

Missionaries to continue work in Ecuador

Swain family to depart in February

By BETTY RYDER

This Christmas held special meaning for the Rev. R. Alfred Swain of Manchester and his family. It marked the first Christmas they had observed in the United States in five years.

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Swain are missionaries in the Church of the Nazarene in Manchester. They arrived home from Guayaquil, Ecuador last Feb. 25 and will return on Feb. 19 to serve a second four-year term.

During their time at home, they traveled more than 30,000 miles throughout this country doing public relations work for the church.

"We visited many congregations and told them of the progress of the church in Ecuador," the Rev. Mr. Swain said.

The Swains' three children, David, 15, Gordon, 13, and Christine (Tina), 7, attended the American School in Ecuador.

"Attending the American School made the transition to Manchester schools much easier on them this year," Mrs. Swain said.

"David is a student at Bennett High School, Gordon is at Bennett Junior High, and Tina attends Waddell," she said.

In Ecuador, the Rev. Mr. Swain is director of 14 congregations and is assisted by two other missionary families — one from Ohio and the other from the New York area.

The Swains have been missionaries since 1965. After a year of Spanish language study in Mexico, they served a term of four years in Lima, Peru, where Tina was born.

Their major responsibility there was to start new churches, the Rev. Mr. Swain said.

"In 1971, they were asked to begin the work of the Church of the Nazarene in Ecuador. After a brief term of service in San Jose, Costa Rica, the family moved to Guayaquil, where they have lived for four years prior to coming home last February.

"It was nice being back in our home church and with my family," the missionary said.

His father, Samuel R. Swain, lives on Spencer St., and he also has a brother, Samuel G. Swain, who resides in Manchester.

The Rev. Mr. Swain is a native of North Ireland and Mrs. Swain is from Ohio. They are both graduates of Eastern Nazarene College in Quincy, Mass., and the Rev. Mr. Swain completed his studies at Nazarene Theological Seminary in Kansas City, Mo.

Life in Guayaquil is challenging, but rewarding, the Swains say.

"We rent a 34 bedroom home in the city which has a population of 1,000,000. It is extremely hot there, usually 80-90 degrees all year round," Mrs. Swain said.

"The people are poor and the cost of living is high, but the Ecuadorians are warm and friendly: wonderful people," she said.

"I work a lot with music, do some teaching, and help with women's and children's groups," Mrs. Swain said.

Several congregations "My congregations comprise nearly 600 people so we and the other missionary families keep pretty busy."

"There are nine congregations in the city, two in the country, and three up in the mountains more than 150 miles away," the Rev. Mr. Swain said.

When the family has some free time, which isn't too often, they tour the country, which is not as large as all of New England and one-half of New York State put together.

"We do a lot of traveling. It's a beautiful country. One is only two hours away from the beaches and two hours away from the mountains."

"We haven't visited Galapagos Islands which are 600 miles off the coast of Ecuador. They say it's a real paradise," he said.

Shopping in Ecuador is expensive and Mrs. Swain says she does most of her shopping in an open market.

"We eat a lot of fruit such as avocados, mangoes, bananas and papayas. The shrimp there is very good and not as expensive as it is in Manchester," she said.

"Meat is available, but it is not of very good quality," she added.

"Turkey costs about $2.50 per pound. Many of the Ecuadorians purchase them long before a holiday and fatten them up in their back yard. They keep a close eye on them so nobody steals them."

The Swains have purchased a few small appliances in Manchester since they are so costly in Guayaquil.

"We stored our furniture when we left and sold our television, so we bought a new one here to take back," Mrs. Swain said.

Various customs Commenting on some of the practices and customs in Ecuador, the Rev. Mr. Swain said, "Weddings are civil ceremonies, the church service is just to bless the union."

"Christmas is referred to as 'Diciembre,'" Mrs. Swain said.

"The family put on their best clothes and late in the evening of the 24th the children are sent into another room and the presents, all unwrapped, are placed in the center of the room and they are called back in to receive their gifts."

"Most of the girls receive large dolls, while the boys are usually looking for a bicycle."

"Even in the poorest families, bikes are put together with odd bits and pieces, and, if at all possible, are presented to boys in the family," Mrs. Swain said.

"The Ecuadorians decorate the outside of their homes with many lights. Most everyone has one window with flashing lights, if they can afford it," the Rev. Mr. Swain said.

"The actual Christmas tree, inside the house, is often made of foil, sometimes colored, and otherwise left untrimmed," he added.

One special event during the Christmas season is a contest sponsored by one of the large daily newspapers in Guayaquil.

"It involves about 80-100 neighborhoods and all the residents construct nativity scenes or other scenes appropriate to the holiday. They are erected on street corners, even in the middle of some of the busy streets," the missionary said.

"They use black clay to make the figures and lots of greenery from the nearby mountains. Top prize is $100, which is a lot of money there. There are also several other prizes awarded to runners-up."

Soon after the holidays, the family will begin packing in preparation for their flight back to Ecuador.

"David will be entering a boarding school in Quito (the capital city in Ecuador) this year."

"The school year is from May to January, so we may get lucky to assist the children with their studies until classes begin," Mrs. Swain said.

Social life at the Swain's home in Guayaquil is quite active, she said.

"We are visited by many missionaries who are traveling through the area; some from the Church of the Nazarene and some from other religious organizations."

"I have household help and the woman I have can cook up a meal in no time," she said.

In the meanwhile, the Swains spent part of the holiday season with Mrs. Swain's family in Ohio.

"We were happy to have had this time back home, but are looking forward to returning to our many friends in Ecuador," the Swains said.

As the Rev. Mr. Swain explains his feelings, "Missionary work is our career."

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Swain look over scenes of Ecuador to which they will be returning in February.

EPA chief urges tougher rules for tankers entering U.S. ports

By United Press International
Thousands of gallons of oil sloshed about in the Delaware River today, mucking up ducks and geese, and the captain of a ship responsible for it was under arrest. Another skipper whose tanker polluted U.S. Atlantic coastal waters with a record oil spill was still trying to explain it Friday.

Pollution crews tried to clean up a third spill, in Connecticut's Thames River. And the Coast Guard, battling to prevent an oil disaster off Puerto Rico, failed today in an attempt to refloat yet another tanker that had run aground.

Amid the outbreak of tanker accidents from California to Puerto Rico, Environmental Protection Agency chief Russell Train called on the government to toughen standards on foreign tankers entering American ports.

Train said Wednesday, "The United States has been reluctant to set standards, but with the vast amount of oil coming into the country, the time has come to set more stringent regulations."

Marston said the maximum penalty is a $12,000 fine and 12 years in prison.

The tanker was carrying about 17 million gallons of light Arabian crude oil when it ran aground while attempting to dock. The result was a 22-mile slick that left some ruddy ducks and Canada geese covered in oil and threatened other wildlife, marshlands and the shorelines of three states.

The Olympic Games was one of five tankers of Liberian registry to run into trouble in or near U.S. waters the last two weeks. In the latest incident, the tanker Daphne—carrying a 14 million gallon cargo—ran aground Tuesday night on the south coast of Puerto Rico.

The Coast Guard said it failed in an effort today to refloat the 31,289-ton Daphne in Guaynilla Bay. However, officials added that none of the tanker's oil had spilled.

Carter cabinet members to disclose personal financial holdings Friday

PLAINS, GA. (UPI) — President-elect Jimmy Carter and each member of his Cabinet will disclose full details of their net worth and arrangements for divesting their financial holdings before inauguration day, according to a Carter aide.

Press Secretary Jody Powell said Wednesday the Code of Ethics, setting forth guidelines for financial disclosure, will be made public Friday.

Carter revealed that each member of his newly formed Cabinet agreed to the terms of the code and will disclose his financial status in advance of taking office.

The president-elect, meantime, was making final decisions on his White House staff and members of the sub-cabinet, including undersecretaries and assistant secretaries. Carter has impressed on Cabinet officials his desire to have more blacks and women in the sub-cabinet level.

Red China's military puts down violence

HONG KONG (UPI) — The Chinese leadership, with the aid of military units, has put down serious disturbances in the industrial city of Paoting, a former provincial capital about 100 miles south of Peking, dispatches from the Chinese capital reported today.

A Peking dispatch of the West German news agency DPA said organized bands raided ammunition depots and established a "rebel rule" in Paoting. The report said they looted, raped and blew up factories in that industrial city.

The rebels are said to be supporters of the ousted "gang of four," the radical group led by Chiang Ching, the widow of Mao Tse-tung.

BOSTON — A Massachusetts labor leader has asked a regional federal environmental official to "come out from behind his bureaucratic shield" and justify his decision to halt construction of the Seabrook nuclear power plant.

PROVIDENCE, R.I. — Despite the recent oil spill from the tanker Argo Merchant, Sen. John H. Chafee, R-R.I., believes the U.S. should continue with offshore oil exploration and eventual drilling "with adequate safeguards."

National

WASHINGTON — In the first public Democratic rift since the Nov. 2 election, Sen. George McGovern, the 1972 Democratic candidate for President and a leader of the party's liberal wing, says Jimmy Carter's new cabinet could have been put together, for the most part, by Richard Nixon.

He added the Cabinet represents no real break with the past and signals "business as usual."

Compiled from United Press International

State

HARTFORD — Gov. Ella T. Grasso will recommend a lower level of welfare benefits for Connecticut recipients than her welfare commissioner wants. She said the state cannot afford to raise welfare benefits the $5 million recommended by Social Services Commissioner Edward W. Maher.

DANBURY — Alfred Raubitschek, 25, waived extradition Tuesday and was turned over to South San Francisco, Calif., detectives to face charges there in connection with the theft of $250,000 worth of gold and silver last summer.

MIAMI BEACH — A strike of hotel workers spread to Miami's two largest hotels, the Sheraton Four Ambassadors and the Dupont Plaza, early today following a deadlock in negotiations with owners. It brought to eight the number of hotels in which Local 355, Hotel and Restaurant Workers and Bartenders Union, are on strike.

PROVIDENCE, R.I. — President Ford pondered today decisions on an amnesty for Vietnam draft evaders and deserters, lifting federal controls on gasoline prices and raising the pay of congressmen, federal judges and government executives.

International

MEXICO CITY — Most American, Latin and Canadian inmates of Mexican prisons tearfully abandoned their 25-day hunger strike that sought to force the government into passing a parole bill. It appears unlikely the Mexican Congress will enact parole laws for drug offenders this session, which ends Friday.

MADRID, Spain — The left-wing urban guerrillas who kidnaped royal adviser Anton Maria Oriol 19 days ago have set Sunday as the deadline for his execution unless the government opens negotiations on releasing political prisoners.

ZURICH, Switzerland — The Swiss government today said Soviet dissident Vladimir Bukovsky has asked permission to stay in Switzerland while his family seeks political asylum.

Burnham area residents press EDC on queries about Penney complex

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter
Residents in the Burnham St. area told the Economic Development Commission this morning that they expect answers by next Thursday to specific requests they have made concerning the industrial park development.

William Anderson of the Neighborhood Committee, which is made up of residents in the area near the proposed site of the industrial park, detailed the requests drawn up by the committee.

The list, which is an expanded account of 11 requests made earlier by the committee, now centers on four points — Protection for any possible well or sewer damage, buffering along Windsor St., buffering along Burnham St., and lighting.

"These four major questions put the project on a hinge," Larry Noone, a Burnham St. resident, told the commission.

Anderson and Noone both indicated to the committee that the area residents would like responses by next Thursday.

The Neighborhood Committee will meet on Thursday night — its final meeting before the zoning hearing on Jan. 10.

Walter Fuss, engineering consultant for the park plans and the major tenant, the J.C. Penney Co., also spoke at this morning's meeting.

He presented details and cross-sections of buffering plans for Windsor and Burnham St. He said that a series of mounds with implanted trees, will be built between Burnham St. and the park to shield the neighborhood.

Fuss said that it would take about ten years for the trees to reach full vegetation, and he has requested that the mounds be constructed before any other work is done on the park. Thus, the trees would have been planted for about three years by the time the Penney building opens.

Fuss has also recommended that three barns along Windsor St. remain standing.

Other requests made by the residents, in connection with the project, include: a 350-acre park site, he said.

Iuliano-Vater

Karen Sue Vater and John Vincent Iuliano, both of Manchester, were married Nov. 20 at St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church in New Britain. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Roberta Vater of Manchester and Robert Vater of Hartford. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Iuliano of Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. John V. Iuliano

The Rev. Carl Widiger of New Britain and the Rev. Joseph Marchese of Troy, N.Y., officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Alan Hill of Wethersfield was organist. The bride wore a gown designed by Mrs. Iuliano, mother of the bridegroom, made of candlelight silk with a sash and fashioned with an Empire waist, sweetheart neckline and a chapel-length train trimmed with lace. Her illusion veil was attached to an orange blossom headpiece. She carried a bouquet of gardenias, ivy and baby's breath.

Dr. Lamb

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Lose weight, but slowly

Dear Dr. Lamb—I am 55 years old, 5 feet 6 and weigh 165 pounds. My blood pressure is 150 over 100. Also my husband is dying of cancer. Now my doctor says I'm a few pounds overweight that is causing my blood pressure to be high.

best way to get your blood pressure down. However, I question the way you are trying to do it. You should be able to lose weight slowly if you are on a real 1200-calorie diet and eat reasonably active. And it is true that you will have a loss of energy on a diet too low in calories, whether or not you have already lost all your excess fat deposits.

It is normal to lose about 70 hairs each day. The life cycle of a hair is from two to six years and the hair follicle has a resting period without hair for about three months.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I have a friend who is losing his hair. He has to keep combing his hair different to cover up the thin places. I feel he should see a doctor and that he probably lacks some vitamins in his meals. He says he feels good and that it will grow back again. I will appreciate any information on this.

Gardening

By Frank Atwood

Secretaries at Bolton High School refer to their office sometimes as "the jungle" as they peer through the leaves of some very large foliage plants, placed there and tended by the high school's teacher of physics and chemistry, Kenneth Roy.
An office worker may have to detour around a very large philodendron to go from her desk to the filing cabinet, but fortunately this is a large office and, fortunately also, the people like the plants.
Mr. Roy has had some of the same plants with him at three high schools. He taught five years at Rocky Hill after graduation from Central Connecticut State College, then for one year at Northwest Catholic in West Hartford, and now is in his third year at Bolton.

Visitors always remark about the large size of the plants and, indeed, they seem to grow prodigiously for Mr. Roy. A cut-leaf philodendron, which has its pot inside a waste basket on the floor, is the largest, and the only plant that has a name. It is known as "Fred."
Botanically it is a Philodendron sellowii, normally climbing trees as in its native Brazil, but capable of standing alone at the Bolton High School. The leaves are huge and deeply lobed or "cut." Stems of the older leaves near the base are four feet long.
At the end of the school year, Mr. Roy has the task of taking all his plants home where they stay in their pots but stand on a patio. The move calls for a car with a large trunk and several trips.
Mr. Roy says he became interested in plants at about the age of 15. He often visited an aunt in Hartford who was interested in horticulture, helped her care for her plants, and soon had a few of his own.
At CSC he took all the science courses he could work into his schedule, including horticulture and botany. He teaches no courses relating to plants in his regular high school program but has an evening class in botany where 12 seniors with superior academic records have been admitted to a course designed for college freshmen. Those who have passing grades will be given college credit at the University of Connecticut.
Mr. Roy observes, and members of the office staff back up, that among visitors men ask more questions than women ask about plants in "the jungle."

Jehovah's Witnesses will have a theocratic ministry school and service meeting tonight at 7:30 at Kingdom Hall.

Radio stations changing network affiliations

Radio Station WPOP of Hartford will become a CBS Radio Network affiliate by June, when the CBS contract with WPOP, which adopted an all-news format in June 1975, sought the CBS affiliation because its present subscription to NBC's News and Information Service is being phased out.
The NBC service, separate from the NBC Radio Network but owned by the National Broadcasting Co., was cut by the company because it didn't reach the markets expected, officials said.
WINF, which had been affiliated with CBS for 12 years, is now negotiating for another affiliation, General Manager Jeff Jacobs said.
The CBS agreement with WPOP was announced by CBS Wednesday.
CBS said it was looking for a radio station in the Hartford area that had "broader coverage"—"meaning a stronger signal," a spokesman said. Manchester's WINF operates on 1,000 watts power by day and 250 watts power by night, while WPOP puts out 5,000 watts around the clock.
The Hartford area is the 36th largest radio market in the country.
General Manager Albert Pellegrino said WPOP's present staff of 16 will be increased about 25 per cent to expand local coverage. The CBS network's service provides fewer hours of news per week than the NBC service.

Gill denies allegations
HARTFORD (UPI) — Retiring Environmental Protection Commissioner Joseph Gill denies charges he violated state law by reorganizing his department, but remains silent on the question of whether he acted improperly when handling wetland license applications.

Allocation defended

GREENWICH (UPI) — It was proper for Greenwich to be local under the federal Public Works money parking so much controversy in Connecticut, First Selectman Ruppert Vernon said Wednesday.
"I have deep sympathy for the towns that aren't getting any of that money," Vernon said in an interview with WCHJ radio. "But I don't have any apologies to offer for Greenwich getting money."
The money is from the Federal Public Works Employment fund and the distribution of that money has kicked off many complaints from

Gov. Grasso upset over fund decisions

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Ella T. Grasso has added her name to the growing list of Connecticut officials who are upset over the federal government's allocation of public works money to the state's cities and towns.
Mrs. Grasso is not the only one complaining about the allocations. Connecticut Democrats Reps. William R. Cotter and Toby Moffett, as well as several state legislators, have asked the EDA explain its application selection process.
There have also been complaints, primarily from municipalities which were not on the list, that EDA awarded money to projects which are not that important and to cities with a relatively low unemployment rate compared to other towns in the state.
It was also suggested some of the state's more affluent cities, like Greenwich, Westport and West Hartford, got more than their fair share of the money. Allegations were raised politics may have played a role in the EDA decision-making process.
Earlier in the day at her weekly news conference, Mrs. Grasso said priorities were disregarded by the EDA in determining which Connecticut cities would receive money.

Allocation defended

leaders of cities not chosen to receive any.
The federal Economic Development Administration chose 24 Connecticut towns to divide $48.3 million among 23 projects. A total of 29 towns applied for grants.
Officials of Norwalk, among the losers, Tuesday authorized the town to sue the EDA because its application for $5 million was rejected.
But Wednesday, Norwalk Mayor Jennie Cave said she sees a "ray of hope" for Norwalk. She said EDA officials told her in some states, towns have abandoned their projects and the money was allocated to "runner-up" towns. She said she was told Norwalk is a "runner-up."

Hot-handed Illinois State captures UConn Classic

By EARL YOST
Sports Editor

Prolific first half shooting by three hot-headed young men answering to the names of Bill Lewis, Derrick Mayes and Jeff Widdel set the tone last night at the Hartford Civic Center as Illinois State upended the University of Connecticut, 82-76.

The triumph ended UConn's domination of UConn Classics and was executed before a crowd of 9,387.

Lewis, the tourney's most valuable player, dumped in 10 of 14 basket tries in the first 20 minutes and teamed Mayes and Widdel were perfect with six and four twin-pointers for 40 points as Illinois built up a 50-37 edge at half-time.

It was a combination of whichever you want to look on as the sensational from State's standpoint, and horrendous from UConn's, after the towering winners jumped off to a 12-1 lead and never looked back.

UConn floor errors, and there were plenty, were converted into points as State shot a remarkable 56 per cent from the floor in the first half, although cooled off somewhat down the stretch still managed a fine 59 per cent. State now boasts a 9-2 record.

"This is the best team we played all year," a disappointed Dee Rowe said as he reflected on the third straight night starts. "I felt coming to State was the best and I agree to that after playing them."

"I'm proud of our comeback. We never got in position to win, but at the time, which was our game plan. State had great rebounding and shooting," he added, and few, if any, could disagree.

The defense was led by Jeff Wilkins, a legitimate seven-footer, who grabbed 10 rebounds and was an intimidator of the first degree to the UConn offense.

Illinois led by 17 points, 68-51 by 12:30 left, when UConn went on a scoring spree, Joe Whelton hitting five straight one-handers and Tony Hanson contributing a pair and with 5-43, UConn trailed by just three, 76-73, and the crowd came alive.

With Lewis and Wilkins riding the bench with five personals, UConn had a chance to narrow the gap at a point but Al Lewis missed a stiff shot and that was UConn's last gasp. The momentum turned Illinois' way.

"We just ran out of gas," Rowe said. "Nothing would fall down the stretch. But, we never lost our poise. State is a helluva team."

It was a combination of whichever you want to look on as the sensational from State's standpoint, and horrendous from UConn's, after the towering winners jumped off to a 12-1 lead and never looked back.

UConn floor errors, and there were plenty, were converted into points as State shot a remarkable 56 per cent from the floor in the first half, although cooled off somewhat down the stretch still managed a fine 59 per cent. State now boasts a 9-2 record.

"This is the best team we played all year," a disappointed Dee Rowe said as he reflected on the third straight night starts. "I felt coming to State was the best and I agree to that after playing them."

"I'm proud of our comeback. We never got in position to win, but at the time, which was our game plan. State had great rebounding and

Colgate surprised Seattle for third place, 82-76, in the first game.

While the past track record hasn't been the greatest in the world, that is no reason for not selecting a winner in tonight's Manchester High-East Catholic basketball game at the University of Hartford.

This is the third year in the rivalry between the intrastate schools with the Eagles victorious in three previous engagements. East, uncustomarily, has already lost twice against four wins, while the Silk Towers are off to a splendid 4-1 start in the Central Connecticut Intercollegiate League (CCL).

Tonight's affair will have no bearing in conference standings and the respective coaches, East's Stan Ogronik and Manchester's Doug Pearson, might like to play it down a little the encounter does hold great significance to the players.

Manchester has been led by 6-0 senior co-captain John Pisch to date. He has been hampered by nagging injuries but has approached almost entirely the preseason level expected. Jeff Kiernan, 6-7 senior co-captain, has come on like gangbusters lately, but his full potential has yet to be tapped. Scott Hyde has been the biggest and most pleasant surprise. Immature and hesitant a year ago, the 6-4 junior has come fast and has produced great results. Six-foot-two Bill Kelly and 6-4 Steve McKenzie, both juniors, are still learning, but coming along.

Four first period goals, including one in the first nine seconds, powered Glastonbury High to a 7-1 victory over Manchester High in ice hockey action last night at the Bolton Ice Palace.

Manchester, now 2-5 overall, returns to action tonight against Farmington High at Avon Old Farms at 6:15. The Indian icemen won an earlier encounter, 7-2.

Joe Bismatti, assisted by Mike Flynn scored on the second shot on net by Glastonbury. The barrage continued with Ken Kohale adding two tallies and Mike Adams one before the end of the period.

Glastonbury continued its onslaught in the second period out-shooting Manchester, 17-7, and scoring twice with Mike Ladd and Eric Schultz lighting the lamp.

Bears' Pardee top NFC coach

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jack Pardee has been selected by United Press International as Coach of the Year in the National Football Conference for returning the Chicago Bears to respectability in his two years there.

Pardee, who, in 1974, coached the Bears to their first championship game ever played in the World Football League, where they lost by just one point, directed the Bears to their first season with the record and highest finish since 1963.

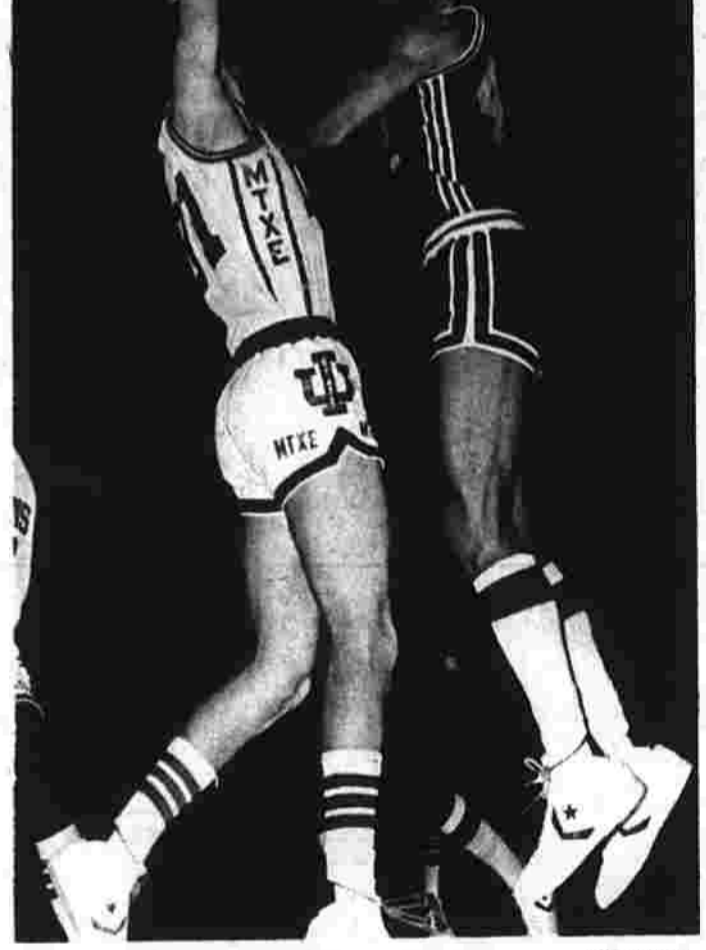

He posted a 4-10 record during his first year in Chicago and coached the Bears to a 7-7 finish in 1975, despite one of the toughest schedules in the league.

Pardee was named on 16 ballots cast by UPI's 42-member voting board, which includes three from each conference city. Monte Clark of San Francisco finished as the runner-up with eight votes.

Pardee's Bears posted upset victories over Minnesota, Washington and San Francisco and lost a pair of one-point decisions to Detroit and Oakland en route to a second-place finish in the NFC Central Division behind the Vikings.

"When you look at the coaches in football," Pardee said, "guys like Bud Grant and Tom Landry... to be recognized among them is a great honor. Maybe next year we'll be in the playoffs and I'll accept that too. This is a big thrill, but the playoffs are the thrill I'm looking for."

Pardee becomes the third Chicago coach ever to win the award. He succeeds George Halas, who was named the top coach of the entire NFL in 1963 and 1965.

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Indianapolis Racers' Coach Jacques Demers rounded out the World Hockey Association East All Star team Wednesday with the addition of eight players, including two from his own team.

Demers, who will direct the East squad against the West at the Jan. 18 game in Hartford, made Indianapolis forwards Michel Parizeau and Blair McDougal supplementary picks for the East team.

Demers also selected Rick Dudley, John Hughes and Dennis Sobchuk from the Cincinnati Stingers, Gordie Roberts and rookie George Lyle from the New England Whalers and veteran center Dave Keon from the Minnesota Fighting Saints.

Hayes asks 'no favors'

MIAMI (UPI) — Being an assistant to Woody Hayes for two years doesn't buy you any favors later, especially when you square off against the crusty Ohio State coach in the Orange Bowl.

Hayes was asked about Bill Mallory, who will pit his Colorado Buffaloes against the Buckeyes in the Orange Bowl Football Classic New Year's night. Mallory was Hayes' defensive line coach in 1967 and 1968.

Providence surprises No. 1 Michigan

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — Providence College coach Dave Gavitt had little to say. He seemed overwhelmed.

"We've never beaten a No. 1 team before," Gavitt said Wednesday night after Providence upset the top-ranked University of Michigan, 82-81, in double overtime.

"I hate to lose," Michigan coach John Orr said, "but the pressure of being the No. 1 team in the country has been tremendous. I've never been through seven games like the first seven this year."

Bob Misiewicz was the hero for Providence. He basketed tie the game at 74-74 and sent it into the second overtime and his short jump shot with one second remaining won the game.

Two missed foul shots hurt Michigan. John Robinson had a chance from the foul line with Michigan leading 81-80. When he missed, Providence got the rebound to set up Misiewicz.

Earlier, just before the end of regulation time, Michigan's Rickley Green missed a foul shot that could have won the game.

"It was a bitter defeat because we missed a couple of free throws that could have wrapped it up," Orr said.

"But we've had bitter defeats before."

Bruce Campbell led Providence with 25 points and Joey Hassett had 21. Misiewicz scored 16. Phil Hubbard scored a game-high 19 points for Michigan and added 16 rebounds. Green had 16 points.

The win gave Providence, the championship of the Industrial National Classic. In the consolation game, the University of Texas defeated the University of Rhode Island, 76-66.

"Give Providence credit," Orr said. "They played very well, as everybody does who plays us. We didn't shoot as well as we usually do, particularly free throws."

Michigan shot 38 per cent from the floor and made 17 of 28 shots from the free throw line.

Billy Lewis scored 26 points and Derrick Hayes added 23 to lead Illinois State University to an 88-77 win over the University of Connecticut in the UConn Classic Championship game. Colgate won the consolation game, 82-74, over the University of Seattle.

Brandeis defeated Bryant, 93-90, in overtime and Merrimack routed Hartford, 104-75, in the opening round of the Bryant Holiday Tournament at Smithfield, R.I. Brandeis and Merrimack meet tonight in the championship game.

Brandeis' Walt Harrigan and John Martin combined for 10 points in the overtime. Martin led all scorers with 24 points while Harrigan finished with 19.

Merrimack's Ed Murphy had 31 points.

Army and Yale will play for the Vermont Classic title in Burlington, Vt., tonight. Both won close games in the opening round.

Army edged Florida State, 77-71, on Scott Easton's free throw with six seconds left. Army's Gary Winton led all scorers with 34 points.

Dick Shea scored 16 points in leading Yale to a 61-58 win over host Vermont. Kevin Kelly led Vermont with 20.

Elsewhere, Maryland defeated Syracuse, 96-85, to win the Maryland Invitational tournament; with someone taking third place on an 80-70 win over Xavier of Ohio; fifth-ranked Cincinnati beat South Carolina, 79-62, and Indiana over Georgia, 74-52, in the semifinals of the Sugar Bowl tournament; Virginia Military Institute scored a 73-71 win over California and Loyola (Calif.) dumped Gonzaga, 68-59, while undefeated Holy Cross downed Michigan State, 70-61; Columbia defeated Furman, 93-79, to take the Poineetta Classic and Navy beat the Citadel, 86-56 in the consolation game. In the Lobo Invitational Classic, Southern Cal took Pittsburgh, 76-67, while host New Mexico upset Iowa, 99-83, in the second game. In the Far West Classic, No. 8 North Carolina whipped Oregon, 86-60, and Weber State downed St. Louis, 64-57, in the nightcap.

No. 9 Nevada-Las Vegas pounded the 9th-ranked Virginia Tech, 92-76, to win the Nevada-Las Vegas Holiday Classic and Eastern Michigan captured third place by beating Southern Florida, 60-48.

In the Rainbow Classic, Illinois topped William & Mary, 73-64, and St. John's stopped Temple, 59-49, in the consolation bracket; in addition, Arizona State, 114-96, and Houston took host Hawaii, 101-74.

Washington downed La Salle, 114-94, to take the Cabrillo Classic, while San Diego State beat Texas 82-74, 76-58, in the consolation game. Long Beach State downed Portland State, 101-86, to win the Long Beach Invitational tournament and Loyola (Calif.) dumped Gonzaga, 68-59, for third place.

Indians out to end jinx against Catholic tonight

By LEN AUSTER
Herald Sports Editor

Once again it's that time as tonight at 8 at the University of Hartford, intrastate rivals East Catholic and Manchester High collide on the hardwood in the first of two seasonal battles. Tickets are available at the door.

The area slate lists three games, two non-conference and one Central Valley Conference engagement. In the CVC test, South Windsor High, 1-0 in the conference and 2-3 overall, hosts 0-2, 0-5 Rockyville High. Rham High, 2-2, is at 0-4 Ellington High and 1-4 Glastonbury High visits 1-1 Penney High in East Hartford. Elsewhere on the dim side, 3-1 East Catholic is entertained by 4-2 Manchester High at Clarke Arena in an afternoon tilt at 3:30. A Jayvee game at 9 o'clock is also on tap.

Manchester, off to a 4-1 start in CCL play, has been idle since last Thursday when it upended Westerfield by 20 points, 69-49. While some coaches might like to de-emphasize an emotional game of this nature, Indian coach Doug Pearson states, "You really can't because the kids it is so important. To them it is the game."

Pearson's contingent is a young one, five of the top seven underclassmen. But the third-year mentor notes his club has "definitely improved with every game." One reason he is concerned is in the scoring department where an imbalance exists.

John Pisch leads with a 21-point per game average followed by Scott Hyde (14.8) and Jeff Kiernan (10.2).

After that it plummets to Steve McKenzie at 4.6. Pearson would like more output from the latter as well as Bill Kelly, the Indians' fifth starter, and reserves Bill Finnegan, Rick Marshall and Mike Sherman.

Manchester is averaging 68.6 points per game but Pearson isn't totally satisfied. "We want to play our game offensively. We like to run and we want to run. But we are not running well and haven't had a good fast break this season yet," he states. Manchester's yield is at 54.4 points per outing.

East's ninth-year Coach Stan Ogronik considers tonight's game important — and not necessarily because it's Manchester. "It's important to us because we have to attempt to get things straightened out," Ogronik commented. "We have not played well fundamentally. Offensive rebounding has been virtually non-existent."

The Eagle plot is also worried about his club's inconsistency. "We've played with intensity and then again we haven't. It goes back to mental preparedness and I have to take the blame," Ogronik said candidly. "With our schedule we have to be ready to play every game. The nights we're not ready, we will not win."

Ara prejudiced

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — Complaints that former Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian was prejudiced against Alabama during the broadcast of the Liberty Bowl game were taken to the Alabama Legislature Wednesday by House Speaker Joe McCorquodale.

Parseghian, as color commentator for ABC television at the game, aroused the ire of Alabama fans by questioning several calls that went in favor of the Crimson Tide and by commenting that UCLA players took more time out from practice to study for final exams than did Alabama players.

"Alabama won the game by a score of 36-6."

"Mr. Parseghian not only violated the law of fair play, but he did conduct himself in such a manner...that he has aroused all good sports-minded people in this state, regardless of the school they attended," stated a resolution filed by McCorquodale.

Georgia reveals strategy plans

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Georgia's plan to beat top-ranked Pittsburgh in the Sugar Bowl Saturday will be very simple, according to Pittsburgh defensive coordinator Bobby Roper.

"We know they'll try to move the ball up the middle some to keep us from crashing outside on the option plays," Roper said Wednesday. "But we feel like we're really solid up the middle."

"They know that and they know their strength is in running that outside veer," Roper said. "So Roper figures the battle will be fought with his tackles and ends. If they lose, Pitt's Heisman Trophy winner, Tony Dorsett, will see little of the football."

In the Georgia veer offense, Goff usually fakes to fullback Al Pollard and then keeps or pitches back to tailback Kevin McLee, a 1,000-yard former Pitt runner.

"If we can't stop that outside play," Roper said, "they'll run it every down and they'll keep the ball all day."

For the Georgia defense, nicknamed the "Junkyard Dogs," the challenge is a big Pitt offensive line and Dorsett.

Junior linebacker Ben Zambiasi said the big reason for the Georgia defensive improvement this season was experience.

"We figure that the fourth quarter will be the key one," Zambiasi said. "As a result, we've been running a lot more wind sprunts than we usually do in practice."

"Dorsett is a fourth-quarter back and we're a second-half team. The Dogs vs. Dorsett. You can't help but get excited about the game."

Both teams practiced for more than an hour Wednesday on artificial turf at Tulane Stadium. They were moved out of the Superdome with the Sugar Bowl basketball tournament.

While the teams prepared for the game, a service employees union at the Dome threatened to strike and picket for higher wages when about 75,000 fans try to enter the Dome Saturday.

But Dome chief Charles Roemer promised the stadium would be prepared for the game anyway. Roemer Wednesday offered to mediate the dispute if the union would agree not to strike.

PASADENA (UPI) — Pittsburgh coach Pat Schenbeler noted that his Wolverines had to play all season in harsh weather conditions while the Trojans did not.

"We've played some pretty good games in the rain but they were always on artificial turf," the Michigan mentor exclaimed. "We only played one game on natural turf and we lost that one to a 16-14 defeat by Purdue."

SuperSonics fulfill dream with second straight road win

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Seattle SuperSonics, possibly the worst road team in history, fulfilled the impossible dream Wednesday night by beating the New York Nets, 102-96, for their second straight road victory.

Fred Brown scored 29 points to lead the Sonics, who now have won only four out of 19 road games this season while going 14-3 at home.

"We have a different ballclub now," Seattle Coach Bill Russell said. "A month ago, we would have lost this game. We would have folded."

Brown, whose pair of free throws with three seconds left in the game Tuesday at Atlanta pulled out a 120-119 victory broke a 94-94 tie with 41 seconds left and Silas Watts clinched the victory over the Nets four seconds later by stealing the inbounds pass and scoring an easy layup.

Although Brown had a terrible shooting performance in the first half, he injected enthusiasm into the Sonics' offense and his shooting touch reappeared in the second half as he sank eight of 11 attempts from the floor.

Nate Archibald and John Williamson each scored 26 points for the Nets.

Kings 113, Braves 103

Guards Ron Boone, Brian Taylor and Andre McCarter combined for 69 points to help Kansas City post its second straight win and snap Buffalo's two-game winning streak. Boone scored a game-high 31 points, Taylor 28.

Leonard "Truck" Robinson scored 19 points and pulled down 10 rebounds as Washington handed Atlanta its seventh straight defeat. The Bullets outscored the Hawks, 53-27, and held Atlanta to just one rebound in the second period while building a 52-42 halftime lead.

Rockets 93, 76ers 91

Calvin Murphy's 20-foot jump shot gave Houston a 22-87 lead and the Rockets withstood a Philadelphia charge down the final two minutes to win before the largest crowd in Houston history—16,012. Murphy finished with 25 points to lead the Rockets while Loyd Free collected 29 for the 76ers.

Coventry permits show

Septic failures increase

Increases in septic field installations have increased at a faster rate than new housing starts in Coventry, Town Sanitarian-Engineer Donald Holmes reported this week. In statistics for the first five months of this fiscal year, Holmes reported a 53 per cent increase in septic permits, but only a 14 per cent increase in well permits and a 21 per cent increase in new houses. Holmes said the figures reflect the replacement of many failing septic systems in town from July through November.
