PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) - Bing Crosby topped off the stage at his 50th anniversary performance Thursday night, cutting his head in a 20-foot fall that shocked a celebrity-crowded audience, but physicians said the 72-year-old crooner was not seriously hurt.

No flooding anticipated

By RON RICHMAN
United Press International
A rapid warming trend, ardently hoped for by many winter-weary New Englanders, could cause serious flooding this spring if it is coupled with heavy rains.

The greatest potential for flooding in Rhode Island is along the Blackstone and Pawtuxet Rivers, he said. A meeting of state and local officials has been scheduled March 12 in Montpelier, Vt.

Local memorabilia is nice

By RUSS MacKENDRICK

We can't all have a piece of Pitkin glass but there are many items of Manchester memorabilia that can be spotted by alert collectors. These medals are a good example. One is lacquered in brown and the other is gilded; at first glance they are very different but actually the designs are identical. There is a ship with billowing sail, flag and pennant, sitting in a tub of suds inscribed "Manchester Centennial," and underneath "1823 M 1923 Connecticut."

really rare South Manchester in capitals. Much of this material may be kicking around in the garage sales coming up this spring. (Hurry...spring!) The medals shown here were loaned by Pauline Triant, a member of the local stamp club, who also collects angels. Yes, angels - also of them. They have come from 30 countries and 24 states. Sizes range from one to ten inches. The materials are crystal, ceramic, leather, straw, and you-name-it. Perhaps we will picture a few of them here sometime.

Phantom stamps

Linn's Stamp News has a piece about phantom stamps. They're not mere forgeries but rather, things from non-official countries. There is "Atlantid," 35 feet under water in the Grand Banks 300 miles off Newfoundland. The owner has a dream of building on it to make a refueling area. The tiny island of Outer Bald Tusket near Nova Scotia has been renamed Outer Baldonia and for a time had a listing under "Embassies" in the Washington, D.C., phone directory. A brother of Ernest Hemingway once sent a sheet of phantoms to Lyndon Johnson and got back a "thank you" addressed to Acting President, with the month and year, the plain Manchester in two types, and the

CB Convac

By INK DIPPER

Betty Ford, during the last year her husband was in office, became America's best-known Cber. The First Lady, going by the handle "First Mama," used her four wits whenever she went to campaign for her husband. Her enthusiasm also sparked more awareness of CB problems - Slowdown in licensing, crowded channels. At one point several months before he started his official campaign, President Ford called a meeting of industry leaders, organizational heads and journalists involved in CBing to discuss the problems. And some problems were dealt with. The Federal Communications Commission started the temporary permit program and the channel expansion was made. Ford's interest, whether self-serving or not, probably contributed indirectly to the changes. The Office of Telecommunications Policy (OTP), a branch of the executive part of government, has been one indirect link the White House has with the FCC. This office doesn't set policy for the FCC but, does make recommendations and does some negotiation for moving radio services from one frequency to another. Ford's people were in steady contact with the office on matters concerning CB, according to certain sources. Now with Jimmy Carter in the White House it's uncertain how he will react to the growing demands of CBers. The most pressing need is expansion of CB past the 27 megahertz range. The present frequency range is hard hit by sunspot skip, and the sun will begin an increase in sunspot activity in 1978. The activity will peak sometime in 1980, and there is a growing belief that CBing will be strongly affected by increased activity. No one in the CB media can recall Carter ever actually using a CB - nor can they remember Ford modulating. Some of Carter's kin used the CB during the campaign, but not with the attention that Betty Ford received. If there is a Cber close to President Carter, it is Billy Carter, his brother. Billy's handle is "Cast Iron" because, as he put it once, "I'll drink anything with anyone at anytime. I got a stomach that's like cast iron." The media often portrays Cbers as beer-drinking, good-ole-boy types. If that's the case, Billy Carter. (Never mind that he runs a prosperous peanut commodity business or that he's well-read.) Billy has become a sort of folk hero, sitting away Pabst Blue Ribbon with all of his good buddies. Dan Rather, in a CBS interview at the sta-

Variety Show

Things are really shaping up with the Variety Show and although the tickets are moving, it'd like to see them going a little faster and so again we're calling for help in selling them for us. If you're interested, then stop by our office and we will be glad to give a few, or a lot, or whatever. For a short time, now, you'll be hearing an old familiar tune, "All Ashore Who are Going Ashore," as we continue to build up our crew for the big boat cruise to Nassau and Bermuda. Time is quickly slipping by and therefore if you're thinking about wanting to join us, then you'd better start putting it all together. We have five outside cabins and a few more inside cabins available, but the demand from the outside is getting louder and these cabins won't be held for too much longer. Remember, on this trip, friends of our seniors are invited as well. So McLean, 736; Estor Anderson, 732; Fritz Wilkinson, 730; Beatrice Bowling, 728. The cruise is slated for May 7 and that doesn't give us too much time because the final payment is due by April 5. So join your captain for an enjoyable relaxing seven days.

Pinochle

This past pinochle morning, we had 27 players for pinochle and the winners were: Clara Hemingway, 605; Al Gates, 577; Archie Houghaling, 571; Lee Steinmetz, 568; Paul Schuetz, 564; Marjorie Labate, 564; Marjorie McLean, 560. In the afternoon, while our craft class was busy making costumes for single, Ida Corrier and Mildred Buckler, 155 each; Women-Class B (100 average and under) high triple, Flo Guerra, 314, high single, Adeline Rizza, 126.

News for senior citizens

By WALLY FORTIN

We could use a few more players and would like to lend them to us, please call our office and we'll be glad to pick them up. Irish dance Hey, this is known as Irish Month and on March 17, Saint Patty's Day we will have our big Irish Dance here at the center that evening. Action will start at 7:30 and we will be dancing to the tunes of Lou Joubert and his band. Lots of Irish goodies to munch on and green juice to wash them down with. It's going to be a great night and tickets are now available, at the office. A limited amount will be sold at the door. So remember, the date - how could you forget - is March 17. If you want to come and need to ride our bus, you must sign up because we need at least 20 persons to make it worthwhile to use the bus. Back to trips and we will be registering for the Nova Scotia jaunt this Monday starting around 8 a.m. As always, we sign up on a first come basis, and as you sign up, you are seated on the bus. Although we start around 8 a.m., you can bet some people will be at the center long before the doors will open. Also, one person can register just for two people only, and we do not register over the phone until we have given our members a chance to sign up in person. When you register Monday, you must pay at least 10 deposit. This past Thursday after a delicious roast breast of chicken with all the trimmings, the action moved upstairs where General Manager Robert Weiss, Town Director Vivian Ferguson and Stephen Penny all

CDAP did recommend one dispatch system

The apparent controversy and confusion over dispatching of Manchester fire departments in an emergency could be solved by creation of a centralized dispatch system.

If there was one telephone number for Manchester fire calls, there would be no confusion and there would be no delay in sending one of the two fire departments.

Centralized dispatching isn't a new idea for Manchester. The town's community development action plan (CDAP), formulated from 1969 to 1972, pointed out the need for improvements.

"In emergencies," the CDAP report said, "there is a need for public safety forces to respond as quickly as possible."

"There is no central number the public can call in event of emergencies," the report said, suggesting establishment of a communications center for both police and fire services.

The CDAP report also suggested a study of fire department consolidation, but we don't think that's necessary simply to improve dispatching.

The police department has improved its system along lines of the CDAP recommendations. We think it's about time the fire services considered such a plan.

Alex Haley recalls his other 'Roots'

WASHINGTON — "Roots" author Alex Haley visited this city for two days last week and mesmerized audiences with the account of how he came to write his runaway best seller. It's a story of which every American — black and white — can be proud.

"It still startles me when I hear someone say that I've done all of this," says Haley who, at 55, is perhaps already this country's best known black as well as overnight millionaire. "I believe that I have only been a channel — a conduit that has been used at this particular time to tell the story of a people."

Modest and sensitive

Haley, a kindly, modest, sensitive man with the dignified look of the scholar he is, conveyed a mystical quality in describing the modern crises faced by him and his family that could have aborted his ambitious project.

After spending nine years tracing an ancestry that springs from the rich soil of West Africa, for example, Haley was into the crucial writing stage of his epoch. And he was in trouble: the inspiration that would allow this middle-class American to truly identify with his seventh-generation ancestor Kunta Kinte still eluded him.

Retrace history

In a last, desperate try at somehow feeling as the young slave boy felt when he was cruelly uprooted from his village to become white man's property in a faraway land, Haley flew to Africa and boarded a Liberian vessel headed for the United States. At night he would go down into the ship's dark hold and stay until hours later when footsteps on the deck above told him morning was dawning.

After three days at sea he began to despair of ever being able to empathize with his slave ancestor. "I was torn up emotionally trying to be Kunta Kinte," Haley told a National Press Club audience. "On the third night I also thought about the $100,000 in debts I owed and promises I hadn't kept and considered just giving up. I went to the rail of the ship and thought of stepping through it and dropping into the sea.

An eerie moment

"That was an eerie moment," Haley continued. "While I was trying to decide whether to jump, I heard voices saying 'don't do it.' The voices were those of Kunta, Haley's grandmother, and his ancestor Chicken George.

Haley recalls that the urge to end it all was still so strong that he literally crawled over the ship's hatch back to the hold so he wouldn't throw himself into the sea. Once inside, he again lay on a plank and contemplated what had just happened. "I then burst into

You can't fool history

You can fool some of the people all of the time and all of the people some of the time, Abraham Lincoln said. But as Jimmy Carter is discovering, not only can't you please all of the people all of the time but there are some people a president can't please even part of the time.

Mr. Carter has come in for as much criticism as praise for certain measures he has taken to curb governmental and presidential extravagance — limiting the use of limousines by officials, for instance, or foregoing the fanfares every time he enters a room.

You can't fool us, say some people. We know it's all symbol and no substance.

You can't please us, say others. We don't want a "just folks" president who sends his daughter to public school or who appears on nationwide television in a sweater. The president is supposed to be someone special and different from ordinary people.

Well, it really doesn't matter what some people say. There are times when the symbol can be as meaningful as the substance, especially if it symbolizes — as we believe it does — a genuine desire by Mr. Carter to approach closer to Lincoln's idea of government of the people, by the people and for the people.

He may never get past the symbolic reforms, so entrenched are bureaucracy, custom and protocol. But even if he does nothing more than eliminate some of the pomp and circumstance and monarchical trappings that have come to surround the presidency, he will have earned a special place in history.

Even Gerald Ford, who had no exaggerated notions about his own importance, found it all too easy to get accustomed to the adulation and privileges we shower on our presidents.

If Richard Nixon was not belabored by the press for dressing White House guards in chocolate soldier uniforms, Jimmy Carter should not be faulted for feeling that the playing of "Hail to the Chief" has been a wee bit overdone.

It doesn't hurt to note that "hall" in German is "hell" and that "the chief" may be translated as "der Fuehrer."

So keep it up, Jimmy. And keep in mind something else Lincoln didn't say but would certainly agree on: The one thing you can't fool any of the time, or at least not for long, is history.

Roots Today's thought

Deliver us from the evil one.

The central concern of religion is salvation. Religion is the attainment, the experience of salvation. Salvation means wholeness, deliverance from all that injures or mutilate, or hinders the growth of the personality. It means fullness of life, well-being, strength, power, blessedness, wealth, happiness, righteousness, joy, peace. It is the complete penetration of the human by the divine.

Hocking
A man can be said to be saved not alone when he is reclaimed from rebellion or criminality, he is saved in so far as he is not wasted, in so far as the human material in him gets as a chance at self-expression and utilization.

Von Hugel
Prayer:
Thou, who dost well alone —
Thou, who dost know thine own
Thou, to whom all are known
From the cradle to the grave —
Save, oh save!

Open collective bargaining to public

WASHINGTON — A fascinating new trend involving public employee contracts in states from Florida to California is beginning to attract attention here in the nation's capital.

Taxpayers tired of footing enormous bills they cannot comprehend have started muscling their way into one of the last remaining bastions of government secrecy: the collective bargaining process.

Every year, contracts worth millions upon millions of dollars are negotiated between local government units and their employees — teachers, fire fighters, policemen, sanitation workers and paper shufflers of all kinds.

"It is beginning to dawn on everyone now that negotiations, as they relate to governmental units, are not a private affair," Mathias said. "Public interest in collective bargaining cannot be washed away or ignored."

A study of Florida's first full year of public negotiations produced some predictable results: initial bargaining by negotiators, half-packing by union members and difficulties in compromising key demands once public positions had been staked out.

By Martha Angie and Robert Walters proved a referendum item making themselves the final arbiter of future labor-management squabbles.

If bargaining reaches an impasse which not even a neutral "fact finder" can resolve, the fact finder's proposed settlement plus the final offers of both labor and management will go on the ballot for a decision by the voters. A similar system has been used successfully for several years in Englewood, Colo.

'Goldfish bowl' bargaining

In Florida, the state legislature passed a collective bargaining law in 1974 which requires all negotiations to be conducted in public. Kansas City, Mo. has likewise adopted "goldfish bowl" bargaining for some of its city employees. So has Albuquerque, N.M. and Sioux City, Iowa. And San Rafael, Calif.

Better prepared

On the other hand, both labor and management tended to arrive at the bargaining table with more responsible initial proposals.

Old habits die hard, and secrecy had traditionally been an element of collective bargaining. But with "sunshine" reforms illuminating other forms of government decision-making, it seems unlikely the taxpayers will much longer tolerate being shut out of such a vital area.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: About ten years ago you gave the editor of our church bulletin permission to reprint two of your black youth, later gave him $518 for tuition at A.T.

Coupled with what he earned that summer it was enough to allow him to devote full time to his studies. He ended the next semester with an A-average.

Rest in history

The rest is now literary history. Haley's father took a master's degree in agriculture from Cornell, became a college professor, and reared his own family in a stimulating atmosphere of "aspirations, motivation and books."

One son, George, became a lawyer. Another, Julius, an architect. And a third son, Alex, opened a new world of cultural heritage and pride to 23 million black Americans.

In the process, Alex Haley blessed all of this nation with a better understanding of its past. And, with help as diverse as whispering black voices and a generous white passenger on a train, Haley has borne out his own belief that "the most powerful investment anyone can make is an investment in a human being."

Wings of Evening

By CLIFF SIMPSON

Look again — at yourself

Lent is a time to look again at self, at other people, and at the meaning of life. To help us in this re-examination, we turn to the life and teachings of Jesus. Consider this parable as you take a look at yourself.

"Two men went up into the temple to pray, one a Pharisee and the other a tax collector. The Pharisee stood and prayed thus with himself, 'God, I thank thee that I am not like other men, extortioners, unjust, adulterers, or even like this tax collector. I fast twice a week, I give tithes of all that I get.' But the tax collector, standing far off, would not even lift up his eyes to heaven, but beat his breast, saying, 'God, be merciful to me a sinner!' I tell you, this man went down to his house justified rather than the other; for every one who exalts himself will be humbled, but he who humbles himself will be exalted." (Luke 18:9-14)

Do you see yourself in this picture? If you are tempted to praise yourself for your good works, remember this parable. Remember that all sin and fall short of the glory of God. It is only as we recognize ourselves as sinners who are in need, that we can receive the saving Grace offered to us.

A conversation is recorded that took place between a young student and Sir James Simpson who discovered that I was a great sinner and that Jesus Christ was my Saviour. Look again at yourself — and at the cross of Christ. Look again — at others. As you read the scriptures during this season of Lent, note the confrontations that Jesus had with individuals. He was able to see beneath surface appearances to the needs of each person. Not only did he see what the person was but his potential.

It would be foolish to presume that we could have that degree of insight as we look at other people — both those we like and those we dislike — but we can ask ourselves, "How do you suppose Jesus would look at this person?" With this kind of examination our compassion and understanding should deepen. Look again at other people, and remember how Jesus looked with compassion on those he met in Galilee.

Look again — at the meaning of life. Some claim that life has no meaning, that it is not worth living. In "The Story of My Life," Clarence Darrow declares that on the whole, so far as he had experienced it, life is not worth living. He goes on to say that the best part of it is the time spent sleeping when one is not aware of existence. He felt that human life is purposeless and that the universe has no provision of the end and its achieving for man. He said, "I am an agnostic."

We are bombarded by all kinds of cynical and skeptical philosophies today. We read of suicides, of people without hope, of those who have no regard for themselves or for others. What a contrast we find when we read the Gospels. The meaning and purpose of life is found in the life, death and resurrection of Jesus. In the Upper Room, where he met with his disciples for the last time before going to the cross he spoke to them about peace and joy and told them, "Be of good cheer." The closer we are to him through this season of Lent the greater will be our conviction that life has meaning and that there can be peace and joy in the struggle. Look again — at Jesus.

Volunteers. Recently I attended the meeting of the Board of Directors for the United Fund. In one sense it was discouraging, because of the great need. In another sense it was heartening to realize how many people in our town are serving in some capacity in the "voluntary agencies."

The thought flashed through my mind that there must be many others in our community — both newcomers and oldtimers — who would welcome an opportunity to serve, but who may not have stepped forward. Perhaps they would be encouraged to do so if there were some central place where individuals could learn about the needs and opportunities for such service and the details involved; what skills are necessary, how much time is involved, etc. At this place they could sign up for the job best suited to their time and talents.

Perhaps there already is a center like this in Manchester. If so, please let me know and I will give the details in a later column. Meanwhile, if there are any of you who wish to be involved in the United Way, or in the Red Cross, I would be glad to hear from you.

A chuckle. Two bookies went to church on a Sunday morning. It was one of the feast days when the congregation was singing hymns of praise and thanksgiving. After the benediction as they were going down the aisle, one bookie remarked to the other: "You idiot. It's hallelujah! not Hialeah!"

A third suggestion on prayer. In answering the questions of a young person about prayer, I suggested turning the mind to God on awaking, then taking a period of time in the early morning for meditation — reading the Bible, listening, walking on God. Our next suggestion concerns the use of the Lord's Prayer — perhaps at mid-morning. Use it as a way of intercession, concentrating on someone about whom you are concerned — perhaps someone you love, or perhaps someone who has been bothering you. Let's say his name is John. Slowly and thoughtfully repeat the familiar prayer including his name.

"Our Father — John's and mine — who art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name — between John and me. Thy kingdom come — between John and me. Thy will be done — between John and me — on earth as it is in heaven. Give us — John and me — this day our daily bread. And forgive us our trespasses — as John and I forgive our trespasses against each other..."

This is only a suggestion and it may not appeal to you. However, if you are resentful or angry at someone, using his name in this way may well change your anger to understanding. Try it and see.

Library program signups planned

Vernon
Registration for children's spring programs at the Rockville Public Library will be accepted Monday through Saturday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the children's department.
The programs will run for a six-week period starting March 14 and ending April 20.
There will be three morning story hours for preschoolers. A new program entitled, "Shamrocks, Kites, and Rabbits," is planned for children in kindergarten to Grade 3.
Each week a variety of media, stories, films, crafts and other activities will be presented.
In addition, two programs will be conducted by guest speakers. Virginia Gingras will present a program to commemorate National Wildlife Week and Stephanie Johnson from the Tolland County Agricultural center will lead a session on nutrition and planting time.
The weekly schedule will be as follows: Pre-school story hour, Mondays, 10 to 10:30 a.m. and 11 to 11:30 a.m.; Preschool storyhour, Tuesdays, 10 to 10:30 a.m. and 3:30 to 4:30 p.m.; program for Grades 2 and 3; and Wednesdays, program for kindergarten and Grade 1, 3:30 to 4:30 p.m.
The first two days next week will be reserved for registration of children who were not registered for winter programs. After that, anyone may register.
The free programs are open to children of Vernon patrons only.

New year at hospital

Rockville General Hospital employees, patients and visitors were treated to a Chinese New Year celebration at lunch Thursday, complete with festive decorations in the cafeteria. Jack McElvein, manager of the cafeteria and kitchen, left, and Robert Boardman, hospital administrator, right, in proper attire, assisted Sue Masterson, cafeteria worker, with serving the Chinese food. Hospital leaders urge big turnout

Vernon
Rockville General Hospital officials are urging persons in the area served by the hospital to attend the March 8 hearing on its proposed $1.8 million expansion.
The hearing, to be led by the Health Systems Agency (HSA) panel, will be at 7:15 p.m. in the hospital cafeteria, Union St., Rockville.
The proposed program will expand the emergency room facilities, physical therapy, respiratory care and hemodialysis.
The Subarea E advisory council of HSA heard hospital officials describe plans for expansion and funding at a hearing last month in Ellington.
The March 8 hearing is the second step in the agency's review process, with the final step to be the report by the panel to the 29-member HSA Board of Trustees. The board will then make a recommendation to the Commission on Hospitals and Health Care.
There has been much controversy about a recommendation of the commission for Rockville and Manchester hospitals to consider merging their pediatric and maternity services.
Rockville Hospital officials said the hearing will deal only with the issue of expansion of the mentioned services, not with the matter of consolidating the other services.

Store plans to move in Rockville Center

Zahner's Men's Shop, in business in Rockville Center for 25 years, will move next door to the former W.T. Grant store this summer, expanding its space from about 10,000 square feet to 17,200 square feet.
A 10-year lease was signed Thursday during a press conference called by Mayor Thomas Benoit. Ladore Rubin, owner of the Rockville Shopping Plaza where Grant's was located, credited Benoit, Town Planner John Loranger and the Chamber of Commerce for efforts to see the building leased.
The Zahner's Men's Shop, Zahner's Boy's Store and shoe store are all in the building adjacent to Grant's. The men's shop and boy's store will move into the two-story Grant building.
There will probably be a reshuffling of the shoe store and Cray's Blue Print, which is between the shoe store and Emmannuel and Edward Zahner, owners of the shops, credited their sons, Scott and Craig, with doing all of the legwork preparing for the proposed move.
Rubin said he almost gave up on the Rockville Shopping Plaza when the two large stores, Woolworth's and Popular Market, moved out, followed later by Grant's.
He said he was very bitter at the time but because he had never had a shopping center that failed, he said he decided to hold on, with encouragement from Benoit and Loranger.
Edward Zahner said they weighed the question as to whether or not to move into larger quarters "but we are bursting at the seams where we are now."
"We have been in business for 25 years and there has been a steady increase even with what is called adverse conditions in Rockville."

Red Cross seeks $5 in three area towns

The Columbia Chapter of the American Red Cross, which serves Andover, Columbia and Hebron, will be conducting its annual fund drive this month.
Donald Clough of Andover is chapter chairman. He said there will be mail campaigns in Columbia and Hebron and door-to-door solicitation in Andover.
Leonard Couchon is chairman for Columbia, assisted by Gladys Chalmers and Ann Dumack. Robert Galano and Cynthia Wilson are co-chairmen for Hebron, and Mrs. Andrew Gasper and Mrs. Richard Osborne, Andover.
A goal of $3,000 has been set so regular services may be continued. Services include water safety courses, first aid courses, the blood program, service to military families and veterans, disaster relief and the loan of equipment for home care of disabled persons.
Anyone missed during the drive may send a contribution to Mrs. Robert Blair, treasurer, Rt. 66, Columbia. Any person who gives one dollar or more becomes a voting member of the chapter.

Finance board sets Hebron budget dates

Richard M. Grant, chairman of the Hebron Board of Finance has established its schedule of meetings in connection with submission of budget requests for the 1977-78 fiscal year.
The Hebron Board of Education will present its budget March 29 in the Town Office Building. Other budgets scheduled: March 30, general government requests; March 31, special finance board meeting, if needed, for budget work; April 11, 8 p.m., Hebron Elementary School, public budget hearing, and May 9, 8 p.m., Hebron Elementary School, annual Town Budget Meeting.
Grant said the Regional District 8 Board of Education will hold its budget hearing April 18 at Rham and its annual budget meeting on May 2 at Rham.

Refs ruined game

Officiating helped ruin the ECAC playoff basketball game between the University of Connecticut and Holy Cross College Thursday night at the Hartford Civic Center.

Without any question, the best team, Holy Cross won. The score was 89-77. In fact, if the two teams played 10 times, the feeling here is that the more talented Crusaders would win at least nine.

But the whistle bloters in Thursday night's first game of the twinnit were something else.

The ECAC office rates a direct arrow in the heart of its operations for assigning two over the hill, out of shape officials to such a game of importance.

Charlie Diehl, who is reported to be the assistant referee's right hand man and who usually pops up doing "big" games, had as his associate a pot-bellied Art Melace as his working partner. Both were horrible.

The officials, and not the players, dominated the scene in the first half. Action resembled NBA warfare for two nights earlier on the same playing surface which served the Boston Celtics and Golden State Warriors — when anything short of mythen was permitted.

Some of the fouls called on both sides were questionable, of the phantom variety, and the elowing and keeping that was allowed was unrefined.

The teams had to adjust to the officiating. It shouldn't be that way, especially when both teams and officials are from the same (New England) area.

All the good, young, well-conditioned and experienced officials in the ECAC membership could not all be on other assignments Thursday night.

Kelley third man

The "third" official for each of the two games Thursday night in the ECAC basketball playoffs at the Hartford Civic Center was Tom Kelley of Manchester. The Illing Junior High physical education teacher was the alternate who enjoyed all the action from a seat on first row at the action court sideline...Concedences are extended to the family of Jack Rose who died suddenly Friday night. Inconsistent Indians ousted in tournament

By LEN AUSTER
Herald Sportswriter

They say practice makes perfect but you couldn't prove it by Manchester High's basketball team.

Coach Doug Pearson had recapped how well his 12th-ranked Indians looked in practice but whatever transpired at Clarke Arena was left there as they were upset by 21st-seeded Bristol Central, 57-56, in the Class LL Division playoffs last night at the University of Hartford.

"Just inconsistent, inconsistent," moaned Pearson. "That's been the story of our season. It just seems fitting this was the way it had to end."

"We move the ball in practice but not in the game. We just weren't moving and it's too late now to do anything about it."

The loss drops Manchester, tri-champion of the CCLL, to a final 14-9 record while Central, 12-9, advances to Wednesday's first round against fifth-ranked Hamden, a 70-53 winner of the CCLL. Of six CCLL schools which have had tournament tilts, five have lost.

There were five ties in the final canto with the last at 53-53 with 2:17 left. Then the odd point came as Scott Hyde earned just one of two free throws at 1:37. Twenty-five seconds later, torrid shooting Todd Hasler pumped in his seventh field goal of the fourth quarter for a 55-49 Central lead. Hasler, 6-2 junior, launching his shots behind his right ear wound up hitting an incredible 13-of-15 from the floor and totaling five points.

Frank Beaupre tried to give Manchester the lead but his shot was blocked from behind with a turnover giving the Rams the ball. Thirty-three seconds remained when Joe DeFillippi was fouled. He made only the front end of the one-and-one situation but it was a long rebound coming back to DeFillippi at the foul line. John Greenleaf was fouled six seconds later, the fifth personal foul on Manchester's John Fitch, with he also just making the first for a 57-54 Central lead.

Jeff Kiernan brought the 57-54 lead back to within one with 12 seconds left. Central's Dave Eschner was fouled with six to go but missed with Manchester's Dave Wyman at the other end tossing up a running attempt under pressure. It was patently blocked and went out of bounds with no time showing on the clock.

The buzzer hadn't sounded so Manchester had one last shot.

But the inbound pass to Kiernan failed to produce as his shot glanced off the backboard.

Greenleaf had 12 points for Central which wound up as a team 25 to 55 from the floor with 14 turnovers. Fitch had 19 points, Hyde 15 and Kiernan 10 for Manchester, which was 22 for 49 from the field with 17 turnovers. Fitch's point total gives him a career total of 694 and the No. 1 spot on the all-time Manchester list, surpassing Mike Quenneville who previously held the top rung with 677 markers.

Bristol Central (57) — Hasler 13 1-17, Thomas 10-0-3, Kuczmarski 4-0-2, Greenleaf 4-4-12, Fortier 1-0-2, Eschner 1-1-3-3, DeFillippi 1-1-3-3, Vosgien 0-0-0-0. Totals 25 7-13-57.

Manchester (56) — Marshall 10-2-24, Hyde 5-8-15, Kelly 1-0-2-2, McKenzie 0-0-0-0, Beaupre 1-0-4, Pinnegam 0-0-0, Wyman 2-0-0-4. Totals 25 12-18-56.

Hartford cagers sideline Penney

By BILL McAVOY
Correspondent

Penney High's courageous comeback fell just short as the eighth-ranked Black Knights finished their season with a 63-60 defeat to 25th-seeded Hartford Public in a Class LL Division playoff last night at Bloomfield High, before a crowd of 1,200.

With the setback the Knights finish up at 17-6, the best record in school history.

The teams traded early hoops with Penney seemingly unsteady. It was 10-4 Penney until the Owls, now 60-4, scored on two straight points which were caused by turnovers and poor defensive rebounding. It was 16-9 at the turn in Public's favor.

James had 20 points, Jaworski 18, Young 12 and Tom Francis 10 for Penney. Smith and Jerigan paced Public with 24 and 18 markers respectively.

"It was a gutsy comeback that just fell short," stated Penney coach Bernie Dandley. "It would have been great to win but we didn't. They played inspired basketball at the end and never gave up."

Hartford Public (63) — Smith 11 2-2-4, Jerigan 9-0-21, Ager 1-0-2, Wilson 5-1-11, Wells 4-0-2, Coulotte 0-0-0, Forest 0-0-0. Totals 3-0-3-10.

Penney (60) — Francis 4-5-10, Young 2-8-12, Jaworski 6-9-18, James 9-2-3-20, Grady 0-0-2, Guzzardi 0-0-0-0, Lynch 0-0-0. Totals 21-18-28-60.

The Owls, now, were the team with the jitters as they made poor passes and took low percentage shots.

Brent Young was fouled and made both shots with 50 seconds left and a turnover gave Penney the ball with the final 32 seconds remaining. With eight seconds left Penney went to the foul line.

Early approval
MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — The federal judge who threw out the Louisville Rule has given his preliminary approval to the new labor agreement between the National Football League owners and the NFL Players Association.

U.S. District Judge Earl Larson Friday also tentatively agreed to retain jurisdiction over the settlement to make sure terms of the five-year collective bargaining pact are lived up to. Both sides had asked Larson to retain jurisdiction in the case.

taking the top spots, Canadians finishing third and fourth and the two Soviets. Paul Cummings was the winner in 4:04.1.

U.S. jumper Joni Huntley and Canadian Debbie Brill shared top honors in the women's high jump, each clearing 6 feet, 11 inches.

The shotput was the only event won by the Soviet women Friday night. Nadzheida Chirva hurled the shot 62 feet, 5 1/2 inches.

U.S. runner Steve Riddick won the men's 50-yard dash by bending over at the finish line and sticking his head in front of Nikolai Kolesnikov of the U.S.S.R.

Americans Stan Vinson, Steve Riddick, Kevin Price and Robert Taylor were easy winners in the men's medley relay.

Ticket sale

Tickets for the East Catholic-Cheshire State Basketball Tournament game Tuesday night at New Britain High will be on sale Monday and Tuesday afternoons at East from 1:30 to 2:30 in the main office.

Environmental Commissioner Stanley Pac issued an air quality permit Friday, the last state requirement before ground can be broken.

His approval left a local zoning permit nearby Cromwell as the only roadblock in the way of the long-awaited $55 million facility.

"I appreciate Commissioner Pac's favorable action. After four years we have finally met all the requirements of the state regulatory agencies. We are confident of the future," said Corporation developing the track.

Herman Wolf, a spokesman for Mooney, said the firm expected construction would take 14-18 months and projected opening the facility by late 1978.

Although the status of the zoning permit was uncertain, track officials indicated they were confident the track would open.

"This new source will not result in deterioration of air quality in any region or subregion of the state," Pac said in issuing his decision.

The original Department of Environmental Protection staff report had urged the track not be built because the traffic it would generate would cause pollution 25 miles away at the West Haven interchange of Interstate-84.

But after the proposed owners of the Middleford track, Sawmill Brook Racing Association, appealed that recommendation, hearing already had taken place and it wasn't fair to penalize the track for something it couldn't control.

"I concur with Mr. Curry's recommendation that the applicant not be held responsible for the violation," Pac said.

Phillies satisfy slugger Schmidt

NEW YORK (UPI) The Philadelphia Phillies are favored to repeat as National League East champions again this season and Friday they made the key deal to live up to that potential.

Mike Schmidt, three-time major league home run champion, agreed with the club on a six-year contract estimated at close to $11-million, though specific terms were not released.

"I probably have one of the top four or five contracts in baseball," said Schmidt, who earned $2,000,000 last year. "I now have some security for the future."

Schmidt acknowledged that he may have been able to earn more money by playing out his option and offering himself to other teams, but he had no interest in doing so.

"Maybe I could have made a better deal, made more money somewhere else, but I had no thoughts of leaving Philadelphia," Schmidt said. "I have a lot of friends there and I wanted to stay with the Phillies because we have the chance of being a big winner in the next few years, maybe a World Series champion. That's very important to me and I can't put dollar bills on something like that."

In his four years with the Phillies, Schmidt has hit 131 home runs, 107 runs, scored 112 runs and batted .282.

In other spring training news, the New York Yankees continued to pursue the possibility of playing exhibition games in Cuba and Secretary of State Cyrus Vance said in Washington he thought the idea was a good one.

Cleveland pitcher Dennis Eckerley, fourth in the American League in strikeouts last season, signed a three-year contract with the Indians, and 37-year-old Carl Yastrzemski, who signed a two-year no-club contract earlier this week, worked out in left field Friday in a test of first base, where a potential conflict was seen with newly-acquired slugger George Scott.

"I've got Scott because he's the best first baseman in the league and that's where he'll play," said Boston manager Don Zimmer. "He (Yastrzemski) came right to me and asked whether I wanted him to work out in left field or at first base. I told him to work in left field. Any time you see him at first base, it's because he wants to work there."

Cincinnati catcher Johnny Bench said his breakup with his wife last year played a large part in his 1976 slump. Bench said he hoped the divorce situation would be resolved by the start of the season.

"You tell yourself you're not going to take your problems with you into a game, but you do," Bench said. "It's something that's impossible to forget when you're constantly thinking about it off the field and when it goes on and on as it did last year. You just don't see an end to it."

Bench hit only 235 last year with 74 runs and 16 homers.

Bulls may be sleeping giant

NEW YORK (UPI) A sleeping giant may be rising in the National Basketball Association.

The Chicago Bulls, who spent much of the early part of the season in the Midwest Division cellar and only a few weeks ago seemed to have no shot at the playoffs, impressively notched their sixth straight victory Friday night with a 114-98 romp over the Lakers in Los Angeles.

Chicago finally seems to be living up to preseason expectations after a difficult start. The Bulls opened the season with a new coach, a new center, and a first round draft choice in the hospital — with moon-moosis — not exactly the ingredients of a championship team.

But a balanced attack led by veteran guard Norm Van Lier, the strong, gradual return of rookie Scott May and the active play of 72 center Artis Gilmore has the Bulls right in the thick of the playoff race.

Cavs 113, Blazers 101
Sidney Wicks and Curtis Rowe combined for six crucial points in the last 90 seconds to lift Boston past Detroit. Even worse for the Bulls was the discovery after the game that center Bob Lanier, having the best season of his career, suffered a broken bone in his right hand.

Braves 95, Jays 91
Paul Smith scored 23 points and rookie forward Adrian Dantley added 22 to pace Buffalo. The Jazz played without Pete Maravich, who was out with the flu.

Pro Basketball attitudes added 54 more to the Cavs scored their second straight road victory after losing 18 of the previous 19 road games. Portland played without injured center Bill Walton.

Former Net Larry Kenon scored 39 points and Mark Olberding and Allan Briscoe added 20 and 11 points for the high-scoring Spurs.

Connors, Nastase 'battle'

DORADO, P.R. (UPI) — Jimmy Connors and Ilie Nastase square off today for a winner-take-all $250,000 tennis match that has already been fought off the court as much as it will be played on it.

The televised match begins at 1:30 p.m. EST at the Corcoran Beach Hotel, 20 miles from San Juan.

Trying to win a psychological advantage, Connors hit Nastase in the back with a tennis ball Friday afternoon after the Romanian came on the court to practice.

The 24-year-old Connors has snubbed a scheduled joint press conference with Nastase, bitterly criticized the court and complained about the umpire through his mother — antics usually associated with the volatile Nastase.

"It's only on the court that I get mad because of the close calls," Nastase said. "The judges pick on me."

Nastase, 30, has said the fast hard-surface court favors Connors' fast style, but Connors said Nastase was "just trying to psyche me out." Connors said he couldn't see the ball at either end of the court because of the bushes and bleachers, was bothered by the heat and couldn't stand the wind.

Zender tops Citrus Open

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — Bob Zender, who decided a few years back he'd rather be a golfer than a stockbroker, has put together a couple of big wins in 1977 to take the lead in the $200,000 Florida Citrus Open.

Zender shot a five-under-par 67 Friday to combine with his first-round 72 for an eight-under-par total of 139, giving him a one-stroke advantage over Bill Rogers and Joe Ivanag.

Rogers, the first round leader after a 68, said he couldn't see the ball at either end of the court because of the bushes and bleachers, was bothered by the heat and couldn't stand the wind.

Ken Sull and Bob Crisey, who joined the PGA tour only three weeks ago, were at six-under, followed by Graham Marsh, Danny Edwards, Gary Koch and Mike Reid at five-under.

Zender's second round on the 6,929-yard Rio Pinar Country Club course included a 25-foot chip shot with a sand wedge for a birdie.

Zender, 35, who turned pro six years ago after working as a stockbroker in Chicago, said he's never been in the lead after 36 holes of a tournament.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — England's Mark Cox upset an erratic Guillermo Vilas Friday, 6-1, 6-1, in the quarter-final round of the U.S. National Indoor Tennis Championship.

"Everything went in. It was a strange sort of sensation," Cox said after the 55-minute match.

The No. 6 seed in the $175,000 tournament made only seven unforced errors in the match, while Vilas, the second-seeded Vilas consistently hit out or into the net.

The seven errors, Cox said, were "outstanding for me. I normally make seven in the first game."

Earlier in the night, Brian Gottfried used lead and drop shots to down Jose Higueras, 7-6, 6-2. In Friday's last match, top-seeded Bjorn Borg overpowered Bob Lutz, the No. 8 seed, 6-1, 6-1.

Dean Fage had 14 points to pace Manchester Police to a 26-7 win over WINP last night at the West Side Rec. Tim Patcher chipped in with nine markers for the winners while Tom Morty tossed in 14 markers for WINP.

Danny Soucier netted six points to top Modern Janitorial but it wasn't enough as Multi Circuits took a 22-10 win at the Y. Tim Gray pumped in 12 tallies for Circuits, Greg Turner poured in 23 points and Eddie Jarvis as VFW ran past Community Y, 44-15. Tim Cheveller had 12 points for the losers.

John W. Green Promoted

HARTFORD — Hartford National Bank has announced the promotion of a Manchester resident, John W. Green, to assistant vice president in the national division.

Green joined the bank in June 1973 as a senior systems analyst with the systems research department. In August 1974, he became manager of research and development in the newly formed payment support group, concerned primarily with development of electronic funds transfer products, and since January 1975, he has been responsible for national division long-range planning. He was promoted to planning officer in September 1975. In his current position, Green will take responsibility as manager of product development in the corporate services department.

Caldor sales up 34.9%

NORWALK — Record sales of $19,497,000 have been reported by the Caldor discount department store chain for the four weeks ended Feb. 26, 1977 — a gain of 34.9 per cent from last year's $14,450,000.

The Caldor board of directors recently declared a year-end dividend of 25 cents a share, payable March 31, 1977 to shareholders of record March 17, 1977. This was the seventh consecutive annual dividend for Caldor stock which is traded on the American Stock Exchange.

The dividend was maintained at 25 cent per share notwithstanding the substantial increase in shares outstanding attributable to the five per cent stock dividend and 25 per cent stock distribution made in July and November, respectively. Additionally, the board adopted a new dividend policy providing for regular dividends payable semi-annually commencing in September, 1977.

The company plans to open two stores this spring; one located in a mall in Vails Gate, near Newburgh, N.Y. and the other in the Connecticut Post Shopping Center in Milford.

Bible teacher to speak at Trinity Sunday

The Rev. John DeBrine, Bible teacher and host of radio's "Songtime," will speak Sunday at the 8:30 and 10:50 a.m. services at Trinity Covenant Church, 302 Hackmatack St.

The Rev. Mr. DeBrine, a native of Rochester, N.Y., was for 11 years pastor of Boston's historic Ruggles Street Baptist Church, which founded the New England Baptist Hospital where he still serves as a member of the chaplaincy committee.

His step from pulpit to microphone began about 20 years ago when he decided to share his collection of 8,000 religious records with radio listeners. His first studio was the broom closet at the Ruggles Street Baptist Church.

His radio program, "Songtime," is broadcast on more than 100 stations in this country and abroad. It won the American Baptist Convention Award.

Sunday at 6 p.m., the Rev. Mr. DeBrine will speak and show a film. The public is invited to all of the services. Coffee will be served after the evening meeting.

Rev. John DeBrine

MCC offers play

"The Night Thoreau Spent in Jail," a play in two acts, will be presented March 9 to 12 by the Manchester Community College Theatre in the auditorium on the main campus of the college, 60 Bidwell St. The curtain will rise at 8:30 p.m.

The play was written by Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee, who, perhaps, are better known for two other plays, "Inherit the Wind" and "Mame." In "Thoreau," Lawrence and Lee have portrayed a young man who, they believe, belongs more to the 1970s than to the age in which he lived.

For many years, Thoreau was dismissed as a gifted weirdo. When he spoke out against materialism and powerful government, few people listened. When he advocated and practiced nonviolent defiance, few people followed. But the "sit-ins" and the "back to the land" movements of the last 10 years prove the current popularity of Thoreau's beliefs.

Thoreau is played by David Theriault of Manchester. Theriault appeared last year in an MCC production of "Good Woman of Setzuan." A student of liberal arts and sciences at MCC, he plans to undertake formal study in dramatic arts.

Carroll Maddox of Glastonbury is cast in the role of Waldo. Maddox is director of college and community relations at MCC. This is her first theatre effort.

Leo J. Tetrault of Rockville portrays Bailey. Tetrault is a drama major who has acted in eight productions, including "Good Woman of Setzuan" and "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest" for Theatre 3.

Juliet Schwartz of Vernon portrays Lydian. She has performed many roles at MCC, including "Good Woman of Setzuan," "Antigone" and "The Wild Duck."

The rest of the cast includes: Richard McConville as John, Shari Schaffer as Mother, Sharon Foy as Ellen, Danny Svirk as Deacon Ball, Jerry Schwartz as Sam Staples, Derrick St. Thomas as Williams, Lee Courtney as the Drunk, Stephen Root as the Farmer, Barbara England as the Woman, Glenn Faria as the Reporter and David Richardson as Edward.

"The Night Thoreau Spent in Jail" is directed by Dr. Robert E. Richardson Jr., professor of English at MCC. His directing assignments have included "The Wild Duck" and "Dirty Work at the Crossroads." Acting credits cover "The Knack," "Tartuffe" and others. He served as musical director for "Stop The World" and "The Fantasticks" in Theatre 3.

To reserve tickets for the play, call the student activities office at the college.

Music in the area

The Manchester Civic Orchestra's spring concert is scheduled Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at Bailey Auditorium, Manchester High School. On the program: Moussorgsky's "Pictures at an Exhibition," Copland's "Fanfare for the Common Man," the Prelude to the third act of Wagner's "Lohengrin," and Saint-Saens' Third Violin Concerto in B minor, featuring 11-year-old violinist Kurt Nikkanen.

Pianist Karen Shaw, a young virtuoso specializing in the Romantic repertoire, will perform at the University of Connecticut's Jorgensen Auditorium Monday at 8:15 p.m. Ms. Shaw, a Connecticut native, will play works by Mendelssohn, Schumann and Rachmaninoff. To learn more, call 486-4226.

Live and electronic music by Harley Gaber, featuring violinist Linda Cummiskey, is scheduled tonight at 8:30 at Real Art Ways, 197 Asylum St., Hartford. To learn more, call 525-5521.

The Yale Opera Workshop will present a program of opera excerpts Friday at 8:30 p.m. at Sprague Hall, Yale University, New Haven. Excerpts are from "Die Fledermaus," "Carmen," "The Magic Flute," "The Bartered Bride," "Don Giovanni," "The Marriage of Figaro," "I Pagliacci," "Manon" and "Hansel and Gretel."

C. William Harwood will conduct the Yale Symphony Orchestra in its second Sprague Hall concert of the season Sunday at 8 p.m. It is free to the public. To learn more about Yale events, call 436-1971.

The Trinity College Concert Choir will perform a concert in memory of Dr. Clarence Barber, late music department chairman, tonight at 8:15 in the College Chapel in Hartford. The concert, open to the public, will feature Faure's "Requiem" and Vaughan William's "Serenade to Music."

Talis Paups of Manchester will sing a wide selection of music in his senior voice recital at the Hartt School of Music's Millard Auditorium, University of Hartford, March 12 at 8 p.m. The event is free to the public. Paups' program includes works by Schubert, Barber and Tchaikovsky (in Russian), a French aria and a group of Italian songs.

David Theriault of Manchester appears as Thoreau in the Manchester Community College production of "The Night Thoreau Spent in Jail," playing March 9 to 12.

Music at churches

The 49-voice Elizabethtown College Concert Choir will present a concert of sacred and secular music at the First Congregational Church of Vernon, 695 Hartford Tpke., tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the sanctuary. The concert is open to the public.

Richard Provost, chairman of the guitar, department at Hartt College of Music, will perform in concert Sunday at 3 p.m. in the sanctuary of Second Congregational Church, 385 N. Main St., Manchester.

Chaminade soloist

Janette Fraser-Wodall will be the guest soloist for the Chaminade Musical Club's St. Patrick's Night, Monday at 8 at the Memorial Hall of Center Congregational Church.

Miss Fraser has studied at the Juilliard School of Music in New York City and at the Hartford Conservatory of Music. She is now studying at Trinity College, Hartford. She has sung many concerts and recitals in both the Hartford area and in New York City.

She is now an assistant in the music program at Manchester Community College and is the soprano soloist at Center Congregational Church.

Miss Fraser will sing a medley of Irish tunes and will be accompanied by Walter Grzyb. Grzyb is organist and choir director at Center Congregational Church.

Classical guitarist Richard Provost will perform in concert Sunday at 3 p.m. at Manchester's Second Congregational Church, 385 N. Main St.

Ask Dick Kleiner

DEAR DICK: Is it true that Farrah Fawcett-Majors had plastic surgery? I say no, my friend says yes. RICHARD JOHNSTON, Richmond, B.C., Can. Someone close to Farrah says no. And adds, in a burst of praise, "How can you improve on perfection?" My own opinion is that she's beautiful enough, but I'd like to see a little tonsorial surgery performed on her hair.

DEAR DICK: Out of all the shows, like Charlie's Angels and The Gemini Man, etc., which ones will be a success and which ones will be dropped based on ratings? PAT SWAN, Brookline, Me.

I assume you're talking about the new shows which began in September. Many have already been dropped — Gemini Man, Spencer's Pilots, to name a couple. A few are solid hits — notably Charlie's Angels. The others are still iffy, but I don't look for renewals next year for Baa Baa Black Sheep, Most Wanted or Delvecchio.

Politics: International struggle for power

Editor's Note: This is the seventh of 16 articles in the series, "Moral Choices in Contemporary Society." These articles, which explore the controversial moral dilemmas that perplex Americans today, were written for Courses by Newspaper, a program developed by University Extension, University of California, San Diego, and funded by a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities. Copyright 1977 by the Regents of the University of California.

By ROBERT W. TUCKER

International society is marked by the absence of effective collective procedures, by competition rather than cooperation, and by the lack of commitment to a common good.

It is precisely these conditions that create a moral problem. For in the absence of an international organization entrusted with a monopoly of legitimate force, there tends to be anarchy; and in the absence of an international civil society, right tends to depend largely upon might.

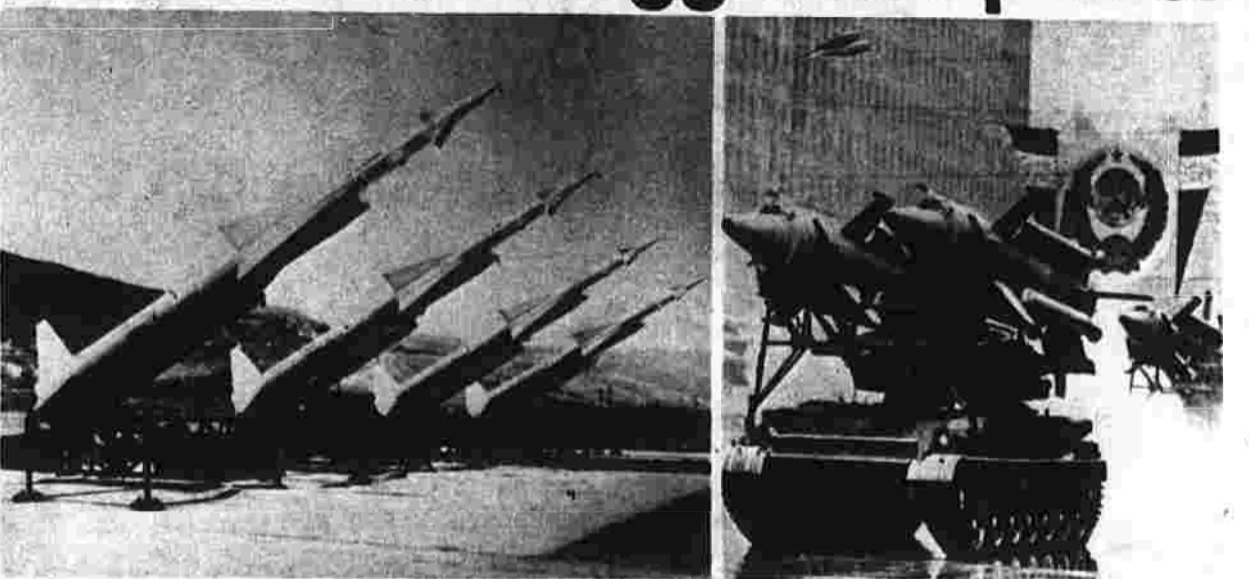

This dependence of right on might is even given institutional expression in the principle of self-help. As the very term suggests, self-help is the "right" of the state to determine when its legitimate interests are threatened, or violated, and to employ such measures as it may deem necessary to protect those interests.

In theory, this principle points to the equality of states, for the right of self-help is equally available to all. In practice, it has always been a prime expression of the essential inequality of states, since the utility of a right of self-help necessarily depends upon the power of those exercising this right.

Among unequals, a right of self-help may be expected to preserve, or even to increase, inequalities. What Thucydides records the Athenians as saying to the Melians - that the powerful exact what they can, and the weak grant what they must - is true of any state system that is governed only by the unimpeded "right" of self-help.

These considerations have always led some to conclude that self-help is subject to no constraints other than power itself, that self-help is a power, not a right, and that the international system is characterized by the absence of right and order.

This is the view associated with Machiavelli and, even more clearly, with Hobbes. In the absence of civil society there is only the anarchy of the state of nature. But the state of nature is a state of war, if only potentially. In this state of war, Hobbes wrote, "Nothing can be unjust. Notions of right or wrong, justice or injustice have there no place. Where there is no common power, there is no law, no justice."

Moral behavior, Hobbes is saying, requires the sacrifice of self-interest if necessary to achieve the conditions of harmonious life in society. But the obligation to act morally is necessarily based on a reasonable expectation of reciprocity. Where this expectation of reciprocal observance of morality cannot be counted upon, there is no obligation to act in such a way as to make oneself a prey to others.

Balance of power
When it has not been simply condemned, this view has been criticized for drawing too sharp a contrast between the conditions of domestic and international life. Thus it has been argued that the extreme consequences of self-help have often been avoided in international society by virtue of other moderating factors - above all, by the balance of power.

There is no gainsaying the contention that the balance has frequently served to moderate the ambitions of the great powers. It had done so, however, to the degree that war has been the indispensable, if ultimate, means to the effective functioning of the balance of power.

In the past, at any rate, the principal promise of the balance was not the avoidance of war, but the prevention of hegemony by any great power over the others. Our age, however, has come to fear the dangers of war between the great powers almost as much as the dangers of hegemony.

The avoidance of war between the nuclear powers is no longer merely a hoped-for outcome; in what is now termed a balance of deterrent power, belief in this outcome has become a psychological and moral necessity for continued effective support of the new balance.

To the extent that the moral problem in foreign policy is one of placing limits on the means the statesman may employ, even when acting on behalf of the state's security and independence, it is apparent we are no closer to a solution today than in the past. On the contrary, the dilemma of means has become more critical than ever because of nuclear weapons.

These weapons raise novel moral issues by virtue of their sheer destructiveness. In introducing a new quantitative dimension into the conduct of war, nuclear weapons take the issues that force has always raised and threaten to carry them to an extreme.

A global community?
If nuclear weapons have given extreme expression to the political-moral dilemmas attending the means of statecraft, is there much prospect that these dilemmas may be transcended in the foreseeable future? May the international state of nature be gradually transformed into a global community that will make the nation-state obsolete?

To many, a global community is seen today as the expected consequence of a growing interdependence. This interdependence in turn, is seen to result from weapons that can no longer protect, let alone aggrandize, the state; from a technology that no longer permits the "separate" state; from transnational economic and social factors that have come to function largely independently of the state; and from a process of industrial growth which creates problems that cannot be resolved in isolation by the state.

In almost all its variations, the theme of interdependence points to the state's growing loss of autonomy. Yet the very forces commonly found to be draining the state of its former autonomy - new technologies, increased economic development, etc. - are, on closer inspection, quite ambiguous in their significance. In some respects, these forces clearly weaken the state. In other respects, they just as clearly strengthen the state. Thus the same communications that from one perspective no longer permit the "separate" state, from another perspective may be found to give the state making full use of them powers over its own population rarely possessed in the past.

When we examine the contemporary world what we find is not the state in atrophy but, if anything, the state triumphant. This triumph of the state is not simply a matter of the growth of independent states in the wake of the dissolution of empire. It is also a triumph of the state in depth, that is, a triumph of the state's persistent claims to men's loyalties.

What seems characteristic of the present period is not a widespread and growing skepticism toward the state, but the faith with which so many people have accepted the state, or the nation-state, as the principle institution for achieving a hoped-for destiny.

This being so, the prospects for an emergent global community cannot appear promising today. Instead of a universal conscience in the making, throughout most of the world we can observe discrete national consciences in the making. The vision of a shared humanity that, once internalized, could prompt peoples to sacrifice on behalf of a common good remains, at best, only embryonic.

For the time being, the global challenges posed by nuclear weapons, grinding poverty, and burgeoning populations - to mention only the most pressing - will have to be dealt with by a world that is, in many respects, as divided as ever.

The views expressed in Courses by Newspaper are those of the authors only and do not necessarily reflect those of the University of California, the National Endowment for the Humanities, or of the participating newspapers and colleges.

Next Week: Lon L. Fuller, Carter Professor of Juris prudence, Emeritus, at the Harvard Law School, analyzes the relationship between law and morality and their limits as regulators of conduct in our complex society.

How I changed my TV diet and lost hundreds of ugly commercials

I used to think that what I saw on the networks was all there was to see.

Then I discovered Home Box Office and cable TV.

Now I can see the kind of programs I really want to see, at a time that's best for me, with no intrusive advertising.

I can watch significant films like "Dog Day Afternoon," "Gable and Lombard," and "The Sailor Who Fell From Grace With The Sea" without a single scene left out or a single commercial jammed in.

I can enjoy show-stopping entertainers like Bette Midler, John Byner, Henny Youngman and the Smothers Brothers in exclusive performances that are uncut, uncensored, and uninterrupted.

I can see the sports events the networks don't carry and the love scenes they won't show.

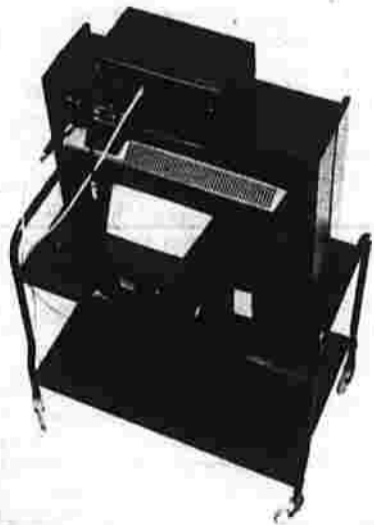

In short, I can see everything a mature adult ought to be able to see.

You can, too. Call today and find out about Home Box Office. Or send the coupon.
