Voters to decide on industrial park

By GREG PEARSON

Herald Reporter The zoning change has been granted, the project plan has been approved and the contract has been signed. But an equally important step in the industrial park project occurs Tuesday when Manchester voters will decide on a $15.4 million bond issue to pay for development of the park. Polls in all ten of Manchester's voting districts will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Tuesday. The referendum question asks for an appropriation of $15.4 million to pay for purchase and development of the 393 acres in Buckland to be used for the park.

A voter can vote either "yes," signifying approval of the project, or "no," signifying opposition. The eventual cost to the town will be much less than the $15.4 million total. The state will pay half the cost of development. The town also expects to receive more than $6 million if all of the park's 320 developable acres are sold.

The project plan for the park estimates that the final cost to the town will be about $4.1 million. This figure might be even smaller if the town obtains federal funding that may be available to pay part of the development cost. The J.C. Penney Co., which would be the park's major tenant, plans to buy 162 acres at a price of about $3.240,000 ($20,000 an acre). The company and the town signed a contract Friday for the sale of the land.

The actual purchase agreed to in the contract is contingent on several items, including passage of Tuesday's referendum. If the bond issue is voted down, it would put an end to the industrial park plan. The park also requires a zone change, which was granted on Jan. 17 by the Planning and Zoning Commission. The change has been appealed by seven plaintiffs represented by At-

Fire truck driver cleared in fatality

The deputy coroner for Hartford County has ruled that a town fire fighter is not responsible for the accident that caused the death of a 17-year-old motorcyclist last June.

Anthony Salafia Jr., a member of the Town Fire Department, was the operator of a fire truck that collided with a motorcycle being operated by Paul J. Botticello. Botticello, 17, a resident of 15 Dudley St. at the time, died a week after the June 12 accident.

In September, a $250,000 lawsuit was filed on Botticello's behalf against Salafia and the Town of Manchester.

The ruling by William C. Galligan, Hartford County's deputy coroner, states that Botticello was responsible for the accident.

Galligan's ruling said that the fire truck was proceeding west on W. Center St. with its siren and red flashing lights on.

The truck slowed as it neared the Waddell Rd. intersection and entered the intersection against a red light. One motorcycle cut around the truck before Botticello collided with the side of the vehicle, Galligan reported. A third motorcycle was also able to avoid the fire truck, according to the coroner's report.

"I find that the death of Paul J. Botticello was caused by his own actions and omissions, in that he failed to keep his motorcycle under proper control, in that he failed to observe other traffic, and in that he failed to hear the siren or see the red lights of the fire truck," Galligan wrote.

State aide backed in Penney data case

Tax Commissioner Gerald J. Heffernan does not have to discuss communications between his department and the J.C. Penney Co., according to State Atty. Gen. Carl R. Ajello.

The decision by Ajello is contrary to one made last month by the state's Freedom of Information (FOI) Commission, which ruled that Heffernan should reveal discussions and letters between the state Tax Department and the J.C. Penney Co. Penney would be the major tenant in the proposed industrial park in Manchester.

The FOI complaint against Heffernan was filed by Atty. Gen. Beek and Anthony Pagano, who represent seven clients in the appeal of a zone change granted for the park. The attorneys sought information on what took place in meetings between the Penney firm and the state Tax Department.

Ajello ruled that Heffernan's refusal to discuss the matter was legal according to state statutes.

"The commissioner (Heffernan) answered the only question that was pertinent to the matter — That no taxpayer receives a tax break under the law," Ajello said.

"Communications between taxpayers and the Tax Department are confidential," the attorney general said. He said that such communication is an exception to FOI statutes.

Information provided in such communications could concern "personal business," Ajello said. "It could be of value to business competitors, either well-wishers or ill-wishers," he said.

Mitchell W. Pearlman, counsel for the commission, said that he does not know what further action the commission will take in the matter. He said that the three-member board will decide at its March 23 meeting whether to pursue the complaint despite Ajello's ruling.

Atty. Gen. Beek and Pagano could not be reached for comment this morning.

State

HARTFORD (UPI) — Connecticut could net another $4 million in taxes a year if liquor prices were decontrolled, according to the state Office of Fiscal Analysis. The Fiscal Analysis study observed that 16 per cent of the liquor consumed in Connecticut comes from neighboring states where liquor prices are lower.

HARTFORD (UPI) — The Connecticut Right to Life Corporation planned to protest today two bills which it says would allow a physician to declare a living person dead. In prepared remarks to be delivered before the legislature's Public Health and Safety Committee, the corporation's chairman, Andrew O'Keefe criticized one bill that would define death on the basis of brain function and another that would allow persons to write so-called "living wills."

GUILFORD (UPI) — Two adults and five children were rescued by the U.S. Coast Guard in a dense fog this weekend after the group's 21-foot cabin cruiser became disabled in Long Island Sound. According to Coast Guard officials, the craft left dock at 2:30 p.m. Saturday. When it had not returned to the Guilford harbor by nightfall, the father of two youngsters on the boat notified local police.

HARTFORD (UPI) — The Connecticut State Taxpayers Association says a national study shows states with union shops for public employees are more likely to have strikes than those without them. Connecticut has union shops for its public employees. Walter Longyear, executive director of the group, said the study was done by the Public Service Research Council of Vienna, Va.

WALTHAM, Mass. (UPI) — U.S. House Speaker Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill, D-Mass., says Congress will probably continue to appropriate money to keep alive the congressional probe of the assassinations of President John F. Kennedy and Martin Luther King. "There's a great possibility that there may be life" to the probe, O'Neill told a Bentley College seminar this weekend. He predicted Congress will vote more money for the panel when its funds run out at the end of the month.

HARTFORD (UPI) — Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., plans to introduce legislation today to create a new Department of Education. According to the former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, the new department will assume responsibility for programs currently in HEW and other federal agencies. "A separate department would lift education out of the maze of bureaucracy where most of its administration now exists," Ribicoff said in prepared remarks to be delivered in the Senate today.

HELENA, Mont. (UPI) — Roads lay buried under house-high snowdrifts, electricity was an on-again-off-again service and work crews searched today for more victims of a killer blizzard that battered the west and the Plains. Light snows wafted over Rockies and parts of the storm-weary Plains early today in the wake of the weekend storm and stockmen's and travelers' advisories remained in effect in Montana.

SOUTH PORTLAND, Maine (UPI) — The Coast Guard has taken over command of a Liberian oil tanker that is leaking oil into South Portland harbor from several small ruptures in its tanks. The Coast Guard Sunday had ordered the vessel out to sea.

International

MADRID — An Italian passenger commandeered a Spanish airliner today and ordered the pilot to fly to Algiers, the national airline, Iberia, said. The plane was carrying 30 persons. There was no indication as to motive.

LONDON — British Foreign Secretary David Owen said today he will go to southern Africa to try to expedite a peaceful settlement of the Rhodesian controversy. "I shall not at this stage be proposing any fresh initiatives," Owen said. "My purpose will be to have first-hand discussions with those most directly involved."

Manchester unit wins in St. Patrick's parade

Manchester was well-represented in Hartford's St. Patrick's Day parade Saturday. So well, in fact, that it won "Best Town Participation" in the annual parade.

"In other words, we had the best lineup of any town," Bridget Marceau, secretary of the parade committee, said.

Manchester's Eighth District Fire Department also won an award for "the best presentation by a volunteer fire department."

The department had 12 uniformed fire fighters marching along with eight members of the Ladies Auxiliary. A group of costumed volunteers from the department's Training Co. 3 pulled an antique hose cart in the parade.

Capt. Paul Gworek was in charge of the department's parade contingent. The department has participated in the parade several times but this is the first award. Other Manchester participants included Lawrence Moran, who served as the town's parade marshal.

The parade committee was chaired by Sean Byrne, and Mayor Matthew Moriarty, who marched in the parade, served as honorary parade chairman.

Several Manchester units, from school bands to the Police Department, participated in the event. There were also two floats in the parade.

Caring and concerned students at Hill Junior High School have contributed over 4,000 pieces of clothing, making it possible for us to establish the first free clothing bank for Manchester families!

Good used clothing including coats, jackets, sweaters, shirts, pants, dresses, shoes, boots, mittens, etc. plus a small supply of blankets will be made available to any Manchester resident who needs them.

The clothing bank will be staffed by volunteers of the Emergency Pantry and the hours for selecting clothing will be the same as those for the Emergency Pantry: Mondays, 9:30-11:30 a.m. and Wednesdays and Fridays 1-4 p.m.

Anyone who knows of an elderly person, shut-in or handicapped person who needs blankets or clothing but cannot get to the Clothing Bank should feel free to come in and select articles needed. The volunteers will be happy to help you.

The congregation of Center Congregational Church, by offering a distribution room next to the Emergency Pantry, have once again made it possible for MACC to provide a needed service to the community.

Since the space available is quite limited, only a fourth of the clothes are available at the present time. Students from Hill, have also sorted all the clothing into approximate sizes and categories, a king-sized task. Presently over 3 1/2 lbs of the clothes must be stored at Concordia Lutheran. They will be transferred to Center Church as supplies need replenishing. Until we can arrange for more adequate storage space, we are asking that no more clothes be delivered to Center Church.

Mrs. Irene Goss and Mrs. Kitty Cataldo, who are coordinators of the Emergency Pantry will oversee the Clothing Bank.

Operation Rice Bowl Operation Rice Bowl stickers can be obtained by calling Mrs. Richard Jennings. The money saved by those participating in this Lenten program of prayer and self-denial may be placed in the large "Rice Bowls" found in local participating churches or may be sent to the Manchester Council on World Hunger, Box 773, Manchester, CT. Prayers and menus for a once a week sacrificial meal are printed in Saturday's Herald. All the money collected, regardless of how it is channeled, will be used to feed our hungry brothers and sisters around the world.

Your vote is needed

Tomorrow, the voters of Manchester have an opportunity to change the town's future for many years to come. We can make a positive commitment to a better tomorrow by giving resounding approval to the referendum to authorize the town to develop the proposed Buckland Industrial Park.

By approving the $15.4 million bond issue, we put Manchester on the side of orderly economic growth and insure the first step necessary to get the J.C. Penney Co. distribution center which will bring an estimated 2,000 full-time jobs to our town plus an increase in tax base which will reduce property tax pressures on all of us.

By approving the referendum, we tell the Penney company that we are pleased it has selected Manchester as the site for its operation which is the most environmentally acceptable alternative that anyone can foresee.

And by approving the referendum we will be lending public support to the project as it winds its way through the various legal and environmental procedures deemed necessary to insure the public interest is protected.

It is not enough to believe the industrial park must be built; it is necessary to get out and vote for it. The Herald favors the Buckland Industrial Park referendum because it feels it offers this community the most acceptable economic growth opportunity.

We STRONGLY urge the voters to run out and vote Tuesday any time between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m.

It will be the most important vote you cast in Manchester for the next decade.

GOP chairman backs Buckland referendum

To the editor:
Manchester, in its early growth, was the beneficiary of a benevolent industry, Cheney Brothers. The industry and the Cheney family themselves built much of our school system, our sewer and water systems, started our town library, and provided both a tax base and payroll which made Manchester one of the most beautiful and desirable communities in the entire State of Connecticut.

With the passage of time, changes in technology and in the economics of the textile industry brought about a decline in Manchester's main industry. Gradually the proportion of community support which fell upon the local property owner became more and more burdensome. Our community has continued to grow and with that growth in size has come a matching growth in the demands for services. The individual homeowner has had to pay the bill. The opportunity has now come to re-establish an industrial base which will aid us in maintaining our beautiful community, easing the fear of continuing large increases in the tax rate foreshadowed by present budgets.

I urge each and every voter in Manchester to go to the polls on Tuesday and cast a yes vote in support of the bond issue for the proposed industrial park. A vote yes is a vote to protect your own pocketbook.

Sincerely,
Thomas F. Ferguson
Republican Town Chairman

Former mayor favors Buckland development

Dear editor:
I have been following with much interest the accounts and actions concerning the proposed Buckland Industrial Park, to house a J.C. Penney Co. Catalog Distributing Center and other facilities.

As a former official of the Town of Manchester for some 25 years, it is quite natural that I would be interested in having something good come along that would bring significant benefits to the Town of Manchester.

Three such benefits are (1) a broader tax base; (2) job opportunities for some 2100 workers; and (3) an annual payroll of upwards of ten million dollars ($10,000,000).

An opportunity to get something so good for Manchester, does not come along very often; surely not nearly often enough and this great project, the Buckland Industrial Park, with the J.C. Penney Co. facility, ought to receive the overwhelming support of the people of Manchester.

My vote will be "Yes" and I urge the people of Manchester to get to the polls on Tuesday March 15th, and add their "Yes" vote to make this Buckland Industrial Park with the J.C. Penney Co. facility a reality.

Forbes favors project

To the editor,
As a former chairman of the Manchester Development Commission I support the Industrial Park which the town proposes to develop in Buckland.

The park will offer the opportunity for many to find jobs at a time when more and more firms are leaving Connecticut. The Industrial Park will provide the town with a substantial increase in tax revenue at a time when higher costs are threatening a substantial rise in our present tax burden. If we throw the opportunity away, it will be many years before Manchester gets another chance at this type of development.

I recall the many times that General Manager Weiss and I tried without success to attract new industry to the town. It is imperative therefore that the people of Manchester vote YES at the referendum on Tuesday, March 15.

Who invented the first fountain pen?
An Associated Press obituary in 1935 said that a Paul E. Wirt was the inventor. But a Herald story said not so; it was invented by Frank Holland, who was a Manchester school teacher.

The Encyclopedia Americana in our office says that the "modern fountain pen derives from the original type invented by Lewis Edson Waterman, American inventor, in 1854."

Well, that takes care of the fountain pen; how about the ball point pen?
The encyclopedia says the "basic idea was patented in the United States in 1888 by John Loud, whose instrument was used to mark leather fabrics." The patent was allowed to expire.

The final sentence bears repeating here: "The general consensus (1947) is that the ball point pen is a permanent contribution to the industry."

One of these days someone will write about the Flair pens.

That Aaron Cook last mentioned was the father of Aaron Cook of Atlas Bantly Oil Co.

The story continued that Holland worked on his fountain pen previous to 1880, and that it was taken over by the Waterman company.

Well, that takes care of the fountain pen; how about the ball point pen?
The encyclopedia says the "basic idea was patented in the United States in 1888 by John Loud, whose instrument was used to mark leather fabrics." The patent was allowed to expire.

The final sentence bears repeating here: "The general consensus (1947) is that the ball point pen is a permanent contribution to the industry."

Rebuttal to Dr. Horwitz by Pharmacist Dworkin

To the editor,
It is very unfortunate that Dr. Horwitz had to make a personal attack on me and deliberately misconstrue many of the facts. His attempt to cloud the real issues and facts with exaggerated statements, which I never made, is a very poor strategy.

The statement that I am afraid of competition from another mall is ridiculous, since I do not own the Parkade and I could become a tenant in the Mall.

Dr. Horwitz has contradicted my evidence with no substantiation or documentation. You will find that I have documented every statement by experts in the environmental field.

The real issues still remain...whether Dr. Horwitz likes it or not. The issues are Bad Air and Illegal Violations.

The highly polluted air in the Hartford-Manchester-Windsor Valley and second only to Los Angeles (hard data from EPA and DEP). Attorney Henry Beal, State DEP, head of monitoring and compliance, stated at the recent MPOA meeting that the substantial amount of our pollution is being generated by our own cars and trucks and very little comes from N.Y. and N.J.

The MPOA and the Manchester Medical Society have very emphatically qualified their acceptance of J.C. Penney. J.C. Penney must first pass all the environmental impact study tests and abide by all State and Federal Laws under the Clean Air Act of 1970. We are now in violation of Carbon Monoxide, Hydrocarbon and Ozone Standards (ozone shows over 356 hours and legally we can only have two hours per year)! What will over 3,000 more vehicles do to this already polluted air?

I suggest Dr. Horwitz familiarize himself with some of the health studies made by some expert medical men from Harvard, like Dr. Spengler, MD - and Dr. Steven K. Hall, MD, of South Illinois University. Also he might read the material of a seminar in Hartford named "Automotive Air Pollution and Human Health," on October, 1975; read statements corroborating my data by Dr. Thomas Godar, MD, head of the Connecticut Lung Association, Dr. Doug Lloyd, head of the State Department of Health and Dr. Engel, V.D.M.

Yes, the J.C. Penney warehouse and the Buckland Commons, will be economically wonderful for many people...the doctors, the morticians, and of course the pharmacists.

I vote yes for the Industrial Park...But "NO" for J.C. Penney. How can one really argue against clean air???

Michael Dworkin

Industrial park concept challenged by reader

To the editor:
This week two statements appeared in your paper, referring to the additional revenue that will be available to the town once the J.C. Penney complex is in operation and paying a million dollars in taxes a year.

One statement, at the top of the front page and seemingly attributed to Mr. Weiss, implies that in a period of five years this complex will have paid for itself.

The other statement was in a letter to the editor by Dr. Horwitz. Well, let me bring to the attention of your readers a somewhat different viewpoint. Let us start with Greenwich, wherein much the same type of campaign was waged and won to bring in industrial parks.

This town is now used — as in San Francisco — to totally refute this argument that industrial parks pay for themselves and then some. They simply don't, as is proven in studies on these and other localities by public citizen groups such as People & Taxes, P.O. Box 14198, Washington, D.C. 20044, a Ralph Nader spin off.

The most conservative figures available show that for every dollar that these parks bring in the citizens have to pay out 1.1 dollars in services. In the case of Greenwich its tax rate went up so fast that it is now used as a classic study of this problem.

The real reason that this corporate-sponsored growth is coming to Manchester is simple but seductive. The message is clear: "Come to Manchester where wages are low, profits are high, and unions are almost non-existent. Come to where the supply of cheap, abundant, submissive labor is unlimited."

Sincerely,
Charles Riemitis

Cars wired for future

A decade ago, the only electronic item on an automobile was the radio. Today, most new cars are equipped with electronic ignition systems. Coming up as standard equipment are electronic fuel-metering, digital sensors to monitor combustion and exhaust and on-board computers called microprocessors to monitor the monitors.

Shipments of automotive electronic systems for the original equipment market are projected to grow over 20 percent annually from $1 billion in 1975 to $15.5 billion in 1980. The major reason is that electronic systems are the only methods available to achieve government pollution abatement standards.

But rising consumer affluence and new products will also boost the market for electronic "comfort" systems. A 10-fold growth by 1990 is predicted for such devices as temperature controls, digital clocks, automatic seat positioners, headlight controls and fuel consumption calculators.

It's getting to the point where your neighborhood mechanic is going to have to have a degree in electrical engineering.

Yet Grace is insidious; it twists and is full of surprises. When it doesn't come from the right it comes from the left. When it doesn't come straight it comes bent, and if it doesn't come bent it comes broken.

From whatever direction it comes, whether as a bubbling spring or a trickle of water, it reveals that the walls of our world are thick and heavy. But though they be mountains, the great sea of God's grace will seep through and in time remind us of the eternities.

Today's thought

During this period of Lent, when we seek to look at ourselves in a more critical light, we know that our pilgrimage will not be cursed with the fear of fatality.

If we know, it shall be opened unto us. If our eye is generous, and not squinted by our cautious and prejudiced attitude, the light will enter us. God's Word will not be frustrated; it will accomplish what He sent it to do — to cleanse our hearts down to the last painful poverty of despair and to open that door into a grace so inexhaustible that only God in His infinite love could provide it. Grace! Indeed, this is the Word.

Yet Grace is insidious; it twists and is full of surprises. When it doesn't come from the right it comes from the left. When it doesn't come straight it comes bent, and if it doesn't come bent it comes broken.

From whatever direction it comes, whether as a bubbling spring or a trickle of water, it reveals that the walls of our world are thick and heavy. But though they be mountains, the great sea of God's grace will seep through and in time remind us of the eternities.

Police officers begin training

The Manchester Police Department's Regional Training Academy began today and continues for 11 weeks, offering intensive training to about 300 police officers from seven area towns.

The annual academy held at the police station is in its seventh year. It provides week-long refresher courses for the police officers. About 25-30 officers are expected to attend each session during the 11 weeks.

The other towns besides Manchester, which will send officers to the academy are East Hartford, Glastonbury, Vernon, South Windsor, East Windsor and Coventry.

Lt. Joseph Brooks, training officer for the Manchester Police Department, heads up the academy.

Several local police officers will serve as instructors in the various course offerings. Other instructors will include FBI agents and community and state personnel involved in law enforcement.

A new course offering this year, Brooks said, is hostage negotiations because of the increased frequency in which such situations are arising.

Other courses will include narcotics law, firearms trainings, criminal and motor vehicle law, police community relations, youth services, liquor control commission, sex crimes and child abuse.

Brooks said the academy provides a service to the town, as well as the officers, in insuring that police personnel are kept up-to-date in all law enforcement related matters. It provides a service to area police departments at a minimal cost. There are no fees charged, Brooks said.

Historical Society buffet Wednesday

Mrs. Patricia Young Brown of Stratford will offer songs from early days of the Pilgrims in New England through the Revolutionary War period as Wednesday evening's program of the Manchester Historical Society at Waddell School.

Preceding her presentation, a catered buffet supper will be served in the school cafeteria at 6 p.m. Reservation tickets that have been purchased by mail will be issued at the door. Entrance to the cafeteria is at the south side and lower area of the building.

For her selections and explanations of "Melodias and Memories," Mrs. Brown will accompany herself on the alto recorder and autoharp, a modern version of the ancient dulcimer.

She was contralto soloist of the United Congregational Church for nine years, and is presently contralto soloist at the Park Avenue Temple and choir director and organist of the Summerfield United Methodist Church, all in Bridgeport. For eight years she was soloist at the First Congregational Church in Stratford.

She also appears as guest soloist in oratorios, concerts, and music festivals throughout New England.

Mrs. Brown is past dean of the Bridgeport Chapter, American Guild of Organists and is a voice teacher as a member of the National Association of Teachers of Singing.

Nuclear war to be topic Tuesday night at MCC

Nuclear War, one of today's most controversial questions, will be discussed by Sam Lovejoy, an anti-nuclear activist, Tuesday in a lecture at 8 p.m. at the Manchester Community College auditorium.

There also will be a film, "Lovejoy's Nuclear War," and a question and answer period. The program is open to the public free of charge.

Among the topics to be discussed by Lovejoy will be nuclear safety, radioactive wastes and energy alternatives.

Lovejoy believes that nuclear power is a danger that this generation and future generations will live under as long as more stringent standards aren't set and new energy alternatives aren't experimented with.

Dr. Lamb

Fiber really isn't 'roughage'

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I have diverticulosis or pockets of the colon. Eating roughage hurts and cramps my colon with gas, yet I know I must have fiberous foods. On the other hand, I am told not to eat roughage. I do suffer, more when I eat raw fruits and vegetables. Could you give me an idea of what to eat for roughage that would not cause discomfort? Is there anything better to take than Metamucil for my condition?

Dear Reader—The proponents of fiber for the diet believe that it will relieve many of the problems in diverticulosis. The idea is that those pockets of the colon are really a complication of a spastic or over contracted colon associated with inadequate bulk in the diet.

The word roughage is not a good word for the type of food you really need. What you need in your diet is "softage." The best source of bulk in food really is the cereal fiber found in bran or the husk of wheat. This is superior to the amount of fiber you'll get in either fruits or vegetables and since those bother you, you should try cereal fiber.

Among the readily available prepared cereals that you can get from the supermarket to satisfy your problem are Kellogg's All-Bran, Bran Buds and Nabisco Bran. If you will eat one more (about one teaspoon dry measure) of any one of these a day you will get enough "softage" to obtain whatever benefits you might expect from this procedure. In case you wheat bread as opposed to the white flour types. In general try to increase your cereal fiber. For information on Diverticulosis send 50 cents for The Health Letter, number 54. Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Address your letter to me in care of The Manchester Evening Herald, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Dear Dr. Lamb—What causes mastoid trouble? When my daughter was about 1 year old she had it and had an operation. She seems to think it was caused by something I gave her. It bothers me.

Dear Reader—Most mastoid trouble is caused by an infection. That does not mean an infection that your daughter would have gotten from you. Mastoid infections were common complications of ear infections and the types of infections we classified as respiratory infections in years past. We don't see them much anymore because antibiotics eliminate most of the bacterial infections that would cause mastoiditis. You can be fairly certain that your daughter's problem was a complication of an infection that she developed as a child totally unrelated to anything that you might have done or anything she might have gotten from you.

VOTE YES ON MARCH 15 For The Industrial Park

WHAT WILL A YES VOTE DO FOR YOU?

It will spread your tax base and ease the pressure on your pocketbook. Additional tax revenues should absorb the costs and start showing a profit to Manchester within five years.

It will bring new jobs to Greater Manchester which should strengthen the economy of the entire area. Healthy business makes a happy community.

WHY NOW?

Manchester has what J.C. Penny wants in a location. A business of this strength and magnitude is what Manchester needs to make an Industrial Park successful.

J.C. Penny represents the quiet, attractive neighbor which every community desires. The timing is right; the business is right; opportunity is knocking.

The Republican Party has endorsed this project from its inception and urges all voters, Republicans, Democrats and Independents to...

Sexual assault to be topic, at PTA tonight

The Bentley School PTA will feature a representative from the Sexual Assault Crisis Service as guest speaker tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the school. The service which was formerly the Rape Crisis Center has been in operation since July 1974, and serves 29 towns in the Capitol Region. The discussion will include the realities, as opposed to the myths of sexual assault. The meeting is open to the public. Parents are encouraged to accompany young adolescents and teenagers who are invited.

Lenten recollection tomorrow night

Sister Joann Murphy, CND, will be the guest speaker at Lenten evening of recollection Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at St. Bartholomew Church. Her topic: "A Catholic Looks at Women's Liberation." Sister Murphy is co-coordinator of religious education for St. Patrick's Parish in Collinsville. She has a master's degree in religious education from Fordham University. All interested women are welcome to attend the program. There will be refreshments and discussion in the school library after the program, which has been arranged by Mrs. Madeline Robinson, program chairman for the Guild of Our Lady, and by the Sisters of St. Bartholomew Parish.

New Beginnings Group now being organized

The Manchester Community College Women's Center is forming a "New Beginnings Group" which will meet at the center for the first time on Thursday, March 17, at 7 p.m. The regular day and time for meetings will be determined by prospective participants. The group will be facilitated by Ms. Becky Minter. The New Beginnings Group is for women who have recently returned to school and would like the opportunity to talk about their experiences, thoughts, and feelings. The purpose of the group is to help with re-entry to school through supportive, informal discussion. Participants will also have the opportunity to take various vocational interest tests which will be interpreted for them. Ms. Minter's background includes over three and a half years of counseling experience with individuals, groups, and families. She is currently part of the Women's Unit at the University of Connecticut School of Social Work.

Two charged, one hurt in Oak St. disturbance

Two men were arrested and one was injured as the result of a disturbance in front of the Gaslight Restaurant, 30 Oak St., early Sunday morning. Police were called to the scene of a reported fight going on in front of the restaurant about 1:30 a.m. where 50 to 70 persons were gathered. Police arrested Robert T. Mulcahy, 17, of Rockville, charging him with breach of peace and interfering with an officer. Also arrested was Roy D. McCarter, 21, of 801 Main St., charged with third-degree criminal mischief and breach of peace. When police arrived at the scene, they said they found Mulcahy wrestling on the ground with an unknown male. McCarter was bleeding from the head. He apparently was hit with a beer bottle, police said. Police also said that McCarter kicked in a glass door at an adjacent apartment building and punched through the glass with his fists. McCarter was taken to Manchester Memorial Hospital where he was treated for laceration of the lip and released. Police had not determined if Babcock had been involved in the incident on Oak St. He told police he had been assaulted by three men.

Police charge two youths in house breaks

Two youths were arrested Saturday and charged with several counts of burglary in connection with four house breaks recently. Fred G. Yates, 16, of 81 Laurel St., was charged with two counts of burglary, attempt to commit burglary and attempt to commit third-degree larceny. A 15-year-old Ashford youth was also arrested on the same charges and was referred to juvenile authorities. The 15-year-old youth was taken into custody after an attempt to make a withdrawal from a savings account at the Heritage Savings and Loan Association Saturday morning.

Glass recycling shows slight drop

The amount of glass being recycled by Manchester residents has dropped slightly this year, according to Jay J. Giles, director of public works. The town has collected and sold approximately 82 tons of glass since the beginning of the fiscal year on July 1, 1976, Giles said. This is an average of 10.2 tons per month, a drop from the 11.7 tons per month collected during the 1975-76 fiscal year. The price for the glass has risen this year, Giles said. The town has been receiving an average of $20.40

Carter mission seeks data on MIAs

HONOLULU (UPI) — Four men and a woman sent by President Carter in an effort to end America's military morgue today before flying to Hanoi to learn the fate of 550 Americans missing in Indochina. "We must try to erase the question mark that haunts the mothers and fathers, the wives and children of the missing," said Marian Wright Edelman, a five-member presidential commission. "We must do so America can put the Vietnam War behind her," she told UPI. The five commissioners were being briefed at the Defense Department's morgue complex, which is monitoring the hunt for the missing and handling the remains of those who do not come back alive. The commissioners, led by President Leonard Woodcock of the United States, said they hoped Hanoi would hand over the remains of at least 12 missing Americans and begin explaining what happened to many of the others. Also on the commission are former Ambassador to the United Nations Woodcock, told reporters before leaving Washington Sunday that learning the fate of all the missing was "beyond the scope of any imagination."

Heat experts question juggling of thermostats

HARTFORD (UPI) — Two Connecticut heating specialists say turning your thermostat down 10 degrees before you go to bed does not necessarily guarantee that you'll save money on fuel. "In fact, the men said, 'owners may be losing energy, while being uncomfortable, when they play with the thermostat.'"

Group south to protect utility user

HARTFORD (UPI) — The Connecticut Citizens Agency for Consumers that would be funded voluntarily by utility users. The contributions would be collected through a check off on utility bills and contributions would elect directors and hire lawyers and economists to promote the group's positions. The proposal Saturday by the Connecticut Citizen Agency, the state United Auto Workers Action program, and the Office of Consumer Council will get a public hearing Thursday before the legislature's energy committee. Francois Lemieux of the UAW said currently, a part of each customer's bill pays for the utilities to hire lawyers and experts to seek rate hikes. "It's about time utility customers had an opportunity to counter utility arguments with experts of their own," he said. Consumer counsel David Gladstone said the proposal would not duplicate his present efforts "since regulators must receive the broadest possible input from as many sources as possible" to render decisions in the public interest. Marc Caplan of the CCAAG said the agency would be solely accountable to the public and if it is "out of step," it's funding, provided by continual small donations, "will dry up."

Ending the agony of the relatives. The commissioners, led by President Leonard Woodcock of the United States, said they hoped Hanoi would hand over the remains of at least 12 missing Americans and begin explaining what happened to many of the others. Also on the commission are former Ambassador to the United Nations Woodcock, told reporters before leaving Washington Sunday that learning the fate of all the missing was "beyond the scope of any imagination."

Insurance proposed for terminally ill

HARTFORD (UPI) — Connecticut would provide insurance for terminally ill persons who have used all their private medical insurance under a proposal presented before the state legislature. The legislature's Insurance and Real Estate Committee will hold a hearing later this month on the proposal, which is patterned after the Catastrophic Health Insurance Plan which has been in effect in Rhode Island for a year. Sen. Joseph P. Flynn, D-Ansonia and Senate chairman of the committee, said if the measure was adopted the state would pay 90 percent of the medical costs for terminally ill persons who had exhausted their private medical insurance benefits. Flynn said the "Candlelighters," a group composed of parents of children with cancer, suggested the legislation. The Rhode Island plan, the first to be adopted in the United States, was designed to keep families of the terminally ill from going bankrupt.

Area police report

East Hartford Terry Grider, 22, of Inwood, N.Y., and Donald K. Myers, 21, of Brooklyn, N.Y., were arrested Saturday at 8:20 p.m. at the Imperial 400 Motel at 927 Main St., East Hartford, after a fight was reported there.

Police said Grider was allegedly armed with a knife and chasing another man at the motel. The man left the scene and was not identified. Police charged Grider with disorderly conduct and carrying a dangerous weapon.

Myers was charged with interfering with an officer during the arrest of Grider. Grider was being held this morning on $1,500 surety bond and Myers on $1,000 pending appearance today in Common Pleas Court 12 in East Hartford.

Leone's Pharmacy at 678 Burnside Ave., East Hartford, was broken into through the roof Saturday morning. Missing are $500 in cash and many store items.

The Maine Inc. auto upholstery firm at 328 Governor St., East Hartford, was broken into over the weekend. Missing is over $700 worth of tools and machines. An Oxford Dr. area home was broken into through a cellar window and $195 worth of items taken.

William W. Adams, 16, of Windsor, was arrested on a warrant Saturday charging him with third-degree larceny and third-degree burglary in connection with a break into 40 Central Ave., East Hartford, Jan. 16. He was released on his promise to appear in court March 28.

A Crescent Dr. area home was ransacked Sunday and over $700 worth of items taken. A Handel Ct. area home was broken into and six six-packs of beer from the refrigerator.

South Windsor Stephen White, 19, of 640 Ellington Rd., South Windsor, was arrested by South Windsor Police Sunday morning on charges stemming from alleged toll evasion and an automobile chase.

Police charged White with reckless driving, failure to obey an officer's signal, and evading a toll. White is accused of "running" a toll on the Hissell Bridge. Police said his car was chased for some distance before White was apprehended. Court date is March 22 in East Hartford.

Libby S. Wadach, 15, of 230 Pleasant Valley Rd., South Windsor, was treated at Manchester Memorial hospital Saturday night for injuries suffered in a one-car accident on Sandy Hill Rd., South Windsor. Police said Miss Wadach was a passenger in a car driven by Arthur L. Cushman Jr., 17, of 94 Lawrence Rd., South Windsor. Police said Cushman was driving west on Sand Hill Rd., lost control of his car, drove off the road, and struck a utility pole, snapping it off. He wasn't hurt. Cushman was issued a summons for failure to drive in the proper lane.

South Windsor Police are investigating several weekend reports of vandalism, including damage at the Avery Street School. Police said a car was driven across the school lawn, tearing up grass. Paint was sprayed on the school's outside walls and portable classrooms were damaged. Eight mailboxes were vandalized at addresses on Elizabeth St., a lamp post was broken at an Edgewood Dr. home, and a wagon wheel was damaged at another Edgewood Dr. address, police said.

Vernon Alan Beaupre, 21, of 201 Regan Rd., Vernon, was charged with failure to drive a reasonable distance apart after a two-car accident on Rt. 83 Saturday.

The driver of the other car, Gary Parker, 23, of Country Lane, Vernon, was taken to Rockville General Hospital with minor injuries. Beaupre is scheduled to appear in Common Pleas Court 19 in Rockville April 1.

Robert B. Beebe, 25, of 89 Prospect St., Rockville, was arrested Saturday afternoon and charged with third-degree criminal trespass. He was allegedly found on private property on Elm Hill Rd. Court date is April 13.

Virginia L. Ulitsch, 24, of 30F Henderson Dr., East Hartford, was arrested Saturday at Calder's, Verbal Ave., and charged with fourth-degree larceny (shoplifting). Court is set for April 13.

Harry Scott, 22, of 28 N. Park St., Rockville, was arrested Sunday at 1:47 a.m. and charged with breach of peace after a fight was reported at Clark's Bar on W. Main St., Rockville. Court is set for April 13.

Jeffrey King, 17, of Center Rd., Vernon, was charged with making an improper turn after a two-car accident on Rt. 83 at 12:23 a.m. Sunday. The driver of the other car, Jeffrey Mercier of 38 Wilshire Dr., Vernon, and Mercier's passenger were both taken to Rockville General Hospital with minor injuries. Court is set for April 1 for King.

Carl D. Martin, 21, of Enfield, was arrested Sunday evening and charged with driving while his license was suspended. Court is set for April 13.

Taking bids on a bunny

John Barry Jr. notes a bid in the audience of the Junior Woman's Club craft auction last week. Barry, East Hartford's town clerk by day, acted auctioneer honors with John Chenette during the club's auction, which netted $450. Mrs. Mary Ellen Donnellan, club president, said the funds will go to the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation of Connecticut. There were 119 items including the bunny, most made by club women and some by parents in the foundation. The club meets next for a "Swing Into Spring" dance Saturday at Mt. Carmel Hall. For tickets, call Ann Gray at 569-1409. (Herald photo by Bartlow)

Teacher fitness study subject of state grant

The state has given the East Hartford school system $1,500 to study teacher fitness. Local staff in 1974 made a model of staff development to meet the law. The town will hire a consultant through the Capitol Region Education Council (CREC) to provide the training. Deadline for fully meeting the state law is 1980. Leone said the town must by then be able to fairly measure each teacher's fitness to teach. Leone said the prime purpose of the local program is improving the student learning environment.

Police resume plane search Cove area residents told local police they heard a loud noise and a saw flash of light at about the time of the presumed crash. State and local police searched the Cove following the reports but gave up and plan to return this morning with SCUBA divers. State police said they were unsure whether the plane carried any passengers.

Court action due on Calano's sale

HARTFORD (UPI) — The state goes to court today to force a local furniture store to divulge information about its going out of business sale. The legal action in Hartford's Court of Common Pleas, against Calano Furniture Inc. of East Hartford, represents the first time the state has gone public with its ongoing probe of statewide going out of business sales.

On Nov. 15, the attorney general's office, in conjunction with the Department of Consumer Protection, sent a seven-page questionnaire to 15 Connecticut firms, asking them several questions about the nature of their sales and the goods which were sold. The investigation was an outgrowth of allegations that some stores were selling inferior goods, adding new products to their stock after sales began and using deceptive advertising.

Judging from the questionnaire sent to the Connecticut stores, the Department of Consumer Protection suspects there may be a guiding force behind the sales. Langer said most of the firms under investigation have already completed their sales. Last year, the state passed a set of new laws which cut the time a going out of business sale can last from a year to three months. The statutes also require storekeepers to provide the state with more information about the goods they plan to sell.

Blackstone says data proves tax inequality

HARTFORD (UPI) — Property taxes in the state's poorest towns are rising twice as rapidly as they are in Connecticut's most affluent cities, according to the Connecticut Conference of Municipalities. The CCM study showed Sunday that property taxes in the five Connecticut towns with the lowest average family income have jumped 67.5 per cent over the past decade. At the same time, the study showed that property taxes in the state's five most affluent cities increased only 31.9 per cent during the 10 year period. Richard Blackstone, CCM president and mayor of East Hartford, said the tax mill figures "dramatically illustrate the inequalities produced through over reliance on local property taxes." The CCM also presented statistics contrasting how much the affluent communities and the poorer communities spend on education. According to the group, the rich towns put out $1,470 per pupil in the 1974-75 school year. The poor towns, on the other hand, expended $1,057 per student. Blackstone said the new data "underscores the urgent necessity of sharply reducing our dependence on the property tax for educational needs if we are to give children throughout the state the equality of educational opportunity to which they have a right."

Rent aid program begins in Vernon

Commissioner W. James Rice and Chairman Allen L. Dresser announced today that the Connecticut Department of Community Affairs (DCA) and the Vernon Housing Authority will begin a rental assistance program for low income families and elderly persons Tuesday. The Housing Authority has authorized the DCA to administer the program in its behalf. Funds for the program are provided to the Housing Authority through the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, under the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974. Rice said the rental assistance program enables certain low income families to obtain adequate housing which would otherwise be beyond their means. This is accomplished through a direct payment to the landlord which is equal to the difference between what the family can afford to pay for housing expenses (usually 25 per cent of its monthly income) and the actual rent, including utilities.

Under the Rental Assistance Program, an eligible family must find a rental unit which meets standards of cost and condition. The family may also remain in its present unit, provided the unit meets those standards. In either case, the owner of the unit must agree to participate in the program. Francis J. Pitkat, executive director of the Housing Authority, said the program is beneficial to all participants. "The family will have the burden of housing costs reduced to a reasonable level, the landlord will be guaranteed a monthly payment for a portion of the rent and the community will benefit from families with increased spending power," he said. The office will be located in the Memorial Building, 14 Park Pl., Rockville. The housing coordinator for the program will be James K. Rutledge.

Softball reps to meet

Vernon There will be an organizational meeting Tuesday of representatives of teams wishing to enter any of the four men's softball leagues sponsored by the Vernon Recreation Department. The meeting will be at the Recreation Department, 26 Park Pl., Rockville, starting at 7:30 p.m. It is expected that the league structure this season will again include the Dusty League, two Indy Leagues and a Recreation League. Tuesday's meeting will cover league rules and regulations and eligibility among other things. Managers are prepared to turn in tentative rosters. All leagues are expected to get underway the first week in May. The organizational meeting for the women's softball league will be held early in April.

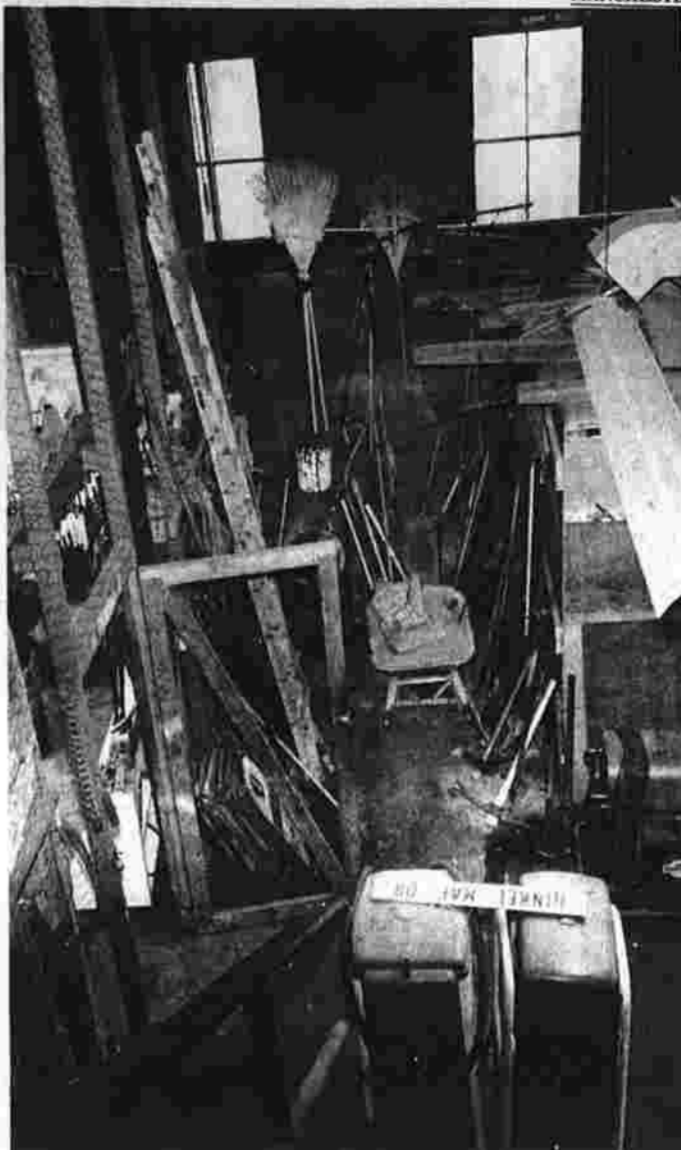

South Windsor library helps teachers learn

The South Windsor Public Library will be part of the Learning and Sharing Program of in-service education for the town's teachers. They will be visiting the library Thursday as the second half of a two-part program, "Resources, Reference and Relaxation." The first part of the program will be conducted at the Timothy Edwards Middle School Library and at the High School Library. This is a free service which includes cleaning, photostatic examination and fluoride application. Appointments may be made by the South Windsor Community Service Council's office, Oakland Rd., 644-2509. Golf meeting The South Windsor Recreation Department has scheduled its staff to discuss the kindergarten program, school health, and the process for registration of children. A brief general session, parents and teachers will regroup in kindergarten classrooms to discuss the kindergarten program. Parents attending may secure registration materials, completing the forms in advance of the registration of children during the week of April 4, with the exception of the 8th which is Good Friday.

Registration hours will be 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Required at the time of registration will be a birth certificate, physician's certification of inoculation and immunization and proof of residency. To enter school next September a child must have reached his fifth birthday by Dec. 31, 1977.

'Y' plans D.C. tour

National Cemetery, the Capital Building, and possibly the National Zoo. As a break in the educational and historical section of the program, there will be a visit to a new large amusement park located in Ashland, Va. The trip is being offered by several area YMCA's. Leadership will be provided by "Y" personnel, teachers and parent volunteers. For more information call the "Y" office, 672-7329.

Crowded conditions

Crowded conditions at Coventry's town garage are among the reasons town officials say a new facility is needed. Residents go to a public hearing tonight to discuss using $35,000 in federal revenue sharing funds to help buy the Town Council's proposed central facility site on Talcott Hill Rd. and Rt. 31. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Kindergarten meeting set in Tolland school

Parents of pre-kindergarten children in Tolland are invited to attend a meeting March 21 at 7:30 p.m. in the all-purpose room of the Parker Memorial School. At this meeting, parents of pre-kindergarten children and school staff will discuss the kindergarten program, school health, and the process for registration of children. A brief general session, parents and teachers will regroup in kindergarten classrooms to discuss the kindergarten program. Parents attending may secure registration materials, completing the forms in advance of the registration of children during the week of April 4, with the exception of the 8th which is Good Friday.

Area bulletin board

Elementary School staff is being displayed at the school library. The mini-survey will continue through March 25. There will be a "getting ready for spring" meeting for all Girl Scout leadership Wednesday at 7 p.m. at the home of Helen Donahue, scout coordinator, Bear Swamp Rd. The discussion will be general with special emphasis on camping and year-end programs.

Town Meeting tonight on Coventry spending

Coventry residents will go to a Board of Education, $1,000 for the Board Dimock Library and $600 to cover the financial administration of the revenue sharing funds. The Planning and Zoning Commission will conduct a public hearing on the resubdivision application on Lot 9 in the Coventry Industrial Park, Rt. 31, at 8:30 tonight. The commission will also meet with Town Atty. Abbot Schwebel to discuss proposed multi-family regulation changes. Australia no longer No. 1 in world tennis

By EARL YOST
Sports Editor

"No one has ever dominated tennis like the United States," Jimmy Connors said after he had clinched the Aetna World Cup for a second straight year for the USA Saturday afternoon at the Hartford Civic Center.

Few could disagree with Connors' statement after captain Dennis Ralston's talented team not only wrapped up the Aetna hunting for a straight in the best of seven set but went on to post an unprecedented clean sweep of all seven matches.

As the No. 1 performer in the four-day eighth annual survey, third aetna, the Civic Center, helped attract over 42,000 spectators, with four sellouts of 10,600.

"The amount of good, young tennis players in the United States today is the most ever."

"There are a lot of good players," Connors, remarked by the media.

Connors sets pace in Aetna triumph like Eddie Dibbs, Vitas Gerulaitis, Harold Solomon, who are good enough to represent the United States in Hartford," Connors went on.

"I feel that you could pick three United States teams (five players to a team) that would be good enough to play the best from Australia today."

"There is more depth in tennis personnel today in the United States than ever before," he added.

Connors, just as he did in 1976, won his two singles matches and just as was the case a year ago when he made his Aetna debut, he was the top performer.

"The format is altered in the future years, and an all-star team brought in instead of Australia, I feel like Bjorn Borg and Ilie Nastase, would it make any difference to Connors."

"We're strong enough to play, and beat the world's best. You might underestimate these guys (Australians), but they are great tennis players. It's just that we are a little better," the No. 1 player in the world echoed.

Connors' match against Tony Roche was a classic, although the left-handed Aussie bowed in straight sets, 6-4, 7-5. In the second set, he had Connors 5-2 but couldn't force win that one more point.

"Ralston told me to 'win five games for the boys' during the break, Connors related. He did just that, and in convincing fashion."

"Dick Stockton and Brian Gottfried tried to whip Ross Case and a dead tired Roche" in their doubles match Saturday, 6-4, 6-4, and yesterday's anticlimactic show found Stockton shading John Alexander, 7-5, 7-5, and Roscoe Tanner and Marty Riessen collaborating to turn back Roy Emerson and Mark Edmondson, 6-3, 6-1, to give the USA a shutout.

The Americans split up $70,000 and the Austrians received $30,000.

Mets' pitching strong

NEW YORK (UPI)—Other values may change during baseball's revolution of the 1970s but one remains as dependable and deep as Rockefeller oil.

That would be New York Mets' pitching, of course.

The Mets are having trouble signing slugger Dave Kingman and are expected to go into the new season as long shots to win the National League's Eastern Division title. It's a team with numerous in-field problems, possibly a problem at catcher and popgun power.

But when it comes to pitching, the Mets believe they rank No. 1.

Met pitchers turned in their second straight shutout Sunday when Jon Matlack, Nino Espinosa, Ray Sadecki and Skip Lockwood combined on a four-hitter and a 3-0 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals. The Mets have allowed a total of three runs in three games this spring while holding rivals scoreless in 24 of 28 innings played.

Walks and St. Louis errors contributed to the Mets' runs, two of which were unearned. But when your opponents don't score...

Elsewhere around the camps: Don Sutton, a 29-game winner last season, allowed three runs in five innings in a losing cause as the Atlanta Braves beat the Los Angeles Dodgers, 5-3.

Wayne Gross homered for Oakland and Bill Melton and Andre Thornton connected for Cleveland in the A's 6-5 victory over the Indians.

Jim Slaton, Larry Sorensen and Sam Hinds combined on a three-hitter in the Milwaukee Brewers' 4-0 win over the California Angels.

John Mayberry drove in five runs with a single and a homer to lead the Kansas City Royals to an 8-7 victory over the Texas Rangers.

Reggie Cleveland, 30 pounds lighter than last spring, pitched shutout ball for four innings as the Boston Red Sox topped the Chicago White Sox, 5-2.

Walters and St. Louis errors contributed to the Mets' runs, two of which were unearned. But when your opponents don't score...

Pro basketball

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Boston Celtics may yet win the National Basketball Association's Atlantic Division because they have the tools to cope with any situation.

The Celtics found themselves trailing Phoenix, 30-28, after the first period Sunday but Coach Tommy Heinsohn went to his bench for reserve guards Kevin Stacom and Bobby Wilson.

The Stacom-Wilson mission was to establish a permanent press designed to disrupt the Suns' running and passing patterns.

Artis Gilmore scored 21 points, including seven in the last five minutes and a field goal that gave the Bulls the lead for good with 3:51 remaining.

Julius Erving scored eight of his game-high 29 points in the final 2:23 in a vain attempt to rally the 76ers.

Elsewhere, Detroit defeated San Antonio, 102-97, Buffalo beat Denver, 102-95, Los Angeles topped the New York Nets, 84-81, Golden State shaded Washington, 121-119, Cleveland nipped Atlanta, 115-113, and Kansas City whipped the Indiana Pacers, 103-98.

Pistons 102, Spurs 97. Detroit snuffed San Antonio's six-point winning streak with the help of a key three-point play by Marvin Barnes with less than four minutes to play.

The Spurs led by six points early in the fourth period but the Pistons, with Howard Porter scoring eight of their next 15 points, surged into the lead. M.L. Carr led Detroit with 19 points while George Gervin had 27 for the Spurs.

Braves 102, Nuggets 95. Adrian Dantley scored 33 points as Buffalo beat Denver, despite 27 points by Dan Issel. The Braves staged a 16-3 burst in the fourth period to build a 14-point lead. It was the third straight loss for the Bulls, including the fifth seven road games during the last 13 days.

Lakers 84, Nets 81. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, under light security by federal agents because of his suspected involvement with the Hanashi Muslims, scored 23 points to lead Los Angeles over New York at the Unionsdale, N.Y., Coliseum. Mike Bantom led the Nets with 17 points.

There were no incidents. Warriors 121, Bullets 119. Golden State had eight players in double figures to offset a 47-point performance by Washington's Elvin Hayes. Reserve guards Charles Dudley and Charles Johnson each scored a field goal in the final 44 seconds to pull the Warriors away from a 115-115 tie. Hayes also had 20 rebounds in a brilliant all-around performance.

Cavs 115, Hawks 113. Elmore Smith's 30 points led Cleveland to its victory over Atlanta, snabbing the Cavs to snap a three-game losing streak. Smith also had 13 rebounds and six blocked shots. Len Robinson scored 31 points and John Drew had 27 for the Hawks.

Kings 103, Pacers 98. Scott Wedman had 23 points and four teammates were in double figures for Kansas City in its triumph at Indianapolis. The Kings led most of the way by small margins. John Williamson led the Pacers with 32 points, including 18 in the second half.

Hayes also had 20 rebounds in a brilliant all-around performance.

Cavs 115, Hawks 113. Elmore Smith's 30 points led Cleveland to its victory over Atlanta, snabbing the Cavs to snap a three-game losing streak. Smith also had 13 rebounds and six blocked shots. Len Robinson scored 31 points and John Drew had 27 for the Hawks.

Kings 103, Pacers 98. Scott Wedman had 23 points and four teammates were in double figures for Kansas City in its triumph at Indianapolis. The Kings led most of the way by small margins. John Williamson led the Pacers with 32 points, including 18 in the second half.

There were no incidents. Warriors 121, Bullets 119. Golden State had eight players in double figures to offset a 47-point performance by Washington's Elvin Hayes. Reserve guards Charles Dudley and Charles Johnson each scored a field goal in the final 44 seconds

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren
DEAR ABBY: I see that you've launched a campaign to get rid of "offensive" TV commercials. You told your readers to write to the heads of the networks, and to boycott the products whose TV commercials offend you. You insist that if enough people protest in this manner, offensive commercials will be driven off the air.

DEAR ABBY: I draw the line when while entertaining my family, my father-in-law and my teenage nephew, the TV is turned on and suddenly we are informed that a new disposable douche now comes premeasured and in two lovely fragrances!

DEAR ABBY: In-laws are so gracious you can encourage my daughter-in-law to invite us for dinner? My son has been married for three and a half years and we have never been invited to their house for dinner.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a senior in high school, and my problem is my best friend's brother. I'll call him Tom. There's nothing wrong with Tom and there's nothing wrong with me, but my friend has been pushing her brother on me, and he's getting so serious.

DEAR HANGING: The direct approach is the best one. Tell Tom you like him as a friend, but that's all. And if he can't accept that, quit dating him. And if his sister gets "mad" at you, get yourself another best friend.
