

Unlikely coalition favors revival of Sunday closings

HARTFORD (UPI)—An unlikely coalition of lawmakers, union representatives, church leaders and a state official thinks Connecticut should reimpose some form of Sunday blue laws.

The blue law proponents told the legislature's General Law Committee Monday unrestricted Sunday commerce is unacceptable. The committee is currently considering proposed blue law legislation.

Two Court of Common Pleas judges last spring struck down the centuries-old prohibitions and since then seven-day-a-week business has flourished.

State Consumer Protection Commissioner Mary Heslin told the committee she understood the present situation was a convenience to consumers.

But she said it must end because it could lead to family breakups, increased consumer costs and a "negative effect" on energy conservation.

State Commissioner of Planning and Energy Policy Lynn Alan Brooks has said there is no evidence Sunday closings would save energy.

Sen. B. Patrick Madden, R-Woodbridge, urged stores be allowed to open Sunday

Times sale upheld

NEW HAVEN (UPI)—A federal judge has ruled the Hartford Times, even though it admitted fraud in its sale of the newspaper to the Register Publishing Co. U.S. District Judge Jon O. Newman Monday said the 1973 sale of the Times for $7 million to the New Haven Publishing concern should not be canceled. The afternoon Times folded last Oct. 20, citing declining revenues and circulation.

Newman said to force Gannett, a Rochester, N.Y.-based newspaper chain, to reacquire the Times stock "at this stage" would clearly be inequitable.

The judge said the Register waited too long to demand a reversal of the sale and made too many changes at the newspaper, including instituting its own editorial policy and converting the composing room to cold type from hot type.

Today's news summary

Compiled from United Press International

State
NEW HAVEN—Former President Gerald R. Ford threw his hat almost in the ring Tuesday, indicating he might run again for the presidency in 1980. In a comment to the report that Ronald Reagan would not rule out a bid in 1980, Ford said, "Neither do I." Ford ended two days at Yale University lecturing as a Chubb Fellow.

HARTFORD—A federal judge has upheld the suspension without a hearing of Martin Sillman, former director of the Connecticut Office of Emergency Medical Services. Sillman was charged in December with second-degree larceny for allegedly failing to return $971 in unspent expense money for an authorized business trip last May.

PUTNAM—A vote recount has been ordered in a referendum on whether to consolidate the Putnam city and town governments because the total number of votes cast on machines differed from the totals on written checkoff lists. Town residents favored consolidation while city residents opposed it.

Regional
BOSTON—The Boston School Committee may soon control South Boston High School again. Federal receivership of the school, scene of anti-desegregation battles during the past three years, is due to end by March 1.

BOSTON—An extended weather forecast for New England indicates fair weather Friday, chance of rain or snow Saturday with clearing on Sunday. Highs will be in the 30s to low 40s and lows in the 20s to low 30s.

International
MOSCOW—Their docking with the Soyuz space laboratory completed, two Soviet cosmonauts are expected to begin a program of study and experiment—but probably no space spectacles.

SALISBURY, Rhodesia—Rhodesian soldiers say they intend to bring in alive the killers of seven missionaries to disprove nationalist claims those responsible were actually crack Rhodesian commandos.

MADRID, Spain—Spain and the Soviet Union today established full diplomatic relations, officially ending nearly four decades of mutual ill feeling dating back to the Spanish Civil War which ended in 1939.

National
PITTSBURGH—Rebel Ed Sadlovski stubbornly insisted he still had a good chance of capturing the United Steel workers presidency today, despite his own charges of ballot fraud and early returns favoring opponent Lloyd McBride.

Many areas need slow thaw to avert potential floods

By KENNETH R. CLARK
United Press International

Shivering victims of the worst Eastern and Midwestern winter since 1918 may yearn for spring, but officials, mentally converting millions of tons of ice and snow into floodwaters, are praying for a long, slow thaw.

In the snow-starved Rockies, and along the parched West Coast where water rationing is in effect, potential flooding might be a welcome alternative.

Howling winds off Lake Erie have piled snow into 18-foot drifts and streams are frozen from bank to bank in upstate New York.

Watch and wait

"It's really a watch and wait situation," said National Weather Service meteorologist Ray Wrighton. "If we get good conditions, with warm days and cold nights, the ice could release nicely."

But he added, "the potential is there and we are preparing for drainage basin and tributaries of the Ohio River in New York through Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia, all the way to Cincinnati. New Jersey, Indiana, Illinois, western Maryland and western Michigan also were cited as areas of potential danger."

Big piles melt slowly

Mike Neyer, of the Indiana Department of Natural Resources, said enormous snowdrifts that have snarled traffic all winter ironically may be the state's best safeguard against flooding because "snow in huge piles won't melt as rapidly as it would if it were spread across the countryside."

While Eastern and Midwestern officials fretted over deep-frozen water surpluses, their colleagues in the West looked on with envy.

Colorado has appropriated $100,000 to finance a cloud-seeding venture aimed at increasing a threethree Rocky Mountain snowpack, and one state official said he has received about 40 telephone calls from amateurs eager to help out.

Shipping snarl suggested

"Some gentleman suggested we load up empty boxcars (with snow) from the East and transport it out here," said Felix Sparks. "He appeared to be very serious about it."

In Marin County, just across from San Francisco's Golden Gate Bridge, an acute water shortage has mandated strict home water rationing.

"We've never had anything like this before," said David Schuster, chief of water operations. "We're talking about cutting back California agriculture... by three-quarters, and agriculture is an eight-billion-dollar-plus business. It's looking awful... we may have to reduce allocation even further."

Directors laud Thompson

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

Members of the Board of Directors took 15 minutes Tuesday night to say "thanks" to a departing member—Deputy Mayor John Thompson.

Thompson, who was recently promoted to executive director of the Connecticut State Employees Association, is resigning at the end of the month, but Tuesday night's meeting was his last official activity with the board.

"I'd like to give a big vote of thanks to John Thompson and all he's done," Mayor Matthew Moriarty said. "The town's a much better town because of him."

"I'm certainly going to miss him on the board," Moriarty said, and added that Thompson was the "best mayor" Manchester has had.

Thompson served as mayor from 1971 to 1975 and as deputy mayor from 1975 to the present.

Robert Price noted that Thompson was elected mayor, a position he held until he gave to the highest voter-getter in the majority party, in his first run for office.

"I think people realized there was something special about John Thompson," Price said, referring to that 1971 election. "He was always accessible and was always a great help to people."

Republican Carl Zinzer, who has often been on the opposite side of Thompson on key issues, said, "We don't always see eye-to-eye, but that's what it's all about. I didn't think you'd really go, Jack. We are seriously going to miss you."

Another Republican, Paul Willbide, said, "I have great admiration for Jack's contributions. He has made great contributions to the town."

Fascial Prignano's speech was more on the lighter side.

"I'd like to thank Jack for all he's taught me and for his vain attempts at humor," Prignano said.

"Manchester was lucky to have Jack as a mayor," Jack Goldberg said. "I felt fortunate to be on the board with you."

Cheney Tech expansion would help it meet needs

A $4.1 million appropriation proposed Tuesday by Gov. Ella Grasso for expansion of the Howell Cheney Regional Vocational Technical School will provide much needed facilities if the funds are approved by the General Assembly.

The appropriation proposal was part of a $27.5 million item for expansion and construction of vocational technical schools throughout the state.

Rep. Abraham Glassman (D-14) introduced a bill for the expansion of Cheney Tech two years ago and because of limited bonding at that time, the bill did not pass. Glassman said today he is "delighted" the proposal is finally being made and the need for the expansion has been recognized. The proposal was updated from the previous bill, Glassman said.

The school, which serves a 12-town area, turns away as many as half of the students who apply each year. Glassman said.

There are no formal plans yet drawn up for the school expansion, but surveys and a consultation committee have recommended needs such as expanded classroom space for general education, additional trade training areas, possible expansion of the auto shop and possibly facilities to accommodate female students. There are now six females in the total student population of about 430.

One example of the limited facilities, according to a school spokesman, is that there are only 300 lockers for the 430 students.

Glassman said the expansion of vocational technical schools is especially critical now during a time of high unemployment. He said, "We have got to provide education for jobs that are available."

The other vocational technical school in eastern Connecticut is Windham Tech in Windham.

Glassman said that legislation will also be introduced during this legislative session to permit and formalize shared time between comprehensive high schools and vocational schools.

Town plans clinics for measles shots

By JUNE TOMPKINS
Herald Reporter

Prompted by Manchester's concern for an air quality study in the proposed Buckland development area, the Town Health Department will plan a public seminar on the subject to be held sometime around March 1. The seminar, which will be cosponsored by the Connecticut Lung Association and a state air conservation group which arranges such emergency measles vaccine clinics for elementary and high school students who received measles shots before 1966.

Vaccination for the highly communicable disease will be given next week in the junior and high schools. It will be continued in the elementary schools after vacation. Immunization is effective 48 hours after vaccination.

Permission slips will be sent to all parents, Dr. Turek said.

Dr. Turek said that although there is no outbreak yet in Manchester, there are cases reported in surrounding towns, and some Manchester residents have come in contact with them.

"We must move quickly," Dr. Turek said. She explained that the incubation period for measles is 10 days from exposure to the onset of fever, and then it's three to five days before a rash appears. The period of contagion is from four days before the rash appears to five days after its appearance.

Schaffer endorsed for directorship

Beldon H. Schaffer, of 118 Fort St., has been endorsed by the Democratic nominating committee to succeed John Thompson on the Board of Directors.

The committee met Monday night to discuss a successor to Thompson, who will resign from the board at the end of the month.

The endorsement of Schaffer was certified by a member of the nominating committee. The member said that there were about eight persons interested in the vacancy created by Thompson's resignation.

Thompson, a past mayor and recent deputy mayor, was recently promoted to executive director of the Connecticut State Employees Association. He felt that he would be unable to serve in both posts in adequate fashion.

Schaffer is a past member of the Board of Education. His nomination will still have to be approved by the entire Democratic Town Committee and the remaining Democratic members of the Board of Directors, who will have the final decision in the matter.

The announcement of the endorsement of Schaffer is expected to be made at the Feb. 11 party honoring town committee members and persons who have worked for the Democratic party.

Film on deafness to be show at Manchester AARP meeting

The film "Curse Not the Deaf" will be shown Wednesday at the meeting of Manchester Chapter American Association of Retired Persons, at 1:30 p.m. at South United Methodist Church.

The film is being presented by David Nourie, a hearing aid firm's consultant for the LJM area. After the meeting, there will be an opportunity for screen tests on hearing.

Six chapter members are available for tax assistance each Tuesday from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Senior Citizens Center through April 12. They will also be available each Thursday from 1 to 4 p.m. from Feb. 10 to April 12 at South United Methodist Church.

The chapter has received confirmation for a bus to the Boston Flower Show March 25. The bus will leave the South Church parking lot at 10 a.m. Luncheon will be at Longfellow's Wayside Inn. Those interested in going to the flower show are asked to call Lucille Mahoney, 643-7152.

LJM plans Valentine event

The Lutz Junior Museum, 126 Cedar St. will sponsor a Valentine happening, Hearts and Flowers Day, Saturday from 2 to 4 p.m. The public is invited to attend anytime during the afternoon. The event is free.

The happening will include a demonstration by Marian Anderson of how to make artificial roses, valentine cookies, and there will be a display of various types of artificial flowers and other activities for the children.

Further information is available by calling the museum at 643-0949.

NEW FROM TAPPAN...

the inside story on why IT PAYS TO STAY WITH GAS for cooking!

1 The Convectionaire® oven has no continuous pilot light to waste energy. Instead, an automatic pilotless ignition system starts the gas flame, underneath the oven.

2 A blower pulls the heat through the air flow chamber and sends it to the top of the oven.

3 From there, heat is forced down and into food. (All this happens as soon as you turn the oven on, so you never preheat. That saves time and energy.)

4 Since heat gets to the food faster, food cooks faster. And more flavor and juices are retained.

5 90% of the heat is recycled to save even more energy.

TAPPAN'S CONVECTIONAIRE GAS RANGE

- Saves up to 50% of cooking energy
- Cooks faster at lower temperature
- Broils at waist height
- Needs no preheating
- Cleans itself automatically

It's the Convectionaire® way to cook. Convectionaire® is the best Tappan gas range ever. It's a new idea in home cooking, but the principle has been used in fine restaurants for years. Because the convection method actually seals in more natural flavor of foods, roasts are juicier, steaks superb, and pastries bake up lighter and fluffier.

Convectionaire® is also the most energy efficient gas range you can buy. It saves on fuel bills by cooking faster at lower temperatures. It recycles and re-uses heat. And it has no pilot lights, either in the oven or for the top burners, so conserve energy and save money too with the Convectionaire®.

And remember this dependable Tappan product gives you all the convenience features you want: self-cleaning oven, large waist-high broiler, automatic digital clock, automatic timer, Visualite® oven window. See and compare. You'll see, there's no comparison. It pays to stay with gas. It pays to replace with gas.

See the Tappan Convectionaire® demonstrated at Connecticut Natural Gas. It's also available at your gas appliance dealer.

News for Senior Citizens

By WALLY FORTIN

Hi, everybody. We held our first audition for our Variety Show last Sunday and we had an exceptionally nice turnout, especially with the weather as it was. Not only was it cold outside but also inside as our furnace was on the blink.

Next Sunday, we go at it again, and we will still invite anyone who could not make it last week to join us starting at 1:30 p.m. From what we learned Sunday, the show should be great and one that is fun to be in, so we send out the last big call for you performers and helpers.

By the way, a reminder for you folks who have already signed up for the golf trip to South Carolina in March. You must turn in your final payment this week. Also, there are still a few openings for anyone willing to join the gang and sort of break up this cold snowy weather. If you're interested, call our office or drop by for more information.

Sparking of trips, here's the news on a boat cruise. In checking out various cruises, we came up with this one which we hope will meet with your satisfaction. It's quite a bit cheaper than we previously announced. The ship is the S.S. Rotterdam and it sails out of New York, making an overnight stop in Nassau and a one-day stop in Bermuda.

We have rooms set aside to accommodate 80 persons. The complete package, and I mean complete, includes bus fare to and from New York, port tax, handling of the baggage from bus to ship and back to bus. The Rotterdam requires no gratuities. Based on double occupancy, your inside cabins (normally $65) will go for $70 and outside cabins (with port hole) $65. The trip is scheduled for May 7, so start giving it some thought and be ready for registration which will be taking place on Monday, March 7.

The happenings here at the center start with last Friday afternoon set-back games. We had 44 players and the winners were: Archie Houghtaling, 133; Clara Hemingway, 128; Bess Noonan, 126; Sue Kerr, 125; Claire Comins, 123; Vivian Laguerre, 122; Mina Reuther, 121; Michael Haberman, 120; Oscar Cappuccio, 119; Martin Bakston, 118; Helena Gallo, 117.

On Monday we had 44 players for our pinocle games with the following winners: Martin Bakston, 829; Sam Schors, 825; Violet Dion, 788; Mary Nackowski, 784; Bob Schubert, 782; John Derby, 780; George Lant, 781; Mina Reuther, 749; Ellen Bronke, 741; Leon Falot, 739; Bess Noonan, 734.

We also learned that John Phelps and Will Messier are patients at Manchester Memorial Hospital.

Helen Flavel is recuperating at her home, 71 Eldridge St., as is Edna Christensen, 68 Bolton St.

We send our heartfelt condolences to Cecilia Ellis whose mother, Catherine Moran, passed away this past week. Mrs. Moran was 96, and only four years ago sang a song with Cecilia in our first Variety Show.

Back to trips, and I forgot to mention that on the Nova Scotia trip, one of the more historical highlights that we will take is the famous Cabot Trail. Start thinking about this nine-day trip which will cost $254 per double occupancy. This will include nine meals, handling of the baggage, prices to some of the tours, boat ride, hotels and bus fare. We will be registering for this trip around the middle of March. For further information, call our office. We will have flyers available by the end of next week.

Regarding our Variety Show, all you seniors who are planning to go and will need to use our bus must purchase a ticket for the Sunday afternoon performance. This will be the only time we will be able to use our bus. Also, those planning on taking our bus must call our office so that we can plan our route accordingly.

The Grasso budget

The state budget of $1.88 billion proposed Tuesday by Gov. Ella T. Grasso will not make everyone happy. On the other hand, it appears calculated not to really stir up any intense opposition, either.

There are no major increases in spending and no increases in taxes—for which we are thankful. But looking even beyond the income and outgo portions, there are some fiscally sound proposals which we think the Republican minority can accept without qualm.

The proposal to use part of the surplus to retire the state debt is a move long overdue by administrations of both parties.

The proposal to eliminate the 3.5 per cent tax on business services and purchase of business machinery over the next seven years, at a yearly decrease rate of 0.5 per cent, may fall short of the complete repeal sought by business, but at least it is a commitment to end this economic depressant in the state's private economy.

The allocation of $25 million for vocational education and its implications on what this might mean to alleviate the overcrowded Howell Cheney Regional Technical School in Manchester is welcome news indeed.

By seeking the tax credit of $500 for each job a business creates for an unemployed individual, we see a state government commitment to encourage private employment of our young people after they are trained and an incentive to refrain from older workers.

We know, particularly now in the midst of a harsh winter, the 5 per cent increase in the basic welfare program does not seem adequate—but then welfare seldom is, despite the best of intentions in funding and administration. This may be the one area of Gov. Grasso's budget which might justifiably be given a closer look by the legislators in that the 5 per cent does barely offset last year's inflation and thus adds little in real purchasing power to those on welfare.

But of significance to the towns, especially those which have both high property taxes and large welfare rolls, is the proposal for the state to assume the full welfare fiscal

It appears unlikely that either House of Congress will muster up enough energy to vote down a pay raise for themselves. But perhaps it is for the best. With another $15,000 a year coming in, maybe, it won't be necessary to put girl friends on the federal payroll.

Dear sir, The problem of air pollution concerns all of us whether or not we are involved in community health matters. There is no doubt that polluted air affects those afflicted with respiratory diseases. There is good statistical evidence that cancer has a definite relationship to the concentration of noxious and toxic fumes which we breathe. Connecticut, for example, has a cancer mortality rate of 168 per 200,000 population, while Alaska has a rate of 99 per 100,000 and Utah 95 per 100,000. On the other hand, some states that would appear to be free of pollution than Connecticut have even higher cancer death rates. Maine has a rate of 219 per 100,000. Montana's rate is 187 and that of Oregon is 170. It is therefore obvious that factors other than air pollution affect the cancer mortality rate. Unfortunately cancer does remain an enigma. Yet

Usually the buyer knew the difference right away—the mountain dew was infinitely better. It was kind of interesting to note that our two state auditors (a Democrat and a Republican) testified that state reorganization might create more problems than it would solve. We don't entirely agree but could see one arising for one of them if someone decided that we have one state auditor too many.

negative answers to a statement by Charles L. Schultz, chairman of Carter's Council of Economic Advisors, that the President's relations with business and labor were such that the administration felt it could "reasonably" ask for their cooperation. If such cooperation were not forthcoming, said Schultz, then the administration "might want to look at" other measures. No big stick yet. Ha! Like a big stick? Nope. At least not yet. Schultz hurriedly added that no thought had been given to asking Congress for standby authority to impose wage and price controls. What Schultz meant by other measures, apparently, was that Carter would chide business and labor for not being good boys and girls. "Talking (jawboning) is not to be underrated," said Schultz. Well, jawboning didn't work for John Kennedy, Lyndon Johnson or Richard Nixon. Maybe it would for Carter because he keeps saying he wants his administration to "work

Church bids farewell to Japanese visitors

Trinity Covenant Church bade farewell to Prof. Hiroshi Shimizu and his daughters, Mayumi and Mariko, of Japan, Sunday evening at a potluck at the church. The professor and his daughters, who have been living in Manchester for the past six months, will leave soon and drive across the country, stopping at several places for scheduled speaking dates. They plan to leave California for Japan in late March. Kenneth Nelson was master of ceremonies for Sunday evening's affair, which included birthday congratulations for the professor and gifts for him and his daughters. During the program there were several musical selections and a talk by the Rev. Norman Swensen, pastor of the church. The farewell program was taped for Shimizu to take to his wife and youngest daughter, as well as friends in Nara, Japan, where he teaches at the university.

Budget provides funds for assembly offices

HARTFORD (UPI)—Gov. Ella T. Grasso Tuesday asked lawmakers to set aside $6 million to buy themselves an office building. In presenting to the legislature her budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1, Mrs. Grasso recommended the money be used to buy a facility in which all legislators and their staffs could have offices. This year marks the first time all lawmakers have their own desks at the Capitol, but many of them are crowded into a converted dining room. Staff members also have limited working space. Legislative leaders have acknowledged there is insufficient room at the Capitol for lawmakers to conduct business. Legislation has been proposed to deal with the problem. One measure suggests setting up a study commission to investigate the possibility of buying the Hartford Hilton Hotel, which is located only a few hundred yards from the Capitol.

Pollution problem called a regional one and the production of engines that cause less pollution. Even these proposals are meeting with resistance due to economic and industrial factors. Only when the health concerns of the nation exceeds the economic will a truly stronger, enforceable set of regulations result. At the present time, however, the economic crunch is the great burden of every community. Inflation and unemployment are the big problems. Manchester — its citizens and its leaders — share that concern and seek, whenever possible, to improve the community pocketbook. I believe that the citizens of Manchester recognize the need and will vote for and support the proposed industrial park. Any other decision would be unrealistic. Energy conservation course being offered Saturday

A course in energy conservation is being co-sponsored by Manchester Community College and the Hartford County Cooperative Extension Service. Called "How To Save Energy In Your Home," the short course will be offered at MCC on Saturday and Feb. 19 from 9:30 a.m. to noon. The course will be taught by Dr. K. Haman, a visiting faculty member at the University of Connecticut. Dr. Haman has been interested in energy-related problems for several years. He has taught several courses on energy at both the elementary and advanced levels. The course will include basic concepts in energy consumption in the home, estimating heat losses in a house, insulation, home weatherization, energy use in home appliances, cost estimates and use of low-cost alternative energy sources in the home. For further information and registration, contact the Non-Credit Programs, Division of Community Services, Manchester Community College, at 646-2137.

Lutz Express in operation

Complete with a Connecticut marker, a model bus called The Lutz Express is now parked in the Lutz Junior Museum for children's delight.

One of two new exhibits at the museum, the model bus is complete with driver's seat, steering wheel, pedals and gear shift for young visitors to operate. With a little imagination, a visitor can climb aboard and travel almost anywhere.

The other exhibit is a dental health display prepared by Dr. Robert H. Fish and his staff in conjunction with the Manchester Dental Health Association for Dental Health Week which is this week.

The display includes keys used for tooth extraction during the period between 1700 and 1850, part of an old-fashioned spring-operated drill, and pictures of early dental equipment loaned by Dr. Martin Deranian of Worcester, Mass. The exhibit also contains a dental chair, smock and bib for the aspiring young dentist to use.

These displays as well as the other "do touch" exhibits and live animals can be viewed by the public, free of charge, Tuesday through Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m.

Business tax phase-out sought by Gov. Grasso

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Ella T. Grasso's budget presented Tuesday asks lawmakers to phase out two business taxes over the next seven years and institute a tax credit for firms which create new jobs.

Businessmen, who asked for abolition of the 3.5 per cent taxes on business services and purchase of new industrial machinery, will gradually get their wish under Mrs. Grasso's plan.

Her budget calls for cutting those levies — which corporate leaders and Republicans say are an example of the state's unfriendly business tax climate — by one half per cent a year until they are eliminated.

The business services tax primarily affects small businessmen, while repeal of the machinery tax is aimed at providing more of an incentive for large firms to expand their operations.

Legislative researchers had estimated that if the two levies were eliminated during a single year it would mean loss of about $24 million in revenue.

Additionally, Mrs. Grasso proposed a $500 tax credit for each job a firm creates for the state's unemployed. A ceiling of $3,000 in tax credits will be imposed on each business.

The program only applies to geographic areas where unemployment is high. But given current jobless levels, it will apply virtually statewide at least for the present.

Snow removal fund nearly depleted

Going, going, almost gone.

That's the present status of the Town of Manchester's snow-removal funds.

Tim O'Sullivan, highway superintendent, said that there is about $8,000 left of the $103,000 originally budgeted for snow removal this year.

The last storm, over the weekend, wiped out monies budgeted for the private contracting of plows and for overtime salaries. The $8,000 that is left had been budgeted for paying regular wages.

O'Sullivan said that the department will exceed the $103,000 budget, but that some shifting of the Highway Department budget, could cover the extra cost for this year's snow removal.

If severe weather continues, however, O'Sullivan feels his department will have to ask for more money.

"Obviously, if the winter keeps up the way it has, we'll have to go to the board (of directors) for more money," he said.

Arts Council accepting applicants for funds

The Greater Hartford Arts Council is soliciting applications from area arts groups for funding through its 1977 Community Arts and Education grant program.

Marcie Lain, public relations chairman of the Manchester Community Arts Council, said the funding applications would be discussed at the council board meeting Thursday night.

Under the Greater Hartford Arts Council program, any tax-exempt arts group in the 34 town Greater Hartford region can apply to the council for a one-year grant for amounts of $5,000 or less.

About town

Grant applications can be obtained by writing the Greater Hartford Arts Council, 250 Constitution Plaza, Hartford, Conn. 06103. Completed applications must be received by the council by March 1 to be eligible for this year's program.

The council is looking for applications from groups for programs that will have a positive and meaningful effect on their respective communities, according to W. Grant Brownrigg, executive director of the council. He said the program is for organizations only and that no applications from individuals will be considered.

Police Department open house Sunday

The public is invited to an open house at the Manchester Police Department Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m. Co-sponsoring the event with the police department is the Exchange Club of Manchester.

The fourth annual tour of the headquarters will include the jail cells, training areas, canine control, the sign plant, youth services division, patrol division, detective division and record keeping areas.

Members of the Police Department, many of whom volunteer their time, will be available in all of the areas and will make brief presentations and be available to answer any questions.

The annual open house is the only time each year that the facility is opened to the public. Richard Clark, president of the Exchange Club, said the tour this year should be especially interesting because of the recent renovations and addition of new equipment at the police headquarters.

Legal aid service dropped from CDA grant allocations

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

After eliminating proposed funding for a legal aid service and a housing study, the Board of Directors Tuesday night approved the appropriation of the $30,000 third-year Community Development block grant.

The recommended program for spending the funds was developed by the Citizens Advisory Committee and presented to the directors for final approval.

The directors eliminated a $10,000 proposed expenditure for a legal aid service for needy town residents.

"We have had almost no public outcry for legal services," Mayor Matthew Moriarty said.

Also eliminated was a $5,000 proposal for a housing study. Both items were added to storm sewer funding, which was increased from $107,000 to $122,000.

The directors also eliminated a proposed amendment to the second-year Community Development program that would have allocated $5,000 for a survey to locate handicapped and elderly residents.

Most of the funding, $58,000, would be used for sewer improvements at Globe Hollow pool.

In another matter before the board Tuesday night, the directors tabled a proposal to spend $45,000 for two buses to transport handicapped and elderly residents.

The board also allocated $40,000 for construction of a ten-inch water main on Love Lane and $15,000 for water system improvements, including a new pump at the Buckingham Reservoir.

Funds for both projects will come from the Water Reserve fund. The directors voted to send back to the Pension Board a request by five Board of Education employees who are interested in being part of the pension plan from their first day of employment.

The five, four paraprofessionals and one nurse, said that they were erroneously left out of the pension plan when they first started working for the town. The Pension Board, however, has twice ruled against the plan, saying that a town ordinance prohibits "having back time" in the plan.

Town Counsel Victor I. Moses, however, ruled last March on three of the cases and said that he feels the employees could legally make retroactive payments in this case.

Grants
The directors also approved a $8,831 appropriation to the Youth Services Department to fund a program come from a federal grant, but the directors wanted more research done on possible ways of organizing the transportation system.

Alan Mason, director of human services, is comparing the benefits of a town-run system or a setup where the town buys the buses and rents them to a private company to run the transportation system.

Sidewalk repairs
A proposed referendum for sidewalk repairs was also tabled. Jay J. Giles, director of public works, said that the town's application for sidewalk repair funding through the federal Public Works Employment Act is still active.

Giles said that he has asked the Engineering Department to do a "full-fledged" study of sidewalk repairs.

The directors appropriated $12,100 to pay for the cost of the March 15 industrial park referendum.

In another matter connected with the park, the board approved a $175.88 appropriation to the General Fund budget to cover the cost of a reception held for the J.C. Penney Co. The cost of the reception, which was held at a November press conference to announce the firm's plans to locate in town, was paid by six local banks.

The board also allocated $40,000 for construction of a ten-inch water main on Love Lane and $15,000 for water system improvements, including a new pump at the Buckingham Reservoir.

Funds for both projects will come from the Water Reserve fund. The directors voted to send back to the Pension Board a request by five Board of Education employees who are interested in being part of the pension plan from their first day of employment.

The five, four paraprofessionals and one nurse, said that they were erroneously left out of the pension plan when they first started working for the town. The Pension Board, however, has twice ruled against the plan, saying that a town ordinance prohibits "having back time" in the plan.

Town Counsel Victor I. Moses, however, ruled last March on three of the cases and said that he feels the employees could legally make retroactive payments in this case.

The directors also approved a $8,831 appropriation to the Youth Services Department to fund a program

Police report

John B. Riley, 25, of 8J Rachel Rd., was arrested Tuesday on a warrant charging him with third-degree assault. The arrest was in connection with a report of a woman who was allegedly assaulted at the Rachel Rd. address on Jan. 13.

Riley was processed and released under a $1,000 nonsurety bond for court appearance March 7.

A break was reported at the Parkade Shoe Repair Service Tuesday night. A door window was removed, but it had not been determined if anything was taken, police said.

Nothing was found missing in a break-in which occurred on Pine St. in a vacant apartment on Pine St. The break, reported Tuesday, occurred apparently through a basement door, police said.

Winter sports report
Skating will be permitted today from 3 to 9 p.m. at Center Springs Park.

Hockey will be played during the same hours at Center Springs Park annex.

Coasting will also be allowed today from 3 to 9 p.m. at Center Springs Park.

Northern ski slopes will be open for skiing today from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Information on winter activities supervised by the Manchester Recreation Department may be obtained by calling 643-4700.

Dry Brook drainage plan has detention pond

Plans to improve storm drainage in the Dry Brook area include the construction of a "detention pond" near the Cemetery, Jay J. Giles, director of public works, said.

The town plans to begin work this spring on improving storm drainage in the Dry Brook area. The brook, which is entirely underground, begins near the intersection of Pitkin and Academy Sts., runs through East Cemetery, along Spruce St., and behind Main St., before ending near the Main St.-Hartford Rd. intersection.

Giles said that the cost for the entire project has been set at $2,486,000. A concrete block wall built where Dry Brook runs through the cemetery will be expanded to create a dam to hold water during storms.

The cost for this, and other improvements at the cemetery, will be about $74,000, Giles said.

The total cost of the work, $370,000, will be paid for by Community Development monies and funds from the 1974 storm drainage bonding proposal.

Giles said that the town will use money it now has available to do the detention facility construction.

Orators meet Saturday
On Saturday, Feb. 12, Manchester High will participate in the American Legion Oratorical Contest to take place at East Catholic High School.

In the past, MHS has produced a number of winners, and it is hoped that its contestants this year will produce similar results. Most have been given experience in this line through the Debate Team, and the prospects look hopeful.

Two categories are offered this year. An extemporaneous division is offered for those courageous few adept in the art of fluency with little preparation. Six articles of the U.S. Constitution are listed on the sheet of rules; one of these will be drawn five minutes before one is to give his oratory.

The other division is that of a prepared speech. This speech must deal with some phase of the Constitution which gives emphasis to the obligations of a citizen of the United States to his country. This oratory must last for between eight and ten minutes. Either category will require much hard work by the participants.

Good luck to Manchester's representatives!

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I am jealous of my younger sister. She's 16 and I'm 18. She's prettier than I am and has a great figure, and I'm too fat. She's also smarter than I am. She even has more personality and character than I have. (She's an extrovert and I'm an introvert.)

She has lots of friends and I don't have any. How can I get over feeling like jealousy?

JEALOUS
DEAR JEALOUS: It's apparent that you have a very low opinion of yourself. First, quit competing with your sister and do the most with what you have. You can improve your appearance by diet and exercise, and by trying to look as good as you can. Everyone can't be beautiful, but anyone can be attractive and well-groomed.

You can develop a more appealing personality by getting out of your shell and showing a genuine interest in others. Improve your character by listening to your conscience and acting accordingly.

Pray for the strength and determination to carry out the above self-improvement program, and you'll have nothing to be jealous about. Write again in six months and let me know how you're doing, I care.

DEAR ABBY: Last week I got a call from a man named Micky, asking me to tell my husband to stay away from his wife, Carol. He said a friend of my husband's had tipped him off.

When I asked my husband about it, he denied everything and said he didn't even know a "Carol."

A few nights later the same man called to say that his wife had confessed to having an affair with my husband. She said it was the first time she ever did anything like that, and she promised never to see my husband again.

Again I spoke to my husband and again he denied everything. He said someone must be playing a joke on me. My husband has stepped out on me in the past, but the last time I caught him, he put his hand on the Bible and swore he'd never do it again.

I don't know who to believe. This Micky sounded very sincere and he said he wanted to keep his marriage together because they have small children.

Abby, I have to get to the bottom of this. How do I go about it? Are lie detector machines available to rent? Have you any advice?

NEEDS TO KNOW
DEAR NEEDS: If you could rent a lie detector machine (which is unlikely), I'd advise you to skip it. Better get the Bible out and ask your husband to renew his promise.

DEAR ABBY: I'm dating this girl I care for a lot, and she claims it's mutual, but here's the problem: She smokes and I don't, and her smoking really bugs me.

She promised she'd stop smoking if I grew a mustache. Well, I grew one, but she's still smoking.

Please let me how to deal with this annoying situation. TOM IN FLUSHING, N.Y.

DEAR TOM: You could resign yourself to the fact that: (a) she's hooked and won't quit for you or anybody else. Or you could get rid of the mustache AND the girl.

CONFIDENTIAL TO YOU: St. Valentine's Day is just around the corner, so be a sweetheart and take a short-cut to a drive, invite a "single" love to relieve his (or her) loneliness or send someone you like a funny card, some flowers or a little gift. Or call someone you love and say, "Hey, I love you!"

East girls win No. 9

Rebounding from two losses, East Catholic's girls' basketball team got past St. Thomas Aquinas, 47-42, last night in New Britain.

The tournament-bound Eaglesites now sport a 9-4 overall record, 6-1 in the Hartford County Conference, while the losing Saints are now 3-12.

East led at the first turn 16-10, and held a 27-21 halftime edge. It widened the margin to 42-28 at the end of three quarters.

Jean Lam had a game-high 23 points for Aquinas. Rita Lupacchino had 15 rebounds and Kathy Hall, in her first varsity start, hauled in 13 cars for East with Debbie Beaulieu (17) and Lupacchino (10) leading the point makers.

MIDDLETOWN
Two points proved to be the difference last night as Modern Janitorial nipped Multi Circuits at the Y, 24-22. Earl Lappen (8) and Bob Buras (5) led the winners' scoring while Sean Sullivan (8) and Sean Phillips (5) paced the losers.

Wyman Oil outscored Pizza House, 35-22, as Alen Glenn tallied 10 points and Leon Bledouane nine. Best in defeat with nine points each were George Cappalla and Lefty Schacker.

Getting 11 points from Dean Page, Police upended Crispino's last night at the West Side Rec, 35-30. Tony Chevrette scored 10 points to aid the offense.

Jim Laria hooped 13 points for the Supremes.

EAST FROSH
Back in the winning track is the East Catholic team after a 54-39 triumph yesterday over the Rockville High Frosh.

The locals led the half, 22-17, but went on a 20-8 scoring spree in the third period to pull away and run their record to 14-1.

Rockville is now 5-9. Bob Verona and Dave Gay paced the East shooters with 16 and 15 points, plus a strong board game by Jim Wye. Ted Ostrowski led Rockville Rockville with 11 points.

MCC women bow on road

Supremacy on the backboards led the University of New Haven to a 65-42 women's basketball win over Manchester Community College last night in New Haven.

The Cougars led, 9-8, with 15-30 left in the first half but New Haven then exerted itself on the boards taking a 37-27 halftime edge.

Betsy Maysbar and Laurie Christiana brought MCC to within six points, 37-31, but the Chargers outscored the Cougars the next five minutes, 14-4, and coasted home with the win.

Gina Paolillo and Clarice Holmes led the winners with 20 and 14 markers respectively. Christiana topped 26 MCC with 14 points.

Millard H. Pryor

Variable Annuity Life Insurance Company and Hartford Fund is a mutual investment fund.

Promoted

Gordon L. Maltempo

Gordon L. Maltempo of Manchester has been appointed assistant secretary in the group division at Aetna Life & Casualty. Maltempo joined Aetna as a plan revision analyst after graduation from the University of Hartford in 1970. He was promoted to consultant, group pension contract holder relations, in 1972. Maltempo lives at 31 Wells St.

Honored

Edward Barlow Jr. of 23 W. Vernon St. has been honored by the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company for his service to Hartford's minority community.

Edward Barlow Jr.

Barlow is president and one of the founders of the Connecticut's first and only black-owned bank, The Connecticut Savings and Loan Association, located at 616 Albany Ave., Hartford.

He is being honored as the "Community Leader of the Month" for February. The Leader of the Month program was originated in 1970 by CML to honor minority persons for their efforts to improve conditions in Hartford.

Formed in 1968 with capitalization of $600,000, CSLA now lists assets of $9 million and provides home mortgage, student loans and home improvement loans primarily to the black and Hispanic residents of the area. A native of Hartford, Barlow graduated from Weaver High School and holds a degree in business administration from Virginia State College. He and his wife, Marge, have two children.

Lydall earnings up 36% in 1976

Lydall, Inc.'s President, Millard H. Pryor Jr., announced an earnings increase of 36 per cent in 1976. The company earned over $1.5 million for the year, equal to $1.51 a share before the 5 per cent stock dividend paid at the end of the year. Including the stock dividend, the company earned $1.44 a share. Sales for the year were almost $33 million, an increase of 29 per cent over 1975 sales of $26 million.

While the year's earnings as a whole were excellent, the fourth quarter was below the level of the year's first three quarters. Sales for the fourth quarter were $7.4 million, an increase of only 3 per cent over 1975 sales. Earnings of $2.2 a share after the stock dividend were 29 per cent below the fourth quarter 1975 earnings of $3.1 a share.

Colonial Fiber's sales and earnings started out at a moderate level, and after a poor November, improved in December, a trend which is continuing into the new year. Despite poor sales, increased energy costs due to the extreme cold and high repair costs, Lydall & Foulds showed a small profit for the quarter.

Adventure in Africa

Student lives with natives; climbs Kilimanjaro

By BETTY RYDER
Family/Travel Editor

Living in a wood house with a tin roof and a dirt floor in far off Africa was quite a contrast for Lorraine Roberts, who resides in a comfortable home on Richard Rd. in Manchester with her family.

Lorraine, a junior at St. Lawrence University, shared the three-room facility with a couple and their 16 children ranging in age from 1 to 28 as a part of a 3 1/2-month college program.

"There were 24 students who participated in the program, but one had to return home due to an acute appendicitis," Lorraine said.

"The program began in September and ended in mid-December. During that time she lived with two families, one rural and one urban. Other times, the group lived in motels and then in apartments.

"The people were kind and hospitable and were very willing to show us around. We enjoyed learning about different tribes and their customs.

"The African people have a different concept of time than we do. They go at a slow pace and take time out to explain things and show visitors around," she said.

"Living with the rural family posed no problem, and although the household was crowded, she said she had no trouble sleeping.

"I had a room of my own; the other family members doubled and sometimes tripled up. Sleeping came easy. They enjoy taking walks, but their walks average a distance of more than six miles. I was tired. The roosters would wake us early and I followed the pattern of the family's life, doing what they did.

"The mother of the family was 53 and worked as a cleaning lady at the Conference Center in town."

Lorraine's urban "family" was more affluent.

"The head of the family was a minister of education and the mother was an elementary school teacher. They had three children," the attractive student said.

Household conveniences are extremely expensive in Africa, Lorraine said, and most families find it cheaper to hire help than buy appliances.

"I found the African people very knowledgeable about the United States, perhaps more so than we are about Africa."

"Sometimes we'd just sit around and they'd want to talk about Ford and Carter. The rural family had one radio and there were two newspapers which featured national and local news and presented scandals and stories much more colorfully than our newspapers do."

"In Nairobi, people have accepted the Western dress. Most women wore dresses and stockings and the men ties and jackets. Since becoming independent in 1963, they are very anxious to adopt the Western styles."

Lorraine lives with her mother, Mrs. Connie Roberts; two sisters, Wendy, 17, and a senior at Manchester High School and Linda, 15, a sophomore at MHS; two dogs, Heather and Jessie; and three cats, Essie, King and Fritz. She is also the daughter of Dr. Douglas J. Roberts Jr., a radiologist at Manchester Memorial Hospital.

Heather gets a pet while Jessie waits her turn.

The People Tree

During her work-study program, classes were held three days a week, and the students worked some of the time in various occupations.

"I worked with Planned Parenthood, helping establish good family planning," Lorraine said.

"We also had an opportunity to visit the Ambossell Game Farm. It was especially glad we did as there has been a drought in Africa the past five years and many of the animals are dying. The giraffes were beautiful and just as graceful and delicate as they appear to be in pictures."

An outdoor-looking young woman with long blond hair, Lorraine said getting used to the food was a little difficult at first.

"The Africans use a lot of starches in their diet. One is ugali—a maize meal mixed with water. It is very bland and took a little getting accustomed to. But fruits, such as mangoes and papayas, were great. They also served goat meat which has a very thick and heavy taste. Africans seem completely unaware of candy."

The rural family had a cow and always served milk and tea, following the British custom," she said.

The school system is similar to that of Great Britain except that in Africa parents pay for the child's elementary education; and if a student qualifies, the country pays for the college education.

Lorraine also had the unique opportunity to climb Mt. Kilimanjaro with her fellow students.

"It was a 70-mile hike in all and took us 3 1/2 days up and 1 1/2 days down. We traveled approximately 12 miles a day."

"We started out wearing shorts, it was so warm, and ended up on top of Kilimanjaro in heavy parkas. The climb was beautiful. You could see vast terrains, part of the jungle, and other areas which were barren. Fritz resembled the Scottish Highlands."

Lorraine was so tired of her hiking boots when the trip was finished that she swapped them with one of the natives for a hand-carved people tree made of ebony.

"I just didn't want to see those boots again," she said grinning.

A major in psychology at St. Lawrence University, she would love to return to Africa some day.

"I don't know if I will, and if I do in what capacity it might be, but I am hopeful of going back one day."

Cookbooklets offer seafood specialties

The National Fishery Education Center of the National Marine Fisheries Service has introduced a three-volume set of full-color cookbooklets dealing with America's seafood heritage.

With 29 recipes to choose from, each booklet offers a generous sample of America's seafood variety. Sandy Bog Filets, Fried Catfish Arkansas Style and Butterfish in Spanish Sauce provide tasty fare with homey simplicity. Perch Turbans a la Newburg, Plantation Fish in Aspic and Filet of Sole Veronique offer a touch of elegance to any table.

The soup fanciers will enjoy Fish Muddle, Gulf Court Bouillabaisse, and Halibut Corn Chowder. Door County Fish Ball, Texas Grilled Spanish Mackerel, and Potlatch Salmon will appeal to lovers of the great outdoors.

This recipe for Filet of Sole Veronique combines grapes, wine, and sole to produce a light and delicate entree.

Filet of Sole Veronique
2 lbs. rex or Dover sole fillets or other fish fillets, fresh or frozen
2 tbs. lemon juice
2 tsp. salt
1 cup dry white wine
1 cup (1/4) white seedless grapes
1/4 tsp. fine herbs
3 tbs. margarine or butter
2 tbs. flour

Thaw fish if frozen. Cut into serving-size portions. Sprinkle fillets with lemon juice and salt. Arrange in a well-greased 10-inch skillet in one or two layers. Combine wine, grapes and fine herbs. Pour over fish and heat to simmering. Poach, covered, for about 5 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork.

Carefully remove sole, reserving liquid, and drain fish on absorbent paper. Transfer fish to oven-proof platter; strain grapes from liquid and save them for garnish. In separate pan, melt margarine and blend in flour. Add reserved liquid gradually and cook until thick and smooth, stirring constantly. Sauce should be light; add more wine if necessary. Pour sauce over fish and garnish with reserved grapes. Fish may be heated under the broiler until lightly browned. Makes 4 servings.

Shortcut method: Poach fish and fresh grapes. Remove fish from poaching liquid and spread canned Hollandaise sauce over fish. Broil until hot and lightly browned. Garnish with reserved grapes.

Note: Recipe is best prepared with fresh grapes, but canned grapes may be used out of season. Do not poach canned grapes.

The above recipe is from the cookbooklet "From the Plains to the Pacific."

The following recipe for Fish Muddle is from "From Plymouth to the Praries."

Fish Muddle
1 lb. haddock fillets or other fish fillets, fresh or frozen
1 lb. ground pork sausage
1/4 cups fresh bread crumbs
1/4 cup minced onion
1 egg, beaten
1 tsp. marjoram leaves
1/4 tsp. leaf thyme
1/4 tsp. pepper
1 to 2 tbs. cooking oil, optional
1 cup water
6 cups half and half
1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 cup instant mashed potatoes
Chopped parsley
Chopped hard-cooked egg

Thaw fish if frozen. Cut fish into serving size portions. Combine sausage, bread crumbs, 1/4 cup minced onion, egg, marjoram, thyme, and pepper. Shape into balls using about one tablespoon mixture per ball. In a 5-quart Dutch oven brown meatballs adding 1 to 2 tbs. cooking oil, if desired. Add 1/4 cup minced onion and continue to cook until onion is tender. Add water and bring to a boil. Cover and simmer for 10 to 15 minutes or until meatballs are done. Place fish fillets on top of meatballs. Combine half and half and salt. Pour over fish.

Heat until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Stir in instant potatoes and heat for 2 to 3 minutes or until mixture is thick. Stir in chopped parsley. To serve, ladle into soup bowls; sprinkle with hard-cooked egg. Makes 1 1/2 cups.

Each recipe in the booklets has a brief history of its origin and the result is a culinary variety probably unparalleled anywhere.

Booklets are $1.10 each and are available from: Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402. A Seafood Heritage "From Plymouth to the Praries" is stock No. 003-001218-1, and "From the Plains to the Pacific" is stock No. 003-001242-6.

Any one of them will make a valuable addition to your cookbook library.

On second thought

By JAN WARREN

Snowbound in Mississippi

Last night it snowed in Mississippi. A light dusting came down all evening covering the magnolia bushes and the cactus plants and when we woke up in the morning there were two inches of snow on the ground.

The local radio station was an hour late signing on, and after the announcer told his harrowing tale of sliding and slipping on Main St., he read the list of cancellations. Everything was closed! The schools, the factories, the grocery stores, the banks, the churches and Mrs. Posey's yoga class. Even the hospital would be operating with a skeleton staff.

"A lot of nonsense!" said my husband as he pulled on his sturdy New England overshoes and headed out the door. "These Southerners don't know what a real snowstorm is."

At 8 a.m., my doorbell rang and there stood two little children dressed in makeshift snow costumes with woolen socks on their hands for mittens.

"Can we slide down your front hill?" they asked.

When I looked out the window a few minutes later the hill was swarming — not just with kids but with mothers and fathers, too. Some were sliding on cardboard boxes. Others were making snowballs. Still others were just standing with their heads back, watching the white flakes come down.

"Crazy!" said Kate, who had joined me at the window. "I think I'm going out to show those rebels how to make a snowman."

By the middle of the morning a snowman stood in our front yard. He was a traditional round plump snowman with a carrot nose, a red ski hat, and he held a pipe in his smiling mouth.

The neighborhood children named him "Frosty-the-Snowman" and my friend Martha-Ann snapped his picture from every angle. "He is the most beautiful thing I've ever seen!" she said.

The only car that drove off our street all day was my husband's. When he returned from work in the evening he joined us on the front hill by the snowman.

"I suppose the roads are passable now," said Martha-Ann in a sad voice. "Guess tomorrow it will be school and work as usual."

"The roads were passable today," said my husband with a grin. "This stuff isn't snow...it's a powdered sugar."

"Depends on how you look at it," she replied. "We figure that with snow coming only once every six years we'd just better take advantage of it. Why if I was the superintendent of schools, I'd declare the roads impassable tomorrow."

Dental Health Week

(This is the third in a series of six articles on dental health published by The Manchester Evening Herald, in cooperation with the American Dental Association, in observance of National Children's Dental Health Week, Feb. 6-12.)

There has been a lot of talk lately about "sugarless" chewing gum. Is it better to chew this than regular gum? If you must chew gum, the American Dental Association says it is better to chew the sugarless products rather than those that contain sugar.

On the other hand, foods and beverages that contain excessive amounts of sugar invite tooth decay. How does the decay process work? It begins with bacterial plaque, the sticky, colorless substance that is present in everyone's mouth.

VA news

Q - My fiance says I am his beneficiary on $10,000 National Service Life Insurance contract. Can I verify this?

A - No, an insured's beneficiary designation is confidential.

Q - I received $2,000 disability severance pay from the Army. I applied for disability compensation from the VA and my service-connected disabilities were rated at 20 per cent. When will I begin to receive disability compensation?

A - Before you may begin receiving compensation from the VA, an amount equal to the amount of severance pay you received must be recouped. At the present 20 per cent rate of $70 per month it will take 29 months.

Q - My father died on active duty and I am attending college under his GI Bill entitlement. Will my pending marriage terminate this benefit?

A - No. Marriage is no bar to dependent children's receipt of educational payments.

Q - May a veteran be enrolled half time in an on-the-job training program?

A - No. Apprenticeship or on-the-job training must be full time.

Unobtainable Reserve Oil shale in the United States may hold 60 billion barrels of petroleum to a ton of rock but no one yet knows how to extract it economically or without ruining thousands of square miles of the western U.S. by strip mining. The oil shale holds many times the known American oil reserves of 45 billion barrels.

Treatment helps facial pains

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am being treated by a neurologist for a condition called tic douloureux. It occurs unexpectedly as a series of severe stabbing pains, between the right temple and the ear which sends me to the floor, slapping at my head. The attack lasts 15 seconds, recurs in 30 seconds. It is not triggered externally.

For years I had only an ice pack to stop the attacks. Then my doctor gave me a prescription of one Tegretol tablet, two Vitamin and two Dilantin capsules. This combination taken at once worked beautifully, stopping the attack in 30 seconds. I am now taking four Dilantin a day to prevent an attack. The side effect of the Dilantin is an occasional loss of balance, stumbling, and unsteadiness. My doctor suggested a half tablet of Tegretol four times daily. I am afraid to take this instead of Dilantin, because if my body becomes used to Tegretol, I will have nothing to stop an attack.

Dilantin is not as effective as Tegretol but it has less side effects. Your doctor wants you to take the Tegretol in an effort to prevent your attacks. DEAR READER - You may be more fortunate than some with tic douloureux (trigeminal neuralgia). Some have repeated sharp lightning-like pains to the side of the face or jaw and the severe pains may last for hours. The medicines you are taking are commonly used in the treatment of this difficult and painful disease. The combination of medicines has to be worked out for each patient. Tegretol is not as effective as Tegretol but it has less side effects. Your doctor wants you to take the Tegretol in an effort to prevent your attacks. In severe cases that cannot be adequately controlled by medicines there are other approaches to it.

untending on the affected side. In recent years a technique of electrocoagulation has been developed. A needle is inserted into the nerve fibers. By introducing an electric current the pain fibers can be destroyed. Because the pain fibers are not covered with a sheath they are more sensitive and can be destroyed without seriously damaging the rest of the nerve that affects the side of the face. The selective destruction of the pain fibers cures the problem. It is a delicate operation but many neurosurgeons are now trained to do it. You might ask your neurologist if he thinks it would be advisable in your case. It would be one way of getting off medicine entirely. For information on man's most common bowel problems send 50 cents for The Health Letter number 21, Spastic or Irritable Colon and Constipation. MVD INFO

Q. My friend was driving along a street and took his foot off the accelerator to slow down. But nothing happened and the car sped on. What can I do if something like a stuck throttle happens to me?

A. If this situation occurs on the open highway and you have a lot of distance between you and other traffic, you can first lightly tap the accelerator pedal a few times to see if it will spring back to its normal position. If this fails, try to pull the pedal up with the toe of your shoe, or have a front seat passenger reach down and do it. DON'T reach down yourself because you must keep your attention on the road.

If you must slow down or stop rapidly, turn your IGNITION OFF and APPLY the brakes. But be sure you turn the key to OFF, not LOCK. On most cars you can't turn the steering wheel when the key is in the lock position. Also NOTE: If you have power steering and power brakes, turning off the ignition will require increased physical effort to steer and brake the car as the car slows down. Some pump brakes and some power brakes will require increased physical effort to steer and brake the car as the car slows down. Don't pump brakes and don't pump the accelerator.

As the car slows down, guide it off the roadway, if possible.

After you stop the car, look for the source of trouble. The accelerator pedal may be binding on the floor mat or the rug in your car, and you can easily free the pedal by moving the rug or mat. If this isn't the case, and if you know something about engines, look in your engine compartment and check the accelerator linkage. Some of the parts may be stuck and binding, and a little oil (from the dipstick used to check your oil) may solve the problem.

If you can't locate and remedy the problem (such as may be caused by a broken or missing accelerator return spring or by a broken motor mount), DON'T DRIVE THE CAR. Get help so the problem can be corrected.

If you think you've corrected the problem, make certain before driving the car. Apply the emergency (or parking) brake firmly, put the gear selector in PARK or NEUTRAL, and start the car. Exercise the accelerator pedal a few times to make sure it returns to its normal position after you remove your foot from the pedal. Then put the car in gear and try loading the engine a few times before releasing the parking brake and proceeding on your way.

Pain - real or fake
Injured in a bus accident, Gerald sought damages from the transportation company. At the trial he complained that he was suffering from severe headaches. And his doctor testified that he was suffering from severe headaches. However, the company raised an objection.

"Pain is personal," the company argued. "There is no way that one person - even a doctor - can know whether another person really hurts or is just faking."

But the court ruled that the doctor's testimony was admissible.

"A patient may simulate artificial tears," said the court, "but there are few doctors who, armed with training and experience, cannot, after sufficient examinations, determine what is a sham and what is genuine."

This is the law's usual attitude - that a doctor can properly testify as to the reality of a patient's pain. A doctor may also give an educated opinion as to the likelihood of pain in the future.

For example: A woman sued a trolley company as the result of an injury to her ankle. Here, the doctor testified not only that the ankle was painful but also that it would continue to hurt for a considerable period of time.

Again, the court found his evidence admissible. The court pointed out that the doctor was basing his prediction on conventional medical analysis.

On the other hand, a prediction may be ruled out if it is too "iffy." In another case against a bus company, the court rejected a doctor's statement that his patient "might" have pain whenever the weather turned damp.

Dismissing this as only a bare possibility, the court said:

"Defendants are not called upon to pay for such contingencies."

Growing Older

Social Security ills haunt new leaders

We seniors have pleasant news. William E. Simon, Secretary of the Treasury under President Ford, will not be a member of the Carter administration.

You may ask, "Why get stirred up? Simon's frightening ideas about Social Security won't prevail. The man can't harm us any more." Don't believe it. There are still government leaders who subscribe to Simon's ideas.

The Wall Street Journal published an article by Simon. Title? "How To Rescue Social Security."

The key to his thinking is expressed as follows: "Social Security was designed to provide an income floor to the aged. It was never intended to be a welfare program providing the entire means of support for everyone in old age."

The Simon editorial covers the fiscal problems of the Social Security Trust Fund. He admits that "the government has tinkered with the program. It was originally understood that Social Security tax payments would be accumulated in a reserve account. The fund was supposed to grow steadily, earning interest until it reached a sum large enough to meet commitments. The contributors themselves would own the assets of the fund. The government would serve merely as trustee."

Simon draws a bleak picture. The reserve account has not been allowed to grow. The government has not raised funds commensurate with benefit increases.

"If we do not reduce the growth rate of Social Security benefits," Simon says, "an eventual financial crisis is inescapable. Large and perhaps sudden cuts in benefits to the aged, bereaved, and disabled would be unavoidable."

"The prospects for enormous future deficits in Social Security funds," according to Simon, "are bound to cause trouble for the nation and the elderly." Simon offers three solutions:

- 1) Change the ways in which the program pays increased benefits as wages go up. Wage earners should build their own savings and purchase private retirement insurance.

- 2) Raise the age at which workers can claim their retirement (income) from 65 to 67.

- 3) Make Social Security payments taxable. Yes, the Social Security system would surely save money if these policies were adopted. What the savings would do to the elderly is another matter.

Many workers are now forced into Social Security before 65 because many firms don't employ older or even middle aged people. Additionally, with inflation and unemployment abounding, the savings of many workers are used up or reduced long before retirement.

This battle which rages over Social Security has two aspects. Simon is concerned only for the maintenance of the financial integrity of the system. The matter of Social Security for the system is not considered.

What we have here is a clash of ideologies. There is more to this nation than the balancing of budgets. The successful production of goods and profits is not the essence of patriotism. Nor is blatant commercialism a synonym for the beautiful word "Democracy."

People count. Twenty-five million people living on Social Security count. We built this nation. Through the 77 years of this century, we who are now seniors fought our country's wars. What our country now has of comfort, of world leadership, of the power to defend itself, was made by us who are now elderly.

It isn't Social Security which must be rescued. Two out of every five old people in this country now live on incomes below the poverty line. They're the ones who must be rescued.

We may hope that the new administration will address itself more humanely to the problems of the aging, and the difficulties of the Social Security system.

Those who want more information may write Seniors for Adequate Social Security (SASS), 136 W. 91st St., New York, N.Y. 10024.

Board tells the fund drive story

Mrs. Thomas Toomey, vice-president of the St. James School Foundation, explains the new display board at the school to the Rev. James Archambault, center, and the Rev. Francis Krukowski, co-pastors of St. James Church. The board was made by Charles Crocini and presently contains information about the second annual fund drive for the St. James School Foundation. The purpose of the Foundation is to collect and invest funds for the long-range financial stability of the school. Donations may be sent to Edmund Gorman, treasurer, P.O. Box 254, Manchester. This year's goal is $20,500. (Herald photo by Dun)

Manchester Green AARP meets Monday

Manchester Green Chapter No. 2399 of American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) will meet Monday at 1:30 p.m. in Fellowship Hall, Community Baptist Church, 585 E. Center St.

Thomas Brainard, son of Jesse Brainard who was originally scheduled to speak, will talk on Connecticut artists from 1820 to the present. He will explain what research is necessary to determine the worth of old paintings. There will be a display of paintings, and Brainard will answer questions.

Members who wish to renew their memberships may send their dues before March 1 to William Rice, 190 Chestnut St., and enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope.

Anyone interested in taking the defensive driving course to be held in May should register with George Taylor or Ernest McNeill by calling 643-0482 and 649-6076.

Social Security

Q. I understand that most Social Security matters can be handled by phone. Does this include disability claims also?

A. Yes. The information is taken over the phone and the completed application is sent to you to check over and sign. Or we can send the application to you to complete and you can call us if you need help.

Q. My mother recently died at 69 after a long illness. If I pay our family doctor, who was treating her, can I apply for the Medicare medical insurance payment?

A. When someone who has Medicare does, special rules apply to the medical insurance payment. If your doctor accepts assignment, Medicare will pay him. If he won't accept assignment, the payment can be made to whoever pays the bill. You will need to file two forms and proof of payment. The forms are "Request for Medicare Payment" and "Statement Regarding Medicare Payment to Deceased Patient." You can get both at any Social Security office.

Q. I've always heard that Medicare can only pay for services from a hospital that's participating in Medicare. But what happens if an emergency occurs and I have to be taken to a hospital that's not participating? Will Medicare pay anything at all?

A. Medicare's hospital insurance can help pay for care in a qualified non-participating hospital, but only if (1) you are admitted to the non-participating hospital for emergency treatment, and (2) the non-participating hospital is the closest one to you that is equipped to handle the emergency. Under Medicare, emergency treatment means treatment that is immediately necessary to prevent death or serious impairment to health.

Q. My mother has Medicare hospital insurance coverage but not medical insurance. Can she still sign up, and when?

A. Your mother can sign up for Medicare medical insurance in the first three months of any year.

Generally for each year she delays signing up after she was first eligible to enroll, her monthly medical insurance premium will increase by 10 per cent. Her protection will start July 1 of the year she signs up.

Q. I get Supplemental Security Income payments, and I'm thinking of moving to another state in a month or so. Do I need to reapply for SSI when I get there?

A. No. However, you must let Social Security know of your move so checks can be sent to the new address. Also, the amount of your SSI payment may change because some states add to the Federal SSI payment and some don't.
