriation to exceed $13,162 to implement the workshop which will be conducted by the University of Hartford.
The workshop will be open to a maximum of 21 teachers. The cost of substitute teachers is not included in the amount. An attempt will be made to see if the university consultant might be available on a Saturday day of all the days will not involve hiring substitutes.
Vernon will be a pilot town for the program. Mrs. Albom said this type of education will help make the transition easier with the physical education program.
Teachers attending the workshop will be expected to come back to their respective schools and pass the information on to the other teachers.
At the completion of the classes the teachers should be able to identify the negative effects of sex role stereotyping in terms of loss of academic potential, self-esteem, and vocational potential.
Some of the other things the workshop should accomplish would be to: identify primary agents of sex role identification and sex-role stereotyping teacher attitudes, expectations and behaviors; identify sexist language and generate nonsexist alternatives; choose reasonable goals for nonsexist curricular innovations; and identify various types of sex-role stereotyping in curricular materials.
The university is offering credit for the workshop which is sponsored by the Capitol Region Education Council

Father and son scouts honored
Mrs. Freda Goodwin admires the Eagle pin on the Boy Scout shirt of her son Steven, 15, after the scout and his father, Louis Goodwin, left, were honored at the Troop 65 Court of Honor Friday evening at St. Mary's Church hall on Rt. 31, Coventry. The family lives on View Trail, Coventry. For his Eagle project, the son directed the planting of trees around the town dog pound. The father, also an Eagle, was honored for his 20 years service to scouting. He is the troop scoutmaster. Ed DeCroft, troop committee chairman, was master of ceremonies assisted by Paul Kingsbury, advancement chairman.

School holds open house
Coventry
Capt. Nathan Hale School will hold its annual open house sponsored by the PTO Tuesday and Thursday.
The double session will cover grades five and six Tuesday and grades seven and eight Thursday, both to start at 7:30 and run to about 9:15 p.m.
The open house is for parents only to inform them of programs and curricula.
Parents should gather in a Large Group Instruction Room where there will be an explanation of each grade level. Parents can ask questions.
Parents will then move to their children's classrooms. Those wishing to make appointments with teachers to discuss their child should do so during the evening in the school office.
The open house program kicks off the PTO year. Parents are invited to the next general meeting Nov. 8. Details on upcoming programs and general meetings will be announced early in November.

Council meets tonight

South Windsor
The Town Council will meet tonight at 9 in the council members of Town Hall.
Included on the agenda will be discussion of councilman Robert Myette's resolution that the council affirms its intent to use the community hall fire insurance funds solely for replacing the community hall for a building of general community use.
The resolution followed the suggestion by the Historical Society that $3,000 of the funds be used to move and renovate the old Sullivan house on Ellington Rd. for a town museum.
The council is also expected to vote on the transfer of a sum not to exceed $25 for brochures on the proposed firehouse headquarters which goes to referendum next month.
Following the regular meeting, the council will hold an executive session to discuss the public works contract and teachers pay talks.
Flu shots
Flu shots for senior citizens were administered today and will be given tomorrow at St. Margaret Mary's Church hall from 9 a.m. to noon.
Tuesday the mini-bus will be used for rides for the shots and will be used for the luncheon program. Meals will, however, be served at St. Peter's Episcopal Church.
This week's menu includes: Tuesday, roast rump of beef; Wednesday, baked stuffed cabbage; Thursday, chicken; Friday, baked flounder in sauce.
Friends of the Library will bring a film to the luncheon program Wednesday. Books will also be available for circulation.

League informs

East Hartford
When questioned by Board of Education member Mr. Richard Veltri on why the league did not favor the proposed renovation of the science wing, Mrs. Curtin deferred to Mary Goodwin, study committee chairperson.
Mrs. Curtin, voters service chairperson, read the four proposed amendments and the fifth question that will appear on the voting machine. The fifth question concerns the proposed renovation of the East Hartford High School science wing.
Mrs. Curtin said the league favored question one on the qualification of electors, question two for prerogative of 17-year-olds as electors, and question four for streamlining the reapportionment procedure.
Wing not studied
Miss Goodwin said education was not part of the league's program this year. Because the league did not study the proposal, it could not take a stand.
Later in the meeting, Dr. Veltri asked the candidates how they felt about the wing.
Democrats and Republicans agreed the science wing renovation is needed. They urged all voters to approve question five.

COC on board agenda

Hebron
The Board of Education will conduct a special meeting Thursday, Oct. 28 at the Hebron Elementary School on the Central Office Committee (COC), office of the superintendent.
Board Chairman Robert Owens and members Joseph Pelletier and Robert Nicols will explain the COC before opening the meeting for discussion.
Their talk will include the history and purpose of the COC, its powers and duties, apportionment of cost to member districts, and its legal basis.
School District No. 8 is composed of the towns of Hebron, Andover and Marlborough and Rham High School.
The board will discuss COC membership and Hebron's suggestion to other local boards and the state.
The board will also discuss the method of apportioning costs and budget approval for the COC.
Pelletier said the most important concern is budget approval and apportioning costs.
Leaf vacuums coming
Collections will begin in District I and last for four days, then move to District II for four days, and so forth. Each district will be collected twice.
In the latter weeks of the program, workers are prepared to use heavy loading equipment to remove leaves which may be wet or covered with snow.
Once again, residents are requested to rake their leaves to the curb area in long narrow furrows. It would be best if residents raked their leaves to their front yards until the day the vacuums come.
This would alleviate the problem of leaves clogging storm drains and the hazard of young children playing in leaf piles close to traffic. The leaves must be in the curb area, however, for pickup.

Door-to-door campaigning is the rule

Vernon
With about two weeks left to campaign, Chester W. Morgan, Democratic candidate for State Representative from Vernon's 56th District, said he has covered about two-thirds of his district in a door-to-door campaign.
Morgan said it is his goal to reach as many of the remaining households as time permits. He said he has found that talking with people in their homes is the best way to sample the opinions of Vernon voters.
He said in the closing weeks of the campaign he will visit people locally employed in business and industry and the housing projects for senior citizens. He said this way he can reach those who would otherwise be unable to express their views to him.
"Accessibility is one of the most necessary qualities in a legislator who should be representative of the views of his constituency," Morgan said.
Morgan is running against Republican candidate Morgan Campbell.
53rd District
Incumbent State Rep. Robert "Skip" Walsh released a financial statement in order to inform voters of his status.
Under assets, Walsh listed a home on Nathan Hale Rd. which will be worth, upon completion, $40,000. He also owns a 1974 Gremlin valued at $2,000, home furnishings valued at $3,000 and miscellaneous items valued at $2,000. The total was $47,000.
Under debts he listed a home mortgage held by Willamantic Savings and Loan Association for $25,500. A car loan of $800 and charge accounts and other bills totaling $800 made up his total listed debts $27,100. This meant his net worth is $20,200.
Campaign contributions to Walsh's efforts for re-election total $615. He gave the campaign $158.29. Earl Beebe gave $121.70, Arthur Lirot gave $75, Alvin Goodwin gave $50, and Barbara Goodin, $50. Several smaller donations made up the rest.
Walsh made similar disclosures of his finances before the November 1974 election which he won 4,109 to 3,566 against Jesse Brainard of Coventry.
53rd District
Malcolm Harris, GOP candidate for the 53rd House District, made the following release:
I have been campaigning door-to-door well over a month now. A door-to-door campaign is invaluable because you find out what the people are concerned with. Too many politicians are so busy talking about their own pet ideas that they don't have time to listen. But listening to constituents is what representative democracy is all about. They are the boss. It's their concerns that are important.
One of the biggest concerns I've heard is over the governor's finances. Two years ago a fellow in Suffield printed some bumper stickers that said "We can't afford a governor." Looking back with the benefit of two years' hindsight, two things are now clear: Ella (Grasso) can't take a joke; and we CAN'T afford a Grasso.
I have been listening to the taxpayers and the state employees in Tolland, Coventry and Willington. They are sick of the games that Ella the Ax has been playing with their money. They are still numb from hearing of a new deficit or surplus every other day. First we hear it's an $80 million dollar deficit. Then it's $60 million. Next we hear we're $22 million in the black. Or is it $18 or maybe $3?
Pelletier said he will close his door to door campaign by the end of the week. He will close his door to door campaign by the end of the week. He will close his door to door campaign by the end of the week.

Incumbent State Rep. Robert "Skip" Walsh released a financial statement in order to inform voters of his status.

Second Congressional District
Richard M. Jackson, Republican candidate for Congress, chided his opponent, Christopher Dodd, for being "much too modest."
"Dodd," said Jackson, "ran an ad in Monday's (Oct. 11) papers in which he listed his legislative accomplishments. He listed many things he had little or nothing to do with, and left out a bill he can take complete credit for... the bill to raise his own pay and allowances."
"The bill passed by one vote, Dodd's! It would have defeated if Dodd had voted no, so it is his bill!"
The bill in question raised Congressmen's pay from $42,500 to $44,000, and increased staff allowances, including the full cost of a newsletter to constituents.

55th District
State Rep. Al Ahearn called for an expansion of the State Employee Suggestion Awards Program by increasing the incentive awards and expanding the eligibility to include the public.
"The program is successful as far as it goes. In my two years on the Public Personnel Committee, I have learned that the best ideas for greater efficiency have come from people on the job, the ordinary worker who must live the problems day after day, year after year. Unfortunately, we have not really encouraged them to include the public."
A portion of the bill granting each congressman an automatic cost-of-living adjustment each year was hastily amended when it became a campaign issue," Jackson concluded. "I think Mr. Dodd should state here and now, before Nov. 2, what his position on cost-of-living raises for elected officials is, and how he would vote on such a bill if he is re-elected."

55th District
State Rep. Al Ahearn called for an expansion of the State Employee Suggestion Awards Program by increasing the incentive awards and expanding the eligibility to include the public.
"The program is successful as far as it goes. In my two years on the Public Personnel Committee, I have learned that the best ideas for greater efficiency have come from people on the job, the ordinary worker who must live the problems day after day, year after year. Unfortunately, we have not really encouraged them to include the public."
A portion of the bill granting each congressman an automatic cost-of-living adjustment each year was hastily amended when it became a campaign issue," Jackson concluded. "I think Mr. Dodd should state here and now, before Nov. 2, what his position on cost-of-living raises for elected officials is, and how he would vote on such a bill if he is re-elected."

to contribute their knowledge to the improvement of the system."
Ahearn said last year state employees contributed 1,563 suggestions of which 146 were adopted. That is about 10 per cent adoption ratio, compared to a 30 per cent ratio nationwide for those private companies that have suggestion programs.
"Although Connecticut saved an estimated $175,000 last year because of the awards program, I am sure that far greater savings could be made for the taxpayers of Connecticut if certain steps were taken by the General Assembly. I will submit legislation in the next legislature to bring the state awards program on an even par with every private industry to the extent that employees are paid for their suggestions beyond the first year of cost savings resulting from the suggestion."
Ahearn said the average span of usefulness of a suggestion is three years. Most private companies continue the award past the first year.
The second part of my proposal will be the inclusion of the general public in the awards program. At present, many citizens are frustrated by what they consider state "red tape." If given the chance to gain financially through a constructive suggestion, the average citizen could well have many extremely worthwhile ideas to contribute."
The 56th District includes the town of Andover, Bolton, Columbia, Hebron, Marlborough and Vernon.

55th District
Dorothy Miller, Republican candidate for state representative from the 56th District, criticized her opponent, Democratic incumbent Aloysius Ahearn, for a prolonged because of this type of financial assistance and the entire state suffers.
"We, the taxpayers, end up paying the tab for the strike. It should be the responsibility of the union who calls the strike to care for the striking workers."
"The aged, the blind, those who have been laid-off and families who cannot support dependent children deserve financial help. But I am opposed to Mr. Ahearn's vote in favor of welfare benefits for strikers."
Mrs. Miller ended, "If elected I will work to remove this provision from the state statutes."

Candidates debate in East Hartford

The League of Women Voters met competition last Thursday night from the World Series playoffs, a Little League banquet, two special church services, and a Housing Authority hearing resulting in a poor turnout at the annual Meet the Candidates Night.
One league member said the turnout is always lighter in a state election year. In 1975, the local election year, there was standing room only at the Meet the Candidates Night.
The league sponsors the program annually to provide nonpartisan information on candidates and issues at election time.
After Democratic Town Committee Chairman James Fitzgerald and Republican Chairman James Mirabile tossed a coin to see who would speak first, they introduced Lyan England.
Mrs. Lynn England of Manchester, Republican candidate from the Ninth Assembly District, was the first speaker. She said the key issue in this election is to restore confidence in state government. "A new legislature must practice true austerity to control spending," she said. In her four minutes, Mrs. England examined possible solutions to financial problems facing the state.
Murriel Yacovone
Murriel Yacovone, Ninth District incumbent, agreed the economy of the state is a most important issue. She said the past legislature made new beginnings to see where every penny comes from and where every penny goes. She said, "Much was accomplished and there is much to be done." The decision makers must find solutions for better management of state government, she said.
James Gallagher
James Gallagher, a political newcomer, is the Republican candidate for the House from the 10th Assembly District.
Gallagher's main concern is the financial crunch the working class faces. He cited increased gasoline taxes, sales taxes, license fees and registration fees. He pledged to fight higher taxation if elected.
Timothy Moynihan
The incumbent from the 10th District, Democrat Timothy Moynihan, looked back on his first term record. He mentioned loosening the Municipal Audit Act with State Sen. George Hannon to protect communities from such occurrences as the East Hartford Housing Authority investigation of a year ago. He also mentioned the bill passed concerning MDC membership and the first bill he voted for providing products for the blind and visually disabled.
James Cordier
Republican Town Councilman James Cordier, who is seeking the 11th Assembly District seat in the House, proposes increased economic development for the state. He pointed to his record as a member of the town's Economic Development Commission. He said, "The state could use East Hartford as an example as East Hartford is having a resurgence of growth."

Richard Willard
Democrat Richard Willard, East Hartford's representative from the 11th District, thanked the League for the opportunity to exchange views with the candidates. Willard, a veteran of five terms, pointed to his record as chairman of the House Regulations and Review Committee and a member of the Judiciary Committee. Willard explained representatives are called to committee year round and work many hours other than legislative session.
George Hannon
State Sen. George Hannon, Third Senatorial District, called the league's program "report card time" for interested citizens. He reported on what he did and what he failed to do in the past two years. Hannon said it was a difficult but interesting time because the lawmakers had to marry a deficit of a different administration in a time of shaky economy.
Hannon also acknowledged much work is done before and after public sessions. "Many hours the public and investigations," said Hannon.
Anthony Stoppa
Republican Anthony Stoppa, who is opposing Hannon, was not present for the program.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I've been married to this man for six years, and I don't think he loves me anymore. I came back from a trip one day earlier than I was expected, and I found my husband and this woman together. Not only that, but she was wearing my best nightgown—the one my husband had given me for Mother's Day!

I started a fuss and the police came and broke it up. They took her to the emergency hospital to repair some cuts and bruises I had given her during the fuss. I know I shouldn't have torn her that way, but I have a very bad temper.

The next day when I was straightening up my house I found all her underwear behind the sofa cushion. What should I do with her underwear?

BANGOR, MAINE

DEAR BANGOR: Give it to GOODWILL. (Maybe the underwear isn't hers!)

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for four months, and my wife and I are having our first disagreement. She insists that it's bad manners to clean up one's plate. She says when we are at someone's home or dining out, I look like I'm half-starved when I finish every morsel of food on my plate. She says I should always leave a little something.

I say it's foolish and wasteful to leave perfectly good food on a plate to be thrown out—especially at today's prices. Also, cleaning my plate is a habit of mine. Ever since I was a wee tot, my mother prodded me to clean my plate.

Please settle this.

CANADIAN

DEAR ABBY: I'm writing as one woman who has been in love with a married man to other women in the same boat. I suggest the following message to the man's wife: "Dear Wife: Your husband is going to leave you and marry me just as soon as: (a) you recover from your nervous breakdown, eye infection, hysterectomy, (b) you complete your vocational training, find a job, retire, (c) your kids are grown, out of high school, married and produce the first grandchild, (d) his parents are 'gone.' (He can't divorce his wife as long as his parents are living.) (e) The dog has its pups."

ARIES (March 21-April 19) There are some sudden and unusual career choices available today. Don't mind over them too long or you'll lose faith and lose out on what you desire.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Act upon unusual feelings or insights you have today without trepidation. Investigate the philosophy rather than the phenomenon.

SCORPIO (Oct. 26-Nov. 23) Today you'll be around extraordinary people today. They could bring you unexpected benefits. Later you might find yourself a little envious.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Keep gains or promotion that occurs today to yourself. Friends you feel could complicate things for you.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) An enthusiasm for pushing progressive ideas could backfire today. Guard against letting zeal become foolishness.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 23) Your alert mind will lead you to delve into the unusual today or visit popular places. It'll be fun for a change.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You have good earning could be unexpectedly surprised today and enjoy your riches and are also very minute of it. Some guff may enter your mind as you go.

DEAR CANADIAN: Old-fashioned etiquette books suggested that we "leave a little." But new-fashioned common sense tells us to "waste not."

I'm not recommending that the last drop of gravy be sopped up with bread; just don't put any more on your plate than you can eat.

Berry's World

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Jim: "James analysis by British internationalist Boris Schapiro is a collection of hands from actual play. He starts with a chapter on 'bridge humor'."

Oswald: "The humor in this hand was not appreciated by East and West. South really should have opened one club. With five very good clubs and five very bad spades you break the rule of bidding the higher-ranking, five-card suit."

Oswald: "The humor here is very British. At first glance West looks like an idiot. Actually, the fault lay with East. He dropped his desire of diamonds on that first diamond lead! It was an expert, or supposed expert, game. Had East played the three spot, West would have read him for two diamonds and sent that South was up to."
