THE HAGUE, Netherlands — Dutch crime Minister Joop den Uyl resigned and ended his four-year-old center-left coalition government collapsed in a dispute over Holland's "scarce commodity" — land. He quit Tuesday and was asked to continue in a caretaker capacity until a new government can be formed.

Happy birthday, Emily

When you're two years old, it's easy to make dreams come true, as little Emily Lappen found out when "Big Bird" of television's "Sesame Street" came to her birthday party. Emily, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Craig (Big Bird) Lappen of 65 Battista Rd., was speechless as she sat on Big Bird's lap. Her parents hosted an open house for more than 20 youngsters on Saturday, although her birthday was Monday, March 21. (Herald photo by Dunn)

Senate about to act on new ethics code

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With the big money battle apparently over, the Senate now can pass a new code of ethics forcing members to limit certain outside earnings to $8,625 a year but leaving them free to make what they can from investments.

In voting for that approach Tuesday, the Senate — like the House three weeks ago — rejected opposition by many angry members who branded it unfair to many senators and unnecessary to cope with conflicts of interest.

The income plan was part of the code of ethics to disclose personal finances annually, ban acceptance of costly gifts, and forbid use of private "slush funds" to pay official expenses.

But at least one foe, Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., did not give up. He said "the gloves come off today" when he planned to offer a package requiring even more financial disclosure, including income tax returns, to "give the public all the facts and let the voters decide what is a conflict and what is proper."

The Senate stuck by the Nelson committee's proposal to let senators earn up to $8,625 a year, or 15 per cent of their official $57,500 salary, by speaking and doing "personal services." They could charge up to $1,000 per appearance.

Current rules permit a maximum of $25,000 annually for speaking and up to $200 for a single address.

The Muskie forces, many of the frequent public speakers, sought initially to get the 15 per cent limit extended to "unearned income" that many affluent senators collect from stocks, bonds, family businesses or other investments. That was defeated by a 67 to 29 margin.

They then tried to maintain the present $25,000 ceiling, but were beaten 62 to 35.

Massachusetts islands 'declare' independence

BOSTON (UPI) — Saying only an islander can truly represent an island, officials on Martha's Vineyard and Nantucket signed a declaration of independence from Massachusetts Tuesday.

State representatives and town officials on the two islands also filed a bill in the legislature to secede from the state to protest a legislative redistricting plan that would combine the islands with mainland communities in a new House district.

The only effective advocate for the islands is an islander, said state Rep. Terrence McCarthy, I-Edgartown, who filed the bill along Rep. John Conway, R-Nantucket.

"If the commonwealth persists in its plan to thrust arbitrary government upon us," he told a State House news conference, "we shall be confronted with an intolerable situation."

"We are prepared to withdraw our consent of its continued authority over us, and dissolve all connection with it."

He said the islands intend to form their own country or state, or join another state. Residents will vote on secession at town meetings during the next few weeks. The secession bill still needs approval of Congress if it is passed by the legislature.

Town budget deadline is near

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

It's a time of sweaty palms and hours of duplicating and compiling. Some town employees are spending much of this week putting the final touches on the town manager's recommended budget.

According to the Town Charter, the manager's budget must be completed 95 days before the end of the fiscal year. That date is March 27, this Sunday, and town officials expect the document to be completed by the end of the week.

"We're facing a charter deadline. That makes the sweat run down the palms of your hands," Charles F. McCarthy Jr., assistant town manager, said Tuesday. "We're all kind of tied up with the budget work," he said.

House GOP leader asks probe of auto insurance industry

HARTFORD (UPI) — House Minority Leader Gerald F. Stevens, R-Milford, wants a comprehensive investigation of Connecticut's auto insurance industry.

Stevens said Tuesday he wanted lawmakers to set aside $75,000-$100,000 for a study of the industry that would be done following the June recess.

This would enable lawmakers to take well planned action when they reconvene next January, Stevens said.

He made the suggestion in a speech to the Greater Hartford Association of Independent Insurance Agents and in a letter to legislative leaders.

It was important, he said, such an adequate funding and subpoena powers to permit it to do its job effectively.

Stevens, an all-but-declared candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination next year, said he wanted the probe handled by a select legislative committee, not the legislative panel that ordinarily handles insurance matters.

Realtors meet Thursday

Need Atwood, head of Need Atwood & Associates, will be the guest speaker for the Eastern Connecticut Bicentennial Chapter of the Women's Council of Realtors Thursday from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m. at the Village Cuisine, 471 Hartford Rd.

News for senior citizens

Here they! The Showboats come! Yep, it's just around the corner and should be pulling into the East Catholic High School April 1, 2 and 3. When you stop to think about it, that's not too far away, and believe me, the members of the "Showboat" are really working overtime.

Come Sunday evening, the complete cast will meet at 8 here at the center at which time we will go through the whole show with a full dress rehearsal. Then on Monday evening at 7, the tambourines and chorus will hold a session again here at the center. On Tuesday, the whole gang will meet at 6 p.m. at the East Catholic Auditorium.

On Wednesday evening at 6, we all meet at East Catholic for our dress rehearsal. On Thursday we have the night off; how about that! Well, some of us will be busy because we'll be at the gala testimonial for Deputy Mayor John Thompson at the Army & Navy Club. By the way, all tickets for this event have been sold and tickets will not be available at the door.

Speaking of tickets, I keep warning you to pick up your tickets for the Variety Show real soon, because they are going fast.

Cruise

Well, we just picked up some additional news about the Nassau-Bermuda cruise. The S.S. Rotterdam is going all out to make this a very special cruise and have now added extra professional entertainment. Along with Peter Duchin and his orchestra and Cab Calloway and Ceceilia, there will be Hildegard, Todd King and the sensational stylish dancing team, the Sonys.

Sounds like they are going all out on this trip and you still have some time to sign up. The deadline is April 5 and that is when all monies must be paid. Drop by and pick up your flyer now as time is really running out.

Setback games

The excitement here at the center starts off with our setback games on Friday afternoon. Despite the snow and slippery weather, we had 42 players and the winners were Mary Nackowski, 135.

Wiretap brings suit

NORWICH (UPI) — A lawyer for a former Capehart Corp. executive who says his office phone was illegally wiretapped has told the electronics firm to expect a law suit.

Attorney James Merberg, who is with F. Lee Bailey's Boston law firm, said Monday letters were sent by certified mail to Capehart Corp. executive and a financial consultant warning of impending legal action in the U.S. District Court for Connecticut, the Norwich Bulletin reported.

Merberg is representing Harold Spector, Capehart's former plant manager, who left the firm shortly after tapping equipment allegedly was found on his company phone Feb. 10, the newspaper said.

The firm's former maintenance chief signed a sworn statement for the newspaper saying four maintenance workers found the tap on Spector's phone while cleaning up the factory, the Bulletin said.

The FBI has seized the tapping equipment and is investigating the alleged wiretapping, the Bulletin reported, adding Merberg said he believes the matter had been turned over to the U.S. Attorney's office.

Federal law provides for the recovery of damages for the victim of an illegal wiretap, Merberg said.

Manchesterites receive letter from Fords

A Manchester couple mailed a letter to Gerald Ford on Jan. 20, the day he turned the presidency over to Jimmy Carter. And, to the surprise of Joseph and Diane Plompen, of 68 Green Manor Rd., the former president wrote back. "We had supported him and voted for him," Mrs. Plompen said. "I thought it would be nice to remember him on Inauguration Day."

"I said that, as a family, we felt he did a good job when the nation needed it," she said.

She also enclosed a copy of an editorial praising Ford that appeared in the Jan. 20 issue of The Herald. Mrs. Plompen said she did not know where to send the letter, so she just addressed the envelope, President and Mrs. Gerald Ford, Palm Springs, Cal.

"I didn't really expect to get an answer. I thought some postal clerk would just throw the letter away," she said. But a reply did arrive at the Plompen residence. "Betty and I are deeply grateful for your thoughtful message," the letter read. "We treasure the friendship of our fellow Americans, and our hearts are warmed by your kind words and good wishes."

Mrs. Plompen said that the envelope had a seal on the back and had Ford's signature in the right corner where the stamp would normally be.

Wilting snow fort

A snow fort stands valiantly against the penetrating rays of a warm spring sun in 40-degree temperatures on a dry lawn at 82 Chestnut St. Hopefully, it will be the last of its kind for this time of year. It was constructed by Mark Loshuk, Scott Mumley and Jim Mumley. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Drug price discrepancy noted

HARTFORD (UPI) — Patients in a New Haven area nursing home have been paying from 40 to 50.3 per cent higher prices for prescription drugs than those sold over the pharmacy counter, the Hartford Courant reported. The newspaper quoted a source close to an investigation of the Connecticut Pharmaceutical Association as saying the group believed overpricing is common statewide.

Cafeteria plans dropped from Bentley project

The building and sites committee of the Manchester Board of Education decided to proceed with a modified plan for the Bentley School project, which will not include the construction of a cafeteria. The board started working on final plans for the Washington School construction project. Both projects were approved by the voters in November 1975 for a total cost of $2.3 million. Both are expected to be approved for about 50 per cent state funding by the General Assembly sometime this spring. The building and sites committee Monday night agreed to redo the educational specifications for Bentley based on projections of one class per grade. The new plan will stress renovations of the oldest section of the building built in the late 1890s. Minimal work only may be done in the newer wing, built about 50 years ago. The plans for a cafeteria to be added to the school were deleted altogether. The new plans are consistent with the requests by Bentley parents who were present at Monday night's meeting. The parents' revised priority list included updating the classrooms and toilets and refurbishing floors and windows and other areas. They said they have "conceded on the cafeteria." Principal Douglas Townsend said Monday he would like to have all the project, but that the statistics regarding projected enrollment declines are "hard to refute." Townsend will work with the board and the architects, Mankey Associates, on revising the educational specifications. Alan Wiedie of Mankey Associates said the architects see the project as a different one now and asked the committee how to proceed. The committee said the board could pay for about four hours of architectural consulting work. School Supt. James P. Kennedy gave further indications that the student population in the Bentley area will be decreasing. He said a classroom a year may become available at Bentley, starting with the 1978-79 school year and continuing for as long as seven years. Preliminary kindergarten registration figures also show a marked decrease in student population in the Bentley school district, Kennedy said. The kindergarten enrollment in October 1976 at Bentley was 43 and projected registration for next fall is about 30. The overall kindergarten registration is at about 500 now, down from 632 actual enrollment last October.

Manchester police report

Police reported only two storm-related auto accidents on Tuesday which resulted in minor injuries. A collision of two vehicles at the intersection of Scott and Montclair Drs. Tuesday about 3 p.m. resulted in injuries for John D. Senger, 40, of 40 Montclair. He received a hip laceration and a knee abrasion when the car he was driving collided with a pickup truck driven by Jimmy A. Martin, 38, of Vernon. Martin and a passenger were not injured. Senger was treated and released from the Manchester Memorial Hospital. Senger's car was heavily damaged and both vehicles were towed from the scene. Senger received a summons for making an improper turn. Police said he was turning left onto Montclair Dr. He told police his vision was impaired from the heavy rain. Rosalie W. Fournier, 26, of Rockville was injured as she was clearing the windshield of her car parked on Harrison St. Police said a car driven by Thotani J. Mozzer III, 26, of Rockville, struck the front door of the Fournier vehicle, pinning the woman lacerations, was treated and released from Manchester Memorial Hospital.

State employers may face penalties

HARTFORD (UPI) — Connecticut employers face penalty taxes totaling $117 million over the next three years unless they demonstrate a "good faith" attempt to reduce the $300 million unemployment debt they owe the federal treasury. The penalty taxes may be imposed even though the House Monday accepted an amendment by Rep. William Cotter, D-Conn., intended to avoid the penalty, the Hartford Courant reported today from its Washington bureau. Cotter's amendment would defer penalties against any of the 23 states which have borrowed a total of $3.5 billion from the treasury because their unemployment funds went broke under the strain of high unemployment. Cotter, however, said Labor Department officials have told him the law permitting state's to take interest-free federal loans does not apply to states which fail to make a "good faith" attempt to reduce their workmen's compensation funds dependence on federal loans. If no loopholes or new devices are found, Connecticut would be forced either to repay some of the funds or start imposing the penalty tax on employers beginning Jan. 1, 1978. The Courant said the tax would total $26 million in 1978, $39 million the next year and $52 million in 1980. After that, the Courant quoted a Cotter aide as saying, increased penalties might go into effect, although the exact amount was not immediately available.

Nursing homes

HARTFORD (UPI) — New state rates for nursing homes due out next week has the industry predicting financial chaos. Homeowners said Tuesday they fear the new rates will not be high enough to cover existing losses or meet current expenses, which are rapidly rising because of inflation and increased staff salaries. Industry sources say some homes are defaulting on their mortgages and forcing banks or other lenders to take over the facilities. death of a Durham man whose body was found near his car alongside Interstate 91 near Exit 8. Police said they did not know whether the death of Willard C. Reed Jr., 29, was a homicide or a suicide.

Students to attend model U.N. meet

Manchester students under the direction of Elgin Zatursky, Manchester High School teacher, will participate in the 28th Model U.N. sponsored by the World Affairs Center of Greater Hartford Saturday, April 2, at the American School for the Deaf in West Hartford. They will join more than 200 students from 18 public and private secondary schools in debating some of the issues confronting the United Nations this year. Registration will begin at 8:15 a.m. with the program opening at 8:45 a.m. and ending 4 p.m. It is open to the public without charge. To prepare for this daylong debate, students visited the U.N. in February and spent a full day visiting the foreign missions of the countries each will represent. At each mission they learned how that particular country would react to certain world issues which the students will debate. The issues selected for debate this year include: Committee I — Terrorism is the subject and it will be chaired by Dana Downing, and assisted by Ken Valyo, both of Avon Old Farms; Committee II — Transnational Corporations, chaired by Mike Reiner, Kingswood-Oxford and David Salvin, William Hall High School; Committee III — Population, chairman is Bob Martino assisted by John Wheeler, both of Avon Old Farms School. The students have submitted resolutions on each of these topics to discuss in the morning. In the afternoon the student delegations representing some 50 countries come together as the General Assembly and submit the committee resolutions for the approval of the entire group. Special guest, serving as secretary-general of the Model U.N. is the Honorable Gunter Schutze, counselor, press affairs of the Federal Republic of Germany. Dr. Schutze will give a critical analysis of the day's proceedings.

Hanson wins Walsh Award

Daniel W. Hanson of 180 Center St. was awarded the Dad Walsh Award recently by the Manchester Lodge of Masons.

This award is given in memory of William A. Walsh, the first "Dad" of John Mather Chapter, Order of DeMolay. Walsh served for 14 years in that capacity.

The award is presented to the most outstanding, dedicated member of John Mather Chapter in a given year. Hanson has been a member of John Mather Chapter since 1970. During that time, he has held all but six of the chapter's 21 offices including its highest elected office of Master Counselor. Hanson is currently serving as scribe.

He served as a state officer in the group for one year. He also received the Representative DeMolay award.

The Community Renewal Team of Greater Hartford, Inc. (CRT) is again asking the Town of Manchester for a donation to help defray operating expenses.

A similar request for CRT was rejected last year by the Town Board of Directors.

The letter from CRT to Town Manager Robert B. Weiss suggested a $5,000 contribution from the town.

Plan would cut down 200 agencies to 19

HARTFORD (UPI) — The more than 200 state agencies would be consolidated into 19 departments under the discussion draft of reorganization legislation drawn up by a legislative committee.

The plan, put forward Tuesday by the Government Administration and Policy Committee, is for discussion purposes only and will be the subject of hearings in the coming weeks.

The proposal is generally similar to one recommended by a committee appointed by Gov. Ella T. Grasso. That panel, headed by Aetna Life & Casualty President John Flier, recommended the bureaucracy be consolidated into 17 departments.

Troubles beset committee probing assassinations

By DANIEL F. GILMORE
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The other day a member of the House Assassination Committee asked Chief Counsel Richard Sprague if he really thought the panel could get out of the "Keystone Kops" kick. He wanted to know when it could get down to serious investigation of the murders of John F. Kennedy and Martin Luther King Jr.

"Will the information be new and not a rehash?" asked committee member Samuel Devine, R-Ohio, a former FBI agent.

Sprague, whose own tenure on the five-month-old panel has had a dash of slapstick, replied to carefully hedged and measured words.

"The sum total of evidence in each case would be in the nature of evidence indicating that others may have had knowledge or participated in arranging for the assassinations of Dr. King and Kennedy."

He explained that this was all corroborated, and because of various troubles, the staff had been "unable to do what I consider a thorough check." He couldn't come up with "a smoking gun," he said, before March 31, when the committee will go out of existence unless its life is extended by the House.

Mystery witness
The next big event highlighted a "mystery witness," whose identity was carefully guarded until he strode into the crowded chamber and under his hot television lights.

"Who's that?" people asked.

Meeting unsuccessful

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Ella T. Grasso, legislative leaders and officials of the Connecticut Education Association Tuesday without success met to try to find a common ground on how to avert teachers' strikes.

The meeting was requested by CEA in hopes of trying to convince state officials of the need for legislation to set up compulsory binding arbitration in contract disputes for public school teachers.

"There was no crystallization of positions," said Senate Majority Leader Joseph Lieberman, D-New Haven.

Sen. Richard Schneller, D- Essex, chairman of the Education Committee, said after the meeting he didn't think binding arbitration could win his panel's approval.

"I think it would be questionable," he said.

But Thomas Mondani, a spokesman for the teacher's group, and Lieberman said talks would continue between the two sides in hopes that some changes might be made in the law.

Recently teachers strikes in Greenwich and Waterbury brought the emotional issue back to the public's attention.

Among the potential compromises was some change in the statute that gives local town boards 30 days to reject a settlement between the teachers and board of education.

Rep. Abraham Glassman, D-South Windsor, House chairman of the Education Committee, and Mondani disagreed about the need for change.

Moriarty's remodeled

Moriarty Bros. has undergone its first face lifting of the familiar structure which was built in 1946 on the corner of Center and Broad Sts. The renovations were recently completed by Andrew Ansaldo Construction Co. of Manchester. The project included the addition of a spray booth for painting motor vehicles and a frame straightener booth at the rear of the shop.

The project involved stripping the old off-white porcelain panels from the building, raising and lowering portions of the facade and adding veneers of brick and crushed stone. Bronze solar glass windows have also been added as well as other cosmetic changes.

The last major structural change made by Moriarty Bros. was in 1964. It was a $70,000 body shop and automobile reconditioning plant on Broad St. across from the present plant.

The combination service station and auto sales dealership will be adding on to its sales showroom this spring, according to Maurice Moriarty, treasurer of the company.

Weiss to be honored April 24 by Charter Oak B'nai B'rith

Manchester Charter Oak Lodge, B'nai B'rith, will honor Town Manager Robert B. Weiss April 24 at a banquet meeting at The Colony in Talcoville. Proceeds from the breakfast will be donated to the Manchester Brotherhood in Action project for 1977.

The breakfast is sponsored by B'nai B'rith with the cooperation of Campbell Council of the Knights of Columbus, Manchester Lodge and Friendship Lodge of Masons. The four organizations make up Brotherhood in Action.

Chairman of the event is Gerald Okrant. Norman Fendell is chairman for the 1977 project.

Tickets are available at Garman's Men's Shop on Main St. and at Reed's Stationers at the Manchester Parkade.

The public is invited.

Weiss has been Manchester's town manager since 1966 where he came from Windsor after serving as its town manager for 13 years.

He began his management career about 28 years ago as one of the youngest managers in the country when he became the first town manager of South Berwick, Maine.

His professional career started as an intern with the city manager of Dover, N.H., followed by becoming assistant city manager of Keene, N.H.

Cited for "outstanding service to the profession," Weiss was the recent recipient of the Bosworth Memorial Award of the Connecticut Chapter of the American Society for Public Administration.

As an instructor, Weiss taught government at the University of Connecticut, University of Hartford

Ford Foundation report urges halt in nuclear research

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Plans to extract plutonium from spent nuclear fuel and build a plutonium breeder reactor must be dropped by the United States if it hopes to curb nuclear proliferation, according to a Ford Foundation report.

Unless the United States takes the lead, other nations are not likely to head U.S. plans to halt the spread of processes which terrorists or non-nuclear nations could use to produce atomic weapons, the report said.

Nuclear power is more economical and more environmentally safe than burning coal, the report said. It called for increasing reliance on conventional atomic reactors as an energy source through the end of this century.

But it said the proliferation threats posed by atomic fuel recycling and the breeder reactor outweigh potential benefits. Plans to recycle fuel should be suspended indefinitely and a controversial, costly breeder reactor construction program at Oak Ridge, Tenn., should be halted, it urged.

Manchesterites named chairpersons of Connecticut Partners of Americas

Two Manchester residents have been appointed committee chairpersons to serve for the next year with the Connecticut Partners of Americas (CPA).

Diane McHutchinson will serve as head of the culture committee, and Reginald Pinto will chair the committee on communications.

They will serve under John Dwyer of New Haven who was elected the organization's president recently.

Dwyer, a doctoral candidate at Yale University, function between different states in the United States and Latin America with Connecticut being paired off with Paraíba, a state in the northeastern section of Brazil.

During its 10-year relationship with the Connecticut and Paraíba have maintained an ongoing exchange of professional volunteers in the areas of the arts, agriculture, education, medicine and other fields.

Earlier this year, Connecticut was visited by two musicians, Gerardo Parente, pianist, and Wasyli Samoos, oboist, who performed for audiences in Manchester in addition to other towns.

Wives less likely to quit

STORRS (UPI) — Even after their spouses know about it, wives are three times as likely as their husbands to continue an extra-marital sexual affair, according to a University of Connecticut family relations expert.

Frederick G. Humphrey says a survey of more than 100 marriage counselors in 27 states and Canada also shows problems involving adultery account for almost half of their cases.

The average couple seeking help for problems of adultery are in their middle thirties, are of middle class income, have been married for 13 years and have at least one child, Humphrey said.

In almost half the cases the affair had been in progress for more than six months before help was sought, he said. About 22 per cent of the women seeking help said they kept their affairs going after their husbands found out, compared to only 8 per cent of the men, according to the study.

Hoop reunion April 23

Reunions of any type usually generate a lot of interest and one that's coming up on Saturday night, April 23 at Willie's perfectly fits into that mold.

It will be a gathering of young men and their wives who played with Manchester amateur basketball teams in the late 1930s.

Yost Vincek, better known for his exploits on the football field with Manchester's top teams following World War II, is the man behind the hoop reunion.

"It's not something that was dreamed up overnight. A committee of 15 has been meeting for several months and a night to remember is planned.

"Vincek reports since the idea was first publicized the committee has heard from a number of players from distant points, like Leo Katkaveck in North Carolina.

The latter, who led Manchester Trade (now Cheney Tech) to its only CIAC Basketball Tournament championship, also holds the distinction of being the only native to play major league basketball. Katkaveck, after a star-studded career at North Carolina State hooked on with the Washington Capitols in the Basketball Association of America (BAA), the forerunner of the NBA.

Before reaching stardom, Katkaveck, who will be here for the reunion, and Vincek were teammates on the North End Tigers. The team won 41 straight games in capturing the Y League and town junior championship.

The Tigers are one of a dozen teams that will be represented.

Vincek reports so much interest has generated that the committee has expanded and the exchange of ideas for the night would fill a book.

There will be 101 stories told and retold one month from tonight but after all, that's what reunions are all about.

Vacationer returns

Well tanned after a two-week Florida vacation, Jeff Koelsch reports all's well in the spring training camps of the major league teams in the Grapefruit League. He was accompanied by Bruno "Luck" Bycholski, Gary McConnell, local pitcher, while vacationing in St. Petersburg, visited Al Lang Field for the opening baseball game this spring and was lucky enough to bring back a ball autographed by Willie Mays, Mickey Mantle, Whitey Ford, Lou Brock and Lindsay Nelson. McConnell met with Koelsch and the latter used his influence to get out onto the playing field...Ginger

End of the line

New England Whalers' managing general partner, Howard Baldwin, has been named executive of the year in the World Hockey Association by the Hockey News. Andre Hedberg of the Winnipeg was named player of the year and Houston's Bill Dineen coach of the year. Mets suffered a broken nose yesterday when struck by a ball that caromed off an iron bar...Manchester Community College baseball team dropped its opening doubleheader in Spartanburg, S.C., to Methodist College, 4-0, 3-2. The locals are on a seven-game exhibition junket.

All home games will again be played at East Catholic High's diamond.

A new program will be started this summer with a junior Legion team. Al Frenheit, Jayvee coach at East Catholic, will handle the squad. Boys who have not reached their 16th birthday by June 15 will be eligible.

Banning to assist Holik with Legion

Baseball plans for the Manchester American Legion team have been announced by Bob Donahue, post chairman.

Jack Holik will return as head coach with Joe Banning his assistant. The latter was the most valuable player with the 1974 local team which won the zone title.

Los Angeles writers honor Rick Monday

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Baseball writers of the Los Angeles-Anaheim chapter usually give their Civic Award to a businessman who has done something for the sport, but this year it goes to a player, Rick Monday.

Monday will be honored at the annual BBWA dinner at the Bonaventure Hotel April 3 for rescuing an American flag two men were about to burn on the field at Dodger Stadium April 25 of last year in some kind of a vague protest.

Monday, playing center-field for the Chicago Cubs at the time, grabbed the flag which had been doused with lighter fluid and ran to the dugout area with it as the crowd roared.

During the winter, the Dodgers traded for Monday and the club's general manager, Al Campanis, presented him with the flag.

Fans have also sent him flags, Monday reported in a recent interview at the

'The Bird', 'The Count', like reading about feats

NEW YORK (UPI) — The American League has its Mark "The Bird" Fidrych and the National League has its John "The Count" Montefusco.

Both are modern-day legends who admit they're having the time of their lives playing major league baseball...prefer reading the sports page over the financial page...and enjoy seeing their names in print even if it means saying outrageous things.

The saving grace for both is that they're still young pitchers who haven't lost track of the fact that baseball is supposed to be fun for the players and the fans.

Montefusco knew center stage was his for asking Tuesday when he pitched four hitless innings in the San Francisco Giants' 7-5 victory over the Chicago Cubs and didn't miss his cue.

"Put me down for 25 this year," he said reporters after the game. "There isn't any team in the league I can't beat. For that matter, I'll win at least one game against every team in the league. I could be both the league's most valuable player and the Cy Young Award winner."

Lee bombed

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (UPI) — Boston Red Sox manager Don Zimmer is beginning to think he may have an all right handed pitching rotation this year, as Bill Lee's pitching problems continue to be a mystery.

Lee was bombed for four runs in the fourth-inning of an exhibition game in Lakeland against the Detroit Tigers Tuesday, and the Red Sox went on to lose to the Tigers, 6-3.

Zimmer says for Lee to be effective, he has to have his strike working and get batters to hit the ball on the ground. In five innings Tuesday, only four ground balls were hit off of Lee.

The Tigers sent ten men to the plate in the fourth, and Aurelio Rodriguez and Tom Verzyer homered.

Sullivan signs

CHICAGO (UPI) — Pat Sullivan, released by the Washington Redskins before the start of the regular season last year, was signed by the Chicago Bears Tuesday as the club's third quarterback.

Record crowd sees Chicago win 13th of last 14 starts

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tuesday night Chicago rolled to its 13th National Basketball Association win in their last 14 games with a 102-86 victory over the Pacific Division-leading Los Angeles Lakers before 21,046 fans, the largest crowd in the Bulls' history.

The Bulls' five starters all scored in double figures with Willis Holland leading the way with 24 points. But it was the strong play of Artis Gilmore that made the difference.

Gilmore, the club's leading scorer, had 19 points. But, more importantly, the 7-foot-2 center drew three fouls on Kareem Abdul-Jabbar in the first quarter and knocked him out of the game until the second half.

It is questionable whether the Bulls will make it to the playoffs. They're 1 1/2 games behind Milwaukee Division rival Kansas City.

Hawks 86, Braves 84

Len Robinson's jumper at the buzzer capped a career-high, 34-point performance as the Hawks snipped a four-game losing streak.

Smith had 26 points for Buffalo, which has now dropped four straight.

Knicks 125, Bucks 115

Bob McAdoo scored 29 points and Earl Monroe 27 to pace New York.

Milwaukee, led by Bob Dandridge with 22 points.

Brock's goal 3,000 base hits, not all-time theft standard

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — This hasn't been one of the better springs for St. Louis Cardinals. It hasn't been good at all. Every time you look up, they're being kicked around by some other club, and the other afternoon after they were beaten again, it obviously was a little too much for this particular elderly gentleman in the stands.

"Get those baby-faces off the field!" shouted the old gent, 75 if he was a day. Some of the Cardinal players heard him and laughed. The older ones did. The younger ones, of which the Cardinals have many, kept straight faces.

Among those who got a kick out of what the old fellow in the stands had to say was Lou Brock, the Cardinals' oldest playing member at 37, but still so far ahead of all the kids that most of them have no chance of ever catching him.

Brock has 2,701 hits, third highest among all active major league players, and 865 stolen bases, more than anyone else in National League history.

"I'm gonna play until I get those 3,000 hits, and if I'm still making some contribution, I'll continue," says Brock, starting his 16th major league season. "I honestly don't feel old at 37. The only difference I can see in myself is that I can't get down to first base in 3.4 seconds like I used to. Now it's 3.9 and 4 flat. That means I'm running with the crowd. If 3.9 and 4 flat is old, then you got guys of 22 who are old."

"Follows like Satchel Paige and Hoyt Wilhelm blazed the trail for playing so long. Look at what age they were when they quit. Willie Mays played until he was in his 40s. So did Stan Musial, Hank Aaron and Ty Cobb. I'm 37 now. Let's see, 37 from 42

Pistons' Barnes goes AWOL again

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Pistons once again are awaiting the return of Marvin Barnes, their talented but troubled forward.

The 6-foot-9 Barnes, acquired in the American Basketball Association dispersal draft for $500,000, failed to show up Tuesday at a team practice after being given permission to stay an extra day in Denver after Detroit's loss to the Nuggets on Sunday.

"He's supposed to be here and I'm disappointed that he's not," said Herb Brown, the National Basketball Association team's coach.

"He had a day off yesterday, we let him attend to some of his personal business in Denver. I have no idea where he is today (Tuesday). All I know is that Marvin has an idea that he can outshine me and he was supposed to be here."

A team spokesman today said it was expected that Barnes, who faces a one-year jail sentence at the conclusion of the season, would be with the team tonight when it hosts New Orleans.

Barnes was to begin serving the jail term May 16 for parole violation. He had been arrested at Detroit's Metropolitan Airport in October and convicted of carrying a concealed weapon. At the time, he was on parole for a 1974 assault of a Providence College teammate.

Earlier this week Barnes said he would rather go to jail than play in the playoffs for Detroit. However, General Manager Oscar Feldman said Barnes was obligated by his contract to playing in any post-season game.

The Pistons also received another dose of bad news Tuesday. Star center Bob Lanier is not recovering as quickly as he had hoped from his broken right wrist. The stitches came out Tuesday but doctors said it would be 16 or 17 days before the 6-foot-10 Lanier could play.

Flyers' edge cut to three points

NEW YORK (UPI) — Just recently, Coach Freddie Shero was quoted as saying he preferred his Philadelphia Flyers to be involved in a battle for the NHL's Patrick Division title rather than having their usual runway.

And he's getting just what he's been asking for.

Tuesday night the Patrick race narrowed even more as the New York Islanders blasted the Colorado Rockies, 8-2, and Shero's club needed a last-gasp goal from Reggie Lach to pull out a 4-4 tie over the Vancouver Canucks. The Flyers' margin over the Islanders is down to three points, with six games left for each club including a March 29 meeting in Philadelphia.

Lach's goal, coming with only 18 seconds to play and on Bobby Clarke's third assist of the game, once earned a tie but Shero said under the circumstances that was good enough.

"We didn't play very well, at least in the first two periods," said Shero. "We couldn't, because we have so many injuries... We decided to go all-out in the third period no matter what the score was when we talked about it before the game and that's the way it worked."

The Islanders, meanwhile, won their fifth game in as many meetings from the Rockies this season with a five-goal, first-period barrage.

"It's funny, but we seem to be much more loose on the ice than we were a month ago," commented center-turned-left wing Bob Bourne, who scored twice in the first period. "I think confidence has to be a prime factor," agreed defenseman Denis Potvin, who chipped in with two goals and three assists.

Elsewhere in the NHL, Buffalo topped Atlanta, 6-3, Pittsburgh dumped Minnesota and St. Louis dumped Los Angeles, both by 4-2 scores.

In the World Hockey Association, Indianapolis beat Cincinnati, 4-1, Quebec dropped Houston, 6-2, Birmingham ousted Calgary, 7-4, and Winnipeg routed Edmonton, 9-3.

win in the last five games. Minnesota fell to fourth in the Smythe Division, one point behind Chicago and Vancouver.

Blues 4, Kings 2

Bob MacMillan's goal midway through the third period proved to be the game-winner as St. Louis ended a five-game winless streak and took a 10-point lead in the Smythe Division.

NHLA

Brian McDonald, Blair McDonald and Francois Rochon scored second period goals in the Racers' triumph over the Slingers... WHA scoring leader Real Cloutier scored twice and assisted on two other goals in the Nordiques' win over the Aeros in a battle of division leaders... Mark Napier and Dave Gorman tallied two goals apiece in the Bulls' victory over the Coboyos... and the Jets' top line of Anders Hedberg, Ulf Nilsson and Bobby Hull scored three goals on its first three shifts against the Oilers and accounted for five goals in all.

Record seasons

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI) — New Hampshire's two state-owned ski areas, proposed for sale by Gov. Meldrum Thomson, reported record earnings this winter.

The commissioner of the Department of Resources and Economic Development, George Gilman, said Tuesday New Hampshire will receive more than $1.5 million from Mt. Sunapee and Cannon Mountain. The revenue is $300,000 more than was predicted.

Mets prepared again to live with pitching

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — The New York Mets, as evidenced by their refusal to enter the free agent bidding battles this past winter, are once again prepared to live or die by their pitching staff.

Both Tom Seaver, the Mets' ace right-hander, and Jon Matlack, their talented young southpaw and No. 2 starter, were critical of the front office for its failure to come up with some pitching to bolster an anemic 1.24 last year's hitting attack over the winter.

But Manager Joe Frazier is hopeful that some of the missing punch will be delivered by a trio of youngsters already penciled in the Mets' starting lineup — third baseman Roy Staiger, center fielder Lee Mazzilli and catcher John Stearns.

"If Staiger, Stearns and Mazzilli materialize as the hitters we think they can be, we'll be a lot better off than last year," says Frazier. "We're a little two months club and if we can keep it close, we can win it with our pitching."

Indeed, the Mets' pitching with Seaver (14-11, 2.95 ERA), Matlack (17-10, 2.95 ERA) and Jerry Koosman (21-10, 2.70 ERA) should be enough to keep them respectable. And in rookie Jackie Todd (13-9, 2.31 ERA) and Tidewater ace Fred Bevelyn (10-10, 2.62 ERA), the Mets have two bountiful long-ball threats, unless, that is, Mike Valt comes all the way back from the broken foot which sidelined him most of 1976.

More ominous, however, is the aging middle defense of the infield where Felix Millan (34) and injury prone Bud Harrison (53) can no longer be expected to carry the everyday second base-shortstop load. A Bobby Grich, Joe Rudi

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I just slapped my son and realized it was because he looks like his father. I am trapped in a miserable out-of-control situation with my son. I married more friends told me not to marry him, but I wouldn't listen. When we were going together, he'd borrow money from me and "forget" to pay it back. Now all the money is "his" and I have to watch him spend it. My second lady was 3 and my third was on the way before I got a washing machine. (And then it was his mother's old one.) He used to visit my arm, now he hits me regularly. He tells me what to do, what to say and even what to wear. I wish I had listened, but it's too late now.

SORRY
DEAR SORRY: It may be too late for you, but it's not too late for girls presently involved with fellows who fit your husband's description. A tip to girls "in love" with a man who everyone thinks is him. And a third. Listen and take a good long second look at him. And a third. And then a fourth. (P.S. You didn't ask for an advice, but if you're interested in getting your head together, you're tired of being a punching bag and have had it with accidental pregnancies, write back. Have I got a letter for you!)

DEAR ABBY: Our granddaughter just completed her nursery school term at St. Edmunds Episcopal Church. I hope you will give a copy of some words of wisdom. I hope you will be worthy of printing in your column.

MRS. S. SAN MARINO, CALIF.

DEAR MRS. S: I do. And I shall pass it on to my readers.

Helping to set up a clothing bank at Center Congregational Church, Peter Marte, left, gives Chuck Costello a hand in moving a box as Debbie Soloway sorts clothes. They are three of the many Iling Junior High School students who collected enough good used clothing to start the bank. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Iling students set up free clothing bank

The first free Clothing Bank for Manchester families in need has been established through the efforts of Iling Junior High School students. The students have collected, sorted and boxed more than 4,000 pieces of good used clothing including coats, jackets, sweaters, shirts, pants, dresses, shoes and mittens. A small supply of blankets has also been made available.

This is the second time within two years that Manchester young people have collected a vast amount of items for local families in need. In March 1975, the Manchester Community College Collegiate Civitan Club along with the Manchester Area Conference of Churches collected enough non-perishable food to establish the Emergency Pantry, which is located at Center Congregational Church.

The congregation of Center Church has made it possible to locate the Clothing Bank next to the Emergency Pantry on the second floor of the church. Those going to the bank or Emergency Pantry are asked to use the side door facing Lincoln Center.

Students from Iling have sorted all the clothing into approximate sizes and categories, "a king-sized tank, Mrs. Nancy Carr, executive director of the Manchester Area Conference of Churches, said.

Friday, Gov. Ella Grasso

presented the school the Governor's Youth Action Award for its community service project in assisting the elderly and those in need. Accepting the award were Tom Russo, faculty advisor, and Sue Katz and Cindy Tinney, students.

Most of the clothing the students collected is being stored at Concordia Lutheran Church and will be transferred to Center Church as supplies need replenishing.

Mrs. Irene Goss and Mrs. Kitty Cataldo, coordinators of the Emergency Pantry, are overseeing the Clothing Bank. The bank and pantry are open Mondays from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. and Wednesdays and Fridays from 1 to 4 p.m.

Beheading the courier

By ARNOLD SAWISLAK
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Kings of old sometimes would chop off the head of a courier who brought news of a lost battle. Some of the comments about recent hostage-taking incidents in this country seem to be animated by the same logic.

Recently, 11 Hanafi Moslems with a series of grievances seized three buildings in Washington, killing one man, injuring several others and holding more than 100 persons hostage for 39 hours before giving up.

Heavy coverage

There was heavy news coverage of the incident. There was some misinformation broadcast and printed, but most of the coverage was accurate and in some cases, reporters suppressed information that authorities felt would endanger the hostages.

When it was over, some suggested that the media gave too much attention to the episode and in doing so encouraged potential extremists to commit similar acts.

One who expressed this view was Andrew Young, the former civil rights activist and congressman who now is U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Create phenomena

Young called for self-restraint by the media, saying, "I think we create a lot of these phenomena for ourselves, for we have so glorified and publicized events. In a sense we're advertising to neurotic people that when you want a lot of attention, do something suicidal and ridiculous."

He also said, "The First Amendment has got to be clarified by the Supreme Court in the light of the power of the mass media. I don't know if it protects the right of people literally to destroy things we believe in."

Care is needed

Most people in news work would agree that the press should be very careful in covering such stories as the Hanafi siege. Few would agree, however, that the media should refrain from reporting such incidents and most would be extremely skeptical of Young's suggestion for "clarification" of the First Amendment.

That sounds like censorship and Andy Young, in suggesting anything that smacks of it seems to forget from whence he came.

Young forgets

There was so much bloodshed and so little progress in the early days of the civil rights movement that a reasonable person might be led to regard the Greensboro, N.C., lunch counter sit-ins, the Freedom Rides and the March on Selma "suicidal and ridiculous" and those who took part in them as "neurotic" or worse.

Young might also recall that newspaper, television and radio news coverage of those protests frequently was blamed for inciting violence. State and local officials and community leaders repeatedly claimed that blacks would not be protesting if the media would ignore them.

A difference

There is, of course, a difference. Young and those who struggled for equality in the civil rights movement did not shoot and cut up innocent people and threaten the lives of hostages in their protests.

But the effort to scare the press away from covering civil rights protests was put in the same terms as his own complaint about the media attention given to the Hanafi siege and other acts of terrorism.

It would be interesting to know how the civil rights

High court overturns sentence

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court Tuesday overturned the death sentence imposed on a Florida man partly on the basis of a confidential report which he had no opportunity to deny or explain.

The justices split several ways in considering the case. But the upshot is that new proceedings at the trial level must be held for Daniel Wilbur Gardner, who was convicted of the 1974 beating death of his wife in Citrus County.

In another case, the court also ruled 6 to 3 that a federal court acted improperly when it struck down a New York law which can be used to send a debtor to jail without a court hearing.

Justice John Paul Stevens, writing for three members of the court, rejected Florida's contention that confidentiality is necessary for obtaining sensitive disclosures about a defendant's background and that the trial judge can be trusted to exercise his sentencing discretion responsibly.

In any event, Stevens said, the report must be made part of the record to be reviewed on appeal. In the Gardner case the state supreme court, which affirmed the conviction and sentence, had a less complete record than the trial judge.

Stevens noted that five Supreme Court justices now have expressly recognized that death differs sharply from any other kind of punishment imposed in this country.

"It is of vital importance to the defendant and to the community that any decision to impose the death sentence be, and appear to be, based on reason rather than caprice or emotion," he said.

He said the sentencing process as well as the trial itself must satisfy constitutional requirements.

Chief Justice Warren Burger and Justice Byron White and Harry Blackmun concurred in the disposition of the case, with White and Blackmun writing separate statements.

Justices William Brennan and Thurgood Marshall reiterated their well-known position that capital punishment is unconstitutional in all circumstances. But Marshall loosed a blast not only at the Florida proceedings but at his own colleagues for not acting more positively against the state.

Senior's show — April 1-3

Here comes the Showboat

By BETTY RYDER Family/Travel Editor

When the lights are dimmed, the overture begins, and the curtains glide open, the Manchester Senior Citizens Center Variety Showboat will start its entertaining journey across the stage at East Hartford High School.

The show, which will be presented Friday, Saturday and Sunday, April 1-3, under the direction of Roger and Marci Negro of Manchester, will feature all the hand-clapping, foot-stamping, melodious music ever to be heard at "Dockside—Rivertown, U.S.A."

Members of the Senior Citizens will dance and sing in colorful costumes designed by Ruth McElreavy and stitched with loving care by other seniors.

While the seniors have presented variety shows in the past, this is the first time they are attempting a production with continuity.

The Negroes, former members of now defunct Manchester Community Players, have lent their theatrical talents, along with other Manchester residents, to all four of the previous productions.

"After last year's show, we were trying to decide what we'd do this year. Someone said, 'Let's try Showboat!' and that was the beginning," Roger said.

"The show is the second biggest fundraiser for the seniors, and proceeds help supplement the five-day-a-week food program at the center," Marci said.

"We're really excited about this one. The music and scenery are great, and our talented carpenters, Howard Miller and Joe DuPont constructed a fabulous paddle wheel," she said.

Brian McDonald is the choreographer and the Negroes say he really has the seniors going through their paces.

"Everyone has worked very hard and we are confident this will be our best production yet," Roger said.

Karen Krinjak, hand director at Manchester High School, is the musical director.

Old favorites such as "My Old Kentucky Home," "Swanee," "Old Man River," and "Here Comes the Showboat," are but a few of the memorable show tunes which will be presented.

Popular Ida Cormier will again direct the Sunshiners; Wally Fortin, center director, will "Tip Toe Through the ???"; and James Brand will offer a peppy banjo rendition of "Robert E. Lee." In all, there are over 40 senior citizens participating. Show time is at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday and 2:30 p.m. on Sunday.

What's next for the talented seniors? It's a little early to say. But the Negroes will undoubtedly put their heads together with their staff and come up with another super production.

As Roger said, "Marci and I really feel this show will be a hard one to follow." Tickets are available at the Senior Citizens Center, 63 Linden St., or from any member of the center.

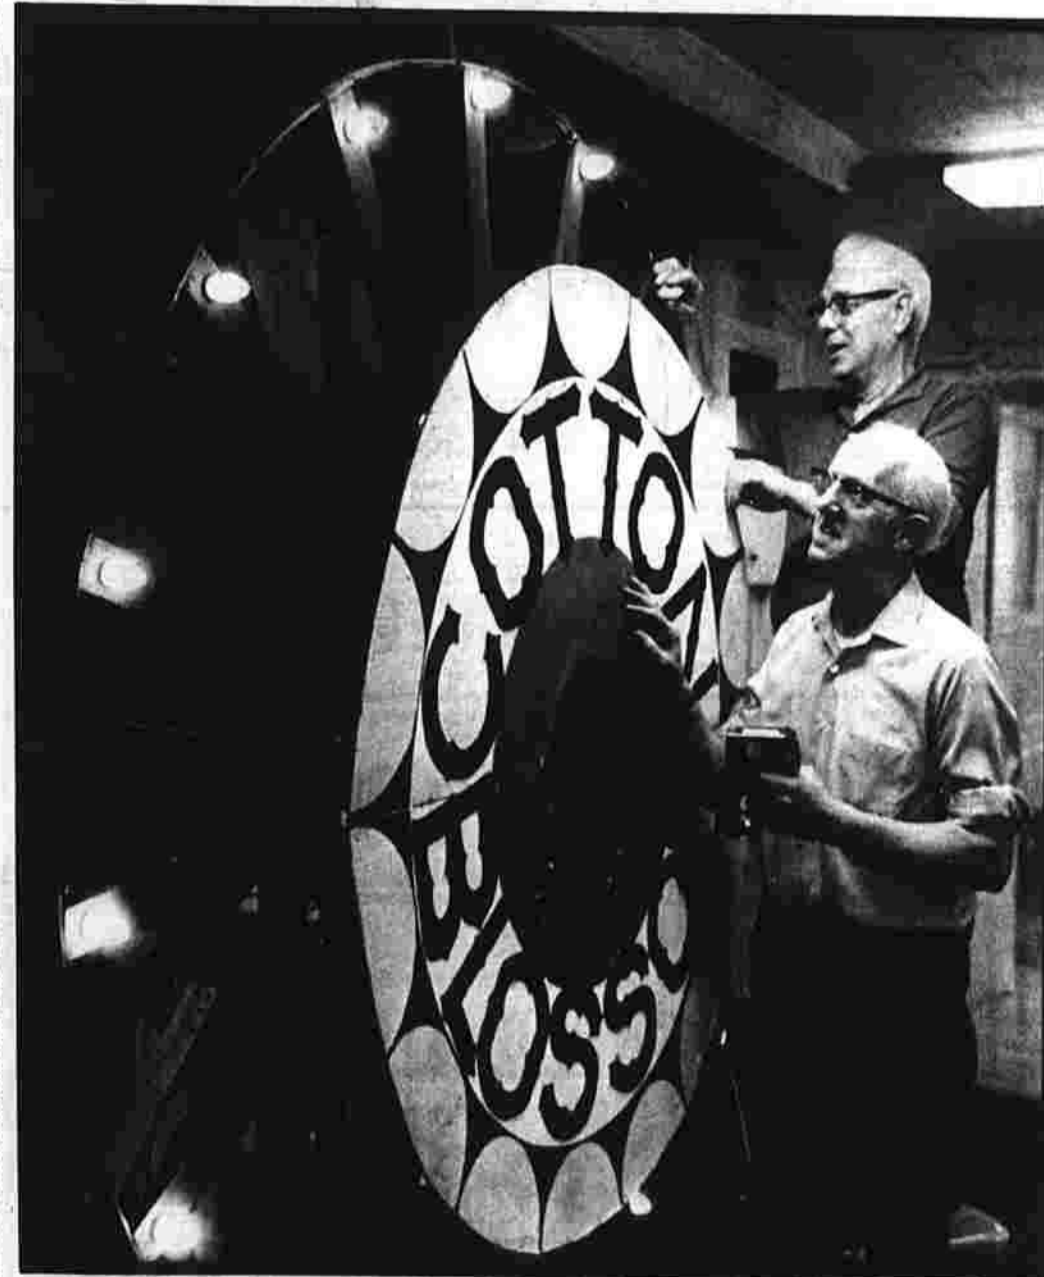

Marci and Roger Negro direct the show.

Dave Hutchinson and Ida Cormier rehearse a tune.

Growing Older

By LOU COTTIN

Children can help keep home intact

When the property tax is prohibitive, protect yourself! A friend in our senior-age group (we'll call him Joe Homemaker) worked a deal that saved his home. He put a solid business proposition to his daughter and his two sons. The three grown children bought the deal. Since so many of us are in the same tax situation as Joe, the project may be worth careful consideration. Joe and Mrs. Joe own a home free and clear. If they can continue to pay their property tax, the house will be passed to their children. But with soaring prices for everything and confiscatory property taxes, this might be impossible. Sound familiar? Read on.

Joe and Sally Homemaker made a decision. Simply expressed, it said: "The hell with the whole idea of a legacy. We brought up these kids. We paid for their much higher we'd be forced to sell. We can't make it on our income. Our property is our only big possession." A worried silence follows this disconcerting discussion. Then Joe came up with an idea. "Why not get our children to pay the property tax? The house may get to be worth $40 grand or more over the years. If we manage to keep the house they'll inherit the bundle."

"Say the house is worth $30,000. We're paying $1500 a year in property tax. Each kid contributes $500 a year. When we die we leave a special clause in the will dividing by three the money received from the sale of the house and its contents."

"That would be tough on Mary," Mrs. H. said. "You know the trouble she's having with Phil laid off. She couldn't lay out the money for her share of the property tax."

He responded thoughtfully. "Let's talk to our lawyer. We could write the will so that the ones who pay in more money toward our tax would inherit larger shares in the house money sale. Shares would be based on the amount they contribute toward the tax. If things get better for Mary, she would equal her tax contribution. Or we could leave her valuables to make up for her difficulties. "It could work," she answers. "If the kids take up the tax part, we'll live better ourselves and there's sure to be some money left over. Let's find out how the kids feel about the idea."

"That'll amount to a simple 'Yes' to us," Joe suggested. "We're selling the house to our own kids and keeping it for ourselves at the same time."

That's the end of the story. The children agreed among themselves and the amount they would each pay toward the property tax. The will was rewritten so that they would have fair shares of the inheritance money produced by the sale of the house. In figures it worked out roughly as follows:

On the assumption that the couple would live for 10 years, $15,000 would be paid the tax men by the children at $500 each per year. If one of the children was in a financial bind, he or she might skip one or more payments. The two others might pick up the slack and get a greater percentage when the house was sold.

The parents could check their total property value (including money or saleable objects) each year. They could alter the will so the less affluent child came out okay. The children who paid the tax would benefit because of the increased value of the house after 10 years.

Saccharin defended

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Several scientists told Congress today the Food and Drug Administration appears to have overreacted with its proposed ban on saccharin by ignoring the fact that the sweetener has been used safely by millions of people for the past 70 years.

"The available data indicate that the risk of humans for developing cancer from saccharin is remote," said Dr. Kurt Leschbacher, a Harvard medical professor.

"The harm, however, which may occur to millions in the absence of a non-nutritive sugar substitute is great," he said.

"In this country, the problem of obesity is far greater than that of malnutrition."

Dr. Robert Squire, a teacher at the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine, also told a House subcommittee cancer is a multi-stage process that requires repeated exposure and "this appears to be the case with saccharin."

He said the law appears to put the FDA in a "Catch-22" situation because the agency was proscripted from considering the health experience with the sweetener and had to act instead on the basis of laboratory studies which showed bladder cancer developing in rats fed the sweetener.

Q. Since truck drivers cover a lot of miles, they must have some thoughts on problems that arise. Could you give me some driving tips on general problems?

A. The American Trucking Association has supplied us with these tips from professional truck drivers:

* Anticipating other driver's moves - A good way to get an idea of what the oncoming driver is about to do is to follow a practice used by professional truck drivers.

* Watch his left front mirror - Like a boxer's feet, this telegraphs the movement of the car.

* Blowout - If a tire should blow out, grip the wheel hard and gradually decrease speed by taking your foot from the accelerator and letting the engine act as a brake. Don't touch the brakes until the car has slowed down to a speed where braking will not cause it to swerve.

* Safety Check - Before driving, carry out a safety check like professional truck drivers: a. Do a "walk around" inspection on your car before each trip. b. Start the engine, check and set the brake, note gas, oil, water and generator gauges.

John W. Vigeant
John W. Vigeant III, agent of the John Hancock's Insurance Company's Manchester office, will be honored at the President's Club Convention at the Fairmont Hotel in New Orleans, today through March 27.

A graduate of Hartford Institute of Accounting, he joined John Hancock in 1973, and since that time has qualified three times for membership in the Company's Honor Club.

He lives at 41 Byron Rd. with his wife, Kathleen, and their two sons, Marc and Michael.

Business

Dividend

Joseph P. Mott, chairman of the Board of Mott's Super Markets, Inc. (ShopRite) announced that the Board of Directors today voted a quarterly cash dividend of 2 cents per share, or an annual rate of 8 cents per share. The initial quarterly cash dividend of 2 cents per share will be paid June 1 to stockholders of record May 9. The company last paid a dividend of 8 cents per share in July 1971.

Mott said the inception of the cash dividend was prompted by the company's excellent financial condition and its strong fourth quarter performance. He also said that the openings in former Grant's locations by Caldwell, J.C. Penney, and K-Mart units next to Mott's SuperRite Stores was providing additional traffic.

In UofC post
M. William Breadheft, associate photographer at the University of Connecticut, has been appointed supervisor of the university's Photographic Laboratory, effective April 1.

Breadheft will be responsible for supervision of the university's photography laboratory, an arm of the Office of Public Information, and will serve as an adviser to students, faculty and staff regarding photographic needs.

He was associated with Fallot Studio and Butterworth Studios, both of Manchester.

Breadheft, his wife, and three children, live in Andover.

Certified

David S. Stimson of 12 Syracuse Dr., East Hartford, has completed the certification requirements of the Golf Course Superintendents Association of America.

Stimson has been superintendent of the Tumble Brook Country Club in Bloomfield since 1968. He was honored in a presentation at the University of Massachusetts Turf Conference in Springfield, Mass. recently.

To meet the stringent requirements for certification, Stimson first had to get enough time in as a superintendent. Then he had to pass a six-hour written exam. Exam questions covered turf care, pest control, business administration, leadership, and the game of golf.

Few superintendents have achieved Stimson's status. He and his wife, Carol, have two children.

Of consumer concern

Poison prevention tips

Household poisoning is one of the leading causes of death among preschool children. Poison Prevention Week (this week) is part of a national effort to inform the public concerning the dangers of household poisons.

Missed medicines are common, but household cleaners also present a hazard. Prescription medicines are required by law to be dispensed with a safety closure unless a screw-on cap is specifically requested by the doctor or patient. Cleaners containing certain percentages of hazardous substances are also required to have safety closures.

Hazardous substances used in the home are labeled as thoroughly as possible to aid the consumer. Labels contain a signal word such as "Poison," "Caution," or "Warning," with an active ingredient listing. Each label states "contact physician immediately" as well as the customary "Keep out of reach of children."

Important to remember is to keep all medicines and cleaners in their original containers. Never use a food container to hold a hazardous substance.

Bright-colored pills or cleaners are attractive to youngsters, so when giving medicine to children, avoid telling them it "tastes like candy." Making comparisons with food is also unwise. Teach children that medicines and cleaners each have their own specific purpose and can be dangerous if used improperly.

All products which may present a danger to children should be stored in high places or a locked cabinet are best.

If, in spite of all safety precautions, a poisoning accident occurs or is suspected, read the container label for immediate first aid instructions and then call your doctor or hospital emergency room.

Poison prevention literature is available from the Product Safety Division of the Consumer Protection Department.

Answers to questions of general interest will appear in this column. Address questions to: "Of Consumer Concern," Department of Consumer Protection, State Office Bldg., Hartford, Conn. 06115.
