Carter conducts budget briefing

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Carter promised to avoid future misunderstandings between his administration and Congress today as he and his top aides briefed the Cabinet and congressional leaders on the budget and whether it can be in balance by 1981.

"This is an effort on our part to bring together the executive and legislative leaders," said the President as he personally opened the meeting in the State Dining Room of the White House for the Cabinet, two dozen congressional leaders and high-ranking White House staffers. Congressional Democratic leaders have complained that Carter undercut them when he withdrew his proposal for a $50 a head tax rebate. They had campaigned for the proposal, they said, even as the administration announced the change of heart.

"When communications break down, as they have within the last few weeks because of my own change of position on the $50 rebate... I recognize how difficult it makes it," said Carter.

"I want to make sure this does not happen again in the future." The President set aside three hours for the session, called "so we can derive a common perception of what options we have and the inevitabilities we face," he said.

Before the meeting, Carter met privately in the Oval Office with Bert Lance, his top fiscal expert, for a last-minute budget briefing.

Other administration officials at the session included U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young and veterans' administrator Max Cleland.

Arthur Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, was there along with congressional powers like Senate Democratic leader Robert Byrd, Speaker Thomas O'Neill and House Democratic leader Jim Wright.

Carter also planned to unveil proposals for welfare reform today. The outline was aimed at evoking discussion from Congress and the public. The actual legislation is expected in about another month.

The President described the budget session as an "almost unprecedented meeting" of top government leaders to work on the financial situation.

In an interview released during the weekend, Carter said he wanted his Cabinet and the congressional leaders "to see from the same perspective the prospective development, economically speaking, in the rest of my own term."

Judges work overtime

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (UPI)—Four Superior Court judges working around the clock had processed 1,000 of an estimated 1,200 anti-nuclear demonstrators by 10 a.m. today, a state official said.

The demonstrators were arrested on criminal trespass charges Sunday by 300 state police from all New England states but Massachusetts. They were seized when they refused to end a 24-hour occupation of the site where a $2 billion nuclear power plant is being built in nearby

Seabrook.

Two yellow school buses ran shuttles until 5:40 p.m. to remove the demonstrators. They were housed overnight in National Guard armories in Portsmouth, Dover and Somersworth.

The attorney general's office was trying to locate courtrooms where hearings could begin at once for those who did not post bail, rather than holding them in jail at state expense.

The judges set up court to arraign them in the Portsmouth Armory on criminal trespass charges. Most of the demonstrators were unable to post cash bail. Most of those arraigned Sunday agreed to appear May 5 or May 12 for hearings in the Hampton District Court, next door to Seabrook.

About 12 protestors watched construction workers arrive at the main gate of the plant site about 5:30 a.m. today. Demonstrators made no effort to block the entrance of the first worker, who were checked for identification by two security guards.

Bail for most protestors ranged from $100 to $500. Higher bond was set for those from out of state, or those who were among the 179 persons arrested at a similar site occupation last August.

Lenti zone change request withdrawn

By GREG PEARSON

Herald Reporter

Two Manchester developers, Jack Goldberg and Robert Stone, have removed a subdivision application scheduled for public hearing tonight and have said that they may resign their positions on town boards before resubmitting the application.

The subdivision, a proposed 79-unit development on the 40-acre Lenti Farms tract off Gardner St., has received much opposition from residents in the neighborhood. At one meeting of the residents, the question of a conflict of interest was brought up because Goldberg is a town director and Stone is a member of the Manchester Economic Development Commission (EDC).

The subdivision has been proposed as a cluster development requiring the transfer of 25 per cent of the tract to the town. Residents in the neighborhood had said that this land transfer might have created a conflict of interest for the two men.

Town Counsel Victor I. Moses said that he expects to have a decision on the matter today, but his decision was not completed in time for The Herald's deadline today.

This conflict of interest question is apparently what led to the removal of the application from tonight's meeting of the Planning and Zoning Commission.

"We are incensed with the raising of a conflict of interest in a matter like this," Goldberg said this morning while explaining the reason for removing the item from tonight's agenda.

"We feel the subdivision should stand on its own merits," he said. "We are considering resigning our present positions and resubmitting the application as ordinary citizens and taxpayers."

He said that his firm has built in many local towns.

"We've gotten the best receptions in every other town but our own. That bothers us," Goldberg said.

The PZC meeting, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in Woodruff Hall at Center Congregational Church, will be held, but without the hearing on the Stone & Goldberg proposal.

The PZC will conduct a public hearing for the Manchester Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, which is seeking a special exception to locate a church at the corner of Slater St. and Tolland Tpke.

The commission may also act on three pending matters. One is a proposed change in the zoning regulations to expand the permitted areas for elderly housing. Another is a redubbing requested by Multi-Circuits Inc., and the third is an inland-wetlands referral in the Wetherell St. area.

Many area towns conduct municipal elections today

Voters in Andover, Bolton and 23 other Connecticut localities are going to the polls today to cast their ballots in local political races.

In many municipalities—such as Andover and Bolton—voters will elect a Board of Selectmen, Board of Education and other town boards and commissions.

In some municipalities, such as the small borough of Fenwick in Old Saybrook, candidates are running unopposed.

Residents of Bantam, a section of Litchfield, will be able to vote for anyone at all, including themselves, instead of the unopposed slate of candidates, because names of the People's Party candidates weren't filed with the secretary of the state in time. The People's Party is the only party running for offices there.

Other localities holding elections today include the Jewett City section of Griswold, the borough of Litchfield and the Woodmont section of Milford.

Elections are also being held in Avon, Barkhamsted, Bethany, Burlington, Colchester, Danielson, Farmington, Groton, Naugatuck, New Milford, Newtown, Sherman, Stafford Springs, Stonington, Union, Windham and Woodbridge.

For details on the Andover and Bolton elections, see Page 2-B.

Legislative leaders seek to end budget stalemate

HARTFORD (UPI)—Legislative leaders today were pessimistic an easy solution would be found to Connecticut's budgetary problems, but Democratic dissidents whose call for higher welfare payments has created the impasse were hopeful.

The Democratic leaders were worried about the prospect of being left without a spending plan, or having to approve one on the floor of the House of Representatives or Senate, at best at a chaotic situation. The prospect of a gubernatorial veto also existed.

The legislature's budgetwriting committee, which must make its recommendations by Wednesday, Saturday rejected a budget that had $8.4 million in Republican amendments to the $1.91 billion plan offered by Democratic leaders.

The blockage was caused by six big city Democrats who have refused to abandon their demand the state raise welfare payments 20 per cent, instead of the 10 per cent wanted by the Democratic leaders.

"Everyone's feet are stuck in cement," today said Appropriations Committee cochairman Sen. Robert Houley, D-Somers. "There's been no movement."

But Rep. Boyd Hinds, D-Hartford, a leader of the dissident Democrats said today "we're going to be negotiating. I think there's going to be some movement."

He said the insurgents had met today and agreed on some common ground to use as their bargaining position with the Democratic leadership. Hinds declined to be more specific.

Gov. Ella T. Grasso immediately chastized the Appropriation Committee members who attempted to tack on the extra spending. She renewed her pledge to veto a spending plan that exceeds the budget worked out by the Democratic leadership.

"We have seen an afternoon of maneuvering to spend the state blind," Mrs. Grasso said after Saturday's meeting.

"These attempts to open the floodgates of spending will only drown our people in new and higher taxes. It is not my intention to join in a conspiracy to saddle the people of Connecticut with new tax burdens next year. The proposed spending changes would create a budget that is unacceptable," she said.

Six big city Democrats were able to stop approval of the budget by voting as a block, first with the Republican minority and then the Democratic leadership.

Early in the day, the urban Democrats joined with the Republicans to push through the $8.4 million in additional spending for town road aid, moderate income housing and job development.

But when the Republicans refused to go along with the big city Democrats' plan to further increase welfare benefits, the coalition fell apart.

Today's news summary

Compiled from United Press International

State

HARTFORD—A published report says Bridgeport Mayor John C. Mancanici plucked a financial plum from the grasp of a city agency last summer and gave it to a private New Jersey firm. The switch involved plans for the $1.6 million proposal to renovate the city's abandoned railroad station.

NEW HAVEN—The collected papers of famed aviator Charles A. Lindbergh, including a 1,000-page unpublished autobiography, go on display for the first time at Yale University's library Thursday.

SOMERS—The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration has asked for a meeting with state police and the Department of Environmental Protection concerning vandalism to the building housing radar and microwave equipment at the new Soap Stone Mountain weather tracing station. The station is scheduled to start operation in about three weeks and its early storm warnings could save lives.

Regional

BOSTON—American observers aboard foreign fishing vessels say Soviet ships are doing their best to comply with the new U. S. 200-mile fishing limit.

ORONO, Maine—University of Maine experts say industrial pollution from as far away as Indiana is threatening the state fish and forest resources.

REHOBOTH, Mass.—Rabbi Baruch Korff, one of former President Richard Nixon's staunchest defenders, says newly reported Watergate tapes are only "old news reshaped."

National

The Food and Drug Administration opens the first federal hearing on the controversial anticancer substance, laetrile; Indiana becomes the second state to legalize its use.

ATHENS, Ga.—Secretary of State Cyrus Vance says U. S. "strong support" will continue to go to countries which are working to improve human rights of their citizens. He said their will be rigid attempts to impose our values on others.

WASHINGTON—A report by the General Accounting Office says the Pentagon may be developing more types of Cruise missiles than it needs and has not included them in periodic reports providing cost figures of major weapons systems.

International

EDINBURGH, Scotland—Former New York Mayor John V. Lindsay led an American contingent of Scots participating in the traditional International Gathering of the Clans, which began Sunday. More than 8,000 Scots from Scotland and abroad participated in the opening march at Meadowbank stadium.

BELFAST, Northern Ireland—The British government orders 1,200 troops to Northern Ireland to back up security forces during a threatened general strike led by militant Protestants.

Conservationists battling 'darter-lousewort' backlash

WASHINGTON (UPI) - It's the small darter and the lousewort, encouraged by the dam builders, has obscured the fact that there are sound environmental arguments against both projects," it said, and added: "It cited a recent case where arbitration was used to protect the Bachman's warbler, once described by John James Audubon as "the rarest songbird in North America."

"Darter-lousewort" backlash could lead to invalidation or modifications of the Endangered Species Act - especially Section 7 prohibiting federal construction projects from interfering with endangered species habitat. Conservationists used that section to hold up construction of the $1.3 billion Dickey-Lincoln hydroelectric project in Maine and stop the $120 million Tellico Dam, six years into construction.

The Maine project had the lousewort, a threatened plant, in its path and the endangered minnow snail darter was in waters affected by the Tellico Dam.

Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus said environmentalists have "used the Endangered Species Act as a tool to accomplish what they were unable to accomplish through other governmental processes. The question is not the snail darter but the Tellico Dam," he said in a recent interview. The National Wildlife Federation said arbitration could save species from extinction without lawsuits or changes in existing law.

protected and others cut. This approach may not be applicable to all conservation problems, but is "certainly one answer to the darter-lousewort backlash," it said, and added: "If environmentalists are going to blunt this backlash and save the Endangered Species Act, they are going to have to temper zeal with common sense in applying the law."

Forest fire charrs area near Plymouth

PLYMOUTH, Mass. (UPI) - Over 200 acres of forest land in this historic coastal town was destroyed by fire Sunday. At least three firemen suffered smoke inhalation or other minor injuries during the six-hour battle to douse the flames, the Fire Department said. About 200 firefighters from 15 surrounding communities as far away as Yarmouth on Cape Cod, assisted. Fanned by warm, southeast winds gusting up to 50 miles per hour, the blaze began about 1 p.m. Sunday in the Manomet section of Plymouth.

Voting day registration

One of the several electoral law reform proposals which the Carter administration has made to Congress calls for the election day registration of voters in federal elections. Any citizen who wished to vote for president, vice president, U.S. senator and representative need only go to the polling place on election day, register and cast his ballot, subject only to appropriate requirements of identification.

There must be many millions who don't bother to register or always forget to register until too late, or who are turned off by the weary presidential campaigns long before they are over, but who might be moved to stir their stumps when election day actually came around.

Which brings up yet another objection - that election day registration might result in a lot of purely impulse voting by a lot of thoughtless people.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., has greeted the proposal as a "brilliant and imaginative" solution to the confusion and irrationality of the present voter registration laws in most states.

Others are not so sure. Widespread fraud would be inevitable, they claim, especially if polling place officials were overwhelmed with waiting lines of people.

Some are afraid that the Republican party, which commands the allegiance of a steadily shrinking minority of voters, would be the loser. They point to the results of the last presidential election in Minnesota and Wisconsin, where election day registration was permitted.

Certain it is that election day registration would bring out voters in presidential election years in greater numbers than they have ever been brought out before.

"That's in case he makes some rash peace gesture."

Thought

Good works
"So faith by itself, if it has no works, is dead." James 2:17
If we live in God's grace what need is there then of good works? If we cannot earn our salvation, what need is there of reaching out to others in love?

This was the question that faced James openly as it tacitly faces the church today. For in all times the temptation to cop out of our responsibility of living in and responding to God's Kingdom looms large.

When we shrink from our mission of Christian concern for others, we not only undermine God's Kingdom, we cut ourselves off from Christ. In Matthew we find Jesus challenging us to respond to the world as His Kingdom. He commands us to receive His Lordship by ministering to the needy, the stranger, even those imprisoned or rejected by our society. He makes us uncomfortable by reminding us that this is not something undertaken only when we feel up to it, but whenever the need arises, as it always does, if we choose to open our eyes to it. He even admonishes us that our very salvation hinges on our responding to Him in seeing His Presence in the lives of those whom we would like to judge or ignore.

And yet today we leave this us the eyes to see the needs of others in our day to day lives. And His Spirit gives us the wisdom and power to respond. To see and respond is not an option, it is a command.

Fight heats up over energy plan

Lee Roderick

The month of May has been, for the past several years, a time in which the conference draws the attention of the churches and the community to the special needs of the elderly among us.

Congregations have been encouraged to observe a Sunday or Sabbath on the Aging. Free Sunday bulletin covers and special orders of worship have been made available through the American Association of Retired Persons and the National Retired Teachers Association.

"Such taxes would have the great impact on people who must drive their cars to and from work, without effecting those able to drive luxury cars or afford gas-guzzling power boats and recreational vehicles.

Most Democrats, predictably, tend to treat Mr. Carter's program more kindly than their GOP counterparts.

Kentucky Democratic Sen. Wendell Ford, for example, expressed satisfaction with the gas tax plan. "It is absolutely essential that American motorists stop squandering energy," he said.

On the other side of the coin, even those incentives that are included in the program for new petroleum development are being attacked. For example, a lobby organization called Tax Reform Research Group says Mr. Carter "has brought into serious question his commitment to fairness and equity in the tax system."

Meanwhile, on Capitol Hill, the President's proposal for escalating

As a lifetime resident of Manchester, and a member of the finance league I would like to say that I am a proud citizen of this town and her leaders.

I have been following all the loopholes that Mr. Woodbury has been trying to win his case. Evidently Mr. Woodbury doesn't realize the effect the change in the ruling would have on the town as a whole, not just the Feline League.

Trooping of the Colours in London is one of the several ceremonial duties for the Household Division, who are directly responsible for guarding the Sovereign.

The division consists of two regiments of Household Cavalry and five regiments of Foot Guards.

Regiments of the Foot Guards - and each with its own band - are the Grenadier, Scots, Coldstream, Irish and Welsh Guards.

The two cavalry regiments are the Life Guards and the Blues & Royals; they are known as the Household Cavalry Regiment (mounted), and they have their own mounted band!

Tourists line the Mall from Buckingham Palace and through Hyde Park to Whitehall and the parade grounds. For us, on May 20, 1972, seats were in a grandstand behind Whitehall and less than 50 yards from where the queen would review her troops.

Only one color is reviewed each year.
For the rehearsal, a queen's "stand-in" rides the mount from the palace to Whitehall. The regiments parade to the palace and escort the queen through the Mall to the parade grounds. It is a photographer's delight!

It's almost five years since the Duke of Windsor died. He died in Paris on May 28, 1972. We had seen the initial rehearsal - they generally have two rehearsals and it appeared as if the regular ceremony would be cancelled. It did not, and the queen paid tribute to the Duke at the ceremony.

She was, in fact, in Paris visiting the Duke the day we saw the Trooping of the Colours rehearsal.

Our seats were one row from the top, a beautiful spot for taking pictures. We watched as the bands and troops made their way down the Mall to Whitehall and onto the parade grounds that back up to No. 10 Downing Street.

Boycott coffee for health

DEAR DR. LAMB — I was attracted to your column on coffee and its effect on the human body. For several years I had the symptoms you mentioned. I did not know the cause of my problem.

I felt nervous, nauseated and was in very poor health. In fact, I went through the Mayo Clinic and Scripps Clinic without finding out my problem. I was in Valium when I read your column.

I quit coffee six years ago and feel like a new person although I am 69 years old. Had I not read your column I know I would never have reached age 69. Could you send me a copy of The Health Letter on coffee nerves?

DEAR READER — I am glad that stopping coffee has enabled you to feel so much better. You might have lived anyway but enjoyed it less.

The caffeine in coffee and in other drinks is a stimulant to the nervous system. You might call it a "liquid go pill." Certainly anyone who needs a tranquilizer should not be drinking coffee, tea or colas.

Simply taking away the coffee and throwing away the tranquilizers did wonders for many of these people. Stopping coffee and other caffeine containing drinks would do wonders for our overwrought, anxious society.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-1, Coffee, Tea, Cola, Cocca, that you requested. Others who want this information can send 50 cents for it with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Just write to me in care of The Manchester Evening Herald, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Uncollectable taxes pegged at $116,000

The Town of Manchester has over $116,000 in overdue taxes that are uncollectable, according to Collector of Revenue James Turek.

The collector's office has released the annual suspense tax list, which includes the names of about 1,500 taxpayers who cannot be located, have moved out of state or have gone out of business.

Turek recommends that these taxes be removed from the town tax list to create a more realistic amount of taxes that the town can collect.

The amounts owed by the majority on the list are small - most owe less than $100. There are some larger amounts on the list, mostly from businesses that have terminated.

For instance, the largest single tax bill on the list - $19,256.50 - is owed by Pilgrim Mills, Inc.

The suspense tax list includes $40,676.70 in personal property taxes owed in the town; $10,077.25 in the Eighth Utilities District; and $803.46 in the Special Taxing District.

The remainder of the taxes on the list are for motor vehicles.

The list includes $49,891.39 in motor vehicle taxes owed in the town and $15,066.46 owed in the Eighth District.

The total amount of taxes listed is $116,515.35.

Turek said that it is particularly difficult to collect motor vehicle taxes from persons who have moved out of state. Other persons on the list cannot be located, and several of the businesses listed, including Pilgrim Mills and W.T. Grant, have gone out of business.

Turek said that the annual total of uncollectable taxes "varies all over the board," but, he did say that this year's figure of $116,000 is "fairly high."

The town, as of March 31, lists $251,703.85 in taxes from prior years.

The yearly list of uncollectable taxes is prepared to give an accurate reading of what the town can expect to collect.

"If you anticipate $200,000, of which only $100,000 is collectable, it could substantially affect our collection index," Turek said.

Two years ago, the town hired a professional collection agency to collect overdue taxes. The agency, however, has met with only limited success, collecting only six per cent of the $58,000 it was assigned to collect.

Clinton Hendricks, 23, of 37 Margaret Rd., was in satisfactory condition today at Manchester Memorial hospital where he was admitted for observation Sunday night after a one-car accident on Hilliard St.

Hendricks was passenger in a car driven by Sofia G. Hendricks, 23, of 37 Margaret Rd. Police said she fell asleep and the car drove off the road into a telephone pole. Ms. Hendricks suffered a chin abrasion and Oscar Hendricks, 2, of the same address had a head laceration. Both were treated and released from the hospital.

A car driven by Fidele J. Savoie, 18, of 137 Edgerton St., damaged the front window and lower wall at the Cumberland Farms Store, 210 W. Center St. According to police, her foot slipped off the brake when the car ran into the store. There were no injuries.

Proposed code would stop shopping around for judges

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said today that the problem of unequal sentencing - which sometimes means lawyers will "shop around" for a lenient judge - will be stopped in his revision of the 200-year-old U.S. criminal code.

Kennedy said the bill being prepared by the Senate Judiciary Committee would reduce the 50 different definitions of descriptive words for theft - "wantonly," "lasciviously" and the like - to four.

Kennedy was interviewed on NBC-TV's Today program.

"Now," he said, the government and the defendant play games with the criminal code," pleading guilty to a lesser offense, and getting a lighter sentence. Kennedy said another result was "lawyers will shop around for judges" that will give lighter sentences for particular offenses.

Crime, Kennedy said, is a major concern of Americans, and the sentencing provision was the "heart" of the new bill. "We've written the section in such a way that the average citizen can understand it, the average prosecutor can understand it, and the judge can understand it," Kennedy said.

The bill would create a sentencing commission, appointed by the Judicial Council, the policymaking organ of the U.S. court system, to determine a minimum sentencing standard for crimes.

Under the bill, "if the judge, for example, sets a sentence higher than Violet Dion has been elected president of the Golden Age Club of Manchester's Senior Citizens Center. She succeeds Sue Scheibengruber, who is now serving as treasurer.

Other elected officers are Georgina Vince, vice-president; Ruth Malon, secretary; Jennie Vince, chaplain; and Marcha McCollum, chairman of hospitality committee.

Police probe two robberies

Two armed robberies that occurred early Saturday morning are under investigation by the Manchester Police detective bureau.

The robberies occurred at Kentucky Fried Chicken, 307 W. Middle Tpke. at 1 a.m. and at the 7-11 store, 305 Green Dr. at 3:55 a.m. Undisclosed amounts of cash were taken in both hold-ups.

Police are looking for two males who forced the manager of the Kentucky Fried Chicken to hand over his cash receipts at gunpoint. One of the men was described as a white male, about 5 feet 11 with long blonde-brown hair and medium build. He was described as wearing a red plaid jacket and carrying a silver revolver. The other man was described as 5 feet, 10 inches tall, thin, of Spanish descent, with a close cut Afro hair cut. He was wearing a fancy satin shirt and dirty dungarees, police said.

Both men were described as appearing nervous or "high" at the time of the robbery. They left the scene in a light green Datsun or Toyota pickup camper, according to the police report.

A lone white male entered the 7-11 store, approaching the clerk and carrying a large knife. He ordered the clerk to open the cash registers. The clerk handed the robber an undisclosed amount of cash. The robber ran out of the store and onto Green Rd. No other description was available.

No quick answer for school funding

HARTFORD (UPI) - Connecticut's educational funding problem probably won't be fully resolved for at least two or three years, according to state Education Commissioner Mark Shedd.

Earlier this month, the state Supreme Court declared unconstitutional Connecticut's system of funding public education and ordered the legislature to remedy the situation.

The high court said financing education primarily with local property taxes is unconstitutional because it benefits children who live in affluent, property-rich communities.

Appearing Sunday on WMMW's "Fairfield County Forum," Shedd said solving the funding problem will be difficult and unpopular.

Shedd predicted the legislature would move cautiously and the state would totally comply with the court order for at least two or three years.

Shedd said the legislature is looking at "several options" to provide between $100 and $200 million

Aides to discuss I-84 need for land in Wickham Park

The administrators of Wickham Park and representatives from the Department of Transportation (DOT) are expected to meet soon to discuss the proposed relocation of I-291, which would take about four acres of park land.

The highway had originally been proposed for a site that would have run directly through the Town of Manchester's planned industrial park. Once the park plans developed, Gov. Ella Grasso urged DOT officials that the highway route be changed to accommodate the industrial park.

The proposed relocation would run between the industrial park, planned for a location near Exit 93 of I-84, and Wickham Park, which straddles the Manchester-East Hartford border.

Probate Judge William E. Fitzgerald, who has responsibility for the Wickham Park estate, said that he expects to meet soon with DOT officials and representatives from the Hartford National Bank & Trust Co., which acts as administrator of the park.

"We want to cooperate and we want the highway position to be set," Judge Fitzgerald said. "But, at the same time, we don't want the park to be damaged."

The park also faces the loss of about two acres of land because of the proposed expansion of I-84. "That would be over six acres of park land," he said.

Robert Summa, the trust officer at Hartford National Bank and Trust who handles the park trust, said that he has requested maps and environmental-impact information from DOT. He will study the information and then get back in touch with department officials.

William Borja, a DOT planner, said that the information has been sent to Summa and DOT does expect to meet soon with the park administrators.

A public hearing on the proposed I-291 relocation is expected to be scheduled sometime in June.

Tough week ahead for labor; unions

HARTFORD (UPI) - Organized labor may get a double-barreled setback this week as the Senate prepares to vote on two anti-labor bills - one to ban throwaway bottles, the second to tighten the unemployment compensation law.

Senate approval is the only apparent remaining roadblock to enactment of the so-called "bottle bill," which was endorsed 77-65 by the House of Representatives earlier this month.

And, although any change in the jobless benefits act must still pass the House, labor lobbyists concede their only real chance of sidetracking the measure is in the Senate.

The bottle bill, now in its fourth journey through the legislative process, would ban flip-top cans and require three-to-five cent deposits on bottles. It is expected to come up Thursday.

An unlikely coalition of business and labor have tried to stop the bill, claiming it will mean a loss of jobs.

Environmentalists are predicting victory. They claim, say it will save energy, clean up the countryside and change America's throwaway mentality. Conflicting studies leave the job issue unclear.

The Senate vote is expected to be very close, although environmentalists are predicting victory. Nevertheless, both sides are courting Lt. Gov. Robert K. Killian who has the deciding vote if the legislature deadlocks.

Business groups have lobbied hard for a change in the unemployment compensation law to tighten eligibility for those who quit their jobs or get fired.

The Labor and Industrial Relations Committee has endorsed the eligibility for such people, but still allow them to collect benefits.

The committee bill was a compromise that is acceptable to neither labor nor management and lawmakers friendly to both sides are expected to try to amend the proposal.

Gov. Ella T. Grasso, who faces re-election next year and needs to stay in labor's good graces, has refused to say what she will do if the bill passes the legislature.

School plans open house

There will be open house Wednesday from 9:15 to 10:30 a.m. at the South United Methodist Church Nursery School, 1226 Main St., in the education wing.

Interested parents are invited to attend with their children.

Parking is available in the large church parking lot across the street on Hartford Rd.

The nursery school operates Monday through Wednesday from 9 to 11:30 a.m. Only children eligible for kindergarten the following year are accepted. Registrations are being taken.

Further information is available by calling Mrs. Paul Maloney, director and head teacher, at 649-8550, or Mrs. Marilyn Morton at 646-2885. Mrs. Dennis Santoro is assistant to the director.

Vernon council may revoke on road jobs

Vernon Town Planner John Loranger will ask the Town Council to reconsider a decision concerning priority for some transportation projects expected to be funded by the state.

The deadline for submitting the priority list to the Capitol Region Council of Governments (CRCOG) was April 15. Loranger submitted a list in the following priority order: Windsor Ave. (Rt. 83) Amerlebec Corner (E. Main & Grove Sts.), West Rd., Bolton Rd., Smpic St., and Tunnel Rd.

Both the Traffic Authority and the Planning Commission had asked that the Tunnel Rd. project be listed in fourth priority and that Bolton Rd. be sixth.

Loranger said that the average daily traffic count on Tunnel Rd. is 3,340, with a total of 47 accidents in the past three years. Bolton Rd. has an average daily traffic count of 1,800, with 34 accidents in the same number

Vernon asked to join move for fair housing

Vernon, along with other towns across Connecticut, is being asked to share in a regional compact to avoid one town being asked to continue exclusionary practices in renting and selling homes at the expense of other towns.

The proposal is being made by the Urban League of Greater Hartford. It calls for providing an open house agency service for individual Capital Region towns, but on a coordinated regional scale that would provide anti-discriminatory counseling, testing and educational services to member towns. It would result in each town having an affirmative marketing program for housing.

In a report to the Vernon Town Council, Michael Sharpe III, director of housing for the league, said that despite legislative acts and state and town ordinances, "discrimination in renting and selling of homes persists in our communities."

He said while housing discrimination isn't practiced as frequently or as openly as it was before discrimination was outlawed, it is still accurate to describe most areas as having greater Hartford as having two housing markets, one for whites and one for blacks.

He said racial discrimination in housing compels blacks and other minorities to live in the metropolitan area's least desirable housing.

"Their housing also tends to be older, in worse condition, and in less desirable neighborhoods," he said.

A breakdown by towns in the region, using 1960 and 1970 population figures, shows Vernon as having a population of 27,377 in 1970 and 19,961 in 1960, a 60.6 per cent change. Of the 27,377 number, the chart shows the whites numbering 26,277, blacks 232, and other, 195. The median age is given as 39.1 and the median family income, $11,818.

Sharpe said "towns whether consciously or subconsciously, are not properly represented in minority categories in relation to overall regional minority population."

He said more than 90 per cent of the minority concentration in the Capital Region is in the towns of Bloomfield and Hartford.

"Until patterns as demonstrated on those maps are changed, court challenges of federal funding, and cries of 'racist community' will be the order of the day," Sharpe said.

Coventry PZC to delay drainage requirements

The Coventry Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC) has decided not to drop the underground drainage system designed for the undeveloped section of Coventry Hills.

The PZC decided to uphold Town Planner Gregory Paddock's recommendation, to allow Richard Breen, developer of the 21-lot subdivision, to delay the drainage work until Coventry Hills Section 3, another undeveloped section, is built. The commission would also allow minor modification of the present system or consider a new system. The PZC vote was 4-1 last week.

Commission members agreed the drainage plan approved for the subdivision in 1973 is not needed in Section 2, but they supported the need for drainage work in Section 3. The drainage system for both sections is connected.

Breen requested the change because the system is not needed there and construction of the approved system would destroy many trees and stone walls, he said.

Breen proposes to install individual wells in this section if the drainage system problem is resolved. Homeowners in Coventry Hills have problems with the quality of water in the community well system used there.

Jean Annino of Merrow Rd. expressed concern about the destruction of trees and walls and said the system would be a safety hazard to children.

"I'm going to sit on the walls, I'm not going to let them come down," she said.

Tomorrow, Paddock, town engineer and Atty. Richard Cromie, who represents Breen, will meet to discuss a modified drainage plan for the subdivision.

Cromie said the reason a plan is being submitted is an effort to preserve the natural beauty of the area.

PZC members told Breen Thursday they would support a modified plan which would save the walls and trees.

Andover and Bolton Voter turnout is light in area

By DONNA HOLLAND
Herald Correspondent

With several hours before the polls close, voters in Andover and Bolton are being urged to get out and vote.

As of 11 a.m., 132 (just under 12 per cent) of Andover's voters had voted. In Andover, 1,359 persons are eligible to vote. Of that number, 431 are registered as Democrats, 348 are Republicans and 380 are unaffiliated.

In Bolton, 272 (just under 13 per cent) had voted by 11 a.m. Bolton has 2,194 registered voters. Of that number, 858 are Republicans, 685 are Democrats and 651 are unaffiliated.

Beatrice Kowalski, vice-chairman of the Andover Democratic Town Committee, predicted that Andover would have at least a 50 per cent voter turnout, but she expressed hope that it would be higher.

Yo Anson, Republican town chairman in Andover, predicted an 80 per cent voter turnout.

"I hope our man wins, but with three candidates for first selectman it's hard to predict," Mrs. Kowalski said.

"I am cautiously optimistic," Anson said. "It will be pretty close between Republicans and Democrats." Anson said the independent candidate probably will not affect the outcome.

Polis in both Andover and Bolton opened at 8 a.m. and will close at 8 p.m. Andover residents are voting at Andover Elementary School. Bolton residents are voting at the Community Hall.

Argentine dashes US Cup hopes

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (UPI) — Argentina defeated the United States for the first time in the Davis Cup American Zone tennis finals, 3-2, thanks to its star player Guillermo Vilas and plucky Ricardo Cano.

The Argentines had the advantage of playing on their home court, the slow, brick-dust surface of the Buenos Aires Lawn Tennis Club where over 5,000 unruly fans chanted, whistled and waved flags.

With a 4-1 lead starting Sunday's final singles matches, the Argentines clinched the victory when Vilas defeated Dick Stockton, 5-7, 6-2, 6-2, in a hard-fought 3-hour, 15-minute match.

"I was aware of the pressure, I was afraid of losing the whole time," Vilas said. "The noisy crowd had to help me, but it's the same situation everywhere — the United States lost to Mexico in Mexico but Mexico has never beaten the U.S. in the United States."

Stockton said he was upset by Cano.

"I couldn't believe I lost those last three sets 6-2," Stockton said. "I was really disappointed but I lost to a fine player."

The score did not reflect the fine playing of both Stockton and Vilas in the best match of this Davis Cup Zone final. Stockton served strongly in the first set, and showed his ability to within one game of Gottfried. In the next set, the two were evenly matched, but Cano's will crumbled in the third set, when he failed to win a single game.

"Gottfried isn't just another player, he's one of the best in the world, and I think it was a good score for me," Cano said.

"I couldn't believe I lost those last three sets 6-2," Stockton said. "I was really disappointed but I lost to a fine player."

The score did not reflect the fine playing of both Stockton and Vilas in the best match of this Davis Cup Zone final. Stockton served strongly in the first set, and showed his ability to within one game of Gottfried. In the next set, the two were evenly matched, but Cano's will crumbled in the third set, when he failed to win a single game.

"Gottfried isn't just another player, he's one of the best in the world, and I think it was a good score for me," Cano said.

Chamber seeks donations to fund gift to CRCOG

Members of the Rockville Area Chamber of Commerce are being asked to donate money to replace $500 of the Board of Directors recently approved for the Capital Region Council of Governments. The money will help CRCOG finance several projects important to the region.

The funds are to go to the following areas: Economic development; improving public relations; hiring a lobbyist at the State Capitol; paying a regional government expert to examine CRCOG's setup, and development of a regional housing plan.

The money donated by the local chamber was taken from its treasury and the board agreed it should be replaced by soliciting members.

Steven Lambert, president of the chamber board, said regional development affects everyone and should be a priority area for businessmen.

Fire fighters needed

South Windsor
The South Windsor Fire Department is looking for 10 volunteer fire fighters in the northwest section of town as well as a photographer from the same area.

The northwest section, from north of Sullivan Avenue to west of Graham Rd., has had only 17 fire fighters and has had difficulty in recruiting new members.

All of South Windsor is protected by a volunteer fire department which is considered a leader in the Connecticut fire service.

"Volunteer fire fighters are just as well trained and equipped as their paid brethren," says Fire Chief Peter E. Crombie. "Many volunteer departments provide better fire protection than paid

Catholic's record at .500 on Steuernagel's pitching

By LEN AUSTER

Northwest Catholic at Eagle Field. Keying the victory was sophomore left-hander Craig Steuernagel who spun a three-hitter to gain his third win against two losses. Steuernagel, a long and lean youngster, retired the first 16 batters in a row before yielding a sixth-inning double which landed just inside the rightfield foul triple.

One win in four tries for MCC on weekend

Finding the going rough over the weekend was Manchester Community College's baseball team, dropping three of four decisions. Saturday, the Cougars split with Mitchell Junior College, bowing in the opener, 6-1, but taking the nightcap, 6-5. Eastern Connecticut State College's jayvees took a pair from MCC yesterday, 8-6 and 9-5. The verdicts leaves the Cougars with an overall record of 11-7.

Little coasts to Texas win

WOODLANDS, Tex. (UPI) — Gene Littler, the Houston Open champion, may look older than his 46 years but he doesn't think like a pro golfer that age.

"I'm going to play as long as I feel I can be competitive, where I can still have a chance to win," Littler said after coasting to a three-stroke victory in the $200,000 tournament played at the Woodlands Golf Club course.

"When I get to the point where I'm an also-ran every week I hope I see the writing on the wall," he said. Littler looked pale and tired as he sipped a glass of orange juice after his final round 74. He was asked if the victory, his first in 22 months, would prolong his career.

White tops McDonald to win tennis crown

Playing consistent tennis, Mike White captured the first annual Manchester Racquet Club singles championship yesterday by defeating Tom McDonald, 6-3, 7-5. White, current town singles champ, and now playing the "best tennis of his life," according to Pro Jack Redmond, had to cut down No. 1 seed, Stu Jennings in the semifinals. The scores were 6-3, 6-0. McDonald, tennis coach at Manchester Community College and regular doubles partner of White, reached the title round by whipping Tom Rodden 6-2, 6-3.

First win on tour for Debbie Austin

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — When Debbie Austin bogeyed the second hole in the final round of the $60,000 Birmingham LPGA Classic, she thought it was going to be another one of those weeks.

"It's meant to be," Austin said. "That was a big system. I'm playing more now because my wife is with me and the kids are away at school."

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: SICKENED IN L.A. wrote to you recently regarding the way he felt about the destruction of thousands of bright-eyed puppies and kittens, which he had to destroy as part of his job.

Your P.S. to him was: "How much sicker must you get before you seek other employment?"

Abby, there are all too few dedicated animal lovers doing this kind of job, and if they were to quit, the plight of the dogs and cats would be far worse.

It takes a humane person to destroy animals humanely. A non-caring person can be very cruel with a needle stuck in the wrong place.

Those who love animals should not abandon their jobs at animal shelters, even though they must destroy animals. They should stay there and fight for a better-informed public and better conditions where they work.

Many unfortunate animals are still stuffed into an airtight box, then exposed to exhaust fumes coming at them at 400 degrees heat. They are roasted alive!

As the ASPCA Shelter manager for Galveston County, I have destroyed over 20,000 dogs and cats in eight years. I am sick of it, too. But that's no excuse for quitting.

ONE WHO CARES

DEAR ONE: Thank you for reminding me that the way to change the system is not by quitting, but by sticking with it and trying to improve it. Your answer was better than mine.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 13-year-old boy with a question: Why would a boy my age want to start smoking when he knows it's bad for his health?

ROGER

DEAR ROGER: Because he wants to "prove" to the world that he's a "man." And 25 years later he tries to quit smoking for the same reason.

DEAR ABBY: You showed a lot of sympathy to mothers of bedwetters. If those mothers think they have it so bad, they should know what MY mother went through for 12 years.

Her mother had a series of strokes, and my mother cared for her in her home. Granny wet the bed (and everything else) all those years. She weighed 180 pounds, and had to be lifted and rolled over every time my mother changed the bed, which was countless times a day. We didn't have a clothes dryer in those days, either, and living in the rainy Northwest, we had to hang our laundry in the basement to dry.

Help was out of the question, since this all happened during the Depression. Five of us lived on $50 a month, which my grandfather borrowed on his life insurance policy.

I hope that makes some of your readers with bedwetter problems realize that things could be worse.

REMEMBER WELL

DEAR REMEMBER: Which reminds me of that oft-quoted bit of philosophy about the man who said he felt sorry for himself because he had no shoes until he met a man who had no feet. Yes, things can always be worse.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to Abby: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Tuesday, May 3

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Unusual stress and more potential problems exist today in one-on-one relationships or where you're negotiating an agreement.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) This is one of those days when everybody will try to transfer their burdens to your shoulders. Looks like a busy day!

CANCER (June 21-July 21) Be wary today lest you be drawn into a situation where you could be required to pay for mistakes or extravagance of another.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 22) Family disagreements have a way of being blown out of proportion today. Unless everyone is very careful, harsh feelings could result.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You're intensely resentful of anyone trying to tell you what to do today. Don't overreact.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) It may be wiser to pass up deals where you sense the other party has the edge going in. Favorable ad judgments aren't likely today.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) Unless you and others make sure you're pulling together today, more problems than productivity will result.

Grant will help area towns

The towns of Andover, Coventry and Hebron will benefit from a $12,500 grant recently awarded the University of Connecticut's School of Allied Health.

The grant will be used to administer the program. "Nutritional Education for Homemaker Home Health Aide Service — Updating and Upgrading." The grant was awarded by the Connecticut Commission for Higher Education.

The "Meals on Wheels" program for elderly in the area, which has been funded with Title III money in the past, failed to gain refunding this year.

Homemakers will learn special culinary skills during a 10-week course to be taught in Willimantic. The course will concentrate on preparation of special diets and economical methods of preparation and shopping.

Bolton

The United Methodist Church is the depot for the World Service Clothing Collection. There is a large container inside the main entrance. Clean, used clothing of almost any kind is needed. To learn more, call Mrs. Clifford Stephens, local coordinator.

The Comprehensive Youth Work Experience Program (CYWEP) will operate a seven-week summer employment program in Bolton, starting July 5. The program provides part-time employment for economically disadvantaged youths aged 14-21. Those planning to participate must qualify under federal economic guidelines. Applications are available at Bolton High School or the town hall.

East Hartford High names top students

East Hartford High School's top students in the Class of 1977 are Susan Schoenberger, valedictorian, and Barbara E. Atwood, salutatorian.

Miss Schoenberger is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schoenberger of 412 School St. She is a member of the National Honor Society and a State of Connecticut Scholar.

She is a member of the EHHS Student Council, the World Affairs Club and the Youth-In-Government program. Since her junior year, she has led the marching band as drum major. She plays flute in the show band for school musicals.

Miss Schoenberger is a member of the Hartford Civic Center Youth Council and the CYC of St. Rose parish. She has been the CYC representative to the St. Rose parish council.

She has not decided which college she will attend but does plan to major in physical therapy. She wants to work with handicapped children.

Miss Atwood is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Atwood of 56 Bissell St.

She recently performed in the EHHS musical, "Annie Get Your Gun," playing the role of Dolly Tate. She is a member of the National Honor Society and the Girls' Leaders Club.

Miss Atwood has also been active in the French Club, Mixed Choir, interscholastic volleyball and the EHHS musical, "Anything Goes." She was also a member of the Mary Morlock Jazz Company and competitive jazz group.

She also has been named a state scholar and was the Exchange Club's Youth of the Month in February.

She has been accepted at Simmons College in Boston, Mass., and plans to enter the field of marketing research.

Contract vote due

The East Hartford Board of Education will consider a three-year contract for teachers when it meets tonight at 7:30 at Penney High School.

The East Hartford Education Association, which represents the teachers, voted 316 to 62 last week to accept the contract prepared by school and union negotiators. The contract provides a 4 per cent salary increase for 1977-78, a 4.2 per cent raise for 1978-79, and another 4.3 per cent raise in 1979-80.

In other business tonight, the school board will consider a change in the open enrollment policy. The policy allows students to attend a school outside their home district if there is room in the school and if the students get there on their own.

Students ready to take over town

By SHEILA TULLER

Herald Correspondent
"I just hope we're taken seriously," said "Mayor" Brett Zerbera when he and "Town Treasurer" Gary Berner discussed Youth-In-Government-Day recently.

Zerbera, Berner and the rest of East Hartford High School's winning BEST party slate will take over the town Tuesday. The BEST (Better Education with Students Together) party's elected and appointed officials will assume the duties of all local officials.

Appointed officials recently announced by Mayor Zerbera include Anne Fitzgerald, assistant to the mayor; Anne Picone, corporation counsel; Lori Firmneck, town clerk; Sharly Scott, director of personnel; Carol Bamber, director of libraries; Debbie Vince, director of youth services; David DeBear, director of parks and recreation; Michelle Mourey, director of development; Karen Magruder, director of health and social services; Kerry Everin, director of inspections and permits; Sue Heintz, director of public works; Paula Joyce, director of finance; Lynn Russell, police chief; Sue Schoenberger, fire chief; Arthur Brassaw, fire marshal; Theresa Pugliese, dog catcher; Patty Doak, superintendent of schools, and Colleen Dooley, Lori Temple and Harry Nordberg, assistants to the superintendent.

The student Board of Education will meet before the regular board meeting tonight at Penney High School. Successful council candidates will meet Tuesday night at 8 p.m. in the Council Chambers at Town Hall.

Top vote-getters from the losing party, JAWS (Joint Action With Students), will take the minority party seats at both meetings.

The students, their advisers, (James Dakin, Neil Guerin, Ken Gwods and Judith Wanchec), Mayor Richard Blackstone, councilman, school board members and department heads will gather for a luncheon at Veterans Memorial Clubhouse Tuesday at noon.

Since Youth-In-Government election day, held in early April, student officials have been meeting to discuss the best points of both party platforms. The BEST party promised improvements and changes to the EHHS athletic program, the school, the town, and expansion of the summer job program.

Berner, who was also the BEST party campaign chairman, said, "We want to make the Board of Education aware the kids want improvement. We have to let them know what has to be done."

Slated to be aired before the school board are expansion of the instrumental sports program at EHHS, scheduling changes, equalization of East Hartford High and Penney High programs, and creation of a "Varsity Sports Day" with Penney.

Student school board members also want glass basketball backboards. This request will be made because "no CCIL tournament game could be played at our home gym if our team was in the tourney because the Hornet gym is not equipped with these backboards."

The students also want more summer jobs. Zerbera, Berner and their constituents agree much maintenance and improvement work necessary at EHHS could be handled by the students.

"Many of the jobs now available are for low income youth. All the kids need jobs," Zerbera said.

The student councilmen are supporting the completion of I-84. Berner again stressed, "We are aware of what's going on and we have ideas. We want the council to see as students we can put ideas together. We really hope to accomplish many things."

Among the ideas scheduled for the council meeting include improvements and additions at town parks (specifically a skating area in the north end), bike routes and restoration of the ski tow at Wickham. Student leaders would also like to see a commission set up to study energy conservation.

The BESTS see a definite need for sidewalks along Scotland Rd., from Burnside Ave. to the high school entrance, and along the entranceway to the school.

"This is not only for the safety of our students but for all citizens using this street," Zerbera said. Many younger children walk along this street to the high school pool.

Because he wanted to see what politics is like, Zerbera originally hoped to be a homeroom delegate to make plans for Youth-in-Government-Day. He bowed out because a friend also wanted to be the homeroom delegate. In the end, Zerbera was his party's choice for mayor and the overwhelming choice of the student body on election day.

The young mayor was very happy with the voter turnout. "Over 70 per cent," he said.

He is also very pleased that so many students got involved with Youth-In-Government-Day.

"We have some good ideas. We can do it," Zerbera said.

What the students hope to do is bring their ideas to the mayor, the council and the school board. They hope their adult counterparts will take action on these ideas.

Youth-In-Government-Day ideas have been fruitful in the past. East Hartford High's BEST team will work for this Tuesday when they take over the town for the day.

Vernon council may revoke on road jobs

Vernon Town Planner John Loranger will ask the Town Council to reconsider a decision concerning priority for some transportation projects expected to be funded by the state.

The deadline for submitting the priority list to the Capitol Region Council of Governments (CROCG) was April 15. Loranger submitted a list in the following priority order: Windsor Ave. (Rt. 83) Amherst Corner (E. Main & Grove Sts.), West Rd., Bolton Rd., Snipic St., and Tunnel Rd.

Both the Traffic Authority and the Planning Commission had asked that the Tunnel Rd. project be listed in fourth priority and that Bolton Rd. be sixth.

Loranger said that the average daily traffic count on Tunnel Rd. is 16,340, with a total of 47 accidents in the past three years; Bolton Rd. has an average daily traffic count of 1,800, with 34 accidents in the same number of years.

Loranger said another factor is that the Planning Commission has approved three subdivisions consisting of more than 140 lots at the intersection of Tunnel Rd. and Lake St.

He said it is anticipated that most future residential development in Vernon will use Tunnel Rd. as the primary means of access.

Loranger said that on the other hand, though Bolton Rd. does have severe drainage and roadway condition problems, the volume it carries, or will carry in the future, is not large enough to warrant allocation of scarce money to its improvement now.

Loranger also noted that Tunnel Rd. is a state highway and Bolton Rd. is not. He said while this is not a specific criteria for the allocation of "turn-in" funds, it will certainly have an impact on the state's decision to fund its matching share.

Vernon asked to join move for fair housing

Vernon, along with other towns across Connecticut, is being asked to share in a regional effort to avoid one town being allowed to continue exclusionary practices in renting and selling homes at the expense of other towns.

The proposal is being made by the Urban League of Greater Hartford. It calls for providing an open house agency service for individual Capitol Region towns, but on a coordinated regional scale that would provide anti-discrimination counseling, testing and educational services to member towns. It would result in each town having an affirmative marketing program for housing.

In a report to the Vernon Town Council, Michael Sharpe III, director of housing for the league, said that despite legislative acts and state and town ordinances, "discrimination in renting and selling of homes persists in our communities."

He said while housing discrimination isn't practiced as frequently or as openly as it was before, discrimination was outlawed, it is still accurate to describe most areas such as Greater Hartford as having two housing markets, one for whites and one for blacks.

He said racial discrimination in housing compels blacks and other minorities to live in metropolitan areas' least desirable housing.

"Their housing also tends to be older, in worse condition, and in less desirable neighborhoods," he said.

A breakdown by towns in the region, using 1960 and 1970 population figures, shows Vernon as having a population of 27,737 in 1970 and 16,961 in 1960, a 62.5 percent change. Of the 27,737 number, the chart shows the whites numbering 25,927; blacks, 232, and other, 195. The median age is given as 39.1 and the median family income, $11,818.

Sharpe said "towns whether consciously or subconsciously, are not properly represented in minority categories in relation to overall regional minority population."

He said more than 90 percent of the minority concentration in the Capitol Region is in the towns of Bloomfield and Hartford.

"Until patterns are changed on those maps are changed, court challenges of federal funding, and cries of 'racist community' will be the order of the day," Sharpe said.

Grasso will push for I-291

Following a meeting with South Windsor Mayor Sandra Berger, and State Rep. Abraham Glasman, Gov. Ella Grasso has urged the state Department of Transportation (DOT) to make the segment of I-291 affecting local traffic a top-priority item.

The meeting was initiated by Mayor Berger because of local concern over traffic problems expected when the large J. C. Panney warehouse in Manchester is built.

Officials say the traffic which will result is more than the local roads can tolerate.

I-291 is expected to connect I-81 in Windsor with I-96 in Manchester, and will cross into South Windsor at the Bissell Bridge.

Gov. Grasso has also asked the DOT to hold public hearings on the highway before July, and to keep South Windsor and Manchester informed of progress.

For senior citizens Reservations for lunches at St. Peter's Episcopal Church may be made by calling the South Windsor Town Hall or at St. Peter's Church.

Mini-bus reservations may be made by calling the Town Hall.

Until a decision is reached concerning the replacement for VISTA volunteer Judy Bogatz, activities at the luncheon program will be under the direction of Peter Santaripa.

Fire fighters needed

South Windsor departments... with the obvious advantage being that it can operate on a very small fraction of the cost of a fully paid department. However, it is dependent upon residents volunteering their service.

South Windsor has three fire stations. Two of the stations have their full complement of 25 firemen and find they must put new volunteers on a waiting list.

Crombie feels the low enlistment of fire fighters in the northwest area of town may affect fire protection.

Persons interested in serving on the department in the northwest section may call the fire department, 644-2443, and leave their name and phone number. Someone at the department will contact Crombie. "Many volunteer departments provide better fire protection than paid

Andover and Bolton Voter turnout is light in area

By DONNA HOLLAND, Herald Correspondent

With several hours before the polls close, voters in Andover and Bolton are being urged to get out and vote.

As of 11 a.m., 132 (just under 12 percent) of Andover's voters had voted. In Andover, 1,159 persons are eligible to vote. Of that number, 431 are registered as Democrats, 349 are Republicans and 380 are unaffiliated.

In Bolton, 272 (just under 13 percent) had voted by 11 a.m. Bolton has 2,194 registered voters. Of that number, 858 are Democrats, 685 are Republicans and 651 are unaffiliated.

Beatrice Kowalski, vice-chairman of the Andover Democratic Town Committee, predicted that Andover would have at least a 50 percent voter turnout, but she expressed hope that it would be higher.

Yo Anson, Republican town chairman in Andover, predicted an 80 percent voter turnout.

"I hope our man wins, but with three candidates for first selectman it's hard to predict," Mrs. Kowalski said.

"I am cautiously optimistic," Anson said. "It will be pretty close between Republicans and Democrats." Anson said the independent candidate probably will not affect the outcome.

Coventry PZC to delay drainage requirements

The Coventry Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC) has decided not to drop the underground drainage system designed for the undeveloped section of Coventry Hills.

The PZC decided to uphold Town Planner Gregory Paddock's recommendation to allow Richard Breen, developer of the 21-lot subdivision, to delay the drainage work until Coventry Hills Section 3, another undeveloped section, is built. The commission would also allow minor modification of the present system or consider a new system. The PZC vote was 4-1 last week.

Commission members agreed the drainage plan approved for the subdivision in 1973 is not needed in Section 2, but they supported the need for drainage work in Section 3. The drainage system for both sections is connected.

Breen requested the change because the system is not needed there and construction of the improved system would destroy many trees and stone walls, he said.

Breen proposed to install individual wells in this section if the drainage system problem is resolved. Homeowners in Coventry Hills have problems with the quality of water in the community well system used there.

John Annino of Merrow Rd. expressed concern about the destruction of trees and walls and said the system would be a safety hazard to children.

"I'm going to sit on the walls, I'm not going to let them come down," he said.

Tomorrow, Paddock, town engineers and Atty. Richard Cromie, who represents Breen, will meet to discuss a modified drainage plan for the subdivision.

Cromie said the reason a plan is being submitted is an effort to preserve the natural beauty of the area.

PZC members told Breen Thursday they would support a modified plan which would save the walls and trees.

Area police report

Michael Williams, of Village St., Rockville, was charged Saturday with breach of peace. Police said he was in Central Park in Rockville yelling obscenities at a police officer.

Erma Ingraham, 36, of 97 Montauk Dr., Vernon, was charged Saturday with fourth-degree larceny on complaint of Caldwell Verney Circle. Her court date is May 25.

James McChap of no certain address was charged Saturday with disorderly conduct. Police said he was involved in a disturbance at 2 N. Park St. He was held in lieu of a $200 bond. He was to be presented in court today.

William Prussia, 17, of Roudalay Rd., Amston, was taken to Windham Memorial Hospital for treatment after being struck by a car Sunday.

State Police said Vera E. Trymalk, 16, of 235 Main St., East Hartford, was learning to drive in the parking lot of the Sunnyday Farms Store on Rt. 85 in Hebron when she accidentally hit the accelerator instead of the brake.

The car jumped the curb and pushed Prussia into the window of the store. No police action was taken.

Area bulletin board

Hebron The First Congregational Church will sponsor its annual snowboard, for the benefit of the organ repair fund, May 21 at the church. There will be continuous servings from 4 to 8 p.m. Tickets are available from church members. No tickets will be sold at the door. To make reservations, contact Mrs. Ruth Porter, Rt. 85, Mrs. Jane Alden, Reidy Mill Rd., or Mrs. Barbara Schriener.

The 37 children who participated in last week's Bike-Bike, sponsored by the Junior Women's Club, raised $1,351 to benefit the Connecticut Association of Retarded Persons.

Chamber seeks donations to fund gift to CROCG

Members of the Rockville Area Chamber of Commerce are being asked to donate money to replace $500 of the money which was used to fund the gift to the CROCG.

The money donated by the local chamber was taken from its treasury and the board agreed it should be replaced by soliciting members.

Steven Lamont, president of the chamber board, said regional development affects everyone and should be a priority area for businessmen.

Argentine dashes US Cup hopes

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (UPI) — Argentina defeated the United States for the first time in the Davis Cup American Zone tennis finals, 3-2, thanks to its star player Guillermo Vilas and plucky Ricardo Cano.

The Argentines had the advantage of playing on their home court, the slow, brick-surfaced surface of the Buenos Aires Lawn Tennis Club where over 5,000 unruly fans chanted, whistled and waved flags.

Vilas led starting Sunday's final singles matches, the Argentines clinched the victory when Vilas defeated Dick Stockton, 5-7, 6-2, 6-4, 6-2, in a hard-fought, 150-minute match.

"I was aware of the pressure. I was afraid of losing the whole time," Vilas said. "The noisy crowd had to help me, but it's the same thing everywhere — the United States lost to Mexico in Mexico but Mexico has never beaten the U.S. in the United States."

Stockton said he was not nervous during the match. "I was really loose. I slept last night for the first time since we got here and I felt really good."

He was wearing a rubber corset and said he had no problems with his back. "I have had it bolted here and there every Friday when he was upset by Cano."

"I couldn't believe I lost those last three sets 6-2," Stockton said. "I'm really disappointed but I lost to a fine player."

The score did not reflect the fine playing of both Stockton and Vilas in the best match of this Davis Cup Zone final. Stockton served strongly in the first set and showed his ability to come up to the net and volley.

Vilas, however, kept up another player, he's one of the best in the world, and I think it was a good score for me," Cano said.

Bruins gain Stanley Cup finals

BOSTON (UPI) — Three years of pent-up hostility, more than 1,000 days of woulda's, coulda's and shoulda's are over for the Boston Bruins.

They have beaten the Philadelphia Flyers in a Stanley Cup series... and more.

"We owed them, we sure did," said Boston's Don Marcotte, who scored two goals in the series windup.

With a 3-0 shutout Sunday night, the Bruins completed an unlikely four-game sweep of the Flyers. The thorough beating made up for the Flyers six-game win in 1974 Cup finals and their five-game series victory in last spring's season.

"I was aware of the pressure. I was afraid of losing the whole time," Vilas said. "The noisy crowd had to help me, but it's the same thing everywhere — the United States lost to Mexico in Mexico but Mexico has never beaten the U.S. in the United States."

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: SICKENED IN L.A. wrote to you recently regarding the way he felt about the thousands of bright-eyed puppies and kittens, which he had to destroy as part of his job.

Your P.S. to him was: "How much sicker must you get before you seek other employment?"

Abby, there are all too few dedicated animal lovers doing this kind of job, and if they were to quit, the plight of the dog and cat would be far worse.

It takes a humane person to destroy animals humanely. A non-caring person can be very cruel with a needle stuck in the wrong place.

Those who love animals should not abandon their jobs at animal shelters, even though they must destroy animals. They should stay there and fight for a better-informed public and better conditions where they work.

Many unfortunate animals are still stuffed into an airtight box, then exposed to exhaust fumes coming at them at 400 degrees heat. They are roasted alive!

As the ASPCA Shelter manager for Galveston County, I have destroyed over 20,000 dogs and cats in eight years. I am sick of it, too. But that's no excuse for quitting.

ONE WHO CARES

DEAR ONE: Thank you for reminding me that the way to change the system is not by quitting, but by sticking with it and trying to improve it. Your answer was better than mine.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 13-year-old boy with a question: Why would a boy my age want to start smoking when he knows it's bad for his health?

ROGER

DEAR ROGER: Because he wants to "prove" to the world that he's a "man." And 25 years later he tries to quit smoking for the same reason.

DEAR ABBY: You showed a lot of sympathy to mothers of bedwetters. If those mothers think they have it so bad, they should know what my mother went through for 12 years.

Her mother had a series of strokes, and my mother cared for her in her home. Granny wet the bed (and everything else) all those years. She weighed 180 pounds, and had to be lifted and rolled over every time my mother changed the bed, which was countless times a day. We didn't have a clothes dryer in those days, either, and living in the rainy Northwest, we had to hang our laundry in the basement to dry.

Help was out of the question, since this all happened during the Depression. Five of us lived on $50 a month, which my grandfather borrowed on his life-insurance policy.

I hope that makes some of your readers with bedwetter problems realize that things could be worse.

IREMUELLER WELLS

DEAR REMEMBER: Which reminds me of that oft-quoted bit of philosophy about the man who said he felt sorry for himself because he had no shoes until he met a man who had no feet. Yes, things can always be worse.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box, No. 99700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Envelope stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

By BERNICE BEDE BOGL

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Unusual stress and more potential problems exist today in one-to-one relationships or where you're negotiating an agreement.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
This is one of those days when you may feel like a pincushion. Your burdens will try to transfer their burdens to your shoulders. Looks like a busy day!

CANCER (June 21-July 21)
Be wary today lest you be drawn into a situation where you could be required to pay for mistakes or extravagances of another.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 23)
Family disagreements have a way of being blown out of proportion today. Unless everyone is very careful, harsh feelings could result.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 23)
You're instantly resentful of anyone trying to tell you what to do today. Don't overreact.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
It may be wiser to pass up deals where you sense the other party has the edge going in. Favorable arrangements aren't likely today.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23)
Unless you and others make sure you're pulling together today, more problems than productivity will result.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
You have a knack for painting yourself into a corner today. You could take a step back and reassess the situation and make it even worse.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Avoid living to make a good over in your own image today. This could lead to a self-imposed banishment or seriously sour the relationship.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Don't put your reputation on the line today for one who may not be worth it. You could damage your own image for naught.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
It's highly probable you haven't pruned past experience. You could act today in a way that trampled you before.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
Be extremely careful in ALL financial dealings today. Don't get mixed up in anything speculative.

Your Birthday

May 3, 1977

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23)
Unless you and others make sure you're pulling together today, more problems than productivity will result.

Grant will help area towns

The towns of Andover, Coventry and Hebron will benefit from a $12,500 grant recently awarded the University of Connecticut's School of Allied Health.

The grant will be used to administer the program, "Nutritional Education for Homemaker Home Health Aide Service— Updating and Upgrading." The grant was awarded by the Connecticut Commission for Higher Education.

The "Meals on Wheels" program for elderly in the area, which has been funded with Title III money in the past, failed to gain refunding this year. Homemakers will learn special culinary skills during a 10-week course to be taught in Willimantic. The course will concentrate on preparation of special diets and economical methods of preparation and shopping.

Area bulletin board

Andover

Jeffrey Weingart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Weingart of Lakeside Dr., Andover, has been selected by the Rham High School faculty to receive the Connecticut Association of Women Deans, Administrators and Counselors Award. This is presented annually to an outstanding student in the junior class.

Bolton

The United Methodist Church is the depot for the World Service Clothing Collection. There is a large container inside the main entrance. Clean, used clothing of almost any kind is needed. To learn more, call Mrs. Clifford Stephens, local coordinator.

The Comprehensive Youth Work Experience Program (CYWEP) will operate a seven-week summer employment program in Bolton, starting July 5. The program provides part-time employment for economically disadvantaged youths aged 14-21. Those planning to participate must qualify under federal economic guidelines. Applications are available at Bolton High School or the town hall.

Street captains for the recent annual enumeration conducted by the Parent-Teacher Organization are asked to return their enumeration package to MaryLou Lemaire as soon as possible. Mrs. Lemaire and Esther Haloburdo were co-captains for the survey.

The Bolton Historical Society's annual meeting is tonight at 7:30 at Bentley Memorial Library. Officers will be elected. Dr. John Rogers will speak on black history in Connecticut at 8 p.m. The public is invited. Refreshments will be served.

The Bolton High School class of 1967 is planning a 10th reunion picnic July 30 at Herrick Memorial Park. The committee has been unable to contact the following members of the class: Ralph Grover, Susan Miller, Edward Powers, David Sutherland and Karen Desautels. Anyone having any information should contact Wendy Robbins, 646-4414.

Coventry

Coventry public health nurses will hold a blood pressure clinic Tuesday from 1 to 2 p.m. at Banes Pharmacy, Rts. 31 and 44A. On May 17, a similar clinic will be held at Hill's Pharmacy, Main St.

The North Coventry Volunteer Fire Department Auxiliary will sponsor a bake sale Saturday, starting at 10 a.m., at Highland Park Market, Rts. 31 and 44A. Recipes will be given with the baked goods.

Coventry's Person-to-Person Life Line is a free community service which makes daily phone calls to check elderly or incapacitated persons who live alone or are temporarily alone. Anyone interested in obtaining this service, or anyone wishing to volunteer to be a caller, should contact Mrs. Matilda Rausch, 742-6641.

South Windsor

The South Windsor Cultural Arts Committee will sponsor an "Artists in Residence" night May 7 from 7:30 to 11:30 p.m. Local artists will display and sell art works at homes in the Mohegan Trail and Horizon Circle area. Proceeds will benefit the South Windsor High School Art Scholarship and Cultural Arts programs. For ticket information contact Camille Lenox, 644-0323; Joan Stein, 644-0177; or Beverly Schwabe, 644-8031.

Volunteers collecting door-to-door for the cancer fund drive are carrying identification budgets as they canvass South Windsor. Atty. Francis J. Carino is drive chairman. Envelopes will be left at homes where people are out at the time the volunteer calls. If anyone is missed out but wishes to donate they should call 643-1845.

The South Windsor Little League will sponsor a fundraising bingo night Friday at 7 p.m. at South Windsor High School. A small donation will be accepted. Refreshments will be sold.
