Pantry replenished

Pat Motowidlak of 16 Frederick Rd. sorts some of the donations already received at the food depot at the Forbes and Wallace building at the Parkade to restock the Emergency Pantry and to provide Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets for Manchester people in need. By Saturday, 40 Thanksgiving baskets had been filled, and nearly $300 donated which will be used to buy turkeys, canned hams, fresh fruits and potatoes. (Herald photo by Dunn)

Arab peace keeping army takes control of Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — A heavily-armed, Syrian-dominated peacekeeping army swept through the battle lines of Beirut today, moving between rival Christian and Moslem militiamen and taking control of the entire capital.

The force pushed into areas that had seen some of the heaviest fighting in 19 months of civil war but met remarkably little resistance.

However, a spokesman for the Arab force said a land mine exploded in the commercial district of the capital, wounding four civilians and three Syrian soldiers, one seriously.

He also said a sniper in a formerly Christian-rightist port area opened fire on Syrian troops as they advanced. The Syrians killed him.

The backbone of the Arab army was Syrian, but the force was sprinkled with soldiers from Saudi Arabia, the Sudan and Libya that had been in Lebanon since last June.

Women leaned out of windows and waved at the soldiers as they passed and children clapped at the sight of tanks rumbling through neighborhood streets.

At the museum crossing between east and west Beirut, Moslems and Christians alike could be seen walking through the rubble and talking with Syrian guards.

Tanks, armored cars, jeeps mounted with recoilless rifles and troop trucks moved simultaneously at dawn, rolling into new positions, consolidating them, leaving detachments and pushing on in a methodical drive that overran the capital by noon.

The road to the airport was opened south of Beirut. Spearheaded by a bulldozer, another Syrian contingent plowed through to the port area and then on to the international hotels district.

Leftist militiamen fired bursts of gunfire into the air when the Syrian advance party reached their lines — to show their satisfaction — and cried "welcome to the Syrian army," and "heroes of the 1973 October war."

The drive capped a sweep down from the central mountains last Wednesday by 4,000 Syrian troops in two brigades with hundreds of armored vehicles. Some 2,300 Saudi, Sudanese and Libyan troops have been stationed at the airport since June.

The Arab League troops met no real resistance anywhere in the city. There were unconfirmed reports that they had briefly come under sniper fire as they advanced into the port.

By mid-afternoon, traffic in both east and west Beirut returned to normal as civilians choked the streets to enjoy a day without fear of sudden sniper or shelling attacks. They crowded into the central Bourj square, the historic center of the city, which for months had been in the middle of no-man's-land.

"It's the first time in a year that there have been this many cars and people on this street," a resident of west Beirut said as he drove down Basta Street in the demolished commercial sector.

Sadat statement sparks call for new peace try

CAIRO (UPI) — President Anwar Sadat's approach to the Middle East conflict has prompted a group of U.S. senators to advocate greater American involvement in a new peace effort to end the 28-year-old Arab-Israeli crisis.

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., who led a group of 13 senators on a weekend visit to Cairo for talks with Egyptian officials, told reporters Sunday that Sadat's approach to Middle East peace negotiations was a constructive new element that should be cultivated.

President Anwar Sadat says he has no preconditions and that the Arabs are ready to go to the Geneva Middle East peace conference, Ribicoff said. "Peace negotiations are not easy, but all problems facing the Middle East are open to negotiations."

Political sources said Sadat's declared friendship with the United States has encouraged the visiting senators to "advocate a greater

American involvement in reactivating the "Middle East peace machine."

In weekend talks with the senators — who already have visited Israel and Jordan — Sadat said he was "ready to take any risks for peace... But are the Israelis ready?"

Sadat asked the senators to tell President-elect Jimmy Carter that Egypt wants a "global solution to the Arab-Israeli conflict in 1977. It's time and we are ready for this and I hope Israel is ready too."

Stressing that the Geneva peace conference remains the only adequate forum for Middle East peace, Sadat said he was "not asking Carter to take our side... All I ask Carter is that before he takes his decision, he should seek our viewpoint just as he seeks Israel's."

Addressing a news conference Sunday, Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., said after his visits to Israel and Egypt he was convinced that the atmosphere was ripe for fresh Middle East peace efforts.

Plains Baptist Church votes to desegregate

PLAINS, Ga. (UPI) — Eleven years ago, Jimmy Carter and his family stood almost alone in seeking to accept blacks to the Plains Baptist Church. Sunday, the congregation voted almost 2-1 with the president-elect to admit "all persons who want to worship Jesus Christ."

The vote was a triumph for Carter, whom church members described as playing a peacemaking role Sunday.

During a members-only, nearly three-hour meeting, the congregation voted by secret ballot to overrule their deacons and retain pastor Bruce Edwards and rescind a 1965 resolution barring "Negroes and other civil rights agitators."

"I'm proud of my church, God's church," a smiling Carter told a crowd huddled outside the church in a chilly rain. Among them were three robed members of the Ku Klux Klan.

Six hours later, Roger Sessoms Jr., 29, a black tourist from Selma, N.C., walked in just before Edward's sermon and took a seat in the second row just ahead of Carter. There was little noticeable attention among the worshippers as the formerly all white congregation was integrated.

"Thank you for coming, I'm glad you came tonight," Carter told Sessoms after the meeting. Sessoms said he had nothing to do with the Rev. Cleon King, a black part-time non-denominational minister from Albany, Ga., 40 miles away, who faced locked doors on two consecutive Sundays when he tried to integrate the church.

"He's a dingbat," Sessoms said. King, wearing a clerical collar, expressed delight — and some astonishment — at the vote.

"It vindicated the church. It vindicated the people of Plains," he said. "They (the people of the south) may growl and grumble but they're the sweetest white folks on earth."

He said he would be present next Sunday to apply for membership.

Democrat governors draft list of regional 'just due' programs

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (UPI) — Having developed a program to gain more federal help for their region, seven Northeast governors now face the more difficult task of selling their program to Congress and a new president.

The governors, all Democrats, drew up a program to give the Northeast "its just due" of federal programs and funds during a weekend session in this resort city.

The seven members of the Coalition of Northeast Governors invited more than 100 leaders of labor, industry, government and education to scrutinize the Northeast's problems in transportation, welfare, energy and other areas.

Their proposals included a greater federal assumption of welfare costs, more funds for mass transportation and the area's waterways and ports, and creation of a regional corporation to coordinate the development of energy resources.

The group also urged President-elect Jimmy Carter to take strong action to keep foreign oil prices from rising, saying "a price increase at this time would cripple the economy of the Northeast, which depends heavily on imported oil." Carter, who was invited but did not attend the conference, sent an aide to assure the governors they would have "a friend and an ally" in the new Democratic president.

The governors charged that the Republican administrations of Richard Nixon and Gerald Ford neglected the Northeast for the past eight years while aiding the economies of other parts of the nation.

New York Gov. Hugh Carey, chairman of the group, said the coalition would personally present the proposals to Carter, if possible before his inauguration.

Stuart Eizenstat, a policy advisor to Carter, told the group Saturday night, "You will have a friend and an ally in the White House. If anyone understands regional discrimination and regional problems, it is Governor Carter." In addition to Carey, the group includes Govs. Michael Dukakis of Massachusetts, Ella Grasso of Connecticut, Brendan Byrne of New Jersey, Milton Shapp of Pennsylvania, Philip Noel of Rhode Island and Thomas Salmon of Vermont.

Gov. James Longley of Maine, an independent, attended Sunday's session as an observer. He said he was "tremendously impressed with the work of the group" but said he had not yet decided whether to join the panel.

Shapp, summing up the governors' demands, said, "What we are seeking is redress" for past discrimination. "We should change the direction of what has been happening in this country so that we get our just due."

Grasso confident Carter willing to help region

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Ella T. Grasso returned home Sunday from a meeting of Northeast governors confident President-elect Jimmy Carter is willing to help the region out of its economic slump.

Mrs. Grasso attended the two-day meeting of seven governors in Saratoga Springs, N.Y., to discuss a point-by-point program to help uplift the Northeast's economy.

Mrs. Grasso, addressing the coalition Saturday night, said she felt Carter's favorable response and the region's large congressional delegation would bring about ways to help solve the problems of the region.

The governors met last month with Carter in Hartford and he said afterward he thought the region deserved special attention from the federal government.

"Mr. Carter's approach is very positive. He is interested in tax incentives for job-producing investments in our region," she said. "He is willing to consider federal assistance to relieve the welfare burden on the states."

The governor said, "He indicated in his response to us that his administration plans to work closely and effectively with the Northeast to help us solve our problems."

"The presence of his personal representative — Stuart Eizenstat — is evidence of Mr. Carter's intention to meet that commitment," she said.

The governor said later that what the coalition does in the next few months will have "a profound effect on the people of our states and on the much-needed revitalization of the Northeast."

The governor did not endorse specific proposals, saying she will wait for further details. She said she planned to bring together legislators, businessmen, and the Connecticut congressional delegation to review the governors' economic recovery program.

She said it was possible some of the plans could be put into effect by early next year.

Meadows nursing home owners given ultimatum by union

Owners of the Meadows Convalescent Home on Bidwell St. have been told by District 1199 to grant an immediate salary increase to its 250 member employees, or the nursing facility runs the risk of being closed.

In a joint meeting held last week with representatives from Geri-Care Nursing Centers of America, owner of the Meadows and several other nursing homes, District 1199 and employe representatives, Geri-Care officials said they could not possibly agree to give wage increases when their projected losses for the Meadows for the current fiscal year are $369,000.

Geri-Care has offered to work out an agreement to give the employes a wage increase of a specified percentage as soon as the state grants an increase in Medicaid rates. The offer, however has been unacceptable to District 1199, National Union of Hospital and Health Care Employees.

The union contract at Geri-Care owned nursing homes in Connecticut expires today. Fred Joslyn, vice-president in charge of operations at Geri-Care, said if union employes at the Meadows should strike, the first thing management would do would be to hire permanent replacements.

"Experience shows us that a one day's ad in the newspaper for help brings a lot of responses," Joslyn said.

Meadows employes voted for a strike authorization last August. The union is supposed to give a 10-day advance strike notice, and none has been received yet for a strike at the Meadows.

A Geri-Care spokesman said that two Geri-Care owned nursing homes in the Springfield, Mass., area whose contracts expire Dec. 1, are taking a strike vote today.

In the event of a strike at Meadows, the state Department of Public Health has indicated that it will take immediate steps to reduce the nursing home's licensed capacity as it feels necessary.

Geri-Care officials said if the state department takes this action and the number of patients at the facility is substantially reduced, Geri-Care may be forced to close its 500-bed home in Manchester because its financial loss would increase.

The nursing home officials said that they have appealed to Gov. Grasso for her help in avoiding a strike because such an action could threaten the health and welfare of the patients. Besides, it could mean a serious loss of jobs, officials said. They said that so far the governor has not intervened.

When contract talks between the Meadows and the union reached an impasse last July, a federal mediator was called to intervene, but no agreement was reached.

Local volunteer groups have expressed an interest in helping out at the Meadows if there should be a strike. A representative of the state Mental Health Department told a group of representatives from the nursing facility, the union and town officials last summer that the state has a secret plan to maintain patient care at the Meadows should the homes' employes strike, but details of the plan have not been revealed.

Union officials could not be reached for comment this morning.

State

NEW HAVEN — State Police Commissioner Edward Leonard says legal betting facilities are so lucrative in Connecticut that crime syndicates are willing to bribe as high as a million dollars for a permit. He said one company with alleged links to organized crime tried to "infiltrate" legalized gambling operations but was blocked by the intercession of Gov. Ella T. Grasso.

WATERBURY — A Superior Court jury was expected to begin deliberations today in the second murder trial of New York stockbroker Murray A. Gold, accused of killing his former in-laws, Irving and Rhoda Pasternak Sept. 26, 1974.

NEW HAVEN — Cancer victim John Guerra, 54, has donated $20,000 to kick off a $100 million fund raising drive in cooperation with the American Cancer Society to help patients with the disease bear the high costs of treatment.

Regional

GAY HEAD, Mass. — At first glance it looks as if the Wampanoag Indians are playing with a stacked deck. Voters will decide at a Nov. 23 special town meeting whether to continue fighting a federal suit brought by the tribe seeking to recover 250 acres of land. Almost half the town's 300 year-around residents are Indians, but that doesn't assure the Wampanoags a favorable vote. Because the federal government does not officially recognize tribes without land, a favorable court ruling would bring the Wampanoags federal aid for the first time as a tribe.

BOSTON — Former Boston Police Commissioner Robert J. diGrazia has characterized city politics as "nefarious and byzantine," while Mayor Kevin H. White said a controversial report issued by the commissioner alleging corruption in the department's District 1 "smacked of McCarthyism."

National

GETTYSBURG, Pa. — The congregation of the First Presbyterian Church turned briefly from singing hymns to render "Happy Birthday" for one of its members — Mamie Eisenhower who turned 80 Sunday.

POINT OF THE MOUNTAIN, Utah — On the day he wanted to be executed, condemned murderer Gary Gilmore looks forward to a visit from his fiancée, whom his lawyer says Gilmore would like to marry before he faces the firing squad.

HONOLULU — The Coast Guard said all 19 missing crewmen from the Japanese freighter Carnelian-1 were presumed drowned and canceled its search today for survivors of the lumber ship which sank last Thursday in 30-foot seas.

International

MONTREAL — Quebec voters apparently united by a common dislike for the ruling Liberal government, but some are fearful of a win today by a party dedicated to separation from Canada.

VIENNA, Austria — The oil cartel's economic experts met today to decide on recommendations for the Organization of Oil Exporting Countries, who may raise oil prices when a ministerial meeting opens in the Persian Gulf state of Qatar Dec. 15.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil — Municipal elections today in nearly 4,000 Brazilian cities have been turned into a plebiscite on the national government of President Ernesto Geisel, who has asked for a "vote of confidence in the revolution" referring to the March 1964 revolt which overthrew leftist President Joao Goulart and brought the military to power.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia — Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev flew to Yugoslavia today for three days of talks with aging President Josip Broz Tito.

Bigger tax bite for roads ahead?

Every time a motorist buys a gallon of gasoline, he puts down a deposit of 12 cents to pay for the roads he uses.

Since 1956, the federal tax, plus taxes on other automotive products like tires, oil and spare parts, have gone into the Highway Trust Fund.

Then along came the oil embargo and the "conservation ethic." The Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) says that despite increasing imports of foreign oil, Americans used less gasoline during the first three months of this year than in pre-embargo 1973.

As a result, many states can't even raise enough money to qualify for matching funds from the FHWA, says The Road Information Program (TRIP), a highway industry-supported organization in Washington. The FHWA, which administers the trust fund, estimated last June that the states were sitting on some $7.7 billion in unobligated federal-aid highway money.

Added to this is continuing inflation, which means that the same number of dollars from the trust fund and other sources can do less repair, resurfacing and improvement work. More than 8,000 miles of the aging interstate system are currently in need of resurfacing, says TRIP.

At the same time, many states, including Connecticut, are eyeing the money in the Highway Trust Fund to help pay the high cost of urban bus and rail mass transit projects.

Nevertheless, the automobile is and, as far as we can see into the future, will continue to be the primary mode of transportation for Americans.

If the nation's roads and bridges are going to be kept in service, this means, says TRIP, that in many states a bullet is going to have to be bitten in the form of a bigger tax deposit every time we say fill 'er up.

Experts warn of rising Soviet danger

By Lee Roderick The Herald's Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — "The principal threat to our nation, to world peace, and to the cause of human freedom is the Soviet drive for dominance based upon an unparalleled military buildup."

A phrase lifted from one of Ronald Reagan's campaign speeches? No. It is the battle cry of a bipartisan group of former high-level government officials who have shed their political differences and joined together to warn the U.S. and its allies that they are in mortal danger.

Called the Committee on the Present Danger, the group unveiled its policy statement and plans at a Washington news conference. What turned heads in the capital, however, was not what they said so much as who was saying it.

It is not surprising to find on the committee's roster such military figures as Lyman L. Lemnitzer (former NATO Supreme Allied Commander), Matthew B. Ridgway (former U.S. Army Chief of Staff), and Elmo R. Zumwalt (former Chief of Naval Operations). Also among the 104 luminaries on the roster, however, are the following:

"Common Sense and the Common Danger," which a spokesman said had been read and approved by the entire committee membership:

"The Soviet Union has not altered its long-held goal of a world dominated from a single center — Moscow. It continues, with notable persistence, to take advantage of every opportunity to expand its political and military influence throughout the world."

The committee says it will be wholly financed by voluntary contributions and will engage primarily in educational activities in an attempt to head off such consequences. It also holds out hope for our nation if we act now before it is too late.

"There is still time for effective action to ensure the security and prosperity of the nation in peace, through peaceful deterrence and concerted alliance diplomacy," says the statement.

"A conscious effort of political will is needed to restore the strength and coherence of our foreign policy; to revive the solidarity of our alliances; to build constructive relations of cooperation with other nations whose interests parallel our own — and on that sound basis to seek reliable conditions of peace with the Soviet Union, rather than an illusory detente."

Noting that "peace is not a cut-rate commodity," the committee explains that, as a percentage of Gross National Product, U.S. defense spending is at its lowest level in 25 years. It calls for a higher level of military spending to beef up current forces and moderate those forces through research and development.

"Soviet expansionism," says the committee, "threatens to destroy the world balance of forces on which the survival of freedom depends. If we see the world as it is, and restore our will, our strength and our self-confidence, we shall find resources and friends enough to counter that threat."

The cost of beef

With all the hungry mouths in the world, it would seem that the American farmer would have no shortage of markets for everything he can grow and raise.

But economics is a strange business, and coal will be carried to Newcastle if that's where the purchasing power is. The fact is that the United States has been importing meat, so much meat that it has helped drive beef prices down an average of 20 cents a pound under a year ago. That's good news for the consumer, but not for the cattle raiser.

In a little-publicized move, President Ford has made use of a 1964 stand-by law to impose quotas on foreign meats, which are generally cheaper than the domestic kind.

The Department of Agriculture does not expect any significant increases in retail meat prices in the near future, but every little bit helps.

Somebody, anyway.

Social Security tax cut would be better

WASHINGTON — "I know the American people realize that we can't do everything." Jimmy Carter at his first formal news conference as President-elect.

Now he tells us! During the campaign, Carter — like Gerald Ford — promised to take care of all the needs of our working stiffs except neck-washing and nose-blowing. And, of course, Carter won because a majority of the voters figured he was best equipped to deliver.

Ah, well. It isn't the first time a winning Presidential candidate admitted life's reality once the votes were counted. Even Honest Abe Lincoln turned a touch ambiguous on the slavery issue while he was packing to move into the White House. And it didn't take Franklin D. Roosevelt long to renege on his promise to balance the budget.

Yet, give Carter points for self-confidence, despite squeaking by in the closest Presidential election since 1916, when Woodrow Wilson defeated Republican Charles Evans Hughes by 23 electoral votes. He has gone on record as saying he doesn't "feel timid or cautious or reticent about moving aggressively" to carry more money to invest in expansion. Trying to decide how much to cut taxes at the various income levels would take too much time and leave too many wounds. Moreover, a Social Security tax cut would be especially beneficial to the so-called working poor.

As for the rest of Carter's economic program, when he admitted he couldn't "do everything," he was facing the fact that what he can do will depend on whether the economy recovers and grows as fast as he has predicted.

He favors a number of major new federal spending programs — for national health insurance, welfare reform and aid to cities. He sees government expansion as generating the extra government tax revenues he'll need to carry out those programs. He has said this "growth dividend" could be as high as $60 billion by 1981, but he doesn't guarantee it. And he has promised he would defer new spending programs if that was the only way to achieve a balanced budget. The guess here is that, despite his rejection of "timidity," Carter will be forced to move more slowly than he promised. Eventually, that will mean confrontation with a Congress dominated by Democratic liberals.

These legislators campaigned on a platform of more for everybody, and they'll want everything tomorrow, if not yesterday. They don't give a hoot for balanced budgets.

Meanwhile, I could wish Carter were a bit more concerned about high prices. His advisers tell him there is little immediate risk of renewed inflation because demand for goods and services is still low. Well, the demand has been low all year, but prices continued to rise, he'll need to carry out those programs. He has said this "growth dividend" could be as high as $60 billion by 1981, but he doesn't guarantee it. And he has promised he would defer new spending programs

When someone inquires about looking at old copies of The Herald, we tell them we go back in complete files only to 1934. Before then, we have only scattered copies.

That's because The Herald has had two major fires in its 85-year history. Our copies are on microfilm; Mary Cheney Library also has copies.

Ken Bidwell lives in Broad Brook now, but he is from Manchester. His sister is Mrs. Gloria Knoff of 80 N. School St.

Ken knew we were looking for some old copies and came in a couple of weeks ago with an assortment that date back to the 1920s.

We could list some of the prices in the advertisements, but that wouldn't interest you; prices have changed considerably. But we found it interesting the way stories were written and the kind of news printed in those days.

Just makes us believe that journalism has come full circle again.

Take the March 5, 1923 paper. The back page has a feature that exists today in The Herald — the About Town column. Herald readers used that column then as they do now — as a community calendar.

We found this ABT: "The new fire whistle at the North End was given a tryout Saturday afternoon. The new whistle is a decided improvement over the old one. It could be heard distinctly all over town. The late J. T. Robertson was never satisfied with the old whistle and he had planned to change it before his death. His son W. W. Robertson knew of his father's wishes and carried out the plan of his father in getting a much better whistle."

Those are the Robertsons of Bon Ami fame.

That edition also carried a story about milk and cocoa served at schools and quotes Miss Hildah conventional military forces far more rapidly than the United States and its allies. Soviet military power and its rate of growth cannot be explained or justified by considerations of self-defense."

Soviet expansion and the deployment of its military power throughout the world, explains the statement, is a threat in four specific ways: (1) to the political independence of America's allies, (2) the free world's access to raw materials, (3) the freedom of the seas, and (4) our interest in avoiding a "preponderance of adversary power."

The committee says it will be wholly financed by voluntary contributions and will engage primarily in educational activities in an attempt to head off such consequences. It also holds out hope for our nation if we act now before it is too late.

"There is still time for effective action to ensure the security and prosperity of the nation in peace, through peaceful deterrence and concerted alliance diplomacy," says the statement.

"A conscious effort of political will is needed to restore the strength and coherence of our foreign policy; to revive the solidarity of our alliances; to build constructive relations of cooperation with other nations whose interests parallel our own — and on that sound basis to seek reliable conditions of peace with the Soviet Union, rather than an illusory detente."

Noting that "peace is not a cut-rate commodity," the committee explains that, as a percentage of Gross National Product, U.S. defense spending is at its lowest level in 25 years. It calls for a higher level of military spending to beef up current forces and moderate those forces through research and development.

"Soviet expansionism," says the committee, "threatens to destroy the world balance of forces on which the survival of freedom depends. If we see the world as it is, and restore our will, our strength and our self-confidence, we shall find resources and friends enough to counter that threat."

Land conservationists urged to follow decisions of PZC

If Manchester is interested in land conservation, members of the Manchester Land Conservation Trust, Inc. (MLCT) should become more actively involved in the meetings of the Planning and Zoning Commission and Inland-Wetland Commission.

Ms. Guitart described the acquisition of lands throughout the town of Redding, near Danbury, lands acquired solely by donation from land owners totaling about 250 acres in about 30 parcels.

To date, MLCT owns two small parcels of land, but hopes to acquire soon by donation another small neighborhood lot and a parcel of wetland land suitable for development.

Ms. Guitart called Manchester a mature town, largely developed with few remaining open woodland and wetland areas. Noting that the town's population of 50,000 may expand to 80,000 by the year 2000 as a result of rapidly expanding residential, commercial and industrial development, she urged renewed land trust involvement by procuring donations to the trust of open space lands where possible.

Bandshell bid review Wednesday

Manchester's Bicentennial Committee will have to decide Wednesday night whether it wants one contractor to build the band shell or to have different contractors handle the three phases of construction.

Walter Senkow, town engineer, said Friday that about $3,000 or more would be saved by "cherry picking," but that he would like to see one contractor responsible for erecting the walls and the roof of the shell.

No one bid received for the three parts of the construction work — the foundation, the walls and the roof — contained all the items sought to be included in the construction price.

Jay Giles, director of public works, said Friday that he might ask the bidders on the project to submit new bids to include all required items.

Giles said that the cost of construction may run between $35,000 to $37,000. This does not include needed lighting or sound system, which may bring the cost of the completed shell to about $50,000, he said.

Wright-Fransen

Karen Ann Fransen and Paul Steven Wright, both of Manchester, were married Nov. 13 at St. George's Episcopal Church in Bolton.

Mrs. Paul S. Wright

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an A-line gown of silk organza designed with Empire bodice accented with lace and seed pearls, with skirt terminating into a chapel train.

The groom, given in marriage by his father, wore a tuxedo with a white shirt and a white bow tie. He carried a bouquet of white roses accented with baby's breath and fern.

Ms. Dorothy M. Sirois of Manchester was the bride's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Kathleen H. Wright of Manchester, the bridegroom's sister, Miss Renee Tournaud of Manchester, and Mrs. Wayne R. Wright Jr. of Manchester, the bridegroom's sister-in-law.

Junior bridesmaids were Miss Cynthia Schemp of Manchester, Miss Denise Cote of South Windsor, and Miss Mariene Schemp of East Hartford.

David B. Forst of Manchester served as best man. Ushers were Wayne R. Wright Jr. of Manchester, the bridegroom's brother, Thomas A. Schmedding of Manchester, and Howard F. Fransen Jr. of Manchester, the bride's brother.

A reception was held at the Italian American Club in East Hartford, after which the couple left for Florida for traveling. Mrs. Wright wore a red jersey dress with black accessories and a corsage of red and white roses. The couple will reside in Coventry.

Mrs. Wright is employed at Construction Plaza Inc. in Hartford. Mr. Wright is employed by Pratt & Whitney Division of United Technologies Corp. in East Hartford.

Vaccaro elected president of OTH; vows to fight for the handicapped

Frank Vaccaro of 11 Middlefield St. has been elected president of the Organization of The Handicapped (OTH) in Manchester. He succeeds Joseph Biette of Birch St.

Frank Vaccaro

Other officers elected are Carl Baird, vice-president; Barry Van Camp, secretary; and Rita Barrett, treasurer.

Directors are Paul Dermon, Ray Leger, Lenora Schools, Georgia Bigelow, Ann Wrobel, Paula Selman and Biette.

In accepting the presidency, Vaccaro said, "I feel it an honor to be elected president of the Organization of The Handicapped. I know that I will have a tough job filling Joe Biette's shoes. Under his leadership we have become well known."

"My job is to continue our fight in stopping the discrimination against the handicapped in jobs, in housing, in transportation, in recreation, etc."

"We want a voice in the town government. Who knows better than the handicapped what is needed. Manchester can be proud of its leadership in putting in ramps on Main St. in providing voting machines for those in wheelchairs, in providing parking spaces on Main St. putting Braille on the voting any way that it can promote the civil and constitutional rights of the handicapped."

Vaccaro extended an invitation to all handicapped persons under 65 and living on the east side of the river to attend the organization's next meeting on Monday, Nov. 22 from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at the Mayfair Gardens Social Hall at Main and N. Main Sts. in Manchester. Further information may be obtained by calling either 646-7788 or 646-7307.

OTH is currently seeking goods for its annual tag sale. Anyone having items to donate may call 646-5037 or 646-7788 or may drop them off at Little Joe's 58 Cooper St.

Seminar to discuss role of Jewish woman

The Jewish Woman New Roles Old Images—Old Roles New Images will be the topic for over 200 women at the annual Combined Boards Seminar of the Hartford Jewish Federation's Women's Conference on Monday, Nov. 22 at the Hartford Jewish Community Center, 235 Bloomfield Ave., West Hartford.

Keynote speaker will be Dr. Matti Gershenfeld, a psychologist-author from Philadelphia.

Gershenfeld, a professor at Temple University, has been called an expert in the changing roles of women and the family. A past president of the Philadelphia Neighborhood Center, she is the director of the Complex Learning Center and has published major articles on group dynamics, women's roles, and psycho-social processes.

She is a consultant to over 200 organizations and universities and will soon release her latest book, "Achieving Your Potential As A Woman."

A bachelor's and master's degree graduate from the University of Pennsylvania, she received her doctorate in educational psychology from Temple University in 1967.

She has completed her post-doctoral training at the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine, the National Laboratories in Washington, D.C. and the Eastern Transactional Analysis Institute.

For the first time the seminar will be held in a day session 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. as well as an evening session, 8:10 p.m. to accommodate working women.

Rosalind Hachlin is serving as seminar chairman. Members of the Federation's board of directors and presidents of major Jewish organizations in Greater Hartford have been invited to participate.

Interested women may register for either session. There will be a kosher meal and baby-sitting is available. For reservations, contact the Hartford Jewish Federation, 333 Bloomfield Ave., West Hartford, 236-3278.

Experts to appraise antiques Saturday

"Herloom Discovery Day" will be held on Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Children's Museum, 850 Trout Brook Dr., West Hartford.

Sotheby Parke Bernet, an art auction house, will have seven of its experts on hand to give a appraisal on most any antique brought in. There will be a fee for each item appraised. These experts are qualified in all fields except books, coins, modern jewelry and manuscripts. Those wishing to have a large piece of furniture appraised should bring in a good photograph and a moveable part. Sotheby Parke Bernet has been conducting these appraisal clinics across the United States for the past two years to benefit organizations such as the Children's Museum. For further information, call 236-2961.

Residents' suggestions for industrial park

The following list of suggestions for the town's proposed industrial park was presented Friday night to Town Manager Robert B. Weiss by a committee representing residents in the neighborhood of the proposed park.

The committee suggested that these changes be made to plans for the park:

1. Construction of a new road through the industrial park should precede all other construction in order to keep construction vehicles off Burnham and Windsor Sts. and away from residential areas.

2. Relocate Windsor St. (section north of Burnham St., 400 feet east of its present location. This move is intended to keep heavy traffic loads away from residential areas.

3. Dead-end Burnham and Windsor Sts., timed to coincide with initial construction. (One of these buffer zones would replace a parking lot proposed for the north side of the building.)

4. Construct a timetable of all changes to be made. The table would be submitted to the committee for approval.

5. Construct a timetable of all changes to be made. The table would be submitted to the committee for approval.

6. West end Burnham St. to highest residential use. (This land is presently zoned rural residence.)

7. Change to the highest residential zone. Residence A-2 zone would make it harder to later get a zone change and would prevent the area from becoming one filled with apartments.)

8. Relocate west access from Burnham St. to the park to the east side of Windsor St.

9. Use southeast and southwest corners of proposed Penney property for major activity areas. (These two corners would be those farthest from Burnham St. residence.) This includes truck delivery, loading and unloading, etc.

10. Rye grass or equivalent to be planted on earthburied areas, so as to minimize dust and maintain appearance.

11. Include the Neighborhood Committee in decision-making process for engineering and design details to include lighting, planning, landscaping, etc.

The committee included a note at the end of the list which said, "While we have attempted to give some sense of priority to this list, no issue should be viewed as expendable."

In responding to the list, Weiss said that he and 9 would have to be presented to the company. Concerning number 7, he assured the committee that the industrial park construction would not have a negative effect on the present situation. The flooding problems, however, do have a different cause, which he

Electric firm prospect for park

The second prospect for the town's proposed industrial park is Mercury Electric, a New York firm that makes electrical components.

At a Friday night meeting for a committee of homeowners in the area of the proposed park, Town Manager Robert B. Weiss said that the company owns a parcel of land that would have to be purchased by the town to build the park.

"The company has been anxious to start a facility here for some time," Weiss said. When the possibility developed that J.C. Penney might come to town Weiss asked Mercury Electric to hold off on its local development plans, he said. "I'm sure we could work out something with them where they would be part of the park," Weiss said Friday night.

The industrial park has been proposed for a 400-acre plot in Buckland between Tolland Yoke and Burnham St. J.C. Penney is interested in building a two-million square foot distribution center in Manchester. If the firm decides to come to Manchester—a final decision is expected soon—it would be the major tenant of the proposed park.

Since the story was published that Penney was interested in coming to Manchester, Weiss has talked about the Penney facility being one that would attract other companies to the area. On Nov. 1, he mentioned for the first time that the town had a second interested prospect for the park.

Last night, for the first time, he disclosed the name of that firm.

Foreign news commentary: Window on Latin America

Power struggle
BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (UPI) — A series of partial blackouts affecting the power supply of Buenos Aires is a symptom of unrest among Argentine workers and apparent division within the military government.

Workers, already feeling the harsh effects of economic austerity, rallied around leaders of the Light & Power Workers Union who were fired from a state-run utility as part of an economy drive.

Opposing groups within the top military circles are reported arguing over crushing labor protests with harsh measures, or moving cautiously in hopes of winning broad support.

Free but under custody KINGSTON, Jamaica (UPI) — Prime Minister Michael Manley has announced that Jamaica's general elections will take place under the country's current state of national emergency. Some 210 persons are in custody under the state of emergency.

Manley declared in June to combat political violence by bands of thugs loosely tied to his own People's National Party and the opposition Jamaica Labour Party.

Prospective candidates from both parties are among those in custody. No date has been set for the voting which must be held within the next eight months.

"By holding the gunmen out of the situation, we think that we can guarantee the best chance of a genuinely free election," Manley said in a recent interview.

Ghost flights
MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Mexico's second devaluation this year is expected to boost the flow of foreign tourists but it has virtually ended air travel abroad for the average Mexican.

The impact is beginning to hurt travel agencies that have prospered on group tours to the United States and Europe.

Mexico's two international airlines are feeling the effects and so are other airlines serving the country. For Mexicans, the price of air fares in pesos has soared, to adjust to rates pegged to the dollar.

Industry sources are singing the blues over "ghost flights" — planes that leave Mexico virtually empty.

The sinking sol LIMA, Peru (UPI) — Peru's military government has done an about-face after decades in which both military and civilian administrations showed extreme reluctance to devalue the currency.

Left-of-center generals discouraged any talk of devaluation of the monetary unit — the Sol — for the last eight years on "counterrevolutionary" grounds.

In July, Gen. Francisco Morales Bermudez was finally forced to devalue the Sol from 45 to the U.S. dollar to 65. Two months

There's no football game in the East each year that has the impact of a Yale-Harvard meeting and the latest at Cambridge, Mass., last Saturday was no exception.

It's all there, in New Haven on the odd numbered years and at Cambridge on the years ending in even numbers.

Taunting, gatherings of alumni and friends for a bite to eat and a drink or two, or three before and after the game, has been an Ivy League tradition for more years than one wants to remember.

Saturday was no exception. The weather, for the second Saturday in November, was just great, sunny, with the temperature in the mid 40s.

Fans came dressed from winter's best to the raucous coat that comes out once or twice a year, always at a football game, and the colors were varied with red and gold predominating the scene with a perfect blue sky overhead.

There were several inches of snow on the ground after Wednesday's storm and it was necessary to plow the playing field, snow banks rimming the field and which afforded an extra added attraction - snowball throwing, especially at halftime.

Old grads, who were subs 25 years ago, suddenly became All-East choices and potential pro material when the drinks started to take effect during the cocktail party conversations on the spacious Harvard grounds, where parking was actually at a premium.

Early kickoff - The kickoff at 12:54 caught many by surprise, including a number of writers, who missed not only the kickoff but most of the first period. At 30 minutes past, due to regional

Fermi downs Indians in free-scoring contest

By STEVE ARMSTRONG Correspondent In the second quarter of Saturday's game, Manchester High looked like a football team. But for the other three quarters it could do absolutely nothing right as Fermi High of Enfield easily defeated the Indians, 41-29, in CCLL action at Memorial Field.

Actually the statistics tell more than the score does - the fact that Fermi scored for 249 yards and the very next series defensive back Jim Fleurent picked off a Tom Malcay pass and scampered for paydirt from 23 yards away.

Rare call, interceptions, sacks helped Patriots upset Baltimore

BALTIMORE (UPI) — A rare call by the officials, two major interceptions and three quarterback sacks helped the New England Patriots upset the Baltimore Colts.

The Patriots picked up their winning touchdown after officials called Baltimore defensive back Tim Baylor for roughing up John Smith as he attempted a field goal from the nine-yard line.

The call placed the ball at the five-yard line and gave an automatic first down to the Patriots, who took advantage of the position for Grogan to roll right on a three-yard touchdown sweep two plays later.

It was the last score of the first half and the game as the New England defense stopped the Colts on the second play.

Colts head coach Ted Marchibroda conceded the Colts "were beaten by a better football club," but added, "I'm very proud of our men because they didn't give up."

Scott Hunter threw a pair of fourth-quarter touchdowns to Alfred Jenkins as the Falcons upset the 49ers, who lost their third straight.

Terry Metcalf's 29-yard punt return to the Rams 48-yard line with 1:30 remaining in the game eventually led to Bakken's winning field goal.

"Our defense got the ball for us at the time that they had to do so," said quarterback Jim Hart who had a big day with 20 completions in 33 attempts for 324 yards.

"It's a game we could have won," said a subdued Chuck Knox, the Rams' coach.

In other games Sunday, New Orleans edged Detroit, 17-16; Chicago beat Green Bay, 24-13; Cincinnati edged Houston, 31-27; New England upset Baltimore, 21-14; Cleveland beat Philadelphia, 24-3; Atlanta topped San Francisco, 21-10; Minnesota defeated Seattle, 27-21; the New York Jets shut out Tampa Bay, 34-0; the New York Giants edged Washington, 12-9; Pittsburgh beat Miami, 14-3; Oakland topped Kansas City, 21-10; and Denver shut out San Diego, 17-0.

Saints 17, Lions 16
Bobby Douglas threw a 69-yard touchdown pass to Larry Burton and linebacker Warren Capone scored on a two-yard run after recovering a fumble to pace the Saints' victory. Bears 24, Packers 13
Walter Payton gained 109 yards to boost his season total to 1,006 and scored a touchdown to lead the Bears past the Packers. Bengals 31, Oilers 27
Quarterback Ken Anderson, on a fourth down play with 42 seconds left, connected with Isaac Curtis on a 47-yard touchdown play to pull out a victory over the Oilers.

"We're still first and we're one game up. For us to be successful, we have to fight, fight and search to win."

Patriots quarterback Steve Grogan said "roughing the kicker was the big play."

The Patriots picked up their winning touchdown after officials called Baltimore defensive back Tim Baylor for roughing up John Smith as he attempted a field goal from the nine-yard line.

The call placed the ball at the five-yard line and gave an automatic first down to the Patriots, who took advantage of the position for Grogan to roll right on a three-yard touchdown sweep two plays later.

It was the last score of the first half and the game as the New England defense stopped the Colts on the second play.

Colts head coach Ted Marchibroda conceded the Colts "were beaten by a better football club," but added, "I'm very proud of our men because they didn't give up."

Scott Hunter threw a pair of fourth-quarter touchdowns to Alfred Jenkins as the Falcons upset the 49ers, who lost their third straight.

Terry Metcalf's 29-yard punt return to the Rams 48-yard line with 1:30 remaining in the game eventually led to Bakken's winning field goal.

"Our defense got the ball for us at the time that they had to do so," said quarterback Jim Hart who had a big day with 20 completions in 33 attempts for 324 yards.

"It's a game we could have won," said a subdued Chuck Knox, the Rams' coach.

In other games Sunday, New Orleans edged Detroit, 17-16; Chicago beat Green Bay, 24-13; Cincinnati edged Houston, 31-27; New England upset Baltimore, 21-14; Cleveland beat Philadelphia, 24-3; Atlanta topped San Francisco, 21-10; Minnesota defeated Seattle, 27-21; the New York Jets shut out Tampa Bay, 34-0; the New York Giants edged Washington, 12-9; Pittsburgh beat Miami, 14-3; Oakland topped Kansas City, 21-10; and Denver shut out San Diego, 17-0.

interceptions and quarterback sacks during the second half. Patriots linebacker Pete Barnes brought Bert Jones down three times "roughing the kicker was the big play."

"He's a great quarterback, but we did, you just have to dig inside yourselves," he said. "When you lose a Nelson, it makes you work harder."

The Patriots lost the services of linebacker Steve Nelson, running back Sam Cunningham and tight end Russ Francis before the first half was over. Cunningham jammed the right shoulder, Francis suffered a pulled hamstring, and Nelson was carried from the field with a dislocated knee. The Patriots' other touchdowns came on a short sprint by Grogan and a two-yard pass to Al Chandler, the third reception of his career and first touchdown catch ever.

The Colts scored first in the game on a 22-yard pass from Jones to Roger Carr and once again in the second quarter on a two-yard run by running back Don McCauley.

Carr, who caught the ball three times for 86 yards, said "usually we're on the money, but we just made some mistakes. I know it would be a dog fight. We came up short."

Lydel Mitchell, the AFC's leading rusher who needs 61 yards to break the 1,000 mark, was held to 52 yards in 16 carries. Mitchell said Sunday in 16 carries. Mitchell said

23-9, for their second straight Yankee Conference title.

Then they came home to wait for a possible post-season bid, similar to the one they received last year.

"There's no doubt we played our best overall game of the season," said coach Bill Bowes. "You know, I think our kids wanted this game more than the UMass kids. Our kids have been sky high all week because they wanted to be the first New Hampshire team in 28 years to win the Yankee Conference title back-to-back years."

And now that we have a 62 record, I think we have to be considered for another post-season tournament bid, just like last year."

New Hampshire's Jeff Allen, possibly the top quarterback in New England major college ranks, threw two touchdowns and passes of 11 and 50 yards to Ray DiPietro.

While Allen and friends were winning in the relative obscurity of Amherst, the air around Greater Boston was buzzing with talk of THE Game, as the Harvard-Yale contest is presumptuously termed.

Yale won the much publicized game, 21-7, on three second-half touchdowns to earn a share of the Ivy League title. Brown won the other share of the title when Bill Hill's two fourth-quarter touchdowns pushed the Bruins past Columbia, 28-17.

The Little Three Conference wound up in a three-way tie for the first time in its 37-year history when Amherst studented Williams, 16-0. Amherst, Wesleyan and Williams were all 1-1 in conference play.

Bowdoin won the CBB Colby, Bowdoin, Bates) conference by passing Colby, 37-10. Jim Soule, the Springfield blanked Albany State, 24-0, as Bob Groat returned a punt 86 yards for a school record. Middlebury beat intrastate opponent Norwich, 6-3, on Brian Miller's field goals of 37 and 27 yards.

Wesleyan, another on-again-off-again team this season, decimated Trinity, 44-0. Southern Connecticut, led by Ed Swickles' 76-yard touchdown scamper, nipped Central Connecticut, 27-21; and Nichols edged Western Connecticut, 15-12, on two touchdowns in the final six minutes.

In the last week of play for New England Football Conference teams, Curry dropped Plymouth State, 19-14, on Rich Moran's 120 yards rushing and last-period touchdown catch; Massachusetts Maritime concluded a 6-3 season with a 12-9 win over New Haven. Late field goal wins for Cards

NEW YORK (UPI) — The St. Louis Cardinals pulled out a 30-28 victory over the Los Angeles Rams in the final four seconds of the game Sunday to gain a commanding position in the race for a playoff berth in the National Football Conference.

The Cardinals improved their record to 8-2 for a two-game lead over the Washington Redskins and the San Francisco 49ers in the race for the NFC's wild card berth. St. Louis also moved to within a half-game of the Eastern Division-leading Dallas Cowboys, who host the Buffalo Bills tomorrow.

"I'm very proud of our men because they didn't give up," said St. Louis Coach Don Coryell after Jim Bakken's game-winning 25-yard field goal.

Terry Metcalf's 29-yard punt return to the Rams 48-yard line with 1:30 remaining in the game eventually led to Bakken's winning field goal.

"Our defense got the ball for us at the time that they had to do so," said quarterback Jim Hart who had a big day with 20 completions in 33 attempts for 324 yards.

Stienke interception saved Giants' party

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (UPI) — Jim Stienke stood by idly in the opening game of the season when Mike Thomas caught a five-yard touchdown pass in the final minute to give the Washington Redskins a 19-17 victory over the New York Giants.

The Redskins took the following kickoff and moved 60 yards in 10 plays on the ground to force an overtime with another field goal, the Redskins looked to their shaky passing game for a winning touchdown. Theismann hit just 12 passes in 30 tries for 153 yards in the game.

"That has been the most successful play we've had in goal line situations in 10 or 11 years," said Washington Coach George Allen, who saw an 11-game Redskins winning streak against the Giants go down the drain.

"And I think Joe was trying to throw the ball away."

"Not for one minute did I think they were going to win that game," added Van Pelt. "We stopped them all day. I felt we were going to stop them then. We were just hoping for a chance to block their field goal attempt."

"I felt we were eventually going to win — even if it meant going into overtime to do it."

"Brad jammed their tight end (Sean Fugitt) at the line and Thomas ran into him," Stienke said.

"So Thomas was forced to reroute his pattern. He wanted to go to the outside and all of a sudden he was on the inside."

"When he finally got out of that jumble, Harry (middle linebacker Carson) was putting heat on Theismann and the just threw the ball. It came right to me. I couldn't believe it."

New York claimed the final three-point lead on Joe Daneo's fourth field goal, a career best 50-yarder, with 4:32 left on Saturday night.

SuperSonics roll along

NEW YORK (UPI) — Slick Watts, Seattle's hyperactive playmaker, had all the moves for the occasion of the SuperSonics' 23rd consecutive home-court victory. The 6-foot-1 guard, who has become one of the most respected smart men in the league, scored 25 points and handed out 15 assists as Seattle topped the Indiana Pacers 121-118 Sunday night.

The longest winning streak at home is 36, set by Philadelphia during the 1966-67 season. The Sonics, who rely on muscle men up front and free throw shooting in the backcourt, nearly gave the game away in the final minutes when a 12-point lead was cut to one with nine seconds left.

But as Seattle tried to kill the clock, Indiana fouled center Tom Burleson who made the two free throws to wrap up the game before a crowd of 11,493.

"We just beat 'em at playground ball," said Tommy Burleson. "We never lost control of the game. We just gave them false hopes at times."

Elsewhere on a light night in the NBA, Detroit beat Milwaukee 104-83 and Cleveland downed Los Angeles 97-95.

Dovalettes to reminisce

East Hartford
SHEILA TULLER
This Tuesday night, Dovalettes fans, team members, former team members, and area sports enthusiasts will gather to reminisce. The Dovalettes played their last game this past summer after 30 years of fast pitch softball. According to a congratulatory letter from Joe Barber, commissioner of amateur softball, the Dovalettes were the "oldest sustained sponsored team in the state of Connecticut."

They will celebrate the 30th anniversary of their founding at a banquet at the Marco Polo Restaurant at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. Doves all over
Ray McKenna, founder, general manager, and 30-year coach of the Doves, said recently, "There are Doves all over." McKenna and his banquet committee, John "Whitney" May, Willie Cote, Leo Day, Lou Marchetti, Ray Damato, Ron Durier, Bill Hott and Ed McCarthy, expect Doves to come from all over to close out this chapter of sports history.

McKenna, popular mullman, sportswriter, former East Hartford High School and Burnside Eagles basketball player, likened the banquet to a class reunion. No doubt, the Dovalettes will hold other reunions, but this one will be special. McKenna, Master of Ceremonies John Kershaw, and guest speakers Karl Kurth, Bill Louka, Bill Holowny, and Joe Barber will surely recall the pitching records and feats of Joe McGuire, Stan Brazzaukas, Art Melanson, Jerry Chapman, and Doug Willette among many others.

Scholarship

McKenna said the scholarship will still be awarded each year in memory of the young pitcher. The Dovalettes were first known as the Burnside Dovalettes because their home field was in the Burnside area of East Hartford.

They played 1,748 games in their 30 years. The team won 1,413 and lost 335. East Hartford supported the team well through the years. The Park Department and Board of Education provided fields and the fans were faithful.

The greatest turnout of fans was for a benefit donkey softball game 25 years ago. "That was a first in the area," said McKenna "and everyone wanted to see it."

The local kids enjoyed that one and many kids ever since have grown up watching the Dovalettes play. Youngsters have helped out chasing balls, tending the scoreboard and acting as bat boys. A Dovalettes trophy awarded at the end of the season or at a banquet was the best pay and now will be a treasure.

There have been other banquets at other important points in Doves history. Guest speakers including Frank Grifford, Gil McDougald, and Bob Steele have been featured. Tuesday night, the speakers will touch on the memories...the happy, the sad...the funny. More names than mentioned will be awarded. Praises will be sung and awards will be made.

Best memento
The best memento of all for McKenna, his team, and the fans will be knowing they were part of it all...the Dovalettes.

Sludge is council topic
Parcell Associates is expected to come up with cost figures for the conversion from sewerage sludge burning to another means of disposal. The council will meet at 8 p.m. in the council chambers of Town Hall.

Parking ban
A parking ban is in effect beginning Tuesday at another means of disposal. Chief John Kerrigan said, "No vehicles shall be parked overnight on the public streets of the town beginning Nov. 15 and ending April 15. Any vehicle on the street continuously between the hours of 2 and 6 a.m. shall be considered parked overnight and subject to a fine."

Getting ready for Christmas
John Liebler of 80 Volpi Rd., Bolton shows some of the items to be on sale Friday and Saturday at the St. Maurice Church Christmas bazaar at the parish center on Hebron Rd. There will be a tool booth for men, children's store and amusement room (featuring Santa Claus), sewn and knitted items, Christmas decorations and tree ornaments, plants and dried material, toys, candy and baked goods. Craftsmen will show their wares. Refreshments will be available. (Photo by Lynn Altemany)

AARP trip planned
The Tolland County Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons will sponsor a trip to Fall River, Mass., to visit the U.S.S. Massachusetts Monday, Nov. 29. Bus will stop at the Shopping Bag at 11:45 a.m. to pick up those who do not have cars, then on to the Sacred Heart Church, Rt. 30, Vernon, leaving there at noon. Lunch will not be served on the way.

At 4:15 p.m. they will leave Fall River and go on to the Holiday Inn at South Attleboro, Mass., for dinner. There will be a choice of roast turkey or pot roast. At 6:15 p.m. they will arrive at the LaSalette Shrine and have a chance to see the Christmas lights and browse around. Leave for home at 9 p.m.

Reservation deadline is Nov. 24. For further information contact Ralph Wilcox, 875-4352; George Weber, 875-5975; Adolf Kalas, 872-8884; or Henry Driver, 872-0111.

Town Meeting set for Wednesday

Bolton
Residents will be asked to adopt ordinances, name the lake-front property and approve projects for federal funding at a Town Meeting Wednesday.

The ordinances exempt town owned property near the town garage and by Freja Park from local zoning regulations. The projects are a town garage and dog pond, solid waste transfer station, cafeteria-auditorium at the high school and gymnasium and athletic complex at the 5-8 building of Bolton Elementary-Center School.

Residents will be asked to expend funds from the gift from Nature Conservancy for the development of the lakefront property and the purchase of two concrete culvert ends for Herrick Memorial Park. They will be asked to appropriate $500 to the 1976-1977 Board of Selectmen's budget.

An ordinance will pertain to property tax exemptions for solar energy heating and cooling systems. They will be asked to set May 6, 1977 as the date for the annual budget meeting.

It is expected a public hearing on the proposed firehouse will follow the Town Meeting. Secretary talks
Negotiations for the 1977-1978 working agreement between the Board of Education and the Association of Teachers Educational Secretaries have begun.

Joseph Holaburdo is the chief negotiator for the school board and Mrs. Sara Rose for the secretaries.

Rt. 31 survey to begin

Coventry
Town Manager Frank B. Connolly said he learned from the state Department of Transportation (DOT) about work on Rt. 31 east of Daley Rd.

District Engineering Manager Joseph D'Aquila wrote him that survey parties will be on Rt. 31 in the area to be realigned. This area is defined as starting about 600 feet east of Daley Rd. and running a total of 900 feet along Rt. 31 east.

The work is being done to prepare a map on which to base the layout and design for the realignment work. During the survey period, test boring crews may have to perform reconnaissance underground explorations in some locations to aid in the design. Property owners will be contacted before any crews enter their property.

Parking ban
The chief of police advises that the Town of Coventry overnight and snow removal ordinance in effect. The ordinance forbids parking between 2 and 6 a.m. through March 31.

Police will begin enforcement by issuing warnings to violators. As the winter season moves on the ordinance will be strictly enforced. Cars will be towed.

If citizens must leave their vehicle on the street for emergency reasons they should phone the police dispatcher at 742-7331 advising of their phone number, the location of the vehicle and its registration number.

Sludge is council topic

South Windsor
The Town Council is expected to appropriate $22,500 for a sewage treatment plant modification study when it meets tonight.

The study, which will be completed by Parcell Associates of Glastonbury, will complete recommendations regarding methods of sludge disposal.

Officials said the study is eligible for federal assistance up to 90 per cent of the cost. Residents living nearby the plant have complained of odors which were caused by the backup of sludge.

Area news briefs

Coventry
The Robertson School PTO will sponsor a student book fair/learning festival Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. and from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. during the open house. Educational games and other gift items will also be available.

The Board of Education meets Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the high school. East Hartford
East Hartford elementary schools will be on a four-hour schedule this week for parent teacher conferences. The middle schools and high schools will follow their regular schedules.

Burnside School will hold a book fair this week. Students will visit the fair during the day and parents may browse during conference hours. Mrs. Linda Leone and Mrs. Virginia Alleano, fair chairpersons, and several members of the Burnside PTA will conduct the fair.

Hebron
The annual PTO book fair will be this week during conference days Wednesday through Friday. Sandy Kibbe is chairperson at the Gilead Hill School and Anne Aubin at Hebron Elementary. Funds raised go to the PTO for use in programs at both schools.

Grade 7 teachers at RHAM High School are scheduling parent conferences from Nov. 22 to Dec. 3 to discuss report cards due next week.

Grade 8 students at RHAM have elected class officers. President is Rick Hayber, vice president is Robin Speno, secretary is Terry Wood and treasurer is Kim Solecki.

Mill becomes import store

Coventry
By BOBBI BYNES
In the late 1700's a man named Wright decided to build a grist mill in Coventry along the Skungumung River at the waterfall to service the area with ground wheat.

He built his business about one mile down the road from the Hale Homestead where the patriot Nathan Hale's family had built their home. People in the area brought their wheat to Wright and he ground it into flour for a fee. He also grew his own wheat, ground it into flour and took it to be marketed along with his now known as Wright's Mill Rd.

Through the years Wright's mill changed hands many times. At one time it was a doll factory; at another time it was a furniture factory. It was remembered visiting the old mill during its varied history.

In 1929 John Gardner of Chester, Mass., decided to retire and build a home on a parcel of land where he could generate his own electricity. He found Wright's old mill with the waterfalls and purchased the land on both sides of the river and falls to insure his ability to generate. He generated all of his own and a few of his neighbor's electrical needs.

Gardner built a 10-room stone castle on the property overlooking the waterfalls. His grandson, Stephen Birmingham, wrote a novel which takes place on the property entitled "The Towers of Love." Gardner left the mill where it was, slowly deteriorating. In 1949 Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McLeod bought the parcel of land, 35 acres, with the castle and the mill from Gardner's estate.

McLeod was also interested in electricity. He added a large stone power house architecturally matching the turrets of the castle. In his power house he added a 20-foot water wheel especially made for him and shipped it from the power company as an emergency measure.

McLeod was fascinated with the old mill. He decided to restore its exterior. New windows, a new roof and new exterior walls were put in. The interior of the building was to be replaced by glass so that the waterfall would be visible from all rooms. A new foundation would have to be poured and the interior of the building was to be gutted. Old mill staves were to be placed at the entry to the building.

Work was begun in May, 1975. The building was completed in September, 1975. I decorated the interior of the building. All natural woods, stucco and natural color tones were used. The entire entrance of the building is decorated in browns and whites.

Pelletier ran into many surprises but was able to handle all of them. He did a superb job and we both feel the project could not have been completed without Pelletier Builders.

My husband and I lived near Istanbul, Turkey, from 1965-1967. I decided to return to Turkey in October, 1975 to purchase goods for my import shop. Turkey produces unusually beautiful brass, copper, ceramics and alabaster. These goods are seldom imported to the United States. All of the items to be sold in my shop were hand selected by me.

Interior construction of "Bynes' Falls Art and Imports" was also done by Pelletier. It is done in natural cedar with a beamed cathedral ceiling. Colorful Turkish light fixtures hang from the high ceiling. The walls abound in hanging brass, copper and ceramics. The floors are done in dark stained wide board pine. They are covered with exquisite Turkish oriental rugs.

The shipment of goods arrived from Istanbul in April, 1976 and Bynes' Falls Art and Imports opened for business May 5, 1976. Wednesday through Sunday from 1:30 p.m. the old mill is again open for business but now as an import shop.

Town Meeting is Tuesday

Vernon
Prior to the Town Council meeting Tuesday night, there will be two public hearings and a special Town Meeting starting at 7:30 in the Memorial Building.

One public hearing will ask for an appropriation of $35,000 to construct sewer extensions on Jonathan Dr. The second will be on a proposed ordinance to create a Sewer Authority for the town.

The special town meeting will be to act on the appropriation for the sewers which several residents on the street adamantly opposed.

At the regular council meeting the council will hear a report from Mayor Thomas Benoit on the major items the administration and the various town departments have accomplished during his first year in office.

Pumper accident
An accident involving a fire truck on Halloween night caused injury to the driver. The 1966 pumper blew up and the driver suffered a severely crushed ankle. The council will discuss requests for new equipment.

Town Engineer Leonard Szeczeny will make a report on the status of the town-owned water company. Mrs. Rosemary Kapsa, director of the Hockanum Valley Day Care

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: For the woman who lost her husband to a younger woman, here's one man's story: I loved my wife dearly, but after six children and 35 years of marriage, our relationship became so platonic I felt sure I was losing my manhood. I blamed it on her devotion to our home and children rather than on my age. Depressed, I left home under the pretense of seeking work in a distant state, but I had other things in mind. I lifted my spirits and restored my lagging sense of manhood. I felt as though I had found the fountain of youth, so I filed for a divorce solely on the grounds of sexual incompatibility.

As soon as my wife got word of this, she did what every woman who really loves her husband should do. She caught a bus and traveled 1,500 miles to win back her man. She didn't whine or hire any lawyers, or even scold me for what I had done; she came courting me like a sweetheart, and she laid a loving on me like she hadn't done in years! Of course I knew that some of her passion was faked, but we men are glib, and I loved her all the more for it. You guessed it. She brought me back home, bound hand, foot and heart with nothing but chains of love.

DEAR HOME: Another classic example of a woman casting herself in the role of a sex object to get what she wants. It may be fine for some women, but the Women's Libbers would have her scalp for such a degrading play.

DEAR ABBY: My husband sleeps in his underwear. All winter he wears the long wool kind, and he sleeps in the same underwear he wears all day. The problem is getting him to change it. Abby, he has four suits of clean underwear in his drawer, but he refuses to put on a clean pair without a fight. I have a terrible time getting it away from him to put it in the wash.

DEAR BERTHA: Nag him, threaten him, beg him and bribe him if necessary. If nothing works, look at it this way: You'll never have to worry about another woman stealing him. And he's easy to find in the dark.

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of a very nice, but shy 17-year-old son. He has never had a date in his life, and I'm sure it's because he's afraid he'll get turned down. He is an honor student, but doesn't do very well in sports, which could be the reason he isn't very popular with the "in" crowd at school. He is slightly overweight, but there are fatter boys who date so that can't be the reason.

It breaks my heart to see him alone all the time. A girls' club is having a dance, and the girls ask the boys. One of my best friends has a daughter in this club. Should I put a bug in my friend's ear and ask her to ask her daughter to ask my son? He wouldn't have to know I arranged it.

DEAR MOM: Don't put any bugs in anybody's ear. Your son may be a late bloomer. And another one of his problems could be a well-meaning mother who's inclined to see interference for him. Let him develop socially at his own pace.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be sensible about your health today. Don't eat or drink anything that you know doesn't agree with you.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) Your whims will have to be held in check today. Don't cater to your weaknesses.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're likely to seek out people today who will let you know what you want to hear, rather than the truth. Choose those whose level is in the eyes of observers.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't let anyone today who isn't truly deserving, or you'll drop you a few notches in the eyes of observers.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Put your blunders on if shopping today, agree to something today that you'll regret later.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) It's possible you will lose momentum today because of too many self-doubts. Put on a bold face. Bluff if necessary.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Problems are likely to be of your own making today. If you find yourself in a tight corner or are probably due to some sin of omission and lapsing what you start.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Be sensitive about your health today. Don't eat or drink anything that you know doesn't agree with you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your image is a trifle fragile today. Others will be looking for your weaknesses.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) There is a chance your attitude today could be self-defeating. Don't look for bogymen.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Look for horsetails in the mountaintops today. Something intriguing could drop you a few notches in the eyes of observers.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) For the sake of expediency you may especially forgo your usual care today. Be something that is far less than it appears to be.

Win at Bridge

Jim starts at beginning

Jim: "Let's start with an easy one. South is in a normal three-trump contract. The key suit is spades and South needs four spade tricks. At some stage of the play he goes to dummy with the ace of hearts to take the spade finesse." "If it looks to the king he contract is doomed to defeat, but there is his majesty perched in the East hand and the finesse will work." "Jim: 'Nevertheless he must be careful to start the spades by leading the nine from dummy. If he makes a mistake and leads the jack East can beat him by refusing to cover. He must play the six spot from his hand. Then when the nine is led next, East holds back again. South must win in his hand and can't lead through the king for the third time.'"

Berry's World

Jim: "I learned bridge while you were in Korea and I was at Notre Dame. When you got home and took off your uniform, I remember you taught me the importance of learning the single-suit play."

Oswald: "These are the plays where declarer wants to lead to the best he can with a single suit. Maybe he should show some of them this week."

A Florida reader says that she averaged just 8.3 high-card points a hand after keeping count for 50 hands. She wants to know if she is unlucky.

The answer is that if her count was accurate she really was in a streak of very bad luck, but someone else we doubt if her count was accurate.
