

Bay State to vote on gun ban

By STEWART POWELL
BOSTON (UPI) — Massachusetts voters decide election day whether to outlaw the handgun in the nation's 10th most populous state.

The ballot question has sparked a crossfire in the progressive industrial state with both sides aiming well-financed advertising campaigns at taxpayers' pocketbooks.

Backers of the first statewide ban on the handgun in the United States argue it would cost the state $47 million to buy back an estimated 500,000 handguns licensed in the state in the past eight years.

Opponents estimate between 700,000 and one million handguns in circulation in the state of six million residents and set the cost to "adequately compensate the citizenry for private property appropriated to public use" at $125 million minimum.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who lost one older brother to a .22 caliber pistol and another to a rifle, has endorsed the proposal which a citizen's group forced onto the ballot after the Massachusetts Legislature rejected the ban.

"We won't keep guns out of the hands of criminals," the 44-year-old Democrat told one rally, "but we can make a difference. The Saturday night special and short barrel revolvers are just to kill people."

The Gun Owners Action League, a statewide organization lobbying against gun controls, contends passage of the ban will force layoffs at private security firms, open the door to additional restrictions on the right to bear arms and cost taxpayers millions of dollars in increased contributions to the gun industry.

"If guns are outlawed, only outlaws will have guns," one common bumper sticker says.

The proposed law, which would take effect six months after enactment by voters, would ban private ownership of all weapons with barrels of less than 18 inches except for military personnel, law enforcement officials, federally licensed gun manufacturers and museums.

"The act would not affect the possession of rifles, shotguns and certain antiques and replicas," Secretary of State Paul Gutz tells voters in an information booklet on nine referendum questions.

"I'd like to see one of the backers try and protect a payroll without a handgun," said Louis Goldstein, an attorney for an association of 200 licensed detective agencies employing 36,000 persons across the state.

The ballot showdown over handguns has prompted a variety of tactics by both sides.

The antigun control legislature tried to add a second question to the ballot to siphon off antihandgun sentiment, asking voters if they favored mandatory sentences for persons using handguns during felonies. The state Supreme Court knocked the question off the ballot.

The legislature already had countered an earlier move to ban cheap handguns with one of the most stringent control laws in the nation: a mandatory year in jail for any unlicensed person found with a handgun in his possession.

A study of the law by Harvard University's Center for Criminal Justice found "very limited" impact on violent crime from the mandatory sentencing.

Intensified lobbying by both sides colored the days prior to Nov. 2.

Smith and Wesson, the nation's largest manufacturer of handguns with plants in western Massachusetts, announced support for nationwide licensing of handguns as an alternative to a statewide ban.

Congress repeatedly has refused to impose national licensing of handguns.

And campaign finance records showed an apparent violation of Massachusetts' law by the antigun control organization "Taxpayers Against Question 5." It listed contributions of $30,000 from the National Rifle Association and $68,100 from the Gun Owners Action League without a breakdown on individual contributors.

Common Cause-Massachusetts, the citizens lobby instrumental in getting the campaign law passed, said the action "could be construed as a laundering of funds."

The state attorney general planned no investigation. And a spokesman for the antigun control group labeled the Common Cause allegations "just a crock, just another diversionary tactic."

The legislature still may have the last word despite the actions of the state's three million registered voters.

Rep. William Hogan, D-Everett, chairman of the Public Safety Committee, said the 280-member legislature never would appropriate funds to confiscate the handguns of law-abiding citizens, leaving them unprotected from the "criminal element."

"I just don't see that happening," he said.

Veterans' pensions to go up Nov. 1

Some 2.2 million veterans receiving compensation for service-connected disabilities from the Veterans Administration will receive an 8 per cent increase in their Nov. 1 checks.

The 8 per cent increase in monthly rates also was extended to nearly 320,000 surviving spouses and children receiving dependency and indemnity compensation from the VA. These payments go to eligible survivors of specially designated veterans who died on active duty or from service-connected causes. Rates range from $20 to $294, based on the veteran's military grade at the time of his death.

The increases were effective Oct. 1 and will be reflected for the first time in checks received Nov. 1, a VA spokesman said.

The President's action also expanded a number of other VA benefits for disabled veterans, including an annual clothing allowance paid to disabled veterans was increased $15 to $180 under the new law. Almost $52,000 service-disabled veterans, requiring use of prosthetic or orthopedic appliances, qualify for the allowance to offset expenses incurred in wear and tear of clothing. The increase will be reflected for the first time in allowances paid Sept. 1, 1977.

Eligibility for the one-time allowance of not more than $3,300 toward purchase of an automobile was extended to certain disabled veterans with military service after Sept. 15, 1940. Previously, eligibility was limited only to those who served after Dec. 8, 1941.

The new law also increased the maximum limit on mortgage protection life insurance from $30,000 to $40,000 for disabled veterans who receive grants for specially adapted housing.

Additional payments of up to $78 monthly was authorized for eligible veterans who receive compensation for a spouse, if the latter requires aid and attention or is a patient in a nursing home.

Burial benefits were expanded to permit reimbursement for cost of transportation, to the nearest national cemetery, of the remains of veterans who died of service-connected causes.

The increased benefits for disabled veterans are estimated to cost $400 million in fiscal year 1977.

Preliminary work going ahead on proposed Penney's complex

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

The town is hand-delivering letters today to homeowners and property owners in the neighborhood of the site for a proposed industrial park in Buckland, which, if plans are finalized, will include a proposed warehouse and distribution center for J.C. Penney.

Plans for the park, which will be located near Exit 83 of Route 154 between Tolland Tpk. and Burnham St., were announced Thursday morning at a press conference held in the Municipal Building. The Penney Co. was not mentioned by name, but Town Manager Robert B. Weiss referred several times to a "major prospect" that is interested in the site.

A local Penney official, however, has apparently confirmed that his company is the one interested in coming to town.

Roger Harwell, the manager of Penney's product service center on Progress Dr., said that the new proposed facility will have no adverse effect on his business, and may actually increase his work capacity.

He said that J.C. Penney has three divisions of services — distribution, warehousing, and products servicing. The new proposed building will serve as a distribution and warehouse facility, while his building will continue to work solely in products servicing, he said.

He said that he has known about the proposed project for a month. The letters being delivered from Weiss to homeowners and property owners explain that the park will be developed in the area.

About 14 of the area's homes will have to be taken for the park to be built. Some of these had already been expected to be removed, because the property is the original proposed site for Rt. 154. (The route will be relocated to accommodate the proposed park.) Seven homeowners, all on Tolland Tpk., will now be notified that their homes also will have to be taken to accommodate the park.

All these homeowners, plus residents who will neighbor the new facility, have been invited to meet with the town on Monday, Nov. 1 at 8 p.m. in Whilton Library.

In the letter, Weiss assured these residents, "We are insisting that the integrity of your residential neighborhood be preserved." He also outlined planned changes to local roads in the area.

Candidates pledge lower taxes

By LEWIS LORDE
United Press International

President Ford and Jimmy Carter both are talking lower taxes in hopes of winning the support of pocketbook-conscious voters in Tuesday's presidential election.

Ford promised to push for a tax cut in January while campaigning Thursday in Indianapolis, Cincinnati and Cleveland. Carter, campaigning in Erie, Pa., Cleveland and New York City, stopped short of promising a tax cut but said one would come "if our projections are right."

Ford scheduled stops today in Cleveland, Milwaukee, St. Louis and Houston, while Carter headed for Philadelphia, Toledo and St. Louis.

Ford claimed that the economy was the biggest difference between him and Carter. He said Carter has suffered "drastic slippage" in the polls because of public concern over his economic "policies of panic."

Carter, in Cleveland, declined to describe a tax cut as "inevitable," as he had the day before.

"I'm very careful about what I promise," Carter said. "If we can have a 5 or 6 per cent economic growth and if we can cut our unemployment rate down to just about what it was when Richard Nixon entered office and have inflation control and a normal relationship between government spending and our normal spending, we can realize enough income to have a combination of new programs and to have some tax cuts."

Reporters in Erie asked Carter why he might be losing ground to Ford, as indicated in surveys. "I'm not," he replied.

But Carter told an Erie rally "there are a long, tough live days ahead" and it would be a mistake to take anything for granted.

White House Chief of Staff Richard B. Cheney told reporters on Air Force One that Ford's staff now is certain that he will have the 270 electoral votes needed to win.

Cheney claimed that the Carolinas, Louisiana, Virginia, Mississippi and Texas are shifting to Ford, that he is secure in the traditionally Republican mountain and plains states, is ahead in California and is running neck and neck in most of the northern industrial states.

The addition of a trained social worker will make it possible for the New Hope staff to increase services not only to the 15 girls in residence but to girls who have been returned to their homes or to foster homes.

The secretary will be covering all the clerical work the staff is now doing, which draws them away from their real work of working with the girls.

The Hartford Foundation for Public Giving made its first grant of $20,000 to New Hope in 1974 for renovations and equipment for the former Cheney mansion on Hartford Rd. which New Hope leases from South United Methodist Church.

New Hope Manor given $21,000

New Hope Manor, a drug and alcohol rehabilitation center for teen-age girls on Hartford Rd., has received a $21,000 grant from the Hartford Foundation for Public Giving to add a social worker and secretary to the staff and to purchase a new van.

The new 15-passenger van, purchased under the grant and unveiled Thursday, will provide transportation for the residents of New Hope to medical appointments, recreational and cultural events, and will also be used for field trips from the school conducted for the girls at New Hope.

Four agencies join efforts to seek and train workers

HARTFORD (UPI) — Four state agencies will search for, train and hire at least 4,000 workers for the General Dynamic's Electric Boat Division in Groton, Gov. Ella T. Grasso said today.

EB is hoping to hire 2,000 skilled and semi-skilled workers by the end of this year and another 2,000 by the end of the 1977, company officials said at a joint news conference with the governor.

The Labor and Employment and Training Department will find the prospective employees, the Education Department's vocational education office will train them and Transportation will try to make commuting arrangements, Mrs. Grasso said.

The governor said the hiring drive will begin in November in Groton, Connecticut, where the 10 per cent unemployment rate is higher than the nationwide average.

She said it not cost the state any additional funds and least initially, but left open the possibility there may be added costs in the future.

The Groton submarine builder has been having trouble hiring skilled workers and is running behind schedule in the construction of 18 nuclear attack submarines, according to Navy reports. There is no delay, however, on the four Trident missile submarines now under construction, the report said.

State Labor Department officials said Thursday they will use their offices throughout the state to test and interview unemployed persons for the skilled jobs, such as welding.

Also, vocational training schools may be called on for job training and the Department of Transportation might be asked to help get workers from other parts of the state to Groton.

Olive Sheehan, the labor department's executive director for manpower planning, said she recently met with EB officials to discuss work scheduled over the next year.

The discussions included increasing the use of the federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act, which last year provided $60,000 through the state for EB workers.

The nation's biggest submarine producer employs about 19,000 workers, an increase of about 2,000 from last year.

Today's news summary

State
HARTFORD — Two of President Ford's campaign surrogates were to visit the state this weekend. Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., was to address a luncheon tonight in Waterbury and hold a news conference at President Ford Committee headquarters in Hartford this afternoon. Gerald Ford, Secretary of Commerce Elliot L. Richardson is slated to make stops in Southington, New Britain and Middletown.

HARTFORD — Sen. George L. Gunther, R-Stratford, says voters disappointed with Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., or his opponent, Mrs. Gloria Schaffer, can solve their problem by writing in his name. He has had a running feud with Weicker and says Mrs. Schaffer's no better.

NEW YORK — Ronald Reagan said today the presidential election is too close to call, but he "wouldn't be surprised" if President Ford is elected to a four-year term Tuesday.

WASHINGTON — Consumers could save millions of dollars a year in lower prices if soft drinks and beer were sold in returnable containers, according to an Environmental Protection Agency survey.

Regional
MONTPELIER, Vt. — Vermont could be the first state in more than a century to send a split delegation to the Electoral College. Voters who can't decide between Gerald Ford, Jimmy Carter or Eugene McCarthy will be able to cast one-third of a vote for each. The state has three electoral votes.

BOSTON — A lone gunman shot at a procession carrying new Communist party chairman Hua Kuo-feng three weeks ago, and later admitted he was acting for Mao Tse-tung's widow, the Boston Globe reported today. He was captured immediately and no one was injured.

MUNICH, West Germany — A Czech railway worker hijacked a Czech airliner to West Germany then quietly surrendered, explaining he wanted to escape to the West.

BELFAST, Northern Ireland — Maire Drumm, a leader of the provisional IRA, was shot to death in her hospital bed by three youths Thursday.

operate, simple electricity experiments for them to conduct and clothing from around the world to try on.

Just as John Folk is doing in the picture, boys and girls can also construct their own simple machines.

In addition to continuously changing displays and exhibits the museum offers young people a variety of other programs and activities.

For example, Martha Perkins and Reid Martin, both Manchester first graders, are learning to cook in "Fall Food Fun," one of the 26 after-school and Saturday enrichment classes being sponsored by the museum.

At the Oak Grove Nature Center, Ted Tehrani and Gina Marozzi are "Discovering Fall," while Jennifer Mackenzie, Cliff Ferguson and Jamie Gemblah are among those enrolled in "Beginning Photography."

In all, more than 650 children participate in such classes throughout the year.

Other programs at this learning and resource center include ecology field trips, children's theater, live animal demonstrations, ethnic experiences and Saturday happenings.

Besides working directly with children, the museum also conducts teacher workshops, family outings and adult workshops at both the Cedar St. address and the Nature Center.

The Museum, often called "The Doing Place," is open to the public, free of charge, 2 to 5 p.m. daily, except Monday.

FBI checking whisky bottle found in ferry wheelhouse

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The FBI is testing for fingerprints on a nearly empty half-pint whisky bottle found in the wheelhouse of the ferryboat George Prince, involved in a crash that killed more than 70 persons.

The discovery of the bottle was revealed Thursday, the fifth day of a hearing before a four-member Coast Guard board of officers into the Oct. 20 collision of the ferry and the 664-foot, 22,000-ton Norwegian tanker Frost.

A coroner's report released earlier said the captain of the ferry, Eugene Auletta, was drinking on the job and had consumed enough liquor to be considered legally drunk in many states at the time of the crash.

Seventy-four persons were known to have died in the crash and four others are missing and presumed dead. Eighteen persons were saved.

"This bottle was a half-pint bottle of Seagram's V.O. containing about one inch of liquid," said Cmdr. Peter Lauridsen, one of four Coast Guard officers investigating the collision.

"This piece of evidence has been transmitted to the FBI for tests to determine its content and to see if there were any fingerprints on the bottle."

The ferryboat is owned by the state of Louisiana and a state attorney immediately cautioned the board not to speculate that the bottle was Auletta's, who was killed in the accident.

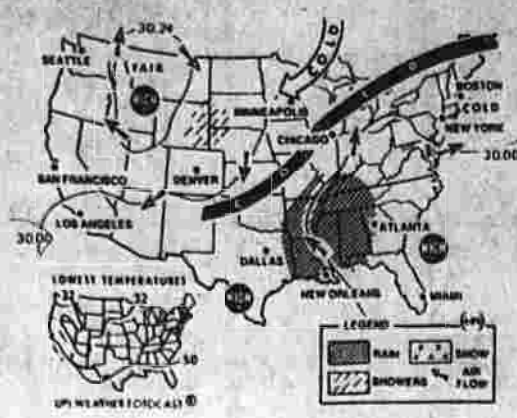

Grauel to address Israel reception

The Rev. John Stanley Grauel, a New England church leader and executive director of the American Christian Palestine Committee, will be featured speaker Nov. 7 at a reception for Israel at 8 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Nathan, 109 Adelaide Rd.

The reception is being planned on behalf of the 1978 State of Israel Bond Drive.

The Rev. Mr. Grauel became involved in the liberation of the Jewish people as a result of his experiences in World War II. He joined Palyam, the sea arm of the celebrated Palmach. He was a volunteer member of the crew of the Exodus as the ship set out for Palestine with 4,500 displaced persons aboard. During Israel's War of Independence in 1948, he helped raise funds and supplies for Israel.

National Weather Forecast

For period ending 7 a.m., Saturday, Oct. 29. During Friday night, rain is likely over most of the area from the west Gulf coast northward into the mid-Mississippi and Tennessee valleys. A few showers are possible in parts of the upper Plains while generally fair weather prevails elsewhere. Minimum temperatures include: (approximate maximum readings in parentheses) Atlanta 30 (50), Boston 40 (57), Chicago 37 (56), Dallas 46 (56), Denver 30 (57), Detroit 29 (46), Houston 31 (54), Jacksonville 48 (75), Kansas City 41 (56), Los Angeles 56 (72), Miami 69 (80), New Orleans 55 (70), New York 42 (59), Phoenix 31 (50), San Francisco 49 (65), Seattle 45 (57), St. Louis 37 (51), Washington 37 (51).

State reimbursements for local taxes drop

HARTFORD (UPI) — State reimbursement of normal property taxes to 27 communities with moderate income housing has dropped from 97.4 per cent two years ago to a record 67 per cent.

The decrease represents about $1.5 million less than full taxes on the housing projects developed with state loans or loan assistance.

The reimbursements, called Payment in Lieu of Taxes (PILOT), were established to provide tax compensation to communities which build the projects with state assistance.

John Zachos, administrator of the Department of Community Affairs, said Thursday the legislative appropriation for PILOT payments, $2.5 million, was the same this year as in the last fiscal year.

He said the reimbursements are smaller because assessments and tax rates in many communities which receive the payments have increased.

Last year, the rate of reimbursement was 74.5 per cent. The affected communities have complained the state should make PILOT payments equal to the full taxes, however, the department said the grants are discretionary, not mandatory, and payable at the level determined by the agency.

AL Halloween party Sunday

A free Halloween party for all Manchester children is being sponsored by the American Legion Post Sunday from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Legion Home, Legion Dr.

The party will also include a pie eating contest, Halloween goodies and games. Halloween costumes are required to wear costumes. Prizes will be awarded.

Opinion

One place where the voters care

There is one place where voter apathy will not be a problem on election day. At 2 p.m., Nov. 2, almost half the three million American citizens of Puerto Rico will allow themselves to be locked in school classrooms or confined in tents. Inside, they will wait up to two hours until their names are called in alphabetical order. Then they will sign a register, receive a long paper ballot and go inside a curtained booth to vote for governor, legislators, mayors and councilmen. After everyone has voted, they will be free to go. There is no law that says Puerto Ricans have to vote this way, except the law of custom. The unique balloting procedure has long been a tradition on the island commonwealth. Wholesale disinterest in the political process simply does not exist among Puerto Ricans. This year, even as some forecasters predict that a minority of eligible U.S. voters will turn out on November 2, over 80 per cent of Puerto Rican voters will visit the polls, gathering en masse in their precincts. This kind of turnout is not considered unusual, since fully 95 per cent of voting age citizens in Puerto Rico are registered to vote. This is almost as high as Australia, where although there is a fine for not registering to vote, registration has never exceeded 96 per cent. There are other signs that participatory democracy is alive and well in Puerto Rico. Each of the four political parties has its own flag, and during the election campaign the party flags snap and flutter over nearly every house and alongside every roadside. Night rallies are well-attended events. Yet with all their political enthusiasm, Puerto Rican voters have shown themselves to be somewhat conservative. Extremist actions by the New York-center FALN (nationalists) have been universally repudiated on the island itself, the vast majority favors continued close relations with the United States, either through statehood or the present commonwealth association. Now if only we could import some of that Puerto Rican political enthusiasm to the mainland.

Today's thought

It's autumn - Charlie Brown will look at that falling leaf and exclaim "Good grief!" It fills him with dreadful foreboding. While most of us like summer better than winter (my apologies to the winter sports enthusiasts), there is a glory to winter. An aged man wisely commented, "When it is here winter, and there is neither foliage nor fruit, then I look up through the leafless trees, as if I never could until now, and I see the stars shine." We owe much to the wintry experiences of life. They have often led us to look up and see the face of God. I read an article the other day which pointed out the achievements of the people who were physically handicapped and in pain much of the time, and what they have contributed to the "richness" of this world. It is an amazing record.

Yesterdays

25 years ago Manchester Rotary Club minister attracts an audience of 800. Girl Scouts open their annual drive. The First National Banks open additional quarters. 10 years ago Atty. John F. Shea is new town auditor.

HOW THEY STAND On deterring violent crime. Gerald Ford: Ford favors mandatory minimum sentences in crimes involving handguns, in serious crimes like drug trafficking, kidnaping, hijacking, and for repeat offenders who commit violent crimes. Jimmy Carter: In response to a question about crime from a Florida voter, Carter replied, "I honestly believe - and you may not like my answer - that one of the best ways to cut down on crime is to cut down on unemployment. ... Your own son, if out in the street and unable to find work, might turn to crime." Mr. Ford plus his hope of crime prevention on the example of "positive, swift, and just punishment." He believes "certainty of punishment prevents crime."

Economy too important to be left to economists

WASHINGTON - On the economic front, President Ford and Jimmy Carter have been engaged in a guessing game. They have addressed themselves not so much to what are the right policies, but to the priorities of a majority of the electorate. Andrew Tully: The question is whether the voters prefer economic growth, with its stimulating effect on employment, or a reduction in the inflation rate at the cost of a slower growth rate. Ford has moved cautiously to quicken the economy's pace, while seeking to reduce the high cost of living. He has cut the annual inflation rate in half since he took office, but unemployment is still a serious, continuing problem. Carter plumps for governmental spending to speed up the rate of economic growth and decrease unemployment. Ford doesn't talk much about unemployment. Carter doesn't talk much about inflation. That's politics, Mrs. Balderdash. Meanwhile, both candidates have something to crow about. The latest figures on the Gross National Product (GNP) show that the U.S. economic performance slowed its rate of growth to 4 per cent in the third quarter. Carter naturally pounced on those figures, reflecting a "backlash" economic recovery that could worsen the jobs problem while inflation was still with us.

In defense of Gen. George Brown

Lee Roderick: The Herald's Washington Correspondent. WASHINGTON - A number of national politicians have called for the firing of Gen. George S. Brown, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, because of his recently released remarks about Israel. If they truly believe his views are grounds for dismissal, then it is they, not Gen. Brown - who aren't worthy to serve in the U.S. government. The knowledge that this is a volatile political season and there are, regrettably, sizable blocs of voters in a few key states who seem to regard America's best interests as of secondary importance to those of Israel. And their political leaders tend to follow suit. But it is difficult to believe, for example, that Republican Sen. James Buckley of New York really thinks Brown should be kicked out of the Pentagon for speaking the truth about Israel's strategic relationship to this country. It is noteworthy that the interview in question took place April 12 but is just due for publication next week by King Features Syndicate - "coincidentally" just one week before the election. It is also worth noting that Brown is widely known to be in disfavor with Jewish groups because of his support of a Duke University speech in November 1974 in which he said Jews exercise undue influence on congress and control the economy. As to the question of whether the general is correct in answering "No, we haven't," or Brown's contention that the answer was in response to Lurie's comment that they hadn't discussed the issue in their interview. Brown says he meant "no we haven't" covered the topic. Gen. Brown's best defense, however, is truth. He can perhaps be faulted for his outspoken ways, but what he says comes straight from the shoulder with no malarky attached. This nation already has too many sycophants in government. It is refreshing to find a public servant of Brown's caliber willing to tell it like it is - not how the public wishes it were.

Vietnamese want greater influence

WASHINGTON - There's not much news out of Vietnam these days. But some idea of what's happening there has been pieced together by contacts in Hong Kong. Vietnam is going to remain fiercely independent of both free world and Communist world big powers, but will make strong efforts over the years ahead to dominate its small neighbors. So much for foreign policy. Domestically, the situation appears to be under control. But not under easy control. Reports continue of problems in the south. North Vietnamese cadres seem to have difficulty in getting many southerners to fall into line. Armed resistance is apparently not great. But passive, go-slow resistance seems widespread. There are news reports of 200,000 remaining in "re-education" camps. And further reports say the Communists are finding this "re-education" exceedingly difficult. Severe cases of "spreading false news" are punishable by death. A publication control board in Saigon checks newspapers, books and magazines, confiscates any violating state regulations. A Hanoi radio reports that on one particular morning 3,000 writers and artists met in Saigon "and went off to take part in Socialist labor, spending the day digging canals." And the dissent continues. In fact, there have been occasional reports of northern Communist cadres, the key to pacification, being "corrupted by the high standard of living" in the south. Meanwhile millions of southern Vietnamese are being moved out of the cities into "new agricultural lands." The best figure to date is 1.5 million. Saigon news reports say four million more are to be shifted into the north when Ho Chi Minh first took over there. Problems in the north continue. Agriculture is potentially rich in the south. Before the war the area below Saigon were heavy net exporters of rice. With the technical aid brought in by Americans, the region should be even more productive. But reports are that farm areas are in the doldrums. It may be the same "hold back" farmers practiced in the north when Ho Chi Minh first took over there. Wartime restrictions on food and other goods have been relaxed, but slightly. Hanoi has not demobilized its million-man-plus army, and some units have been put to economic tasks. Recruitment continues.

MCC faculty continues picket demonstration

Professors at Manchester Community College picketed the school Wednesday in protest of stalled contract negotiations with the Board of Trustees of Regional Community Colleges. The members of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME) said their picketing was "informational" and did not disrupt normal services. The issues which prompted the demonstration concern the trustees' control of all aspects of educational policy, promotion and job assignments, as well as the board's opposition of tenure, according to the group. In a statement from the collective bargaining committee of the board of trustees, Mrs. Dorothy McNulty, chairman said the new collective bargaining law provides that the state, including the board, must negotiate with its employees regarding wages, hours and other conditions of employment. The board believes that the obligation to negotiate does not relate to matters of educational policy or management decisions which are entrusted to the board by law. Mrs. McNulty also said that the board's proposals indicate, however, that questions of educational policy and related matters are not appropriate for negotiation through collective bargaining. This position was taken in response to the union's demand that the board delegate by collective bargaining contract responsibilities assigned to it by law, such as the determination of when the colleges will provide services to the students, the establishment of curricula and related program offerings, and such personnel decisions as granting promotions. Mrs. McNulty said the board believes that it must retain its prerogatives in these areas in order to fulfill its obligations as public trustee.

High School World

MHS swim team has fine season

Full sports at Manchester High School have in recent years been dominated by traditionally outstanding soccer teams. This year, however, a new tradition seems to be developing in the form of an enthusiastic, winning girls' swim team. The swim team, which is in its second year of existence, had a dismal (2-6) 1975 season, but this year boasts a fine 5-2 mark.

Frost credits the strenuous workouts that the girls perform daily with improving the stamina of the team. This year the girls are making use of various exercise machines and swim a total of 4,000 to 5,000 yards a day, six days a week. Some of the girls who have been able to greatly improve their times, Frost said, are: Sandy Beaupre (Jr.), Kim Noone (Jr.), Shelly Valentine (Soph.), Kathy Blouk (Sr.), and Cathy Cone (Sr.)

An exciting meet occurred on Friday, October 22, at the MHS pool. When the girls dropped a heart-breaking 9-41 decision to a powerful, undefeated Windham swim squad, the closeness of the meet is evident when you look at the score board and see that Windham won only five of the eleven events, but was able to garner enough of the lower places in the races to outpace Manchester. Throughout the first seven events, Windham led the Indians by as many as 8 points, but Manchester, fighting back, was able to knot the score at 6-3. They accomplished this by a powerful showing in the 500 yd. freestyle race, placing first, third and fourth. Unfortunately, the lead was short lived as the consistent Whippet team won two of the last three events to edge the locals.

Two events which Coach Frost feels have shown the greatest improvement over last year's performance are diving and butterfly. Frost said, "Last year we were constantly being shut out in the diving and butterfly events. We lost each meet on those two events alone. This year, however, we have been holding our own and at least splitting the points with our opponents. Beth Gallup and Sophomore, Beth Gallup have emerged as especially good divers this season.

Mr. Siebold, director of recreation, should also be congratulated for his valuable assistance in helping Coach Frost in working with five divers on the team. He has helped by working with the girls on the trampoline and board.

Led by Co-Captains, Sherrie Hopwood and Cathy Cone, MHS was shutout in only one event, the 50yd. freestyle. Sherrie Hopwood was particularly outstanding as she decisively won both the 200 yd. and 500 yd. freestyle races. Sophomore Chris White, also a double winner, taking the 100 yd. freestyle and the 100 yd. breaststroke. Junior Karen McArdle, broke the MHS school record in the 200 yd. butterfly with a time of 2:29.8. During the year six of the eleven event records have been broken by this spirited team.

With three scheduled meets left this season - two especially tough ones against Penney High and Conard High, Manchester still must fight hard to keep their present third place standing in the C.I.L. Coach Frost, however, is confident that his team will do well during the remainder of the season. He stated, "Our attitude is excellent. Last year we were weak. This year we're working much harder with less complaints. It's easy to get the girls psyched up because they want to win badly." With this attitude and the fact that only five members of this talented squad are seniors, it appears that the 1978 girls' swim team has already established a winning tradition that will continue for years to come. - Robert E. Weiss Swim team coach, David B. Frost, has played a vital role in turning the deficits of last season into victories this year. According to Frost, the differences between this fall's squad and last year's are due to increased depth and hard work on the part of the swimmers. Last season's team had only 14 swimmers and 3 divers, compared to 21 swimmers and 5 divers this year. The increase in the number of swimmers has been an important plus factor when one realizes that in swimming competition, six points are awarded for first place, 4 for second place, 3 for third, 2 for fourth, 1 for fifth and none for sixth. Depth is necessary for a high point total to be accumulated.

Profile: Meet Gwen Froh

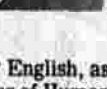

"Vivacious," "jolly," "happy-go-lucky" - these are all responses I get to the question: What is Gwen Froh like? Superficially, they are accurate, but words like "jolly" and "happy" do not really tell the truth about anyone, especially Gwen. I am objective but empathetic towards Gwen; I see a sensitivity about her that removes her from the light in most of those descriptions. Perpetually, she worries; perpetually, she strives - out of a desire for self-improvement, out of a desire for self-pity, but, above all, out of a tremendous strength of character.

Christ Ewert, Gwen is not, but she stepped into a number two position on the MHS girls' tennis team in her junior year from a doubles position in ninth grade. Competing against much more experienced players, she was down in match after match, but I never once heard Gwen say she couldn't do it. She fought every step of the way, as she has all of the time that I've known her.

A member and chairperson of Sock 'n Buskin, Gwen gives as much of herself to theater as she does to all other aspects of her life. She appeared in the chorus of S'n B's "The Birds" during her sophomore year, but it was as Christine in "Remember Mama" that same year that Gwen displayed her real sensitivity as an actress. Above and beyond that, she is president of the International Theatrical Society, a public service organization affiliated with S'n B. Her prowess as a director was displayed last year for the elementary school children who witnessed the Society's dental health play entitled "Dan Dentist."

Fifteen trophies pay tribute to Gwen's skill as a sailor. She and her family have a summer cottage at Groton Long Point. There she participates in racing competitions that demand a knowledge of the ocean and the operation of a sailboat, both inside and out. In this area, as in many others, Gwen has proven that she is a winner.

As a scholar, Gwen is a member of the National Honor Society, and also serves as the society's treasurer. Still meeting challenges, her courses this year include Honors Trig, Level

I Physics, and Senior AP English, as well as Choir and Patterns of Human Behavior. To improve her reading and writing abilities, she undertook two English courses last summer. Seeking "a taste of everything," Gwen also plays the flute (formerly with the MHS Band), skis, serves as an alternate for Round Table, is involved in AFS and Aridian, reads avidly (she cites "Catcher in the Rye" as one of her favorites), makes many of her own clothes, and still finds the time to care about people. She believes in people, but says "they don't believe in themselves." Gwen also feels that people are "basically good," perhaps because, basically she is. This concern for others and particularly her love for children, form the basis for her desire to have a career as a math instructor. She wants her students not only to learn the subject, but also to enjoy it.

Gwen Froh is a happy person because, in her words, "the happiest people I know are too busy to wonder if they are happy." This is certainly the case with Gwen, but her ultimate happiness depends upon the fulfillment of her dream - "accomplishing something." In her own opinion, Gwen has yet to make her dreams come true - in mine, she has already, many times over. - Lori Egan

Oktoberfest celebration

Being a Spanish student, I was not exactly overjoyed at the idea of spending my Saturday night tapping my feet to German music for 3 1/2 hours. It was a friend of mine taking German this year, who persuaded me to sacrifice "As Schools Match Wits" and television's other Saturday night goodies to join her in the annual German Oktoberfest. I like to think of myself as an open minded person, so I agreed, hoping my apprehensions of an evening, where the extent of conversation would be limited to words like Stein, Blitz, and Schnitzel, would prove to be unfounded.

When I arrived, the pleasant atmosphere of the nicely decorated cafeteria set my expectations slightly higher. At first, I had to remind myself that this was a German affair and I assumed to be German, and then joined the rest of the club in entertaining the guests with German songs. I could not help noticing the food as I walked in, and luckily after the songs, it was dinner time.

Dinner consisted mainly of German foods set on a long table in outdoor style. The food available was bratwurst, a German sausage, sauerkraut, German potatoes, potato salad, Jello salad, rolls and bread. I thought the meal was delicious and would be in my mind, but basically it was a walk down to music during which time more and more people joined hands to form a snake-like procession across the room. On the whole, the evening impressed me with a new appreciation and interest for the my different cultures and languages. I had myself looking forward to going to the international dinner in the spring, because of this slight German exposure. I thought the evening was a most enjoyable one and I would like to see the spectrum of my experiences is of much more value to me than a repeat of "Mary Tyler Moore." That is, as "Mary Tyler Moore" is, "Saturday Night." - Carolyn Egan

A German memory game called Schnitzelbank followed. The pattern of the game is similar to the American Christmas game "Twelve Days of Christmas" where the list of items sung increases as the song progresses. The guests were aided by pictures labeled with German meanings each time a new item was added, but most gave up in confusion. The word "schnitzelbank" was the only word sung by all, so I found that the game gradually developed a rhythm where everything sung but the "schnitzelbanks" were almost inaudible.

Man drowns in sound

GREENWICH (UPI) - A Norwalk man who fell from a large power boat late Thursday night was presumed drowned after a hectic search by the Coast Guard and five police departments failed to locate him.

The search for Andrew Romano, 25, was called off at 4 a.m. five hours after he reportedly fell from the deck of a 33-foot power boat about a quarter of a mile southwest of Great Captain's Island off Greenwich.

Police resumed the search at dawn. Greenwich Police Lt. Robert Napier said two other men aboard the boat, Frank Biseco of Norwalk and Robert Hamilton of Glen Cove, N.Y., transmitted a distress call over a citizen band radio that was picked up by another CE operator who notified Rye, N.Y., police. Napier said the vessel had no other radio.

Rye police relayed the message to Port Chester police who in turn notified Greenwich authorities. The Coast Guard was alerted and dispatched several vessels and a helicopter to the area. In the meantime, launches from Greenwich, Stamford, Port Chester, Rye, and Nassau County police departments converged on the scene. The water temperature at the time was about 50 degrees.

Napier said the Owens Cruiser was owned by Hamilton who took it out from Port Chester to show Biseco, a prospective buyer, and his companion, Romano.

According to the police report, the boat was cruising 10 to 12 knots in relatively calm waters and Romano was in the stern. Biseco and Hamilton said their attention was diverted when they heard a shout and turned around but Romano was not in the boat according to the report.

Courant birthday HARTFORD (UPI) - The Hartford Courant today celebrated its 212th birthday. The newspaper has been published continuously since its first edition on Oct. 29, 1764.

Student killed CHESHIRE (UPI) - Police said Donna Casady, 14, was killed Thursday when she was struck by an auto as she walked home from school. Police said a car driven down West Main Street by Dianne L. Gale, 17, lost its brakes, went over an embankment and pinned the Dodd Junior High School student against a wall on Lavery Street. She was pronounced dead at the scene. Police charged Miss Gale with misconduct with a motor vehicle and operating without brakes.

Despite much progress problems of elderly remain extensive

HARTFORD (UPI) - Experts at a statewide conference on aging said although life has improved for them in the past decade, the problems of the elderly remain extensive.

Speakers at the Bicentennial Conference on Aging Thursday likened the aging and medical problems for the aged to a national disaster.

Dr. Robert Butler, director of the National Institute of Aging in Bethesda, Md., said, "If the Mississippi River flooded and left 500,000 homeless, we'd have a massive effort to help them."

Yet, he said, 500,000 old persons live in substandard nursing homes and no massive effort has been mobilized to help them.

Charles E. O'Dell, state department on aging commissioner, said senior citizens have an image problem.

He said the picture of a feeble, waddled, dependent old person did not depict the truth of the majority of Connecticut's 450,000 persons over 60. He said only five per cent of them are institutionalized.

He said they were also ignored and underserved by state agencies and private and governmental systems that are supposed to serve them.

Gov. Ella T. Grasso told the conference her administration will continue to support state programs for the elderly and their rights. She urged the group to develop recommendations for achieving those rights.

The governor said since taking office in early 1975, she created a separate state Department on Aging and increased its programs' funding by 50 per cent with federal grants totaling more than $2 million.

The largest grant was $750,000 for an experimental project providing the elderly with more home health care services.

In addition to housing and medicine, efficient, inexpensive public transportation is essential to the elderly, O'Dell said.

Johnny Wonder's QUESTION CORNER

Q. THE METRIC SYSTEM

MUCH CUSTOMARY MEASUREMENTS AS INCHES, FEET AND YARDS WERE FIRST BASED ON PARTS OF THE HUMAN BODY.

In the 12th century, England's King Henry I is said to have declared the length of the yard as the distance between the tip of his nose to the end of his thumb.

If this seems silly, it's no more so than the origin of most of the other units of measure which make up the U.S. system of measurements we use every day.

The inch, for example, was originally the breadth of a man's thumb; the foot was at first based on the length of the human foot; the mile, the distance traveled by a Roman soldier in a thousand double steps.

When means for weighing were invented, seeds and stones often served as standards.

In similar fashion, units of volume, or capacity, were often based on how many grains of wheat it took to fill a basket, or how much liquid the king's cup would hold.

A pound in one village could weigh more, or less, than a pound in another village. Much the same held true for other measures.

Most newspapers supporting Ford

NEW YORK (UPI) - A survey of 661 daily newspapers in the United States shows 411 endorsing President Ford's candidacy and 89 supporting Jimmy Carter, according to Editor and Publisher.

The papers supporting President Ford represent 62 per cent of those polled and have a combined circulation of 20,951,798, compared with 12 per cent and 7,607,739 circulation of those supporting Carter, Editor and Publisher said Thursday.

Twenty six per cent of the papers surveyed indicated they were either uncommitted or independent.

In the 44 years of the Editor and Publisher poll, only in the 1964 elections have newspapers shown more support for the Democratic candidate, when Lyndon B. Johnson was endorsed by 440 dailies, compared with 359 for Barry Goldwater, the publication said.

Hospital honors junior volunteers

On the 20th anniversary of the Junior Auxiliary of the Manchester Memorial Hospital, 41 members were presented service awards Thursday at the hospital.

None of the original six members of the auxiliary was able to attend. Mrs. Vera Sundquist, who was advisor of the original group and acted as liaison between the Junior Volunteers and the then Women's Auxiliary, was on her way to the anniversary event when she fell and broke her hand.

The young volunteers, who must be 14 years old to join, began their services in 1956 by folding baby linen, delivering lab reports and delivering mail to the floors.

During the Junior Auxiliary's first year, only eight volunteers earned caps, and there was a total of 1,236 service hours. Last year, 46 girls were capped and the group gave 12,000 hours of service in all areas of the hospital including the emergency department, physical therapy, laboratory and X Ray.

The group's next meeting on Nov. 18 at 7 p.m. in the hospital cafeteria will feature a speaker from the Area Rape Crisis Center whose topic will be self defense.

Mrs. Mary Sterud, director of nursing, assisted by Mrs. Bendtsen, presented the following awards: Caps, 100 hours — Charlotte Baker, Candace Blanks, Kathy Davis, Karen Fassano, Lisa Franklin, Beth Hill, Kim Hodges, Lisa Holmes, Kathy Horris, Debbie Johns, Leslie King, Sharon Kingsbury, Lori Lamontagne, Cindy LaBonte, Chris Lerch, Debbie Mayo, Karen Minguay, Kathy Nielsen, Agnes Rezman, Jackie Ross, Debra Stevenson, Cheri Talley, Cindy Zachos.

"rules and regulations," but he would not elaborate. Elston Howard, as qualified as anyone in baseball, has been passed by so many times when managerial jobs opened that he must be content now to be only a coach with the Yankees.

Berra has appeared in more World Series than anyone, 14 as a player, two as a manager (one year with each of the Yankees and Mets) and two as a coach, the first time in 1963 and again this year.

Stadium 'handsome'
How does Berra like the 'new' Yankee Stadium? "It's handsome," he shot back. What about the air currents, always a story around World Series time during the stretch when the Yankees dominated the American League and were regular participants in the fall classic?

"See the way the wind is blowing the flags," he said pointing to right field. "You would think the wind is blowing out but it's actually blowing in. The air currents here are no different than in the old stadium," he related.

Was there any one incident that stood out in Berra's mind about the new stadium? "Ya, the time I dropped a foul ball in the last half of the ninth inning against the Red Sox when (Al) Reynolds was going for a no-hitter. Ted Williams was the batter and his foul fly ball got caught up in the wind currents and the ball hit my glove and bounded away. I fell over backwards and Reynolds fell on me. I had a second chance, though.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — A woman has complained to the city utilities board that she is being charged not only for water but for fish as well.

Myra Coleman said Thursday an in-long fish — "quite dead" — floated out of the faucet into her bathtub.

Improbable, said Charles Dean Jr., general manager of the utility, adding there were so many filters between where the water is taken from the Tennessee River and the woman's house that nothing the size of a fish could get through.

Fans still like Yogi

One of the biggest receptions for any member of the New York Yankees at Yankee Stadium during the World Series was reserved for Yogi Berra.

Berra pointed out that the background for hitters was much better today than in the old stadium. "It'd be to play that ball in the dirt, if I did it, I'd have hit for a much higher average," he said.

To this corner, he just never seemed right like a Met uniform after his long playing career with the Yankees. Old No. 8 uniform was retired one by the Yanks but it was unveiled again when he signed on as a coach and he still wears it well.

Notes off the cuff
Cap Raeder was in the goal for three wins in his first five starts with Providence in the American Hockey League. The Cincinnati Stingers have an average age of just 22.7 years reported to be the youngest major league team in the history of pro sports.

East Hartford booters surprise Manchester, 2-1

Two goals in a span of two minutes in the third period lifted East Hartford High to a 2-1 CCL upset soccer victory over Manchester High yesterday in East Hartford.

The victory by the Hornets was only their second compared to 10 losses and a tie. Manchester now sports a 4-2 ledger.

The scoring for Manchester as he tallied on a nice lead pass from Billy Kelly at 2:10 of the second period after the Indians had completely dominated play from the opening whistle. From then on, however, it was a different story.

East Hartford, playing with great determination, took the play away from the Silk Towners and threatened repeatedly until the 10:02 mark of the third period. Then, Laticien Bolduc broke through and beat Tribe goalie Mark Copeland with a hard shot to the left corner. Play had hardly restarted when Joe Zanetti from his halfback slot picked up a poor Manchester trap and sent a 20-yarder into the upper right corner of the net past a startled Copeland. That was it.

Manchester's next test is Tuesday afternoon in Enfield against Ferni High. They conclude regular season play Thursday at Memorial Field versus Enfield High.

Eagles in home debut, looking for first win
By LEN AUSTER

While the opponents will be different from the week before, the situation for Manchester High and East Catholic's football team remains the same. Each, at 0-5, is still looking for its first victory of the 1976 campaign.

East in its first appearance at Mt. Nebo Saturday afternoon at 1:30 hosts Putnam High of Springfield, Mass., while Manchester travels to Simsbury High for a date with the equally winless Trojans. Simsbury is 0-5 in CCL play and 0-6 overall.

"We're going to have a hospital on the sidelines," Eagle Coach John LaFontana said half in jest. East was banged and bruised by Xavier — "they don't kill you just stung" — and some might not be 100 per cent. Running back Bob Frank has a bad bruise but should be able to go according to his coach.

On the defensive side, tackle Chris Soares has a pinched nerve in his neck and will be able to go while senior Co-captain Tom Landers is listed as probable. "We're going to have to piece together a make-shift defense. We didn't have any contact this week (because of the injuries) and most of it was skull sessions," LaFontana stated.

Putnam comes in with a 3-2 record and a "good solid team." They are led by fullback Chip Murphy and all-around performer Greg Hurst. "They are a good spirited team which has won and knows how," stated LaFontana.

This week, the fourth year Eagle mentor notes is "the first team this season we've had a shot at somebody. We'll go in as underdogs. For us to win we're going to have to stop beating ourselves and play close to errorless football."

Manchester a week ago had a very good opportunity of winning its first but came up flat in a 20-6 loss to Wethersfield. "I'm making no predictions," emphasized Tribe Coach Jack Holik. "It's a matter of if they want to play or not."

Defense, fastbreak keys Celts' victory
By EARL YOST Sports Editor

"Defense and the fastbreak keyed our game tonight. We were able to spot the open man off the lastbreak and our two new guys did one heckuva job," a not-so-anxious Tommy Heinsohn said after the Boston Celtics ran the Buffalo Braves off the Hartford Civic Center court.

While the newcomers excelled, it was Charlie Scott, a sophomore in Celtic green and white, who led all scorers with 31 points and played an outstanding floor game, diving time in as many efforts, after a lastluster pre-season record which produced just one win, the Celts literally ran the Braves out of the center.

Midget twinbill tonight
While the Jets have already wrapped up the championship bunting in the Manchester Midget Football League three games remain on the slate, a twinbill tonight at Mt. Nebo and a single game next Friday night.

The Jets and Eagles will tangle in the 6:30 contest tonight with the Patriots and Chargers colliding in the nightcap.

The Jets boast a spotless 5-0 record while the Chargers are 3-1-1. The Eagles 1-4 and the Patriots still looking for win No. 1 after four starts.

The Giants, 2-2-1, are idle tonight but will end up with the Patriots next week.

Yale, UConn squads home

Yale goes for a sixth straight win when it hosts Cornell, and Westleyan will try to notch a fifth consecutive victory at Bowdoin to highlight Connecticut football action Saturday.

The University of Connecticut coming off a surprise win over Massachusetts last week, will go against a strong, 4-2, Delaware team that invades Storrs.

Trinity, shocked from the unbeaten ranks last week by a previously winless Colby, will seek atonement and its fifth win in six games at the Coast Guard, which is struggling under a 1-6 record.

High-scoring Central Connecticut, 4-3, is at Northwestern, and Western Connecticut, 4-2, travels to Plymouth State. Also, 4-2 Southern Connecticut, after a one-week layoff, hosts Maine, and Curry is at 1-5 New Haven.

Yale's John Pagnano is closing in on several school records. The junior runningback has accumulated 737 yards and only five other Yale players have had more yards in a single season. His 10 touchdowns so far compare to the record 14 for a season set by Calvin Hill. Last week, when he scored all of Yale's three touchdowns, he carried the ball 33 times, matching the school mark held by three other players.

Cornell, 1-3, has lost to Yale 25 times, won 40 and tied twice in the series that began in 1889.

Due for raise
CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI) — Shortstop Dave Concepcion of the world champion Cincinnati Reds will be asking for a "substantial raise" in 1977 that would bring his salary over the $100,000 mark.

Concepcion returned Wednesday to his native Venezuela for the winter baseball season.

Kormann honored
NEW HAVEN (UPI) — Olympic bronze medal gymnast Peter Kormann of Southern Connecticut State College has been named gymnast of the year by the U.S. Gymnastics Federation. Kormann, 21, of Braintree, Mass., became the first American in 44 years to capture an Olympic medal in gymnastics at Montreal this summer. Kormann will be honored Nov. 20 in Dallas, Tex.

"No," Heinsohn said. "We've played better here." Possibly, because Buffallo did not offer top-flight competition. On the other hand, the Celts looked great, much better than a year ago and newcomer Sidney Wicks and Curtis Rowe seemed to blend right in with the Chargers are 3-1-1. The Eagles 1-4 and the Patriots still looking for win No. 1 after four starts.

The Giants, 2-2-1, are idle tonight but will end up with the Patriots next week.

Buffalo started both Ernie D. and Smith in the backcourt and had to give away a lot of height. When the 6-10 McAdoo returns to the Braves, Nov. 22, will be tougher.

The Celts won their Hartford showing will be on 11 against Calvin Murphy and the Houston Rockets.

Buffalo coach Tates Locke summed up the game like this: "It's the same old Celtics. They execute well and are solid on fundamentals."

How well they did last night.

RICK LEY TOM EARL

'Family Night' tonight

Veterans Rick Ley and Tom Earl will be with the New England Whalers tonight against Phoenix in the first of two Family Night promotions at the Hartford Civic Center.

High-scoring Bob Florek, with 15 points in eight games and Del Hall with 13 lead Phoenix, winners of five of eight starts.

Tommy Abrahamsson and George Lyle of the Whalers are still out with injuries. Play starts each night at 7:30.

The family promotions finds the head of the household purchasing a ticket for the regular price and tickets for other family members are available at reduced rates.

Rookie sent out

NEW YORK (UPI) — Knights of the New York Rangers American Hockey League, Thursday assigned 24-year-old rookie left wing Dan Newman to the New Haven.

Money seen big threat to Cincinnati dynasty

NEW YORK (UPI) — Johnny Bench thinks the Cincinnati Reds' two-year dynasty may start to decay within another year unless management comes up with enough money to hold it together.

Bench was here Thursday to accept a car from Sport Magazine as the most valuable player in the World Series and intimated that Reds' owner Bob Hays might have his hands full trying to satisfy the financial demands of so many star players on the two-time world champions.

Already there are growing signs of unrest. Don Gullett, the club's No. 1 pitcher, played out his option this year and probably will not return and All-Stars Dave Concepcion and George Foster have indicated they plan to ask for substantial raises.

Then there are the club's superstars — Bench, Pete Rose, Joe Morgan and Tony Perez. All are high-salaried players but Rose has been quoted as saying he is unhappy with his current contract and, at 35, he might wish to play out his option and try his luck on the free agent market.

"Right now things are okay, but next year it might be different," said Bench. "With all this big money being thrown around to pitchers like (Jim) Hunter and (Andy) Messersmith, you're getting to feeling like you're the one who is left out. Our club might have to start doing things differently."

"Bob Hays has a tough job trying to negotiate with four veterans who have won lots of awards. We have three MVPs on this team and we have high salaries. Then you got a guy like George Foster, who was voted the most valuable player by Sporting News. He's gonna want more, too. It might take a lot more money to hold us. It will depend on how well this year's free agents do on the open market."

Bench feels the Reds can afford to meet the players' contract demands better than most teams, but he realizes the dangers of escalating salaries.

"We drew 2.6 million fans this year, so somebody's got to be making money," said Bench. "In this business you try to earn as much money as you can, but if it (high salaries) gets too far out of hand clubs are gonna lose money and then lose franchises."

Bench said he was not surprised the Reds decided not to compete with the other clubs in the free agent re-entry draft next week.

"That's the luxury of being world champions," said Bench. "It's also a reflection of Bob Hays's principles. He doesn't believe in that sort of thing. But he may have to change next year."

Bench would like to play out his career in Cincinnati, but even if he stays, he doesn't feel he can catch regularly for too many more years.

"I always said I would catch until I was 32," said Bench. "That gives me four more years. After that, I would have to look for another position. By then they might have the designated hitter rule in our league. I really don't like the rule, but it could prolong my career."

Enderle signs

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — The Green Bay Packers said Thursday they have signed offensive guard Dick Enderle, a former University of Minnesota lineman who has been with several National Football League teams.

Enderle, 28, was signed originally in 1969 by the Atlanta Falcons, was traded to the New York Giants and was cut this year by the San Francisco 49ers after the first regular season game.

Raiders add

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Oakland Raiders signed two veterans, place-kicker Errol Mann and running back Habie Ginn, to round out their squad for Sunday's game against the Denver Broncos.

Mann, a nine-year player cut earlier this season by Detroit, will replace rookie Fred Steinfeld, sidelined by a muscle tear, and Ginn, a seven-year veteran from Miami, will fill the spot vacated by rookie Terry Kunz, who strained his knee.

World record

MOSCOW (UPI) — Rimantas Plunge of the Soviet Union threw the shotput 65 feet, 11 inches, the world's best mark for the current indoor track and field season, Tass news agency said Thursday.

Tass said Plunge made his throw at the first competition in a new indoor stadium in Vilnius, Lithuania.

Split match

Manchester Community College's women's volleyball team split a tri-match against Eastern Connecticut State College and Ansburch College yesterday in Willimantic.

The Cougars bowed to Eastern, 15-5 and 15-8 and topped Ansburch, 15-2 and 15-4.

Betsy Mayshar, Gimmy Pterean and Mariannne Pemberton played well for the 6-6 Cougars.

NFL blamed for rowdyism

BOSTON (UPI) — Much of the blame for violence which broke out in the stands during an Oct. 18 New England Patriots-New York Jets game has been placed by one official on the doorstep of the National Football League.

Philip Fine, a trustee of the Schaefer Stadium Realty Co., said Thursday the violence broke out because the game was played on Monday night.

He also claimed there had been no problems at the previous 65 games played at Schaefer Stadium since 1970 when it opened.

"To isolate one game out of 65 at the stadium and say that has created a massive problem...is unfair and unjust," he said.

There were reports one man fell 100 feet from the stadium parapet and another man urinated on a medic trying to administer first aid.

He also claimed there had been no problems at the previous 65 games played at Schaefer Stadium since 1970 when it opened.

"I'm upset with the NFL and the Patriots for scheduling a Monday night game," he said.

Old Keeney St. School work progresses

Mortising the floor joists of the old Keeney St. School, which is being rebuilt near the Cheney Homestead on Hartford Rd. are Douglas Welch, center, and Francis Mahoney. A couple of volunteers with big wood chisels are needed Saturday to complete the mortising. Mahoney said. Volunteer carpenters will be needed early next week depending upon the weather. Those wishing to volunteer are asked to call Mahoney, 643-7152. Others who have been working on the erection of the schoolhouse to date are Leonard Welch, Bob Martin, Charles Genovese and Alvah Russell. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Murder victim's wife testifies at trial

HARTFORD (UPI) — Mrs. Sara Salerni testified she was helping her husband in the busy Donna Lee Bakery about a hour before the owner and five other persons were found shot to death.

Composed but in a voice that wavered with emotion several times, the wife of John Salerni said Thursday she helped handle the busy flow of customers in the New Britain shop before she left about 8 p.m. on Oct. 19, 1974, to go to her sister's Hartford home.

An hour later, police found the bodies of Salerni, a clerk, Mrs. Helen Gian-santi, 59, of Newington, and four customers, Thomas Dowling, 58, and his wife, Ann, 57, and Michael Kron, 49, all of New Britain, and William J. Donahue Jr., 37, of West Hartford.

Mrs. Salerni testified at the trial of Gary Schrage, 33, that she immediately felt something was drastically wrong when her son called at her sister's home looking for her husband.

She said she phoned the bakery and a "strange voice" said her husband was not there. A short time later, she was driven to the bakery and found a mass of citizens and policemen and was told of the murders.

On Wednesday, New Britain policeman James Golon said no one was inside the store when he entered the shop shortly before 9 p.m.

Golon said he found Salerni's body in a back room and telephoned for assistance. When he discovered the five other victims in another room, he again called his superiors, he said.

Schrage is being tried before a Superior Court jury of six men and six women on six counts of murder. A codefendant, Ronald Piskorski, also of New Britain, was convicted in the murders and given six consecutive 25-year life sentences in January.

The jury was also shown black and white interior and exterior photos of the bakery and the prosecution planned to introduce color photographs of the victims as evidence.

Prosecution tries to link Gold to murder scene

WATERBURY (UPI) — The prosecution in the Murray A. Gold murder trial Thursday presented evidence it contends links the defendant to the murders of Irving and Rhoda Pasternak.

A police witness said a one-quarter-inch long piece of plastic found near the body of Rhoda Pasternak matched the plastic from a button fastener kit found in Gold's Forest Hills, N.Y., home.

Gold is on trial for the slaying deaths of his former in-laws in their Waterbury home on Sept. 26, 1974.

James E. McDonald, director of the New Haven police crime laboratory, testified the tiny piece of plastic "made an exact fit."

Enlarged photos of the plastic which McDonald said showed "an exact fit," were submitted to the jury.

PUBLIC NOTICE

On November 3, 1978, Robert Weiss, General Manager of the Town of Manchester, 41 Center St., Manchester, and applicant for HUD Title I funding will request release of funds from the Department of Housing and Urban Development for housing rehabilitation loans. This project is consistent with the Town's application to HUD for Title I funds. The environmental review records have been prepared for the above named project and may be reviewed or copied in the General Manager's Office, Town Hall, 41 Center St., during business hours.

The Town of Manchester will undertake the project described above with Block Grant funds from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974. The Town of Manchester is certifying to HUD that the Town of Manchester and Robert B. Weiss, in his capacity as General Manager, consent to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal Courts if an action is brought to enforce responsibilities in relation to environmental review, decision making, and actions; and that these responsibilities have been satisfied to the satisfaction of the Federal Government; and that upon its approval, the Town of Manchester may use the Block Grant funds, and HUD will have satisfied its responsibilities under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969. HUD will accept an objection to its approval of the release of funds and acceptance of the certification only if it is on one of the following bases: (a) that the certification was not in fact executed by the chief executive officer of the applicant; or (b) that applicant's environmental review record for the project indicates omission of a required decision, finding, or step applicable to the project in the environmental review process. Objections must be prepared and submitted in accordance with the required procedure (24 CFR Part 80), and may be addressed to HUD at the Hartford Area Office, 809 Asylum Street, Hartford, Ct. Objections to the release of funds on bases other than those stated above will not be considered by HUD. No objection received after November 22, 1978 will be considered by HUD.
Dated at Manchester, Conn. this 29th day of October, 1978.

Icy chill hits Southland

By United Press International
An icy chill slithered over the southland today and snow swept over portions of the southern Rockies and the southern Plains.

Cold air drifted into the Southeast during the night, all of North Carolina, pushing temperatures to unseasonable depths as far south as Florida.

Temperatures plunged to the teens and 20s in much of the Carolinas and to the 30s in much of Georgia and parts of Alabama. Temperatures in the 40s were common in northern Florida, with Jacksonville reporting a 43-degree chill.

Hard freeze and frost warnings were posted for southeastern Texas and southwestern Texas and portions of the Texas panhandle and the southern Plains and travel advisories also were posted for the higher mountains of southern New Mexico and a little snow fell over southeastern Colorado.

A travel advisory for one to three inches of snow was posted for the Texas Panhandle and the southern Plains and travel advisories also were posted for the higher mountains of southern New Mexico and a little snow fell over southeastern Colorado.

Light rain dampened much of Texas and spread into western Oklahoma and south central Kansas.

FALL: Nature's Time To Plant
Fall is the time that the ground is warm and there is plenty of moisture for the roots to become established. A late feeding of fertilizer for the lawn will produce better results than any other time of year.

Six years ago, the supporters of Lowell Weicker asked you to "put your confidence in a man with guts." Connecticut responded by electing him to the U.S. Senate.

During his term, Senator Weicker has passed laws that worked for you, spoken out against wrongs that needed righting, stood for your rights when they needed defending. Through it all, he's stuck to his guns, refusing to bow to party pressures or special interest groups.

Weicker's fought the good fight, but now he needs your help, on election day, at the polls. Lowell Weicker has always been nobody's man but yours, but only your vote can keep him your U.S. Senator.

Weicker. Nobody's man but yours.

A 15th reunion will be held by the EHHS Class of 1963 at Les Gourmet Rendezvous in Newington.
Next weekend, the EHHS Class of 1945 and the Class of 1956 will hold reunions.
The Forty-sixers will gather at Glenhurst Hills Country Club for dinner and dancing Nov. 5 to celebrate their 30th reunion.
A 20th reunion is being planned by the Class of 1958. This group will hold a dinner dance at the Old Colony in Vernon.
Nov. 27th, the class reunion season will end when the EHHS Class of 1951 gathers at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Manchester for their 35th reunion.
Corps practice
The East Hartford American Fire and Drum Corps practice session for next week has been rescheduled for Thursday. The practice will be held at Anna Norris School on Remington Rd. from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.
The practice session usually held on Tuesday was rescheduled because of the election.
Newcomers are still welcome and may register at any practice session.

Food sale set for election day

Bolton
The Bolton Scholarship Fund, Inc. will sponsor a food sale Tuesday (election day) from 9 a.m. until 6:30 p.m. outside the community hall.
All townspeople are asked to help. The committee is soliciting home baked goods and home canned goods. Donations may be brought to the sale.
If pickup is needed, call Barbara Smith, 446-8492.
Charter on radio
Saturday from 9:35 until 10:50 a.m. on radio station WINF, Marshall Taylor and John Esche will give a concise view of the charter proposed for Bolton. They are co-chairman of the Charter Commission. The question of the charter will be decided on the ballot Tuesday.
Church inspection
The parsonage committee of the United Methodist Church will conduct its annual inspection of the parsonage Sunday after the morning worship.
Sunday at 7 p.m. UMC parishioners will leave for Rockville for a "monstrous" Halloween party. It is for the five United Methodist Churches in Tolland County.

Election news

55th District
Aloysius Ahearn, state representative for the 55th District, said he predicts the next legislature will take steps to prevent the state from forcing small towns to bear the full cost of the resident state trooper program.
Legislators around the state he has talked to are unanimous in their opposition to the police commissioner's raising the price to towns from 60 to 100 per cent in three years.
"This is a mandate from the state that small towns find unacceptable. Most small towns cannot afford police departments. The cost would be intolerable."

55th District
Dorothy Miller, Republican candidate in the 55th District, today took a strong stand in favor of the Sunset Law.
"There are so many agencies, commissions and boards existing in the state right now that no one can possibly keep track of them. The Sunset Law would require that each agency, commission and board justify its continued existence every four years. Inactive and useless bodies no longer doing the job for which they were originally intended, would automatically cease to exist thereby saving the taxpayers of the state large sums of money."
Mrs. Miller also stated her support for zero based budgeting. Under a zero based budgeting system, the entire request of each state board, commission and agency would have to be

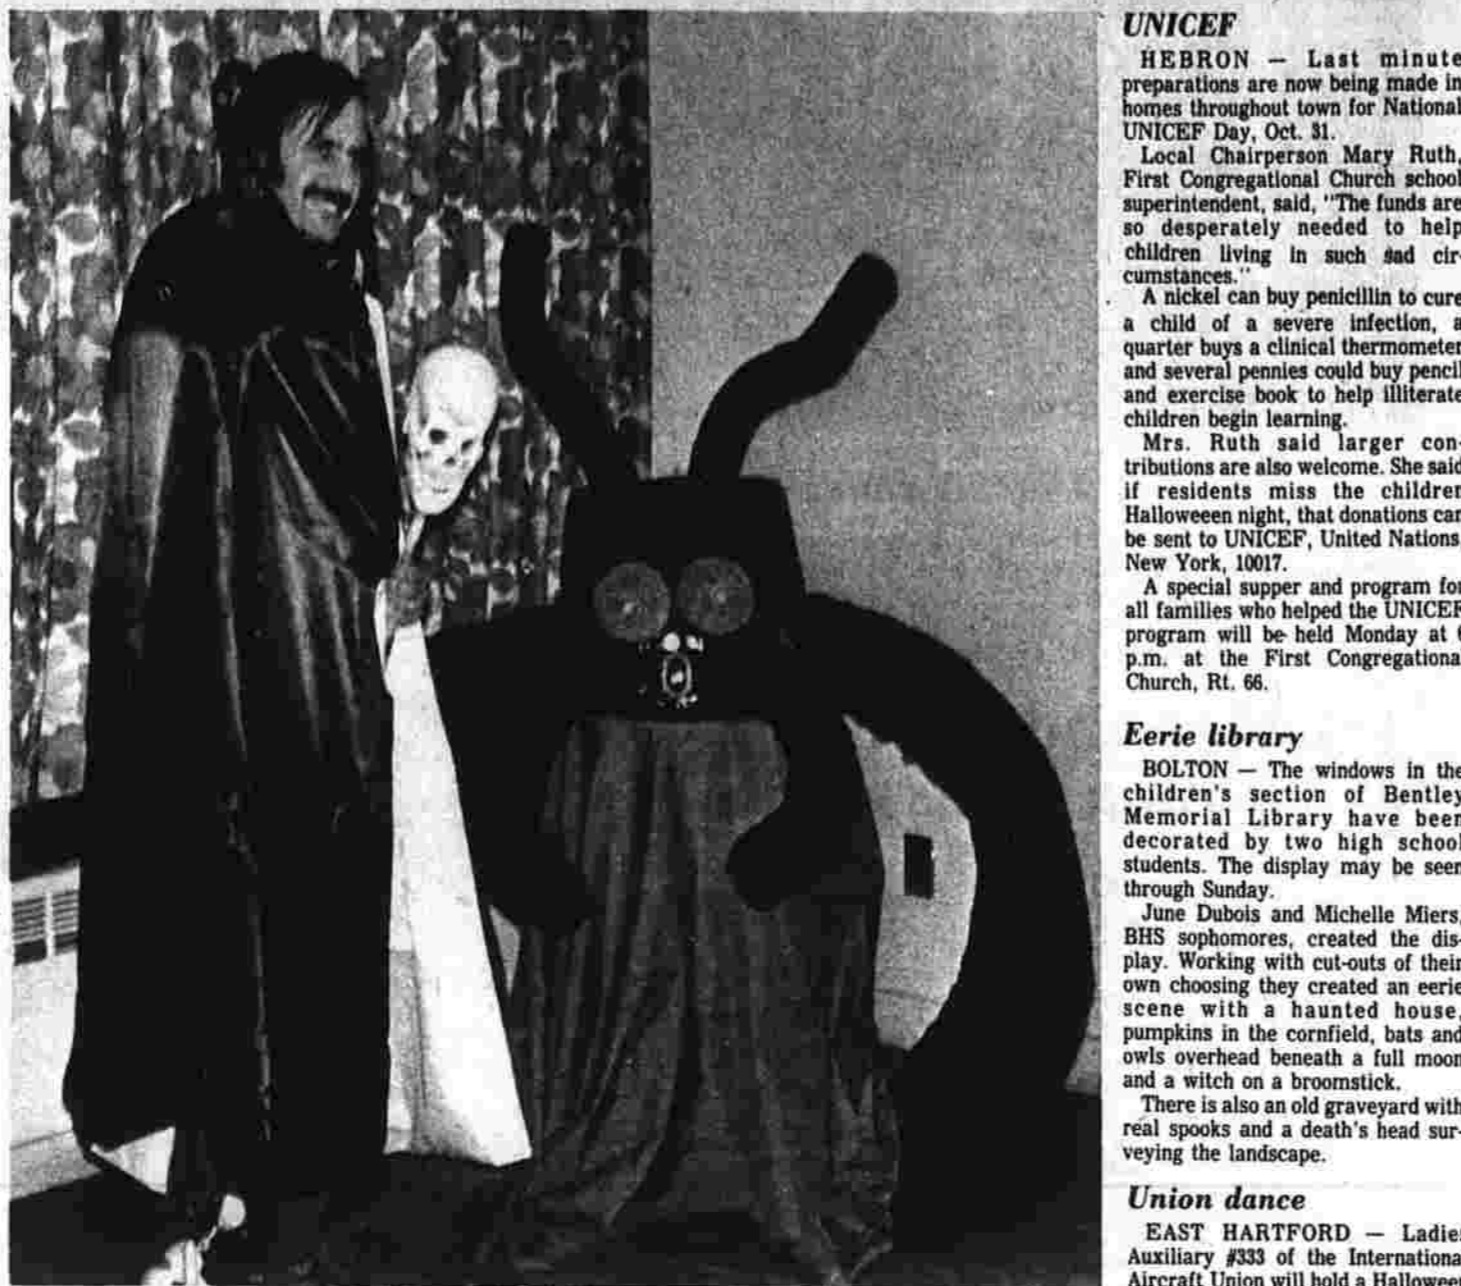

Rockville High School vote Thursday
Students at Rockville High School, long considered a barometer by politicians, "elected" Republicans Ford and Dole Thursday but Democratic Congressman Christopher Dodd was high voter-getter over all candidates.
Other than voting Republican the president and vice president, the students went Democratic with a smattering of votes for various other candidates.
The vote for Ford-Dole was 738 against 618 for Carter-Mondale. Dodd received 937 votes against his Republican opponent Richard Jackson's 342 votes.
The vote for U. S. Senator was close with Gloria Schaffer, Democrat, receiving 680 votes against 681 for incumbent Lowell Weicker, Republican.

Rockville Hospital notes

Admitted Thursday: Robert Kirby, Loveland Hill, Vernon; Bruce Muska, Warehouse Point; Kathleen Nickerson, Talcott Ave., Rockville; John Pratt, Ward St., Rockville; Eleanor Satry, Grove St., Rockville; Barbara Toney, Stafford Springs; George Young, Bristol.
Discharged Thursday: Christopher Skinner, Hayes Ave., Ellington; Elizabeth Skinner, Hayes Ave., Ellington; Debra Shandley, W. Main St., Rockville; Mrs. Kathleen Dyson and daughter, Stafford Springs.

Hobo gone from Halloween

South Windsor
JUDY KUEHNEL
What happened to the Halloween of long ago?
With the night of "witches on broomsticks and cats and bats" rapidly approaching, I can't help but remember how easy it was for the mothers of yesterday.
Half of us rubbed a little burned cork on our faces, put on an old torn shirt and went out as a hobo, while the rest of us draped a sheet over our head and went trick or treatin' as a ghost.
Not today!
Today's kids know weeks ahead who and what they will be when the big night arrives.
It's a big thing.
The aisles of stores are clogged full of ready made costumes, wigs, magic wands, pumpkin flashlights and even long black fingernails and fanged teeth.
There are masks representing almost every famed TV character from Snoopy to Fonzie.
Halloween night the streets will be lined with Bionic men (and women) and a wide array of vampires.
But what happened to the Halloween hobo of yesterday?
The Manchester Herald took a little informal survey of some South Windsor children to see if we could find a hobo. There were none in the bunch.
The Herald asked the following children, "What will you be on Halloween night?"
Stuart Rodonis, Miller Rd., a mooster.
Mark Wilkins, 205 Orchard Hill Dr., a pirate.
Bryan Gavini, 62 Crestwood Dr., a tombstone.

Dracula and friend wait for you tonight
If you've always wanted to visit a haunted house on Halloween but never had the chance well that's all ended. The chance is here. The Vernon Jaycees and the Vernon Junior Women's Club have turned the Lottie Fisk Building at Henry Park into a haunted house. The visiting hours will be tonight and Saturday night from 6 to 10 p.m. Tickets will be sold at the door. "Dracula" also known as Jaycee Frank Proaccini is shown making friends with a giant black spider, just one of the many treats in store for the visitors. (Herald photo by Richmond)

Crosstown Halloween parties tonight

Tonight there will be a Halloween warm-up with a double-barreled treat for local ghosts and goblins.
Grades kindergarten to 4 will be entertained from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. at the Hebron Elementary School with games, prizes, food, refreshments and the famous annual "Spook Walk." Admission will be 10 cents per person. Children are encouraged to wear costumes.
This year Grades 4 to 6 will be entertained at their own party from 6:30 to 9 p.m. at the Gilead Hill School. A two-hour cartoon feature film show starting the Walt Disney Halloween hit, "Ichabod Crane and Mr. Toad" will highlight the festivities. Admission is 25 cents per person or $1 per family. Food and refreshments will also be available.
The film program will last until 9 p.m. to allow parents to make the band, drama club, involved in sports and served as a member of the Title IX Committee.

Sunset Hills honors two of its daughters

East Hartford
The Sunset Hills Homeowners Association honored two daughters of members at their annual meeting Wednesday night.
Denise Boudreau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Boudreau, Rony Lane, was awarded a plaque recognizing her as the town's most valuable girl swimmer. She was named most valuable at the town's annual swim meet at the end of the summer.
Denise, a senior at East Hartford High School, learned to swim in the Sunset Hills neighborhood pool. She was a member of the Sunset Hills team for the past several summers.
Jamie Tyska, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tyska, of Rony Lane, was awarded a plaque of appreciation from the association. Last summer, Jamie, also a senior at EHS, organized the Sunset Hills annual swim-athon. She coordinated the 76-mile swim to raise funds for the Danny Thomas St. Jude Hospital. The neighborhood youngsters raised $400 for the fund swimming from early morning to achieve the 76-mile mark.
Usually the association holds a 50-mile swim-athon for charity. But this year, because of the Bicentennial, the swimmers set the 76-mile mark.
St. Rose ladies
St. Rose Ladies Guild will hold their monthly meeting Monday in the church basement at 8 p.m.
An Andover craftsman will demonstrate the art of macramé. Cider and doughnuts will be served.
Sunday, Nov. 7 the guild will hold their annual Communion Breakfast in the school auditorium after the 10:30 a.m. Mass. Rev. Edward P. Smith, guest speaker, will discuss Divorce in the Catholic Church.

Voter turnout bothers Benoit

Vernon
Expressing astonishment with national reports that indicate less than 50 per cent of the voters will vote Tuesday, Mayor Thomas Benoit is calling on Vernon voters to go to the polls.
"Not too long ago the 18-year-olds were demonstrating for the right to the polls, now it's their opportunity to use that privilege," he added.
Guest speaker
Mrs. Connie Nutter of Vernon, state coordinator for the people's platform, Sunday, Nov. 7 the guild will be the guest speaker at the Nov. 5 meeting of the Greater Rockville Area Council of Church Women United. Her topic is "Enter the Third Century Unafraid-Fact or Fiction?"
Colonial bazaar
The Colonial United Methodist Church, 142 Grove St. will have its Colonial Holiday Bazaar Nov. 13 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the church. The booths will be full stocked for Christmas shopping. Lunch will be served from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.
90th Year
Vernon Grange 52 will celebrate its 90th anniversary Nov. 5 at 8:30 p.m. in Grange Hall, Rt. 30. There will be a potluck supper with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Graham and Mrs. Charlotte Purinton in charge. The Junior Grange will meet Nov. 6 at 2 p.m.

Finance board gets tough

Bolton
All town board chairmen will soon receive a letter from the Board of Finance because of the present operating policy of some boards.
There have been recent requests for more money after the budget for a department has been completely spent.
"The board is requesting it be informed of a budget's need for more money as soon as possible and certainly before the account is expended."
The letter said, "If this policy is not followed it will force the Board of Finance to deny requests."
By law, whenever there is an appropriation is responsible for it if there is no money in that particular account.
Friendship Bowl
The first annual Friendship Bowl game will be Nov. 14 at Herrick Memorial Park when the Bolton Tigers play the Everett, Mass. Huskies.
Both are midget football teams. There will be two games, one with the team's A squad and one with the B squad.
Gil Bolesoneau, head coach, said:

Amston subdivision okay refused

Hebron
The Planning and Zoning Commission unanimously voted to ask Atty. Bruce Kalom to present a five-lot subdivision plan and the signatures of all five lot owners on the plan application before approving it.
At its last meeting the PZC told Kalom to present lot numbers, certain to allow parents to make the band, drama club, involved in sports and served as a member of the Title IX Committee.
The property was divided and sold into several parcels some years ago, but the package was never approved by the PZC.
Kalom said it is hard now to get the signatures of the other owners.
PZC Chairman Salvatore Mastandrea opposed approval stating he could not accept without the four property owners agreeing to the accuracy of the lines.
In other business to the commission received copies of the new zoning and subdivision regulations. Errors in the copies were noted and it was decided not to release any copies.
Members agreed to table an action on the Wayne Miller Real Estate business being conducted in a residential zone on Rt. 66. Miller has been given until today to vacate the easements on properties on Deepwood Dr. and Rt. 85 in Amston.
Kalom is representing Alce Pomprovic and Oscar Belanger of Amston. Belanger is seeking subdivision approval on the six-acre parcel. The property was divided and sold into several parcels some years ago, but the package was never approved by the PZC.
Kalom said it is hard now to get the signatures of the other owners.

Bishop's Lake deal progressing

Andover
While more open space advocates decry the loss of the 528-acre Bishop's Lake property here to private developers, the sale goes on. Warren Howland, Manchester real estate agent handling the deal, said Thursday attorneys for both buyers and sellers are now working on the papers to make the property transfer.
Principal owner is Robert Fuller, former Andover resident now living in Easton, Md. Clint Nangles of Nangles and Partner Inc. of Boston, Mass. is reported to be buying the property for $420,000.
"We are definitely going ahead with the Nangle group," said Howland.
Although no papers have yet been filed at the Andover Town Hall, Howland said, "It's a large deal and takes a lot of work. Right now the buyer's attorneys are doing the title search. It is progressing nicely."
Voicing his regrets over the state's loss of a chance to buy the land this fall was John E. Hubbard, secretary, forester of the Connecticut Forest and Park Association Inc. in East Hartford.
Mrs. Margaret Jurovatic, Andover resident living near the land, said Thursday no one has forgotten the affair. She said she checks daily the Town Hall for signs of progress in the private land deal.
Howland said, "I much preferred to see it go to the state."
Howland said he disagreed with State Rep. Al Ahearn's assessment of why the deal failed. Ahearn said the biggest failure was the lack of direct communication between Fuller and the state Department of Environmental Protection.
Howland said, "The problem boiled down to two people in the governor's office. Nobody could get the deal past these two people, this bottleneck."
He did not identify the two people. Howland praised Ahearn's efforts and those of State Sen. Dave Barry in trying to save the deal for the state. "They just could not get the attention of anybody," he said.

Carter-SBA dealings detailed in files released to UPI

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Jimmy Carter tried and failed in 1965 to reclaim some Georgia land he held as loan collateral. He was rejected because of suspicious he intended to raise money for personal reasons and not to expand his business.

The refusal came from the Small Business Administration and the Citizens Bank of America, Ga., which loaned Carter $175,000 in 1962 to build and equip an agricultural warehouse on 200 acres of land in his hometown of Plains, Ga. The bank provided 25 per cent of the loan and the SBA put up the rest.

Details of the 1965 request and its denial are contained in SBA files made available to UPI in response to a Freedom of Information request.

UPI was given additional SBA files by "Spotlight," a conservative publication strongly critical of Carter. UPI verified the authenticity of these files with SBA.

Asked about the matter, Jody Powell, Carter's press secretary, made clear he felt the matter had been "leaked" by asking rhetorically, "How did the file get to Washington?"

Then he went on: "You're asking me, 'was he lying?' The answer is no, I'm saying this because this is barely, and only barely, worth a response."

The SBA records showed that in 1965 Carter asked that security liens be removed against some of his assets, including 200 acres of land in Plains, Ga. He said he needed the land free of mortgage to expand his business.

The files showed that the president of Citizens Bank, S.R. Hunter, recommended against the request on grounds Carter really wanted the money for reasons unrelated to his business. Two regional SBA officials in Atlanta, John P. Latimer and Max E. Houston, agreed with Hunter's assessment in separate memos and letters.

SBA records show that Hunter said Carter said he needed money to run the U.S. House seat then held by Republican Howard Callaway. Hunter also was quoted as saying Carter wanted to start a rival bank in America.

For his part, Houston said in a memo dated Sept. 24, 1965, that "Mr. Carter had admitted to Mr. Latimer's office, and the Citizens Bank is also aware of it, that the primary reason was to obtain the necessary funds in starting another bank in America that would be competing with the Callaway's bank. Carter never sought Callaway's consent, deciding instead to run for governor. He ran third in a three-man race. Not long afterward, Carter had taken up his blanket assessment in separate memos and letters.

SBA said Carter requested and received one-year deferrals of his payments in 1966 and 1970 - the years he ran for governor - but "the man was repaid on a timely basis."

Arrested man attempts suicide

A Vermont man was charged with disorderly conduct and third-degree criminal mischief after a Thursday night incident in the Manchester Police Headquarters cellblock in which he apparently tried to hang himself.

Police thwarted the apparent suicide attempt early and the man wasn't injured, officers said.

Police said George B. Frank, 37, of Brattleboro, Vt., was taken into custody earlier in the day on a 1973 court warrant charging him with non-support. He was placed in the cellblock on $1,000 bond to await a court appearance.

At about 8 p.m., a policeman checked the cellblock and found that Frank was hanging from a pipe in the cell. The officer went to the desk sergeant to get help before entering the cell, and then a choking noise was heard coming from the cellblock.

Police returned to the area and found that Frank had a narrow strip of blanket tied to his neck and to bars in the cell. Officers removed the blanket after a short struggle and placed Frank back in the cell.

The bond was increased to $1,500 after the other two charges were added, police said.

Frank was to be arraigned today in Common Pleas Court 12, East Hartford.

Man robbed in parking lot

A theater-goer returning to his car at the Barr Corner Shopping Plaza Thursday night was robbed of his wallet at gunpoint, Manchester Police said today.

Police are seeking two black youths, whom they described as a pair of black youths, in connection with the 10 p.m. holdup.

The victim, a Manchester resident, told police he took his wallet to the Manchester Twin Cinemas and returned to his car when he saw two youths come from behind a row of parked cars.

The two youths approached, and one of them said, "This is a holdup." The victim turned around and saw one of the youths in a crouched position, holding in two hands what appeared to be a revolver. The second youth told the victim to put up his hands while he took his wallet from his pocket.

The two youths then ran away behind the theater, the victim said. The victim then went to his car, but it wouldn't start, so he flagged down a passing motorist who summoned police via Citizen Band radio.

The two youths were each described as black males, 14 to 16 years old, about five-foot-five inches tall, slender, wearing dark clothing. They were wearing dark jackets and $25 in cash and credit cards.

Rhodesian black leaders reject Kissinger plan

GENEVA, Switzerland (UPI) - Rhodesian black nationalist leaders today rejected Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's plan for a black majority government in Rhodesia within two years. They demanded black rule at once and threatened to take over the country by force if necessary.

But white Prime Minister Ian Smith stuck to his position that he has come to the Geneva conference on Rhodesia only to negotiate on the basis of proposals made by Kissinger. The second day of the conference today was devoted to opening position statements by the four African delegations and Smith's white government group. The session lasted one hour and 20 minutes, and the conference then adjourned for the weekend.

All four black nationalist delegations rejected the Kissinger package which would transfer power from 275,000 whites to 6 million blacks within two years. They demanded the transfer be made immediately.

A British spokesman said the date and time of the next formal session would be settled by chairman Ivor Richard, Britain's ambassador to the United Nations, following private consultations with leaders of the five rival delegations.

A formal resumption was expected Monday or Tuesday.

Richard adjourned the meeting "to give delegates time for reflection," the British spokesman said.

Conferees officials said Smith spoke for just a few minutes and said "nothing new" beyond what he has said publicly during the eight days he has been in Geneva.

One of the Black Rhodesian nationalist leaders, Bishop Abel Muzorewa of the African National Council, said there must be immediate African rule in Rhodesia with an interim government elected on the basis of one man-one vote and charged with drawing up a new constitution within 12 months.

"Either the people take power, completely, now or the people's armed struggle continues," Muzorewa said in his opening position speech at the Rhodesia Conference called by Britain.

Joshua Nkomo, Muzorewa's rival in the ANC, told the conference his delegation came to Geneva "to ensure the immediate unfettered independence of the people of Zimbabwe (Rhodesia)."

Muzorewa said the Geneva conference has to "establish the mechanics of transferring power to the black majority."

"The ANC is not here in a spirit of give and take, we have come here only to take to take our country," Muzorewa declared.

He conceded that there are differences among black Rhodesians, both in Rhodesia and among the four nationalist delegations in Geneva. "But they are standing solidly united in our demand for majority rule here and now," Muzorewa said.

Arts Cooperative to meet Monday

The Visual Arts Cooperative, an organization founded to promote an opportunity for community artists to share their works and experience, will meet Monday at 8 p.m. at Foot Prints Gallery, 466 Main St.

The new group is a non-profit organization. It has arranged with Foot Prints, a non-profit community art center, for gallery space to be available throughout the year for a continuous display of art done by members of the Visual Arts Cooperative.

There is a membership fee which provides for the gallery space, utilities, insurance, and other expenses.

Also, there will be an annual members' show in the main gallery at Foot Prints. A percentage of the art work which is sold will be paid to Foot Prints.

Programs may feature group discussions, demonstrations by artists, speakers, and workshops. Meetings will be held approximately at monthly intervals.

The cooperative is open to anyone with an interest in visual arts. Display of art works is optional.

Police report

Domenick M. Franco, 26, of 126 Silver Lane, East Hartford, was arrested by Manchester Police Thursday night in connection with two residential burglaries the same night on Charter Oak St.

Police said Franco, apprehended in Hartford by city police, was charged with two counts each of third-degree burglary and second-degree larceny. He was held overnight on $5,000 cash bond for appearance, two in Common Pleas Court 12, East Hartford.

In one of the burglaries, a $400 color television set was taken, police said. In the other case about $500 worth of jewelry and $50 in cash were reported stolen.

Police learned that a Charter Oak St. resident had seen a suspicious man drive away from the area, and the information about the vehicle was teletyped to area police departments.

At about 10:30 p.m., Hartford Police said they had stopped Franco while driving in the city, Manchester Police said the television, jewelry and cash were found in his car.

Donald P. Bredau, 18, of 106 Avery St. was charged early this morning with criminal attempt to commit third-degree burglary in connection with an incident at the A & P Package Store on E. Center St., police said.

Police said a suspicious youth later identified as Bredau was picked up by officers on E. Center St. shortly before the break was discovered by another officer on routine patrol.

Several bottles of liquor and wine taken after the front door was smashed were recovered outside the package store, police said.

Bredau was held on a $500 cash bond for court appearance today.

Gordon M. Derby, 19, of no certain address was charged on a court warrant Thursday with third-degree burglary and fourth-degree larceny, Manchester Police said.

Police said the charges stem from a recent house break on Vernon St. After being arrested on the warrant, police added other charges involving the alleged cashing of checks stolen in the house burglary. Added were two counts each of third-degree forgery and fourth-degree larceny.

Derby was presented in court Thursday and his case continued. He is being held on $1,000 surety bond at the Hartford Correctional Center.

A tenant of a W. Middle Tpk. apartment told Manchester Police Thursday that her pocketbook containing about $900 in cash was stolen while she was at home.

Police said the woman left her pocketbook in the kitchen near an open rear door, and she left the room. Two youths then came to the front door, asking for somebody who didn't live there, and when the woman returned to the kitchen her pocketbook was gone.

Police suspected a third youth, working with the other two, had taken the pocketbook.

In other thefts reported to Manchester Police, owners of the Collectors Corner at 489 Main St. said 12 antique watches valued at a total of $1,200 were stolen Wednesday.

The shopkeeper said the watches were taken while he was answering questions of youths in another part of the store. Police, suspecting that the youths had something to do with the theft, told them to find the watches and bring them back.

The watches were returned later in the day.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I disagree with your answer to the 47-year-old woman, signed PUSHOVER, who described her date as the kind of man she'd like to marry, even though she went to bed with him on their first date. She reported having yielded so easily, thinking that now she may not be "marriage material."

You said a man may want a pushover for a date, but not a wife. That's upholding a double standard!

I would hope that the man would appreciate her as a sensitive, affectionate woman ready to act on her own basic needs. I would hope, also, that she would have a little more pride than she seems to in her honest desire for fulfillment and closeness. If she did, she might be asking herself whether a man who did not appreciate this in her would be the kind of man SHE wants to marry.

If I were testing for marriage material, I'd score affection, honesty and openness a lot higher than game-playing and holding out.

DEAR 47: What I call caution, modesty and restraint on a first date you see as "game-playing and holding out."

I prefer the former, and I think most men do, too.

DEAR ABBY: There is a simple, foolproof way to pay your restaurant check when you are consistently ignored by the management and waiter after you are long finished with eating and would like to leave. I first used this method at the Ft. Riley Officers' Club, but it works in almost any kind of establishment from Howard Johnson's to the Waldorf.

You simply draw a reasonable facsimile of your restaurant check on the tablecloth or placemat. If you know what you owe, fill it in. If you don't, write in what you were served, sign your name, print your name and address and note how long you waited.

If the management has the guts to send you a bill instead of an apology, you can then pay it.

W.T. RABE (P.S. The cavalry officer running the Ft. Riley Club requested that I pay $2 for the tablecloth, which I did. I then insisted that I owned the tablecloth and asked him to cut out the check, which I framed. He finally thought it was funny, too, and planned the tablecloth with a hole in it to the wall of his pantry for his help to see.)

DEAR W.T.: That might have worked at the Ft. Riley Officers' Club back in the days when a tablecloth was $2, but I don't recommend that stunt today at the Waldorf or any other posh eatery.

DEAR ABBY: I recently attended the wedding of a dear friend. It was the second marriage for both of them.

The bridegroom's married daughter attended the wedding dressed completely in black. She wore no jewelry whatsoever and all during the ceremony, she looked so uncontrovertibly sad to be comforted by relatives.

What would you make of such dress and behavior? WEDDING OR FUNERAL?

DEAR WEDDING OR: Were I rating her joy on that occasion, on a scale of one to 10, I'd give her a zero.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Keep out of other people's business today, or you'll cause problems for all concerned. There is usually a very close-to-one relationship.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) You are overwhelmed by the enormity of the tasks at home today. Later, you'll improve your methods and find out what you've accomplished.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) The beginning of your day could be marred by failure to get in touch with one you need to talk to. Try to do it before you go to bed.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Lack of funds could cause trouble for you today. Fortunately, the family rally to you to ease some of the pain.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) An associate's negligence could cause your blood pressure to rise today. Get out of a good time with friends and forget it.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A mood of depression prevents you from applying yourself at work today. Might as well put work aside and go out and do some shopping.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Acquaintances could be deceitful today. Don't let yourself be outdriven in anything serious. Be careful and stick to small talk.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're frustrated because you're involved on a project today. Don't take it out on the family. Treat yourself to something you've secretly wanted instead.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You lack comprehension of serious matters today. You could deceive yourself by busy making it's better you do some shopping.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Although you'll be hampered by a shortage of cash today, you won't let it get you down. You're admired for keeping your chin up.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Today don't be afraid to be innovative. Even if you're stymied, look for alternative solutions.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) You're far better off using your own judgment today. If others lead you astray, you'll be slow to forgive and forget.

"What happened to you?" we asked. "Did West double you and then give his partner two club ruffs?"

"No!" he replied. "I sat West. It seems North and South were playing a silly convention that an opening bid of three trump showed a seven or eight-card solid suit and nothing on the side. South opened three trump. Everyone passed and South made four trump for an absolute top."

As our friend said, it is a silly convention, but everything works once in a while.

The Oswald & James Jacoby Club recently looked so happy that we knew he had another real hard luck story for us.

He had been playing duplicate and showed us a hand.

He pointed out that practically every South player was playing a solid suit and played it there. Sometimes it was doubled by West. In all cases West opened an ace - usually the diamond. Then he would proceed to cash his other two aces and would note that his partner would play the three of hearts, deuce of diamonds and 10 of clubs. Then West would lead a second club and a ruff would set the contract.

Vitamins cold curing abilities doubted

BOSTON (UPI) — Medical researchers who two years ago concluded that Vitamin C may be an excellent remedy for the common cold now claim the vitamin may be almost useless.

The researchers based their new findings on the results of a 18-week study in 1974 among 868 Navajo Indian children in Steamboat and Lower Greasewood, Ariz.

The children lived at two boarding schools where colds were known to run high.

The results of the tests published in this week's edition of the New England Journal of Medicine indicated Vitamin C showed "no evidence of prophylactic or therapeutic potential."

The researchers said the new test was conducted to "evaluate earlier observations."

The children were instructed to consume two tablets per day, or a total of 1,000 milligrams. Proponents of Vitamin C, however, claim this dosage is too low to be effective.

The children did not know whether they were taking Vitamin C or fake pills.

The observers found that the children who took the real tablets came down with just as many cold symptoms as the children who did not.

"More specifically, we were unable to show that Vitamin C prevents complicated respiratory infections..." the researchers wrote.

"We also found no support for the hypothesis that Vitamin C preferentially ameliorates certain symptoms" of the common cold, the researchers said.

An earlier study by the same researchers in 1973 suggested that the vitamin had "modest symptomatic benefit."

The 1973 study was one of the first tests conducted in support of a theory by Nobel Laureate Linus Pauling.

The follow up study was headed by Dr. John Coulehan of the University of Pittsburgh with the assistance of researchers from the University of New Mexico.

WWI veteran finally gets Purple Heart

SALEM, Ore. (UPI) — Kenneth W. Jones received his Purple Heart Wednesday — for injuries suffered in World War I nearly 60 years ago.

Jones, a retired Portland customs inspector, received the award from Gov. Bob Straub for wounds suffered in combat in France Oct. 1, 1918.

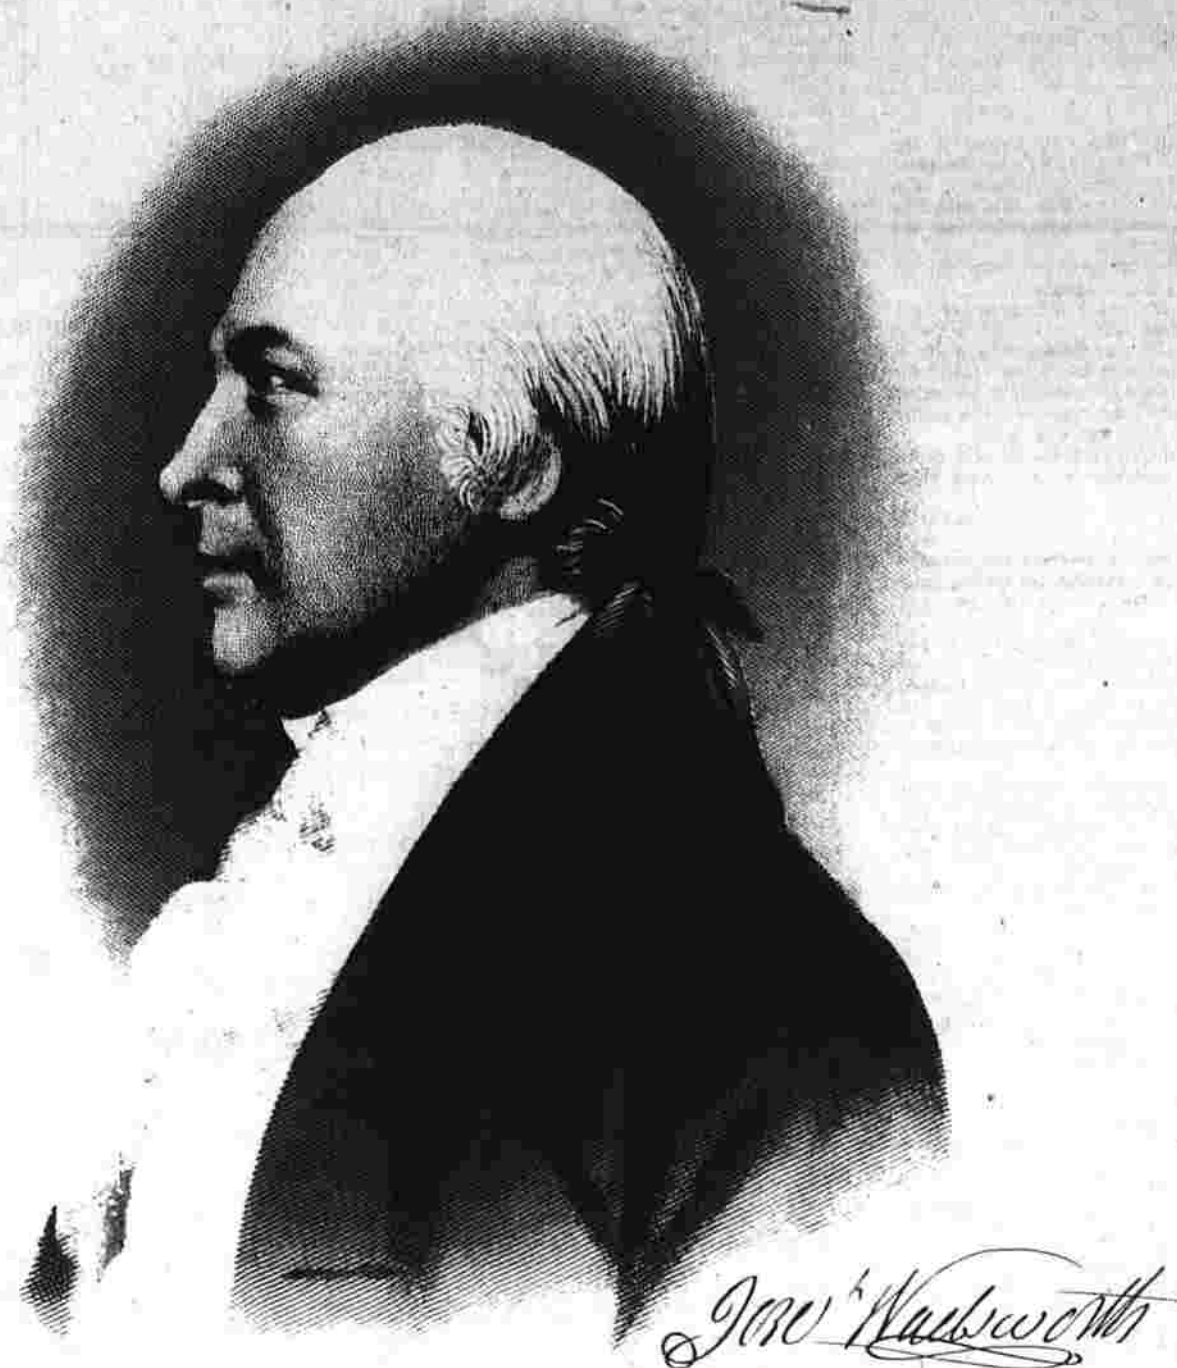

Jones, a private first class in the 363rd Ambulance Company, was knocked unconscious and left without hearing in one ear when he was narrowly missed by an artillery shell while leading a dozen infantrymen and three other medics to the front lines to bring in casualties.

He refused hospital treatment and continued his work. No mention of the injury was made in the company report, but after the war Jones spent some time in hospitals for treatment.

When he applied for the Purple Heart, however, the request was rejected. His problems were complicated by a fire which destroyed Army personnel records.

Finally, a friend, E. G. Johnson, Portland, a major in the Oregon National Guard and a member of the Military Order of the Purple Heart, appealed on Jones' behalf to the inspector general. Johnson said the appeal succeeded after "we papered the wall of the inspector general office with copies of his discharge papers."

Johnson said Jones probably will be the last veteran of World War I to receive the Purple Heart.

The smart people still save at Hartford National

All the rich aren't born rich, you know. Back around 1792, Jeremiah Wadsworth began building his fortune with a lot of work and a couple of smart ideas.

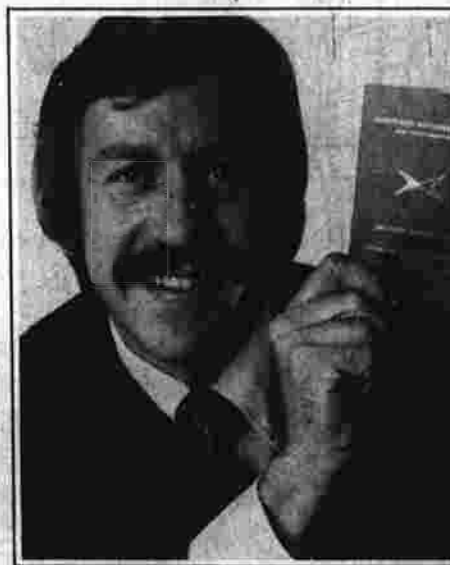

One of them was Hartford National, Jeremiah Wadsworth's bank.

Jeremiah Wadsworth kept his money in a Hartford National account, even before savings earned interest. We still gave him more for his money. He could finance through us. He could give and get credit through us. He could even get the 1792 version of a checking account. We made sure his future kept growing. The next generation of Wadsworths found more than enough to build the Atheneum and futures of their own.

For a man who knew value, Hartford National added up. Even in 1792.

Smart man, Wadsworth. Things haven't changed all that much in 184 years. Savings earn interest now, and smart people still get more for their money by saving at Hartford National. In fact, nearly 200,000 smart people save at more than 60 Hartford National offices today.

It makes sense. We've had a long, long time to polish all the ways we can help you save. We modify different savings plans for different individual needs.

7½%	6-Year Accounts yield	7.788%
7¼%	4-Year Accounts yield	7.519%
6½%	2½-Year Accounts yield	6.715%
6%	1-Year Accounts yield	6.183%
5½%	90-Day Accounts yield	5.614%
5%	NOW Accounts yield	5.116%
5%	Regular Accounts yield	5.095%

*Effective annual yield when savings and interest remain on deposit for one year or to maturity. Federal regulations require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal.

We'll always pay the highest savings interest the law allows. And we'll always back up Hartford National savings with every time-, trouble- and money-saving service you'll ever need or use.

Open a Hartford National savings account today. Then sit back and watch all your savings grow. Smart thinker, you.

Modified fireplaces heat more efficiently than ordinary fireplaces. Cool air enters the inlets at the bottom, is heated by contact with the warm metal of the fireplace, rises by natural circulation, and is discharged through the outlets at the top. Electric powered fans will aid circulation. The outlets may be located in the wall of an adjacent room or a second-story room.
