Worst air disaster in history

Official blames Pan Am pilot

SANTA CRUZ DE TENERIFE, Spain (UPI) - Provincial governor Antonio Oyarzabal said today that the worst aviation disaster in history occurred Sunday because a Pan American 747 turned into the path of a Dutch KLM 747 roaring down the runway at 186 miles per hour for takeoff.

Oyarzabal said 562 persons were killed in the collision and subsequent explosions so fiery that the asphalt runway melted. He said 72 of the 634 persons aboard the two jumbo jets survived the accident but that some of them were in critical condition.

The U.S. Embassy put the death toll at 599 and the Spanish Aviation ministry put it at 559. Oyarzabal said official figures showed that the KLM plane carried 244 persons, mostly Dutch tourists, and that all died. The Pan Am plane carried 390 persons, mostly American tourists from Los Angeles, and that 318 of them were killed and 72 survived.

was the crash of a Turkish airways DC10 near Paris on March 3, 1974, when 346 persons died.

The Spanish news agency Cifra said the flight recorder tapes of a conversation between the Pan American pilot and the control tower showed that the pilot apparently misunderstood the tower instructions to stay on a taxiway and turned onto the takeoff runway by mistake.

Pan Am spokesman and aviation experts said it was far too early for the contents of the so-called "black box" to be studied since that required sophisticated equipment not available on Tenerife.

U.S. Embassy press spokesman Ed Harper said a 41-member team of the U.S. National Transportation Safety Board has arrived to help Spanish authorities in the investigation.

The governor, speaking at a news conference, said "The key point is whether the KLM crew had been given orders to take off."

State

HARTFORD - Accidents took the lives of at least eight Connecticut residents over the weekend, including two boys whose homemade raft broke apart in Stamford Harbor.

HARTFORD - The executive board of the Connecticut State Employes Association has endorsed a master agreement to be voted on next week by 30,000 state workers. The pact calls for at least $26.83 more per week for each worker as of July 1, 1978 and a dental plan to take effect in 1979.

BRISTOL - Connecticut authorities today planned to determine whether a handgun used to kill cafe operator Joseph Rich is the same weapon allegedly found in the possession of three Bristol residents arrested in New York in possession of Rich's car.

WEST HARTFORD - Seventyone nonunion workers hired to replace strikers at Colt Industries factories will be on the job in place of lower-echelon union workers whose positions they won. Their jobs were one condition of an agreement ratified Saturday, ending a 10-week walkout. The displaced unionists will be hired as openings develop at the plants.

BEIRUT, Lebanon - Over rightist objections, the cabinet today appointed Col. Victore Khouri as the new commander of the Lebanese army. Rightists then went on strike to protest the army high command changes.

Directors predict budget cuts

By GREG PEARSON Herald Reporter

Members of the Board of Directors today predicted sizeable cuts in the budget proposed by Town Manager Robert B. Weiss.

"I expect the board will cut the budget substantially," Mayor Matthew Moriarty Jr. said. The proposed budget, which calls for a 10.6 per cent increase in the budget to $25,531,305, "is by far the largest increase I've ever seen," the mayor the town government can expect a on the budget will be held cut in the dollar figure proposed in the manager's budget.

"Everybody will have to share the burden," he said.

MOSCOW (UPI) - Soviet leader

Leonid Brezhnev warned Secretary

Phyllis Jackston, a member of the board, said, "I think it's unbelievable that they (the town administration) would present a budget of that size.

"I don't know how they feel the people of Manchester can come up with that kind of increase," she said, referring to the 9.43-mill increase that would be needed to cover the cost of the budget boost.

"I do hope people come to the budget hearing and let themselves be He said that most departments in heard," she said. The public hearing Wednesday, April 6 at 8 p.m. at the Waddell School.

Mrs. Jackston also expressed concern about several departments requesting new staff.

That business about telling the department heads to get along on last year's budget must have been a farce," she said. Welss had requested that department heads submit reports on how it would affect the department if no budget increase was granted.

She pointed to the town clerk's office, which she said has not increased its staff in her five years on the

"If one department can do it, what's wrong with the other departments?" she asked.

Prignano said that he has not yet studied the manager's proposal and, thus, is not sure if the full increase is justified. Another director, Carl Zinsser, said, "We've got to chop at least seven mills from this budget. We just can't afford this kind of mill rate."

> with a financially strapped person who might be car shopping. "When he goes out to buy a car, he doesn't start looking at Cadillacs. We have to start looking at Fords and Chevys, not Cadillacs," he said.

He compared the town's budgeting

"What you can't afford, you just can't buy." Zinsser said that the increase in the budget has nothing to do with the town's work in the development of the industrial park. He said that he has heard some concerns raised about that subject.

"One has nothing to do with the other," he said. The cost of the park would be paid for through the bond issue approved at the March 15 referendum. Thus, none of the park cost is appropriated in the budget.

He also proposed that the directors consider returning the budget to Weiss for his immediate reactions on where cuts should take place.

Moriarty said that he expects Weiss or a representative of his office to be present at all the directors' budget sessions through April and early May. The board has until May 7 to complete its budget proposal, ac-cording to Controller Thomas S.

In the past, the directors have met individually with each department head to review budget proposals, Moriarty said. This year, however, he expects that the manager's office will be represented at each budget session and that department heads will be consulted only when it is considered necessary.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for 36 years. He is 64 and I am 57. There has been no sex in our bedroom for the last six or seven years. Not even any signs of affection. He has even refused to kiss me, saying I would only expect it to lead to something else, and he is impotent

Now it turns out that he has found another woman and wants a "trial separation." He leased an apartment for six months and he's living with her on a "trial basis." He says at the end of the six months he'll let me know whether he The other woman is 38 and divorced, and you can't tell me that she's satisfied to just hold hands every night. I asked him about his "impotency" and he said the doctor gave him some pills that are supposed to rejuvenate him sexually. Naturally I don't know if the pills are working. (Maybe I should ask his new friend?)

I have talked to an attorney and he gave me the name of a psychiatrist. I am NOT crazy. I just want to know if I should wait six months or force a decision. If he decides to stay with her, I want to go on a cruise around the world. The ship sails in June and I don't want to miss it. What should I do?

DEAR ELSIE: Don't hang around waiting for your husband to decide whether he wants you or not. Get on that ship and Bon Voyage!

DEAR ABBY: How old do you think a girl should be before she starts seeing a gynecologist and stops seeing a pediatrician? This is a point of disagreement between my mother and me, and we would like to settle it by asking HONOLULU GIRL

DEAR GIRL: When a girl reaches the age where she feels uncomfortable seeing a pediatrician and prefers to see a gynecologist, she's ready to switch.

DEAR ABBY: Just before Christmas I read a letter in your column signed TOO LATE from a man who never found time to visit his elderly parents, even though they lived nearby. He said he always found time to visit friends and go other places, and now that his parents are dead he had deep regrets.

I must have had a guilty conscience, because one night I awakened suddenly at 3 a.m., decided to cancel the plans I had already made for Christmas and went to my parents' by, it was the most wonderful Christmas I've ever had! Mom and Dad were so thrilled to see me, it made me ashamed.

The next morning, my father called to tell me that Mom had died in her sleep! I couldn't believe it. She had been so well and happy the night before.

I just want to thank you for printing that letter. If I hadn't read it, I would have continued in my selfish ways and missed spending my mother's last evening with her. God bless you.

Student helps elders learn

By SHEILA TULLER

In an odd turn of events, a student taught teachers last week at a special workshop at East Hartford's Penney High School. Cathy Dorn, a Penney junior, assisted history teacher John Larson at an in-service workshop for town teachers. They told the teachers about the town history course, "East Hartford, the Community.' Cathy was among the first Penney students to take the course created by Larson and teacher Elaine Williams last year.

The semester course sparked Cathy's interest in social studies and government. By the time she graduates in June 1978, she will have taken all the social studies courses offered at Penney. Her interest led her to another un-que experience. In February, Cathy visited Washington, D.C., to take part in a Presidential Classroom for Young Americans program. She was one o six state students chosen, and the first from East Hartford To be picked, she had to have a keen interest in political science and Cathy credits Robert Wood, Penney's social sciences chairman, for her trip. He helped her with applying for it. Later he briefed her on the program's activities. Wood praised Cathy for her work, interest, and understanding.

Someone will win it

Some lucky person will be the owner of this large Victorian dollhouse on April 23 at "Clown Town" sponsored by the Suburban Women's Club of Vernon, Ellington, and Tolland. David Lambert, left, and Ron Bamforth are the builders of the house. They are woodworking students in the industrial arts program at Rockville High School. Their instructor is Leon Kassler. The boys have been working on the house for about two weeks and it will take about another week to put on the finishing touches. After that it will be painted white. The roof is made of tiny pieces of sandpaper to look like real shingles. The house has six large rooms. The suburban women will decorate the inside. The industrial arts department donates something to the club each year and in turn the club gives the department a grant.

Many kids are waiting for therapy

About 55 students in Coventry schools are on waiting lists for speech and hearing therapy, accor ding to school therapists Judith Swartz and Karin Randolph. Although help is being given to 80 students, there are still many students, some with severe voice and hearing problems, who are not being

The Board of Education proposes to increase the consultant's parttime hours in the schools next year to help solve the problem.

The school board will hold a special meeting next Monday at 7:30 in the high school auditorium to review the evaluation report of Coventry High School. The evaluation done last May, resulted in a five-year extension of the school's accreditation.
