Growing Older

Happiness is getting involved

There are now 30 million Americans over 69. And many in their 50s will soon be joining the "older generation making a formidable group of many millions. Retirement for them means leaving "the rat race." Their lifestyle can be happy or beset by what seems like

Affluence or financial independence can help but does not necessarily make for a happy life. A feeling of rejection of not being a useful citizen, can be demoralizing. But this need not be so. One can do volunteer work, develop hobbies, make oneself useful in the community. In other words, happiness can simply mean becoming in

There are many government and private programs to help and provide interests for older people but unless you know about them and know how to reach them, you can't take advantage of them.

Washington, particularly the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), is trying to coordinate existing community services, establish new services where gaps exist and set up guidelines to help people reach them. Free booklets are available on requ or information can be obtained by phone. If you don't find either "Area Agency on Aging" or "Information and Referral" listed in your telephone directory, ask your inormation operator for the agency that serves older people in your community The people who staff the information and referral serice can tell you how to find out about local programs that might interest or benefit you. If you have a special problem for which you would like help, they will refer you to the proper place or service. These cover a wide spectrum of concern and interests and include senior centers and clubs, United Way Agencies, religious organizations, public health and welfare departments. District offices of the Social Security Administration are also sources of information and service. Press and radio "action" or "hot" lines and consumer organizations can also be helpful. Retirement, unless you are exceptionally fortunate, usually means a diminution of income, which can cause grave problems. Big Government often seems like a big, cold unfeeling colossus but it does have a heart. Since 1974, the Supplemental Security Income Program (SSI) has been in effect. If you cannot get by on your Social Security payments, you may be eligible for this program which Social Security administers for blind, disabled and older people who have little or no other resources.

Some communities have special services which may not be available in other places. For instance, in the area in which I live, which is South Florida, a taxi service for disabled or older people can be obtained for $1 a ride to and from a doctor's office or even to get to one's work. Appointments must be made in advance. Considering the high price of even the shortest taxi ride, this is indeed a Senior citizen groups are also provided with buses to get to a particular destination as part of one of their programs at little or no charge. These arrangements, as well, have to be made in advance since there are only a limited number of such buses available. If there is no such service in your community, pressure on the proper authorities might provide them.

There is a public service commercial heard on our local radio and probably in other localities as well. It urges the older American to "get off your rocker," to seek out opportunities and to make for a better and hap-

Buying a used car

In shopping for a used car, be cautious and suspicious. Remember, the previous car owner had some reason for getting rid of it. He may have simply wanted a new car or perhaps the car was practically worn out and would require costly repairs to make it safe and dependable. Listed here are various methods used by some dealers and individual owners to make a car look better than it actually may be: Painting tires to make them look new. Always examine the tread for wear and sidewalls for cracks, signs of tread separation and bubbles Cleaning the engine and painting the valve covers and air cleaner to brighten them.

Installing seat covers to mask torn upholstery, or installing new rugs or mats to cover rusted-out parts of the Spraying black paint on the hoses to make them look

Removing a good battery and replacing it with a battery that won't last very long. Be especially wary of a battery switch during the warm weather when cars are easier to start. Look for cracks in the battery and check to see if there is a date stamped on the case to help determine the battery's age. Removing an erratically worn tire from the front and placing it in the trunk to mask a front end problem. Always check the tire in the trunk. Putting a cheap repaint job on the car to hide body rust.

Making temporary repairs to the muffler and tailpipe. Examine these for signs that holes or rusted-out portions have been repaired with muffler patches or tape.
You'll need to be patient, curious and observant. Inspect the car thoroughly. Remember that caution before you buy is basic and that buying a used car

The art of macrame Family/Travel Editor

Teen-agers turn designs into profits

Two Manchester girls have found that having a hobby can be not only fun but profitable.

Maureen O'Connell of 25 Northfield St. and making macrame plant hangers more than a year ago. Today, they have not only completed several such hangers but they have branched out nto the jewelry line and are combining their efforts to complete a large wall hanging.

"We started out with small plant hangers," Maureen said. "We didn't use a kit. Just bought the cord and started knotting it into various

As their interest grew, the girls, who are both 16 (Maureen is observing her birthday today) became involved in more intricate patterns and

Last Christmas, Maureen, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel O'Connell, received a book on the art of jewelry making from her have been designing bracelets and necklaces of

"We purchase a variety of beads, shells, glass and feathers for use in our jewelry," Sharon said. "No plastic is used."

Some of their items are on consignment at My Sister's Closet and Rafael's, both of Manchester.

One accomplishment of which Maureen is most proud is a three by five foot jute hanging she made during art class at Manchester High School, where she and Sharon are sophomores.

The hanging named "Deja vu" was entered in the Manchester Art Festival which was held at Center Park on the day of the Bicentennial

With further encouragement from her art teacher, Sharon and Maureen started going to fairs and arts and crafts shows to sell their

Mrs. O'Connell said, "The real impetus came when the girls wanted to attend a Youth Conference in Colorado last August and needed to finance the trip. Out of these craft and art fairs, the trip was almost entirely financed."

When not busy preparing for upcoming exhibits, Maureen enjoys playing the guitar and Sharon is an accomplished pianist.

"I like classical music," Sharon said. "Music is definitely my interest, although I have given some thought to joining the Peace Corps when I finish school. I'd like to pass some of my skills along." Sharon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Both girls enjoy bicycling and cooking, es-

"I also like to make lasagne and cookies,"

The youthful designers have their own system for working on some of the smaller items. They sit on the floor, pin the macrame to the knee of their jeans, and start tying knots.

Currently, there is 10 pounds of jute hanging on the wall in Maureen's bedroom, and a design is

The "Deja vu" hanging took Maureen about four months; one hour a day to complete.

The girls, who look forward to exhibiting their work, have been scanning the advertisements for news of upcoming fairs and shows.

When you're 16, time is on your side and these talented young women are proof positive of what a little ingenuity can do.

Take a boy, a kite and a March wind and you have a perfect combination for an early spring day. David Mann, 9, of 132 Campfield Rd. is shown easing his colorful kite into the wind which will take it up, up, hopefully, not away. (Herald photo by Dunn)

Let's go fly a kite

China was probably their birthplace.

In China, according to legend, kites were employed by Huan Theng, an advisor As kites reached Europe and the years passed, they lost most of their decorative aspirations of man's soul, every Sept. 9 the Chinese celebrated the "Festival of Ascending on High." On that day the sky In the was filled with thousands of spectacularly decorated and colored kites. Some of the huge dragon kites measured up to 50 feet

Then the kite was freed to take with it any bad luck that might befall the young boy. In Japan, the Boy's Festival held each May 5 still features kite flying. Kites, shaped like carp with an opening at one end similar to the windsocks seen at airports, are flown on poles outside of homes in which sons reside. There is one carp for each son, the largest for the oldest and so on down the line. The carp was chosen because it is a strong swimmer against the swift current. It is hoped that the carp's courage and strength is passed along to the sons. According to legend, about 400 B.C. in Greece, Archytas, a scientist and citizen of Athens, devised a rather unusual kite.

Legends and other accounts of kites and stick and cloth or papyrus kite, Archytas their uses have been known for 3,000 years carefully studied the structure of birds or more. DEAR ABBY: A friend of ours recently gave birth to an abnormal child (a Mongoloid). We, her friends, are terribly upset about it, and the poor woman and her husband are in deep depression.

What should friends do under the circumstances? We certainly can't "congratulate" the parents.

Should we acknowledge the birth of this unfortunate child? Should we send a gift? (What does one send a Mongoloid child?) Or would it be kinder to ignore the win's brother 3 Noun suffix DEAR BEWILDERED: Perhaps "congratulations" are not in order, but to ignore the birth of a child when you would normally express interest is, I think, cruel. So send a little gift (the same as you would to any other child), and show a continuing interest (not curiosity). DEAR ABBY: During our two-year marriage, my husband and I have had some very difficult times including separation, a filing for and finally a cancellation of divorce The big problem is this: He thinks I should always be villing to have sex whenever HE feels like it. never we have an argument, which is often, my tusband says some very cruel and cutting things to me, hen he says, "I didn't mean what I said. Now can we have I think it's nice that he says he's sorry, but I'm in no mood to have sex with him two minutes after he has ripped me up one side and down the other, and hurt my feelings by talking mean and ugly to me.

I need a little time to cool off after an argument, and having sex isn't my idea of cooling off. In an effort to save my marriage, I need your opinion.

Israel's arms industry faces opposition from United States

By STEWART KELLERMAN

TEL AVIV (UPI) - Israel, the largest recipient of American military aid, exports hundreds of millions of dollars in arms each year - sometimes in conflict with the spirit, if not the letter, of U.S. policy. But Israel's free-wheeling arms in-dustry is running into unexpected opposition from the Carter Administration, which recently blocked the sale of jets to Ecuador and is taking a hard look at other exports of Israeli weapons built with U.S. parts.

Western diplomatic sources said Israel sells weapons to South Africa and Turkey - countries under U.S. arms sales restrictions - and actively markets its weapons in Latin America despite U.S. attempts to limit the arms race in the area.

The sources said Israel also provides weapons and counterinsurgency advisers to the left-wing regime in Ethiopia. The United States has been the major arms supplier to Ethiopia, but the Carter

The sources said many weapons sold to embargoed countries include American parts and at least some sales took place without the prior ap-proval of the United States.
