Grasso to seek investment tax credit

WATERBURY (UPI) — Gov. Ella T. Grasso today announced she would accept the plea from the state's business leaders and ask the legislature to provide an investment tax credit to firms operating in Connecticut. The message was delivered to the Connecticut Business and Industry Association by Lt. Gov. Robert K. Killian who pinch hit for Mrs. Grasso who canceled a scheduled appearance to speak in Boston at federal energy hearings. "I will recommend a program of tax credits for business and industry in areas of high unemployment based on the creation of new jobs. The program originated in the business community, and offers the promise of meaningful incentives to help reduce unemployment throughout our state," the Grasso speech said. No mention was made, however, of how large a tax credit would be provided, in line with Mrs. Grasso's policy of releasing no budget-related figures until she announces the total package Feb. 8. The business services cut is aimed at helping small businesses, while the decrease on the corporate equipment lease is meant as an incentive to large manufacturers to expand their operation, thereby increasing badly needed factory jobs. Elimination of each would cost successfully with other states for about $24 million in lost state revenue, officials say. An investment tax credit, the governor's aides said, would give an impetus to all business in the state to expand and help it compete with neighboring Rhode Island, New York and Massachusetts, all of whom have similar tax programs. Although business leaders enthusiastically back the investment tax credit, some concede unless it is a substantial discount — say 5 per cent — it will not be much help in stimulating employment. The Democrats recessed their convention last July after nominating candidate for the U.S. Senate and Congress. The January get-together was set up to change party rules. State HARTFORD — Gov. Ella T. Grasso Friday said natural gas legislation allowing diversion of Connecticut's reserves without attention to price would be devoting to consumer pocket-books and penalize them because the state was prepared for cold weather emergencies. HARTFORD — Connecticut utilities say they have enough natural gas for the state's homes and businesses to last through the current cold spell, but warn that could change if Congress authorizes a federal allocation program. HARTFORD — Any Connecticut citizen or corporation helping trade boycotts by Arab states against Israel would be subject to penalties under legislation supported by James J. Kennedy, D-Hartford. It adopted, Connecticut would be the fourth state to have such a law. Regional BUZZARDS BAY, Mass. — Thick ice floes today stymied relief tugs laboring to reach a grounded barge leaking much of its 5 million gallons of badly needed home heating oil into waters only hundreds of yards from the shore of this summer resort area. PHOENIX, Ariz. — An attorney for one of the two men charged as accomplices in the murder of newsmen Don Bolles says John Adamson, the confessed killer who implicated them, is an "unmitigated liar." James Robison and Max Dunlap were charged with murder and conspiracy at a preliminary hearing Friday. WASHINGTON — President Carter summoned his diplomatic and intelligence advisers to the White House today for a foreign policy review. The two-hour session included Secretary of State Cyrus Vance, United Nations Ambassador-designate Andrew Young, National Security adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski and acting CIA Director Enzo Angeli. HOLLYWOOD — Freddie Prinz, costar of the television comedy "Chico and the Man," lingered near death today after firing a pistol bullet through his brain Friday in despair over the breakup of his marriage. He was in critical condition following emergency surgery at the UCLA Medical Center. International PARIS — Vice President Walter Mondale today met French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing at the Elysee Palace to review the treaty subjects of nuclear proliferation, the armaments race and the handling of terrorists. Mondale's next stop will be his get-acquainted tour will be Tokyo. MADRID, Spain — A left-wing urban guerrilla group today said it is responsible for the submarine gun slaying of three Madrid policemen. Police used special powers to round up left-wing extremists suspects. The killings raised to 10 the toll from political violence which prompted the suspension of two parts of the constitution to allow search of homes without a warrant and to hold suspects indefinitely without a charge.

MCC ice sculptures on display These artistic creations in ice were lined up in front of the Student Center at Manchester Community College Friday. They are first attempts at ice sculpting by students in the catering class of the Hotel and Food Service Management Program. The students are given minimal instruction on how to proceed and then given free rein to experiment. Randy Peck of Ellington, a student at MCC, looks over the art work.

Contacts with Buckland appellants brings threat of an injunction

By GREG PEARSON Herald Reporter The attorneys who filed the appeal of a zone change needed for the proposed industrial park are considering injunctive action to prevent Town of Manchester officials from talking to their clients. Atty. Bruce Beck, who along with Atty. Anthony Pagano filed the appeal on behalf of seven clients, said that discussions now between the town and his clients is "highly improper." Beck said this morning that two of his clients have been contacted by a town official about the appeal. "If there is any further contact, we're definitely going to seek an injunction," Beck said today. "Such an injunction would prevent any further contact between town representatives and the plaintiffs in the appeal. The Manchester Economic Development Commission (EDC) approved the appointment of one of its members, Robert Stone, to discuss the appeal with some of the seven plaintiffs listed in the action. (Stone was not the person who has already contacted the clients.) The EDC decided that a discussion between one of its members and the plaintiffs in the appeal might help solve some of the concerns of those who have taken the action. Atty. Jules Karp, who was hired by the EDC to handle the presentation at the zone change public hearing, told the commission Friday that such

Officials planning natural gas shifts

By DONALD C. BROWN JR. United Press International Canada's National Energy Board approved an emergency route to ship natural gas to the East Coast of the United States for the next two months, Michigan to New York to Atlanta hundreds of thousands of workers already have been idled by the natural gas shortage and more layoffs were due during the week-end. Citizens in some Eastern areas were asked to lower their thermostats to 60 degrees at night to help stretch supplies, even though snow was falling and weather officials warned the mercury would drop to a low of zero and rise not much higher than 10 degrees during the week-end. Although dwindling gas supplies still were sufficient to warm individual residences, one energy official said some areas may be within a few days of being cut off completely. "I am not attempting to frighten you, energy adviser James Schlesinger told a House subcommittee Monday. "But in a few weeks indeed in a few days, we are likely to find some homes in the United States cut off natural gas." An emergency energy bill sent to Congress this week by President Carter currently is bogged down in arguments over whether utilities should be allowed to buy gas from wherever they can at whatever price they have to pay. The bill also gives the President authority to force pipelines to share supplies with each other so homes and hospitals are assured of gas. Hearings on the bill were to resume Monday. An emergency energy bill sent to Congress this week by President Carter currently is bogged down in arguments over whether utilities should be allowed to buy gas from wherever they can at whatever price they have to pay. The bill also gives the President authority to force pipelines to share supplies with each other so homes and hospitals are assured of gas. Hearings on the bill were to resume Monday. As Congress delayed action, Canada's National Energy Board approved an emergency route to ship natural gas to the East Coast of the United States for the next two months, Michigan to New York to Atlanta hundreds of thousands of workers already have been idled by the natural gas shortage and more layoffs were due during the week-end. Citizens in some Eastern areas were asked to lower their thermostats to 60 degrees at night to help stretch supplies, even though snow was falling and weather officials warned the mercury would drop to a low of zero and rise not much higher than 10 degrees during the week-end. Although dwindling gas supplies still were sufficient to warm individual residences, one energy official said some areas may be within a few days of being cut off completely. "I am not attempting to frighten you, energy adviser James Schlesinger told a House subcommittee Monday. "But in a few weeks indeed in a few days, we are likely to find some homes in the United States cut off natural gas." LWV to discuss energy topics

Solar Energy and Alternative Energy Sources will be the topic for discussion at a meeting of the League of Women Voters on Feb. 6 at 8:30 p.m.

Dr. Krishnan Raman, visiting associate professor at the University of Connecticut, will be the guest speaker. He has taught several courses on solar energy and energy conservation. He is scheduled to conduct a short course at Manchester Community College on saving energy in the home.

The meeting will be at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Walter Schardt, 31 Eastland Dr.

A study to evaluate sources of energy and the government's role in meeting future needs is part of the National League of Women Voters program for 1976-78.

The local league will also be taking a member vote at the meeting in support of the state league's position on the bottle bill.

A sherry social will precede Dr. Raman's talk. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Shirley FitzGerald or Mrs. Rebecca Janenda.

News for Senior Citizens

By WALLY FORTIN

Hello and goodbye to our members who at 7 tomorrow morning will be heading for the sunny 7' south, and we wish them a safe and enjoyable trip.

Don't forget that the week of tomorrow, Feb. 6, is the beginning of our workdays for a variety of work. We are looking for a large turnout, and anyone who wants to help in any way should attend this meeting and audition.

Bowling
The news here at the Center starts with our Senior Bowling League at the Parkside Lanes last Tuesday with the following results:
Men, Class A (over 130 average), high triple, Clarence Peterson, 321; high single, Al Bolis 301; Men, Class B (130 average and under), high triple and single, Tom Riddlel, 413-150; Women, Class A (over 100 average), high triple and single, Kim McComb, 164-423; Women, Class B (100 average and under), high triple and single, Marion James, 369-161.

On Wednesday morning, we had 36 players for our pinocle games and the winners were: Audrey Durey, 623; Michael DeSimone, 619; John Derby, 612; Archie Houghtaling, 608; Martha LaBate, 592; Michael Haberman, 587; Olive Houghtaling, 586; Sam Schors, 578; Joseph Carlin, 566.

Art and Crafts Class was busy downstairs, we had 12 players for our bridge games and the lucky prize winners were: Nadine Malcom 4,200; George Last, 3,990; Lou Butler, 3,460. Tax aid
Here's great news for you seniors who need help with their income tax. Starting this Tuesday afternoon and Tuesdays right on to April 12, John Dorman and the following AARP members - George Pottier, William Graff, Frank Moreoso, Richard Reinold, Patrick Hallinan, Elizabeth Coleman and John Coburn - will team up and be on duty from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. So here is a terrific opportunity to get some excellent help with your taxes, and being on Tuesday, it will make it easy to find a parking space.

Last Thursday, after a delicious Chinese dinner, the action moved upstairs.
Fun Day
In the afternoon, our own members put on a great show for us under the talented direction of Celeste King. Singing and skits highlighted the afternoon with the following taking part: Shirley Horan, Ted and Irene Browne, Arvid Peterson, Lena Speed, Bernadette Noel, Jim Pizzo, Helen Flavel and Ewe Warner. The afternoon ended with the whole group leading a sing-along.

A note of interest is that our only living original member, Mae Tivnan, has been playing the piano, leading us in our national anthem every Fun Day just close to 20 years now, and we are very grateful to Mae and think it's just marvelous that she is still willing and able to volunteer her services. We thank her ever so much.

Guest speaker
Next Thursday, our guest speaker will be Nelson Douglas, director of the Safety Commission for the State of Connecticut. He will speak on Reflective Safety. The title of the Winter Carnival Sunday

There hasn't been a Winter Carnival in Manchester since before World War II, but there is going to be one tomorrow. It won't have all the usual ingredients for a winter carnival, there won't be any speed skating, nor any barrel jumping, nor a hockey game. But the Eighth District is to be commended for sponsoring the revival of a Winter Carnival.

Is slavery gone?

It's like old times in Africa's Gulf of Guinea. For one thing, the pirates are back. Foreign freighters waiting off the Nigerian coast for harbor berths are said to be coming under increasing attack from plunderers, who hide out in a maze of lagoons and swoop down on the ships in motorized dugout canoes. Meanwhile, slavery, or what amounts to slavery, has been introduced in nearby Equatorial Guinea. The small country, which won its independence from Spain in 1968, is ruled by an absolute despot, President Macias Nguema Biyogo. There is nothing remarkable about that in Africa today, but last March the president decreed compulsory manual labor for everyone for 15 in government mines and plantations. According to reports by the British Anti-Slavery Society, an estimated 20,000 forced laborers are employed in the cultivation of cocoa on the closely guarded island of Fernando Po, which has been renamed Macias Nguema Biyogo in honor of the maximum leaders.

The Carter inauguration

Ex-President Ford did a magnificent job for a sorely-racked nation in its time of need. For Mr. Carter, all is yet to be done. All we know at present is that he has put together a most surprisingly reassuring team. A thing that has become apparent about Mr. Carter is that he is likely to run a very tight ship in Washington, in the sense that disciplined team work will be the order of the day. One suspects that if any one individual is going to shine forth more brightly than others it will only be allowed that it should be the President himself. That would be no bad thing. One Kissinger, great as Henry's services were, is enough to last quite a time. Mr. Carter's speech gave no unexpected pointers to his outlook on foreign affairs but that is not surprising. Enough is known about his views to make two things likely: He will not be a pushover; and he can recognize an enemy when he sees one. Together with the sage band of advisers he has collected around him, he should be able to ensure that the wider interests of the free western world are well attended to. From The London Daily Telegraph

Freedom of press stopped here

WASHINGTON - On the morning after the bad weather came to Washington my newspaper was not delivered. I woke with the usual expectations of front page grid and editorial enlightenment. Instead, nothing, not a comic or an ad. I tried to make do with a back copy of Time magazine, but it wasn't the same at all. I was angry. Worse, I was off my routine. It was as if I had dressed without shaving, the pieces of my morning were not all in place. Did the planets collide? I would have to wait for a newstand edition to learn. But by then, full of steam and buried in the day's obligations, I would not have time to read it if they had. Turned to catastrophe. Alas, misfortune turned to catastrophe. I did not receive my newspaper the next morning, or the morning after. The heavy snows had melted somewhat, allowing the roads to clear, and my neighbors were receiving their papers as usual. He said they can and sometimes do. Well, I told the circulation director that I did not think John Peter Zenger would approve. He replied that many papers now realize franchising is a mistake, a public relations nightmare, but that retreat is difficult. Many newspapers, including the Post, are trying to eliminate the outsiders, but the courts are not friendly. Antitrust is involved. Franchisers regularly get the law to confirm their independence. Sigh noted. The circulation director said he would try to work something out for me. Which meant he would put my complaint with thousands of others, and send them to the franchise dealers with a plea for reason. I noted a sigh in his voice. Here was a circulation director who was not in charge of circulation. And he had just confessed that freedom of the press and McDonald's hamburgers have many things in common. I am still not receiving the Washington Post. I am filing the a.m. void with - gad - radio and television news, for shallow as it is at least at my bidding. And it strikes me as odd, in competitive times, when newspaper circulation is at best a worrisome thing, that I am being forced to add to my own industry's problems.

Jerry Ford's challenge to Democratic thinking

WASHINGTON - No rhetoric - Mr. Ford was dead serious when he said he intends to be the leader of the Republican Party in the years just ahead.

Ray Cromley

Worse yet, states and cities tend to take federal money, and either subsidize federal financing for jobs they'd fund themselves, spend the funds on projects of bottom of the barrel priority or on overstated wasteful programs. Laws aimed at encouraging private industry to increase its employment will give the flavor of this extraordinary document. Public service programs to relieve unemployment, says Ford, tend to provide only limited numbers of jobs at a very high cost. The average service job, with a six month turnover, costs $8,000 a year. The average subsidized public works job may cost from $10,000 to $25,000 - some in the $40,000-a-year range. By contrast, the average per-man cost of unemployment compensation is $1,700.

His attack on unemployment programs passed by this majority's most cherished concepts. High cost. His attack on unemployment programs passed by this majority's most cherished concepts. High cost. His attack on unemployment programs passed by this majority's most cherished concepts. High cost.

Thornton M Zone plans opposed by area resident

To the editor, Enclosed please find a copy of a letter that I sent to the Board of Directors of the Town of Manchester. I feel that the public should be more aware of what is in planning stages for Manchester and this is the time to stop it, not after the zoning has been changed.

"The age of human resourcefulness"

To the editor, It is this writer's deep and inherent feeling, that we as members of the human race, are entering into the greatest period of our history. The population increase in world population and the tremendous decrease of the world's natural resources, is causing concern throughout the world.

Thompson lauded

To the editor, I read your article on the former mayor, John Thompson.

Thought

"Peace" No word in heaven or earth is more important than this: Peace. When was the last time you spoke it? May the Peace of God which passes all our understandings, keep our hearts and minds in the knowledge and love of God and of His Son Jesus Christ our Lord.

Indian Valley Y had a great '76

John Magee, chairman of the Indian Valley YMCA said that 1976 was the most successful year in the Y's six-year history. Indian Valley serves the towns of Vernon, Tolland, Ellington, South Windsor, and East Windsor. Magee said the highlights of the year included an increase in program activities and participants, a balanced budget and the payment of all past operating debts, and the receipt of a van donated by the Greater Vernon Jaycees.

In addition, Magee said, the Indian Valley branch increased its area of service to include supervision of the Y Indian Guide-Princess program in Manchester. He said membership in the Tri-Town United Way was also a tremendous asset in helping to provide financial stability for the branch.

During 1976 the YMCA sponsored more than 50 programs in a variety of fields including community improvement, competitive athletics, family life, informal education, aquatic, recreation skills and sports, and self-development skills.

In an academic and research environment, participants witness research projects in progress, hear presentations by eminent scientists and humanists and exchange ideas with Yale students and teachers. All participants will be guests in New Haven with food and lodging provided by Yale University, Olin Corp. and the U.S. Army Research Office.

Teller's chemistry teacher is Bolton High School's chairman of sciences, Kenneth Roy. Roy is also the instructor for the UConn Cooperative Program.

Indians hang on to top Hall, 58-53

By LEN AUSTER
Herald Sportswriter

Not making a field goal in the final quarter, Manchester High hit a nifty 20-yard drop to 21 from the foul line to maintain its lead and tack a 58-53 CCIL basketball defeat on Hall High last night at Clarke Arena before an estimated crowd of 500.

The Indian victory, coupled with a 70-68 Penney loss to Forni possession of the Silk Towners into the second place in the league at 10-17 with Penney a game behind at 9-3. The triumph also qualifies coach Doug Pearson's 10-4 record for the State Tournament for the third consecutive year. Hall, with the setback, drops to 7-5 in the CCIL and 8-5 over-all.

The locals were zero for seven in the final canto, after being 21 for 36 through three quarters, but as Pearson noted, "As long as we win the game, that's all that counts."

Warrior coach Dave Deacon explained with a touch of humor, "It was an excellent first half with both sides shooting well. Manchester 14 for 33 and Hall 12 for 22, with the Silk Towners leading at the turn, 16-14, with Scott Hyde hitting a jumper in the lane with six seconds to go for the four-point edge.

Dave Wyman hit a 20-foot jumper with three seconds to go in the half for a 30-26 advantage and Hyde connected with nine seconds remaining in the third period; these six points eventually proving to be very big.

Hall, trailing most of the way, led temporarily, 33-30, early in the second half on a Greg Calhoun hoop but buckled by John Pich and Frank Bourque, the latter off an assist from Pich, restored the upper hand to Manchester.

In the final three-and-a-half minutes of the third period, the Indians outscored Hall, 8-2, for a 45-38 edge going into the final session. That burst gave the Silk Towners a comfortable edge which it shakily maintained from the charity stripe the final eight minutes.

Pich led all scorers with 20 points along with five assists and five steals. Jeff Kiernan had 11 points and the 6-7 pivotman hauled in 10 rebounds and Hyde had 10 markers for the Indians. Calhoun, wearing a mask to protect a broken nose, was high for Hall with 16 points with Ken Saffir netting 12. The Warriors were 32 for 48 from the field, 10 for 20, Manchester's jayvees squared their record at 7-7 with a 52-50 win. Ron Apter had 12 points and Steve Pyka seven for the Indians.

Hitting on 22 of 26 free throw attempts, East Catholic tacked a second loss this season on St. Thomas Aquinas High of New Britain last night at home, 54-47 before 1,000 fans.

Outscored from the floor, 22 to 18, coach Stan Ogrodnicz led his team to 10-7 and 25-17 leads.

The starters scored all the points for East with Mark Dumais getting 13, Pete Thompson 12, 10 in the final eight minutes, Gary Carlson and Jeff Heim five. Lindberg also led the reboublers with nine and the rugged Henl picked off eight as East held a 21-15 and 43-19 in the circuit. Both clubs will be in post-season tournament.

Coming up with his finest performance of the season, Jon Lindberg paced the East point-makers with 15 points, 12 in the first half. He canned nine of 10 free throws, hitting all eight in the first half as he paced his team to 10-7 and 25-17 leads.

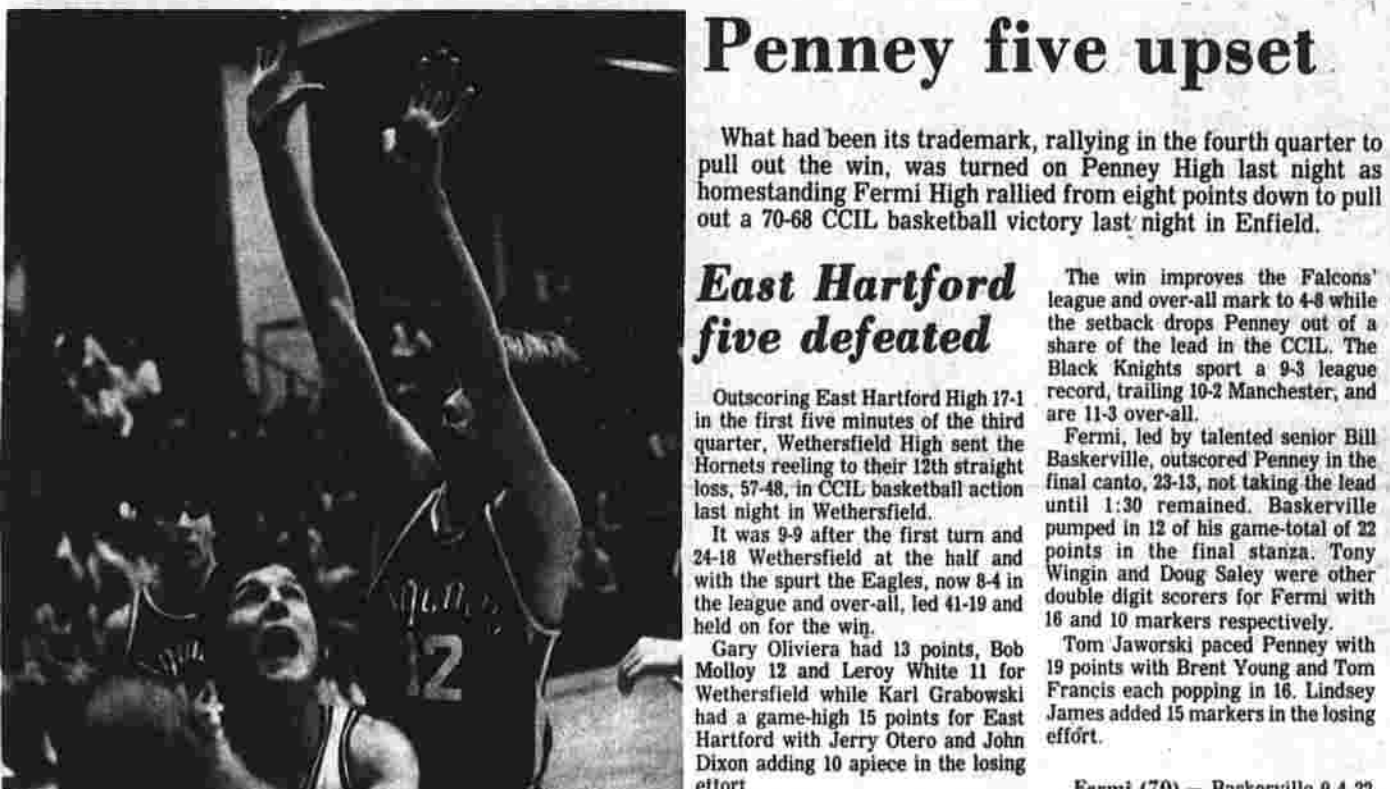

The starters scored all the points for East with Mark Dumais getting 13, Pete Thompson 12, 10 in the final eight minutes, Gary Carlson and Jeff Heim five. Lindberg also led the until the final 1:30 when the Saints were forced to foul and Thompson once again came through in the clutch with two baskets and four single pointers.

Defense stood out for both sides. East held the Saints to 10 points in the first half, one less than the Saints.

Penney five upset

What had been its trademark, rallying in the fourth quarter to pull out the win, was turned on Penney High last night as homesteading Fermi High rallied from eight points down to pull out a 70-68 CCIL basketball victory last night in Enfield.

The win improves the Falcons' league and over-all mark to 4-8 while the setback drops Penney out of a share of the lead in the CCIL. The Black Knights sport a 9-3 league record, trailing 10-3 Manchester, and are 11-3 over-all.

Fermi, led by talented senior Bill Baskerville, outscored Penney in the final canto, 23-13, not taking the lead until 1:30 remained. Baskerville pumped in 12 of his gamewinning 22 points in the final stanza. Tony Wing and Doug Sayer were other double digit scorers for Fermi with 10 and 10 markers respectively.

Tom Jaworski paced Penney with 19 points with Brent Young and Tom Francis each popping in 18. Lindsey Adams added 15 markers in the losing effort.

Fermi (70) — Baskerville 9 4 22, Slattery 2 4 6, Ruby 4 0 8, Wingan, Tony 7 2 16, Sayer 3 8, Salyo 5 0 10, Grodovich 2 4 8. Totals 19 19.

Canass for funds

Badly in need of financial assistance, members of the Manchester High hockey team will conduct a house to house canvass for funds today. Clyde Miller reports the boys have sold candy, shampooed carpets to make money and have contributed $150 each to date to meet operating costs. Gate support has been totally lacking. Miller reports, on game dates... Bill Leiby, former East Catholic High lineman, who was the starting offensive center job with UConn varsity football team last fall, has been named to the 1977 College Division Academic All-America second team. The Glastonbury man has a 3.8 grade point average... Dr. Carlos Benavides of Manchester, an active tennis player and veteran distance runner, lunched with Roy Emerson, player-coach of the Boston Lobsters this week in Hartford. The Lobsters' six-game Hartford slate will feature Billie Jean King, Bjorn Borg, Marty Riessen, Chris Evert, Rod Laver and Martina Navratilova in enemy colors. One of the reasons the Lobsters used for Tritic in favor of the ice show, said it cost her $20,000 a year to get along with women members of the team. Lobster spokesman Bob Kraft said Tritic is a "brilliant coach and works well with European and South American players but had problems with liberated American women."

Attendance up

Attendance for 60 Big Ten football games last season averaged 59,661 fans, highest in the nation. A total of 64 Southeastern Conference grid meetings lured 52,775 spectators to each offering... The NCAA reports average attendance for 3,108 games last fall was 10,200. Michigan was the top drawing college with the slimmest paid crowd listed at 101,040 against Navy. The Wolverines have averaged 100,000 fans for each home game at Ann Arbor the past two years. Finals of the ECAC hockey tournament, March 5 at the Hartford Civic Center will be telecast nationally by NBC... Cliff Demers, who stepped down as director of the East Catholic High this year, is busy with his hobby restoring old cars... Have a nice weekend.

Rockies improved

NEW YORK (UPI) — Admittedly, it wouldn't take too much on the part of the Colorado Rockies to show improvement.

After all, they won only 12 games last year when they were the Kansas City Scouts, and received a national rousing reception from the hometown fans that the franchise was shifted this season to Denver.

Roche little room to maneuver, driving him deep on the baseline with both forehand and backhand smashes and also scoring with attacks to the net.

"I CAN'T REACH IT" while futilely chasing a winning volley by Roche.

"He didn't have that sting tonight," Connors said of Roche, who he played in a tournament in Australia last November. "He played much better than me."

In what had to rank as something of a surprise, Stockton handled the 42-year-old Roosevelt rather easily, serving crisply and advancing to the net at will. Roosevelt did lead 2-0 at one time in the second set, but the Carroll, Tex., native broke his opponent's sixth game and pulled away to the net at will. PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Unlike his seeded colleagues, Jimmy Connors is threatening to turn the U.S. Pro Indoor Tennis Championships into a one-man sports and entertainment spectacular.

The 24-year-old defending champion, who hasn't lost a set here all week, once again labored for less than an hour while advancing to today's semifinals in the $200,000 tournament with a 6-2, 6-2 victory over veteran Tony Roche Friday night.

"I played as well tonight as I did last year here," said Connors, who has lost but 13 games in three matches. "I'd be very happy to see Connors playing like this all year."

With the win, the top-seeded Connors joins an unrecognizable final quartet in search of the $40,000 first prize. The only other seeded player is No. 12 Dick Stockton, who overwhelmed 10th-seeded Ken Rosewall, 6-0, 6-3.

The remaining players are veteran Cliff Drysdale, who defeated South African countryman Berra Milton, 2-6, 7-5, 6-3, and former NCAA singles champion Jeff Borwick, who eliminated Vijay Amritraj of India, 3-6, 6-2, 7-5.

Whalers win again

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — The New England Whalers built up a 5-0 lead in the first 36 minutes of play and coasted to a 6-2 World Hockey Association win over the Phoenix Roadrunners Friday night.

Dave Keon, an 18-year veteran of major league hockey, and Brett Callaghan, a 23-year-old rookie, scored a goal and two assists each as the Whalers registered their second road victory for the first time this season.

Johnny McKenzie and Steve Carlton put New England into a 2-0 lead in the season in the victory over Indianapolis. Veteran Dave Keon and rookie Brett Callaghan scored a goal and two assists to lift New England over Phoenix, and Larry Lund scored the winning goal in Houston's triumph at Edmonton.

Phoenix finally scored with 22 seconds left in the second period on a power play goal by Robby Florek. Teammate followed. Steppo Reppo made it 5-2 at 6:28 of the final period and both sides went up and down the ice before Whaler Dave Hynes chalked up a Whaler goal with 15

Havlicek paces Celtics

NEW YORK (UPI) There are players in the National Basketball Association that are bigger, stronger and faster than John Havlicek, but not many of them are able to produce in the clutch like Boston's beloved Hondo.

At 58, Havlicek has seen all there is to be in the NBA — like eight World Championship banners, all 18-season with a broken arm, Havlicek has probably the last shot as an extended starter and he will play a big role in any defense the Celtics muster of their world championship.

Havlicek scored 23 points and passed off nine assists Friday night to help Boston snap a four-game losing streak with a 119-113 victory over the Milwaukee Bucks. It was only the second time in two seasons Havlicek has topped the 20-point mark in a game.

"Havlicek just picked up apart," said Milwaukee Coach Don Nelson, a former Boston teammate of Hondo. "He's still the same old pro."

"I don't care whether I start or come off the bench. I'll play as long as I can help the team win. I'm happy."

Steve Kuberski and Joe White chipped in 15 points apiece for the Celtics while Junior Bridgeman hit 23 and Dave Meyers 22 for the Bucks.

In other games, Golden State defeated the New York Knicks 106-94, Kansas City downed Chicago 105-94, Houston beat Atlanta 118-104 and New Orleans 106-96 and Los Angeles defeated Philadelphia 117-110.

The Cleveland Cavaliers-Buffalo Braves game was postponed because of poor weather conditions.

Had it not been for the Villanova blitz, the performance of 35-year-old Willie Davenport, pole vaulter Earl Bell and sprinter Steve Riddick and Ronny Bryant might have gathered in a bigger share of the Millrose spotlight.

Davenport, the four-time Olympian, won his fifth Millrose 50-yard high hurdle title and first since 1970 with a time of 7.0 seconds.

"I love this," he said. "But this is absolutely my last year. I've got to start spending more time with my family. I had some fear of a couple of guys in the race tonight and that's what keeps me psyched up."

Bell, the Arkansas State senior, got off the first 16-foot pole vault of the indoor season (18-feet, 12-inch) to be exact and then tried unsuccessfully three times at a world indoor best of 18-4. "I'm not disappointed," he said. "It's my winning that counts."

Millrose Games

U.S. track enthusiasts have known for years — that when it comes to distance running, don't ever discuss the man from Villanova.

Don Paige and Mark Belger, a pair of recuperating Wildcat middle distance standouts, looked completely healthy in dominating the 1,000 yard and half-mile finals.

Paige, who suffered a stress fracture of his ankle last year, won the 1,000 in 2:09.5, while Belger, a hamstring pull victim, was a 1:50.0 victor in the half mile.

Swim marks set

Bill Haldin and Steve Telgner were clocked in 2:04.1 to set records.

Michael also won the 50 free. Jane Jordan won the 200-yard individual medley. Beth MacDonald won the 200 free and Haldin took the 500 free. Telgner was second in the 500 free. Beth MacDonald second in the 100 yard and Nancy MacDonald second in the 200-yard medley relay team of Michael, Clifford.

BOSTON (UPI) — Free agent guard Bob Wilson, who averaged just over six points a game in two years with the Bulls, Wilson averaged 6.7 points in 103 games. Scott, who broke his left forearm in a game against Indiana Jan. 12, will be out for the rest of the season.
