NEW HAVEN—Five plaintiffs, including former Police Chief James F. Ahern, have filed a civil rights suit against New Haven's mayor, police board and special prosecutor alleging an investigation into police wiretaps was "politically motivated" and are asking $500,000 in damages.

HARTFORD—Finance Committee Chairman Rep. Gardner Wright, D-Bristol, says he is inclined toward helping big industrial firms at the expense of smaller businesses because that would create more jobs than the business tax relief plan proposed by Gov. Ella T. Grasso.

HARTFORD—A legislative committee kills a proposal to reform Connecticut's higher education system; then passes virtually the same measure under a different name. Under the new bill, the majority of the new Board of Higher Education would come from the colleges and universities instead of the public sector.

Regional

CONCORD, N. H.—The Nuclear Regulatory Commission has halted construction of the controversial nuclear power plant on the New Hampshire coast because of questions concerning its cooling system.

BOSTON—The U. S. Airlines Pilots Association says new takeoff and landing procedures at Logan International Airport, designed to cut down on jet noise, are "total lunacy" and will lead to a Canary Island-type of disaster.

BOSTON—Extended New England forecast, Sunday through Tuesday, calls for cloudy skies with chance of occasional rain or drizzle Sunday and Monday. Clearing Tuesday. High temperatures in 60s Sunday and upper 50s Monday. Overnight lows in the 40s.

National

WASHINGTON—Hamas Abdul Khaalil said last month it was revenge he wanted when Hanafi Muslims seized three buildings and 134 hostages. Fresh threats of revenge have cost him his freedom. He was jailed without bond Thursday after federal prosecutors produced a wiretap quoting him as saying he meant to kill 200 unidentified enemies.

SAN FRANCISCO—A lawsuit that could total more than $1 billion was filed in federal court Thursday on behalf of victims in the Canary Island jumbo jet collision in which 577 persons died. Pan American World Airways, KLM Royal Dutch airlines and Boeing Corp. were named as defendants.

WASHINGTON—The 7.7 million gallons of oil spilled 3 1/2 months ago off Massachusetts by the tanker Argo Merchant caused "minimal" biological and esthetic damage, according to a federal report.

International

MOSCOW—In an unprecedented news conference, Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko said proposals by the United States in the stalled arms talks were "one-sided" and would "damage the security of the Soviet Union." He also said that President Carter's human rights campaign "aggravates the political atmosphere."

LONDON—Baroness Spencer-Churchill, widow of Britain's Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill, has a poignant present today on her 93rd birthday. She got one of her paintings back. The portrait of Lady Churchill herself was one of several sold recently by her to raise funds to meet rising living costs.

Carter aide counterattacks

Rights come first

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Carter's top foreign affairs adviser today accused the Soviet Union of making "inaccurate" charges about unsuccessful arms talks in Moscow and warned that Carter will not shut up on human rights to get a strategic weapons agreement.

"I think if SALT is dependent on the United States having to deny itself the right to affirm these (human rights) beliefs, then it is not worth it," said Zbigniew Brzezinski. Leading an apparent White House drive to drum up favorable world opinion for an arms agreement between the superpowers, Brzezinski was interviewed on the NBC-TV Today program and arranged to meet with other reporters later.

He said:

- The Russians rejected proposals from Carter in Moscow which would have capped the arms race and reduced the threshold of nuclear confrontation.

- Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko was wrong in accusing the United States and Secretary of State Cyrus Vance of conducting devious negotiations in Moscow.
- The United States will not abandon its allies in Western Europe by unilaterally removing defensive missiles without a similar cutback in Russian offensive missiles aimed at the area.

- And he is confident arms talks will be pursued by both sides and hopes the Russians will finally see the mutual advantages of a proposal to cut strategic weapons.

- "I would say that that's rather strong language. I would say it's inaccurate," said Brzezinski of Gromyko's Moscow press conference accusations that the United States was guilty of devious tactics in negotiations.

- White House Press Secretary Jody Powell said Thursday that Carter did not plan on changing his two arms proposals and Brzezinski said today the plans gave the Soviets "the opportunity of indicating their preference within the range of between 1,800 and 2,000" strategic weapons compared to 2,400 negotiated at Vladivostok.

- The "innovative" U.S. proposal, Brzezinski said, went much further than the Vladivostok accord because "unlike previous proposals, (it) doesn't nearly establish a framework

- "It really reduces the weaponry on both sides. And it will take some time for the Soviet leaders to appreciate the mutual advantages of this proposal."

- As for the Russian counterattack on human rights, former Columbia University Professor Brzezinski said he did not think there was pressure on Carter to change his outspoken stand because it is generally shared by the world at large.

- "I think if SALT is dependent on the United States having to deny itself the right to affirm these beliefs, then it is not worth it. Because, in the final analysis, we are what we believe."

- "We have not made Soviet acceptance of our views the basis for negotiating in good faith on strategic issues. But by the same token, we deny the Soviet Union the right to tell us that we do not have the right to express our beliefs if we want to negotiate a strategic arms limitation agreement."

- As for further arms negotiations, Brzezinski said he is confident the matter will be pursued by Vance and Gromyko in Geneva in May.

- On Gromyko's statement that if the Soviet Union must cut back her strategic missiles, then the Russians will have to raise the question of American deployment in Western Europe, he said:

- "If they raise that issue, then it will, of course and necessarily, open up also the question of medium-range weapons systems."

Panel hears charge of plot against JFK

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House Assassinations Committee today questioned a Dutch journalist who claims Lee Harvey Oswald was involved in a conspiracy with anti-Castro Cubans and "Texas oilmen" to kill John F. Kennedy.

The newly reconstituted committee scheduled a closed session after Willem Oltmans made his allegations on the NBC-TV's Today program.

Oltmans said his source was George De Mohrenschildt, a Russian-born language professor who committed suicide in Palm Beach, Fla., Tuesday. Oltmans said De Mohrenschildt was one of the conspirators.

Oltmans, who testified in private before the committee last month, told NBC this morning that De Mohrenschildt killed himself rather than testify. He said the conspiracy ring included "anti-Castro Cubans and Texas oilmen."

A committee investigator was in Palm Beach trying to contact De Mohrenschildt, who had a previous hospital record as a mental case, when he died.

Oltmans also appeared today on the ABC-TV Good Morning America program, where he said the late Texas millionaire H.L. Hunt, the CIA and FBI were involved in the Kennedy conspiracy.

He said he would give the assassinations committee a picture of a Cuban, now living in Florida, who took part in the Kennedy assassination at Dallas, Nov. 22, 1963.

De Mohrenschildt, who knew Oltmans for 11 years, visited the Dutch journalist in Holland a few weeks ago. Oltmans said De Mohrenschildt told him Oswald acted "at his guidance and instructions."

He said De Mohrenschildt wrote a book about the Kennedy case "and he told me that in this manuscript—which is in his Dallas office—he mentioned names of CIA and FBI officials who according to him are connected with the Kennedy assassination."

With De Mohrenschildt dead, Oltmans' claims join other uncorroborated stories being checked by the assassination committee.

A once-secret committee transcript has admitted that the panel cannot go public with the stories because they have no confirmation on them.

Jobless rate drops to 7.3% in March

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Unemployment returned to a post-recession low of 7.3 per cent in March as many workers were recalled from layoffs caused by the nation's severe winter, the Labor Department reported today.

The 0.2 per cent drop brought joblessness down to the level established last January before the nation was hit by unusually cold weather. The decline occurred entirely among adult men, most of whom had been laid off by the weather.

Despite problems created by the weather and winter-related energy shortages, the economic recovery apparently has resumed following a so-called "pause" in late 1976. Other economic statistics also show evidence of healthy expansion.

Some 7.1 million Americans were unemployed in March. The 7.3 per cent unemployment rate of January and March was the lowest since the nation began to recover from the worst days of the recession in 1975.

Total employment rose for the fifth straight month to 89.5 million, an increase of about 500,000 over February. Thus some 56.7 per cent of the nation's population was employed—the highest percentage in 29 months.

The average duration of unemployment also fell to 14 weeks, the lowest level in nearly two years. And the number of persons forced to accept part-time employment was down by 160,000 to 3.3 million.

Discouraged workers—those who have given up looking for work—declined to an average level of 930,000 during the first quarter, reversing a trend during the last half of 1976.

Jack smiles

East Hartford Mayor Richard Blackstone evokes a smile from John W. "Jack" Thompson during the testimonial dinner Thursday night attended by 388 persons. Thompson, a member of the Board of Directors for over five years as mayor and deputy mayor, received several citations from town organizations and tribute from numerous officials and friends. Tribute paid Thompson for community service

By SUSAN VAUGHN
Herald Reporter

Nearly 400 friends of John W. Thompson gathered Thursday night at a testimonial dinner to honor the former mayor and town director for over five years of service to the town.

Thompson resigned from the Board of Directors last month to assume a new position as executive director of the Connecticut State Employees Association (CSEA).

The Army-Navy Club was filled with dignitaries, including a Congressman, a state senator, state representatives, former and present mayors, numerous town officials, political and civic leaders, co-workers, the "little" men and women he often helped, family, and mostly many, many friends.

Guest speaker, Congressman William R. Cotter, summed up the mood of the evening when he said, "This has been a great party."

"We sometimes forget we have good honest men like Jack," Cotter said. "We forget to say thank you, so I'm here to say a simple thank you."

Cotter cited Thompson's efforts in obtaining public funds to preserve Case Mountain, to increase state aid to municipalities, his concern for "the little man in society," his effort to make the town a better place and "his crazy challenge to Amby Burfoot in the Thanksgiving Day Race."

Thompson is a dedicated runner.

"No place in this state is there a more competent, able and dedicated person, a credit to his town and party," Cotter added.

During the evening, Thompson received several citations and gifts, including a week's trip to Bermuda "from his friends" for him and his wife, Betty. The gift was presented by Thomas Toomey, a personal friend. Also present at the dinner was Thompson's five children, Sean, Peter, Michael, Kevin and Susan.

Town Manager Robert B. Weiss paid tribute to Mrs. Thompson and his family also. He praised Thompson for his leadership role on the board.

Mayor Matthew Moriarty Jr. said Thompson would be sorely missed on the board of directors. He cited his "special leadership, both progressive and positive," on the board. He presented a citation from the Board of Directors citing his leadership role, his knowledge of government and grasp of policy matters.

The directors' resolution also noted Thompson's efforts in aiding the underprivileged, disabled, handicapped, elderly and youth of the community through "comprehensive human services policies."

Other citations were also presented by Robert Gorman, president of the Manchester Association to Help Retarded Citizens; by Norman Fendell, director of the Regional Occupational Training Center, in behalf of the handicapped, and by State Sen. David Barry (D-4).

The citation presented by Sen. Barry was adopted by both houses of the General Assembly on March 23 in recognition of Thompson's public service to the town, the state and in his new role as executive director of the CSEA.

Thompson's boss, Al Marotta, president of the CSEA, said, "Your loss is our gain."

Wally Fortin, director of the Senior Citizens Center, presented Thompson with an oversized honorary senior citizens membership card.

Frank Vaccaro, president of the Association for the Handicapped, told Thompson, "You didn't put us aside. You listened to us."

Mayor Richard Blackstone of East Hartford added humorous anecdotes of his trips with Thompson and their wives as members of the Connecticut

Lamson named planner

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

Alan F. Lamson, who has served as Manchester's assistant town planner for two years, has been named town planner. He replaces J. Eric Potter, who retired this week.

Lamson will begin serving in the new position on Monday, Charles F. McCarthy Jr., assistant town manager, said that the town will begin searching next week for an assistant town planner to fill the vacancy caused by Lamson's promotion.

"I'm extremely pleased," Lamson said this morning of his being named town planner. He said that one of the first projects he will undertake is to look into the need for elderly housing in Manchester.

The office will also continue its work in the proposed industrial park, project, he said. Lamson, a 1967 graduate from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in

Alan F. Lamson

Troy, N.Y., was employed by the East Hartford architectural firm of Frazier & Vignea before he was hired by the Town of Manchester. He served for three years in the United States Coast Guard.

McCarthy said that Lamson was selected from 35 applicants for the position. The field was narrowed to the top three candidates who were interviewed this morning before the final selection was made.

Lamson is an active member and past president of the Manchester Jaycees. He also served on the town Human Relations Commission before he became an employee of the town.

He has lived in Manchester, at 613 Bush Hill Rd., for six years. He and his wife, Janet, have two sons, Mark and Todd.

The planning position salary begins at $15,555.

Mrs. Leferski new WATES queen

Queen Donna Leferski is crowned by Dr. David M. Caldwell Jr. She succeeds Mrs. Anne Whiting as queen of Manchester WATES. (Herald photo by Dunn)

Mrs. Michael (Donna) Leferski of 87 Walnut St. is the new queen of Manchester WATES. She was crowned Thursday night at the 22nd annual awards banquet at Pianos Restaurant in Bolton. With a weight loss of 37 pounds and tipping the scales at a mere 115 pounds, she is probably one of the slimmest queens the WATES has ever crowned. Other "Top 10" losers are: Mrs. Joseph (Agnes) Kamer, with a weight loss of 38 1/2 pounds; Mrs. Donald (Sue) Bigelow, 32 pounds; Mrs. Gerald (Carol) Muise, 27 pounds; Mrs. Benedict (Ardell) Elmskas, 25 pounds; Mrs. Alden (Helene) Baker, 24 1/2 pounds; Mrs. Stanley (Dorothy) Hayman, 24 pounds; Mrs. Walter (Helen) Potyra, 23 pounds; Mrs. Irving (Alberta) Norris, 22 pounds; and Mrs. Ralph (Fran) Mills, 20 pounds. Seven members received awards for having maintained their goals for more than a year. Topping the list was Bess Thompson, who has maintained her goal for 22 years. Emily Fracchia placed second with 11 years. Harvey Ward, who has served as master of ceremonies at the annual banquet for many years and is an honorary member of the WATES, was presented a gift of appreciation. The awards were presented by Mrs. Evelyn Cady, president of the WATES. Ward and Dr. Caldwell will be completing in about three months and CNG has agreed to pay three-fifths of project's estimated $5,000 cost. "As we face the continuing energy crisis, the

Ella T. Grasso said today a solar-water-heating system will be installed in the governor's residence. Mrs. Grasso said the venture was being undertaken by the state and Connecticut Natural Gas Co. and is expected to save taxpayers $5 per cent on the cost of providing hot water for the mansion. She said work on the system is expected to be completed in about three months and CNG has agreed to pay three-fifths of project's estimated $5,000 cost. PWA transfers in final stage

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter
Pratt & Whitney Aircraft's transfer of about 600 employees is in its final stage and has resulted in the move of about 50 employees who formerly lived in Manchester. The move has generated some spark in the local real estate business, according to local real estate brokers. The transfer, to the aircraft's West Palm Beach, Fla. plant, was announced last July and was expected to take about 18 months to complete. But, Robert Zaiman, public relations director at the firm, said that about 500 of the 600 have already been relocated. "The bulk of them went in the first six months," he said. Zaiman said that he did not have a town-by-town breakdown of where the transferred employees had lived in Connecticut. But, Steven Roney estimated that about 50 of the relocated employees had lived in Manchester. Roney works with Transamerica Relocation Service, a firm that Pratt & Whitney hired to help relocate its employees. He is project manager for the relocation. Employees that were being transferred could attempt to sell their homes before being relocated. If they were unsuccessful, Transamerica would take over the selling effort. The relocation firm also helped employees in shopping for and financing homes in Florida, Roney said. Local real estate brokers said that they have noticed some change on the market because of the aircraft transfer. "It has had an effect, but I don't think it had the effect that was predicted," William Belfiore said. "It has made the housing market more active in the area," he said. The employees who were transferred came from several towns, and some even lived in Massachusetts, Belfiore said. Thus, the effect on any one town was not that large. He said that his firm has sold "quite a few" homes previously owned by aircraft employees, but he said that he could not give an estimate of the exact number. In some cases, the homeowner recommended his firm to Transamerica, Belfiore said. In other cases, the relocation firm contacted his company. Carl Zisser, another local broker said of the transfer, "There are probably a few more houses on the market. But, there is more of a demand this year than last year." Paul Rossetto said that his firm has sold 10 to 12 homes owned by transferred employees. His firm contacted Transamerica and expressed an interest in any marketing that might be needed by aircraft workers moving to Florida. The relocation company got back in touch with Rossetto's firm on several of the available homes.

Town has 29% left in current budget

The Town of Manchester has approximately 29 per cent of its 1976-77 General Fund budget available with one-quarter of the fiscal year remaining, according to figures released by the controller's office. Through March 25, the town has spent $16,335,545.90 of the $23,230,955 in the General Fund budget. An additional $15,638.32 is listed as encumbrances, leaving $6,749,770.78 in available funds. Much of the remaining money is part of the Board of Education budget, which has almost $4.3 million of its $13.9 million budget still available. Ray Demers, business manager for the school system, said that the Board of Education's last payroll of the fiscal year is also its largest, $1.25 million. Teachers have an option of taking their pay in 20 bi-weekly payments during the year or in 26 bi-weekly payments with a "balloon payment" in the last week of the year, Demers said. He said that the payments during the year are somewhat smaller than the teacher's salary. The final payment, which is the first of the summer vacation period, is larger than the other 25 payments. The schools also have some fuel and utility bills that will be due soon, Demers said. He said that the Board of Education's expenditure for the year will be close to budgeting amount. "I think we'll make it, though," he said.

Bermuda Masons will visit here

Bermuda Masons will be visiting Manchester the weekend of June 3-5, and will put on their Master Mason degree here. The courtesy visit has been arranged for a long weekend of Masonic-Shrine events. On Saturday, June 4, Sphinx Temple Shriners will have their Spring Ceremonial in Manchester. The visiting Bermudians will be from Atlantic Phoenix Lodge No. 24, GHE, Grand Registry of England, who have accepted an invitation to visit Friendship Lodge in Manchester. Twice — in 1969 and again in 1974 — Friendship Lodge visited Atlantic Phoenix in Bermuda. Both the Grand Lodges of Connecticut and England have approved the visit and will issue dispensations. The invitation from Friendship Lodge was extended to the Bermudians by Harold E. Turkington, a past master of Friendship Lodge and now the potentate of Sphinx Temple. They accepted it for the weekend of June 3-5 because of the Shrine Ceremonial here. When it confers its Master Mason degree at Illing Junior High School on Friday, June 3, the Bermudians will have an audience of about 450. Arrangements for the visit have been undertaken by the Past Masters Association of Friendship Lodge. Raymond E. Bogue is general chairman. Admission for the degree work is by ticket only, and they are now in the hands of all past masters of the lodge and through present lodge officers. Wilbur Chadwick, past master, of 9 Lincoln St., is ticket chairman. The Bermudians will arrive in Manchester Thursday night, June 2. An historical tour has been planned for Friday and a shopping tour for wives on Saturday. The Shriners expect more than 1,200 to be in Manchester on June 4. The Bermudians will have a place of honor in the parade from Main St. to Manchester High School, where Shrine ritual will be performed for candidates. Omar Shrine Club is the host club. General chairman for the ceremonial is Al Penny of 395 Burham St., who is the first ceremonial master of Sphinx Temple. Shriners last visited Manchester for a ceremonial and parade in 1972, when the present potentate was first named an officer of the temple and was the general chairman. Tickets for the Bermuda visit will be available Sunday at the Masonic Temple during the annual Pancake Festival of Friendship Lodge.

Office hours slated

Rep. Muriel T. Yacovone (D-9th) will hold office hours at Keeney St. School Monday from 1:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. All citizens in the Ninth Assembly District with questions pertaining to issues before the General Assembly are welcome. This will be the representative's only office hours session in Manchester.

Locals appear in 'Pinafore'

Two Manchester residents are appearing with the Simsbury Light Opera Company in their spring Gilbert and Sullivan performance. Dianne Nabigian and Eric Coates will be seen in the operetta "H.M.S. Pinafore" to be presented in the Simsbury High School auditorium April 8 and 9, 13 and 16, and 22 and 23 at 8:15 p.m. A Sunday afternoon matinee is planned for April 17 at 2:30. Cuba's political prisoners

If President Carter means it when he says he is going on championing human rights, whosoever violated, this could prove to be the biggest obstacle to normalizing relations between the United States and Cuba.

According to the International Rescue Committee, the number of political prisoners in Cuba may be more than 50,000. Fidel Castro himself has acknowledged that there are 5,000. Even this figure means that there are more political prisoners in Cuba than in the Soviet Union in proportion to their populations.

Whatever the actual number may be, the most telling fact is that Castro has not given amnesty to a single political prisoner in 16 years.

The Cuban penal system, says the IRC, is modeled after that of the Soviet Union: Maximum security prisons, regular prisons, work camps, traveling labor brigades and separate camps for groups such as the military, the peasants and Jehovah's Witnesses. Sentences are regularly extended for prisoners who will not submit to "re-education" — that is, who will not confess their errors. Deprivation of food, water, medical attention and space and other brutalities are systematically used to deal with those who refuse "re-education," says the IRC.

The committee has issued an appeal to Cuba for the release of political prisoners, along with a secondary appeal to "those who are in sympathy with what is happening in Cuba and whose voice, consequently, is likely to be listened to in Havana."

They, too, says the IRC, carry a grave moral responsibility for the inmates of "Cuba's tropical Gulag Archipelago."

Who the lobby giants are

If the amount of money spent by special interest groups on twisting congressional arms is an indication of "who runs America," then it's not big business. It's the friendly people who deliver your daily mail.

By law, registered lobbyists are required to file quarterly reports of their spending with the clerk of the House of Representatives and the secretary of the Senate. According to the latest such report, the American Postal Workers Union led the list by a wide margin with $12 million.

This translates into more than $48 for each of the union's 249,000 members.

Third in line was the 151,000-member National Association of Letter Carriers with $4.7 million, or a little over $31 per head.

The $12.7 million spent by these two unions accounted for more than two-thirds of the $17.7 million spent by all unions combined.

Why the postal unions should be the country's leading lobbyists is a bit puzzling. The Post Office was supposedly taken out of congressional politics when it was reorganized several years ago into the public-private Postal Service, to be run by an independent Postal Commission. But presumably they're getting something for their money, even if the folks who buy stamps don't always.

It is also of interest to note that the second biggest lobby was the public-interest organization, Common Cause (one of whose causes is reform of the lobbying laws), which rang in with $5.6 million. Fifth largest was a group whose members truly do run America, the National Federation of Federal Employees, with $1.6 million.

The only industry group to make the Big Five who spent more than $1 million was the National Coal Association, which at $1.7 million was No. 4.

In terms of single issues, abortion and gun control are the subjects of the most intensive lobbying efforts. The National Committee for the Human Life Amendment spent more than $900,000 and 20 pro-anti-gun control organizations spent a combined total of $1.5 million.

Compared to these, your oil or automotive people or others one hears so much about, are penny-pinchers.

Didn't get the message

By Martha Angle and Robert Walters

WASHINGTON (NEA) — In every crowd, there are always a few who fail to get the message. And while slow learners abounded in Capitol Hill when Congress confronted the task of ethics reform, one senator surely deserves special recognition. He is Democrat John Melcher of Montana, who served seven years in the House before moving up this year to the Senate seat vacated by retired Majority Leader Mike Mansfield. Melcher was in a key position to influence the shape of the Senate's new ethics code since he served on the 15-member panel which drafted the package.

Wanted part-time But far as we can determine, his major contributions consisted of an up-front effort to loosen a ban on gifts of more than $100 from those with a direct interest in federal legislation, plus a behind-the-scenes attempt to win a special exception from the ethics code that would permit payroll at a part-time salary of $28,000 per year.

First, the gift issue. A key section of the new code prohibits senators from accepting, in a single year, anything with an aggregate value of more than $100 from foreign nationals, lobbyists and people connected with political action committees (which contribute to campaign expenses).

On the final day of the ethics committee's deliberations, Melcher tried to get the annual limit raised to $250. His argument: the $100 limit would keep him from accepting free rides in Montana on corporate airplanes.

"I cannot travel in Montana in an airplane any distance at all for $100," the senator complained. "I think it gets a little bit rigid, and a little bitinine, to turn down what is convenient."

Fortunately, other committee members understood that a senator's convenience matters less to the public than his integrity, and that freeloading on corporate planes was a walking Emancipation Proclamation for the loneliest profession.

Inevitably agreed Nash was a fresh breeze every moment of his happy life. Whenever someone told him he had turned out a good piece, his invariable reply was, "Yes, I thought it was excellent."

He was the only writer I ever met who could put down the late Randolph Churchill, who also was fond of his own literary endeavors. A jury in the bar in New York's Algonquin awarded Nash the unanimous verdict one convivial evening after listening with silent fascination to a dialogue that went into several overtimes.

Manchester's registrars of voters have taken active roles both for and against bills that have been proposed in this year's General Assembly.

Democratic Registrar Herbert Stevenson worked against a bill that would have prohibited registrars from belonging to party town committees.

The apparent intent of the bill was to prevent a conflict of the registrar if an intra-party fight for a political position developed. For instance, if a party primary was held for a post and one of the candidates was endorsed by the town committee, the registrar, a member of the town committee, might be seen as being partial to the endorsed candidate.

But, Stevenson feels that the situation does not present a problem. "I think they're looking for something that isn't there," he said. "It's a shame that they would take away the constitutional rights of registrars."

Another proposal supported by Stevenson would centralize all of the town's voting lists in the secretary of state's office. The bill is presently in the hands of the Election Committee.

He feels that such a centralization would work against the towns. "The proposal now goes before the General Assembly, where it has been defeated in the past. Supporters this year feel that they have the needed backing to pass the bill. Opponents of the proposal, however, are claiming that there are enough votes to again defeat the measure. Both sides agree that voting will be close."

"I'm concerned with the labor part of it," Mahoney said in explaining his vote. He said that he feared too many existing jobs would be lost in the bottle industry if the bill is passed. Mahoney favors a litter bill which has been filed as an alternative to the bottle proposal. "That bill would tax business for litter cleanup."

The litter bill was also approved by the Environment Committee and will be acted on by the General Assembly.

Republican Registrar Frederick Peck is supporting a bill that would require a Braille voting machine at each voting place. This would aid all eight-impaired persons and allow them to vote without assistance from another person.

Republican Registrar Frederick Peck is supporting a bill that would require a Braille voting machine at each voting place. This would aid all eight-impaired persons and allow them to vote without assistance from another person.

Clearly, this would have put quite a crimp in lawyer Meglen's private practice. So, Melcher, without mentioning that one of his employees was affected, persuaded the committee to apply the outside earnings limit only to staff aides earning over $35,000 per year.

After the committee had completed work on the ethics code and sent the package to the full Senate, Melcher belatedly discovered other provisions that made it impossible for Meglen to remain on the public payroll at $28,000 a year.

Another obstacle In particular, there was a section of the code forbidding staff aides who earn more than $25,000 annually from practicing law on the side.

Did Melcher tell Meglen he'd have to choose between his Senate job and his private practice? No indeed. Instead, according to our sources, the senator tried to pressure key committee staffers and members into changing the rules.

His plea fell on deaf ears, and the prohibition remained. So Melcher had to resign. He was replaced by the Billings lawyer who simply take a slight reduction his Senate pay to get below the $25,000 threshold, thus enabling him to retain both his high-profile government job and his private practice.

Meditations on the general thanksgiving

We bless God for our creation, because when we were born, there was born also the possibility of a relationship to God which could endure forever. And along with it was created the infinite possibilities which are offered to every human life and which no one can foresee. How does the process and purpose of God wait upon death for its fulfillment, for, we thank God for every experience in life: insights gained through pain, suffering and torment, as well as happy, tender memories and victories won.

We thank God for our creation, because from it flows everything that we need to learn the Lessons of Life.

Asian Reds penetrate international drug trade

By ALAN DAWSON BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — International narcotics agents are becoming increasingly aware of growing involvement in the drug trade by Asian Communists.

North Korea, China, Laos and the 12,000 insurgents of the Communist party of Burma all appear to be involved to some extent in providing narcotics from the Golden Triangle region to Asia, Europe and America.

The subject is so sensitive that even those European and Asian agents who openly discuss drug rings refuse to comment on the subject. "It's just too political to discuss," said one.

But international narcotics sources in Bangkok and elsewhere have provided this partial picture of official Communist involvement in the heroin and opium trades:

• Laos has covertly gathered about 30 tons of opium in the former warehouses of the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID) in Vientiane. The guarded gates of the ex-USAID compound now have signs proclaiming it is "the office of the prime minister," although he is known to work elsewhere.

• Agents of the Communist party of Burma grow opium poppies, help refine heroin and provide guards for opium and heroin convoys.

• China recently agreed to provide citizenship to at least three well-known Sino-Thai drug dealers, all on the "most wanted" list of the International Police (Interpol), through the powerful Chinese embassy in Vientiane.

• North Korea's ambassador to Vientiane and other Korean field agents are believed to have gathered opium, morphine and heroin shipments from the Golden Triangle region for their own distribution system.

The North Koreans are known to use diplomatic pouches and baggage of diplomats to transport the drugs to Europe. Intelligence agents said Moscow once was used as a distribution point by the North Koreans, but the Russians stopped that.

French connection look like child's play," an Asian diplomat said. "Most narcotics rings in the past have been controlled by European, American or ethnic Chinese businessmen-criminals, other agents said."

"But if the Communists are involved, you can be sure it's government policy," said one agent. "That means it's a political problem first, and the criminal aspects are secondary."

The United States, with more than 25 agents assigned to Thailand, has more drug enforcement officials in Asia than any other nation. But Canada, a growing number of European countries, and some Asian nations all cooperate in the anti-heroin struggle.

Burma, the largest source of illegal opium in the world, cooperates in the fight because opium money is channeled in to buy arms for anti-government insurgents. The insurgents, including the Communists and a number of ethnic minorities, control the opium fields.

Now, in the face of new and growing evidence and with the economies in several Communist countries — notably North Korea falling — the theory that Asian Communists are aiding in narcotics traffic is growing again.

Schaffer asks lawmakers for election day signup

HARTFORD (UPI) — Secretary of the State Gloria Schaffer Thursday asked Connecticut lawmakers to allow election day registration by voters, a plan proposed by President Carter.

Mrs. Schaffer told a Capitol news conference because it was likely Congress would approve Carter's plan, state lawmakers should pass similar legislation to avert having a dual electorate.

Congressional action would apply only to voting requirements in races for president, vice president, the Senate and House of Representatives. State action would be needed to change the procedure for all other races.

Carter's same day registration plan has been endorsed by national leaders of both parties and Mrs. Schaffer said she expected it to be approved.

"This lawmaker bill may well change the composition of the American electorate more drastically than any piece of legislation since the 19th amendment gave women the right to vote," she said.

"It is an ambitious and courageous attempt to bring millions of Americans into the political process by removing artificial and unnecessary procedural barriers which now limit their participation," she added.

But Mrs. Schaffer said she would recommend controls to avoid fraud tougher than those recommended by the President.

She proposed requiring a person wanting to register and vote on election day to produce picture identification or multiple identification in addition to a sworn affidavit.

Mrs. Schaffer said she thought the election law change could improve election day turnout by 10 per cent. She conceded the legislature, which already has a bill for election day registration before it, probably will wait for Congress to act before passing a state version.

She said Carter's plan would disperse at least $850,000 to Connecticut to administer the new law.

She indicated that money could be used to beef up registration staffs and cut down on opposition to the plan from election officials.

Marijuana use unchanged by decriminalization

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Removal of stiff state penalties against possession of marijuana has not increased its use, a National Governors' Conference study said Thursday.

The study of nine states and four cities took no position on whether states should reduce penalties for possession, reporting only on the impact of decriminalization of state laws.

State and local officials, with the exception of those in Los Angeles, reported that decriminalization laws have not led to any substantial increase in use of the drug, the study said.

However, recent information from Oregon, which passed the first decriminalization law in 1973, shows increased marijuana use last year, said New Jersey Governor Brendan T. Byrne. He presented the study at a news conference.

The study also found states can save money on law enforcement and criminal justice through decriminalization of marijuana laws, with the greatest savings in states which issue citations, as with traffic offenses, rather than arresting and booking persons.

Military readiness 'shocking'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's military forces are in a "shocking state" of combat readiness with only half the planes and ships ready for war on any given day, a Senate investigation said Thursday.

The investigation was carried out by Sen. John Culver, D-Iowa, who reported to the Senate Armed Services Committee that "we do not have the ready military muscle to match our strength on paper."

Culver reached his conclusions on the basis of visits to 12 military bases last December and a review of documentary materials provided him since then.

"America's military forces are in a shocking state of combat readiness," the report said. "Despite billions of dollars spent on sophisticated new equipment, competitive pay and special bonuses, advanced training and expanded funding for operation and maintenance, we can rely on only a small fraction of our forces to be fully prepared at any given time."

Culver said that at some bases, the situation was "even worse" than the "deplorable figures already reported through the military chain of command and in annual reports to Congress."

Washington window:

Appeals to the President

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter has given hope to thousands of Americans who feel they have been personally wronged by the federal government. They have hope that he will do something about their problems.

"If only President Carter knew about it, I know he would do something about it," is the appeal that goes to the White House.

To get the President's personal attention is not easy even in an administration that is billed as "compassionate."

Making an effort

When Carter was governor of Georgia, he made the same effort to try to help those who had legitimate gripes against alleged injustices. Sometimes an appeal would get his attention and action would be taken. But how far a President can go in dealing with personal problems of the people remains to be seen. There are many situations where appeal after appeal has been sent to the White House and other federal agencies and the only response is a form of letters saying nothing can be done.

Carter is making an attempt to reach persons with individual problems by setting up a special branch under assistant Midge Costanza, who has a staff which tries to forward complaints to the Cabinet departments and agencies.

But the frustration of reaching the President's ear remains for many. Wants SBA probed

John Edward Bonney of Lake Ozark, Mo., has written Carter appealing for an investigation of the Small Business Administration in Kansas City for its handling of a disaster loan given to him as a result of the flooding of his motel in 1973.

"Mr. Carter," he writes, "prove to me that justice is not a luxury that only the rich can afford. I had only a small motel at Bagwell Dam and this spring starts my fifth year out of business. I don't think I can take much more. This disaster loan has become a bigger disaster than the disaster itself."

Then there is 70-year-old Carl Snyder of Fortville, Ind., who has urged Carter to look into a situation involving the issuance of school building bonds. "These bonds have been in violation of the Indiana Constitution," Snyder wrote.

A 12 year battle

"I have been fighting this battle now for 12 years," Snyder said. "It will probably take the power of the White House to effect a solution."

Not as typical perhaps is the case of Frank A. Schuler, Jr., 66, a former career foreign service officer, whose son Peter has appealed to Carter to help him wipe out. "A vicious blacklisting by the Department of State that has soiled his good name and deprived me of the right to earn a living for 30 years."

In a letter to Carter, the young Schuler wrote that his father, who was posted in Tokyo in 1941, "understood the true, hostile intentions of Japan, warned his superiors repeatedly, and therefore after the attack, became an acute embarrassment to these men. He was removed from Japanese affairs and was dismissed in 1944 on a falsified charge of insubordination."

A success story

There is a success story among the appeals for Leslie Fleming. She was one of the lucky persons whose telephone call went through to the President on his March 5 "talk show," and she told of her fruitless attempts to get a job through the Civil Service.

Now, with presidential attention, she has landed a temporary job, paying $9,200 annually, as a tour guide in a tiny Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Museum.

"I'm so happy I feel like Cinderella," she said.

In other cases cited, a call from the White House could make a difference. An inquiry by SBA for Bonney, an investigation by the Justice Department for Snyder, and a State Department hearing for Schuler.

Like thousands of others who write to the White House, they have the impression that Carter would help...if only he knew, and they live in the hope that he will find out.

Virgin Islands content with status

By JAMES CUCHARA
CHARLOTTE, AMALIE, U.S. VIRGIN ISLANDS (UPI) — The Virgin Islands Thursday marked the 60th anniversary of the purchase of the territory by the United States from Denmark for $25 million, and most Virgin Islanders seem to think it was a good bargain for them.

The present status of the min-archipelago in the Caribbean — the three main islands are St. Thomas, St. Croix and St. John — is an American territory with internal self-rule and there is no significant movement to make any changes in that relationship.

The pro-independence United Peoples party couldn't even get on the ballot for the last gubernatorial elections in 1974 won by present Gov.

Cyril E. King, a moderate black. No hue and cry

Nor is there any great hue and cry either to upgrade the territory with a population of about 100,000 to the status of a state, which would bring federal taxes and wipe out the tax-free haven where a bottle of Scotch can cost only $1.50 and a carton of cigarettes just $2.50.

Cars still drive on the left side of the road in the Virgin Islands, a hangover from the days when donkey carts kept left according to European customs.

The islands first were sighted by Columbus and named for St. Ursula and her virgin martyrs. The Danes were the first colonizers and plantation owners after a turbulent period in which the Spanish, British, French and Dutch tried to gain footholds. Toward the end of World War I, when the islands had become a financial drain on Denmark and the United States was looking for a strategic outpost in the Atlantic, a sale was agreed upon for $25 million — more than Washington paid for either Louisiana or Alaska.

Official transfer

The official transfer took place on March 31, 1917, when Danish sailors lowered the Danish flag for the last time from Government House at Charlotte Amalie and the U.S. flag was hoisted instead.

Today, the principal towns — Charlotte Amalie on St. Thomas and Frederiksted and Christiansted on St. Croix — still bear the names of Danish Kings and queens.

The population is mostly black and consists of the descendants of the slaves imported to work on the sugar plantations, but in recent years there has been considerable immigration from the United States, British West Indies and Puerto Rico.

The Puerto Ricans have moved mainly to St. Croix, an island which did not form part of the original Danish colony but was bought by Copenhagen from France before the 1917 resale. St. Croix now has overtaken the main island of St. Thomas. It is bigger both in territory and in population.

The two main revenue earners for the islands are the federal government, which matches every dollar the territorial government raises through local taxation, and tourism.

High School World

VOL. XXXIV, NO. 20

FRIDAY, APRIL 1, 1977

'Guys and Dolls' called superb

All the uncountable hours of hard work and effort that the music department of MHS crammed into a little over a month of rehearsal resulted in a superb performance of "Guys and Dolls" last Friday night in Bailey Auditorium. The acting, singing, dancing and musical accompaniment all lent to a generally entertaining evening. Although the play was long, and dragged at times, it was well received by the audience and was met wholeheartedly with a standing ovation at the conclusion.

Teacher attitudes criticized

It must be stated now that this article is not, by any means, meant to criticize teachers. We rather intend to touch on the subject of teacher attitudes and their possible effects upon students. It must also be noted that the ideas expressed by the writer must be understood to those teachers with whom he has been acquainted throughout his secondary education. The ideas are not limited to any one teacher.

himself professional. He is handling a resource of the community which is less dispensable than medicine or law. The teacher is training the community itself. For this reason a teacher should maintain his professionalism no matter what the circumstances or length of time he has been teaching.

Editorial rebuttal

Clarification asked

In reference to the editorials of the last two weeks in the High School World, I should like to clarify my position. This is my last, and, hopefully, the definitive word on the subject.

Profile

Meet Marilyn Brown

Marilyn Brown has an exuberant quality about her which is founded on an insatiable ambition for perpetual activity. She has a rare magnetism which is both comfortable and stimulating, and this has resulted in bonds of friendship with a variety of different people.

Students do well in contest

The results of the national German contest of the American Association of Teachers of German (AATG) have arrived. Manchester High students did quite well.

Scoring above the 90th percentile rank in the contest were second year students Becky Bourret, Jim Nardulby, Aggie Feznan, and fourth year student Hal Michels.

Girls' track under way

Manchester High's Girls' Track is starting off the year with close to 50 members, which should create the depth that has been lacking in the past few years. The team has been working out for several weeks indoors and is now in the process of testing each girl in field events to determine if there is any hidden talent lurking in the shadows.

but with returning seniors like Yvonne Kearny, Linda Maher, and Nancy Downing, among others, the prospects look good.

Another problem which I have seen displayed by the professional teachers is favoritism. This is not the "teachers pet" type of favoritism seen in elementary schools. It is rather a type of favoritism used in awarding the student, a sort of manipulation. Not only has this been done verbally but in the actual awarding of grades. If the student did something which disagreed with the teacher, he would award the student a lower grade than his classmates.

The student upon comparing results with his fellow students, found that his paper was virtually the same in content, yet his grade was lower. This was especially true of essays and the like where answers were given. This type of thing should not be allowed to occur, but when it does there is very little the student feels he can do.

Finally, let us take a look at the teacher who does not seem to care about the class he is teaching. He is there because he has to be and he acts it. This problem seemed to reach a peak with some fellow classmates. I went to a couple of classes which the teacher supposedly conducted and was convinced that what these students had told me was the truth. No attendance was taken.

bursts of laughter from the audience and carried the lagging parts of the musical. His equally impressive singing voice became apparent in his duet with Adelaide, "See Me". Adelaide was magnificently portrayed by Betina Bronis. From the very beginning of the play she was not hysterically funny. When the "guys" formed a "goul train" procession and started doing individual dancing and acrobatic feats across the stage, it served as a perfect opportunity for people like Carl Girelli, Steve Latham, Jim Longo, and Mike Wilson to ham it up.

From the sinful to the sinless, the role of Sarah Brown was played very well by Diana Webb. Although at first she spoke rather softly and choppily, her acting and her singing improved immensely as the play progressed and her beautiful voice surfaced in parts throughout the play. Her male counterpart, Sky Masterson, was also portrayed ably by Jeff Smith.

Guidance notes

On Monday, April 4, Highpoint College, located in Highgate, N.Y., will have a representative in the guidance office at 9 a.m. to talk with interested students.

The main characters were all portrayed by the actor, with brilliantly spoken accents to it. Latham's nasal voice was ostentatious throughout the musical, and during some parts was always early audible. Carl Girelli's boy ing voice and display of incredible antics triggered out.

Brochures are being received each week for summer programs sponsored by colleges, prep schools, and special interest schools. Programs are offered in arts and crafts, marine biology, reading, pre-engineering, and many others.

Other displays of fine acting talent were seen in the roles of Lt. Branigan, played by Carey Flanagan, and Big Jule, played by Jeff Greenberg, and the drunk played by John Longo.

Paul Munsie's Irish brogue was good, but Carey Flanagan's was better. His brogue and his acting were terrific, but his dancing was better than everyone except his brother Kevin, Jeff Greenberg played the typical thing to a "T" and was only outdone by the two namesake thugs hovering nearby at all times with violin cases.

John Longo was so funny as the drunk that he would steal any scene in which he appeared. Although the finale was rather sloppy, its effect was great and positive remarks were all that was heard after the applause died down.

Another close relationship that Marilyn enjoys is with a big black mouse of a dog named Suzy. This gentle beast lumbers around good-naturedly nuzzling guests and making herself enjoyable as a floor pillow, wrestling partner and all-around companion-at-will. Her ever-friendly nature is much akin to Marilyn's openness.

Marilyn's next four years include college, probably in Pennsylvania. Math or Psychology is her best guess for a major, but college for Marilyn means people and places, as well as education. Her basic strategy for determining what she wants after that is travel. By working and living in all sorts of places she figures she'll find out what's best for her.

Burt Reynolds' diet flap

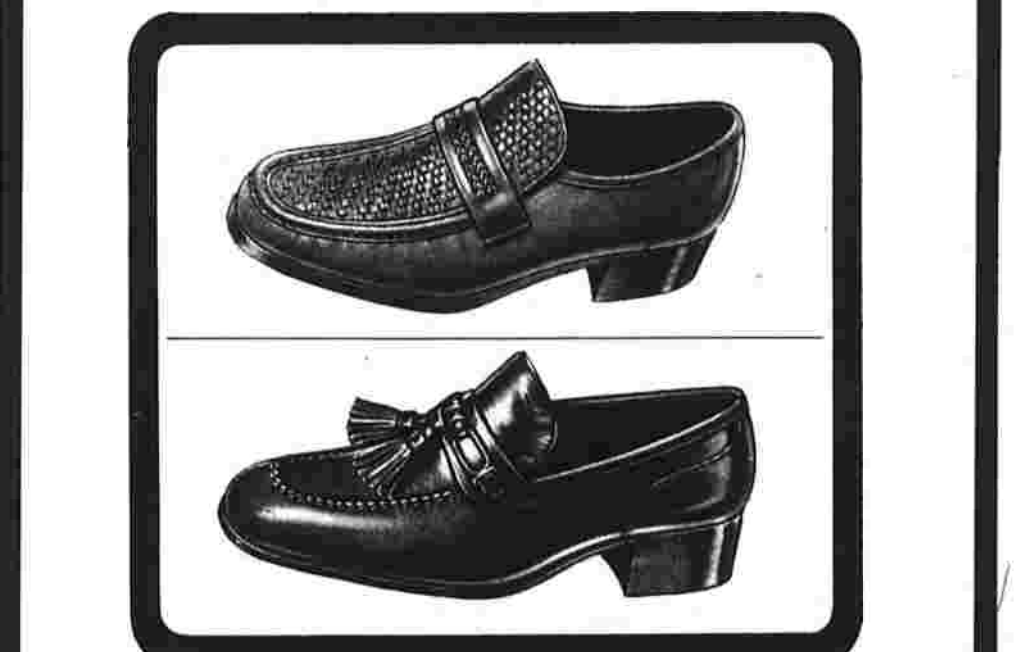

DEAR DR. LAMB - I read in the paper that Burt Reynolds lost 30 pounds in just three weeks. He had a half grapefruit, unsweetened, for breakfast with a cup of black coffee. For lunch he had a single scoop of cottage cheese and a peeled fresh peach. He skipped dinner every other day. When he did have dinner it was limited to six ounces of steak, or six ounces of ground beef or 12 to 15 ounces of fish. With this he had a salad with no salad dressing. When he felt like he was going to give in to his hunger he jogged around the block. Do you approve of this diet? It is really possible to lose 30 pounds in three weeks that way? If you think it is OK I'd like to try it.

DEAR READER - I am afraid Burt Reynolds lost 30 pounds in three weeks that way. If you think it is OK I'd like to try it. On the days without dinner he must have eaten 1000 to 1200 calories. So he knows more about movies than he does about dieting. Let's examine what Burt really did. If he lost a pound of fat a day for three weeks that would be 21 pounds. He would have to use 3500 calories a day more than he took in. Even on total starvation that would be impossible unless he was doing lots of strenuous physical activity every day. It is more likely that he used closer to 2500 or 2600 calories a day while he was on his diet. That is not equal to the calories in a pound of fat. When anyone starts on a bad diet like that one which markedly decreases the food intake the first week there will be a loss of normal body water - your body weight is half water - and the digestive system going to give in to his hunger he jogged around the block. Do you approve of this diet? It is really possible to lose 30 pounds in three weeks that way? If you think it is OK I'd like to try it.

Dear Abby By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: It's possible to find out a person's name and address if you have his automobile license number? Or will you have to answer a lot of questions first? You see, I was kind of wandering around a shopping center during my lunch break, when a beautiful older man caught my eye. He went into a jewelry store and I followed him. I was drawn to him like a magnet. He was shopping for an anniversary gift for his wife, and I offered to help him select something. He kidded around with me and said he had a daughter in college about my age. Abby, you're going to think I'm crazy, but I have never met a man who attracted me the way this one did. I can't get him out of my mind. I don't even know his name, but I walked him to his car and took down his license number. I've just got to see him again! I'm 22 and believe me, this was love at first sight. I even dream about him. Can you help me?

DEAR IN: It's possible to find out a person's name if you have his license number in Minnesota, but you will have to answer a lot of questions first, so I don't recommend trying. The mugshot you experienced is "physical attraction" and it happens every day. For your sake (and his) forget him, dear. DEAR ABBY: The letter from the woman who had had cancer and some of her friends avoided contact with her because they thought she was "contaminated" and contagious was and indeed, may I add a little to what I have learned since working with The American Diabetes Association? This malnutrition (it's not really a disease) is also badly misunderstood. One woman called our office to ask where she should go for a V.D. test. Asked if she associated diabetes with venereal disease, she replied, "Why, yes, of course."

DEAR CONCERNED: I will, for more information write to The American Diabetes Association, 1 West 48th Street, New York, New York 10020. They will direct you to the affiliate nearest you where free brochures are available. DEAR ABBY: My husband's ex-wife and children live in another city. When she visits them, he sleeps at his ex-wife's house, in a separate bedroom. His ex is unmarried, and although he insists that their relationship is now platonic, I feel insecure and uncomfortable. When I met my husband he was already divorced and insisted he wanted nothing more to do with his ex-wife. Now when he visits her he goes on picnics with her and the children, and takes them to dinner, just like old times. I know my husband loves me, but this situation bugs me. He has asked me to accompany him on those picnics and try to be friends with his ex-wife. I refuse to go. Am I being unreasonable?

DEAR CONFUSED: Yes. Perhaps if you went, you'd no longer feel insecure and uncomfortable. It's worth a try.

Win at Bridge. A corollary to this rule is that you don't use Blackwood when you have a worthless doubleton in a suit that your side has not bid. South has a mighty good hand after his partner jumps to four spades. He feels that he is too strong to settle for a safe four spades and invites a slam by bidding five clubs. North accepts the slam invitation by bidding five diamonds. But South, like Aho Aho in "Oklahoma," has gone as far as he can go and bids just five spades. North would go on to six if he could handle the second heart lead, but he can't and doesn't. The play is simple. West takes two heart tricks and South takes the rest.

Astro-graph By BERNICE BEDE OSOL. ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you have a problem today, don't worry. Go to your friends; their willingness to help may surprise you. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Some responsibilities not of your own making will be dropped in your lap today. You'll handle them without getting too far off-center. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're lucky today in family matters or in things relating to work or career. However, there could be complications in your social life. CANCER (June 21-July 22) Something you want to do today affects others. If you do your hand prematurely, you won't receive their full cooperation. Ask the Astrologists. There is one Blackwood rule that is more important than any other single rule for Blackwood users. That rule is that you never use Blackwood unless you intend to bid six if your partner's response shows that your side has three aces.

Obituaries

Mrs. Albina L. Durocher
Mrs. Albina Lakes Durocher, 90, of Putnam died Thursday at St. Paula Pavilion, Danbury. She was the widow of Eugene Durocher and mother of Wilfred Durocher of Manchester.

Mrs. Durocher was cited as mother of the year in 1967 by the Putnam Emblem Club. She received a national award by Pup Tent 10, Military Order of Coaches in Putnam 10 years ago for community service. She also had received a Supreme Canteen Auxiliary award.

She is also survived by another son, 2 daughters, a brother, 14 grandchildren and 31 great-grandchildren.

The funeral is Saturday at 10:15 a.m. from the Gilman Funeral Home, 104 Church St., Putnam, with a Mass at St. Mary's Church, Putnam, at 11. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery, Putnam.

Friends may call at the funeral home today from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

John Barstow

John Barstow, 79, of 160 Pennsylvania Ave., Niantic, formerly of Manchester, died Thursday at Lawrence and Memorial Hospital, New London. He was the husband of Mrs. Lina Market Barstow.

Mr. Barstow was one of the founders and a charter member of the Manchester Kiwanis Club. He formerly owned and operated Barstow's Electrical Appliance Shop at 470 Main St. for 30 years before his retirement.

He was born Feb. 15, 1898 in West Haven and had lived in Manchester for more than 30 years before moving to Niantic in 1956. He was a commercial radio operator with the Merchant Marine during World War I, working with the Standard Oil Co. and later, the Grace Lines. He was aboard one of the first ships to pass through the Panama Canal. He and his wife observed their 54th wedding anniversary March 20.

He is also survived by two daughters, Mrs. Joan Jurgan of Canton and Mrs. Elizabeth Grant of Scottsdale, Ariz., and eight grandchildren.

The funeral is Sunday at 1 p.m. at the East Lyme Funeral Home of Alder and Prudence, Lake Ave., Niantic. Burial will be in the Old Stone Church Cemetery, East Lyme.

liberation. To commemorate this event, Passover was instituted to recall the enslavement of the Hebrews and to thank God for redeeming them from their bondage.

The story of Passover is retold each year in the home on the first two nights of the Holidays when the family is gathered around the dinner table. This home service is called Seder and it consists of reading passages from the Bible and from Rabbinic literature which make reference to the Exodus.

Thompson concluded, "You are a wonderful community. If I have mirrored your aspirations, I am grateful."

He thanked the committee of 50 which organized the testimonial, headed by Probate Judge William Fitzgerald and Mrs. Elsie Swenson.

Committee kills emissions tests

HARTFORD (UPI) - Despite orders from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, a legislative committee has rejected tough, new auto pollution standards that would require all cars in Connecticut to undergo annual safety and emissions inspections.

The Transportation Committee, which voted down the measure, 14-9, Thursday said the cost of keeping pollution control devices in tune year after year would be unfair to the state's motorists.

"If General Motors can't solve the problem how can Joe Average?" asked Rep. Ralph E. Van Norstrand, R-Darien, referring to the problems which GM had in producing a durable catalytic converter.

The panel also said 70 per cent of Connecticut's pollution drifts in from New York and New Jersey.

Under the proposal, all cars made in or after 1968 would have to be inspected annually to see that their pollution control devices were in working order. The cost of inspection would be $7.50.

If the car failed the inspection, the owner would be required to fix the pollution problem and return for another inspection.

In Arizona, where some counties have an annual inspection law, the average bill for fixing disfunctional pollution devices is about $26, according to the committee.

MCC faculty voting on new wage pact

Manchester Community College teachers will be among 700 state community college teachers who will vote today on a wage pact.

MCC classes were canceled at noon today so that the teachers could vote on the proposal at 1:30 p.m. at Greater Hartford Community College.

Negotiators for Connecticut community college teachers agreed to a wage pact with their trustees last Thursday. Roger Bagley of Manchester, chairman of the Board of Trustees of Regional Community Colleges in Connecticut, said. He said

Red Cross chapter sets long-range objectives

A continued search for a permanent home is one of the long-range objectives adopted at a recent meeting of the Manchester-Bolton Red Cross Branch Board of Directors executive committee.

The Red Cross office moved to its present address on Hayes St. from E. Center St. last fall when its former landlord, Godfrey Gourley, announced plans to demolish the building and to seek a better relationship between the Greater Hartford Chapter of the American National Red Cross and the local chapter.

The executive committee also plans to recruit and train about 100 volunteers in the disaster program to act as shelter managers in the event of a local disaster situation.

At the board's annual meeting on June 14, the executive committee will announce a chairman for the First Aid program, a local branch public information committee and a coordinator for volunteer activity.

Police data procedure being challenged

Manchester Police Chief Robert Laman this morning was ordered to appear at a hearing May 5 of the Freedom of Information Commission.

The hearing stems from the insistence by the police department that a man be fingerprinted and photographed before it would release to him whatever information it files may have on him.

Leon Rosenblatt of Hartford filed the complaint. Laman declined today to comment on the case because of the legal notice served on him.

Public works agency allotted 8.8% increase in Weiss budget

By GREG PEARSON

Herold Reporter
Town Manager Robert B. Weiss has recommended that the Public Works Department receive just under $3 million in 1977-78. As in past years, the department is again the largest non-educational item in the budget.

Weiss is recommending a public works budget of $2,933,434 for the 1977-78 fiscal year, an 8.8 per cent increase over the present budgeted amount of $2,567,500. The entire recommended General Fund budget for next year is a 10.6 per cent increase over the present budget.

While the public works department is operating on a $2,567,500 budget, expenses for the present fiscal year are expected to exceed that figure by $117,000. According to the budget, the department expects to spend $2,684,981 before the end of the present fiscal year.

Over $65,000 of the cost overrun is listed in the Highway Department budget and is due primarily to the unexpectedly high cost of snow removal this winter.

The rest of the cost overrun is spread among seven of the other eight divisions of the Public Works Department. Only the Cemetery Department is expected to come in at less than the figure it was budgeted for in 1976-77.

The following is a summary of the budgeting for each of the Public Works Department's nine divisions:

Administration - 1977-78 recommendation, $65,859; 1976-77 budget, $59,000; 1976-77 expected expenditure, $61,373.

This budget item is primarily to pay the salaries of four administrative employees - the director of public works, a public works coordinator and two office workers.

Sanitation Department - 1977-78 recommendation, $58,822; 1976-77 budget, $50,000; 1976-77 expected expenditure, $54,000.

This budget request includes the purchase of a dump truck at a cost of $25,000. Another new piece of equipment - a bulldozer for the town landfill, is included in the capital improvement section of the budget at an expected cost of $94,000.

Construction Department - 1977-78 recommendation, $163,462; 1976-77 budget, $142,000; 1976-77 expected expenditure, $141,163.

New equipment is also included in this budget. Weiss has requested the purchase of a 4-ton truck, a tractor-trailer and ten trimmers needed for cemetery care.

Police Department - 1977-78 recommendation, $1,436,462; 1976-77 budget, $1,310,000; 1976-77 expected expenditure, $1,310,000.

Weiss has recommended the addition of a building inspector to the department's seven employees.

The veteran of the vision created by the retirement of Thomas Moohan has not yet been filled. The department has four inspectors, including Chief Building Inspector Francis J. Conti, a zoning enforcement officer, and three office workers.

Area police report

South Windsor
Two South Windsor men and a Glastonbury man were charged Thursday night after being involved in a disturbance near the parking lot of the 10 Pin Bowling Alley on Rt. 5.

Charged with breach of peace were Steven Manning, 24, of 170 Long Hill Rd., and Roger Boisseau, 23, of 293 Long Hill Rd., both of South Windsor. Daniel Andrews, 21, of Glastonbury, was charged with second-degree assault.

Boisseau was taken to Manchester Memorial Hospital for treatment of facial cuts, police said.

The three are scheduled to appear in Common Pleas Court 12, East Hartford, April 18. Police said there is another arrest pending.

Steven White, 18, of 840 Ellington Rd., South Windsor, was arrested Thursday on a court warrant charging him with breach of peace.

Police said the arrest was the result of the investigation of an altercation on 10-Pin in February. White was released on his promise to appear in court in East Hartford, April 11.

Vernon
Dana Burgess, 23, of 105 High St., Rockville, was arrested Thursday on a warrant charging him with third-degree burglary and second-degree larceny. He was released on a $500 non-surety bond for appearance in Common Pleas Court 15, Rockville, April 11.

The salaries recommended total $20,282. The department request for salaries was $22,040 and yet in the lower. The council tabled action on this budget to see if it could buy a less expensive cassette dictating machine than the $700 one requested.

The town clerk's budget was approved at $51,667, as recommended by the mayor. The department request was for $56,260. Butler told the council the revenue from his office is greater than his budget.

Discussing the town clerk's salary, recommended at $20,776 by the mayor, Dooly said he didn't think the town clerk's salary should be the highest.

He also said he is disturbed that all town salaries are open-ended and it's not that way in industry. He said there should be minimums and maximums set for certain positions.

This budget lists $14,000 for contractual services needed for road overlay work at the Buckland and East Greenettes.

Park Department - 1977-78 recommendation, $460,686; 1976-77 budget, $400,000; 1976-77 expected expenditure, $411,572.

The budget includes an increase from $3,502 to $17,010 for equipment. The new equipment being recommended includes the purchase of two trucks.

Maintenance Division - 1977-78 recommendation, $231,721; 1976-77 budget, $180,000; 1976-77 expected expenditure, $185,586.

A new van for transporting tools and several new tools have been included in this division's budget. The maintenance division conducts construction work and repair needed on town-owned properties.

Street lighting - 1977-78 recommendation, $266,521; 1976-77 budget, $260,000; 1976-77 expected expenditure, $262,700.

Improvements are anticipated for W Center and Spencer St. in the upcoming budget.

Agencies reviewing the Town of Manchester's application for third-year funding for the grant would assure equal housing opportunity for all potential residents.

The council also suggested that the town use to meet housing needs of about $3,000, to help fund a regional program to test and monitor housing discrimination.

Manchester said that the connection between housing needs and the proposed industrial park made by the agencies is extremely tenuous.

"The industrial park is obviously not going to bring in 2,000 new residents," he said. "Some of the comments seem to reflect that 2,000 new people will be moving into town. That's a bit far-fetched."

Town Manager Robert B. Weiss said: "As far as we're concerned, there is no relationship between the industrial park and housing. The town expects to meet all of our obligations under the law."

Two members of the Board of Directors also commented. "I don't think this criticism is well-founded," Carl Zinsler said that Manchester is doing more than most communities to meet housing needs.

The commission recommended against granting funding for Manchester and cited the lack of an effective affirmative action hiring program and a fair housing program.

The commission also said that the town plan lacks expected-to-reside estimates for female-headed households and minority households.

"The City does not believe Manchester has adequately assessed its lower-income needs," the report said.

The Capitol Region Conference is another arrest pending.

Steven White, 18, of 840 Ellington Rd., South Windsor, was arrested Thursday on a court warrant charging him with breach of peace.

Police said the arrest was the result of the investigation of an altercation on 10-Pin in February. White was released on his promise to appear in court in East Hartford, April 11.

He also said he is working on a salary plan but it will probably require outside consultants.

project is expected to be completed in June at a cost of $5,600, including the car.

Vernon gets $24,690 as bonus from state

The Town of Vernon has received a check for $24,690 from Gov. Ella Grasso. The check represents a portion of what the state hopes to give the town of its anti-recessionary funds received under the federal Public Works Employment Act.

In her recent budget message, the governor said the state would pass through to cities and towns about one-half of these funds.

In her letter to Vernon Mayor Thomas Benoit, Gov. Grasso expressed the hope that the additional financial aid would help the town during the current and coming fiscal years.

She said she estimates that no less than $12 million will be available for state distribution if the federal legislation is adopted.

"In other words, we are hoping that

Benoit takes the blame

The Town of Vernon did receive a letter Jan. 17 saying that the Public Works Department and the union are ready to start negotiations but the letter was filed and apparently forgotten.

Mayor Thomas Benoit said Thursday he will take the blame for the mixup which caused a delay in the talks. He said there were resignations on the town council and he had to set up a new negotiations

Strong mayor plan goes to voter June 4

South Windsor voters will go to the polls June 4 to decide if the town will switch to strong mayor government or remain with the council-manager style.

The coming referendum was initiated by a petition signed by some 1,200 town residents, asking for the opportunity to decide between the two forms of government.

A possibility that strong mayor government may win of concern to town officials, who feel the switch would be a step backward.

The town is now run by a town manager, hired by an elected Town Council. The town manager is trained in all aspects of town management. An elected mayor would not have the expertise to handle the many

Bolton Dems will go door-to-door

Bolton Democratic candidates will begin their door-to-door campaigning Saturday morning. Democratic Town Chairman Ivi Cannon said. They will be visiting and talking with residents in the Bolton Lake area this weekend.

Ms. Cannon said the aim of the person-to-person campaign is twofold — for the candidates to make themselves known to as many townspeople as possible, and to learn townspeople's concerns about community matters and their opinions on the issues.

The door-to-door Democratic campaign will continue through April, right up to Election Day, May 2. Ms. Cannon said.

Easter Cantata
St. George's Episcopal Church will present an Easter Cantata — "The Triumph of Christ" by Helen Jun Marsh — Palm Sunday at 7:30 p.m. Soloists in the Senior Choir production include Bolton residents Kathi Mortano, John Gleason, John Shephardson and Pat Miller.

Other Holy Week events at St. George's:

- Palm Sunday: 10 a.m. service. Gradual anthem, "Palm Branches," by the Senior Choir, offertory anthem, "Were You There," by the Children's Choir.
- Maundy Thursday: Paschal Meal and Holy Communion at 6:30 p.m., followed by the Feast of the Paschal Lamb.
- Good Friday: Prayer vigil at noon. At 7:30 p.m., Easter Evens, Liturgy of the Paschal Candle.

Booth-Dimock Library needs money for roof

Coventry Coventry's Booth-Dimock Library is mailing 3,000 letters to try to contact everyone in town to help with its fundraising campaign.

Library directors say they hope Coventry citizens will recognize the unique contribution the library makes to the town's cultural, recreational and educational life.

Directors say this year's needs are greater than ever. The roof is in a critical state of disrepair, and it will cost more than $5,000 to fix it. Interior painting must be delayed until the leaks are repaired.

Library circulation and service have risen sharply and the need of new books

Andover reduces service but improves efficiency

The Town of Andover has taken a series of steps to improve municipal management and efficiency. First Selectman David Veomans said today.

Responding to a survey by the Connecticut Conference of Municipalities (CCM), Veomans said that at the same time, service cuts have reduced road paving and maintenance, reduced snow removal services, cut library service, and postponed capital improvements.

"To make certain that the greatest possible amount of service to residents is obtained from each tax dollar, a number of management improvements have been made," Veomans said.

These include zero-based and program budgeting, centralized purchasing to obtain better prices, heating controls on town buildings, rental rather than purchase of equipment, and reduced overtime for employees on snow removal.

The statewide survey results confirm that a large majority of towns are pursuing strict austerity policies in response to the fiscal crisis caused by increasing local government costs and a lack of growth in grant lists, CCM said.

Hebron Donations for the Red Cross fund drive are running behind last year's totals for Hebron and Columbia. Only 70 per cent of last year's donations have been received. Both towns used a mailing campaign this year.

If sufficient funds are not raised, some programs will have to be cut, according to Chairman Don Clough.

The Red Cross presents area programs on children's swimming and Red Cross lifesaving. Swimming instructors are not paid but are given travel expenses, so funds are necessary for instruction.

Andover
The Community Health Service will conduct a measles immunization clinic Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon at the office on Rt. 6, Columbia. Children eligible are those who were immunized before Dec. 31, 1966, or those who received Gamma Globulin with their measles vaccine and/or received the vaccine before their first birthday. Children who were never immunized are not eligible. The clinic is free for residents of Andover, Columbia, Hebron, Marlborough and Lebanon.

Bolton
Kirsten Stoppelworth, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Leland Stoppelworth of 1029 Boston Tpk., will appear on WFSB-TV, Channel 3, Monday between 8 and 9 a.m. She was selected as a "kangaroo" to be featured in a local segment of CBS-TV's "Captain Kangaroo" show. Brad Davis of WFSB-TV said he selected Kirsten after he received a letter from her, which included a contribution to the Emergency Fuel Fund.

Rhonda Landwehr, daughter of Kathy Leiner, a senior at Bolton High School, was selected to be hung for a year in the office of the state education commissioner. Her watercolor was chosen from among Connecticut student artwork now on exhibit in the State Capitol.

Coventry
The Coventry Public Health Nurses are conducting a makeup clinic today for measles immunization. Future clinics are scheduled May 13 and June 17 for students who did not attend the original clinic at Coventry High School.

The Coventry Campaign to Fight Cancer begins today and will continue through April. The Coventry campaign will try to raise $1,650 by door-to-door canvassing and collections in containers in local businesses. American Cancer Society volunteers will wear ID badges for the door-to-door calls. If a resident isn't home when the volunteer calls, an envelope will be left at the home. Susan B. Churchill of Wrights Mill Rd. has been named chairman of the Coventry fund drive.

Hebron
The Rhem High School Music Boosters received pledges of about $1,400 during the band "pitython" last Saturday. If all the pledges are made good, there will be door-to-door calls. A resident isn't home when the volunteer calls, an envelope will be left at the home. Susan B. Churchill of Wrights Mill Rd. has been named chairman of the Coventry fund drive.

South Windsor
The Albert Morgan Archaeological Society will sponsor a May 1 bus trip to the Heye Foundation's American Indian Museum, New York City. The bus will leave the Wood Memorial Library, Main St., at 10:30 a.m. and will return at about 6:30 p.m. The public is welcome. To learn more, call Lorraine Rignall, 633-5055.

Tolland
The Tolland Library Association will meet April 11 at 1:30 p.m. in the Library for Exceptional Children. A panel of club members will discuss the special library, a project of the Tolland Junior Women's Club. The public is invited.

Vernon
The executive board of the Vernon Junior Women's Club will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the home of Gay Stewart. The next club meeting will be April 12 at 7:45 p.m. at the Middle School. The speaker will be Carl Robinson, the "Plant Doctor." Members will vote for officers for the coming year.

Kuhn doing nothing in Lucchesi case

By MILT RICHMAN
NEW YORK (UPI) — Rather righteously, Bowie Kuhn keeps saying he'll act with dispatch whenever or wherever he finds any case of conduct not in the best interests of Baseball.

Nice speech.

Since I'm sure he's aware haste and speed are synonymous with dispatch, I wonder who's sitting on his hands because so far he has taken no action whatsoever regarding the Frank Lucchesi-Len Randle affair.

Five days have passed since the 50-year-old manager Texas Rangers was sent to a hospital as a result of a physical beating from one of his players, who was enraged because he felt he wasn't playing enough. The Rangers have suspended the 28-year-old Randle for the time being and Kuhn says he has been in contact with them and is satisfied with the procedure being followed.

The commissioner maintains he is not an "owners' man" even though they're the ones who hired him and are paying his salary. That's fine. But he can't be a "players' man," either when he has clear-cut evidence one of them has conducted himself not in the best interests of Baseball.

I once asked Pete Rozelle what he thought was a commissioner's chief functions, and he told me he felt a commissioner had to be completely neutral and address himself equally to the needs and interests of the game itself, the fans, the players and management. It was a perfect answer.

There is an urgent need now for special steel plate in his head. He was pitching batting practice one day, while managing the Pine Bluff, Ark. club and he was hit by a line drive. Two holes had to be drilled in Lucchesi's head to relieve the pressure on his brain and for days the doctors weren't sure whether he would live or die. He was in the hospital a month.

Now the Rangers have word Randle would like to make a public apology to Lucchesi. Isn't that generous of him?

Meanwhile, the Texas manager has trouble breathing in an Orlando, Fla., hospital because of back contusions. He has heard about the Players' Association planning to file a "grievance" against the Rangers for suspending Randle and that almost stops him altogether.

"My mother always told me to be

Notes off the cuff
Harlem Globetrotters will exhibit their basketball wizardry Saturday night at the Hartford Civic Center against the New Jersey Reds. If you haven't seen the Trotters, it's a good show even though you know who's going to win. The Reds haven't beaten the black magicians once in the last five years. Could an NBA club handle the Globetrotters? No question, the last place NBA squad could give the Trotters a lesson in straight basketball. Mike Quessel of Suffolk Academy, Gary Carlson of St. Catharic and John Lusa of Loomis helped a Springfield sponsored team win the Holyoke Basketball Tournament and the trio repeated the feat in the Springfield Daily News tourney this week. Rita Dumond, of Manchester, representing the Greater Hartford Women's Bowling Association, presented a check for $88 to the Newtoning Veterans Hospital from its recent duckpin tourney. Stafford Speedway will present the Spring Sizzler (stock car race) April 16 with 100 cars and drivers expected with $24,000 in purses being offered.

End of the line
Nick DeMarco, MCC basketball standout, has been named to the COCAA all-star second team. The Cougar captain, out of Penney High, averaged 14.6 points per game. One-time Manchester baseball star, Sam Hewitt writes from Phoenix, Ariz., and is closing in on 72 years. Hewitt writes to Jack Stratton, a former teammate, that he hopes to play in Manchester this summer. The latter season and American won both regular league and playoff laurels over ABA Tool in the First Annual Volleyball League while the Insurers performed the same feat in the National League. The North Enders winding up second best in the playoffs.

Kingman issues Mets ultimatum

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dave Kingman, seeking to become the highest-paid 238-thrower in baseball history, has given the New York Mets an ultimatum:

"Sign me or trade me" by the April 6 start of the season is what Kingman, who hit 37 homers last season, told the New York club Thursday, adding "I am not signed by opening day, I am not sign in 1977."

The Mets have offered Kingman a contract of about $200,000 a year, pretty close to what they are paying three-time Cy Young Award winner Tom Seaver, but Kingman wants about $3-million a season spread over five or six years. He says he'll play out his option if he doesn't reach such an agreement before opening day.

"I am trying to encourage them to come to the negotiating table," Kingman said Thursday. "I am not the type of person who could play in New York without a contract. I just couldn't handle it. If they don't sign me now they will not be competitive with the 25 other clubs in the major leagues," Kingman added. "Up to now, they haven't been."

General Manager Joe McDonald indicated the Mets would trade Kingman rather than grant him the huge contract but also insisted they would rather have him play for them.

The New York Yankees, meanwhile, induced third baseman Graig Nettles to forget his plans to renegotiate a three-year $400,000 pact which he signed last July and signed a $1-million five-year contract. Owner George Steinbrenner said there would be no extension of Nettles' contract.

Nuggets heading for final drive

NEW YORK (UPI) — Like a well-handled thoroughbred, the Denver Nuggets are moving into position for the final drive.

"As we go down the stretch, we'll be looking for consistency," said Coach Larry Brown, whose club stopped the Buffalo Braves 110-95 with no trouble Thursday night. "We've got to rebound better and cut down on our mistakes."

David Thompson, the club's leading scorer, led Denver with 33 points as the Nuggets moved to within two games of clinching the Midwest Division crown.

Denver, which broke right from the starting gate with an excellent beginning of the season, needs a combination of just two wins or Detroit losses to capture the divisional title in its first year in the league. Detroit did not play Thursday.

The Nuggets, hitting 49 percent from the floor and leading by 40 points at 20 minutes in the second quarter, also got 21 points from all-star Bobby Jones, who helped ignite the Nuggets' race-horse fastbreak. Wayne Simmon pitched a three-hitter for seven innings and won a job on the California roster as the Angels scored a 4-1 win over the San Diego Padres. Butch Hobson hit a two-run single and Bill Campbell started in relief in the Boston Red Sox' 9-2 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

John Drew's 38 points snapped Atlanta's four-game losing streak and extended New York's losing string to 10. Steve Hawes and Ken Charles each added 15 points for the Hawks. Jan van Breda Kolff was high for the Nets with 18.

Knick's 125, Pacers 131

Walt Frazier scored a season-high 41 points, handed out 11 assists and made six steals to fire New York. Bob McAdoo added 20 points for the Knicks. The Pacers, who trailed by as many as 17 in the second period, were sparked by Billy Knight's 41 points and Dave Robisch's 30, tying his career high.

Warriors 125, Spurs 116

Rick Barry scored 25 points. Jamaal Wilkes 24 and Clifford Ray 23 to pace Golden State. San Antonio, which cut the Warriors' lead to 110-106 with five minutes to go, got 28 points from George Gervin.

One problem remains for NFL

PHOENIX (UPI) — National Football League club owners, who look a big step forward by extending the playing schedule and post-season playoffs, have only one problem left to settle.

They hope to do it by taking up the question of retro-active compensation before concluding their annual spring meeting.

Thursday, on the next to last day of the week-long meetings, they reinstated the taxi squad and made four minor rules changes. But, as many had expected, they did not vote on the so-called "George Atkinson rule," preferring instead to table it for a couple of months.

"Like it or not, we have to conclude our meetings on Friday," said commissioner Pete Rozelle, "because our reservations in Phoenix run out."

Rozelle, of course, was being

North Stars, Kings fatten up on losers

NEW YORK (UPI) — Minnesota and Los Angeles Wings' fans was that the club offered to redeem the night's tickets for free ones to Saturday's last home game against Pittsburgh. If the Wings had won, there would have been no free tickets.

The North Stars, getting third period goals 2:47 apart from Dean Talafous and Jim Roberts and routed Detroit Phoenix 6-2 and San Diego outwitted Winnipeg 4-3.

WIA

Mike Antonovich's two third period goals, his 39th and 40th, helped the Whalers down the Roadrunners, and Joe Norris' second goal of the game and 30th of the season with 26 seconds to play countered two goals by Bobby Hull and edged the Mariners past the Jets.

Minnesota's victory boosted them into second place in the Smythe Division, a point ahead of Vancouver and three in front of the final two playoff berths to be determined.

Los Angeles triumphed at Pittsburgh in the battle for second place in the Norris Division and also two points ahead of Atlanta and one behind Toronto. These four clubs are contesting for the last two home ice advantages in the Preliminary Round of the playoffs.

Antonovich keys Whalers' win

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Mike Antonovich scored two of New England's four goals in the third period Thursday night for a 6-2 World Hockey Association victory over the Phoenix Roadrunners.

Antonovich scored his 39th and 40th goals of the season for the Whalers' in the final period. Mike Rogers and Dave Keon completed the New England scoring in that period.

Eagles ready to defend Class M track laurels

It's always more difficult to defend but 1976 outdoor Class M track champion East Catholic High is ready, willing and looking very capable of capturing a second straight title. Coach Dave Kelley optimistically will send his 1977 troops into their first action Thursday against St. Paul in Bristol.

The Eagles, 10-2 in dual meets last season, unlike past years don't appear to have a super sprinter. But Kelley quickly notes his squad will be strong from the 400-yard run up to the two-mile. The high jump, where he has cleared 6-foot and three have bettered 6-foot 8-inches, will be a major strength for East.

Indian softball squad lists four spots filled

Four positions appear set for what's on second? proposition for the 1977 Manchester High girls' softball team elsewhere. Those questions will have to be answered somewhat Thursday as Indians, 12-5 in league play, open an 18-game schedule against Hall High in West Hartford.

It looks like the Indians will have some offensive punch as two of the top three batters, Gerry Tracy, 431 with Downham, Adams (when not pitching) or junior Cathy Grant, a veteran, or a number of others with the determining factor being who's wielding a hot stick will patrol right, it appears.

Town cost-cutting methods compiled in CCM report

Town Manager Robert B. Weiss has listed some of the Town of Manchester's economy steps, including the closing of libraries on Sunday and the postponing of capital improvements, in a recent survey conducted by the Connecticut Conference of Municipalities (CCM).

He also mentioned the closing of libraries on Sunday, another item that he is hoping to restore in the upcoming budget. The Manchester postpaid capital improvements, A total of 16 have reduced road paving and maintenance and eight have cut back on snow-removal services.

Committee approves measure for right turns at red lights

HARTFORD (UPI) — The legislature's Transportation Committee has overwhelmingly approved a plan to allow Connecticut motorists to make right-hand turns at red lights after making a full stop.

Under existing law, motorists are allowed to make right-hand turns where signs permit it. This represents about 5 per cent of the red light intersections in the state. The new proposal would reverse that and make it legal to make turns where signs don't prohibit it. This would affect about 80 per cent of the red lights in the state.

Town to seek federal aid for new industrial park

The Town of Manchester is completing its application for federal funding that might be available to pay for development costs of the proposed industrial park. Town Manager Robert B. Weiss said that Alan Lamson of the Planning Department and Jay J. Giles of the Public Works Department have been working on the application.

Several blind individuals lobbied heavily behind the measure saying that and make it legal to make turns where signs don't prohibit it. This would affect about 80 per cent of the red lights in the state.

An attractive lawn and landscaping add substantially to the value of suburban homes and properties. Greenery also makes prospective buyers feel the house itself has been well taken care of and increases the speed with which a house is sold. Take a good look at the outside of your home if you are selling. Maybe you can help a faster sale by planting flowers and shrubs now.

HOLLYWOOD SECTION
7 room Colonial recently remodeled. Immaculate condition. Prime location, new wall to wall throughout, 1st floor family room, garage.

The lighter side:

On bench with the Bard

By DICK WEST WASHINGTON (UPI) — Nothing could have been more fitting than to have had the finals of the NCAA basketball tournament and the Motion Picture Academy Awards on the same evening.

That impression was borne out by the snippets of film shown at Monday night's ceremony, as compared to the sideline thespianism picked up by the TV cameras during the basketball game.

Yet it was no match for McGuire's dramatics. Now there is an actor for you! I can't prove this, but I suspect some coaches take drama lessons.

Eagles ready to defend Class M track laurels

By LEN AUSTER
Herald Sportswriter

It's always more difficult to defend but 1976 outdoor Class M track champion East Catholic High is ready, willing and looking very capable of capturing a second straight title. Coach Dave Kelley optimistically will send his 1977 troops into their first action Thursday against St. Paul in Bristol.

MCC ready for home opener

Sipples in the 220 and 440, senior Mike Hennessey in the 800, senior Luke O'Connor in the mile, and seniors Eric Lecko and Steve Colbert and freshmen John Clifford in the two-mile head the East contingent. Senior Bob Frank, indoor champ, is East's best in the 120 and 300-yard hurdles. Lack of depth in the hurdles and pole vault, Kelley notes, could hurt.

Senior Dave Kolakowski, who's leaped 6 feet, 4 1/2 inches, and senior Bob Caffrey, Class M indoor champ, head a strong high jumping list which also includes sophomore Mark Fournier. The latter, according to Kelley, is a "remarkable athlete" who excels in the pole vault, high jump, and hurdles. Kelley also expects a contender for the state decathlon championship in the not too distant future.

For all that's been said, the key, however, to how well (or bad) the Eagles fare will be in the weight events. Like a year ago East has a young weight team. Two of the more experienced performers, seniors Jon Lindberg and Bill Gorman, will have to pick up the East contingent. Kelley anticipates a showdown on the basketball court and a "gifted athlete" is ticketed for duty in the shot put and discus with Gorman also in the latter event. The Fournier brothers, sophomore Mark and senior Emile, head the entries in the javelin.

Scott ready

BOSTON (UPI) — Charlie Scott, out of action for 37 games with a broken arm, will be ready to play Sunday when the Boston Celtics play the division-leading Philadelphia 76ers at Boston Garden.

Scott broke his left forearm Jan. 12 when he fell against a padded basket in Eastern Rivals, 19 at Hartford. He was expected to return Wednesday prior to the Celtics 48-88 win over the Chicago Bulls in Indianapolis.

Indian softball squad lists four spots filled

Four positions appear set but it's a 'who's on first, what's on second' proposition for the 1977 Manchester High girls' softball team. Those questions will have to be answered somewhat Thursday as the Indians, 12-5 and runnerup in the CCIL a year ago, open an 18-game schedule against Hall High in West Hartford.

Town cost-cutting methods compiled in CCM report

Town Manager Robert B. Weiss has listed some of the Town of Manchester's economy steps, including the closing of libraries on Sunday and the postponing of capital improvements, in a recent survey conducted by the Connecticut Conference of Municipalities (CCM). CCM's Task Force on the Municipal Fiscal Crisis sought information from state communities on steps that have been taken to meet the recent fiscal problems facing local government.

Weiss said that Manchester has imposed a hiring freeze. He also mentioned the closing of libraries on Sunday, another item that he is hoping to restore in the upcoming budget.

Other steps taken to help the town's economic standing include: heating contracts on municipal buildings, increasing the effort to collect back taxes, and adopting alternative printing methods and insurance plans.

The CCM's task force study showed that 23 of the 37 communities that responded have, like Manchester, postponed capital improvements. A total of 16 has reduced road paving and maintenance and eight have cut back on snow-removal services.

Eight municipalities said that they have postponed the purchase of police cars, three reduced the size of police patrols and two are using fewer men on fire trucks.

Staff cuts were also imposed by several towns. Eleven communities reduced education staffs, ten cut the number of public works employees, five lowered the size of the recreation department, four cut the police department's size, and three reduced the fire department.

Under existing law, motorists are allowed to make right-hand turns where signs permit it. This represents about 9 per cent of the red light intersections in the state.

The panel approved the measure 14-2 and sent it to the Appropriations Committee Thursday also approved measures to increase the amount of weight a truck may carry on state roads.

The right-of-repair proposal, already in effect in several states, would allow a motorist to turn right a red light after making a complete stop. There would be certain intersections in the state where the right-of-repair would be prohibited because of safety factors.

The measure was rejected by the committee Thursday on a 5-1 vote. The House passed measure already has been endorsed by the Senate General Committee.

Vermont is the only state in the region without some sort of money game.

Manchester police report

Brian P. Chadwick, 19, of 9 Lincoln St., was charged with second-degree larceny Thursday by Manchester police after he was turned over to Manchester police by state police.

Chadwick was arrested by the state police from Stafford Barracks on 148 in Union after a high speed chase of about three-miles while allegedly driving a stolen car.

State police charged Chadwick with second-degree larceny, reckless driving, operating a motor vehicle while his license is under suspension and disobeying an officer's signal. State police turned him over to Manchester police after he was released on a $500 bond.

Police said the car was stolen from the driveway of 181 Center St. and was owned by Frederick Corey of that address. The car was missing early Thursday.

Chadwick was being held today in lieu of $500 bond for presentation in court today.

Robbery suspect arrested in attic

Manchester Police Detectives arrested a robbery suspect at gunpoint Thursday afternoon in the attic of a Vine St. home.

Leo G. Cole, 23, of no certain address, was arrested on charges of first-degree robbery and second-degree larceny in connection with a hold-up at Pete's Grocery on E. Center St. last Sunday afternoon.

Police said Cole was allegedly the robber who entered the store armed with a gun and took $100 in cash from the store clerk.

After receiving permission from the owner, Detective Roy Abbie and Sgt. Samuel Kotsch searched the home. They said they found Cole hiding in a locked closet in the attic.

He had in his possession a .22 caliber revolver of the same description as the gun used in the robbery, police said.

Cole surrendered without resistance. He was being held at Manchester Police Headquarters in lieu of $25,000 bond for presentation in court later today.

Another suspect in the robbery, Thomas C. Dumais, 23, of 26 Wells St., was arrested Wednesday. He was allegedly the driver of the car in which the robber fled.

Dumais was being held in lieu of $25,000 in the Seams St. jail in Hartford.

Committee approves measure for right turns at red lights

HARTFORD (UPI) — The legislature's Transportation Committee has overwhelmingly approved a plan to allow Connecticut motorists to make right-hand turns at red lights after making a full stop.

The legislature's Transportation Committee Thursday also approved measures to increase the amount of weight a truck may carry on state roads.

The right-of-repair proposal, already in effect in several states, would allow a motorist to turn right a red light after making a complete stop.

There would be certain intersections in the state where the right-of-repair would be prohibited because of safety factors.

An attractive lawn and landscaping add substantially to the value of suburban homes and properties. Greenery also makes prospective buyers feel the house itself has been well taken care of and increases the speed with which a house is sold. Take a good look at the outside of your home if you are selling. Maybe you can help a faster sale by planting flowers and shrubs now.

MANCHESTER
Antique sixteen acres. Two distinct antique houses reassembled on new foundations with all new basics. Meticulous attention to authentic detail. 15 rooms, 3 full baths, 8 fireplaces, 3 bake ovens, 16 acres. Superlative in every respect. Exceptionally private.
