Crossroads seeks usable furniture

Broken springs and loose joints don't provide very comfortable furnishings at Crossroads, Manchester's drug advisory center, for those who attend counseling sessions and discussion groups.

Crossroads is currently in need of couches, armchairs and a few collectibles.

Anyone having any to donate may call Crossroads at 646-2015 to arrange for pickup.

Vacation programs slated

All residents of Mayfair Gardens are invited to play setback Friday at 7:30 p.m. in Copin Hall.

Al-Anon family groups will meet tonight at 8 at the Pathfinders Club, 102 Norman St., with the beginners group meeting at 7:30, and Friday at 10 a.m. at South United Methodist Church campus. Ateaten for the 12- to 20-year-old children of problem drinkers will meet tonight at 8 at the Pathfinders Club. The family groups are open to those affected by someone with a drinking problem.

The Christian Growth Group of North United Methodist Church will meet tonight at 9 at the church.

The Mary Cheney Library junior room will present a series of film programs for children in kindergarten through Grade 8 on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday of school vacation week next week.

The programs, each of which is about 45 minutes long, will be shown at 10:30 a.m. and repeated at 2:30 p.m.

Monday's program includes "Circus Animals," "The Ugly Duckling," "The Boy and the North Wind," and "Rosie's Walk."

On Wednesday, the films are all from Maurice Sendak's works. They are "A Kiss for Little Bear," "Where the Wild Things Are," and "Really Rosie," recently featured on television.

Thursday's program will show "Moose Baby," "Nature Boy," "A Story, A Story," and "The Three Robbers."

Assumption Church plans 'Day of Understanding'

The Church of the Assumption will sponsor a "Day of Understanding" Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m. in the church hall.

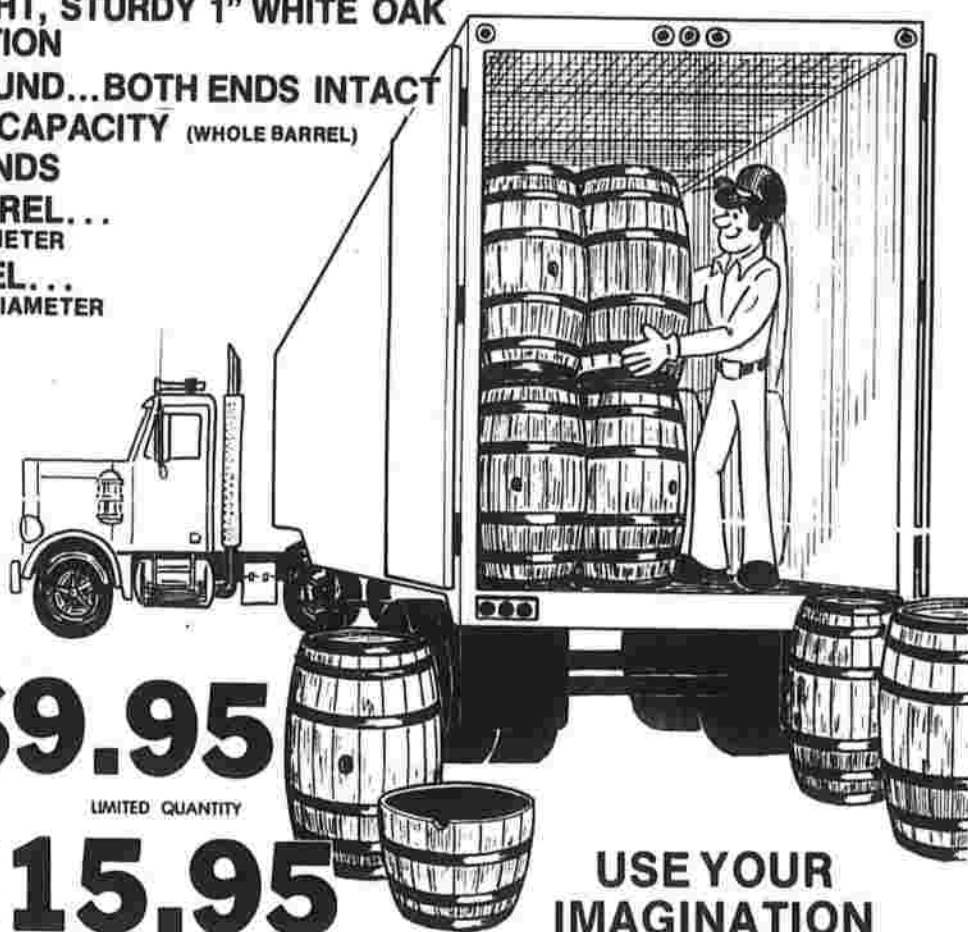

The program is designed to give parishioners an opportunity to become more aware of what is happening both socially and spiritually in the life of the church and to bridge communication between the active life of church organizations and the faith community.

Booths representing every facet of parish life will include Assumption School, The Folk Group, Marriage Encounter, Cursillo, and the Legion of Mary, as well as many others. Refreshments will be served.

HARTFORD—The Connecticut House of Representatives today passed a bill to encourage energy conservation with a gasoline tax that could reach 50 cents a gallon.

In a nationally televised news conference that wrapped up his week-long energy blitz, Carter said the gasoline tax is an essential part of his plan despite the controversy it has raised among members of Congress. He denied he proposed it as a bargaining chip.

"I will fight for it to the last vote in Congress," Carter said.

HARTFORD—The House of Representatives today passed one of the laws that make Connecticut's liquor prices the most expensive in New England—the "fair trade" law allowing liquor manufacturers to set shelf prices.

Two other marks, 21 per cent for retailers and 11 per cent for wholesalers, were not affected.

HARTFORD—Bills to aid private schools and allow heavier trucks on state highways have been resurrected in the legislature via the petition route.

HARTFORD—Women have been illegally loitering in Connecticut bars for many years. But now, the House has decided the fairer sex can hang out at the local watering holes anytime it wants.

Regional

BOSTON—The Massachusetts Supreme Court rules the state's blue laws, restricting Sunday sales, are constitutional.

AUGUSTA, Maine—Imates say a bill to allow conjugal visits is the only way to prevent growing tension at the Maine State Prison.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass.—A U. S. Navy officer, Herman L. Harris, was held in lieu of $750,000 bail in Virginia today in connection with the fatal shooting last month of his mother, sister and an elderly brother in the women's Easthampton home. He is to be arraigned today.

National

TRENTON, N. J.—A man claiming to be the father of the unborn child of a 19-year-old woman has obtained a court order temporarily barring the woman from having an abortion.

Split under study by health agencies

The Manchester Public Health Nursing Association is seriously considering hiring its own home health aides and if so it appears that the contract with the Manchester Homemaker Service, Inc. will be terminated.

The MPHNA has been contracting the services of the Homemaker Service, Inc. since 1974. The association has full responsibility for the health aides but not the hiring.

The current contract between the association and the Homemaker Service expires June 30. Either party wishing to sever the contract must give 30 days notice, Mrs. Lewis said.

Forest fire burns 45 acres in Bolton Notch vicinity

By DOUG BEVINS
Suburban Editor

A raging brush and woods fire blackened about 45 acres of forest land near Bolton Notch and Box Mountain afternoon.

More than a hundred fire fighters from several towns fought the blaze for hours. Thousands of gallons of water, brought in by four-wheel-drive vehicles, were poured into the woods.

The difficulty of getting water to the fire was a continuing problem. Fire fighters would begin to make progress in fighting the fire when the water would run out.

More than once, fire companies had to retreat from their positions until more water could be obtained.

At one point, a vast wall of flames threatened Vernon fire fighters, who left their gear and ran. Several hundred feet of fire hose and other equipment were lost in the flames.

No one was hurt in the lengthy struggle against the fire. A Manchester Ambulance crew was standing by at W.H. Preuss & Sons store on Rts. 6 and 4A, Bolton, just in case.

The fire was first reported at 1:46 p.m. as a brush fire behind the state highway garage at Bolton Notch.

The first fire company on the scene — Bolton's new forestry truck with about eight men — entered the woods at the rear of the Preuss store.

"At first, it looked small, just about four or five acres," Bolton Fire Capt. Lance Dimock said. "But it got away from us and took off."

Dimock, the officer in charge of the effort, said customary brush fire equipment — Indian tanks — was of little use. Large amounts of water were needed, and the five-gallon, back-pack Indian tanks couldn't do the job.

The Bolton forestry truck and other heavy-duty vehicles called to the scene relayed water from fire engines into the woods for more than two hours before the flames were contained.

Vernon Fire Department Cos. 1 and 2 were called in at 2:14 p.m. They laid hose from the top of Vernon's Box Mtn. Rd. but still had trouble getting water close to the flames.

Shifting wind directions and gusts up to about 30 miles an hour complicated the fire fighting effort. Many fire fighters used portable breathing apparatus to avoid smoke inhalation.

Other fire departments called during the course of the fire included the Town of Manchester, Tolland, North Coventry, and the state forestry unit of the Department of Environmental Protection.

The state sent an airplane to help direct fire fighters from above. The estimate of burning land, by personnel in the air, was at least 45 acres.

During the forest fire, there was a false alarm in another area of Bolton. Someone reported a structure fire on Plymouth Lane, and standby fire companies responded.

There were several other smaller brush and woods fires in surrounding towns during the Bolton fire.

Fire fighters had the Bolton fire contained about two and a half hours after it was first reported. Out-of-town fire fighters were released at about 6 p.m., but Bolton volunteers remained on the scene, dousing embers, until after 10 p.m.

Officials suspected children of starting the fire, either accidentally or intentionally. Fire fighters pointed out that the area is criss-crossed by well-used motorcycle paths and hiking trails.

New fighting erupts in south Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI)—Heavy fighting with artillery, mortars, machine guns and ground-to-ground missiles raged in southern Lebanon today between Christian militiamen and Palestinian guerrillas, shattering four days of calm on the tense southern border.

There was no immediate report of casualties in the clashes between the Christian rightists, entrenched in their stronghold of Marjayoun and Kieia, and the Palestinians in nearby Kham and Ebel es Saqi.

Martial law declared

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (UPI)—Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto has declared martial law in three of Pakistan's largest cities to halt an antigovernment rioting that is posing a "grave danger" to the country.

Bhutto imposed martial law Thursday in Karachi — the nation's largest city — Hyderabad and Lahore, the government said.

Coleman Bros. Show coming to Parkade

A "Super Hurricane" and "Giant Slide" are two of the new attractions which will be brought to Manchester next week by Coleman Bros. Shows. An annual visitor to the city, the 30-mile midway will open Tuesday evening at the Manchester Parkade under the sponsorship of the Manchester Parkade Merchants Association. The show will be in operation starting at 4 p.m. nightly Tuesday through Friday and at noon on Saturday and Sunday its final days in Manchester. The Super Hurricane weighs about 20 tons and can accommodate up to 60 carnival-goers each hour in cars which revolve rapidly around a towering center pylon, climbing as high as 33 feet before plunging toward the ground. The Giant Slide provides an undulating sliding surface more than 100 feet in length from a maximum height of 30 feet. Other 1977 rides, midway owner Robert Coleman said, will include "The Zipper," "Flying Bobs," "Skydiver," "Swinger," and a special custom-sized kiddie car capable of supplying enough power to light a small city. Coleman has announced that several performances daily, and a "Witches' Castle," "Chamber of Horrors," and popular amusement show will also be among the dozens of attractions. Patrons of the Scooter will find all-new bumper cars, and there will be numerous skill games and food concessions serving popcorn, cotton candy, candied apples, and other traditional carnival favorites, according to the merchants. Coleman Bros. Shows, with headquarters in Middletown, is embarking on its 62nd annual tour of Connecticut, New York, New Hampshire, and Massachusetts, concluding next fall with participation in eight major northeast fairs. One of the largest traveling midways in the area, it will cover approximately 3,000 miles during its six-month season. Four generations of the Coleman family manage the huge amusement enterprise, including founder Dick Coleman whose 1916 purchase of a used Merry-Go-Round has evolved into the current show. Traveling in a caravan of nearly 100 vehicles, the midway becomes virtually self-sufficient when in full operation, with huge electrical generators capable of supplying enough power to light a small city. Coleman has announced that special discount ride coupon books will also be available daily on the show lot.

PUCA wants hearing on utility dispute settlement proposal

HARTFORD (UPI) — The Public Utilities Control Authority says it will not agree to a proposed settlement of lawsuits against Northeast Utilities without a public hearing. Northeast, Connecticut's largest supplier of electricity, earlier this month reached agreements with consumer groups to dispose of the backlog of court cases over its rate increase requests. Thursday PUCA said it would not approve any part of the agreement until after a hearing at which it can examine the proposal. The agreement is subject to the approval of a number of groups, including the PUCA. Under the proposed settlement, Northeast would refund more than $5 million to consumers in checks of $4.28 each and reduce its rates by $21.6 million effective May 1. The PUCA says it has no say on the refunds, but must approve the May 1 date because it had ordered the firm last year to roll back rates in December. Northeast's appeal of that ruling is one of the legal cases the firm has agreed to drop in the settlement. Some consumer groups have hailed the agreement as a step forward in the consumer's battle against utility prices. But others have been less enthusiastic, noting Northeast stands to lose much less from the agreement than if it lost its court appeals. The PUCA, in a letter to Northeast attorney Michael Halloran, said, "PUCA will not enter into any stipulation with the parties at this time without having first examined in-depth the terms of the proposed stipulation." That examination has been scheduled for May 3.

Woods closed

HARTFORD (UPI) — The decision by Metropolitan District Commission officials to close about 3,000 acres of woodland around six reservoirs in Avon, Farmington, Thursday after about five acres of trees and brush at West Hartford and Bloomfield have been closed to the public until a good rainfall reduces the danger of fire.

Manchester police report

Two men were arrested on Green Rd. today about 12:40 a.m. on charges of third-degree criminal mischief after reports of a disturbance on the street. Police said they received a report of two men yelling in the road and knocking over garbage cans. The two suspects were stopped a short distance from the scene and charged. They were Lawrence J. Willey, 24, of 112 Elizabeth Dr. and Joseph M. Blanski, 23, of 44 Sauliers Rd. They were processed and released on $500 nonsurety bonds for court appearance May 2.

Richard M. Glew, 20, of Andover, was charged with third-degree criminal mischief Thursday night after police received a report of a fight on Spruce St. between E. Center and Bissell Sts. No fight was seen, but Glew was apprehended as he was running toward back yards on Spruce St. He was later released on a promise to appear in court May 2.

About town

Robin Chapter of the American Business Women's Association will meet Monday at the Marco Polo Restaurant, East Hartford. Dinner will be served at 7 p.m. James Fitzgerald, executive secretary of the state Commission on Special Revenue, will be guest speaker.

Gospel music concert set

The Bill Gaither Trio, winner of two Grammy awards, will present a concert of original gospel songs Saturday at 7:30 p.m. at Hartford's Civic Center Arena. The trio includes Nashville's Henry and Hazel Slaughter who appear with The Gaither Trio in the concert. The Gaither Trio in a few short years has leapt to the forefront of gospel songwriting. Bill Gaither, writer, pianist and bass vocalist, heads the trio which includes his wife, Gloria, who also does much of the writing, and his brother and lead singer, Danny. In 1972, their song "He Touched Me" was named as the song by an American composer with the greatest international exposure. In 1973 and 1975, the National Academy of Performing Arts and Sciences awarded the Gaithers for the Best Inspirational Performance with their albums "Let's Just Praise the Lord" and "Jesus, We Just Want to Thank You." Gaither's song, "Because He Lives," was named as the Gospel Song of the Year in 1974.

Engineers defend nuclear power use

Contending that nuclear sources should be harnessed to help solve both short range and long range energy problems, two engineers from Combustion Engineering of Windsor addressed about 60 persons at South United Methodist Church Wednesday night. The speakers were Richard F. vonHoffen and Philip H. Rosenthal. Their presentation was arranged by the church's Social Action Committee. While he acknowledged that all methods for saving energy and for producing more of it should be explored and put to practice, vonHoffen argued that uranium should be used to generate electricity, freeing coal for other purposes. On conservation, vonHoffen said the simple life with low energy consumption advocated by some persons would require a drastic change in lifestyle and a serious cut in the productivity that has characterized American society. He called it a delaying action and not a cure. He saw solar energy as a means for supplementary domestic heating and possibly for principal domestic heating, but too weak a source for widespread power production. He said wood burning and windmills are limited and fossil fuels obviously in limited supply. He said uranium and plutonium as the most immediate adequate and economical source with exotic processes like fusion in the future. He disagreed with President Jimmy Carter's viewpoint that the nation does not have to use plutonium now. VonHoffen contended that nuclear power is the one energy source that the nation has not gone into willingly, that it is the only one which has been approached with pre-planning. He said that many other dangers people face. He cited statistics to show that the likelihood of nuclear accident is far less than that of many other dangers people face. Spent fuel, he said, while highly radioactive, is a small amount of material stored well away from the public and will remain stored for long periods of time. Rosenthal agreed that proliferation of plutonium with its destructive potential is a problem, but felt the problem can and should be solved.

Town lists projects to be submitted for state turnback funding

The Town of Manchester has announced the six highway projects that it will submit for funding through Interstate Trade-In Funds. The trade-in funds, also known as turnback funds, are from highway projects that were proposed but later canceled. The funds are administered locally by the Capital Region Council of Government (CRCOG) Transportation Committee. The town announced last week that it would seek about $3 million of the $40 million that CRCOG has been provided in turnback funds. The six projects recommended by Jay J. Giles, director of public works, are: Intersection reconstruction at Tolland Tpk., Buckland Rd., Adams St. and New State Rd., estimated cost $810,000. Intersection reconstruction at Tolland Tpk., Buckland Rd., Adams St. and New State Rd., estimated cost $810,000. Main St. reconstruction from Charter Oak to Center St., estimated cost $1,375,000. Improvements at Main and Center Sts. intersection, estimated cost $500,000. Reconstruction on Vernon St. and W. Vernon St., estimated cost $700,000. Reconstruction on Hillstown Rd., estimated cost $1,200,000. The total cost of the project is $5,350,000. If the projects are approved, 70 percent of all eligible costs would be paid by the federal trade-in funds. This would result in about $3,945,000, according to Giles.

About town

The Perennial Planters Garden Club will meet Monday at 8 p.m. at the home of Susan Fausman, 20 Bruce Rd. Jack Grand will speak on culinary herbs. Co-hostesses will be Ethel Lange and Jacqueline Britton. Britannia Chapter, Daughters of the British Empire, will have a Silver Jubilee Brunch Sunday from 12:30 to 4 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Simmons Jr., 67 Crestwood Dr., West Hartford, and not Greenwood Dr. as reported in Wednesday's Herald. The action means the town's two school projects up for funding will remain the same, at $1.1 million for Washington School and $608,805 for Wesley School. A group of parents from Washington School and the West Side Recreation area made a good presentation to the Education committee at a hearing Monday, Cummings said. The project will also include demolition of the old West Side Rec building and construction of a new gymnasium and recreation facility to be used jointly by the school and the Recreation Department.

Renovation bond bill returned to the House

The Education Committee of the state legislature has rejected an amendment which would have amended the formula for funding for the $87 million school construction bill and sent the bill back to the House. A vote on the bill and approval is expected within a week, said State Rep. Ted Cummings (D-12th), a member of the Education Committee. The action means the town's two school projects up for funding will remain the same, at $1.1 million for Washington School and $608,805 for Wesley School. A group of parents from Washington School and the West Side Recreation area made a good presentation to the Education committee at a hearing Monday, Cummings said. The ERA cliffhanger

Back in the early years of the century, a suffragette was defined as "one who has ceased to be a lady and has not yet become a gentleman."

Women did eventually achieve "gentleman" status in 1920 by virtue of the 19th Amendment, which accorded them full voting equality with men.

Today, it is the heirs of the suffragettes, the women's "libbers," who are having a hard time winning respectability.

When the proposed Equal Rights Amendment was passed by Congress on March 22, 1972, its ratification by the states seemed assured.

Who in these modern times would be against something which stated simply that "Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of sex?"

Off to a fast and furious start, the ERA was approved by 35 states within the next five years. But there it became stuck - three states short of the 38 necessary to make it a part of the Constitution.

Nearly all the states have now spoken on the amendment, and 12 have rejected it, some of them more than once.

Latest setback was in Florida, where after an emotional debate the state senate voted it down for the second time.

This was the fourth rejection of the ERA since January, and many fear it may have been fatal. In the face of solidifying resistance, supporters of the amendment have less than two years left to reach the magic number of 38 before the approval deadline of March 22, 1979.

Why this resistance? Much of it can be attributed to an effective campaign mounted by ERA opponents, who have raised all kinds of fears that it would deprive women of many of their traditional privileges, undermine the family, lead to homosexual marriages and unisex public lavatories and send women into combat in time of war.

It has also been noted that most of the defeats for the ERA have been in the states of the old South, which have always been more conservative and where the idea that men should be gentlemen and women should be ladies is still highly honored.

(Florida, also voted against the 19th Amendment in 1919.) But not a little of the reaction must be attributed to "Ms.-takes" by women's liberation leaders themselves, who came on too strong a few years ago as man-hating, housewife-despising radicals.

Fairly or unfairly, that image became fixed in the public mind, and a later playing down of the malechauvinist-pig approach has not been able to erase it. It is significant that the more recent opposition to the ERA has not been among men but among women.

Yet most of these same women support the philosophy behind the Equal Rights Amendment, if not the amendment itself. Thus failure of the ERA, if that is what the Florida vote portends, will not mean failure of the women's movement. It has already won immense gains for women in terms of equal pay and equal opportunities, and it will win more in the future as it continues to focus on wiping out every vestige of unfair sexual discrimination.

The first suffragettes did not live to see their cause triumph. If it is any consolation to their counterparts today, a later generation of Americans, more confident and secure about the idea of equal sexual rights, will vindicate them, too.

The tax rebate

Only last week the President was adamant that the whole of his economic stimulus package, including the tax rebate, must go through. That he has changed his mind now is evidence of flexibility.

The decision to drop the plan shows that in matters economic the Carter administration is essentially conservative.

It was the fear of a resurgence of inflation that eventually won out. If the U.S. economy really is beginning to expand at a fairly rapid rate (and there have been one or two false starts) before the pressure on other countries to reflate should diminish. Much of this pressure has come directed primarily at West Germany and Japan.

Yet if the U.S. administration decides that inflation is now the number one danger, it cannot reasonably continue to press the Germans and the Japanese to expose themselves to it.

In fact, it seems that President Carter has already taken the message and the risk of a confrontation has already decreased - from The London Financial Times

"Well, if your mother WAS liberated, my Mom could lick her!"

"But will it wake him from the neck up?"

Carter bites hand...

WASHINGTON - (NEA) - There's more trouble looming between the Carter administration and organized labor, which is rapidly coming to regard the new Democratic president as a wolf in sheep's clothing.

Carter's top economic advisers have reportedly turned thumbs down on legislation long sought by the maritime union to require that 30 per cent of foreign oil headed for American refineries be shipped on U.S. flag carriers.

The House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee has held five days of hearings on the bill over the past couple of months. On each occasion, administration witnesses were asked to testify - and on each occasion, they declined, saying the president needed more time to develop a policy position.

"We haven't reached any agreement within the administration as yet," one White House official told us, adding that an effort is under way to come up with some alternative proposals for strengthening the U.S. merchant marine.

Non-alternative Labor and its supporters on Capitol Hill insist they've already considered every possible alternative and found none that would be as effective as the cargo preference bill. But they concede their pet legislation will probably fail unless the president gives his full support.

So far, our meetings at the White House on the subject have been discouraging - to say the least," said one lobbyist for the Marine Engineers' Beneficial Association, which last June held a $1,000-per-person fundraiser for Carter.

Hard to convince Organized labor has always had trouble persuading Congress to enact legislation that is of benefit primarily to its own members. That's one reason the common site picketing bill so dear to the building trades was defeated this year, and why repeal of Taft-Hartley Act, remains a distant dream.

But with Carter in the White House, in part because of labor's experience," they didn't expect Washington was going to become fat on their in. That's one

They are different

Don Oakley

The feminist dream of a society free of sexual stereotypes is running up against some hard and apparently unchangeable truths about human nature.

One of them is that, despite efforts by adults to encourage them to do otherwise, "girls play with dolls and boys play war."

So reports Dr. Brian Sutton-Smith of Columbia University Teachers College, who studied 40 boys and 40 girls in the New York area to find out whether attempts to encourage youngsters "to expand beyond traditional roles" had any impact on their play. It didn't.

He found that no matter what toys were available, the girls played with toys concerned with domestic operations while the boys played with toys oriented to activities outside the home.

Similar findings have been published in another source, which can hardly be accused of bias against women.

Sociologist Janet Lever reports in "Ms." magazine that in a year of watching fifth-graders at play, she found that girls tended to play simply to be themselves and to realize their natural potentials.

Protesters just plain folks

Speaking of movements that have resulted in less than spectacular changes in society, whatever happened to the "protest" generation of the 1960s?

The Family Service Association of America interviewed some 6,000 parents in their twenties and thirties to find out whether the rebels of a decade ago had preserved their idealism as they moved into the "real world."

As reported in Redbook magazine, it appears they are living lives much like those of their parents and are raising their children the same way they were raised. Pacifists Joan Baez and Abbie Hoffman, for example, told their children play with war toys, and sometime radical Renie Davis works for an investment company.

In a couple of important areas, today's young parents are indeed different from their parents, or are trying to be different:

They are more honest and open about the sexual education of their children, and mothers are urging their daughters to reach out for the opportunities of life. Also, the fathers are taking a more active part in the everyday raising of their children.

Otherwise, however, nearly all parents interviewed admitted that they are more like their own parents than they would have believed. As one young woman put it, "I've read all the books. I want to do the latest thing. Yet sometimes when I'm talking to my child, I can listen to myself and hear my mother's voice."

Or to paraphrase Mark Twain: It's amazing how much smarter than our parents we are when we're young - and how much they've learned by the time we reach their age.

Commentary

scrutinized by those with a serious interest in the past. That goal is an admirable one, but the Census Bureau makes a strong argument that its records deserve a special exemption. The case was most eloquently presented by Vincent P. Barabba, the director of the Census Bureau who resigned late last year.

A commitment "We view the issue as one of honoring commitments made to the American people. The government, through the census statute and the presidential proclamations, has made a promise of confidentiality regarding census information, and would compromise its integrity if it did not extend every conceivable effort to uphold that binding promise, made without exception."

Even with that policy, the Census Bureau notes that mistrust of government has become so widespread that many citizens suspect the worst. "I can recall similar promises in the past which had been broken," one letter writer told the agency.

"I appreciate your assurance that all information is held confidential, but I will tell you the truth: I don't believe it," said another citizen. "I have no reason whatever to believe that its contents will be kept either confidential or personal," writes a third.

Boys also played in larger groups, as in team sports or "war" games, and played in more mixed-age groups. Girls engaged in less cooperative, less competitive exercises.

Feminists may argue, of course, that subtle and perhaps unconscious pressures by parents and society are responsible for this stereotyped behavior by boys and girls.

But that only raises the question of why these subtle influences should be so powerful, while overt attempts to make girls and boys more alike are so remarkably unsuccessful. Most of the mothers in Sutton-Smith's study, incidentally, said they were against toys that catered to stereotyped sex roles.

Maybe boys and girls - and men and women - really are different, and what the feminist movement should be working for is not a unisex society but one in which persons of both sexes are as free as possible simply to be themselves and to realize their natural potentials.

8,000 starters

Boston's claim of staging the biggest race in the world, the annual Boston Athletic Association Marathon, wouldn't hold much water in Japan.

Thanks to Tom Horgan's well-rendered column in the Boston Herald, which was passed along by local banker Bruce Noble to Will Hadden to this desk, the Ohme Marathon in Japan attracted over 8,000 starters. Jack Semple, one of the guiding lights behind the annual staging of the Boston Marathon, visited Tokyo to see how the Japanese handle the race.

Last Monday there were 2,933 official entrants in Boston although more than 3,000 entries were received and more than 3,000 finished. There were 2,943 runners who completed the 26 miles, 385-yard grind from Hopkinton to Boston Monday. The most notable dropout was pre-race favorite Bill Rodgers.

What impressed Semple about the Japan promotion was the order that prevailed.

The Japanese were polite. Not regimented. Polite. The runners policed themselves. Americans can't do that. The majority of Americans are terribly rude when it comes to that.

The Japanese came in by train or car, took off their sweatshirts, folded them nice and neat, and left them on the side of the road, and they were still there when the runners got back. What do you think if the runners did that in Boston?

"There would be a sale of hot sweatshirts Tuesday," Semple answered his own question.

Then each runner got his number and looked up at a big board that told him exactly where to line up. Everybody was laughing and joking. Nobody was pushing and shoving. "When the gun went off," Semple said, "everyone moved out line by line. The ones in back didn't try to run over the guys in front. It was so orderly you would never know there were 8,000 starters." The start at Hopkinton, is like Manchester's start on Thanksgiving morning when the Five Mile Road Race is staged. There is a lot of bumping and pushing and minor injuries have resulted. Perhaps the Japanese system of starting a race by the numbers should be followed here. The Japanese have proven that it can be done.

Benched cleared
The most unusual baseball situation of the 1977 season to be reported involved umpires and coaches in a college varsity game. After much abuse had been heaped on the two men in blue, the plate umpire cleared one of the benches and this included the two bat girls. Central Connecticut State College has approved $10,500 a year to help meet operating expenses and the fine college marching band will be back on the field next fall after an absence of one year. Brooks Robinson is the oldest active player in the American League. The Baltimore player-coach advised to 39 summers - and winters. Billy Con will be the main speaker at the Connecticut Boxing Guild's annual dinner May 1 in Hamden. Conn is best remembered for his two bouts against Joe Louis for the Wahler guests

New England Whaler hockey players Tom Webster and Garry Swain will be the guest speakers at the annual Spring Sports Night at Ellington Ridge Country Club April 29. Day's program includes a member-guest shotgun dinner starting at 1 o'clock. Swain and Webster will both play golf. Women's Division at Ellington Ridge lists a dinner Thursday night plus a "mini" fashion show and golf tips from pros Wally Cichon, Bob Sheaffer and Kevin Conkin. UConn basketball team will participate in the Utah Classic in December, 1978. Trout fishing has been reported good to excellent throughout the state.

Hughes traded
The New York Giants traded outside linebacker Pat Hughes to the New Orleans Saints Thursday for an undisclosed 1977 draft choice.

Cougars sweep twinbill

Sweeping a doubleheader yesterday was Manchester Community College's baseball team, 4-3 and 8-1, over Greenfield Community College in Greenfield, Mass.

The Cougars, 10-5 after the double victory, scored twice in the opening inning of the first game. Neil Esposito's bases-loaded single in the third made it 3-0 and the Cougars made it 4-0 on the sixth on a wild pitch throw by Greenfield.

The homecoming Brons rallied for three tallies in the home sixth but Penney High grad Tom Downon slammed the door shut at

It was noted by both directors and Ota that the medicare officers are forcing this move on the part of the nursing association.
At its meeting Thursday the Homemaker board agreed to continue serving Manchester even if the MPHNA terminates the contract and to hire its own nurse to supervise the home health aides.
The homemaker directors, on recommendation of the executive board, agreed the agency should continue as a viable agency.
Mrs. Evelyn Hight, of the executive board, said the board had considered the possibility of merging with the nursing association, going out of business entirely, or keeping things the way they are by hiring the nursing supervisor.
Mrs. Hight also asked the board to consider the possibility of changing the name of the agency. She said the name should be more encompassing now that the agency serves so many other towns. She asked board members to bring suggestions to a workshop meeting to be conducted soon.
Public Health Nursing Association is looking for a nursing supervisor to fill a vacancy that will be created when the current supervisor, Karen Reid, leaves to go to another position.

Park-rec concerned with library parking

The Park and Recreation Commission Thursday night expressed concern over the proposed parking area expansion at Mary Cheney Library. Commission members said they would be interested in reviewing the plans for the project, which they have not seen.
The library board has called a special meeting for 5 p.m. today at the library, presumably in response to opposition expressed on the project by the Conservation Commission earlier this week.
Mrs. Teresa Parla, Conservation Commission chairperson said Thursday the commission is opposed to the parking area cutting into Center park.
The question was raised by Ernest Tureck, park superintendent Thursday night's commission meeting, whether the parking lot would be permitted use under the original deed to the land by the Cheney family.
Tureck said the town ran into a problem in 1959 when it wanted to build the addition onto the library because of the encumbrance on the park land.
Tureck said he has not seen the

MCC summer school offers 60 courses

Sixty-six credit courses in many subjects will be offered this summer by Manchester Community College (MCC) to meet needs of several student populations.
These include MCC students who wish to make up deficiencies or to accelerate their studies, recent high school graduates who wish to take courses as an introduction to college, students from other colleges who are home for the summer and wish to continue their course work, individuals who wish to develop general proficiency in business skills, and residents of the community who seek cultural enrichment.
Summer courses are open also to high school students who have recommendations from principals or guidance counselors.
The summer session will be able to serve such a diverse group of individuals because it is composed of five sessions, each with a different scheduling arrangement.

About town Council cuts fireworks but Santa is too much

Members of Campbell Council, Knights of Columbus will meet tonight at the KofC Home at 7:15 p.m. and proceed to the Burke-Fortin Funeral Home, 78 Prospect St., Rockville, to pay their respects to the late Harry Ertel, who was a member of the organization.
This will be the last year the Town of Vernon will have a fireworks display July 4, but a move to do away with Santa Claus and Christmas lights was too much for the Town Council.
During a budget workshop Thursday night, Councilman John Guiletti made a motion to cut $250 from the recreation budget to eliminate the cost of having Santa Claus in shopping areas at Christmas.
Mayor Thomas Benoit said, "I don't believe this, but let's have a roll-call vote." Guiletti was the only one voting in favor.
The suggestion to do away with the Christmas lighting was dropped because any motion was made. However, it was decided to eliminate $2,500 from the budget for fireworks displays in 1978.
Donald Berger, recreation director, said insurance problems increasing and the thousands of people who come to view the display require extra police and firemen on duty. This cost isn't figured in the recreation budget.

MMH dietary workers vote against union

Employees of the Dietary Department at Manchester Memorial Hospital Thursday voted to reject the union which has been their bargaining agent.
According to hospital officials the vote was almost two to one against retaining the union, Local 1199, National Union of Hospital and Health Care Employees, AFL-CIO.
The election was held by the National Labor Relations Board in response to a petition by the employees. Of the 28 eligible, 26 voted, 23 against the union and 13 in favor, the hospital said.
Edward M. Kenney, MMH administrator, in announcing the results of the decertification election, said, "I am extremely pleased that a group of our employees, acting on their own initiative, petitioned the National Labor Relations Board for an election to decertify Local 1199. I am even happier that the group demonstrated through their secret ballots that they feel Manchester

Town directors discuss special bus service

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter
The Board of Directors met Thursday night with Alan Mason, director of human services, to continue discussion on proposed bus service for Manchester's elderly and handicapped residents.
The cost of the proposed service, which would provide one bus each for handicapped and elderly residents, makes up much of the Human Services Department's 1977-78 budget.
The directors discussed possible options, including the town running the bus system or contracting the service to a private firm. The directors reached no formal decision Thursday night, but a letter of intent on whether the town will seek such a bus service has been requested by the Capital Region Council of Governments (CRCOG) by May 6.
Mason is today preparing a report that will detail the cost to the town if he runs the system. In this report, Mason said that he will estimate the cost about the same or even less if the town contracts the service to a private firm.
About half the cost of operating such a bus would be provided through a grant from the Greater Hartford Transit District.
Tom Ruby, representing the district, also attended the Thursday meeting and answered questions that were raised about the grant and the busing program.
Town Manager Robert B. Weiss told the board that he would prefer to see the service done on a contract basis. Support for the contracting approach was echoed by a couple of members of the board.
But, Republican Director Paul Willhide seemed to support a bid in beginning the bus service.
Council members hurried a little rushed. Just like all buses and street cars, another one will come along," he said of the proposed plan.
Mason said that he will estimate the cost about the same or even less if the town contracts the service to a private firm.

District wants voice in sewer proposal

Michael Massaro, president of the Eighth Utilities District, has written to the Town of Manchester seeking a referendum of the district.
The project, a sanitary sewer installation on New State Rd. to serve the Sunnybrook Apartments, was approved by the Town Board of Directors at its April 12 meeting.
But, the project is north of Middle Tpk, and also requires approval by the district, according to Massaro.
Much of the cost of that project will be paid by federal funds.
Massaro sent the letter to Town Manager Robert B. Weiss.
"We're fighting one thing, and they (the town) turn around and do the same thing," Massaro said, referring to the two projects.
"I just wanted to let him (Weiss) know we're still on the ball," Massaro said.

Chief reveals rape case

East Hartford Police Chief Clarence Drumm this morning revealed details of his department's search for a rapist.
The man is a white male, thin, and between five feet, eight inches and six feet tall, the chief said.
He is suspected of committing five assaults on women since October in the north half of East Hartford. Drumm said he has arrested three men in the other two cases, the women screamed and help came.
Police are also seeking a black man in the age 20s who is about five feet, 11 inches tall. He assaulted two women recently but did not rape them. Since he did not rob them either, the police suspect his motives were sexual only.
And police also received a recent report of a New Year's Eve rape of a young woman in three white males. They are investigating this report also, said Chief Drumm.

Berlin school board to consider contract

BERLIN (UPI) — The Berlin Board of Education late today was to consider another proposed two-year contract ratified Thursday by the town's teachers.
The 218-member Berlin Education Association and the school board had agreed to two previous contracts, but both were defeated by voters in special referendums.
The latest contract calls for the same salary increases — a 4.5 per cent raise this year, retroactive to July, and a 5.7 per cent hike next year — as the last two proposals.
Philip D. Doran, president of the Association of Concerned Taxpayers which forced the last two referenda, said his group will most likely seek another townwide vote unless the cost for this contract is substantially less than the last one.
The teachers had worked for only four hours a day on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday to protest delays in obtaining a contract to continue the one that expired 18 months ago.
After the tentative agreement was reached early Thursday, the BEA decided teachers would resume working a full six hours a day.
There are about 3,100 students in the town's public school system.

In South Windsor tonight

Ed Anderson and The Brotherhood, a spiritual folk-rock musical group from Boston, will perform tonight at 7:30 at Avery Street Christian Reformed Church in South Windsor. The public is invited. Admission is free but an offering will be taken.

Buckland plan due

Reportedly the company which will present the proposal to the Planning and Zoning Commission hopes to stress commercial and industrial development in the area.

Arthur M. Fischer Inc. has option on about 200 acres of the South Windsor land, but it would have to be rezoned for the project.

The Planning and Zoning Commission will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at Town Hall.

New firm is expected

Eastern Typesetting Co. of Hartford will move into a new office at the former Pratt & Whitney Potomac plant off of Rt. 1, in about six weeks, officials say.

The Hartford firm will occupy the building along with Vulcan Radiator Co. which moved in last year.

Eastern Typesetting, which employs 85 persons, has been in Hartford for 28 years. The company produces ready-to-print facsimiles for advertising agencies and book publishers.

The commission said the reason the firm is leaving Hartford is to consolidate into one operation a plant which has been operated as three separate functions.

The news of the pending move by Eastern has come at a time when South Windsor is concerned over the loss of Monsanto, the town's largest taxpayer.

The firm closed because of the pending federal ban on the plastic bottles manufactured there.

Pound zoning denied

The Bolton Zoning Commission has voted unanimously to deny the Board of Selectmen's request to rezone low-owned property near the town garage for a dog pound.

The commission gave the following reasons for denying the request: It would spot zoning, the land has no frontage on a public road, it would not be in keeping with the character of the neighborhood, and it wouldn't be consistent with the town plan.

The commission reached its decision in executive session after its regular meeting Wednesday.

First Selectman David Dreselly said today the selectmen will go to the Zoning Board of Appeals but they will discuss the situation at their next meeting.

At its regular meeting, the commission received a request for a zone change from residential to general business on property on West St. owned by Barbara Halston.

The zone change is necessary for her to proceed with plans to convert a barn into a tea room. There will be a public hearing on the request June 1.

A delegation of Rolling Hills Trail residents attended the meeting to look for assistance with a "neighborhood problem." The problem concerns a driveway permit issued to Alan Robbins.

The commission told the residents it was not a zoning problem. It suggested that the residents present the selectmen with a petition requesting a reversal of the permit and a legal opinion from the town counsel.

Vernon schools told to cut budget plans

By BARBARA RICHMOND Herald Reporter

The Vernon Board of Education was directed by the Town Council Thursday night to cut another $250,000 from its proposed budget of $9,844,638.

The budget request represented a 7.2 per cent increase over the current budget. One mill equals $175,246. Figuring the expected revenues at $2,723,150, the net expected revenues would be $7,021,488 or 39.8 mills. The current budget represents 37.9 mills. The total mill rate now is 55.

Councilman Donald Eden asked board representatives if they thought they would have a surplus in the current budget. William Houle, school board chairman, said he thought there would be but he wasn't sure how much.

Eden said, "Traditionally the board turns back a surplus which indicates maybe we're giving you a little too much each year."

In other action Thursday night, the Town Council reviewed the many-faceted recreation budget. In outdoor recreation the request was for $141,139, and Mayor Thomas Benoit recommended $94,750, deferring $46,389 for the salary of an assistant director.

Approved the budget of $13,945 for lighting outdoor tennis courts, $4,000 for repairs to the parking lot at Valley Falls Park, and $550 for a kiddie swing.

The council also: Approved the mayor's recommendation of $4,320 for indoor recreation. Squatro also suggested more interest and willingness to help with the housing needs of the town.

The action was taken at the suggestion of Dr. Joseph Danyliw, vice-chairman of the authority. Dr. Danyliw asked the members, "Do you want to become aggressive or just respond?"

The commissions that will be notified will include the Human Relations Commission, possibly the Planning and Zoning Commission and others, which were not specified at Wednesday night's authority meeting.

Danyliw also made the suggestion that the authority could help get private developers involved in housing projects.

Atty. Dominic Squatro, counsel for the authority, agreed that the authority is doing to reach a larger group of people, if it continues to get substantial funds for housing.

In response, Leon Enderlin, executive director of the authority, said he has been aware of a possible source of funds from the federal Housing and Urban Development (HUD) which may mean 300 more elderly housing units for Connecticut.

The state will be divided into four sections with this area to get about 75 units. He said the funding is so far only "hearsay" from HUD officials and will be one of the topics to be discussed at a conference of regional housing officials in Washington next month.

If the monies do become available, Enderlin said, Manchester will try to get some of them, even though Hartford is also in the same region.

Pascal Mastrangelo, authority chairman, said the program is expected to be for housing rehabilitation and buying existing housing, in addition to building new housing for the elderly. The plan would call for units scattered throughout the community, Enderlin indicated.

In other business, authority members asked Enderlin to find out the number of recent applicants for housing who are over the 23 new age limit.

Enderlin reported that 23 new applications for housing by elderly persons were received last month. It is up 20 from February's figure.

Beatty-Kelly

Mrs. David Lee Beatty

Mary Eileen Kelly of Manchester and David Lee Beatty of Lansdowne, Pa., were married April 16 at St. Bartholomew's Church in Manchester.

The bride is the daughter of Judge and Mrs. Eugene T. Kelly of 121 Mountain Rd. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. Harper Beatty of Lansdowne, Pa.

The Rev. Richard C. Bollea celebrated the nuptial Mass and performed the double-ring ceremony. Sister Julia Ryan sang and accompanied herself on the guitar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an old-fashioned, floor-length gown trimmed with lace and satin ribbon. She wore a fingertip mantilla of Alencon lace and carried a bouquet of gardenias, stephanotis and delphinium on her mother's bridal prayerbook.

Miss Patricia J. Kelly of Martha's Vineyard was her sister's maid of honor. Miss Sharon Kelly of Manchester, the bride's sister, was bridesmaid. Miss Amy Ferguson of Greenville, S.C., the bride's niece, was flower girl.

Barry G. Sheekley of Bolton served as best man. Ushers were Jeffrey S. Tucker of Drexel Hill, Pa., the bridegroom's brother-in-law; and Glenn B. Turgeon of Manchester, N.H., the bride's brother-in-law. Craig Tucker of Drexel Hill, Pa., the bridegroom's nephew, was ring bearer.

Immediately following the ceremony, a breakfast was held at the home of the bride's parents after which the couple left for St. Simon's Island, Ga.

Mr. Beatty was honorably discharged from the U.S. Air Force in December 1976 as a captain, after serving seven years as a pilot. (Nassiff photo)

Due to a typographical error, the account of the Beatty-Kelly wedding is repeated.

50th wedding anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. James W. McKay of 500 Porter St., celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on April 17 at an open house at the Masonic Temple in Manchester.

Mrs. McKay, the former Marian Purinton, and Mr. McKay were married April 16, 1927 by the late Rev. Joseph Cooper, pastor of South United Methodist Church in Manchester.

The open house was hosted by their son, Deputy Fire Chief and Mrs. James R. McKay, and their grandchildren, Stacey Ann, 17, James Joseph, 14, and Narda Lee, 11.

Mrs. McKay is a long time member of the Manchester Memorial Hospital Auxiliary having served as its president and is still an active volunteer. She is also corresponding secretary of Orford Parish Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR), and until recently was secretary of records at South United Methodist Church for many years.

Mr. McKay, a musician and organist, is organist-choir director at North United Methodist Church, organist for the Manchester Lodge of Masons, the Tuscan Lodge of Masons of Hartford, and the Nutmeg Forest of the Tall Cedars of Lebanon in Manchester.

He retired on June 1, 1970 from Case Bros. Division of Boise Cascade Corp. holding the position of assistant controller.

Mr. & Mrs. James W. McKay

College notes

Edible Licenses
Auto license plates in the United States have been made of metal, wood, leather, and ceramics. Tags made of a soybean compound were tried during World War II but abandoned because cows ate them.

Get passports ahead of time

If you and your fiancé are planning a honeymoon abroad, you will need to do some extra planning and pre-nuptial appointment-making to be sure that you don't spend your first hours of bliss trapped in a customs office for insufficient documentation!

You should apply for your passports at least two months before your departure, in order to allow extra time for processing.

Because the bride is not legally a "Mrs." until the wedding, you will more than likely be traveling with separate passports, hers under her maiden name, and you will need to carry with you your certified marriage license.

When you return from your trip your passports may be revised to show your marital status.

To apply for a passport, you need either a birth certificate, naturalization certificate, or a former passport. You will also need another proof of identification carrying your photograph or description and signature (a driver's license, for example).

The passport office requires two additional photos of you taken within the last 6 months, 2" by 3", on a plain light background (snapshots or photos taken in coin-operated photo

Renshaw-Powers.

Gaynelle Elizabeth Powers of Manchester and Daryl Curtis Renshaw of Pinole, Calif., were married April 15 at Calvary Church in Manchester.

The bride is the daughter of Elizabeth Powers of 34 Delmont St. and the late Raymond W. Powers Sr.

Mr. Renshaw is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Drendell of Pinole.

The Rev. Kenneth L. Gustafson of Calvary Church performed the double-ring ceremony. Lois Gustafson was organist. Karl Gustafson and Karen Gustafson were soloists.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Edward Leonard of Enfield, wore a gown designed with Alencon lace bodice and long, lace-trimmed chiffon sleeves. Her headpiece was a multicolored floral wreath and she carried a matching spring bouquet.

Mrs. Marilyn Pajot of East Hartford served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Nancy Thomas of Green Lane, Pa.; and Miss Lisa Renshaw of Pinole, Calif., the bridegroom's sister.

Douglas Drendell of Pinole, the bridegroom's stepfather, was best man. Ushers were Bruce Pajot and Karl Gustafson, both of East Hartford.

A reception was held at Mama Mia's in Manchester, after which the couple left for Niagara Falls.

Mr. Renshaw was graduated this month from Southeastern Bible College in Lakeland, Fla.

Bermuda — a honeymooner's haven

Steep steps carved from hard limestone lead to a powdery soft beach on Bermuda's South shore. The small building at the head of the steps is a replica of a buttery, an architectural feature of old Bermudian houses. The steeply pitched roof kept the interior cool enough during the summer to store perishable goods.

The bride picks sterling

Time was, when a bride-to-be went in search of a sterling pattern, she took her mother with her.

Mother is gradually losing her foothold as consultant these days to her daughter's fiancé. That's what sterling retailers throughout the country report, who were recently asked whether there was any change in that most traditional of pre-wedding customs — the selection by the bride-to-be of her sterling pattern.

Active participants

The groom-to-be is turning out to be a more active participant in the decision, it seems.

Perhaps it's the fact that sterling, because of its high value now, and the promise of increasing value in the future, stands to be one of the most important possessions the couple will ever acquire. Or it might just be that the engaged girl's fiancé — who, after all, will be using the set of solid silver almost as much as his wife — feels he has as much right as the bride-to-be in making the final selection of pattern.

Nostalgia is back

And what patterns do young couples select these days? Not the sleek, contemporary ones which were so popular, say, 10 years ago.

Today's bride may be forward-thinking in many other areas, but when it comes to sterling, she definitely takes a nostalgic look backward. The three patterns, in fact, listed by retailers as being most popular with brides, feature design elements which flourished in the 18th, 17th and early 19th centuries, in that order.

Richness prevails

The most popular, which displays the regal and graceful lines of the Louis XV era, could blend easily with either decorated or plain china.

Helpful hints aid wardrobe

An unwritten part of today's marriage contract is the sharing of responsibilities. Hopefully, you'll be marrying a man who will do more than just throw out the garbage to help with the household chores, but chances are the traditional woman's task of doing the laundry will remain your responsibility.

To cope with the increased two-person volume of laundry as well as the tough stains men can manage to get on their clothes, without an increase in your time and effort, learn to streamline your routine with effective methods, products and procedures.

Many stains and soils just will not wash out with detergent alone. To wash away the most stubborn soil and stain problems, pretreat clothes with a laundry soil and stain remover. Just spray it on soil and tough stains, wait 60 seconds and then launder clothes in the usual way with your regular detergent.

If your husband-to-be wears heavy-duty clothes, it's also a good idea to wash these items separately from delicate wardrobe items.

Fine washables are best cleaned by a gentle cycle to keep them looking their best, and the rough agitation of work clothes could possibly damage them.

Zaremba-Brown

Linda Gail Brown and Richard Joseph Zaremba were married Dec. 11 in the Warszynictwa Palace in Skierniewice, Poland.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Brown of 36 Madison St. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Zaremba of Trumbull.

They are the first Americans to be married in Skierniewice. The late afternoon wedding was spoken in Polish and translated by a friend of the couple. Preceding the ceremony, Dennis Schrock of Harmony, Minn., and two other friends of the couple sang "Today."

Witnesses were Danusia Gowacka of Skierniewice and Mr. Schrock.

The bride was escorted down the aisle by Professor Pieniazek, director of the Institute of Pomology in Skierniewice.

The double-ring ceremony broke a traditional Polish ceremony when the couple exchanged vows in English and sang "Let There Be Peace on Earth."

The bride wore a self-designed midwaist gown of white crepe with an overlay of Venetian lace on the bodice, floor ruffle and cuffs. She wore a traditional scarf of Polish wool. Her headpiece was a circle of multi-colored baby carnations. She carried a bouquet of Gerbers, anthurium, philodendron leaves and baby carnations.

A buffet reception was held at the Institute of Pomology, after which the couple left for the Zakopane area of the Tatry Mountains in southern Poland.

Mrs. Zaremba was graduated from the University of Connecticut where she majored in home economics in 1976 and is presently part of the Church of the Brethren team teaching in Poland. Mr. Zaremba is also with the Church of the Brethren.

The couple will reside in Skierniewice for most of 1977.

Enhance daily living with Belgian linens

Vibrant, warm and familiar, table linens enhance the pleasant moments of everyday living.

Your table linens are the background for every setting...setting the theme with texture, color, and pattern. The look can be modern, provincial, traditional, Victorian, or a combination.

Dramatic accent

As the background for all your table treasures, china, glassware and favorite decorations and centerpieces, choose your linens as you select wardrobe accessories, to complement, to accent, to dramatize.

For that special occasion formal table, the classic "white" linen tablecloth is no longer the rule. Although white is classic and always in good taste, today we have adapted color throughout the home.

Now the finest decorative linens come in colors that range from cool pastels to brilliant jewel tones. In using color, pastel tends to lend dignity and a more quiet look...deep colors a dramatic effect.

For all times

Placemats of Belgian linen and polyester set the mood for every setting and occasion, as illustrated. Proper and elegant for the most formal setting, embroidered and decoratively edged. Pretty and practical for breakfast to midnight snacks—in simple textures trimmed in contrasting colors.

Flexible, they adapt to many different serving arrangements. They come in all shapes...rectangle, oval, round, and contour. Delightfully practical and easy to care for since they have a permanent press, soil release finish.

The right size tablecloth is very important to the look of the table. Belgian linen tablecloths are made in all sizes to fit different tables, from the popular bridge table, to the lovely oval, oblong, and round.

Remember the larger the table the longer the overhang—5" to 10" overhang for a small table—10" to 15" for a larger table. For a more gracious appearance, buffet tables may even have a longer overhang.

Select napkins in a variety of solid colors, plain, embroidered, or appliqued—all to mix and match. Napkins are a decorative touch, and also subtly indicate formality or informality of the setting.

The larger the napkin the more formal. Knowing several napkin folds can give your table setting a little added quality for special occasions, amusing touches at other times.

In selecting your table linens do not forget maintenance. Since homemakers must schedule less and less time for housework, 100 per cent linen cloths have been supplanted by a 65 per cent Belgian linen/35 per cent polyester blend cloth with a permanent press and soil release finish. Smooth and fold.

Best results are obtained by tumble drying in an automatic dryer. Remove immediately at end of cycle, smooth by hand and fold neatly.

Share in joy of music

When talented friends of family of the bride and groom perform the music at the wedding, it adds a personal touch that's irreplaceable.

If you're asking friends to sing or play at your wedding, though, keep in mind the friend's own enjoyment of the big event.

Try to have the musical program shared among several musicians, so that no one person bears too much of the "burden" of performing!

Crystal Cave, the oldest and largest of Bermuda's caves presently open to the public, is a prime sample of the island's subterranean beauty.

Bermuda's Caves; a tourist attraction

HAMILTON, BERMUDA — If it were possible to somehow turn Bermuda inside out, whoever did it would find that what is on the inside is every bit as exciting and attractive as what is on the outside.

But a visitor doesn't have to turn Bermuda inside out just to get a peek at its subterranean world. What lies beneath all the palm trees, pink sands and constantly green grass is easily accessible—at least some of it is. All a visitor has to do is go to the eastern end of Bermuda where a narrow isthmus of ancient limestone rises above the sea forming a natural barrier that keeps Harrington Sound from spilling into Castle Harbour and vice versa. Here is where Bermuda's exposed rock is the oldest and where there is a proliferation of caves.

Of the four caves open to the public today, perhaps the most novel is Prospero's Cave and Discotheque which is owned and operated by Grotto Bay Beach and Tennis Club, one of Bermuda's small luxury hotels. As a discotheque and underground cocktail lounge, the cave is only two years old, but as a known natural masterpiece it is believed to be more than 365 years old. Its true age lies somewhere on the distant side of 100,000 years.

Known through the years by more than one name, the cave sits 50-feet below the surface and may have been discovered as early as 1609 shortly after the vessel "Sea Venture" carrying a party of settlers from England to Virginia was wrecked on a coral shoal off Bermuda's eastern tip. The castaways continued on their way after spending nearly a year on the island building two ships. One of the crew members later wrote an account of the adventure which is commonly thought to have been used by William Shakespeare in 1611 as one of his sources for "The Tempest." A present-day legend says that the Grotto Bay Cave, originally called Island Cave, was the one Shakespeare mentioned in the play, hence the current name Prospero's Cave.

The main feature of the cave is an underground lake—25 feet deep in some places—with a large stalagmite island rising from the crystal-clear water. The roof is an array of multi-sized stalactites, and with the use of indirect lighting, shadows in red, orange, blue and green cling to the walls, ceiling and lake surface leaving visitors with the feeling they are the central characters in a Jules Verne adventure.

With seating for 80 patrons, the sub-surface discotheque has a dance floor that overlooks the lake and a sign at the bar advises every visitor that "Swimming is absolutely forbidden." Attached to a low lakeside limestone wall is a life ring, just in case some adventurous soul fails to heed the sign's message.

Less than 50 yards from the entrance of Prospero's Cave is another opening leading also into a subterranean world of stalactites and stalagmites.

Arrivederci, Niagara — welcome Italy

By ARLENE HARRIS

Metro Newspaper Services
Traditionalists may prefer Niagara Falls or the Poconos with exotic heart-shaped bath tubs, but for the honeymooner with a taste for the less obvious, who wants something charmingly different (not that heart-shaped tubs are run-of-the-mill) a 12th century castle in Salerno may be the essence of wish fulfillment. Or a 14th century palace in Venice. (A convent? On a honeymoon? Well, why not — if nothing else it might turn out to be the conversation piece of many a post-marital dinner party.)

Romance lives!

Actually, there are many castles, villas, palaces and convents in Italy that have been converted into hotels with modern conveniences, of course, and with prices to accommodate a variety of budgets.

If visions of Capri, Salerno, Florence, Taormina, Venice, Cortina, Portofino, Sorrento, and the reigning dowager of Italy herself, Rome, don't make you light-headed and flutter-hearted, you either need a check-up or your heart is as cold as an undecorated TV dinner. Certainly the warmth and friendliness of Italians are legendary and the spirit of romance is alive and flourishing.

Old Italian art

Whether you choose city or resort area, you'll quickly discover that hospitality is a fine art perfected by the Italians.

Portofino, in the northern part of Italy, has long been known as one of the most elegant resorts in the world, attracting the rich and famous to its surrounding villas and charming visitors from all walks of life.

Portofino is where Rex Harrison retreats to his private villa and Jackie Onassis may be seen browsing for tank tops in the village marketplace.

Actually, an old fishing village, Portofino is reached by a winding coastal road considered in itself to be one of the most beautiful in the world. The village, clustered around a natural harbor, retains all its traditional characteristics. The climate is temperate in summer and mild in winter, making it an ideal resort for all seasons.

Prima classe

The Splendido is one example of Italy's best — a magnificent hotel situated above the village of Portofino for a spectacular panoramic view. It offers all the modern amenities — heated pool, sauna, tennis courts, health rooms, excellent cuisine — while maintaining the old style elegance which is the heart of Italian hotel accommodations. For the Splendido you'll need some old style money as well. It's definitely not for the budget-minded. Take heart, there are also several charming, moderately priced hotels in Portofino.

Bellissimo!

If the idea of skiing on Mount Etna and swimming in the Mediterranean appeals to you, both can be found less than two hours by air from Rome in Taormina, the beauty spot of Sicily.

Once there you may rest and nest at the San Domenico Palace Hotel, formerly a 14th century Dominican monastery, today one of the most striking and beautiful hotels in the world.

Completely restored in 1963, it boasts shadowy cloisters, magnificent halls, gardens scented by orange and jasmine blossoms and monks cells turned into luxury apartments.

A happy moment and a happy harbinger of greater joys together. She wears a lace-patterned gown with belted sleeves and mantilla-inspired headdress. His Seville tuxedo in ice blue is new and cut along European lines.

Bride combines old and new

Of all the ceremonies of life, the wedding is without a doubt the most festive, joyous, and the best-loved. No matter how much times may change and customs vary, the expression of love, faith, and trust found in the wedding ceremony is a constant source of inspiration.

Even with the current trend toward alternate life-styles that do not involve the commitment of marriage, statistics prove that marriages are as popular as ever, and there has been an increase in the 70's in people "tying the knot."

Today's couples have more opportunities than ever to enrich this vital ceremony of life with their own personal expressions, and make their wedding truly the most meaningful event of their lives.

Gone are the days of the standard-looking bridal gown, the days when Lohengrin was the only bridal march to be heard, the days when couples had little choice but to promise to love, honor and obey — even though they felt there was so much more to be said.

The clergy and marriage counselors alike now encourage couples to find the music and words for their wedding ceremony which truly express what they feel for each other and their future together.

If they decide that the traditional bridal chorus and church vows are just what they want, that's fine. But in their search they will have gained from the rewarding experience of creating a joint definition of their own future plans.

This new freedom to modify, even break away from the traditional, carries through to the dress, reception plans, gift giving and honeymoon styles of today's newlyweds.

Color is appearing in today's wedding dresses, dresses which may vary from very formal to short and simply smashing, from frilly and laced to tailored and sleek.

Receptions range from simple tea and cake gatherings to exotic banquets — even sit-down dinners — with all kinds of new and different delicacies; but whatever the budget

Rug adds finishing touch

A luxurious rug is just what's needed to pull together all the elements of a newlyweds' apartment.

Inherited furniture, do-it-yourself pieces and inexpensive accessories all come together in a unified room with the addition of a rug or carpet — and that's important to the bride who wants her first home to look terrific.

What's more, a rug is the easiest of all floor coverings to care for — a vital requirement for the bride who holds down a job and has little time and size, all is done with a special personal flair.

Guests are spending more time in the selection of a gift for the newlywedded couple, concentrating on individuality and seeking out presents that are true reflections of the new couple's lifestyle.

All in all, the key word for today's wedding is personal, with all the emphasis placed on making each and every aspect of the wedding ceremony a vital expression of the two distinct personalities who have decided to make that most loving and giving of commitments.

It is a delightful occasion for all involved, and should reflect both the joy and dignity which have always marked this special ceremony of life.

Unfortunately, to insure that much-loved practicality, as well as beauty that lasts, homemakers often sacrifice the lighter, brighter colors in favor of more practical shades that "don't show the dirt."

Actually, light-colored carpets are not such an impossible dream. With today's easier-to-keep-clean fibers and simple cleaning methods, they can be just as practical as the "safe" colors.

Set limits on luggage

Packing for a honeymoon trip is enough to send the most level-headed into absolute panic! What to take, what not to take...?

A good rule of thumb is, when in doubt, leave it at home. Chances are that you and your new spouse won't be doing half of the venturing out that you might expect, so two or three basic outfits should suffice.

On the other hand, you can't spend all of your time locked away from civilization (as romantic as the idea may sound, you'll soon discover that those first weeks of togetherness can be straining at times!).

Make sure that you include one "dress up" outfit for an evening of dinner and dancing. Gear your wardrobe to your destination, of course.

But no matter where you end up, take time to pack with care so that you won't be bogged down with unnecessary bags.

You want your husband to carry you over the threshold, not waste all his energy on luggage!

Morano-Weerden

Jo-Ann Weerden and Michael Alexander Morano, both of Manchester, were married April 16 at St. Bridget Church in Manchester.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Weerden Jr. of 11 Clyde Rd. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Morano of 19½ Eldridge St.

The Rev. William Stack of St. Bridget Church officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Mrs. Mary Dubaldo of Manchester was organist and soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white polyester organza gown designed with Princess panel outlined in Venice lace, sheer bodice and Bishop sleeves trimmed with lace, full attached chapel-length train edged in lace. Her shoulder-length veil was edged in lace and she carried a cascade bouquet of daisies and greens.

Miss Julie Weerden of Manchester was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Jeannette Weerden of Manchester, the bride's sister; Miss Mary Morano of Manchester, the bridegroom's sister; and Miss Nancy Gilbert of Manchester. Miss Ann Morano of Manchester, the bridegroom's sister was flower girl.

David Morano of Manchester was his brother's best man. Ushers were John Morano of Manchester, brother of the bridegroom; John A. Weerden III of Manchester, the bride's brother; and May Murphy of Manchester. David Einsiedel of Manchester was ring bearer.

A reception was held at the Garden Grove in Manchester, after which the couple left for Washington, D.C. They will reside in Cape Cod, Mass.

Mr. Morano is currently serving with the U.S. Coast Guard as an aviation airman mechanic and is stationed at Otis Air Force Base at Cape Cod. (Spectrum photo)

Modern bride has advantage

Gone are the days when marriage meant a woman must spend every waking moment cleaning and scrubbing a house. Now, more than ever before, women have the opportunities for combining home and career, and for balancing home, recreational and educational interests.

The modern bride takes advantage of the many home conveniences and work saving devices available to her so that she can spend the time saved doing the things she enjoys most. Here are some of the ways you can use multiple use appliances and aids to your benefit.

Dishwashers — when choosing a dishwasher, pick one which will dry as well as wash dishes. Many models will clean pots and pans, too. These new-style dishwashers allow the bride to get the whole job done in one step, instead of two or three.

Multi-purpose cleaners — using a versatile cleaner such as glass, appliance and cabinet cleaner allows you to clean virtually all washable surfaces around the house with one spray cleaner and a clean cloth or sponge.

Scully-Gourley

Elizabeth E. Gourley of Manchester and Vincent M. Scully of Kingston, R.I. were married April 16 at South United Methodist Church in Manchester.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Godfrey Gourley of 730 Keeney St. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph V. Scully of Pawtucket, R.I.

The Rev. George Webb of South United Methodist Church performed the double-ring ceremony. The church was decorated with spring flowers. Robert Penn was organist and Robert Gordon Jr., soloist.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents. Miss Patricia Herzog of Manchester was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Lisa Roman of Manchester; Miss Maureen Becker of Coventry; and Miss Sharyn Brown of Pittsfield, Mass., the bride's cousin.

Robert Wyss of Narragansett, R.I. served as best man. Ushers were Sean Fagan of Wakefield, R.I., and Frank Bergren and Richard Pelligrino, both of Westerly, R.I.

Bride breezes through work

Some things never change...and then, some do. Time was that a bride-to-be would receive a crash-course from mother and other well-intentioned relations filled with all sorts of homemaking tips.

Well, mothers and daughters still share remedies for household ills, but nowadays it's not unusual for younger misses to be keeping moms up-to-date on the newest conveniences and devices available for making housekeeping easier.

For example, years ago cooking grease was one of the biggest problems homemakers faced in the kitchen.

It seemed that no matter how much a person scrubbed and scoured a pot, the grease would just sit there. This led many women into the practice of keeping two sets of cookware — one for regular cooking and baking and a second set reserved for frying.

Modern women know this isn't necessary. They've discovered that grease is no longer a problem when they use degreaser to help clean up greasy messes. Some degreaser sprayed onto greasy pots, pans and other surfaces cuts through grease so that it can practically be rinsed away.

Williams-Hunter

Diane Hunter of Lisbon and Dale A. Williams Jr. of Norwich were married March 6 at The Colony in Talcottville.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Lillian Hunter of Manchester. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Frances Pascua of Norwich.

Justice of the Peace Peter Nicholas of South Windsor officiated at the double-ring ceremony. The High Times Band of Mystic provided the music.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Alan Hunter of South Windsor, wore a white polyester jersey gown designed with imported Venise lace appliques on the fitted bodice, scoop neckline, Bishop sleeves with applique cuffs, and an A-line skirt with chapel-length train. Her veil of imported illusion was edged with matching lace motifs and attached to a pearl and lace-trimmed Camelot cap.

Miss Sharon McLeod of New Britain, the bride's niece, was maid of honor. Ted Richards of Norwich served as best man.

Mr. Williams is employed as psychiatric aid at Norwich State Hospital. (Wissman photo)

Fashions designed with you in mind

According to a leading bridal designer, Michele Piccione, it's time to re-evaluate the bride of today.

"Our changing society has brought about a new woman...a woman who believes in herself, a woman with true freedom of choice. And whether she chooses to be a traditional or contemporary bride on her special day, we must offer her a bridal outfit to suit her personal needs."

Ms. Piccione states that the majority of young women getting married today still want to wear a traditional wedding gown complete with yards of lace and a flowing veil.

But she notes that there are many women, an increasing number every day, who want a unique gown to be married in—a gown that is a little less traditional, one that relates more to their thinking and lifestyle.

She may be a little older, or more sophisticated, perhaps career-oriented or professionally active. She may want a small, informal wedding or she may want to wear an elaborate headpiece or antique veil that calls for a simple gown to offset it.

But, whatever her reasons, she wants her wedding to be a deeply personal and meaningful experience, and she wants her bridal outfit to reflect her personality.

Ms. Piccione thus designs contemporary bridal wear because she believes in this new woman and she believes that the bridal market must recognize and service her needs.

Says Ms. Piccione, "I have always felt that the purpose of well-designed clothing is to complement the wearer — not overpower her."

"To achieve this, my formula is a simple one — classic lines and fine imported fabrics. I am fortunate enough to have a European couturier-trained staff which enables me to make use of many fine tailoring skills — the end result being elegantly understated dresses with fine workmanship seldom seen today."

Surrounded by her family's activities in the bridal business, Michele Piccione was literally raised in the field. She had many years of bridal training, both practical and academic, before going to Italy to study couture design.

But she discovered her determination was to carry European taste and technique back into the American bridal market, where she believes the best of both attributes could complement each other successfully.

This season she introduced the Michele Piccione Boutique Collection — a collection using the same styling and fabrics as the couture line, but less formal and hence less expensive. Furthermore, the "boutique" line is available in colors as well as white and ivory, serving not only the bride, but making lovely mother of the bride and formal gowns as well.

"The warm reception of these lines by the buyers in the bridal market," says Ms. Piccione, "has assured me that there most definitely is a bridal customer searching for a contemporary individual look."

"She is a new bride, a new customer...one we have never cultivated before. One who has the power to buy and influence others to buy this meaningful look. By continuing to design and produce dresses that I believe in, I hope that I'm making that 'new bride' even happier on her wedding day."

Young and irresistibly feminine, this soft, flowing bridal gown is designed in chiffon with accent of organza flowers and satin ribbons.

Fair lassies propose

Almost everyone is familiar with the tradition connected with Leap Year — there's hardly a high school in the country that doesn't hold a Leap Year dance (or a yearly Sadie Hawkins dance) when every young gal gets a chance to do the chasing and courting! But the original meaning of Leap Year had a far more serious tone.

In 1288, a law was passed in the Highlands of Scotland which offered an opportunity to all "mayden ladies" which would have made today's feminists stand up and cheer!

During the Leap Year the Scottish maidens had the legally encouraged right to propose to the men of their choice. Tradition had it that if the Highlander refused his proposing lassie, he was faced with more than a wee bit of a fine!

France later picked up on this tradition, and by the 15th Century it had become a legal custom.

Sinnamon-Anton

Kathleen Carol Anton and Eric John Sinnamon, both of Manchester, were married Feb. 19 at St. Bridget Church in Manchester.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Anton of 171 Brent Rd. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Sinnamon of 29 Bigelow St.

The Rev. William J. Stack of St. Bridget Church celebrated the nuptial Mass. The church was decorated with white carnations and snapdragons. Miss Nancy Brander of Ellington was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white polyester sheen designed with a high neckline with an illusion yoke, Empire waist, bodice of Brussels lace on English net bordered with Venise daisy lace, Bishop sleeve with lace-trimmed cuffs, scalloped hemline with full chapel train. Her elbow-length veil was trimmed with Venise lace.

Miss Mary Sinnamon of Manchester, the bridegroom's sister, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Margaret Evans of Clinton, Maine, and Mrs. Cindy Brindamour of Manchester.

Bruce Torino of Whitestone, N.Y., served as best man. Ushers were Richard Anton and John Anton, both of Manchester and brothers of the bride; and Thomas Sinnamon and Joseph Sinnamon, both of Manchester and brothers of the bridegroom. George Sinnamon of Manchester, the bridegroom's brother, was ring bearer.

A reception was held at Mama Mia's in Manchester, after which the couple left for Cape Cod, Mass. For traveling, Mrs. Sinnamon wore a red, long sleeved A-line dress. The couple are residing in Manchester.

Mrs. Eric J. Sinnamon
