

Mail piling up

Workers at the Detroit Bulk Mail Center in Allen Park, Mich., busy themselves sorting parcels to be forwarded to various destinations around the world. The Postal Service has suggested a Dec. 3 deadline for mailing of Christmas parcels and a Dec. 10 deadline for greeting cards to insure Dec. 24 delivery. With the end of the United Parcel Service strike near, postal officials hope to have the channels clear for the Christmas mail deluge in about three weeks. (UPI photo)

Education today:

Defending a college education

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK

UPI Education Editor College graduates driving cabs, looking for jobs or working less than their blue-collar buddies are helping critics of higher education questioning the worth of a degree.

The criticism goes like this: The value of a degree is declining; as an investment college isn't so hot.

College and university officials consider the degree disagreement as their new challenge.

The arguments of some publicists, politicians and researchers that a college education is really not worthwhile is one reason hard-pressed governments in many states are cutting back financial support for colleges, in terms of constant dollars per student," Allan W. Ostar says.

The executive director of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities said some state governments are placing ceilings on enrollments and lightening up admissions.

Arguments about the declining value of a college education, usually presented in a very oversimplified form, play into the hands of some state officials anxious to cut spending for budgetary or political reasons," he said.

"The new arguments against college range from emotional outbursts, some coming from the extreme left or extreme right, to highly technical analyses of the rates of return on college as an investment compared to business investments."

Ostar's association is out with a pamphlet critical of the "oversimplified" arguments. It is called "The Value of a College Education."

The rebuttal publication is particularly critical of a study by Richard Freeman and J. Herbert Hollman. The economists asserted that the value of a college degree is decreasing. Its "rate of return" fell from about 11 to 12 per cent in 1960 to about seven to eight per cent in 1974, they found.

"The two economists compared the earnings in years of vigorous economic growth in the sixties with the earnings in years of recession and then predicted that the job market for the indolent future would continue to be like that of the recession years," Ostar said.

The basic criticism about the "rate of return" approach according to the educator: "Very few persons would not want college for themselves or their children because high school graduates today make somewhat more money, proportionately, than they used to, though still not nearly as much as college graduates."

In stating the case for college, the Association makes these other points:

—College graduates have a more continuous, less erratic job history; continue to earn higher salaries through most of their working years; are less likely to have to start over or get into dead-end jobs; and are more satisfied with their work and their lives than noncollege graduates.

College graduates are better informed on political issues, more likely to register and to vote, and to take a more active part in government.

—College graduates are less likely to be influenced by prejudices and stereotypes, and more likely to attempt rational and nonviolent solutions to problems.

Antidote warning issued

DENVER (UPI) — Antidotes suggested on the labels of some household products may cause more harm to a child who has taken toxic material, according to the director of the Rocky Mountain Poison Center.

Dr. Barry Rumack, clinical toxicologist and director of the poison center, also said the Red Cross handbook on first aid also is wrong in some recommended antidotes. The handbook is distributed by the American Medical Association and the Reader's Digest "Guide to First Aid."

Digest says to administer grapefruit juice with any product containing ipecac, because it sets up a chemical reaction causing heat. Our lab tests show it produces a heat almost as great as boiling. The patient can suffer a severe burnous esophagus.

AMA chart recommends water or milk for alkali poisons such as Drano, but it also mentions vinegar or citrus juices as options. The Red Cross handbook says much the same.

Rumack said a 2-year-old boy who swallowed Drano spent two years in the hospital because his mother followed the directions on the label and gave him vinegar as an antidote. "Drano has ipecac in it," Rumack said. "It is wrong to use vinegar, lemon or

First full-time woman curate in diocese

The Rev. Barbara West selected as assistant to St. Mary's rector

By ALICE EVANS

Herald Reporter

The Rev. Barbara West of Dallas, Tex., formerly of Manchester, has been selected to serve as a full-time assistant to the rector of St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

The vestry enthusiastically approved the Rev. Stephen Jacobson's selection of the Rev. Mrs. West.

In his report to the vestry, the rector said, "I'm convinced that Barbara West is one of the most able new ministers, male or female, serving in the Episcopal Church today. I believe that she will be an outstanding minister to the people of St. Mary's and that all of us, even those who find it difficult to make the emotional adjustment to an ordained woman, will come to know God better through her ministry."

The Rev. Mrs. West, the daughter of Mrs. John Field of Boulder Rd. and the late Dr. Field, was born and brought up in Manchester. She is presently serving as an ordained deacon in the Diocese of Dallas and since December 1975 has been the associate chaplain at Gaston Episcopal Hospital in Dallas.

Her duties also include the pastoral care of patients at four other hospitals plus the five hospitals of the Baylor University Medical Center. She is also involved in the extended ministries of Gaston Hospital which includes seven nursing homes and extended care facilities.

A 1954 graduate of Manchester High School, she received a B.A. degree in biology from Colby College, Waterville, Maine, where she was a member of Phi Beta Kappa national honor society.

She was employed for two years at the Harvard Medical School as a research assistant before marrying Robert West, who is employed by the Connecticut General Insurance Co. in Dallas. It is anticipated that he will soon be offered a position in the company's Bloomfield offices. They have two children, Chris, 12, and Susan, 15.

The Rev. Mrs. West was confirmed at St. Mary's Church as an adult. She is a communicant of St. John's parish in Dallas and was sponsored by its rector and vestry as a candidate for Holy Orders. After being accepted as a candidate by the bishop and standing committee of the Dallas Diocese, she was enrolled at Southern Methodist University. After three years of study, during which she won the annual prize for preaching, she was awarded her master's degree in divinity. Together with the men who were graduated in 1975, she was ordained a deacon in June.

A reception is being planned for Dec. 5 at 10 a.m. at the church to introduce the new curate to the members of St. Mary's.

HARTFORD—The Connecticut Public Utilities Control Authority is still wrestling with the complicated issue of how much Northeast Utilities should charge its customers. It had hoped for a decision Thursday but could not and resumed deliberations today on what the utility can charge its customers while the state Supreme Court hears an appeal on a 1974 rate hike ruled illegal by a lower court.

HARTFORD—Connecticut state police have won a 5.3 per cent pay hike, their first in three years and the first-ever negotiated by a state employe union.

HARTFORD—Connecticut tax agents have begun a holiday crackdown on state residents illegally importing large quantities of liquor from out-of-state. It is estimated the state loses nearly $10 million a year in tax revenues from out-of-state liquor and cigarette purchases.

BOSTON—Brains not sunshine will yield the needed technological breakthrough for expanded use of solar energy, says Edward F. King, head of the New England Council for Economic Development, lobbying for a multimillion dollar solar research operation in the region which has two of the 19 sites under consideration by the federal government.

BOSTON—Attorney Francis X. Bellotti announced that 138 Massachusetts consumers will get checks averaging $100 as a result of his Consumer Protection Division recovering $14,000 from the bankrupt International Health Spa in Peabody. It amounts to about one-fourth the money the consumers lost.

WILLIAMSBURG, Va.—A 15 per cent price increase by oil producers would have a disastrous effect on the world economy and touch off a new spiral of inflation in the United States, Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller told the North Atlantic Assembly Thursday.

WASHINGTON—The Environmental Protection Agency says the fallout cloud from China's midweek nuclear blast will begin arriving over the Pacific Northwest Saturday evening.

LOS ANGELES—Patricia Hearst's father posts half-million dollar bail, perhaps clearing the way for her to go free after 14 months in jail.

Detroit—General Motors Corp. and the United Auto Workers neared final agreement today on a new national contract for 390,000 workers, but not before 80,000 workers left their jobs in a series of selective strikes dubbed "Operation Apache."

Consumer prices show easing of inflation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Consumer prices increased 0.3 per cent in October, the fifth consecutive month of easing inflation, the Labor Department said today.

The actual inflation rate was actually a little less for all consumers except those buying new cars. The department said new cars accounted for more than one-third of the increase in commodities prices.

Most of the rest of last month's increase resulted from higher prices for gasoline, utilities, automobile insurance, fruits and vegetables.

Consumer prices in October were 5.3 per cent higher than a year ago because of the easing inflation rate, the department said. For instance, October, 1975, prices were 7.6 per cent higher over a similar period. After rising 0.6 in May, consumer prices have dropped in the subsequent months.

Despite a slowing in price increases, the department said taxes continued to bite into worker earnings.

The gross weekly pay of an average worker increased 13 cents for each $10 earned after deducting the effects of inflation from October a year ago. After paying his taxes, however, the worker took home four cents less for each $10 earned compared with year ago spendable earnings.

The Consumer Price Index stood at 173.3 in October, before seasonal adjustment from the 1972 base of 100. That means the average consumer spent $17.33 last month to buy goods costing only $10 nine years ago.

A 1964 graduate of Manchester High School, she received a B.A. degree in biology from Colby College, Waterville, Maine, where she was a member of Phi Beta Kappa national honor society.

Bentley-Washington school renovation decision expected at Dec. 2 meeting

By JUNE TOMPKINS
Herald Reporter

A decision on recommendations for renovations at Bentley and Washington Schools from a task force studying school enrollment declines, expected last night, will not be made before Dec. 2.

The special task force met Thursday night at Bentley School to hear a majority report and a minority report on the study. The majority report was prepared by M. Philip Susag, a former school board member, and the minority report was presented by Richard Marshall, an engineer at Pratt & Whitney Group, East Hartford.

Because less than half of the members of the task force attended, a final recommendation to the Board of Education will be delayed until all the members of the task force have had an opportunity to study the reports. Paul Greenberg, board member, said he hoped the task force would be ready to report to the Board of Education at its meeting on Dec. 20.

In Susag's report which represented the feelings of a majority of the task force members favoring renovations to Washington and Bentley Schools, he sought to prove that the continued use of Bentley School would be part of a "plan for maximum use of existing space to improve the quality of our educational system to the extent that space can provide such improvement."

Susag's report supports the board's intent to close Manchester Green School, and also suggests that plans for any further school closings should be delayed pending a further review of school needs from a 1980-81 vantage point.

He also suggested that serious consideration be given to sale of the Manchester Green School when it is removed from service and that the proceeds be applied to the cost of recommended renovations for future school use and to the reduction of outstanding school bond indebtedness.

Along with the majority report's support of the administration's plan in providing more adequate learning space within the buildings remaining will be accomplished.

Marshall's alternative report recommends proceeding with renovations at Washington School but not at Bentley. The reasons Marshall's report gives for closing Bentley are because it is old (50 years), is in poor repair and repair in multiple is feasible because there are other schools within three-quarters of a mile of Bentley, and the Bentley district should not be influenced by Manchester's major future growth, small as it may be.

Renovations scheduled for Washington School are highly recommended for proceeding as soon as possible Marshall describes the school as being near the southwest section of Manchester where the largest housing growth is anticipated. Also he notes that the gym facilities will serve dual purposes, both for the education and recreation departments.

His report recommends that a detailed enrollment projection be made after the 1980 census statistics are available and before the Bentley School may actually be closed.

Another recommendation is that alternate use of the vacant facilities should be examined including outright selling of the properties.

Susag reminded the task force to be concerned about using the high school and junior high school space if student enrollment goes down.

"I see a growing need for space available for the non-college bound student," he said. "I see a trend for increasing vocational courses in existing spaces," he added.

Concerning population trends, Susag said the population dispersion toward outside suburban areas may reverse itself as people find they can't afford to travel long distances with the predicted rise in oil costs.

"That may make a big difference in migration trends in Manchester," he said.

He continued with the possibility that the population in the Bentley School area could very possibly increase because many of the houses now owned by older, non-child families, would be bought by younger families with children.

There seemed to be some discrepancies as to the figures used as a basis for the reports. There were long range enrollment projection figures prepared by Dr. Thomas E. Steahr, a demographer hired by the Board of Education, and short range projection figures prepared by James P. Kennedy, school superintendent. Wilson Deakin, assistant superintendent of schools, was asked to clarify the difference in the figures used for presentation at the next task force meeting on Dec. 2 at 8 p.m. in the Board of Education room, 45 N. School St.

Before the meeting began, those present were taken on a tour of Bentley School and shown the areas in need of renovation and repairs.

Police chief offers holiday safety tips

There's a lot more to planning a Thanksgiving trip than simply loading your car and starting out, says Manchester Police Chief Robert Lannan. According to Lannan, the key word for a successful trip is "ready."

Giving tips for Thanksgiving trips, Lannan said: "Planning 'ready' means a sensible schedule to avoid peak traffic periods and to pace yourself so you don't have to drive too long in one stretch. Plan rest stops and be flexible if weather turns bad."

"Driver 'ready' means a rested, alert driver. Share the driving chores if possible. Know your route and any special hazards along the way that might be aggravated by bad weather."

"Car 'ready' means a vehicle that has had every item of safety equipment thoroughly checked by a mechanic before the trip. That includes brakes, lights, tires, defroster, windshield wipers and washer, battery and exhaust system."

The safety gear in the trunk is also important, Lannan said, mentioning booster cabs, a shovel, a tow chain, window scraper-brush, traction mats, sand or rock salt, emergency lighting gear, and reinforced tire chains. Another good idea: A roll of paper towels to wipe lights and glass.

"For the sake of a good Thanksgiving," Lannan said, "check weather and road reports before starting out and along the way."

Citadel concert Saturday

The Salvation Army's Citadel Band, under the direction of Bandmaster Michael Orfittelli, and the Citadel Songsters, under the leadership of Mrs. Lillian Perrett, will present a Thanksgiving Music Festival Saturday at 8 p.m. at the Main St. Citadel. Tickets will be available at the door.

Guest soloist for the music festival will be Bandman James Scott of New York City, where he is a student at the Manhattan School of Music. He studies with Edward Herman Jr., the principal trombonist with the New York Philharmonic. Scott is the principal trombonist with the Queens College Orchestra Society. He will be presenting "Ernie Leiden's 'Never Failing Friend'" and the "Moreau Symphonique" by Guilmant.

The Citadel Band will be featuring familiar Army classics such as "Go Down Moses" by Ray Steadman-Alan, the tone poem "Where Duty Calls" by Albert Jakeway with new compositions by Canadian composer Len Ballentine, and the English composer Maj. Leslie Condon. The Citadel Songsters will be presenting "God's Soldier" by Maj. John Larsson, a song from one of the Salvation Army's musicals of the past few years. The Songsters will also present "Blessed Be The Lord My Strength" by Maj. Ray Steadman-Alan, which is a musical setting from the 14th Psalm.

The chairman of the evening will be Commissioner Bramwell Tripp, territorial commander for the Salvation Army's 11 eastern states.

Lutz museum announces activities

The Lutz Junior Museum, 126 Cedar St., is sponsoring a series of holiday activities throughout December.

A baker's clay ornament workshop for first and second graders will be held on Tuesdays, Dec. 7 and 14, from 3:45 to 4:45 p.m.

A workshop for third through sixth graders will feature felt and bead ornaments. This workshop will meet Wednesdays, Dec. 8 and 15, from 3:45 to 4:45 p.m.

On Saturday, Dec. 18, from 9:45 to 11:45 a.m. the museum will sponsor an "around-the-world" Christmas party for children in grades one through six. The party will include crafts, refreshments and games.

The events are open to museum members only. For early registration and fee information, call the museum at 643-0949.

The museum will also sponsor a free Saturday happening on Saturday, Dec. 4, from 2 to 4 p.m. Activities will include stringing popcorn, making yarn ornaments and other decorations for the museum's holiday tree. The whole family is invited to participate at any time during the event.

Suspect arrested burglarizing cafe

A burglary suspect was arrested by Manchester Police Thursday while he was still inside a burglarized restaurant on Hartford Rd., police said.

John H. Mooney, 26, of no certain address was taken into custody at about 11:45 p.m. and charged with third-degree burglary, possession of burglary tools, and third-degree larceny.

Mooney was held overnight on a $5,000 bond and was to appear today in Common Pleas Court 12, East Hartford.

Police said an officer on routine patrol spotted a broken window at Giovanni's Restaurant, 250 Hartford Rd., and summoned help to go into the building.

Once inside, police found that candy and cigarette machines had been pried open, and merchandise and change was scattered on the floor. One policeman bent down to look at the goods, police said, and he saw the suspect lying under a restaurant table.

The suspect was taken into custody without incident.

Other arrests reported by Manchester Police included that of Herbert E. Martin, 26, of Bethesda, Md., charged Thursday night with speeding and driving while his license was suspended. Court date is Dec. 7.

A garage and a home at separate addresses on Brookfield St. were broken into and two homes on the street were almost broken into, Manchester Police reported today.

Swimming pool equipment taken from the garage was used to break into the nearby home, police said. A purse containing $20 in cash was stolen from the home.

Entry was gained to the two other homes. Telephone wires at all three homes were cut, though, police said.

In other burglaries reported to police, $10 in cash was taken in a break into a Church St. dwelling.

Fish out more cars

PORTLAND (UPI) — Connecticut State police have recovered eight stolen cars and two motorcycles from an abandoned quarry they theorize was a dumping ground for stolen vehicles.

Four divers directed the recovery operation Thursday at the Old Brownstone Quarry. Police said they had determined at least seven of 11 other vehicles sunk in the 30-foot deep quarry were stolen.

Thirty-one vehicles were recovered last month from another quarry in Berlin, about 15 miles from the Portland site, and 26 of them were identified as stolen.

Teachers may strike

GREENWICH (UPI) — The 630 members of the Greenwich Education Association plan a meeting Sunday, possibly to consider a strike following the breakdown of negotiations with the Board of Education.

Contract talks broke down Thursday night with no new meetings between the two sides scheduled.

GEA President Allen Frey said the board had ignored recent recommendations of state arbitrators who had entered the dispute centering on salary and working condition demands.

The GEA members have been working without a contract since September.

A GEA spokesman said a motion to call a strike might be made at the Sunday meeting.

CCM told state budget hearings are planned

The executive officers of the Connecticut Conference of Municipalities (CCM) met Wednesday with Gov. Ella Grasso and agreed that public hearings should again be held on the state budget.

Last year, there were four regional hearings in the state on the proposed budget. CCM suggested that similar steps be taken again this year, and the governor agreed.

The group also called for more inter-governmental action for problems facing the area.

John Thompson, deputy mayor of Manchester and secretary of CCM was one of the participants in the session.

"There was a spirit that we all have problems and should sit and talk more often about them," Thompson said of the meeting.

EPA grant to upgrade town sewage plant

Manchester has received a $153,000 grant from the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), according to an announcement made by U.S. Rep. William Colter.

Frank Jodanis, water and sewer administrator, said that the money will be used for needed improvements to the town's sewage treatment plant. The money is a "spin-off" from a program the town is involved in for upgrading the plant, Jodanis said.

The program concentrates on future steps to be taken to improve the plant. But the $153,000 grant will be used for immediate needs, such as the installation of safety railings and instrumentation on pumps, Jodanis said.

EPA announced a total of $11.7 million in grants for waste water treatment projects in Connecticut.

Square dance club marking 20th year

Earl Johnston

Al Brundage

Manchester Square Dance Club will celebrate its 20th anniversary Saturday with a dinner at 5:30 p.m. in the Manchester High School cafeteria.

Earl Johnston of Vernon, club caller, and Al Brundage of Stamford, members of the Square Dance Hall of Fame, will be calling for the club's anniversary dance beginning at 8 p.m. at the high school.

Johnston, who has been calling for the club since 1956, will also be observing his 20th anniversary as a professional caller. He started calling square dances in 1943 while still in high school.

He was the first chairman of the New England Council of Callers Association and a charter member of Callers, an international association of square dance callers. A charter member of the Connecticut Callers Association, he recently was honored by being named a lifetime member of the association. He conducts callers clinics throughout the United States and Canada and is involved in running callers schools in Colorado, New Hampshire and Pennsylvania.

Johnston and Brundage are two of the 12 national callers in the Square Dance Hall of Fame in Los Angeles, Calif.

Brundage has been calling since 1935, when he started calling as a 4-H project.

After graduating from the University of Maine, he built and operated the Country Barn in Stepey. The barn drew dancers from near and far and was the scene of many firsts in square dancing. It was here that the now popular western style of square dancing was introduced to New England.

Over the years, he has been choreographer for a troupe of Samuel Goldwyn dancers, coordinator for square dancing at the New York World Fair, conducted the opening performance of the Country Music Festival at Madison Square Garden in New York, and has appeared on many television and radio shows. He has also recorded programs for America's broadcasts.

He and Johnston are members of the board of governors of Callers.

Russ and Anita White will cue the rounds for Saturday night's dance. They joined the square dance club in 1959 after taking basic lessons from Johnston. In 1958, they were elected treasurers of the club, and in 1964, were asked to manage the club's round dance program.

They now teach and cue for four square dance clubs and teach basic round dance classes. They also teach and cue at conventional and festivals and run a square and round dance weekends each year.

Town officials working on job act application

The Public Works Department and the town council are working together to complete title searches required for applications to the Public Works Employment Act.

Jay J. Giles, director of public works, said that he expects to have the applications completed early next week, just in time for the Friday, Nov. 26 deadline. He may, however, have to drive the applications to Philadelphia to ensure that they arrive before the Friday deadline.

The town will file applications for five or six projects, Giles said. The act provides federal funding for public works projects on the local and state level. Projects that provide the most employment and will have the greatest overall effect will receive first consideration for the funds.

Each application requires a signature that the property will be done on is town-owned. Thus, to get the applications completed a title search has to be done on the property.

Frank Ennis of the Engineering Department has worked in the town clerk's office Thursday and today, searching through land records to find the data that the town acquired the properties involved. Town Council Victor L. Moses is expected to complete the search early next week.

One of the projects that the town will apply for is sidewalk improvements. A total of about 50 streets is involved. All of the land must be traced and town ownership must be verified.

Giles said that other projects that will be submitted for the funding are a police detection facility, Adams St. bridge project, storm drainage improvements to White Brook and Thompson Road, and a water tank addition at the Nike Site.

Area police

Coventry
Wayne Sherman, 19, of Richmond Rd., and Richard Green, 21, of N. River Rd., both of Coventry, were charged Thursday with four counts each of criminal mischief.

Coventry police said the arrests stemmed from a two-month investigation into several acts of vandalism in town.

The charges involved the alleged shooting of plate glass windows in the Heritage Savings and Loan and Guido's Supermarket on Rt. 31, damage of an outdoor motor on the police department's patrol car, and the shooting out of a street light at Rt. 44A and Lewis Hill Rd.

Both men were released on $500 non-surety bonds for appearance in Common Pleas Court 19, Rockville, Dec. 3.

East Hartford
Police apprehended two men Thursday about 12:44 a.m. near the just burglarized House of Flowers at 456 Main St. and charged them both with third-degree burglary and conspiracy to commit larceny.

Michael Sander, 19, and Benjamin Straut, 17, both of Windsor, were taken Thursday to Common Pleas Court 12 in East Hartford. Their case was continued to Nov. 29. They were taken to the state correction center at Seymus St., Hartford in lieu of $500 surety bond each.

Police said they were able to make the arrests because of the phone call of a witness to the break. Police found items placed near the door of the store apparently meant to be taken.

Chilean release

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Anthony Molett, D-Conn., who visited Chile last March, says he is "most gratified at the decision of the Chilean military junta" to release nearly all political prisoners held without charges since the military took over in 1973.

Molett and two other congressmen went to Chile last March to investigate charges of misuse of U.S. foreign aid and denial of human rights.

Molett said, "We are especially hopeful that this decision augurs an overall change in the junta."

Opinion

We need more oil production

In an environmental policy statement issued in the last days of the presidential campaign, Jimmy Carter asserted that the nation can control pollution, conserve energy and create jobs at the same time. As for the second goal, the nation, he said, needs "an aggressive program of energy conservation" that includes making autos more fuel efficient.

As President Carter, he will have a job cut out for himself. Only three days after his election, the Federal Highway Administration announced that Americans will burn more gasoline in 1978 than any year in history.

This is an ominous reversal of the previous trend. At the beginning of this year, gasoline consumption was still well below pre-embargo levels.

One of the issues made most conspicuous by the absence of any discussion about it during the election campaign is the steady deterioration of America's petroleum position.

We are now importing something like 40 per cent of our oil, while domestic production approached a 10-year low in October. The industry is not investing as much as it should in new exploration but is playing it safe with shallow, less expensive wells in proven fields.

It costs about $4 million to sink a well on land and a minimum of $60 million to drill offshore. The country needs 900 more offshore rigs to become 75 per cent self-sufficient in oil, let alone "energy independent," according to an industry source.

Yet despite the alarming statistics, the outlook is that the incoming Congress will continue to treat oil wells like wishing wells, will continue to spend its time denouncing the "greedy" oil companies and will continue to encourage Americans in the delusion that they can go on burning gasoline and natural gas in plenty and on the cheap.

An aggressive program of conservation is fine, and Jimmy Carter should have this regard of every American in this report. More efficient automobiles are fine, and the industry is beginning to come up with them.

But what the country needs most of all from the new administration is a rational energy policy that will provide the incentives that will get oil and natural gas production moving up again.

Embargo technology still slips through

Don Oakley

Buried in the back pages of most newspapers during the last, hectic days of the presidential election campaign was the announcement by the Ford administration that it had okayed the sale of sophisticated computer systems to the Soviet Union and China.

The proposed sale of Control Data Corp.'s "Cyber 172" computers and support systems had been strongly opposed by the Energy Research and Development Administration and the Pentagon on the grounds that they could be used to improve the nuclear capabilities of the Communist superpowers.

Whether or not the decision constitutes a major breach in this country's long-standing embargo against the sale of high-technology or "strategic" products to the Communist (a Control Data spokesman says its computer is really "on the lower end of the technological scale of development"), the embargo apparently has as many holes in it as a sieve.

The illegal flow of embargoed technology to Soviet bloc nations especially is a growing problem, and one that U.S. officials are finding hard to control, reports Electronics magazine.

It requires deviousness but it is relatively easy for Iron Curtain countries to buy embargoed U.S. technology, and price is no object, says the magazine. The Soviet bloc "will use any means possible" to get this equipment, it quotes Charles B. Clements, director of the compliance division of the Commerce Department's Office of Export Administration.

One method is to move restricted components and instruments out of the United States by diplomatic pouch. A more usual procedure, however, is to divert equipment from a legitimate source in Western Europe.

Equipment can be shipped under normal license to socialist Free World nations without application to the Commerce Department, and U.S. officials say they have no way to police overseas customers to be sure they are not reselling it to a third party.

Equipment, says Clements, is shipped from one location to another, is re-routed and re-marked at each point, until eventually everyone loses track of it.

While some U.S. manufacturers believe the embargo on the flow of key industrial and technological know-how to the Communists should be maintained, others complain of being frustrated as they watch their traditional Japanese and West European competitors do a thriving business with the Communists.

Mr. Ridzon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Ridzon of Merrow Rd., Tolland.

The bride-elect was graduated from Tolland High School in 1975 and will graduate from Manchester Community College in May 1977.

Her fiancé was graduated from Tolland High School in 1974 and is presently serving in the U. S. Navy stationed in Iceland.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Polish Women to convene

The Polish Women's Alliance of America will convene on Saturday at noon at Willie's Steak House in Manchester.

Following a luncheon, there will be a business meeting conducted by Julia Leniart, state president.

Julia Stopp of Chicago, Ill., national secretary, will be the guest speaker.

At this time, 22 scholarship recipients names will be submitted for the college year, 1978-79.

The couple is planning a Sept. 30, 1977 wedding at St. James Church in Manchester.

The engagement of Miss Susan Elizabeth Porter of Hebron to Richard Paul Doucette of Marlborough has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Porter of Martin Rd., Hebron.

Mr. Doucette is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alyce Doucette of Marlborough. The bride-elect was graduated from Rham High School in Hebron in 1976. She is employed by J. C. Penney Co. in Willimantic.

Her fiancé was graduated from Manchester High School and recently completed a real estate course from Continuous Progress Educational Center.

Her fiancé was graduated from Coventry High School. He is employed at Pratt & Whitney Division of United Technologies Corp. in East Hartford.

The couple is planning a Sept. 10, 1977 wedding at St. James Church in Manchester.

Dr. Lamb

Hormone use after surgery

Dear Dr. Lamb — What is your opinion of prescribing estrogen or hormones after a complete hysterectomy, removal of the uterus, ovaries and tubes?

Does it or can it make a woman more prone to have cancer? My daughter age 41 is being given hormones after this operation. My doctor told me never to take hormones after a similar operation when I was 44.

Dear Reader — There is no good conclusive evidence that female hormones cause increased cancer anywhere except perhaps in the uterus. The idea that female hormones increase the chances of having cancer of the uterus needs further study. In fact, there is data that suggests that female hormones may protect women against other cancers of the body. The real danger of cancer of the uterus no longer applies.

To give you more information about the menopause I am sending you The Health Letter number 5-12, Menopause. Others who wish to have this information can forward 50 cents for it with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Address your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I wonder if you can help me out. I am a diabetic and take 40 units of insulin every day. When I go to bed I sweat a lot and have to change shirts four or five times every night. My doctor said I don't eat the right kind of food. He is mistaken. I do eat plenty of meat, all kinds of vegetables, milk, orange juice and cereal. I talked to my diabetic nurse and she said I should try another doctor.

When I get wet from sweating I shake all over. The doctor said it came from the diabetes. I don't believe him. I feel fine otherwise. My druggist said if he were me he would do something about this problem. I just started having the problem two weeks ago and I've had diabetes for three years.

Dr. Reader — I am inclined to agree with your nurse. You are describing what sounds like an insulin reaction. These occur when you have too much insulin and your blood sugar falls too much. Sometimes the type of insulin you are taking in relation to the way your diet is divided for different times of the day will have something to do with it.

In any case you need to be evaluated for your blood sugar levels during one of these episodes and if your level is low then your insulin or diet or both will need to be readjusted. If you want to test the possibility that you are having an insulin reaction you can take some orange juice with some sugar when you have a sweating and shaking episode and see if that stops it. If it does it is pretty good proof that you are getting too much insulin for that time.

The doctor said it came from the diabetes. I don't believe him. I feel fine to help you.

Khrushchev may have been partly right

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON — The late Nikita Khrushchev once described the United States as "a nation of crooks" in a speech before a crowd of tens of thousands of Eastern European Communist leaders.

It was Nikita's contention that a capitalist state such as the U.S. "could not care for its poor and its ailing because it could not afford the cost of the care."

He sneered at federal financial assistance to U.S. public health programs as "a bonanza for doctors and the hooligan exploiters who operate American hospitals."

Tough language. And, of course, Khrushchev was hardly an objective observer of the American scene. But things keep happening that cause one to wonder how long we the people, as a government, can afford to be compassionate.

Item: The New York State Department of Health has charged that millions of dollars in questionable Medicaid reimbursements have been paid New York City hospitals.

Item: The Department of Health, Education and Welfare released a 346-page list of 2,533 doctors, dentists, pharmacies and laboratories that received more than $100,000 each from Medicaid last year.

Leading the list of physicians for the second straight year was Dr. William A. Triebel of New York City, who got $784,114 in 1975. Triebel operates a chain of methadone clinics for former heroin addicts.

Both doctors practice in mostly black ghetto neighborhoods, and it has become a pathetic truism that most blacks tend to be poor. Still, District of Columbia investigators claim that many ghetto doctors keep patients coming in for treatment "for weeks longer than necessary."

The investigators also allege that some doctors pay their patients "commissions" for sending them Medicaid cases.

There are, as noted, 23 million poor Americans — give or take a million or so. But I find it hard to believe that enough of these poor are sick enough to cost federal and state governments a whopping $15.2 billion this fiscal year. Khrushchev to the contrary, this has never been a nation of crooks, but some may yet give the science of healing a bad name.

U.S. interests a major obstacle

Can Carter standardize NATO arms?

One thing Jimmy Carter says he will do as president is to save money by speeding up the process of standardizing the weapons the NATO alliance uses. Fine. But then his first task will be to reverse the process of destandardization.

In spite of all the talk, NATO's weapons are a good deal less uniform than they were 10 years ago. One example: The F-104 Starfighter was flown in its heyday by 10 of NATO's 13 air forces. The aircraft produced as its replacement, the F-16, is at present being bought by only five of them (which do not include NATO's two biggest European air forces, Germany's and Britain's), and seems unlikely to be used by more than one or two others.

Not only is standardizing not moving forward. Such of it as there is does not seem to be saving much money, which should be the whole aim of the exercise. The MRCA Torado aircraft, to be produced jointly by Britain, Germany and Italy, is going to cost at least 25 per cent more than if it were made by just one country, mainly because of the enormous amount of extra paperwork and travel necessary to keep three governments and six major contractors all in the same harness.

The attempt by the United States and Germany to agree upon a shared tank failed because the attempt was made too late — when each country's prototypes were too far advanced and too many local vested interests had been created. Then the idea of using even a few of the same components for the German and American tanks started a huge tug of war between the American secretary of defense and his army.

The result will probably be two largely different tanks, with only four or five important components in common. Costing more, and arriving later, than a joint American-German tank should have done.

Another major American disaster illustrates how not to do almost anything.

In January, 1975, when the American army was looking for a new short-range anti-aircraft weapon, it announced that it wanted the French-German Roland. Buy from Europe and reduce everybody's costs? Not on your life. The Americans proceeded to rework the entire system in a way which ensured that the final product was hardly anything like the Roland. They redesigned the missile itself to

Police-fire group seeks CharterOak stand rights

The Advisory Recreation and Park Commission recommended Thursday that the Police and Fire Association be given the concession rights to the Charter Oak Park refreshment stand.

The board unanimously backed a proposal presented by Lester C. Silver Jr., assistant director of the Recreation Department. Silver praised the Police and Fire Association for its support through the years of local youth athletic activities. The group has also run refreshment stands at Manchester High football games and at Mt. Nubo Field.

The commission also discussed the Silk City League situation. Earlier this year, a team in the league was accused of using too many out-of-town residents.

Group formed to oppose retirement center

The South Methodist Property Interest Committee has been formed in an effort to prevent the sale of the church's Hartford Rd. campus for the erection of a 100-unit retirement center.

The committee will have an organizational meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the First Federal Savings and Loan building, 344 W. Middle Tpke.

Band shell prizes drawing tonight

The names of winners of vacation trips and Bicentennial medals in the raffie to benefit the Bicentennial Band Shell will be drawn tonight at Manchester Country Club.

The program will open at 8 p.m. with music, perhaps dancing, and a film of the town's Bicentennial Parade and slides of other Bicentennial events.

Celtic ticket sales are up 20 per cent in Boston this season over a year ago. Last year there were 4,236 season ticket holders for Celtic games at the Hartford Civic Center.

Cardinals vow revenge against Redskins next

NEW YORK (UPI) — Barring an act of God, such as a monsoon Sunday, the St. Louis Cardinals plan to spare the Washington Redskins any further worries about making the playoffs.

The Cardinals, who fumbled eight times in a torrential downpour last month to lose a 20-10 decision to Washington, expect to eliminate the Redskins from playoff contention in Sunday's game at St. Louis.

"They're going to get what's coming to them this time," vowed St. Louis running back Terry Metcalf, who fumbled four times in the last game. A victory would give the Cardinals a 9-2 record with three games remaining, while the Redskins would drop to 6-5.

The Redskins severely damaged their playoff chances in the National Football Conference last week when they were the New York Giants' first opponent of the season, 13-9.

Meanwhile, the Cardinals came up with one of their patented last-minute miracles to pull out to face a 30-28 decision over the Rams in Los Angeles as Jim Bakken kicked a field goal with only four seconds remaining.

Washington Coach George Allen may turn to veteran quarterback Bill Kilmer for the crucial game against the Cardinals.

Jim Hart, who directed the Cardinals' comeback from a 15-point deficit last Sunday, will have Mel Gray, his favorite receiver, back in the lineup after the fleet wide receiver missed several games with a broken nose.

The Cardinals, still in contention for the NFL's Eastern Division title as they trail the Dallas Cowboys, will be assured of at least a wild-card berth if they beat the Redskins and the Rams beat the San Francisco 49ers, now 6-4.

Other games Sunday have Chicago at Detroit, New England at New York against the Jets, Cleveland at Tampa Bay, Oakland at Philadelphia, Houston at Pittsburgh, Cincinnati at Kansas City, the New York Giants at Denver, New Orleans at Seattle, Minnesota vs. Green Bay at Milwaukee, San Diego at Buffalo and Dallas at Atlanta.

In the Monday night game, the Baltimore Colts can mathematically eliminate the Dolphins from playoff contention in Miami.

Big kill

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI) — Hunters in New Hampshire are well on their way to the most successful deer season in eight years.

The state Fish and Game reported Thursday 7,463 deer have been killed as of Nov. 15. That figure represents a 16.7 increase over last year.

"Fish and Game officials said with one weekend remaining in the regular non-resident season, more than 9,000 deer will be killed.

Rose Bowl bids on line in major tests Saturday

NEW YORK (UPI) — Saturday is the day Michigan, Ohio State, UCLA and USC plant their hopes for the Rose Bowl.

Ohio State's eighth-ranked Buckeyes will have the home field advantage in their bid for a fifth-straight Rose Bowl berth, but the fourth-ranked Michigan Wolverines are favored by 3/4 points. Neither coach, however, considers these intangibles as very important.

"Being the favorite doesn't put any points on the board," said Michigan Coach Bo Schiebeler.

Ohio State holds a 42-1 edge over Schiebeler's Michigan teams, but no Schiebeler-coached Michigan team has ever won its last game of a season.

A little more than 2,000 miles away, the annual pranks have already begun in anticipation of the USC-UCLA clash.

Wednesday's edition of the "Daily Trojan" student newspaper on the

USC campus had a banner headline reading "NCAA Declares SC Ineligible for Rose Bowl."

The bogus story, which was part of a special edition planted around the USC campus by the staff of the UCLA Daily Bruin, went on to say "USC's chances for a trip to the Rose Bowl will be dashed yesterday when the entire university was declared academically ineligible because of poor grades by the NCAA. That happens a lot at the expensive, private degree mills that don't have entrance requirements."

In Saturday's entrance exam to the Rose Bowl, though, both teams will be looking to avoid mistakes and keep the other from making the big play. UCLA, ranked second nationally, is just ahead of USC, a 2 1/2 point favorite.

Unbeaten and fifth-ranked Texas Tech takes on Houston in a drive for the Southwest Conference title and its first Cotton Bowl appearance since 1939. The twice-beaten Cougars are in line for a hometown Bluebonnet Bowl invitation, or maybe an invitation to the Sun Bowl.

Norwalk plays Berkshire, while MCC and Mattatauck battle.

The Cougars finished regular play last Saturday with a 6-3 record and 10-8 overall ledger.

Four area players are Marianne Pemberton, Ginny Petersen and Linda Brody of Manchester and Eileen Sott of East Hartford.

Norwalk received top billing with a 4-1 record. Second place went to Mattatauck, 5-2, with Berkshire fourth.

Team names starters for Windham game

By LEN AUSTER
Herald Sportswriter

If Manchester High's football team loses its ninth straight Saturday afternoon in Willimantic, the players will have only themselves—not the coaches—to blame.

The Indians, winless in eight starts, head East to face 6-3 Catholic High while 17 East Catholic High travels to the opposite end of the compass to combat 0-9 Bloomfield High at the Warwicks field. Both are slated for 1:30 starts.

Manchester players sat down Monday to have a team meeting with first-year coach Jack Holik opening it up as a "gripe session." We asked them why we are losing and everything they did say we ripped apart," he stated. One thing which has been used elsewhere, did come about — the coaches let the players name the offensive team themselves.

The offense will begin with the aforementioned players. But that's not necessarily the way it'll remain. "If anyone messes up, out they come and they may not start (or play) against East Catholic," Holik said with conviction.

Windham will show with its patented side-saddle T which is basically Manchester's offense except it's operated from an unbalanced line. The Whippets have an excellent running-passing quarterback in Tom Brown and a fine half-back in Chuck Warkinsky. This pair the locals will have to stop if they want to stop their two-year 18-game downswing.

East goes into its confrontation with Bloomfield a favorite, an unusual position this year, and coach John LaFontana admits this prospect "scars him to death. We are Bloomfield's only chance of winning a game this year. We might go in overconfident although we shouldn't be."

Entry list over 1,000

Quality, quantity in Five Mile field

By EARL YOST
Sports Editor

There's quality and quantity in the makeup of the 1976 Five Mile Road Race Thanksgiving morning. The starting gun is set to go off at 10:30.

Will Hadden, general chairman, reports more than 1,000 entries have been recorded, a record. All bearing postmarks no later than Nov. 17 will be official entrants.

The previous high number of entries was 922 a year ago and 738 showed up in a pouring, wet rain to run and 717 finished the grind. Amby Burfoot was the winner in 22:24 and George Frost brought up the rear among the finishers in 48:35.

Listed among the latest entrants are Bruce Fiori, cross country captain at the University of Pennsylvania, who placed 10th last year here, and Steve Gates, former Eastern Connecticut State College cross country captain and a regular in past Five Miles. He was 24th last November.

Wayne Jacob, out of Johnson-Wales College, is another who has done well here, both in '73 and eighth in '74.

All will be pushing the likes of Amby Burfoot, John Vitale, Charlie Duggan, Tom Hollander and Bob Day. Burfoot is the defending champion and course record holder.

The race route remains unaltered, starting at Main and School Streets (lower end of Main St.), east on Charter Oak to Highland, left on Porter to East Center and left at the Center to Main and School. The progress of the leaders will be relayed at intervals throughout the run.

Delaware grid lottery confusing

WILMINGTON, Del. (UPI) — A National Football League survey shows both professional football fans and nonfans are confused about who operates Delaware's football lottery.

A survey released Thursday in the league's lawsuit against the lottery showed almost one of every five Delaware residents think the NFL is associated in some way with the state-operated lottery.

The poll showed 14 per cent thought the league operates the lottery in conjunction with the state, while five per cent said the NFL is the sole operator.

The results were the same for football fans and nonfans.

The survey was done for the NFL by Audits and Surveys Inc.

Dr. Lloyd Kirban, vice president of the firm, said the survey was based on responses from 316 Delawareans and that the results were representative of the entire state.

Kirban said the survey showed 55 per cent believe only the state operated the lottery and 28 per cent said they did not know.

ABA clubs hold own in NBA

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two more National Basketball Association teams found out last night that what many considered an inferior "little league" for the last five years is the American Basketball Association — had some pretty decent players.

The Detroit Pistons, riding along nicely on a seven-game winning streak, became the second strong team in two nights to fall to the Indiana Pacers, 104-99. On Wednesday night, the Pacers, considered the weakest of the four ABA teams in the NBA this year, knocked off the Philadelphia 76ers, 123-117.

In San Antonio last night, the Spurs moved into a tie for third in the six-team Central Division with 129-104 romp over the Kansas City Kings.

Dave Robisch came off the bench in both the Pacers' upset victories and accounted for a total of 29 points, 17 of them in Thursday night's game.

"Dave Robisch played a helluva game," said Coach and General Manager Bobby Leonard. "He did a super job."

Leonard also said he was impressed with Detroit center Bob Lanier. The 6-foot-11 veteran scored a season high 39 points and topped all players. Billy Knight as Indiana's big gun with 23 points, but five other Pacers scored in 'twain figures.

Lanier put the blame for Detroit's loss on the defense.

"Our defense was poor and heat us. We lacked communication and let them stay in the game," he said. "At the end their defense beat us."

In the only game left guards and John McNary at center. Mike Presti was installed as quarterback with Mark Kiefer, Bob Walsh and Ralph Donadio at running backs. The selection of the defensive platoon remained with the coaches.

The offense will begin with the aforementioned players. But that's not necessarily the way it'll remain. "If anyone messes up, out they come and they may not start (or play) against East Catholic," Holik said with conviction.

Ilie Nastase tops Moore

LONDON (UPI) — Ilie Nastase is like a trouble spot waiting to break out. The most gifted player on the world tennis scene, he has been ordered off court, suspended and fined in frequent brushes with authority.

"I guess I must have a Latin temperament," he was admonished for spitting at a linesman.

Nastase, known as the court jester, went through his usual comedy routine, but it did not unsettle Moore.

"We have got on very well in our matches simply because he always beats me," said Moore.

Now 290 know Dinny's secret

Two hundred and ninety people know the secret of the show. You question, "Who?" The audience who had the pleasure of viewing William Gibson's "Dinny and the Witches" last weekend was given this precious piece of knowledge, as well as spent evening. The cast, crew, and their director, Lee Hay, produced what I would term one of their better shows.

The efforts of the entire cast combined created this commendable production; however, certain cast members are worthy of special recognition. The witches, dominated by Zenobia, played superbly by Beth McClain, certainly created an appropriate ominous atmosphere.

Her subordinates, Luella and Olga, depicted by Jane Dewey and Dawn Hilyak respectively, helped make death and tragedy somewhat bearable with their humor. If such is possible, Luella, the "nit witch" in charge of life and the sun, certainly revealed her inferiority complex over the job by her constant appearance in a raincoat.

Near perfection

Her childlike appearance and actions were played to near-perfection. Luella's adversity, was also commendable in her role as the witch of death. Other than for some stray blond hair which contrasted with her otherwise flawless appearance, Olga certainly performed her quest for Dinny's head to the optimum.

Dinny, around whom the story revolves, was played convincingly by sophomore Jerry Smith. In his search to learn his purpose on earth, Dinny encounters a host of peculiar witches who control the world. Unknown to this musician stops the clock of time and causes life to pause at a standstill for one-hundred years.

Adds to misery

To add to his misery, Dinny becomes king of the world of which he had no understanding in the first place. Although displeased with his newly acquired position, the witches have an extremely difficult time regaining control of the world from Dinny. Any minor slip in Dinny's performance can be attributed to the strain of the difficult role placed on this debutant.

Dinny's concerns in the purpose of life is somewhat interrupted by the acquaintance of Amy, the waitress. Played by veteran actress Ann Kibbie, perhaps Gibson would have been surprised with the dominance with which this character can be portrayed. The scene which best evidences Amy's acting skill in this part of the play, as contrasted with her grave appearance in other sectors, reveal her well-developed versatility as an actress.

Vy for attention

Also temporarily vying for Dinny's attentions are Dawn, Bubbles, and Chloe, whose occupation can be determined from their names. These girls played by Colleen Wright, Lynn Blair, and Donna McCarthy, serve their purpose in their respective roles; however, even with their staging, their voices are unintelligible while singing most of the melodies allotted to them.

MHS runners wrap up season

The Manchester High cross-country runners completed their season last week with the State Open Cross Country Championship. Participation in this event was just icing on a very successful season. The team compiled a record of ten wins and four losses during regular season action, won their sectional meet, and placed second in the state class meet at Kensington. Placing ninth at the State Open was not a bad way to end a season either. Being one of the top ten teams in the state, and with ten returning lettermen, the team has a very bright future to look forward to.

As the old cliché goes, "history repeats itself," and this could be applicable to the cross-country team. You may be all witnessing an MHS cross-country dynasty in the making, a repetition of the one in the early 1960s. Early signs of this prospect were noticeable at the last meet of their regular season. Some coaches called it the biggest cross-country triangular meet in New England this season. This was the Xavier-Springfield Cathedral Tri-meet. Xavier, as most know, is the powerhouse of Connecticut, and Springfield Cathedral, the do-minioneer team in Massachusetts. Manchester pulled up a close third in this meet losing by only fifteen points to each team.

Math team season under way

Manchester High's talented math team opened its new season at Bristol. Henry Wadsworth's score of 72 points. We were edged by Hall High and Conard High both of West Hartford. They each had 78 points. Otter had 77 points and scored with a perfect score of 77 points. The team scored ten points on the team round. A high point in the meet was Hall High's show of spirit with their team shirts.

The Manchester math team plans to have a good year with such people as senior Robert Weiss, Juniors Dave Ostrom and Steve Latham, and sophomores Ron Apter, Dale Vinci, and Aaron Horwitz, in addition to the above mentioned members. Last year's math team was second in the state. This year we are hoping to catch the number one spot. — M.W.O.

W.C. field trip undertaken

Last Friday, seven interested Western Civilization students took an eventful trip to New York City. Their trip was the medieval atmosphere of the cloisters. After examining the interesting tapestries of unicorns, we progressed to the crypt. Art Glaser especially liked the interesting religious manuscripts preserved by ultra-violet light.

They took off for the Metropolitan Museum of Art where they had trouble finding a place to park. The most interesting part of this trip was the Egyptian Art which we examined carefully. Medieval armor was also viewed suspiciously.

After having a pleasant late lunch in Cunn, they left for home. Larry Duns

Yet pennies are not enough to cover the cost of meticulously reproducing a finely detailed portrait, painstakingly created by the hand of a young Michelangelo.

"Aridian" needs not only your help, but that of your parents and Manchester merchants as well. So, stay the imaginative pen for just a moment, and ask Dad to reach deep-

Advanced biology ventures into nature

One of the most varied programs in terms of out of class study has been Mrs. Levine's Advanced Biology course. When the classroom proves too restricted for in-depth study of some facet of biology, Mrs. Levine brings her students to an appropriate setting, be it Oak Grove Nature Center or the estuary at Avery Point, Groton, to name a few. These excursions provide excellent opportunities for close examination of the plant and animal life of each environment as well as thorough observation of each habitat.

Each trip requires preparation on the part of the student, but not only in terms of the ample background reading which is necessary. Occasionally conditions which were not fully anticipated are encountered; deep bog mud and choppy seas, for example, are details which are usually overlooked in lab manuals.

As many activities as can possibly be comprehensively packed into each trip are planned. At Avery Point, an oceanography observatory, students went out to sea on a barge-type boat loaded with formidably scientific-looking equipment. Various tests on the ocean water were conducted, such as measurements of dissolved oxygen, water density, salt content, etc., along with identification of various plant and animal life. Students used a funnel-like device, an Otter Trawl, which drags behind the boat, to collect various fish and crustacea including: Starfish, crabs, various sea robins, flounder and even a lobster which promptly instigated a dispute over whose dinner table it would end up on. (The lobster eventually escaped such a cruel fate and was returned to the water.)

Students also used a plankton net, a fine-meshed funnel which gathers plankton, the microscopic organisms of the ocean. These were observed later in the lab at the high school. This trip was distinguished by rolling waves and cold winds, which though somewhat uncomfortable, nevertheless, added a certain dimension of interest to the trip.

At Oak Grove Nature Center, the primary focus was on a study of different stages of succession of the environment. There, students did numerous soil tests, enabling them to make a thorough comparison of different habitats.

The trip to Glastonbury bog involved perhaps the most participation. Here the students tramped right into the bog to observe plants, many of which grow only in an acidic bog environment.

Each trip was an experience in itself, and well worthwhile was the abundance of information obtainable only through such out of class studies.

Chess club off to a slow start

Although Manchester High's Chess Club has gotten off to a slow start this year, their first match showed indications of a winning year. Despite the fact that Penney downed the team four and one-half to one and one-half in the first tournament of the season, all of the losses were tedious and well fought games.

Team President Kathy Corey scored the only victory for Manchester while playing second board. Jack Maldin, holder of second board and secretary, held off Penney's Eric Reich to register a draw. Other decisions won by Penney included first board lost by Gig Saartanus (Nov. 23-Oct. 21), fourth board by Joel Baranowski, and fifth board by Ed Piotak. All of these losses were well played and anyone interested may drop by Room 210 to see Mr. Tom Donlon.

Profile: Matt Walsh

Most people know Matthew Walsh from his exploits on the soccer field and track, but along with being a fine athlete, Matt is an extraordinary person compared with the events and activities of the school. Of all Matt's many honors, he considers his role as captain of the soccer team to be the most important. Playing with an injury for the entire year against the advice of doctors, players, and friends, he inspired the team to play its hardest.

Although recently bowing out of the state soccer tournament in its second game, 1-0 to Hamden, Matt played his finest game of the season. Matt also through the discuss for the track team, and will undoubtedly be among the winners this upcoming season.

Matt not only takes pride in athletics but also in his schoolwork. His courses include trigonometry, patterns of human behavior, approach to philosophy, and physics. Matt enjoys the variety of choices for courses and feels open campus is a good idea. However, Matt does not like the idea of MHS being known as "Pot Alley."

Matt was recently elected vice-president of his senior class and vows that he will do everything in his power to make the class of 1979 a memorable one. Matt is also a member of the Advisory Board and chairman of the Sports Publicity Committee of the Student Assembly. Even with all of these activities, Matt still finds time to do the things he likes most...relax. Matt relaxes at home by watching TV, listening to the music of Seals and Crofts, or eating. Unfortunately, these opportunities for relaxing are few and far between, so he really looks forward to them. Matt believes in "taking it easy" and rarely does anyone see Matt in a bad or depressed mood. He is always cheerful, and some dare to call him "Smiley."

A special quality of Matt's is his ability to give good advice. Many people talk freely with Matt because he listens with interest. His advice is usually sound and from the heart—he has helped many a person through stormy times. He treats everyone with warmth and his special friends with even more compassion. He is kind and considerate; just ask his two younger sisters, who would do almost anything for him.

Matt is especially thrifty; he doesn't like to waste anything. He's always around to eat that extra sandwich or drink the extra carton of milk. He doesn't waste clothes either; he has a pair of jeans with over thirty patches that keep his mother occupied. Needless to say, these are his most comfortable jeans. Matt, however, is by no means a slob; even while wearing these old jeans, he looks great.

Matt is proud of his school, and as a result, can be seen at most school activities. He faithfully attends football games to watch his younger brother Bobby play, and also cheers for the basketball, hockey, wrestling, baseball, swimming, and tennis teams. Although Matt enjoys sailing, swimming, and, occasionally, fishing, and does these things with a certain natural skill.

Matt plans to attend the University of Connecticut and concentrate on playing soccer while studying there. If soccer cannot be his profession, Matt would like to be a charter boat captain. He has enjoyed the sea ever since he was a child, and earning a living by taking people fishing would give him great satisfaction.

Matt has contributed much to MHS, and the teachers and administration can look forward to a long line of Walshes. Patsy and Bobby, a junior and sophomore respectively, are already at MHS, but the best is yet to come. Katrina, a ninth-grader, and Nancy, an eighth-grader, are looking forward to high school. I'm sure that they will all contribute as much as their brother. — Phil Valentine

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: The letter from TOO MUCH OF A GOOD THING, concerning a neighbor who was wearing out her welcome, is similar to the problem I encountered. This neighbor would pop in on me often, and always without notice. Sometimes I was entertaining a relative or another friend, and frequently I had a lot of work to do and no time for a social visit. I became frustrated and didn't know how to tell her without hurting her feelings.

Finally, in desperation, I took this nice neighbor into my bedroom and closed the door. Then I explained that I really liked her and valued her friendship, but there were times when I wanted to be alone with my friends or family, and as a favor to me to please phone so I see if it was all right to come over.

She was very understanding, and thanked me for being honest with her. Now she visits me less often and always phones first. Today we are the best of friends.

Abby, I've always felt that people who intrude on me should be treated with the same lack of consideration they give those upon whom they intrude. I felt quite proud of myself for not getting trampled by a bore who would probably be difficult to get rid of.

The next evening a friend telephoned to ask if I knew the woman in my building who had committed suicide the night before.

If you have already guessed that she was the woman who knocked on my door, you are right.

HARD LESSON LEARNED

DEAR G.S.: Read on for a letter to a woman who lacked your compassion and tried to regret it!

G.S. IN VA.

DEAR ABBY: I am a recently retired woman who once enjoyed a successful and fulfilling business career. I've remained single by choice.

I live alone, but I'm far from lonely. I have all the friends I want. I like my privacy and have never encouraged visitors to drop in.

The high rise in which I live has excellent security, and no one gets into the building without being screened.

One evening about 7:30, there was a knock on my door. I wasn't expecting anyone so I asked who was there. It was a woman who lives on my floor, and with whom I had only a nodding acquaintance. She said she was "quite proud" and didn't know what to do with herself, and asked if she could come in and visit for a while.

I told her politely but bluntly that I was busy, and didn't approve of visitors dropping in without phoning first. I have an unlisted phone number, which I did not give her.

She apologized for bothering me and left.

Abby, I've always felt that people who intrude on others should be treated with the same lack of consideration they give those upon whom they intrude. I felt quite proud of myself for not getting trampled by a bore who would probably be difficult to get rid of.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Play West for best choice

He can make it if West holds ace-queen or queen-10 provided he guesses which of those two combinations he holds.

West wins the first two tricks with the king and queen of hearts. He leads a third heart to East's ace.

South ruffs and draws trumps with two leads. Then he cashes his ace, king and queen of diamonds just in case some sort of elimination play might develop.

Finally, he leads a club and West plays low. If South has no clubs at all he does have one little thing going for him. West did hold the king and queen of hearts. If he also held both ace and queen of clubs he might well have gotten into the bidding.

Hence, it appears to South that his only hope is to find West with both king and 10 of clubs. He plays the nine from dummy and loses just one club trick.

ASK THE JOEBOYS

An Ohio reader wants to know if outcrop was ever seen in the state of Michigan. The answer is that in the original game as invented by the ace-queen and 10. He is equally sure to fail if East holds the queen.

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Saturday, Nov. 25, 1978

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be careful with whom you involve yourself today. The wrong combination could cause you some problems both costly and embarrassing.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) Don't resurrect old domestic grievances today. Digging up and airing old grievances will only serve to spoil the day for you and your mate.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Something you've swept under the rug may pop up to haunt you. Dispose of it early in the day, or you could still have a pleasurable evening.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be sure you get exactly what you want. If you're making an important purchase today, or you're being unhappy about the time you look at a.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't lean too heavily today on persona over whom you have authority. Underlings will resist strong methods and production will wobble.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You're a little too negative today. Your keen imagination sees only the shadows unless you strive diligently to get the best.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) You're kind today, except when you have to dig into your purse. You could be too strict for people who have been generous to you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 22) Vary and prude go before a fall. You'll take a tumble today if you take yourself too seriously.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You have enough responsibility without taking on the problems of others. Don't be a good guy and get into something you can't handle.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If you're at a social gathering today and sense an opportunity has chosen you for its target, move out quickly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Someone who has been a stumbling block in the past may have his foot out to trip you up again. Be very careful of your moves.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) The choice is yours today. It can be either a very hard day or an extremely pleasant one, depending on your outlook.

The smart people still save at Hartford National

Back in 1792, when Noah Webster was beginning to write his dictionary in a West Hartford home, there were only five banks in the whole 13 United States.

One of them was Hartford National. Noah Webster's bank. Long before savings paid interest, Webster kept his money in a Hartford National account. It made sense. He used money we printed for him. He borrowed from us (and paid off one obligation with seven dozen spelling books). He could come to us for advice, and credit, and even the 1792 version of checking. In fact, he never had to bother with another bank.

For a man who wrote the definition of saving, Hartford National added up. Even in 1792.

Smart man, Noah Webster. Things haven't changed all that much in 184 years. We don't print money anymore, and savings earn interest now. And the smart people still get more for their money by saving at Hartford National.

In fact, more than 180,000 smart people save at more than 60 Hartford National offices today.

It makes sense. We've had a long, long time to polish all the ways we can help you save. We've always modified different savings plans for different individual needs.

7 1/2%	6-Year Accounts yield	7.788%
7 1/4%	4-Year Accounts yield	7.519%
6 1/2%	2 1/2-Year Accounts yield	6.715%
6%	1-Year Accounts yield	6.183%
5 1/2%	90-Day Accounts yield	5.614%
5%	NOW Accounts yield	5.116%
5%	Regular Accounts yield	5.095%

*Effective annual yield when savings and interest remain on deposit for one year or to maturity. Federal regulations require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal.

We'll always pay the highest savings interest the law allows. And we'll always back up Hartford National savings with every time-, trouble- and money-saving service you'll ever need or use.

Open a Hartford National savings account today. Then sit back and watch all your savings grow.

Smart thinker, you.

LEGAL NOTICE

TOWN OF MANCHESTER, CONNECTICUT
NOTICE OF
ADOPTION OF AMENDMENT TO SEC. 71-2 OF THE ORDINANCES OF THE TOWN OF MANCHESTER
ENTITLED

"FIRE LIMITS ESTABLISHED"
In accordance with the provisions of Chapter 3, Sections 1 and 9 of the Town Charter, notice is hereby given of the adoption of Amendment to Sec. 71-2 of the Ordinances of the Town of Manchester, November 9, 1976 by the Board of Directors of the Town of Manchester, Connecticut as follows:

TO: The sentence that reads: "All of the Industrial and Business Zones of the town."
ADD: "except those industrial structures approved by the appropriate Fire Marshal and the Chief Building Official that possess extraordinary fire protective capability by virtue of augmented water supply, two sources maintained sprinkler system, twenty-four hour security on premises, and such other reasonable requirements as the Fire Marshal and Chief Building Official may require."

This Amendment shall take effect ten (10) days after this publication in this newspaper provided that within ten (10) days after this publication of this Amendment a petition signed by not less than five (5) per cent of the electors of the Town, as determined from the latest official lists of the Registrars of Voters, has not been filed with the Town Clerk requesting its reference to a special Town election.

Pascal A. Prignano, Esq.

THERE'S A LOT OF HUMAN INTEREST IN CLASSIFIED

People are our business. Little people and big people... young and old. They come to us for a lot of different reasons... personal reasons like finding a lost dog or locating a housekeeper or babysitter. Maybe it's a matter of selling an antique or getting a job. Whatever it might be, the Classified Ads play an important part in getting people together. That's human interest... and there's a lot of that in the Classified Ads.

HOUSE of the WEEK

TWO STORY IS DESIGNED FOR FRAME CONSTRUCTION

MASSIVE ACTIVITY ROOM ALLOWS VERSATILITY

Carport Adds Bonus Areas

More than just a car shelter, a carport should be designed also to provide storage and activity areas and enhance the looks of the house and yard. The structure should relate to the house in style and color, although the materials may differ. For instance a well-planned carport of western wood will compliment a brick house. Many house plans call for the carport to be placed directly in front of the house, but in this case careful styling, landscaping and construction are vital to overall appearance.

A carport provides a wealth of storage possibilities, built in along one or several walls, above the rafters, or as covered parking for bikes and outdoor equipment. Take a second look at your house plans to see if you can make your carport more useful.

GET QUICKER SERVICE & BETTER QUALITY WORKMANSHIP ON COLLISION DAMAGE!

GOOD NEWS

If you need car repair! We have just installed a CHIEF E-Z LINER Body and Frame alignment system, a completely new concept in body and frame equipment.

NOW YOUR CAR CAN BE AS GOOD AS NEW

With previous methods of frame and body repair it was very difficult to correct frame damage to original factory specifications. But with Chief E-Z Liner, we can actually reverse the angle of impact and restore your frame and body to perfect alignment. Why settle for anything less when your safety is at stake?

We are the only body shop in this area offering our customers the added service of the Chief E-Z Liner, and we take special pride in the quality of our workmanship. We welcome you in for an estimate and inspection of this new equipment.
