Snow

When sitting down to write this column, I found it increasingly dif-ficult to focus on anything but the veather. There are tall banks of snow everywhere, icy sidewalks to navigate, and long, dangerous icicles to avoid, not to mention the sore shoulder muscles from all that shoveling. Therefore, as you might have guessed, the topic of this article

Snow is a very interesting, beautiful and sometimes hazardous weather phenomenon. When air high about the earth cools very quickly to elow freezing, the water vapor pretiny particle or nucleus in the air into an ice crystal. This condensation takes place directly from water vapor to ice without passing the liquid state, a process known as sub-formed. Excess moisture in the atmosphere continues to condense around the ice crystals to form snow crystals. Ordinary snow crystals are ransparent and vary in size from one-fiftieth to one-half of an inch in

In northern or mountainous regions, snow crystals fall to the ground individually, while in warmer areas they stick together as they float downward to form snowflake Large snowflakes sometimes contain thousands of ice crystals.

Snow crystals, some experts say are the most beautiful crystals obser vable in nature. They display delicate, hexagonal pattern of crystallization with no two crystals exactly alike.

Ponticelli's original units facing E. Middle Tpke, are in the Eighth District, while the Middle Tpke, units are in the town's water and sewer districts. Ponticelli is billed by the town for water, but does not receive sewer charges, according to the Town Water Department. There are now about 35 tenants in the seven units which are using water, according to water department records.

The whole question of which district the apartments are in has been left up in the air since the apartments were built in mid-1972, Ponticelli said. "There has always been a question where it was," he said and he has been "wondering right along" what the Eighth District is going to do.
"The Eighth District has the right to bill me," Pon-

He also believes the town owes him repayment for all the extra fire tax he has been paying the town. Since the town fire rate is 6.17 mills and the Eighth District's rate is only 2 mills, Ponticelli believes he should be repaid for by the town. He intends to ask the town to do this, he said as soon as this whole thing is straightened out."

The situation came to the attention of the Eighth District Directors about two months ago when both fire departments responded to a fire in the complex. Since then the directors have been trying to determine if the apartments are, in fact, in the Eighth District. Calvin Taggart, superintendent of public works for the Eighth District, said the Charles Dr. apartments are in Lawrence Noone, district director, urged the directors Monday night to look into the matter for the third month in a row. He said it may involve "quite a few dollars." In the meantime, Charles Ponticelli is patiently waiting for them to make up their minds.

Chorale plans concert

The Manchester Civic Chorale has scheduled a Choraleonly concert tentatively for April 3. Since the Chorale was formed, it has performed one concert each season with the Manchester Civic Orchestra.

The Chorale will perform Gabriel Faure's "Requiem" and Mozart's "Missa Brevis." Stuart Gillespie, who directed the group for Handel's "Messiah" in December, will conduct the Chorale again. All past and present members of the Chorale are invited to attend the first rehearsal on Monday, Jan. 31 at 7:30 p.m. at Robertson School, N. School St. Anyone interested in joining the Chorale may do so by attending the first rehearsal. No audition is necessary, but each singer should have previous choral experience. Further information is available by calling John McClain, Chorale personnel manager, at 643-7549.

Expensive seeds are often sold by actual count. I have a packet of marigold seeds that is abeled "60 seeds." It also tells me that they will stand 20 inches tall and should not be planted until after danger of frost has ended. Vegetable seed packets will tell you how many days you will have to wait for harvest, if a rabbit doesn't do the harvesting for you first.

Deadline changed for MCC course by newspaper

Class orientation has been postponed and registration has been extended for the winter program of Courses by Newspaper, offered for college credit by Manchester munity College in cooperation with The Manchester

Evening Herald.

The first of 16 weekly articles in the course, "Moral Choices in Contemporary Society," will be published in The Herald's Weekend magazine Saturday. An MCC orientation meeting for registered students originally scheduled Saturday, has been postponed until Feb. 5 (another Saturday) at 1 p.m. The meeting will be conducted in Room MB-13 on MCC's main campus, Bidwell St.

The deadline for mail registration for the credit course by using the accompanying coupon, has been extender another week, to Jan. 29. In addition, there will be two more in-person registration sessions - this Saturday and Jan. 29. Both will run from 9 a.m. to noon at the MCC registrar's office in the main campus administration

The 16-course articles, to be published weekly i Weekend magazine, are one component of the three credit MCC course. There is also the registration session two examinations (mid-term and final), and two optional review sessions to be conducted before each examina The registration fee for the course is $40. The course text, costing $5.50, and study guide, costing $2.95, are available at the MCC book store. In the series of articles, 11 prominent scholars probe topics ranging from abortion and aging to political, siness and science ethics. Courses by Newspaper was developed by University Extension, University of California at San Diego, and is unded by the National Endowment for the Humanities The local instructor for "Moral Choices" is Dr. John F Jacobs, associate professor of philosophy at MCC Further information about the course is available from MCC's Division of Community Services, telephone 646

DEAR ABBY: Approximately a year ago you ran an article about a mother who never made her own Thanksgiving or Christmas dinner. Instead, she went to her mother so mother in-law's. She wrote to say that she rishes now that she had developed her own holiday hat letter was terrific. If you could publish it again, it would be a great help to a lot of people.

DEAR ABBY: I've been reading your column for years, and around holiday time someone siwaya aska, "Should we go to HiS mother's or to MY mother's for Thankagiving and Christmas dinner?" Your answer has always been: "Why not alternate?"

Abby, my husband and I struggled with that problem for cars, and we resolved it according to your suggestion. Both sets of parents lived nearby, and it seemed the only air thing to do. So for 22 years, we spent Thanksgiving and Christmas in parents' homes instead of our own.

It never dawned on us until this year—as our children are ready to strike out on their own—that we never developed our own holiday traditions. We always went to Grandma's for the holidays. She insisted on doing all the cooking herself, and then she complained for months about how much work it was and how tired she got. When we, har daughters and daughters in law asked if we could bring her daughters and daughers in law, asked if we could bring something for the dinner, she wouldn't hear of it. When we brought food without asking her, she refused to serve it, so we finally gave up.

I realize now what a high price I've paid over the years for peace in the family. I wish I hadn't. Abby, please urge young married to dare to have their own holiday celebrations in their own homes. Suggest that they invite their parents and grandparents, who might even be relieved to be finally free of the burden of ning three generations.

Perhaps it will inspire others to "Do their own thing," too. It makes a lot of sense.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "FOR CENSORSHIP": I agree, there is an excess of garbage passing for "literature" these days, but this is what one great American champion of human rights had to say about "censorship" 175 years ago: "I am mortified to be told that, in the United States of American appart the sale of a bonk on the certified America, a question about the sale of a book can be carried before the civil magistrate.
