Roy M. Thompson of 369 Birch Mountain Rd., former associate director of the Watkins Funeral Home, has become associated with the Fitzgerald Funeral Home of 225 Main St., Manchester.

Thompson, a licensed embalmer and funeral director, had been with Watkins since 1970. The firm is being sold to the Holmes Funeral Home of Manchester, with which Thompson was also associated at one time.

Thompson, a life-long resident of Manchester, was graduated from Manchester High School in 1943 and the New England Institute of Embalming and Funeral Directing in 1946. He is a World War II veteran.

Thompson is a member of the Republican Town Committee and is active in several local social and civic organizations.

From 1971 through 1976, Thompson served on the state Board of Examiners of Embalmers and Funeral Directors. He is also past chairman of the New England Council of State Boards for Funeral Directing.

In 1976, Thompson testified at a Federal Trade Commission hearing on alleged abuses in the funeral industry, and he was at the center of an August controversy in which he accused the Connecticut licensing board of doing little to protect the consumer.

Town seeks truck bids

The Town of Manchester is seeking a bid for one four-wheel drive pickup truck to be used by the Highway Department.

Highway Superintendent Timothy O'Sullivan said that the vehicle would be used by the department's on-call foreman, who often has to answer trouble calls. The vehicle presently being used by the foreman is "totally shot," he said.

Bids for the truck will be opened at 11 a.m. on Jan. 27 and should be mailed to M.A. Pass, Director of General Services, Municipal Building, Manchester.

Business

UTC put $1.3 billion into state economy

United Technologies Corporation contributed nearly $1.3 billion directly to Connecticut's economy in 1976. The total is equivalent to nearly three-fourths of the entire state operating budget of $1.8 billion for the current fiscal year.

Company expenditures averaging $25 million a week in the state went for wages and salaries, state and local taxes, purchases from suppliers, capital investments, and corporate charitable contributions.

The largest single output, $800 million, went for wages and salaries paid to the corporation's Connecticut employees.

United Technologies purchased about $400 million worth of goods and services from Connecticut suppliers and sub-contractors during 1976.

Tax payments made to the state and to individual towns and cities in Connecticut exceeds $35 million for the year.

Of the corporation's $14 million in capital investment in 1976, about 44 percent or $63 million was spent for improvement of its Connecticut facilities. Major capital projects committed to Connecticut include an $18 million jet engine experimental test facility and a new automated production facility for turbine blade casting, both in Middletown, and a $35 million engine control laboratory in East Hartford.

United Technologies made corporate contributions of more than $12 million to health, educational, and social service organizations in Connecticut. Corporate gifts to local United Way appeals in Connecticut totaled approximately $400,000.

Bezzini's grant access to river

The Hockanum River Linear Park (HRLP) Committee has acquired of local Boy Scout Troops and other civic groups. The project will begin this spring. Project plans have been cleared by both the State Department of Environmental Protection and the inland-wetlands commission of the Planning and Zoning Commission.

An extensive log jam on a portion of the Bezzini land has already been removed and other log jams will be tackled in the spring.

Long range HRLP goals include securing of easements or deeds to preserve the entire seven-mile length of the river with the assistance of Manchester in a natural undeveloped state and to permit public hiking trails along both sides of the river where possible, from Vernon to East Hartford.

Anyone wishing to join the HRLP committee and assist in river conservation is invited to attend the monthly meetings held at the Municipal Building the first Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

Gulf head sure payoffs are over

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Gulf Oil Chairman Jerry McAfee looks back on the early morning hours of Jan. 14, 1976 with a determination that it won't happen again.

"That day, after meeting 25 hours on the 31st floor of the Gulf Building, the board of directors ousted Chairman Bob R. Dorsey and three other top officials for involvement in a $13 million political payoff scheme.

McAfee, 60, a soft-spoken Texan, was chosen to clean up.

He still refrains from labeling the shut-down affair a scandal. He calls Dorsey's actions "anomalies, disgraces, use of bad judgment."

McAfee believes Gulf must continue legal participation in the political process. He emphasizes the word legal.

McAfee believes the scandal possibly raised doubts about the company's credibility in other areas — such as divestiture, deregulation and nationalization. Gulf hopes to counter these doubts with a major advertising effort.

"When you talk about social responsibility or corporate citizenship, I like to get back to fundamentals," he said. "Frankly, I think the best environment is our doing an excellent job of what our real job is — it might sound corny, but doing our part to help supply a big share of this country's energy supply."

Custody battle

BRIDGEPORT (UPI) — The custody battle over two Vietnamese boys has been recessed until Jan. 25 to give opposing lawyers time to write arguments over several points raised in the trial.

Superior Court Judge Harold Dean adjourned the trial to let lawyers answer to written questions of whether Connecticut or Vietnamese law applies in the custody battle.

Mrs. Popp, 24, now of Newbury Park, Calif., wants to reclaim the boys, Mark, 9, and Paul, 7 — who were turned over to Richard Lucas, 33, of Fairfield.

The action was brought by Mrs. Hao Thi Popp who relinquished her two sons to Friends for All Children adoption agency of Colorado while in Vietnam in 1975, days before Saigon fell.

Lucas has not adopted them but wants to keep the boys despite Mrs. Popp's wish to have them returned to her and her new husband.

Squeeze on truckers felt by consumers

NEW YORK (UPI) — About 25,000 independent truckers have been forced out of business in the past three years and one result has been a poorer selection of produce at supermarkets.

"The citrus, tomato, potato and some other crops were hit hard by the independent trucker shortage this year, and some of the harvests never reached the major markets," according to William J. Hill of Pittsburgh, chairman of the National Independent Truckers Union Council.

Hill said things may be worse this year.

The 25,000 independent truckers forced out in the past three years were 20 per cent of a national fleet that once numbered 125,000. The independents have been responsible for hauling about 40 per cent of the country's intercity truck cargo.

"But a combination of inflation and governmental restraints that keep them from organizing ... is driving the independents to the wall," Hill said.

Hill said an independent trucker typically invests $75,000 in his rig including finance charges, works a 75-hour seven-day week and is lucky if he clears $300 a week.

Hill says the time has gone when a man could make a living out of a small truck. "There's just no more small load, short haul business around."

If he's going to haul produce, the independent needs a $45,000 diesel tractor and a $20,000 refrigerated 40-foot trailer. Such a rig gets about 100 miles to the gallon of diesel and the price of fuel has jumped from 30 to 50 cents in three years.

Added to these problems are government rules that Hill says restrict the independent trucker of any real voice in his affairs.

PZC may put ban on new junkyards

The Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC) will consider an amendment to zoning regulations that would prohibit new junkyards from being developed in Manchester. The PZC, at its Monday, Jan. 24 meeting, will discuss the amendment, which would repeal and delete a special exception that permits junkyards in an Industrial Zone.

Town Planner J. Eric Potter said that the PZC has discussed such an amendment in the past.

"We decided that this is the time to do something about it," he said.

Potter said that in the past, public hearings on changes to industrial zones have brought out considerable opposition to the possibility of a junkyard in the area, even if one is not proposed.

"Generally, the public is not too keen about having a junkyard within miles of it," he said.

He said that there is presently one junkyard and one motor vehicle junkyard, both on Parker St., in Manchester.

"That should be sufficient for a town the size of Manchester," he said.

It's a question you've probably asked many times in our topsy-turvy, upside-down world. For today, when the moral dilemmas that confront us are challenged. New moral dilemmas without fixed solutions confront us. And practices once considered immoral are now commonplace.

These troubling quandaries are probed in Courtesy by Newsweek's winter series "Moral Choices in Contemporary Society." Instead of posing "answers," the series' outstanding authors search for perspectives on such issues as abortion, the family, sexual conduct, and business, political and social.

ASPEN, Colo. (UPI) — Claudine Longet walked with former husband Andy Williams from the Pitkin County Courthouse, pale but dry-eyed despite the jury's verdict.

"I am not guilty," she said outside. "I have too much respect and love for living things to be guilty of that crime. I am not guilty."

A few minutes earlier a jury had found her guilty of criminal negligence in the shooting death of her lover, pro skier Vladimir "Spider" Sabich.

The verdict Friday was the most modest jury could reach without absolving her of all guilt. Prosecutor Frank Tucker, who asked the jury to find her guilty of the more serious crime of reckless manslaughter, said the normal punishment for the reduced charge was 30 to 60 days in the county jail.

"I would assume Miss Longet would not be treated any differently than anybody else convicted of this crime," he said.

The verdict ended a weeklong trial in which Miss Longet frequently broke into tears as witnesses described her relationship with Sabich and the events surrounding his death March 21 at the mountain chalet the couple shared.

Miss Longet maintained Sabich had been showing her how to operate a pistol and that it discharged while in her hand, killing him.

By United Press International
New York City was blanketed by 6 1/2 inches of snow today and the third major snowstorm of the year brought highway and air traffic to a near or total standstill on the East Coast.

Forecasts called for five to 10 inch accumulations in New Jersey and parts of New York state. In the suburbs of New York City, stalled and abandoned vehicles brought highway traffic down to 15 to 20 miles per hour Friday.

"We have so many accidents we can't keep track of them," one Suffolk County, N.Y. police spokesman said.

Dulles Airport in Washington shut down from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. Friday, due to ice-glazed runways, and an Air France SST was sent to Baltimore's Washington International Airport.

Two-hour delays were reported at Kennedy Airport.

Freezing rain and snow fell in Virginia, Maryland and the nation's capital Friday night, causing one death and several minor traffic accidents on glazed roads. In Virginia, a 12-car mishap and a five-car crash which included a police car were reported on local roads.

The storm belt continued up the coast, where New Englanders also prepared for another attack, with forecasts of up to eight inches of new snow. Several school systems in Massachusetts already have suspended classes for Monday, expecting snows to be crippling. Schools also closed early Friday or Saturday in Maryland and Virginia.

Racing was canceled at New Jersey's Meadowland track, and a spokesman said it was doubtful there would be any action today.

Light snow also fell in the west, covering Idaho, Montana and northern Wyoming and edging into South Dakota and northern Nebraska.

But what was falling from the sky wasn't nearly as important as what was already on the ground, or water, in the Midwest rivers, their volume lowered by recent drought, proved to be frozen obstructions for boats.

The breakup of ice blocks and the sinking of two grain-laden barges forced authorities to close to navigation a 20-mile section of the ice-clogged Mississippi River between St. Louis and Cairo, Ill.

The towboat Mariner broke up near Cape Girardeau, Mo., Thursday either because of the ice or the lack of properly placed booms. Many of the booms have been knocked out of place or buried by the water.

And only the channel remained navigable early today in the ice-clogged Ohio River. The channel was kept open only by towboats which plowed through the ice at regular intervals. Tow and barge traffic was reported at 25 per cent of normal as a result of the icing.

President to urge federal pay hike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford is preparing to recommend substantial pay raises for the federal government's top officials, including the Vice President, the Cabinet, members of Congress and the judiciary.

Ford outlined the proposal in a White House meeting Friday with congressional leaders. He said he will recommend it before leaving office this Thursday and will ask that it be tied to a strict code of ethics for members of Congress.

The congressional leaders assured him they would secure quick action on the proposal. The pay increases would go into effect within 30 days unless rejected by either the Senate or the House.

In America, G.A., Jimmy Carter's press secretary, Jody Powell, said Ford consulted the President-elect about the raises and Carter approved Ford's recommendation "with the strong stipulation that there must be strict adherence to the ethical recommendations."

"In his mind, the salary increases are irrevocably tied to the ethical code," Powell said.

Byrd outlined some of Ford's proposed figures from memory.

"They showed that Ford had pared a number of the salary boosts recommended by the Quadrennial Commission on Executive, Legislative and Judicial Salaries."

The commission recommended no increase in the President's pay of $200,000 and Ford does not plan to ask for more.

Byrd said Ford will recommend a raise of $75,000 a year for the speaker of the House and the chief justice and the speaker rather than the $80,000 proposed by the Commission. They would increase the President's pay of $200,000 and Ford does not plan to ask for more.

Byrd said Powell will recommend a raise of $15,000 — the figure recommended by the commission — for the chief justice and the speaker of the House, and $10,000 for members of the Cabinet, who now make $63,000. The commission

Carter names seven White House aides

PLAINS, Ga. (UPI) — Jimmy Carter's top seven White House staff selections, announced Friday, include six men from Georgia and a woman from New York, all of whom played important roles in his political campaign.

Receiving $42,000 appointments as "special assistants" were Tim Kraft, 35, appointments secretary; Jim King, 34, assistant for domestic affairs; Martha Mallard "Bunny" Mitchell, 36, a black, in charge of special projects; Joseph W. Aragon, 35, director of the White House press office; Peter Bourne, presidential adviser on mental health and drug abuse.

Powell said Carter elected White House staff and "continue to be perhaps the first person Gov. Carter will turn to."

Powell said Carter envisioned the "management approach" with a "selectively small group with equal rank and equal pay...and with equal access to the President. He said there will be no chief of staff."

Powell announced the appointments of Rolling Stone Assistant Editor Anne Wexler as deputy undersecretary of commerce for regional affairs; Jerry Jasnowski as assistant secretary of commerce for economic policy; and Robert T. Hall as assistant secretary for economic development.

Jasnowski was director of economics in the Carter campaign and is now director of the National Commission for Manpower Policy.

Several Manchester residents look forward to inauguration

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

Temperatures in Washington, D.C. are almost as cold as in Connecticut. But Manchester residents heading to the nation's capitol next week expect a warm period, filled with socializing and history-observing.

They'll be part of the crowd that will move to the White House for the inauguration of Jimmy Carter as the country's 39th President.

For Manchester people attending the inauguration, it will be a "family reunion" to meet old friends, and even, for at least one person, to job-hunt.

"Connecticut has the most events going on any state," John Post, a Pitkin St. resident and one of the locals heading to Washington, said.

A coffee reception hosted by Sen. Mrs. Abraham Ribicoff, U.S. Senator, and a party organized by the Insurance Association of Connecticut are among the affairs scheduled for state residents attending the inauguration. Stan Weinberg, also of Pitkin st., said.

And Stan Weinberg should know. He is one of two state people on the inaugural Host Committee.

He said that he has been "constantly busy" during the last month working on the inauguration. But the event he and his wife, Barbara, seem most excited about will take place the day after the Jan. 20 inauguration.

On Friday, Jan. 21, they will be among a group of people from across the country who will have breakfast in the White House.

"I'm looking forward to that," Stan Weinberg said. And Barbara Weinberg said that the breakfast meeting probably be the highlight of the entire event.

Asked how she thought the White House food might be, she laughed and replied, "I don't think I'll even know what I'm eating."

Judy Muschko, who will be attending with Post, said that she expects "relaxed" atmosphere to surround the inaugural proceedings. She noted that formal dress is no longer a requirement, and that the inaugural dance is being referred to as a "party" instead of a "ball" this year.

She worked for Carter beginning in September 1975 and continued to work through the primary and the election.

"I'll be seeing some people I haven't seen for a while. It will be great to get together," she said.

Post said, "We're pretty excited about the whole thing." A recent graduate from Trinity College who is interested in government, Post said that he will do some job-hunting in the Washington area.

"It's a once-in-a-lifetime thing. It's history," Irene Pisch, a Grand Rd. resident, said.

She has only been to Washington once before, so she plans to do some sight-seeing while in the city.

Don't overlook any deductions

By Ray De Crane (12th of a series) I don't know what value you place on your labor, but I can show you how to earn $2 an hour or more on a short-term basis.

All you have to do is to take your time when filling out your income tax return. Look for extra deductions. Chances are they are there if you look hard enough. If you are in a 22 per cent bracket and increase your deductions by $100 you have just earned $22. And it won't take you an hour to do it.

When listing your deductible state and local income taxes on your return, don't just copy off the figures shown on your W-2 statements for these taxes. There could be more.

There's a good chance you made an additional payment - over and above the amount withheld from your income - for state and local income taxes last year. Did you pay more when you filed your final return? Don't forget to include that before listing your deductible taxes.

How do we estimate tax payments? Were you required to make quarterly payments as well for state and local income taxes? They are deductible, too.

If you base your state sales tax deduction on the amount shown in the IRS tax charts for the individual states, bear in mind there are three ways you can increase that chart allowance.

1. Don't use the adjusted gross income figure shown on your tax return when consulting the chart. If you have some other non-taxable income. Add to your adjusted gross income your dividend excess, the other 50 per cent of your untaxed capital gains, any Social Security or unemployment benefits. New look at the sales tax chart and get the higher amount.

2. Study the footnotes, if any, to your state sales tax chart. The chart allowance is based on statewide rates. The footnotes may tell you that there is a higher rate in your local community. Get it all.

3. If you bought an automobile, boat, airplane or mobile home last year, the actual tax on this purchase should be added as an extra entry.

Of course, in your interest deduction you will list the interest paid on a home mortgage, car loan,

Opinion

Still scoring high

It was many years ago that The Herald first referred to Jay E. Rubinow as a lawyer's lawyer and since that time he has provided a number of opportunities for appropriate repetition of the phrase. He was then simply a brilliant lawyer with an exhaustive knowledge of the law and a profound respect for it.

Other editors say:

Cold homes, Congress

Two events over the weekend might not at first appear to be related, but they are, in a particularly ironic way. In Washington, something called the "Advisory Committee on National Growth Policy Processes," set up in 1974, made its report to Congress, recommending, among other things, a new federal agency that would give "early warning" of national problems.

This series of candid photographs were taken recently by The Herald's chief photographer Reginald Pinto at the Capitol in Hartford where the legislature is now in session. At left is Rep. Ted Cummings of the 12th District. In the center is Rep. Francis Mahoney of the 13th District and on the right is Sen. David Barry of the Fourth District. All are Manchester Democrats.

WASHINGTON - Here in the federal capital, we've got a professor emeritus at American University who has summed up the position of those mini-bosses of Americans who return from visits to Communist China singing the praises of its regime. Dr. Michael Lindsay, a China hand since the late Thirties when he taught at Yenching University, calls it "Left Wing Racism."

experts and politicians into believing that dictatorships exist because the people they enslave are different - that they don't mind being pushed around. That is saying, in effect, that the mainland Chinese, the Russians, the Bulgarians and so on are not quite as human as, say, Americans or Englishmen or Swedes. It is not only patronizing, it is an insensitive, even cruel, rejection of mankind's indelible spirit.

Don't shoot Mr. Ford

other such golf tournaments and unspecified "academic activities." The President's apparent difficulty in sorting out his future is reminiscent of what other U.S. chief executives have faced upon leaving the White House and Gerald Ford will awake somewhere near Pebble Beach, Calif., stripped of most of the perquisites of the presidency and ready to play in the Bing Crosby pro-am golf tournament.

Thought

During this week we have been sharing with you the importance of the Bible. It may be wise to conclude our series with a word or two about the reliability of the Scriptures. I believe with all my heart that the Bible is not only a wonderful work of literature but it is God's Word for mankind. In it we find a message for us that is reliable and trustworthy.

Yesterdays

25 years ago Price of regular gasoline drops to 21.9 cent a gallon. Manchester Polo drive hits $3,000. The Silk City football team give blood as a unit. Republicans may form Eisenhower Club.

Almanac

By United Press International Today is Saturday, Jan. 15, the 15th day of 1977 with 350 to follow. The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus and Jupiter.

No replacements

It's obvious with each passing game that the University of Connecticut basketball team has not been able to come up with capable replacements for the departed John Thomas and Al Weston of last year's squad.

Thomas, the superb rebounder, is missed most of all. Weston, a deft ball handler, outside shooter and good defensive player, also boasted speed which his many talents.

Coach Dave Rowe issued a pre-season warning that lack of speed, experience and a players' lack of Thomas' rebounding ability would present the biggest problems.

Two experienced players returned and the head of carrying the team has fallen on their shoulders, Tony Hanson and Joe Whelton.

From this view, after watching the UConn in six games, both played in a year ago, but it might have been because of the more talented cast they worked with.

When Whelton suffered a severe ankle sprain, the load fell on the shoulders of Hanson and he couldn't do it alone. The gifted Waterbury player may be trying too hard. Certainly he has talent but he has been guilty of shoddy passing and footwork (traveling) and Whelton hasn't been a pin-point in his floor play execution at a year ago. However, the latter's scoring touch is a shade better and he's a good outside shooter as there is in New England play.

Before the season started, Hanson was being touted in many circles as a bonafide All-American candidate. He may not even be All-New England first team. The rash of publicity didn't help. He's a marked man and he may be trying too hard. Hanson is a stickler but no All-American choice by any standards.

Excessive fouling and turnovers, which can be attributed to inexperience, have weighed heavily against the UConn.

Lietzke gambles and it pays off

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — Bruce Lietzke has shed his conservative ways and says from now on he is going to gamble more and hopefully it will pay off in tournament victories.

The former Texas Amateur champion thought winning on the PGA circuit would be a lot easier than it has been for him in this point, but now he is firm on how low he really is to win — especially for the first time. He came close last year, finishing third in the Texas Open, tied for fourth in the Phoenix Open, fourth in the Tucson Open and tied for sixth in three other events.

"I could taste it a few times but I never quite made it," Lietzke recalled Friday after shooting a six under par 66 that vaulted him into the lead halfway through this year's Tucson Open.

It was a remarkable round for the University of Houston graduate who won $99,229 last year, his second one on the tour, because he seemingly was in range for birdies on nearly every hole. That kind of play enabled him to pass quite a few challengers in the $40,000 top prize and take a stroke lead over another non-winner, Gil Morgan.

While all the so-called unknowns were making their presence felt, others such as three-time Tucson defending champion Johnny Miller, U.S. Open champ Jerry Pate and Ben Crenshaw, who won three times last year as well as $27,756, struggled merely to survive the cut.

Miller, who has had 12 sub-par rounds in three years over the long and flat Tucson National course, had to shoot a two under 34 in his last nine holes of the second round for a 70 that put him at 144, a shot ahead of the lead.

Pate, who won the Phoenix Open last week in a playoff with PGA champ Dave Stockton, and Crenshaw had second nines of 35 that gave them 71s and put them right at the cut at 145. Stockton shot his second straight 71 and was at 142, six shots off the lead.

After Morgan, and in good position, were veterans Gene Littler and Charles Coody. Lew Britton Open

Lack of speed

Lack of speed has hurt, especially up front where Jim Abramitis, Al Lewis and Jeff Carr. In particular, have just not come along as fast as expected.

Abramitis has proven on occasion that he can score and he shows flashes of form at times but lack of speed and fouling are too deficits.

The 6-10 Lewis, a freshman, just isn't polished and needs game experience but he's in over his head at the moment. He's averaging just over two points a game.

Carr played better as a freshman last year. Inability to keep out of foul trouble and lack of speed hurt as well. He just can't seem to get motivated.

Randy LaVigne has been a hot and cold performer while Dennis Wolff can shoot, period, although on the bench at the moment with an ankle sprain.

In fairness to all, Abramitis, Carr, Lewis and LaVigne are playing up to their potential, but the opposite is just that much better with more poise and experience.

Win, or lose, UConn has been involved in as many as nine thrillers, down to the wire games, with four in overtime to date.

Rowe's team, despite its shortcomings, has managed to play exciting and interesting ball. The UConn schedule is most demanding.

The Huskies will most likely gain a post-season bid due to the lack of talent in New England among eligible teams. Providence, Holy Cross and Rhode Island rate the top three spots with UConn and Fairfield in the race for the other berth.

Rowe is hopeful his team will outpace the second half of the campaign. Meanwhile, followers should remember this is a young, inexperienced team that is struggling. Connecticut, entering Harvard tonight and the record could slip to 500 after 14 games.

End of the line
Riders planning to ride the Connecticut Transit line to the Hartford Civic Center Thursday night for the UConn-UMass basketball games were left out in the cold. More than 200 appeared at the Calder lot but no bus was dispatched. Dave Cowens' contract with the Boston Celtics calls for $5,000 a week in salary. He also has a number of outside lucrative contracts...Have a nice weekend.

helped guide Boston to two championships during his reign. But there were other times when the long layoff, which took him to his farm in Newport, Ky., and a harness racing job in the Boston suburbs, was evident.

In nearly 23 minutes of play, Cowens finished with eight points and six rebounds before fouling out of a game in which the Celtics narrowly missed the presence of Charlie Scott, the dependable guard out for the season with a broken arm.

"I just hoped I could produce and not be a hindrance out there," the red-haired pivotman said. "I just wanted to get into the game and stay in it."

"It just is that my timing is off. I can't put my hands out and know the ball will go there."

The Celtics trailed by 14 points, 47-33, when Cowens checked into the game for the second time with 4:28 remaining in the half. He led Boston on a 17-4 burst that left it a point behind, 51-50, at the half.

But Portland, sparked by Herm Gilliam and Bob Gross, went on an 18-3 spurt early in the third quarter to put the game out of reach.

Jo White and Curtis Rowe topped Boston with 19 points. Portland's Pacific Division leaders were paced by Bill Walton and Maurice Lucas with 16 points, while Gilliam, Gross and Johnny Davis had 14.

Elsewhere in the NBA, Denver took Cleveland 116-96. Philadelphia defeated Kansas City 111-106. Atlanta whipped the New York Nets 120-101. Golden State topped Indiana 113-102. Buffalo routed New Orleans 131-102. Washington stopped Chicago 94-89. Houston crushed Milwaukee 111-94. Los Angeles edged San Antonio 109-106 and Seattle ripped the New York Knicks 127-107.

Nuggets 116, Cavaliers 96
Paul Silas scored 11 key points in the first half to spark Denver in a game between divisional leaders. High-point honors for the Nuggets were shared by David Thompson and Dan Ainge with 19 apiece. Silas finished with 13 points and a game-high 18 rebounds. Campy Russell topped Cleveland with 17 points.

Loyd Free scored 24 points and Julius Erving and George McGinnis had 23 each to power Atlantic Division-leading Philadelphia to its third straight win. For Kansas City, Ron Boone scored 23 and Brian Taylor 21.

Top N.E. tennis pros due at Racquet Club

By EARL YOST

New England's finest male professional tennis players will converge on Manchester the last weekend in February to take part in the New England Tennis Stars Tournament at the Manchester Racquet Club.

The Connecticut stop on the third annual tour has the biggest net turnover ever staged in Manchester and will be known as the Manchester Memorial Hospital Tennis Championships.

Sixteen of New England's top professionals, headed by Bailey Brown of Acton, Mass., will take part along with Bill Drake, also of Acton, and Bill Carlson, current top singles and doubles player in New England. Brown is also a member of the Boston Labsters of the World Team Tennis League.

Up for grabs will be $2,000 in cash with eight local businessmen underwriting the expense. All profits are earmarked for the local hospital.

Jack Redmond, Racquet Club head

pro, will supervise play and will also be one of the competitors.

Bleachers, to accommodate 700, will be erected on court No. 5, Redmond said. There will be an admission charge each day as well as a special reduced weekend ticket. Play will commence Friday night, Feb. 25 with eight singles matches. Saturday morning, Feb. 26, play resumes with singles and doubles play and the same format will be continued the next day.

Court No. 6 will be the scene of championship play in both singles and doubles.

The Manchester stop will be the third on the eight-city tour this season. Brown has been the grand winner in each of the first two years, points being totaled after each event.

As well as the pro play, a Pro-Am Doubles Tournament is slated. In addition the strictly pro competition, a Pro-Am Doubles Tournament will be staged, plus a free clinic.

Labeled NETS, the New England play is the brainchild of Ted Hoehn of Burlington, Vt., longtime teaching pro.

Spectator interest has been reported high and Redmond is hopeful that tennis buffs in this area will turn out to watch the best pros in New England when the NETS stop off at the Racquet Club.

Humiliating

UNIVERSITY CENTER, Mich. (UPI) — If there is a section in the Guinness Book of World Records for humiliating defeats, the John Wesley College women's basketball team is a virtual shoo-in.

The final score in Friday night's game: Saginaw Valley State College 140, John Wesley 8.

The setback drops the Silk Towers, defending league champs, out of a share for the league lead with Pemey. Manchester now shows a 7-3 CCIL record, 73 over-all, while Pemy took over sole possession of the top rung at 8-1 with an easy win over East Hartford. It'll be interesting Tuesday night as Manchester travels to Pemy to start the second round of league play.

The Indians, having to battle from behind most of the way with only a couple of deadlocks to show for their efforts, finally gained the lead and led with six-and-a-half minutes left, 48-47, on a 12-foot jumper by Scott Hyde. But, after a missed Windham hoop try, the Indians' John Fisch took a poorly selected 25-foot jumper from the top of the key which drew nothing but air.

Windham, now 6-3 in the league and over-all, came back down and regained the upper hand on two foul shots by Chris Risley and moved the margin to three on a Larry Hayden 17-foot jumper. Mike Sherman responded for Manchester with a basket at 3:33 but in the next two minutes Windham outscored the locals, 9-2, to salt away the win.

"We get up by one and then aren't patient enough," the maner Manchester coach Doug Pearson, "We came down and took two bad shots in a row."

"Windham played inspired basketball, we didn't and that appeared to be the difference. One thing, we can't win when we shoot like that and our defense stunk. We didn't shoot well,

Cowens welcomed back but Trail Blazers win

NEW YORK (UPI) — On a snowy New England evening, Dave Cowens and Boston reunited.

The 6-foot-8 center took the floor for pregame warmups Friday night and was saluted with a 30-second standing ovation by a capacity hometown crowd of 15,000.

But not even his return was enough to contain the Portland Trail Blazers, who ran to a 107-92 victory.

"I didn't know what to expect when I went out," said Cowens, mysteriously ending his self-imposed retirement from the game just as mysteriously as he began it.

Having left the Celtics nine weeks ago for personal reasons, Cowens showed some of the brilliance that helped guide Boston to two championships during his reign. But there were other times when the long layoff, which took him to his farm in Newport, Ky., and a harness racing job in the Boston suburbs, was evident.

In nearly 23 minutes of play, Cowens finished with eight points and six rebounds before fouling out of a game in which the Celtics narrowly missed the presence of Charlie Scott, the dependable guard out for the season with a broken arm.

"I just hoped I could produce and not be a hindrance out there," the red-haired pivotman said. "I just wanted to get into the game and stay in it."

Portland's Pacific Division leaders were paced by Bill Walton and Maurice Lucas with 16 points, while Gilliam, Gross and Johnny Davis had 14.

Elsewhere in the NBA, Denver took Cleveland 116-96. Philadelphia defeated Kansas City 111-106. Atlanta whipped the New York Nets 120-101. Golden State topped Indiana 113-102. Buffalo routed New Orleans 131-102. Washington stopped Chicago 94-89. Houston crushed Milwaukee 111-94. Los Angeles edged San Antonio 109-106 and Seattle ripped the New York Knicks 127-107.

Nuggets 116, Cavaliers 96
Paul Silas scored 11 key points in the first half to spark Denver in a game between divisional leaders. High-point honors for the Nuggets were shared by David Thompson and Dan Ainge with 19 apiece. Silas finished with 13 points and a game-high 18 rebounds. Campy Russell topped Cleveland with 17 points.

Loyd Free scored 24 points and Julius Erving and George McGinnis had 23 each to power Atlantic Division-leading Philadelphia to its third straight win. For Kansas City, Ron Boone scored 23 and Brian Taylor 21.

Hawks 120, Nets 101
Hawke fired in 31 points and

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: In 1973 I wrote to you and you printed my letter together with your answer, which changed my life. I would like to share with you what has happened to me since:

1. I have sustained my 100-pound weight loss for five years.

2. I went into therapy, I received a Master's degree in psychology, and am now a practicing and teaching therapist.

3. I owe an eternal debt of gratitude to Overeaters Anonymous and Albert in Los Angeles.

DEAR ALBERT: Don't sell yourself short. Without your determination, you never could have accomplished your goal. I shall reprint your letter as an inspiration to others who need it now.

DEAR ABBY: My name is Albert, and I weigh 300 pounds. I was in a diet for the time of 8,000, my marriage was on the rocks and I was about to attend meetings if I had not been told by Albert in Los Angeles that I had to lose weight. I had tried reducing clubs and three times, diet doctors, quick doctors, shot pills, and even hypnosis. One diet doctor put me on pills and shot pills and I lost 100 pounds in seven months. In less than six months I had put it all back on again. (It cost me $1,500.)

Then someone told me about Overeaters Anonymous, and I went to a meeting. There were signs all over the place saying, "WE CARE."

Albert, I have never had a more loving, caring bunch of people in my life. I couldn't believe it. The only requirement to join "O.A." is a desire to stop eating compulsively. There are no dues and nobody is weighed in or humiliated. You don't even have to attend meetings if you don't want to. I can only tell you that after that first meeting I felt that God had sent me there. In fact, he sent me there because I was so fat and I was so unhappy. I weigh 180 pounds, am a diet free, have money in the bank and my marriage is more secure than ever. I've even started my own church, where I am ashamed to say that's what happened to me.

ALBERT IN LOS ANGELES
personally spoke with several members of "O.A.," and every word you wrote is true. Anyone interested in learning more about this wonderful organization (there are chapters all over the U.S.) may write to Albert in Los Angeles, P.O. Box 34854, Los Angeles, Calif. 90034.

DEAR ABBY: The other day a friend of mine (I will call her Josephine) told me how cool she thought my brother was and that would give anything to go out with him. Well, I told my brother about Josephine and what she said, and he didn't think the same about her. In fact, he thought she was a creep. I even offered him money to take her out just once, but he wouldn't do it. I know Josephine is going to ask me about my brother again. What shall I tell her?

ON THE SPOT
DEAR ON: If Josephine inquires about your "cool" brother again, tell her that he freezes at the suggestion of dating a friend of yours, and unless she can extract him on her own, it's not tonight Josephine - or any other night.

East bungles bid and play

The nine was played from dummy and here is where East really violated the laws of good bridge. He covered with his jack.

South won, played ace and queen of hearts to throw West in with the king. West led a club, but it was all over. South ruffed the club, ruffed a heart in dummy, ruffed another club, and another heart, got back to his hand with a third club ruff, pulled East's last two trumps, scored his contract trick with his last heart and conceded the last two tricks.

East could have seen all this and could have played a low trump. South would get to ruff one heart with the ace of trumps, but East's jack would overtrick the next one to hold South to nine tricks.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

East started out his career of crime when he failed to bid three clubs over North's two spades call. Not that this failure was a serious crime, just that it proved to be very expensive.

Had East bid three clubs West would surely have taken three. Finally the other bids four notrump. Our reader wants to know if four notrump is a better bid than three clubs. The answer is that it depends on partnership understanding. Most experts would play that just play four notrump, but some partnerships just play all four notrump calls as Blackwood.
