State

HARTFORD—The Connecticut Valley Hospital, plagued by poor record keeping because of chronic staff shortages, may lose $3 million if the mental hospital is decertified as a Medicare facility.

HARTFORD—Bronis "Bron" Kaminskas, a Lithuanian immigrant facing deportation for alleged Nazi war crimes, may be hospitalized this week for depression and nervousness, according to his lawyer.

HARTFORD—A last-minute appeal to discard a plan for Navy dumping of polluted dredgings in Long Island Sound was rejected Monday by the federal Environmental Protection Agency in Boston. Court action is expected to be taken now to stop the Navy project.

Regional

BRUNSWICK, Maine—Only a few commercial fishermen testified at the first of five public meetings in New England Monday on the ramifications of the 200-mile fishing limit, which takes effect next March.

BOSTON—The concept of controlling prostitution and pornography by creating a special adult entertainment zone is failing, according to Assistant District Attorney Timothy O'Neill. The clustering such as Boston's notorious "Combat Zone," creates an illusion of license that doesn't exist under state law, he said.

BURLINGTON, Vt.—Television views in Vermont and parts of New Hampshire, New York and Quebec — tuning into catch the CBS program "Maude" Monday night — found themselves watching a game show instead. Burlington station WCAX-TV refused to air the Monday segment which dealt with wife-swapping.

National

WASHINGTON—The U. S. Labor Party says it will try to void the results of the presidential election in Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York and Wisconsin because of "widespread incidents of vote fraud." Lyndon H. LaRouche, the party's presidential candidate, asked the Justice Department to investigate.

MONTGOMERY—The State of Alabama has pardoned Clarence Norris, the last surviving defendant in the "Scottsboro Boys" case — 45 years after nine black youths were charged with the rape of two white girls. He jumped parole 30 years and is now a warehouseman in New York City.

WASHINGTON—The nation's declining band of GOP governors, seeking ways to politically rejuvenate the Republican Party, wants a major overhaul of the party's image and constituency.

International

VAN, Turkey—Survivors of Turkey's worst earthquake in 37 years today faced the added threat of exposure and pneumonia despite an emergency airlift of thousands of tents and blankets to use the snowbound region. At least 4,000 are dead and more than 30,000 left homeless. The death toll may reach 10,000.

BEIRUT, Lebanon—The collection of heavy weapons from rival groups in Lebanon stalled today over who should give up their guns first.

Meadows strike averted

By JUNE TOMPKINS Herald Reporter

A strike scheduled for Wednesday morning at the Meadows Convalescent Home may be averted if the union ratifies its contract tonight.

After 20 hours of negotiating between the union and management with federal and state mediators, an agreement was reached by 9:30 this morning.

"We feel that we have reached an agreement, and now it's up to the union membership to ratify the contract," Donald Corriveau, assistant to the vice-president in charge of operations at Geri-Care, said this morning. He would give no details of the agreement.

Marilee Millstein, a representative of District 1199, National Union of Hospital and Health Care Employees, today told Nancy Carr, executive director of the Manchester Area Conference of Churches (MACC) that an agreement had been reached and that the union has achieved some of its goals. Ms. Millstein said that the union is recommending that its members accept the agreement. The union was seeking an hourly wage increase from $2.37 to $3, and a $20 weekly increase for all employees, plus fringe benefits.

The latest development is the climax of several months of contract dispute which remained in a deadlock until today. The negotiations also affect employees at the Royal Crest Nursing Home in Meriden, which with the Meadows, is owned by the Geri-Care nursing home chain based in Springfield, Mass. There are two Geri-Care owned nursing homes in Springfield which are also negotiating union contracts.

District 1199, National Union of Hospital and Health Care Employees, which represents over 200 employees at the Meadows, threatened a walkout beginning Wednesday at 7 p.m. at the end of tonight's shift if there was no contract agreement by that time.

Geri-Care administrators have made repeated unsuccessful attempts for intervention from Gov. Grasso and other state department heads.

The state has a secret plan which it would implement in the event of a strike, and if there is insufficient staffing to supply the patients' needs. However, Geri-Care administrators and union heads said they did not know the contents of the plan.

Many preparations have been made in case there is a strike. Geri-Care has been advertising for permanent employee replacements to move in. The MACC executive council spent most of Monday contacting the union heads and trying to get through to the governor to hold off a strike. Mrs. Carr said her efforts to reach the governor seemed like a "run-around," although she said that everyone she talked to was aware of the situation at the Meadows and Royal Crest and was "keeping on top of it."

However, the state departments of health, social services and mental health plan to meet today with a representative from the governor's office to make last minute plans in case there is a strike at the Meadows and Royal Crest Nursing Home in Meriden.

Manchester's Board of Directors was notified to meet tonight with Town Manager Robert B. Weiss and Police Chief Robert Laman to discuss security needs at the Meadows if the strike did become a reality. The meeting, however, was canceled later today when the contract settlement appeared to be near.

Several patients from the 110-bed facility at the Meadows have already been moved out in preparation for a possible employee walk-out. Corriveau said.

The MACC sent a letter to the town churches citing the results of a study made recently of patients moved from a New York nursing home during a strike. Of 20 patients transferred, the report showed that 17 died within the first two weeks after transfer.

The MACC also said that according to nurses in the east building at the Meadows, an estimated 43 patients out of 100 under their care might not survive a hasty transfer.

One of the main stalemates in the contract dispute has been Geri-Care's continued refusal to enter into binding arbitration claiming that it refused to turn its future over to a third party. Geri-Care estimates an operating loss of $900,000 this year.

Underlying the cause of Geri-Care's financial loss is the state's low reimbursement rate for welfare patients, according to Geri-Care officials.

Discuss J. C. Penney project plans

Local town officials and businessmen met with representatives of the J.C. Penney Co. at a breakfast held this morning at The Colony. Talking before the breakfast were (left to right):

Local businessmen and town officials met this morning over breakfast with seven representatives from the J.C. Penney Co. And the words of praise spoken at the podium were as sweet as the Danish was served to the 75 diners.

"The town of Manchester, in this 400-acre industrial park, has an absolute gem," Ralph B. Henderson, Penney vice-president and director of catalog operations, told the group.

The Penney facility, a two-million-square-foot catalog distribution center, is planned for a 400-acre industrial park proposed for the Buckland area. Penney would be the major tenant, owning about 150 of the 400 acres.

"I would recommend that you don't overlook what you have," Henderson said of the proposed park. "It can be a great asset to the town."

Henderson also praised the work of the town and the state in helping to locate the proposed facility for Manchester.

"My boss accused me of being unbusinesslike," Henderson said. "You just don't build centers like this unless you own the land. (Present plans are that the town will buy the property, develop the park, and then sell the property to the interested tenants.)"

"But," Henderson continued, "My boss has never met with Gov. Grasso. He has never met with Bob Weiss (Manchester town manager) or Ed Stockton (State Commerce Commissioner.) He doesn't have a feel for the amount of cooperation we have run into in the state of Connecticut."

Henderson called the cooperation "overwhelming at all levels" and asked about recent proposals that a spot for Secretary of State Henry Kissinger be found in the new administration. Carter said it would be "highly unlikely" for Kissinger to play a continuing role, but he did not rule out "ad hoc" diplomatic assignments.

Press Secretary Jody Powell told reporters Carter is "urgently" moving toward a decision on financial disclosure and "conflict of interest" guidelines for candidates seeking top jobs in his administration.

Powell said the restrictions will be the toughest in history and targeted to bar use of the federal government as a stepping stone to lucrative private industry jobs.

In the interview, Carter said he did some "indirect" jawboning, through congressmen, to get the major steel companies to back off their newly announced 6 per cent price increases for sheet steel, but was not encouraged. Yet, Carter said, he sees no need for mandatory wage-price controls.

Carter conceded some of the "voluntarism" transition briefing papers he's been reading were not up to his standards, but overall he was pleased with them. He also acknowledged there is some "jockeying" for power among his closest aides — "not too much, but enough."

Utility rate issues before the courts

HARTFORD (UPI)—Three court decisions due today will do much to untangle, or further complicate, the controversial matter of what rates Northeast Utilities should be allowed to charge its customers.

Superior Court Judge Francis O'Brien is expected to hear separate motions from Northeast and the Public Utilities Control Authority urging him to stop a Common Court of Pleas judge from interfering in their attempts to solve the rates matter.

Three PUCA members have been summoned to appear before by that judge, William Bieluch, after the Superior Court hearings.

Bieluch has asked that PUCA "show just cause" why they should not be held in contempt of court for violating one of his earlier orders.

Theoretically, should O'Brien rule in favor of Northeast and the PUCA at the early hearings, Bieluch's orders will never come into effect.

But should O'Brien decide the Northeast and PUCA motions are invalid, they will have to appear before Bieluch to face the contempt charges.

If the matter should unusually complicated, it is last spring, Bieluch ruled that a $47.7 million rate hike made by Northeast in 1974 was illegal.

Betty's notebook

By Betty Ryder

What a wonderful way to begin a Thanksgiving Day—watching the annual road race.

Gee, it was great. I couldn't believe the sizes and shapes—let alone the ages—of some of the participants.

You just have to give them credit, they really hung in there.

One young lady, Wendy Taylor, a classmate of my daughter Margaret, hollered as she went by, "Mrs. Ryder where is Margaret with my soda?"

I shouted back, "She's waiting at the next corner."

And, sure enough, Margaret was ready with a cold can of soda to pass to Wendy, who is a member of Bennett Junior High's track team.

Can't say it was "The pause that refreshes," cause even if it was the right brand—she didn't pause for a moment.

Things went well all day long, till late in the afternoon, when I loaded the dishwasher.

You guessed it, the water started to run into it—and then phizz it stopped.

Doesn't it make you mad. Especially on a day when you use more dishes than usual—like complete dishes, fine glasses, serving dishes, etc. I tell you, my dishwasher rambled over—not with water—with dishes.

But, luckily, that should all be taken care of today when the friendly repair man comes. Funny, I've washed dishes for years, until I got the dishwasher. Now, when I have to resort to using tender hands, it seems like a terrible chore.

Sure doesn't take long to become spoiled.

Drummer Boy

Went to see Buddy Rich of drumming fame during the week and boy he sure hasn't lost his touch with those drumsticks.

He played in concert about two hours and even at intermission he was afforded a standing ovation.

He makes it look so easy. When you watch him up close, which we did, you can hardly see the sticks they are beating so rapidly.

Sure took me back—way back—to the good old days.

Festival of trees

I'm looking forward to Thursday evening when the Women's Committee of the Wadsworth Athenaeum will host a preview showing of its Holiday Festival of Trees.

There will be cocktails, a French buffet supper, and wine, with holiday carolers, and a tree lighting ceremony.

Have attended the preview before, but I understand they have over 100 Christmas trees, many from different countries, all decorated and all for sale.

The festival will be open to the public on Friday and continue Sunday, Dec. 12, and I'm sure it's a sight to behold.

Bank cards

Received a reminder from the American Bankers Association which I thought I'd pass on now that we are nearing the Christmas shopping season. The association presented five safety reminders that can ease the crunch of Christmas shopping.

First, keep a list of your credit cards at home, complete with card numbers. In case your cards are lost or stolen, you will not be liable for fraudulent purchases made with them if you report their loss immediately.

Second, don't give your bank card to a salesperson until you have completed your purchase. Always make certain the card is returned.

Third, never sign a blank or incomplete sales slip and make sure the total coincides with the amount of the sale.

Fourth, if an error is made by a cashier, make certain the incorrect sales slip is destroyed and a new one made out.

Finally, always save your receipts. Which ever way you choose to pay, hang onto your bank cards, check book, and pocketbook, so it will be a Merry Christmas for you and your family.

Baloney is flattery so thick it cannot be true, and blarney is flattery so thin we like it." Fulton John Sheen (1885-1951).

Reynolds Circle of South United Methodist Church will have a Christmas potluck Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. at the church.

Dr. Lamb

Calcium won't cure arthritis

Dear Dr. Lamb—I have been advised by friends to take bone meal as a preventative and a cure for arthritis. It is from a health food store and contains mostly Vitamin D and calcium and bone marrow. One friend in her 70s broke her hip and was dancing four months later. She has taken bone meal for 15 years. Is there really any value in this medicine for arthritis and brittle bones? Is so much calcium harmful?

Dear Reader—Perhaps the problem is in your definition of arthritis. Certainly I recommend a high calcium intake for women who have osteoporosis, the problem of dissolving bone tissue that leads to collapses of vertebrae and increased tendency for fractures. This is a common problem, particularly in small Anglo Saxon women past the menopause. Calcium deficiency will increase the likelihood of having this problem five times over a person getting adequate amounts of calcium, specifically the amount found in one quart of milk a day.

The combination of calcium and Vitamin D is helpful in treating osteoporosis. Some people use this in conjunction with female hormones and sometimes in conjunction with fluoride. The fluoride strengthens the bones in the skeleton just as it strengthens the formation of the teeth, particularly in their early development.

Having said that, let me emphatically state that taking calcium will not cure degenerative arthritis or osteoarthritis as it is commonly called. That is an entirely different process and as we view it now is essentially a wear and tear disease. That's why it affects the weight bearing joints such as the hips and knees.

Arthritis spurs develop around the vertebrae and joints. These are not formed because of excess calcium at all. The bone is first destroyed and the spur is formed by an imperfect attempt of the bone to regenerate itself. The spurs and deformed bone structures may cause pressure on nerves passing out of the spine from the spinal cord. This can cause pain and other symptoms. True overgrowth of bone tissue is rare. Almost always there must first be bone degeneration.

For more information about degenerative arthritis send 50 cents for The Health Letter, number 4-10, Osteoarthritis: Degenerative or Wear and Tear Arthritis. Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Address your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Finally, I'd like to say that there is a general misconception about all the harm that can be done by taking a reasonably large amount of calcium in your diet. The simple truth is that the digestive tract is a remarkable filter. Individuals who have too much calcium in the food they ingest simply won't be able to absorb enough to cause any damage to the body.

The normal person is supposed to stay in calcium balance. That literally means that he eliminates the same amount of calcium from the body as he takes in. This statement applies only to adults of course. In the growing stages or in the mending stage of a broken bone calcium from the body is used for either growth or repair.

Grasso says Northeast can no longer subsidize rest of the nation

FARMINGTON (UPI)—Gov. Ella T. Grasso says the Northeastern states can no longer afford to subsidize economic growth for the rest of the nation. Mrs. Grasso said Monday the Coalition of Northeastern Governors, with help from their individual states, must convince President-elect Jimmy Carter New England is in dire need of federal assistance. "We must encourage the federal government to redefine its financial assistance formulas and to assume a much greater portion of the welfare burden," she said. "We must persuade Washington to reverse tax and spending policies that have worked against the interests of the Northeast — policies that have led to a shift of the wealth of our region to other areas of the nation," Mrs. Grasso said. She cited several statistics that illustrate how much of the nation's financial burden New England bears. Mrs. Grasso said the Northeast, which has 22 per cent of the nation's

Stricken Monday

Cambridge found bigotry in state

RIDGEFIELD (UPI) — Actor-comedian Godfrey Cambridge got less than he bargained for when he bought a $125,000 home in this exclusive community, and found racial bigotry was alive and well in western Connecticut. Cambridge, who died Monday in Hollywood, went through a type of living hell with the realtors who sold him the 15-room house. His foot went through the floor once, a floor they claimed was hardwood but which he later found to be plywood — and rotting at that. Cambridge took to carrying a gun to ward off vandals. And at one point, the rotund black comedian called Connecticut a "paper Mississippi, and a fascist state."

He had moved his family here in late 1973, seeking what he thought would be the "peace and quiet" of rural Connecticut — far from the hurried life of New York city. Godfrey Cambridge's "dream house" turned out to be a lemon. He was a fighter, though, and took his complaints to the Connecticut

Real Estate Commission. In the longest hearing in commission history, Cambridge told of vandalism and threats to his wife Audrey and two teen-aged daughters. "Never mind the neighbors, Cambridge argued, it's the house that hurts most. Cambridge estimated he spent nearly as much repairing the home as its purchase price. The repair expenses went for "luxuries such as heat and hot water," not to mention

Special prosecutor asked for Gibbons murder case

HARTFORD (UPI) — Peter Reilly's lawyer, T.F. Gilroy Daly, says he soon will file a formal request that the state Supreme Court appoint a special prosecutor to investigate the 1973 murder of Barbara Gibbons. Daly told United Press International Monday he intends to file it with Chief State Justice Charles S. House "as soon as he gets a chance." House was ill Monday and could not be reached to see if he will honor such a request. Last Wednesday, Litchfield Judge Simon Cohen dismissed murder charges against Reilly, Mrs. Gibbons' son. Reilly, 21, had been accused of stabbing her to death in 1973. Following that decision, Gov. Ella Grasso ordered a full-scale investigation into why evidence that ultimately cleared Reilly was not presented at his earlier trial.

Town files applications for public works job funds

The town has filed four applications for Public Works Employment Act monies and is expected to complete two more applications by Friday, the cutoff date for applying for present funds. Manchester projects are: Police detention facility, $400,000; Thompson Rd. work, $247,000; Nike water tank, $222,000; and sidewalk improvements, $2 million.

Giles said that the police detention facility application, which was completed by the police department, has already been approved. He said that he is concerned about the other three, which were sent in last week. If any need to be corrected, as the police application did, there will probably not be enough time to correct the application and send it to Philadelphia by Friday, he said.

Giles said that he hopes to complete two more applications, a new bridge on Adams St. and storm drainage work for White Brook, — this week.

The White Brook and Thompson Rd. work were both part of the $2 million referendum passed in 1974. Both projects, however, will need more funding than the approved bond issue will provide. Although the deadline for present funds is Friday, projects may be sent in after that date. If more funding becomes available, projects sent in after the first deadline will be considered for these monies. Giles had originally hoped to send in applications for as many as nine projects. Those that were included in the first list, but will not be sent in by the deadline are: reconstruction of the West Side Rec. Courthouse addition to the police station, public works center, and reconstruction of Adams St.

Police report

Jimmy C. Matthews, 43, of 64 S. Alton St., was served a warrant charging him with sexual assault in the second degree. The charge stemmed from an incident in which Matthews allegedly made sexual advances to a 15-year-old girl at her home on W. Middle Tpk. Matthews, a friend of the family, was reportedly at the home to transport the girl on an errand at her mother's request. Court date for Matthews is Dec. 13.

William J. Orbach, 19, of 49 Birch St., was charged with larceny in the second degree in connection with the theft of a vehicle from the parking lot of Lutz Junior Museum. He was to appear in court today. Jacqueline Brown, 31, of 34 Woodland St., East Hartford, was charged with operating a vehicle while under the influence of alcohol. The charge was placed after a near-accident with an ambulance, police reported. Court date is Dec. 14.

Several thefts from motor vehicles were reported to police. A CD radio was stolen from a car parked at the rear of a Center St. restaurant. Three tires were taken from a car in a yard at Woodlawn Dr. Six wheels and tires were taken from two new cars at Lynch Motors on Center St. Hubcaps were taken from a car in a High St. driveway. Reports of vandalism included broken windows at the Hartford National Bank building at 621 E. Middle Tpk., broken windows at a Lydall and Foulds building on Parker St., and shots fired through 12 windows Buckley School.

Black Rhodesian leaders accused of bickering

GENEVA, Switzerland (UPI) — Rhodesian Foreign Minister Pieter van der Byl said today that black nationalists at the Rhodesia conference are fighting among themselves "like cats and dogs" without any regard for the people of the country. In a bitter attack, Van der Byl told a news conference the only hope for a successful outcome of the conference depends on more discipline on the part of the nationalist leaders.

"For the past five weeks we have had the deplorable spectacle of the four black delegations arguing like cats and dogs over what is to be the crucial of Rhodesia," he said. The only resemblance to the "more elegant" Congress of Vienna of 1814, which organized Europe after the Napoleonic wars, Van der Byl said, is the sight of delegation leaders "quarreling for personal power without the slightest regard to the people at home."

Van der Byl reiterated the white government's position before the conference opened Oct. 29 that the part of the nationalist leaders' Anglo-American proposals for a transition to black majority rule in Rhodesia — proposals totally rejected by the nationalists.

Dog track accused of FOI violation

NORWICH (UPI) — The Norwich Bulletin, refused track results of Plainfield Greyhound Park, has filed complaints with the state gaming commission and the Freedom of Information Council. The newspaper editorialized Nov. 22 against the state's gaming industries' wanting to decrease the share on the state's handle while increasing the share allotted gaming promoters.

The gaming commission's racing subcommittee planned to discuss the complaint today, while the FOI said it would wait to see what the outcome is before acting.

"Managing Editor John Peterson said Monday, "It's frightening to think that you have to write things to please them (the track) in order to get what everybody else has got (track results)."

Track manager Laurence W. Theriault said the results were withheld because "the management of the Plainfield Greyhound Park felt we shouldn't use our facilities to help a newspaper which is, for the most part, critical."

"We don't seem to get the cooperation we deserve. They (the Bulletin) maximize the bad things and minimize the good," Theriault said.

Opinion

No running away from the cities

There is no question but that the financial plight of so many of our cities is largely the result of the shift of tax-paying middle-class residents and job-generating businesses to the suburbs.

One of the blame for this rests with the federal government, charges one observer, Boston University political science professor Frances Fox Piven.

Pondering Britain's financial plight

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON — Pondering Great Britain's financial plight, one can almost hear John the Baptist's voice from the grave, pronouncing again his despairing cry in Shakespeare's blank verse.

"That England that was wont to conquer others, Hath made a shameful conquest of itself."

One grieves for "this scepter's" isle. "This metime 'happy breed of men, this blessed plot, this realm' that held back the forces of Nazism until the United States had grazed its lions.

Behind the helping hand of the social planner always lurks the fist of the tyrant.

Having said this, however, there is also no question but that there is really no running away from the cities. The problems of urban America are the problems of all of us.

If the past few decades were an era in which millions of Americans were enabled to achieve the good life, one of our top national priorities in the coming decades must be the rescue of those millions who were left behind.

BY DONALD LAMBRO WASHINGTON (UPI) — Most of the long-stalemate and veto battles that have plagued the Democratic Congress throughout eight Republican White House years are expected to be quickly swept away during Jimmy Carter's administration.

But new conflicts are sure to emerge. The euphoric spirit of compromise being trumpeted by Democratic congressional leaders, an uneasy premonition of sharp division on several major issues is beginning to crystallize on Capitol Hill.

Military spending, government reorganization, national health insurance, tax and welfare reform, and fiscal policies are the chief legislative issues on which some members publicly and privately voice fears that Carter and liberal Democrats may become seriously divided.

Will be cautious One of his earliest supporters, Sen. Joseph Biden, D-Del., predicts Carter "will be much more cautious and restrained on defense cuts than some of my liberal colleagues would like."

Biden, among others, also mentions government reorganization as perhaps one of the "most emotional issues" on which bitter division could occur.

He suggests Carter move quickly on his proposals. If he's going to do anything on reorganization, he had better act quickly, Biden says.

But Carter may have trouble with a tax cut in the House where Ways and Means Chairman Al Ullman, D-Ore., believes Carter may have "the best chance since Franklin Roosevelt to get his programs through Congress."

U. S. Rep. Morris Udall, D-Ariz., right, suggests Carter draw up a list of Ford-vetted bills and "ram them through quickly."

But Carter says he would sign legislation requiring horizontal divestiture of oil company interests in coal and uranium and says he could support divorcing big oil's wholesale and retail operations should the competitive climate require it.

The issue is expected to be one of the major legislative battles of the 95th Congress, and Carter could be caught between liberals who want full divestiture and conservatives who oppose any oil company breakup.

Carter also pledged in his campaign to work for enactment of a comprehensive health insurance program. But he has shied away from the kind of full-scale reform sought by organized labor and liberals such as Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., author of a national cradle-to-grave health insurance program run by the Social Security Administration.

Carter has said that he would "like to reserve the right to include the private sector, say, Blue Cross and Blue Shield, as a co-partner with the federal government in the administration of a national health insurance program."

He is on record favoring universal and mandatory coverage aspects of the pending health insurance proposals, but believes it "can be achieved in a fiscally responsible manner utilizing the strengths of both the public and private sectors."

Jobs bill If the economy is still in the doldrums in January, Democrats also will press once again for passage of the Humphrey-Hawkins jobs bill that has been reintroduced to fit Carter's specifications.

Ford was unalterably opposed to oil company divestiture, so the Senate never acted on legislation reported out by its Judiciary Committee.

Some difficult areas However, Udall also believes "tax reform, government reorganization and health insurance will be areas of difficulty," as will defense spending.

"Carter's proposed $7 billion increase in defense spending is sure to fire strong controversy," Udall said.

The BI bomber (whether to go ahead with production) will be a decision he'll have to make early. It will be a no-win situation with Carter. A lot of Democrats will feel misled no matter how he decides.

Should Carter decide a quick tax cut is needed next year to further stimulate the economy, Long thinks they even if they priced England out of the world's markets. And those people have been betrayed by their reigning House of Windsor, whose members have pursued their ancient policy of privilege and frivolous indulgence.

The money involved is small, but its significance reflects an anachronism. While the masses struggle to survive, the British government spends more than $2-million a year to support Queen Elizabeth, the royal family, and assorted noble relatives and professional hangers-on.

There were nods of approval by royal's rooting section when Elizabeth announced last year that henceforth she would make an annual contribution from her private fortune to help support some of these deadbeats.

Well, the Queen kicked in $300,000 last year and eventually will come up with some $240,000 in 1978. In a macabre kind of way, the gesture is laughable. The Queen has enormous independent wealth. Her assets have never been disclosed, but she owns assorted estates all over England and has big holdings in a number of money-making industries. She is the Queen, of course, is a kind of national security blanket, a symbol of Great Britain's continuity. She is a reminder of the glory days of Richard the Lionhearted and the first Elizabeth, when a monarch ruled instead of merely reigning.

But it one castigates the world's financial lords for ingratitude toward a kingdom that preserved their hides until America could mobilize, a measure of scorn should be heaped on an institution that has failed miserably to set an example for its subjects. If Britain goes bankrupt, there'll be no continuity for Elizabeth to symbolize.

My husband has hung up on self-hypnosis and is now determined to play a tape to our 12-year-old son (only child) every night for an hour, shortly after he has fallen asleep.

My husband has cut that tape, using his voice, transcribing informational and soothing words of encouragement. He believes that it will help our son develop his intellectual capacities.

I think that while there is much to be said about sleep suggestion, and it may be the answer for some people, a child's God-given sleep should be undisturbed.

Our son is a very good student, and he's active in sports. He somewhat fears his father, and I don't believe my husband should assault the boy's mind night and day.

What are your thoughts? NAMELESS, PLEASE

DEAR NAMELESS: If the boy is emotionally secure, a good student and active in sports, I'm not having his subconscious mind alone. It's not the taped suggestions per se that can harm the boy, but rather your husband's determination to impose his influence on his son night and day.

DEAR ABBY: ON THE SPOT wrote in to say she works with women who ask her where she bought her dress, shoes, etc., and then how much they cost. I have the perfect answer. When people I know ask me a similar question, I tell them it was either the Salvation Army or Goodwill, but I'm not sure which.

They usually chuckle and ask me again, but the answer is always the same. Finally they realize that I am not going to tell them, and they quit asking me.

Meanwhile I chuckle to myself because when I was young, most of my clothes did come from the Goodwill Resale Shop, and people were always complimenting me on my wardrobe.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I know a 52-year-old divorcee who hangs around with senior citizens, pretending to be their age. She plays up to all the men (especially the rich ones) in hopes of snagging herself a husband. Isn't this unfair competition to the women who are 65 and older who are also in the market for husbands?

She doesn't tell her age, but goes to all these senior citizens affairs and just eats up the compliments when people tell her how "young" she looks.

I read a lot of women here in St. Petersburg, Fla., who appreciate our comments.

For Wednesday, Dec. 1, 1978 SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Attend to your own responsibilities today before assuming those of others. Spreading yourself too thin will help no one.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Partial successes are likely today because you have too many irons in the fire. Settle on just one or two things, but do them well.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You have a tendency today to make unreasonable demands of loved ones. Your feelings could be hurt when they're unable to comply with your wishes.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Treat all your friends impartially today. Paying favorites must be avoided as all costs, or you'll turn off someone you're fond of.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be careful not to tread on too many toes today in order to satisfy your ambitions. Your victory would be a hollow one.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Associates may agree with your ideas today, but express other opinions behind your back. Be careful who you put your trust in.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Business conditions are a bit trickier than usual for you today. Move warily. You could involve yourself in something costly.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't let your emotions today get in the way of expediency. Give-and-take is a two-way street.

Grand slam bid not easy

We start with a grand-slam bid by Wally and Jo. They get there on the bidding shown in the box.

Jo's jump to six hearts was based on the theory that Wally's three-heart rebid showed some extra values and in any event if there was a Wally's rebid to seven would get beyond six.

Wally's rebid to seven was one of those educated and successful decisions that Wally has been making in over 50 years of top play.

The Culbertson team gained 750 points here because at the other table Sims and Langdon stopped at six hearts.

If you think modern bidders would have a cinch to reach seven, just try it out on a few of your friends. We doubt if more than half of expert pairs would get beyond six, although the grand slam is law.

THE City of Astbury trophy, now the Spingold Cup, was won by a team comprising Ely and Josephine Culbertson, Ted Lightner and Waldemar von Zedwitz. Their margin of victory over Hal Sims, Willard Karm, Lee Langdon and Oswald Jacoby was 410 points. Hands from the match should give a great insight into the best 1800 bidding.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I know a 52-year-old divorcee who hangs around with senior citizens, pretending to be their age. She plays up to all the men (especially the rich ones) in hopes of snagging herself a husband. Isn't this unfair competition to the women who are 65 and older who are also in the market for husbands?

She doesn't tell her age, but goes to all these senior citizens affairs and just eats up the compliments when people tell her how "young" she looks.

I read a lot of women here in St. Petersburg, Fla., who appreciate our comments.

SIXTY-SIX AND LOOKS IT

DEAR ABBY: My husband is hung up on self-hypnosis and is now determined to play a tape to our 12-year-old son (only child) every night for an hour, shortly after he has fallen asleep.

My husband has cut that tape, using his voice, transcribing informational and soothing words of encouragement. He believes that it will help our son develop his intellectual capacities.

I think that while there is much to be said about sleep suggestion, and it may be the answer for some people, a child's God-given sleep should be undisturbed.

Our son is a very good student, and he's active in sports. He somewhat fears his father, and I don't believe my husband should assault the boy's mind night and day.

What are your thoughts? NAMELESS, PLEASE

DEAR NAMELESS: If the boy is emotionally secure, a good student and active in sports, I'm not having his subconscious mind alone. It's not the taped suggestions per se that can harm the boy, but rather your husband's determination to impose his influence on his son night and day.

DEAR ABBY: ON THE SPOT wrote in to say she works with women who ask her where she bought her dress, shoes, etc., and then how much they cost. I have the perfect answer. When people I know ask me a similar question, I tell them it was either the Salvation Army or Goodwill, but I'm not sure which.

They usually chuckle and ask me again, but the answer is always the same. Finally they realize that I am not going to tell them, and they quit asking me.

Meanwhile I chuckle to myself because when I was young, most of my clothes did come from the Goodwill Resale Shop, and people were always complimenting me on my wardrobe.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Partial successes are likely today because you have too many irons in the fire. Settle on just one or two things, but do them well.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You have a tendency today to make unreasonable demands of loved ones. Your feelings could be hurt when they're unable to comply with your wishes.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Treat all your friends impartially today. Paying favorites must be avoided as all costs, or you'll turn off someone you're fond of.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be careful not to tread on too many toes today in order to satisfy your ambitions. Your victory would be a hollow one.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Associates may agree with your ideas today, but express other opinions behind your back. Be careful who you put your trust in.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Business conditions are a bit trickier than usual for you today. Move warily. You could involve yourself in something costly.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't let your emotions today get in the way of expediency. Give-and-take is a two-way street.

Everett Keith dies at age 73, was active in town affairs

Everett T. Keith, 73, of St. Saimond Island, Ga., owner-operator of the former G.E. Keith Furniture Co. at 1115 Main St., died Monday night in Brunswick, Ga. He was the husband of Mrs. Ruth Jones Keith.

Everett T. Keith

Mr. Keith served as chairman of the Manchester Redevelopment Agency from its inception in 1959 until he retired from the post in 1969. He guided the North End Renewal project from its beginning to its completion. He also was in the forefront of plans for Downtown Renewal, which was defeated by a narrow margin in an October 1966 referendum.

He was born Aug. 23, 1905 in Manchester, son of the late George E. and Blanche Taylor Keith. The furniture store was founded in 1899 by his father in a building on Edridge St. He started working at the store under his father in 1927 after he left Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio, where he studied business administration.

He started work in the store as a "general everything," he once said, and inaugurated the firm's inventory system, which was patterned after one he learned while working part time during college for a Columbus, Ohio, furniture chain. In 1934, he left Keith's and went to Sacramento, Calif., where he worked for four years as a salesman for a furniture chain.

In 1938, he returned to Manchester and took over the firm as manager when his father retired that year. In 1960, he bought out the interests of the family in the furniture firm and became sole owner. In December 1970, he sold the firm to the Middletown-based Blau Furniture Stores, and retired to St. Saimond Island off the coast of Georgia.

He was a member of the board of directors of the Manchester Trust Co. from 1941 until the time of its merger with the Connecticut Bank and Trust Co. in 1968. He continued as a member of the associate board of CBT and in 1968 was named chairman of the associate board.

Mr. Keith was a former member of the board of directors of the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce and a past chairman of its retail division. He also was a past president of the Kiwanis Club of Manchester. He was a member of South United Methodist Church while living in Manchester. He also belonged to Manchester Lodge of Masons.

Other survivors are a son, Timothy Keith of Atlanta, Ga.; a daughter, Mrs. Sylvia Lloyd of Gardner, Mass.; two brothers, Lincoln E. Keith and G. Stillman Keith, both of Manchester; two sisters, Mrs. Willard (Marjorie) Horton and Mrs. Ralph (Helen) Leander, both of Manchester; and four grandchildren.

The Watkins Funeral Home, 142 E. Center St., is in charge of arrangements, which are incomplete.

He was a member of the board of directors of the Manchester Trust Co. from 1941 until the time of its merger with the Connecticut Bank and Trust Co. in 1968. He continued as a member of the associate board of CBT and in 1968 was named chairman of the associate board.

Winter hits most of nation

By United Press International A storm that spread ice throughout the South and forced hundreds of schools to close also dumped snow and freezing rain on the Northeast. Bitter cold air gripped the midlands Monday and threatened the sugarcane harvest in Louisiana.

Squalls off the Great Lakes dropped from six inches to a foot of snow on sections of northwest New York and northern Ohio Monday. Snowfalls of six inches also were recorded in Vermont and up to five inches fell in New Hampshire and northern Maine.

Limestone, Maine, measured six inches of snow Monday night, while Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., had 11 inches and Houghton, Mich., took the prize with a 19-inch snow cover.

Earlier, the storm had sent freezing rain mixed with sleet and snow through the South, making most roads icy and forcing the closing of hundreds of schools Monday in Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Kentucky, Alabama and Georgia.

Pitt's Dorsett Heisman winner

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tony Dorsett of Pittsburgh, the 1976 rushing champion and the only player ever to gain more than 6,000 yards in his career, today was named winner of the Heisman Trophy as the outstanding college football player in the nation.

Back home in East Hartford, Leone held several jobs, including one in a machine shop. He went to a photography school for a year. Finally, in order to get a good job, he applied to the town's police department.

He became a patrolman July 23, 1951. The department made him a sergeant in 1963, a lieutenant in 1973, and commander May 2, 1976.

Leone said he did nothing above and beyond routine police work during his 25 years on the force. However, he admits his investigation of the town's Housing Authority in 1975 was a dramatic draw the line.

Police Commander Leone Loves East Hartford job

Joseph A. Leone joined the East Hartford Police Department in 1951 because "I needed the job."

Leone said the public has a difficult time understanding the role of police. "Fear of authority is normal," he said. "I feel it also."

He recalled a recent purse snatching incident at a Silver Lane supermarket in which a woman's finger was broken by a young thief.

Leone credited persistence with his success on the case. When a shift begins, they will have conferences. The officers and "the brass" will both work out the plan for that day and a game plan to meet them.

He compares Drumm's style to that of Manchester's former chief, James Reardon, and is present chief, Robert Lamm. They all have the same way of delegating authority, he said.

East Hartford police report

Walter L. Little, 28, of Hartford was arrested Monday on a warrant charging him with third-degree burglary (two counts), third-degree larceny (two counts), and threatening.

His arrest is connected with the arrest Saturday of Sonia Rose, 32, of Hartford, who is facing the same charges except for threatening.

Michael Malinguaggio of East Hartford, state commander of the Department of Connecticut, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Monday repeated his strong comments on President-elect Jimmy Carter's proposal for blanket amnesty for draft evaders.

Friday night, Malinguaggio said there was no reason to feel such a proposal would be any wider now.

Bolton and Columbia talk about schools

By DONNA HOLLAND
Herald Correspondent

If any Bolton residents had attended Monday night's meeting of the Bolton and Columbia Boards of Education, they might have expected discussion about declining enrollments at Bolton High School. The issue was discussed, briefly, but not until the "emergency meeting" had been under way for an hour and forty minutes. The meeting between the two school boards, scheduled at Bolton's request, was held at Bolton High School. Bolton School Supt. Raymond Allen called it an "emergency meeting" because officials didn't meet the deadline to notify the town clerk of meeting. For the first hour and forty minutes, Bolton and Columbia educators talked about several areas of possible cooperation. Among the topics were regular and special education transportation, programs and staffing, policies, purchasing, budgets and curriculum development. Columbia asked for and will receive copies of Bolton's transportation contract, budget and policy book. In return, it will send copies of its budget and policies to Bolton. Albert Hadigian, Columbia school board member, said he learned that Bolton had some provisions in its bus contract that Columbia doesn't have. Both towns are under contract with Clark Transportation, with three years left on a five-year contract. When the board members were discussing their respective budgets, Columbia officials were asked if their town had a Town Meeting form of government. John Sullivan of Columbia said, "Sure, that's the biggest sport in a small town. That's entertainment." Bolton learned that Columbia has more special education teachers than it does. William Vogel, chairman of the Bolton school board, began the high school discussion by saying Bolton is feeling the pinch of a shrinking enrollment. "It's no secret we are looking for tuition students," he said. Vogel said the high school was built to accommodate 500 students. The present enrollment is 240 students. Columbia officials said they were in the second year of a 10-year contract with Windham. The contract will not be open for negotiations for another three years. Columbia pays $1,474 per student to Windham. The price includes $150 for building usage. Bolton is now charging $800 for tuition students. Vogel said although Columbia is not in a position to withdraw, he would like it to learn more about Bolton's high school so it has that option when the time comes. Special programs at the high school, such as the superior student program and adult education, were discussed, with Columbia encouraged to participate. It appears Columbia cannot send its high school students to Bolton for some time, if ever, but the meeting Monday opened communications between the two boards. A subcommittee consisting of members from both boards will be appointed to study details and recommend areas in which the two towns can best help each other. Monday night's meeting ended with Ellen Hills of Columbia saying "I always wondered why local boards did not have this kind of communication. For me, it's 11 years in coming. I am delighted." Bolton School Supt. Allen said, "I'm glad you were patient. Attending from Bolton were Allen, Vogel, and school board members Louis Cloutier, Joseph Haloburdo, Robert Thornton, Barbara Smith and James Marshall. Attending from Columbia were Mrs. Hills, Hadigian, John Sullivan, Eugene Sullivan, School Supt. Aram Damarian and Principal Leo Nerchman.

The Rockville United Methodist Church Women will present a program. Methodist members needing transportation should meet at the church at 7:30 p.m. Members of Dobson-Eitel-Labov-Hansen Unit 14, American Legion Auxiliary, will be assisting at the Christmas gift shops this week and next week at the three veterans' hospitals. Members of the Rockville Unit collected 73 gifts in addition to toy trucks and dolls which will be taken to the Newton, Rocky Hill and West Haven Veterans' Hospitals. All hospitalized veterans are allowed to select gifts for each member of their family, free of charge. The purchase is the gift wrapped by auxiliary members. Rockville Emblem Club 5 will meet Dec. 8 at 8 p.m. for its regular meeting and Christmas party. There will be a potluck supper at 6:30 p.m. Each member is asked to bring a $2 gift for exchange. Mrs. Leonard Friedrich is in charge of the event.

Bolton seeks funding for two school projects

The Bolton Board of Education has filed applications for $1,877,000 in federal grants under the Public Works Employment Act, to finance two school projects. If one or both projects are approved, 100 per cent federal funding will be received. Both applications were prepared by School Supt. Raymond Allen. The first proposal is a gymnasium and site improvement building project at Bolton Elementary-Center School. Its estimated cost is $970,000. The project is described in the application as a new gymnasium with supporting service area; an elevated, enclosed connecting walk, and a new play area. The major objective of the project is to provide a physical education facility. Allen said it has been "badly needed for years." On the application, Allen said, "Such a facility would help to upgrade our present programs. Both indoor and outdoor facilities would receive year-round usage. Both would be used extensively in off-school hours. "Evening recreational programs are practically nil in the community during the winter months. The gymnasium should stimulate such programs for students and adults," he said. In support of the outdoor area, Allen said, "Construction of the gymnasium would severely limit the present area." "There is not one top-flight playing field in the entire community at the present time. It is needed badly," he said. The project would provide jobs for 110 persons and give an estimated 190 person-months of employment. A breakdown of the costs is: Building $750,000; site work, $27,800; equipment, $21,000; architect and engineer, $66,200; administrative expenses, $12,200; project representative, $15,800; contingency, $46,200. The second project is the addition of a cafeteria-auditorium-music room, site development and additional parking area at Bolton High School. Its estimated cost is $907,000. All elements of the project have been described as important parts of

Decision could retain schools

The South Windsor Board of Education Monday night voted to provide a special room in each of the elementary schools for art, music, reading and pupil services—a move which could prevent closing of Wapping Elementary School. School Supt. Robert Goldman explained the decline in actual enrollment at the elementary level in the past years, as well as the decline in projected enrollment through 1985. Closing of the school. School Board Chairman Marge Hutensky told the crowd, "This is not going to be the only meeting on the subject." The board expects 1,882 children enrolled through Grade 6 and 1,122 students at the high school. The highest number of students enrolled in the system was 3,363 in 1971 and by 1980 that figure dropped to 3,175. The PZC will meet tonight to hear the application of U & R Housing Corp. for a re-subdivision known as Birch Hill on the east side of Felt Rd. near Scott Dr. and Valley View Dr. in an AA-30 zone. The PZC will meet at 8 p.m. in the Town Hall.

The PZC will meet at 8 p.m. in the Town Hall.

Hebron zoning rules become law Wednesday

After five and a half years of preparation, new zoning and subdivision regulations go into effect in Hebron tomorrow. The new rules were adopted by the Planning and Zoning Commission earlier this year, but the effective date was delayed to Dec. 1 because the regulations had to be printed. Also adopted earlier this year were a zoning map and a comprehensive plan. The new regulations will be filed with the town clerk tomorrow. They will go on sale for $3 for zoning regulations, $1 for subdivision regulations and $1 for the zoning map. In other recent Hebron PZC business: PZC Secretary Charles Eaton submitted his resignation effective Jan. 4, 1977, due to increased job requirements. Eaton's term runs to November 1978, and it expected the vacancy will be filled by another Republican, on recommendation of the GOP Town Committee. The PZC declined to reclassify a year-round property the land owned by Anthony P. Crusco on Bass Lake Rd. The commission asked zoning agent Richard Keefe to investigate apparent after-season use of a summer cottage at Amston Lake, owned by Thomas Destroiers. The PZC decided that transfer of a parcel of land from William Eisenmann to David and Joan Bowers doesn't constitute a re-subdivision of land, because the property will be used only for agriculture.

Dorothy Miller

Dot Miller re-elected by women legislators

Marlborough and part of Vernon, her term begins in January. The National OWLS convention, held Nov. 13 to 19, featured seminars on energy, transportation and conservation. Mrs. Miller said members reported on significant legislation passed in their respective states during 1976 sessions. New Jersey Gov. Brendan Byrne welcomed the group to New Jersey. Tours by the group included trips to the governor's residence, the state Capitol, and New York. The organization consists of about 400 past and present women state legislators.

Fire Calls

Tolland County Monday, 4:18 p.m.—possible structure fire, Woodland Rd., Coventry.

For children only Mrs. Kenneth Knox is told she is "off limits" as she sneaks a look at items to be featured in the Children's Nook at the Kris Kringle Bazaar of the Talcottville Congregational Church. Holding her back is her son, Stephen, while her daughter, Kerry, selects gifts in privacy. Baby Dana is blase about the whole thing. The bazaar will be Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the church hall, Elm Hill Rd. Luncheon will be provided by the Golden Rule Club of the church. (Herald photo by Pinto)

RHS sets parents' program

Parents' Night will be observed at Rockville High School Thursday from 7:15 to 9:30 p.m. starting with the meeting of the housemasters. Parents of House A and B students will meet in the gym and parents of House C students, in the auditorium. Students should give parents a copy of their daily schedule which the parents will follow on an abbreviated scale. Guides will be available to help find rooms. Teachers will explain goals and objectives of their respective courses during the class periods. Administrators recommend that during study hall periods the parents visit the library and other interest centers throughout the school. Coffee will be served in the cafeteria during study hall periods. Class periods will run as follows: Period 1, 7:40-7:50; Period 2, 7:56-8:06; Period 3, 8:12-8:22; Period 4, 8:28-8:38; Period 5, 8:44-8:54; Period 6, 9:00-9:10; and Period 7, 9:16-9:26 p.m.

ECHS bus on agenda

The parents of Rockville and Vernon students attending East Catholic High School in Manchester will meet tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Senior Citizen Center, Park Pl., to discuss a bus proposal. While the Board of Education must provide transportation for students attending Cheney Technical School in Manchester it is not obliged to furnish transportation for those going to East Catholic. However, the board has allowed the East Catholic students to ride when space is available. This school year will be the last year for that service. The meeting tonight was arranged by Mayor Thomas Bennett, on request of several parents. It will be with the operators of the Post Road Stages Bus Co., which is owned by Harold Collins. The proposal is to establish a bus service on a charter basis to be paid for by the users of the service. The cost would be $87 a day for each of two buses. The parents, for the most part, have supported this proposal which will be discussed in more detail tonight.

Grange to meet

Vernon Grange 33 will meet Friday at 8 p.m. in Grange Hall, Vernon. Miss Nancy Strong will be in charge of the program entitled, "Making Christmas Decorations."

Block grant hearing set

Vernon

The Vernon Planning Commission and Planning Department will conduct a public hearing Dec. 7 at 7:30 p.m. in the Senior Citizen Center, Park Pl., for suggestions on use of a Community Development block grant. Under the Community Development Act of 1974, the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) makes funds available to towns to carry out a broad range of activities such as housing, environmental, and economic opportunities. In prior years HUD has given Vernon $175,000 in Community Development funds to operate housing rehabilitation programs, make sidewalk improvements, and to undertake a housing study. Several of the town's social service and civic organizations, as well as town boards and commissions, have been contacted and asked to offer suggestions for the use of the funds. Last year, one of the suggestions was for a Day Care Center to be set up in Rockville. The funds were to be used to renovate a vacant building in the Rockville Shopping Center. This proposal was turned down by HUD because the center would not be a neighborhood operation.

Runners contributed

Participants in the Five Mile Road Race last Thanksgiving morning contributed more money to the Muscular Dystrophy Fund than the estimated 12,000 spectators.

Will Hadden, who rounded out 25 years as general chairman for the sponsoring Nutmeg Forest, Tall Cedars of Lebanon and other organizations along the race route gave $1,812.18.

With 693 runners registering and each paying a $2 fee, at least $2,186 was realized, all earmarked for the M.D. drive.

Hadden said the street collection produced $1,187 in dollar bills, three $10 bills, one $2 bill, one silver dollar, two checks, one for $5 and another for $25, plus $18 in half dollars, $49.75 in quarters, $50.40 in dimes, $28.05 in nickels and $3.98 in pennies.

This year's total from the street collection was the greatest ever.

Ed Tomkiel, who "doubles" as town clerk, Jeff Koelsch and John Marino, new grand tall of Nutmeg Forest, combined their efforts by passing the cardboard money containers and came up with $488.40.

Tomkiel turned in the most money, $171.52. Marino had $159.81 in his containers and Koelsch had $155.07 in his boxes, thus the trio collected more than one quarter of the money collected on race day in the past 25 years.

Based on an attendance of 12,000, and the total amount collected on the street, the average from each viewer was just a shade over 15 cents.

That's pretty reasonable entertainment.

Oddities in race

Oddities in the Road Race: William Sheedy of Middletown was assigned No. 601 and placed in that exact spot, No. 60. The same held true for Marilyn Moriarty of Manchester, who wore No. 788 and finished in that position.

Another oddity: Jeff Stone of Manchester placed 23rd and Jeffrey Stone, no relation, of Hamden, was the 21st runner to complete the five miles.

Yale's Pagliaro named

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tony Dorsett, the dynamic running back who today is expected to become the first Pittsburgh player ever to win the Heisman Trophy, heads a seven-man Panther delegation on United Press International's 1976 All-East college football team.

Joining Dorsett from the No. 1-ranked Panthers are center John Pelusi, guard Tom Brozoz and kicker Carson Long from the offense, and tackle Randy Holloway, middle guard Al Romano and defensive back Bob Jury from the defensive unit.

Four players each from Penn State and Boston College also were named to the team.

Brad Benson and George Reihner of the Nittany Lions were selected as offensive tackle, Kurt Allerman at linebacker and Gary Felerskuck at defensive back. For Boston College, Glen Capriola joined Dorsett in the backfield, Steve Schindler was named at guard, Byron Hemingway at defensive end and Pete Cronan at linebacker.

Leon Hall of Army was selected at quarterback and Glennie Brundage, his favorite receiver, was chosen at tight end. Bob Farnham of Brown was named at wide receiver and John Alexander at tackle. Ken Culbertson of West Virginia and Tim Moresco of Syracuse at defensive back.

Dorsett, a 5-foot-11, 184-pounder from Alliquippa, Pa., became the first college player ever to surpass 6,000 yards in career rushing last Friday night when he scored two touchdowns in a nationally televised victory over Penn State.

Dorsett set 13 NCAA rushing records. He gained 1,940 yards this season for an average of 177 yards a game and scored 22 touchdowns while leading Pittsburgh to an undefeated season and a Sugar Bowl date against Georgia.

"I think Tony Dorsett has no peers as a runner," says Pitt Coach Johnny Majors. "He is the most outstanding runner in college football today."

Hall, a 6-foot-5 junior, ranked among the nation's passing leaders all 15 seasons and threw 15 touchdown passes. Brundage, the only sophomore on the team, caught six TD passes and also ranked among the nation's leaders all season.

Pagliaro, a 5-11, 185-pound junior, also has been in the top 10 college rushers all season and finished with 1,023 yards rushing in nine games and Capriola capped off his career with a 179-yard effort against Holy Cross last Saturday.

Benson, 6-4 and 290, and Schindler, 6-3 and 260, are almost certain first round draft picks by the pros and Allerman, 6-3 and 220, is regarded among the finest linebackers prospecting in the nation.

Jury set a Pittsburgh school record this season with nine interceptions, including two in the big victory over Penn State.

Pats to go all out

FOXBORO, Mass. (UPI) — Coach Chuck Fairbanks says he is not concentrating on the playoffs yet.

His New England Patriots, 9-3, need only one more win to assure themselves of the wild-card playoff spot from the American Conference. It seems unlikely they won't get it. Their last two opponents are 4-8 New Orleans and 0-12 Tampa Bay, but Fairbanks is not taking anything for granted.

"We haven't gotten into them yet," Fairbanks said Monday of the Patriots. "We've still got to win and

Great home season ends when 49ers stop Vikings

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — It was a great ending to the home season — beating the playoff-bound Minnesota Vikings — and in some ways it might have been the San Francisco 49ers' best game of the year.

With Wilbur Jackson and Del Williams running for 309 yards between them, rookie quarterback Scott Bull making only one mistake in his first pro start and the defense shutting down Fran Tarkenton in the final minutes, the 49ers beat the Vikings, 20-16, Monday night and they did it before a national television audience.

"I never was prouder of this team than I am right now," said rookie Coach Monte Clark. "They played as good a game as they have all year, but it makes me wonder... I can't help but think if we had been able to run this way all season things might have been a little different."

The victory gave the 49ers a 7-5 record but still left them 1 1/2 games behind the Los Angeles Rams in the NFC West with two games left to play. The Rams can clinch their fourth straight division title with no worse than a tie in their two games.

The Vikings suffered only their second loss compared to nine victories and a tie but they also might have lost a chance to open the NFC playoffs on their home field.

Williams, who had 153 rushing yards for a season total of 1,012, was beside himself, and it wasn't because he became the first San Francisco player since J.D. Smith in 1959 to reach the 1,000-yard plateau.

"Beating these guys was sheer ecstasy," said Williams. "It feels great to get 1,000 yards but I like to win first."

Jackson, who had 156 yards, scored on a two-yard smash in the first quarter and Bull went a yard to the second for the San Francisco touchdowns while Steve Mike-Mayer touched field goals of 45 and 38 yards.

Tarkenton threw 16 yards to Sammy White and eight to Ahmad Rashad, and Fred Cox booted a 37-yard field goal to account for the Minnesota points. Cox also had a PAT as he passed the 1,200-point level. Only Lou Groza and George Blanda had scored more than that in NFL history.

The San Francisco defense, despite a half dozen injuries, was most spectacular, led by Tommy Hart. They sacked Tarkenton three times and had him running for his life most of the game.

"We got licked good," said Tarkenton. "Despite his problems, Tarkenton almost pulled the game out in the final minute even after a 15-yard penalty for grounding the ball had shoved the Vikings back to their own 38. On the next three plays Tarkenton, who had 16 completions in 37 overall attempts, moved Minnesota to the San Francisco 28 and with timeous left, he threw out of bounds to stop the clock with three seconds for one more try.

On the next play, which would have been the last of the game, he threw a perfect strike to Bob Grim in the end zone but Mel Phillips got there at the last split-second to tip the ball away.

But the officials insisted no play, because they had called a motion penalty on Minnesota at the snap of the ball.

The police had the job of trying to clear about 1,000 fans, who had streamed out of their seats, off the field so the last play could be run off again. That took five minutes and with fans lining the sidelines and the back of the end zone Tarkenton threw too long and the game was over.

HOUSE LEAGUE
One goal was the difference as the San Francisco Yanks defeated the Boston Celtics, 4-3, Sunday at the Polite Ice Palace in the Lowell game.

Leo Botterson tallied twice and Tom Magnano and Rich Hyde once each for the Sportsmen.

Ken Conboy and Tim Cohen started on defense.

Squirt Division saw Economy Electric blank Vernon, 4-0, with goalie Eric Dager starting.

Jim Cronbie, Brad Penitton and Chris Nicholson scored the goals with Dave Boissonne, Clarence Zachary and Steve Coughlin picking up assists.

John Burke and Scott Conboy sparked on defense.

TRAVEL TEAMS
Hat tricks by Kevin Hutt and Doug Matthew led the Manchester Squirts to an 8-0 decision over Windsor.

Mark Keith and Danny Gauchione scored the other goals with Tim Cohen and Brian Coughlin best defensively.

Jackson said he was especially impressed at the personal way Steinbrenner conducted business.

"He negotiated the contract himself, just he and I. He dealt with me as a person. He was on the phone with me all the time telling how much the Yankees and New York wanted, and needed me. We didn't call in any attorneys until we got down to the nuts and bolts of the contract."

Goal by Don Maxim, with assists by Brad Parllman and Rich Beno, gave Manchester's PeeWees all the scoring needed in a 1-0 duke over Vernon.

Goalie Vinnie White, Dave Wheeler and Parllman stood out defensively.

Manchester's Bantams enjoyed the same fate. They scored 1-0 over the Middlesex Blues.

George LaBlanc assisted on the score with Glenn Kramer of Rice, Joe Roth of California, Terry Miller of Oklahoma State and quarterbacks Vince Ferragamo of Nebraska, Tommy Kramer of Rice, Joe Roth of California and Gifford Nielsen of Brigham Young.

Yanks' owner key to Jackson choice

NEW YORK (UPI) — Reggie Jackson spurned larger monetary offers from other clubs and signed with the New York Yankees because the team's principal owner, George Steinbrenner, "outlasted" his competitors and made the slugger outfielder feel at home "for the first time in his career."

The 30-year-old Jackson, in announcing Monday that he had signed a five-year contract, estimated at $3 million, with the Yankees, said it was the warmth and understanding of Steinbrenner that finally made him choose the Yankees over the San Diego Padres or the Montreal Expos.

"I was offered more money by other clubs," Jackson confessed, "but there are certain things that are more meaningful than money. It was easy for me to become a rich man if the position was in. But money isn't gonna get you everywhere you want to go. Some clubs offered me severer pay of more than the Yankees, even seven figures more. But George Steinbrenner outlasted everybody else."

Jackson said he was especially impressed at the personal way Steinbrenner conducted business.

Zachry, Metzger honored

By JOHN LaFONTANA
East Catholic

At the outset, let me say that last Thursday's game with Manchester was one of the toughest of our season. We played or scrimmaged some of the state's best including East Hartford, Xavier and St. Paul but nobody gave us any more of a battle than Manchester. It is certainly undeserving of a winless season.

Even though our defensive line was much sharper than it had been, we still had trouble containing the Manchester running game. Also, after getting burned on the first pass play for a touchdown, our secondary settled down to play a solid game including four interceptions, three by Brian Shea which earned him the clutch play when we needed them. Besides a pretty good job done by the offensive line, we had some outstanding running in key situations by Bob Frank, Mike Purling, Willie Ken Brasa's completion average wasn't great, those passes he completed totaled big yardage. Dave Kisser, our flanker, had a fine day catching two long passes.

Since this was the last game I would like to make mention of a few things including thanks to several people.

First of all, many thanks to The Manchester Herald for once again providing me with a forum in which to try and explain our side of the story. I would like to thank the players and assistant coaches for working their hardest during the whole season despite the temptations to give it all up during a losing season.

Our senior players especially showed that sense of duty and responsibility towards their teammates and the school by giving their best during the whole season and not succumbing to the disappointment of their final losing year. Their character, I believe, will insure them success later on in life when meeting difficult times. Both the seniors and their parents should be proud of their efforts.

Finally, a thanks for the fans who supported us all during the season. It means a lot to the players to have good crowds supporting them and we thank all the fans that came to our games, even those on cold and windy days and nights and those against overpowering opponents that usually don't provide much entertainment for the East spectators all your support was very welcome.

Editor's Note: Jack Holik, Manchester High coach, did not forward his views on the last three games.

Barnes' future at stake today

PROVIDENCE, R.I. — Marvin Barnes' future — basketball or jail — focused today on a court hearing to determine if his recent arrest on a Michigan weapons charge broke Rhode Island probation requirements.

Superior Court Judge Anthony Giansanti scheduled prosecution arguments on a defense motion to dismiss the case in the second day of the hearing.

After four state witnesses testified Monday, defense attorney Barnes 1974 probation agreement to "keep the peace and be of good behavior." It stems from a "concealed" weapon in his possession ordered to serve a one-year prison term which was suspended two years ago. The three-year probation expires next May.

If the probation is ruled broken, Barnes could be expected to call his own series of witnesses if the request was denied.

The 6-foot-9 Detroit Pistons forward was arrested Oct. 9 at Detroit Metro Airport, upon returning from a security check-point.

Barnes maintained the revolver belonged to a friend, Evida Beltrami, who was traveling with him to St. Louis.

Dorsett awaits voting

NEW YORK (UPI) — In voting that is expected to be far more one-sided than the recent presidential election, tailback Tony Dorsett of the University of Pittsburgh is the odds-on favorite to receive the Heisman Trophy today as the outstanding college football player in the nation.

Dorsett, a 5-foot-11, 190-pound senior from Alliquippa, Pa., is expected to win in a landslide over Southern California's Ricky Bell in a balloting conducted by the trophy's sponsors, the Downtown Athletic Club, of more than 1,000 sports writers and sportscasters from across the nation.

The winner will be announced at 11:30 a.m. EST today.

After finishing a "stocking" fourth in last year's balloting, Dorsett set his sights on winning the Heisman Trophy this year and had an exceptional season in which he led the nation in rushing and became the only player ever to surpass the 6,000-yard barrier in career rushing yardage.

During his four-year career, Dorsett established 13 NCAA rushing records. He gained 1,948 yards this season for an average of 177 yards per game and scored 21 touchdowns while leading Pittsburgh to an undefeated season.

Bell, runnerup in last year's balloting, was expected to challenge Dorsett for the Heisman Trophy, but the 6-2, 225-pound senior failed to gain 675 yards less than last season.

Bell did have the best single game rushing performance of the season (347 yards against Washington State), but Dorsett went over the 200-yard barrier four times.

"I think Tony Dorsett has no peers as a runner," says Pitt coach, Johnny Majors. "He is the most outstanding runner in college football today."

Others who figure to finish among the top 10 in the Heisman voting include running backs Rob Lytle of Michigan, Mike Voight of North Carolina, Terry Miller of Oklahoma State and quarterbacks Vince Ferragamo of Nebraska, Tommy Kramer of Rice, Joe Roth of California and Gifford Nielsen of Brigham Young.

Aussie tennis queen denounces own book

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI) — Margaret Court, queen of Australian tennis, Tuesday denounced her own book published this year in the United States.

Titled "Court on Court," the book has just been released for sale in Australia.

Court, playing in the International tennis tournament at White City, is refusing to cooperate with the Australian distributor and says she doesn't care if it's not a single copy is sold.

"I've said things about people in the book of which I'm terribly sorry," Court said. "If God had been in my life at the time of writing the book I wouldn't have done it."

The veteran star stunned the tennis world a year ago when she announced she had suddenly found God. Since

Pittsburgh sure of top spot Jan. 1

NEW YORK (UPI) — The University of Pittsburgh was assured of going into the New Year's Day bowl action with a No. 1 ranking with first-place support from 24 coaches Monday to retain their top spot in the weekly college football ratings.

With only 39 of the 42-man coaching board voting, Pitt collected 365 points by winning its final game prior to a Sugar Bowl meeting with Georgia, which kept its fourth-place ranking on 244 points.

Michigan rose a notch to second place with eight first-place votes and 333 points, two more than No. 3 Southern California, which registered 331 points and five first-place votes as it dropped from second to third. The two teams met in the Rose Bowl classic on New Year's Day.

Maryland remained fifth this week by grabbing the other two first-place votes cast and totalling 212 points. There was little change among others in the top 10 ratings as Nebraska was the only team to depart from this elite group. The Cornhuskers were rated eighth last week but lost to Oklahoma on Thanksgiving Day.

UCLA remained sixth by collecting 152 points, Houston stayed seventh on 147 points and Texas Tech moved up two notches to eighth while amassing 102 points. Oklahoma moved into the BOSTON (UPI) — John Havlicek, star veteran of the Boston Celtics, will miss at least one more game and probably two because of a swollen left knee.

Havlicek out

Havlicek had the knee drained during the weekend and missed Saturday's game with the New York Knicks because he had a limited workout — practicing foul shots — Monday with the team at Christian Academy in Lexington.

Havlicek has missed only 23 games in his career. He is the National Basketball Association's career leader in games played, with 1,126.

Dr. Thomas Silva, team physician, said Seattle and the Friday night game against Kansas City, however, "said Silva.

Getting set for the 1977 gymnastics season is the East Catholic High girls' team. The squad is coached by Joann Brown assisted by Loretta Clune.

The roster consists of seniors Kris Retenward, Mary Kautz, Kathy Puzo and Pam Fairbanks, junior Helen Putriment, sophomores Julie Tucker, Mary McLachlin, Gail Barbagallo, Cindy Betts, Karen Chambers and Mary Meacham and freshmen Megan Tierney, Julie Casey, Maryjo Hammick, Sue Stamp, Lynn Douville, Ellie Nassif, Karen McCaffrey and Claudette Leone.

The girls will compete in floor exercise, balance beam, vaulting and uneven bars.

The Eagles have a 12-meet schedule which begins Jan. 4 against Stafford and East Granby at Stafford.

Taste Barrier Broken.

'Enriched Flavor' breakthrough ends struggle to bring taste to low tar smoking.

For years, dependency on tar for taste has created a taste barrier for low tar smoking. lowest tar levels in smoking today.

Tests Verify Taste

Now that barrier has been broken. Broken for good by a remarkable new cigarette called MERIT.

MERIT is packed with 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco.

The result of a radical new discovery so successful at boosting flavor, MERIT actually delivers the taste of cigarettes having more tar.

Up to 60% more tar.

Yet MERIT has only 9 mg. of tar. One of the
