Common sense wins one

The Carter administration is firmly committed to cutting the government red tape that frustrates businesses and complicates all our lives, says Bert Lance, director of the White House Office of Management and Budget.

"That alone will help restore public confidence in government," says the former Atlanta banker. "Business is spending too much time fooling with government forms and government regulations."

Of which there is no end. Last year, the Federal Register contained 57,000 pages of notices, rules and regulations issued by government agencies. The 94th Congress enacted 588 new public laws, each carrying its own economic impact. The Commission on Federal Paperwork conservatively estimates that federal reporting requirements alone cost $40 billion a year.

If the Carter people are really serious about tackling this problem, they might take a fresh look at an idea that has been kicking around Washington since at least 1974. Originally advanced by the National Canners Association during the economic summit meetings held that year, the idea is to require every proposed new regulation or law to first undergo a cost-benefit analysis to make sure the public gains more than it loses.

As an example of well-intentioned but unnecessarily costly regulation, the Food and Drug Administration a year

The Board of Directors Friday night completed its major portion of work on the 1977-78 Town of Manchester budget when it voted to adopt a $34.8 million package that includes a 2.12 mill increase in the General Fund tax and a .74 mill hike in the Town Fire District rate.

Now, the annual spring ritual of "law-mowing" - cropping and cutting to stay within that adopted budget - falls to Town Manager Robert B. Weiss and the town department heads. For them, the major portion of the budget work is just beginning.

"We've got to cut corners really sharp," one department head, reacting to his budget, said earlier this week.

For the directors, the three weeks before the final approval of the budget was a steady stream of meetings to discuss and debate what to do for 1977-78.

Weiss presented the directors with a $25.5 million budget, a 10.6 per cent increase over the present year. The proposal included a 9.43 mill increase in the General Fund tax, something that would have undoubtedly been remembered by voters in November, when all nine positions on the Board of Directors will be voted on.

Weiss knew that such a proposal was high and would be cut considerably, but he justified it by saying that efforts to save in past budgets had caught up with the town. He pointed to trucks in the Highway Department with more than 300,000 miles on them. He mentioned a Building Department that has worked with one less inspector than it had two years ago. He spoke of a town pension plan with ever-increasing costs for the town.

In its three weeks of budget work, the board talked about many possible alternatives for cutting the budget. They discussed, but decided against, eliminating leaf pickup and reducing three-week refuse collection. The budget approved by the board virtually eliminates any chance of other expansion ideas that had been proposed, including the purchase of property for a new South End firehouse and the creation of a physician extender position for the Health Department.

The board once again instituted a freeze on all new positions. No new job will be created unless the board justifies it.

Job reclassifications will also be at a premium during 1977-78. Weiss had recommended $9,000 worth of reclassifications in his budget. The directors approved a contingency account of $3,000 for such position changes during the next fiscal year.

depending upon the constant support of translation, and to most Americans, metric is a foreign language.

Easing the changeover will be the fact that 1978 model cars will come equipped with metric speedometers and odometers. Older models can be converted with a transparent stick-on overlay.

Motorists will also be able to exceed the speed limit with slightly better consciences under the metric system. Since the present national speed limit is 55 m.p.h., translates into 88.5 k.p.h., the plan is to make the new limit 90 k.p.h. Other limits will also be rounded to the nearest easily recognizable number.

Power in giving

Do you feel that "it's my life and I have a right to live it my way?" And yet, it's not turning out quite the way you'd planned? And there's an inner knowing, that despite all the striving, you just might not make it?

God always give us the freedom to choose - His way or not His way. Jesus said, "He who finds his life will lose it, and he who loses his life for my sake will find it." (Matt. 10:39) Does your life belong to you? Do you create it?

Citizens request action on Andover traffic light

To the editor, The following letter was sent to James Shugrue, commissioner, Department of Transportation, in Hartford.

A year and a half ago 500 citizens of the Town of Andover signed a petition to see if the State of Connecticut would install a traffic light at the Andover Shopping Center. As of now, no action has been taken. The very dangerous situation still exists and we, the people of Andover, cannot tolerate this any longer.

The Andover Committee for Better Government had its last meeting May 3, discussed the following and want immediate action taken by the state:

A. To reduce the speed limit from 50 m.p.h. to 35 m.p.h. from the shopping center to the center of Andover.

B. To erect signs notifying traffic of oncoming shopping center.

C. To do away with the passing lane immediately approaching the shopping center.

To the editor: It was a pleasure to see in a recent issue of The Manchester Evening Herald Jim Breitenfeld and Ernest Tureck planting a Kwanzan Cherry tree in Munro park, and an even greater pleasure to see the long list of contributors to the Manchester Memorial Tree Program!

Foot Health Week

Pitfalls of shoe buying marked

"If the shoe fits, wear it." This is a saying which does not tell people enough about how to buy shoes, says Dr. Elliot Pollack, president of the Hartford County Podiatry Society, now sponsoring national Foot Health Week. Podiatrists find that vanity, style and cost frequently outweigh common sense when most people buy shoes. "Just because your foot will tolerate a shoe in the store," Dr. Pollack said, "does not necessarily mean that the shoe is good for your foot."

A pump-style shoe stays on your foot by squeezing the toes and metatarsals together, he pointed out. "High heeled and platform shoes put the ankle joint in a basically unstable position. This makes sprained ankles and falls much easier." The so-called "natural" or negative heeled shoe actually puts additional strain on the calf muscles and the Achilles tendon. It usually forces the arch of the foot to drop lower and should be avoided by people with certain types of feet, said Dr. Pollack. "The long-termed hazards of the negative heel have not been adequately assessed as yet." More shoe styles are now being made with a natural contoured toe box, but without the negative heel. "Above all, your shoes must be well suited to your own particular foot structure, said Dr. Pollack.

Gardening

Kwanzon cherry trees are now preferred to flowering crab apples for roadside planting by the Greater Manchester Environment and Beautification Committee. We who live in Kwanzon cherry trees in bloom at Woodbridge St. and E. Middle Tpk. They were set out in the spring of 1976 and are part of Manchester's flowering tree trail. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Manchester and others passing through on Middle Tpk. and Center St. have been seeing the cherry trees, planted last year and earlier, in full bloom. They are part of what the committee calls our flowering tree trail. The May 9 snowstorm ended the display. Twelve more cherries have recently been planted along the trail and more will follow a year from now. Although the committee plants trees of other species, it has been advised that the cherries are best adapted for spring planting. Ash trees were planted last year in the fall and will be planted this fall, but for more cherries we will wait a year.

Dr. Douglas H. Smith, chairman of the committee, says the shape of the tree was the primary reason for switching, at some locations, from the flowering crab apple trees, previously used, to the Kwanzon cherry. The crab apples, like other apples, have a wide spread of branches fairly close to the ground. As the trees grow, the branches may obstruct the view of drivers rounding a corner or meeting other traffic at an intersection.

The cherry trees, a Japanese variety, have higher branches that do not spread as far from the trunk. They also have lovely blossoms, which are pink and double. They bloom a little later than the flowering crab apples. They are relatives of the famous Washington, D.C., cherries.

Mainly on public land The trees have been planted, with one exception, on public land, owned either by the town or by the state. The exception is the grounds of Center Church, which the committee felt also serves a public purpose. Staying off private land, the trail has many gaps. Driving on Middle Tpk. from the Hartford side, one begins to see the cherry trees at the Howell Cheney Technical School. The planting that is now furthest east is along Middle Tpk. where Lake St. branches toward the north. These also were planted a year ago, but because they are partly shaded by taller trees have not blossomed as fully, this first time, as those at Woodbridge St.

Fortunately, says Dr. Smith, there are along parts of Middle Tpk. and Center St. a number of small spaces of public land, mainly at street intersections or midway strips in a divided highway, which have been available for planting. A north-south route along Main St., for example, offers fewer such opportunities.

The trees have been purchased as part of the committee's Memorial Tree Program, started in 1965. Citizens have been encouraged to donate $5 or more to have a tree planted in memory of someone in the family or a friend. Both the State Highway Department and the Town Park Department have participated in the planting, with no charge for the work. Some of it has been done also, as a donation, by Morgan Grant, proprietor of Grantland Nursery, who has raised some of the trees and purchased others, which he has sold to the committee at his wholesale cost.

While it may have been possible, once, to buy a tree for $5, that is no longer true. Kwanzon cherries planted in 1976 cost $25 each and trees of the same variety this year cost $40 each.

Dr. Smith says the number of donations has increased each year and gifts may be made at any time of year, addressed to the Memorial Tree Program at the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce office, 257 E. Center St. The donor receives an acknowledgment card through the mail and another notice is sent to the family of the person in whose memory the gift was made.

The committee chairman thinks it is time to say publicly that $5 no longer buys a tree but anyone who gives is helping to maintain and to improve the appearance of the town.

Another reason for increased cost of the program is that the committee is planting larger trees. Experience showed that small trees were more likely to be damaged or destroyed. One larger tree set out at Woodbridge St. was lost this year when it was hit by a car that veered off the street.

The town continually loses trees from other causes, also, as for example, the elms that have been killed by the Dutch elm disease. "We're trying to keep even," Dr. Smith said. The next area to be planted in the fall is in the vicinity of the Whitton Library at the North End.

Glassman discusses vo-tech legislation

State Rep. Abe Glassman, who was instrumental in obtaining state funds for the expansion of Howell Tech Regional Vocational/Technical School, told the Parent/Student Club of the school that legislation is going through the legislature that will affect vocational-technical education.

"Finally a lot of people have begun to realize that we have been negligent in vocational-technical education for the past few years. Both the Democrats and Republicans have now jumped on the bandwagon, realizing that this is the vehicle needed in order to train people for the job science demands," he said.

Glassman, who lives in South Windsor, said he just happened to be at the right place at the right time when the Cheney Tech expansion plans were brought before the legislature. "I'm really pleased. As you know many students from South Windsor attend or try to attend Cheney Tech. Hopefully we will be able to get more of them in here."

He said he was also glad that a lot of people are waking to the problem and thus making it easier to obtain support and funds for the legislation necessary for vocational-technical education.

Glassman, who is chairman of the education committee, said he and the senator from Essex, both cornered with vocational-technical education, have received a promise from the House and Senate chairmen that some of the bills not able to be reported out, would be reported out by emergency certification.

He said he has introduced a piece of legislation affecting the Industrial Funds, which presently cannot be used for things that will not be expended for a given project. The change would permit the fund to be used for the purchase of such things as hammers and saws that would extend beyond a given project.

Glassman said he didn't support

Borrowing approved for industrial park

The Board of Directors Tuesday night granted authorization for the Town of Manchester to begin borrowing the money that will pay for the proposed industrial park.

This will allow the town to begin investing the money to gain income from interest, Town Manager Robert B. Weiss said.

The authorization permits borrowing for the full $15.4 million that was included in the March referendum. But, the town will only borrow about $3 million right now, Weiss said.

Republican Director Vivian Ferguson at first objected to the authorization to borrow the full amount. But, Weiss said that the town's bond counsel had recommended that authorization for the full amount be granted now, even though the town will not borrow all of the money.

Mayor Matthew Moriarty said, "When it comes to something like this, we should go with the experts." Director Beldon Schaffer added that the borrowing procedure is a routine practice in such matters.

Weiss added, "I have no intention of spending any money that isn't necessary at this time." Any expenditure would require approval of the Manchester Economic Development Commission (EDC). The board unanimously approved the borrowing authorization.

The board also approved a resolution that grants the town the right to begin acquiring property within the park.

Town Counsel Victor I. Moses said that he felt such an action had probably been included in previous votes by the board, but a separate resolution on the matter was needed as a "technical requirement."

Weiss also told the board that the Hartman Tobacco Co. has agreed to sell property to the town and buy it back at the same price if the park project does not develop. The Hartman land is more than a $1 million purchase, Weiss said.

Director Phyllis Jackson also proposed that the board meet with the EDC to discuss the project.

"I think it's our obligation. We are the ones who are spending the money," she said.

Two other directors — Jack Goldberg and Carl Zinsner — said that the town should take a more positive attitude in its discussions about the J.C. Penney Co., which would be the park's major tenant.

Goldberg said that the town might be concentrating too much on the possibility that the firm might not come to Manchester.

"Everybody has the feeling that J.C. Penney is coming to town except the people of Manchester. We have to change our attitude," Goldberg said.

Zinsner added, "It's not if J.C. Penney comes, it's when."

Pending legal matters have delayed work on the park, and Penney has signed an agreement with the town that it would like to begin work in Manchester by September.

Weiss said that Penney officials are still enthusiastic about coming to town.

"I talked to Ralph Henderson (Penney vice-president) today. He's most anxious to put a shovel in the ground," Weiss said.

Health department honors flu clinic volunteers

Volunteerism is alive and well and much in evidence in Manchester. That was the observation of town officials Wednesday night at a dinner hosted by the Manchester Health Department for the townspeople who volunteered their services at recent immunization clinics.

About 200 persons attended a dinner at the Army-Navy Club where they heard "The Manchester Flu Clinic Story" related in phases by officials directly associated with the project.

It seemed logical for Manchester Memorial Hospital to become involved with the flu immunization program last fall, said Michael Gallacher, assistant administrator, because the hospital's origin was founded on the need for such an institution after the World War I flu epidemic.

After preliminary meetings with the town health department, State Health Coordinator Anthony Sardinis said it began to sound like a military briefing. "How many people per gun?" The vaccine was to be administered by pressure gun.

Gallacher said that the shaky beginning of the program which involved questions of legal liability, a charge of discrimination because of age filed with the Human Relations Commission by Roy M. Thompson, 369 Mountain Rd., was denied by Assistant Town Manager and Charles F. McCarthy Jr., and Police Chief Robert D. Lannan today.

Thompson, 52, charged in the formal complaint that he was rejected for a job as a radio dispatcher for the Police Department because of his age.

A hearing before the Human Relations Commission has been scheduled for Tuesday at 8:15 a.m. to hear Thompson's charges and to question officials involved in the hiring process.

McCarthy said that the charge was not valid as far as the age consideration, noting that the last person hired and a present dispatcher as old as or older than Thompson and the town has had no complaints about them.

McCarthy said Thompson was one of four persons to qualify for an interview with the police chief for the position after taking a written exam.

Police reported that several cars parked on Turnbull Rd. were vandalized Wednesday night. The tires on at least five cars had been reported punctured by this morning.

REORGANIZATION OF STATE GOVERNMENT ★★ DESERVES ★★ YOUR SUPPORT

After 40 years and 3 prior commissions, Connecticut is close to reorganizing. I am impressed by this Legislature's concern for establishing responsive government."

Alice Ayers, President
League of Women Voters of Conn.

Connecticut stands at a crossroad. To deliver the services required now and in the future, state government must become more efficient.

Governor Grasso recognized the need for reorganization in December, 1975, when she authorized the Committee on the Structure of State Government to submit recommendations. The Filer Committee report that resulted is the basis of Senate bill 357 now before the Legislature. With your support that bill will soon become law. Help Connecticut join the many other states now benefiting from efficient, reorganized state government.

44 Unlike previous reports that gathered dust, the Filer report will serve as the basis for a valued reorganization of the government of the state of Connecticut. 99

44 Improved governmental services will flow from the greater degree of accountability and responsibility created by reorganization. 99

Bolton is first

Two teams of 12 students at Bolton High School placed first in the annual U.S. Marine Corps physical fitness competition in Southern New England.

The Bolton boys, advised by physical education director Michael Landolph, finished ahead of much-larger schools in Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island to win the first place trophy.

The 1977 competition was the third time Bolton students entered the Marine Corps event, run by the Recruiting Service. Last year, Bolton students placed second in the three-state contest.

Democrats back budget

Coventry Democratic Town Committee has decided to support the Town Council's proposed budget. The budget, if accepted at Friday's Annual Town Meeting, will reduce the town's tax rate by one mill.

A consensus of the Democratic group agreed to approve the budget but felt no more cuts should be allowed.

Members expressed concern about the year's budget, however. Councilman Jack Myles said the danger of the 1977-78 budget is that in 1978-79 there won't be a large surplus and extra state and federal money and "it will shoot the mill rate up."

Other budget concerns of the Democrats were insufficient money for education and reduction of personnel. The remainder of the Democrats' Tuesday meeting was spent discussing plans for the November town election.

"Notwithstanding the beautiful job on the budget and reduced mill rate, they are beatable," Democratic Town Chairman Richard Cromie said of the Republicans.

Cromie said the Town Council has alienated many groups and people and "their callousness will hurt them."

Cromie urged the committee to organize and recruit candidates. Alvah Phillips Jr. said the Democratic committee has not welcomed people interested in the party nor has it been encouraging to those interested in running for office. Phillips also said town hearings and meetings are poorly attended by town committee members.

Rose Fowler said the Democratic party needs to seek out candidates with vision who want to see things done and can get them done. The Democrats discussed supporting a people-oriented platform and taking a stand on major town issues.

The Coventry Public Health Nursing Association and Dr. Robert Bowen, health director, will conduct a second immunization clinic Friday from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. at the Town Hall.

Immunizations available are for measles, polio and DPT (diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough).

Testing plan rejected

Vernon A proposal that would require some students at Rockville High School to take exams and let teachers decide whether others will take them has been rejected by the Vernon Board of Education.

Now, no exams are given at the high school. The report, prepared by the high school principals and presented this week by head principal Martin Fagan, would require exams in the following subject areas: College English, calculus, American Culture, Western Civilization, honors chemistry, sociology, U. S. History (geology), economics, Algebra I and II, geometry, analytic geometry, trigonometry, probability and statistics, anatomy and physiology, advanced biology, physics, biology, chemistry, French, Spanish, German, and Latin.

Fagan recommended that examinations be given in physical education, band, choir and special education, and that examinations in subjects other than those listed would be given at the option of the teacher.

The principals recommended that exams be given on a quarterly basis to better prepare the students for future exposure to examinations and test the level of achievement of the student.

This would mean that only those who are college-bound would be taking exams and said she would strongly object to that. She said those not going on to college will also be exposed to exams and she didn't like the idea of a demarcation being made between college and non-college bound students.

Fagan said the principals were recommending the quarterly examinations during the 1977-78 school year and then a report of this pilot program would be made to the board in May 1978.

Board member Harold Cummings backed Mrs. Baum in her reasoning. He also said he felt the program should be designed to see how physically fit the students are.

Principal John Murphy said he thinks it's too inclusive to say everyone has to have a mid-year or final exam.

Board member Robert Dubau said he looks upon testing as a learning experience. He agreed that there shouldn't be across-the-board testing but said the report should indicate the type of test to be given.

Fagan said the students' ratings prove they do know how to take an exam but he agreed this area could be strengthened.

Edward Meyers asked if the principals consider the exams to be uniform as far as "weight" is concerned, that is how much would the exams count. Fagan said that hadn't been decided yet.

William Houle, chairman of the board, asked the administration to develop a more comprehensive plan and first bring it to the board's curriculum committee before bringing it to the full board.

Economic projects favored

Vernon A survey of the Rockville Area Chamber of Commerce revealed that members want economic and development projects to be the strong point and beautification the weakest.

Results of the survey were announced at the chamber board meeting Wednesday.

Most members answering the questionnaire felt the chamber should take a more active role in controversial issues such as the highway expansion, hospital expansion and the Capitol Region Council of Governments.

The majority also think the chamber should be more aggressive in supporting the interests of local business and industry.

They were given a list of what should be important functions of the chamber, such as helping expansion of existing business, attracting new business, providing energy education programs and similar programs.

The annual income of the chamber is $27,000 from dues of 300 members. About $25,500 of this goes toward salaries and office expenses and another $500 toward the fall and spring dinners. Board president Steven Lamont said the remaining $1,000 and $2 to St. Thomas Aquinas, yesterday at Manchester Country Club.

The Eagles now stand 7-3 for the season. South 5-2 and Aquinas 10-2.

Bacon tops Tech

By LEN AUSTER Herald Sportswriter Five runs on only two hits in the second inning lifted Bacon Academy to a 6-3 Charter Oak Conference baseball win over Cheney Tech yesterday at the Beavers' field.

The victory was the Bobcats' eighth against four losses while the Techmen fall to a 2-8 record in conference play.

Bacon broke on top in the first on back-to-back doubles down the third base line by Ron Wotus and Bob Carli. Cheney came back in its half of the frame as Chris Vann got an infield hit and took second on a throwing error on the play and scored on Lewis LaBrec's bloop single to left.

Three walks by Tech starter Jamie Raymer, 0-4, coupled with three errors enabled Bacon to prove five runs in the second. A Wotus double to left delivered two more coming in on a bases-filled infield error and the fifth on a double steal.

Sophomore right-hander Ed Lauckard hurled superbly the last 5-1/3 innings for Cheney, giving up no hits, striking out six and walking four. The Bobcats got only four hits, two apiece by Wotus and Carli, but the miscues and bases on balls proved damaging.

The Techmen got a run back in the fifth on a Jim Boudreau single, stolen base and RBI single by Gary Marneau. Vann's double in the sixth drove in Mike Pinkin who singled with the third Cheney tally.

Freshman southpaw Chris Barry, second of three Bacon batters, was credited with the win. Wotus hurled the final 1-2/3 innings and earned a save, facing the tying batter in the sixth.

Vann, freshman shortstop, had two hits to

Bobick overmatched

NEW YORK (UPI) — To put it as plainly and simply as possible, Duane Bobick was overmatched.

Ken Norton, introduced before Wednesday night's fight as the "uncrowned heavyweight champion," pitched a shutout. He still believed he won the crown last year, and now he's in position for another shot at it.

This time, he made sure. It was quick, 58 seconds, and it was through. The plodding Bobick, who had built a 38-0 record and No. 4 ranking against a string of opponents that was — to be charitable — suspect, was supposed to be the attacker.

"He had talked about applying lots of pressure, so I figured I'd go out and see if he was gonna come to me," Norton said.

When Bobick did not attack, Norton decided he would.

"The first thing I was gonna do was take a right hand to the body, and see where his eyes would go," Norton said. "And when I dropped down to throw the right to the body, his eyes followed my head, so I said, 'Well, what the heck, I'll throw a right hand over the top.'"

That, for all practical purposes, was the fight. Norton's right caught Bobick's throat. "It brought tears to my eyes," Bobick said later, his voice still raspy and barely audible. A couple more rights and one left battered Bobick's head, and he collapsed in his corner. Bobick barely staggered back to his feet before the count of 10, but Referee Peter Della stopped the fight anyway.

"He really hurt me," admitted Bobick, who had predicted victory in the seventh of eight rounds of the scheduled 12-round bout.

"I didn't think I would hurt Bobick that soon," Norton said. "I thought he might absorb some damage and I'd wear him down."

New Norton, who earned $50,000 to $300,000 for Bobick), or more than $8,600 a second for his evening's work, can look ahead to a $2.5 million payday for a title fight with Muhammad Ali in September. Norton claims to have a signed contract for the bout, which would be his fourth.

"I am the champion, and I want to beat Ali again to prove it," Norton said. "All first must dispose of Spaniard Alfredo Evangelista next Monday night at Landover, Md., but that is expected to be no different for him than Bobick was for Norton. In his own defense, Bobick insisted, "I was ready to expect him to come out like that, but I didn't expect the shot in the throat."

Norton now has a 34-4 record including 31 knockouts. In the featured preliminary, Mike Roszman drove Mike Quarry into retirement, stopping him on cuts after six rounds of a scheduled 11-round light-heavyweight battle. At the insistence of his brother, Jerry, a former ranked heavyweight who asked for the fight to be stopped, Mike Quarry announced his retirement following the bout. And Olympic lightweight champion Howard Davis Jr. won his third straight professional fight, scoring a unanimous decision over Carlos Gonzalez.

rebounding Ferguson Jenkins, Julius Erving provided the only offense for the misfiring 76ers by scoring 20 points. McGinnis was six of 18 from the field, Collins four of 12 and Loyd Free one of seven before he left in the second quarter with an injury.

"If water buffaloes sit on you, what happens?" Kanner said.

Philly Coach Gene Shue said the 76ers free-lance style caused the breakdown in rebounding. "This kind of thing can happen because we don't have players who can block out," he said. "We get our rebounding by going after the ball. Tonight we didn't go after the ball."

Red roses for Moses Malone

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Houston Rockets do not resemble water buffaloes in every game, and Moses Malone has 12 long-stemmed roses to prove it.

The red roses the 6-foot-11 forward clutched after Houston's 118-94 rout of Philadelphia Wednesday night came from 76ers' forward George McGinnis.

"Some friends of mine sent me the roses," McGinnis said, "and they had them brought here (to the locker room). I just told them to send them over to me."

There were some other impressive 76ers after their 118-94 rout of the Houston Eastern Conference playoff series was whittled to 2-1. The fourth game is to be played in Houston Friday.

"They embarrassed us tonight," guard Doug Collins said. "People quoted me as saying we were going to sweep this series. That's a bunch of bull. I have more respect for this team than that."

The Rockets zoomed to a 20-point, first-half margin and kept the lead there most of the game. Rudy Tomjanovich gunned for 24 points and rookie guard John Lucas, an embarrassed man after the first two games in Philadelphia who he scored just eight total points, responded with 20.

Malone is the 22-year-old kid who came to the NBA from high school four years ago. He grabbed 25 rebounds (11 offensive) to go with a game-high 30 points, and the two 76ers assigned to box him off the boards ran into foul trouble. Starter Caldwell Jones and his backup, Darryl Dawkins, both fouled out early in the fourth quarter.

Houston center Kevin Kunnert grabbed 14 rebounds, five more than hurling his first complete game for Oakland. In out-dueing Ferguson Jenkins, Medich (2-2), struck out five and walked none. Page's homer was his eighth, while Gross' was his ninth.

Mariners 5, Yankees 2 Rookie Jose Baez doubled home a pair of runs as the Mariners took advantage of two New York misplays to break a seven-game losing streak. Errors in the sixth inning by Willie Randolph and pitcher Ken Holtzman allowed an unearned run in a two-run Seattle rally and, one inning later, shortstop Bucky Dent and center fielder Mickey Rivers connected under Baez' two-out pop fly and then let it drop for a two-run double.

Consecutive second-inning home runs by Bobby Bonds, Don Baylor and Ron Jackson supported the six-hit pitching of Frank Tanana, who won his fifth game for the Angels. Vic Tim of the Angels' barrage was Ross Grimsley, who didn't survive the second inning.

Garland's luck changes NEW YORK (UPI) — Wayne Garland has got his old uniform number back, is close to having his first Eastern Conference playoff series and is perhaps now ready to play the Cleveland Indians back for the $2.3 million they shelled out to acquire him last winter.

"When Dave LaRoche was traded tonight, his No. 17 became available and I grabbed it, hoping maybe it would change my luck," said Garland, who spaced eight hits in eight innings to gain credit for Wednesday night's victory in the Indians' 4-3 decision over the Milwaukee Brewers.

Oddy, it was Paul Dade, a much cheaper free agent pickup, who provided Garland with his initial win by knocking home Frank Duffy with a sacrifice fly in the eighth inning to snap a 3-3 tie. Elsewhere in the American League, Chicago shaded Texas, 4-3, in 10 innings. Detroit topped

Owner Braves' manager of record

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ted Turner is now the Atlanta Braves' manager of record and today has an 0-1 managerial mark after the Pittsburgh Pirates scored a 2-1 victory over the Braves.

The victory stretched the Pirates' winning streak to 11 games and the Braves' losing streak to 17.

The flamboyant owner of the Braves' Wednesday night sent Dave Bristol, the team's non-day manager, on a 10-day sab-atical and took over the leadership of the club himself.

"I went into the dugout in search of an education," said Turner after the game. "And I got it."

"People had been asking why we lost games," he added with a grin. "And I told them I had to read the newspapers to find out."

Dave Parker, developing this season into one of the game's deadliest game-winning hitters, stretched his hitting streak to 22 games with a solo homer in the third inning. The blow snapped a 1-1 tie and eventually dealt Phil Niekro his 17th loss.

Los Angeles defeated Montreal, 5-1, Cincinnati, beat St. Louis, 5-1, San Francisco topped Philadelphia, 4-2, Houston beat Cleveland, 4-2, and San Diego scored 6-3 and 3 triumphs over New York in the other National League games.

Firemen injured in blaze

An electrical problem appears to be the cause of a fire in the loft of a three-story garage at 15 Spring St. Wednesday at 7:50 p.m., said Fire Marshal John Armstrong. The fire in the converted, barn, owned by building contractor James Davin, caused injuries to three fire fighters. Sam Cipolla suffered a shoulder injury. Francis Dagon Jr. got asbestos stuck in his eye and suffered an electrical shock. And Dennis Knight suffered a rash over 50 per cent of his body from the asbestos. Deputy Chief William Foran was in charge at the scene. Engine 1 and 2, Ladder 1, and Rescue 1 were brought to the scene. It took the men less than half an hour to get the fire under control. Mopping up work took until after 10 p.m. Armstrong said this morning the building looks like it might be repaired. He and Building Inspector Frank Barone planned to look it over today. Much of the equipment and materials stored in the garage were damaged by fire, smoke or water.

East Hartford police report

Two teen-age girls grabbed the purse of a 71-year-old woman on Main St. in front of the Raymond Library Wednesday at about 2:48 p.m. and ran. East Hartford Police said. A passerby saw the incident and alerted Patrolman Joseph Perry, who was operating a radar trap on Central Ave. nearby. Perry came to the scene. Another witness told him the girls ran into the wooded area behind the Church Corner Inn. Perry ran into the woods where he found and arrested Darlene M. Westover, 16, of 33 Pratt St., Glastonbury. The other girl, an 18-year-old, was later arrested and turned over to juvenile authorities. The purse was found in the woods and returned to its owner. Miss Westover was charged with third-degree robbery. She was released on a $500 surety bond and is scheduled to appear in Common Pleas Court 12 June 11. Police arrested two topless dancers Wednesday at 11:19 p.m. at Pompey's Restaurant, 639 Main St. and charged them with public indecency. They are Kathleen A. Swols, 22, and Julie Ann Dostie, 18, both of Hartford. They were released on $150 surety bonds each for court appearance June 6. A woman reported to police today at 5 a.m. that she had been raped at the Ramada Inn this morning. The alleged rape took place after a party which began in Hartford and moved to the inn on East River Dr. Police were still investigating this morning and had not made any arrests. Police said the case has no apparent connection to the recent series of rapes, in the Burnside Ave. area, of women in their apartments. David C. Kniss, 20, of 599 Brewer St., and Richard P. Symkowitz, 20, of 3 Nancy Dr., both of East Hartford, were arrested Wednesday at 7:55 p.m. on the roof of the Meadows pumping station on Pitkin St. Both were charged with third-degree trespassing. No signs of vandalism were noted, police said. Both were released for court appearance June 6. The storage shed of St. Isaac Jogues Church was broken into Tuesday night. Missing is a leaf mulcher near the scene but it is missing its five-horsepower motor and wheels.

PZC upset about too much liquor

George Goodberg, PZC member, said, "While a man is tanking up his car, he can step into this beer store and buy his beer. Isn't this what will happen?" Beek said, "It's a distinct likelihood." Anthony Kayser, PZC member, noted a package store is a permitted use in that zone. David Juliano, town planner, also noted the station is in the redevelopment area. This means Beck must take Levy's plans to the Redevelopment Commission for approval. The PZC cannot pass judgment, he said. Beck, visibly flustered by the PZC members' sharp comments and questions, said, "I'm glad we didn't put this to a vote." "You're lucky," said Bartlett. In other action, the PZC voted unanimously to approve the rezoning of the land of Fred and Elsie Sponheimer at 312 Maple St. They wanted three lots on about three acres of land there. Approval of 12 lots on 6.3 acres at 486 and 522 Goodwin St. was tabled to give petitioner George Leaks time to check out details with the town planner and the town engineer. The request of Frank R. Wood to allow eight more apartment units at 560 Burnside Ave. was tabled until the next meeting. Two other plans were withdrawn. Warren Sullivan, director of development, attended the meeting. He brought a request from the Economic Development Commission that the PZC appoint one of its members as an ex-officio (non-voting) member of the EDC and vice versa. The idea met with approval although no one was appointed Wednesday night. Roxy Leone, local developer, discussed his ideas for building an apartment complex on his land on the north side of Silver Lane at the Manchester town line. It would be designed to appeal to older people now living in homes too big for their current needs, he said. He needs a zone change from R2 (residential) to R5 to allow the apartments. No vote was taken.

Bolton is first

Two teams of 12 students at Bolton High School placed first in the annual U.S. Marine Corps physical fitness competition in Southern New England.

The Bolton boys, advised by physical education director Michael Landolph, finished ahead of much larger schools in Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island to win the first place trophy.

The 1977 competition was the third time Bolton students entered the Marine Corps event, run by the Recruiting Service. Last year, Bolton students placed second in the three-state contest.

Democrats back budget

Coventry's Democratic Town Committee has decided to support the Town Council's proposed budget. The budget, it accepted at Friday's Annual Town Meeting, will reduce the town's tax rate by one mill.

A consensus of the Democratic group agreed to approve the budget but felt no more cuts should be made. Members expressed concern about the year's budget, however, Councilman Jack Myles said the danger of the 1977 budget is that in 1978-79, there won't be a large surplus and extra state and federal money and "it will shoot the mill rate up."

Other budget concerns of the Democrats were insufficient money for education and reduction of personnel. Phillips also said town hearings and meetings are poorly attended by town committee members.

Testing plan rejected

Vernon A proposal that would require some students at Rockville High School to take exams and let teachers decide whether others will take them has been rejected by the Vernon Board of Education.

Now, no exams are given at the high school. The report, prepared by the high school principals and presented this week by head principal Martin Fagan, would require exams in the following subject areas: College English, calculus, American Culture, Western Civilization, honors chemistry, sociology, U.S. History (II), geometry, analytic geometry, trigonometry, probability and statistics, anatomy and physiology, advanced biology, physics, biology, chemistry, French, Spanish, German, and Latin.

Fagan recommended that examinations not be given in physical education, band, choir and special education, and that examinations in subjects other than those listed would be given at the option of the teacher.

Democrats discussed supporting a people-oriented platform

The Democrats discussed supporting a people-oriented platform and taking a stand on major town issues. The committee also discussed supporting a people-oriented platform and taking a stand on major town issues.

Economic projects favored

Vernon A survey of the Rockville Area Chamber of Commerce revealed that members want economic and development projects to be the strong point and beautification the weakest.

Results of the survey were announced at the chamber board meeting Wednesday. Most members answering the questionnaire felt the chamber should take a more active role in controversial issues such as the highway expansion, hospital expansion and the Capitol Region Council of Governments.

This would mean that only those who are college-bound would be taking exams and said she would strongly object to that. She said those not going to college will also be expected to exams and she didn't like the idea of a demarcation being made between college and non-college bound students.

Fagan said the principals were recommending the quarterly examinations during the 1977-78 school year and then a report of this pilot program would be made to the board in May 1978. Board member Harold Cummings backed Mrs. Baum in her reasoning. He also said he felt the program should be designed to see how physically fit the students are.

Principal John Murphy said he thinks it too inclusive to say everyone has to have a mid-year or final exam.

GOP chief resigns

Vernon Donald Sadrozinski, chairman of the Republican Town Committee, submitted his resignation Wednesday night, citing "other political duties" as his reason.

Board member Robert Dubeau said he looks upon testing as a learning experience. He agreed that there shouldn't be across-the-board testing but said the report should indicate the type of test to be given.

Fagan said the students' ratings prove they do know how to take an exam but he agreed this area could be strengthened. Edward Meyers asked if the principals consider the exams to be uniform as far as "weight" is concerned, that is how much would the exams count. Fagan said that hadn't been decided yet.

William Holie, chairman of the board, asked the administration to develop a more comprehensive plan and first bring it to the board's curriculum committee before bringing it to the full board.

Bacon tops Tech

By LEN AUSTER Herald Sportswriter Five runs on only two hits in the second inning lifted Bacon Academy to a 6-3 Charter Oak Conference baseball win over Cheney Tech yesterday at the Beavers' field.

The victory was the Bobcats' eighth against four losses while the Techmen fall to a 2-9 ledger in conference tilts. Bacon broke on top in the first on back-to-back doubles down the third base line by Ron Wotus and Bob Arli. Cheney came back in its half of the frame as Chris Vann got an infield hit and took second on a throwing error on the play and scored on Lewis LaBrec's bloop single to left.

Three walks by Tech starter Jamie Raymer, 0-4, coupled with three errors enabled Bacon to plate five runs in the second. A Wotus double to left delivered two runs with two more coming in on a baserunner's infield error and the fifth on a double steal.

Bobick overmatched

NEW YORK (UPI) - "To put it as plainly and simply as possible, Duane Bobick was overmatched."

Ken Norton, introduced before Wednesday night's fight as the "uncrowned heavyweight champion," pitched a shutout. He still believes he won the crown last year, and now he's in position for another shot at it.

Dawson, Florsdorf set pace

Manchester High's boys' track team ripped off a pair of victories yesterday, 80-65 over Wethersfield High and 84-61 over home-standing Enfield High. The team was targeted for a 6-2 CCLL and overall record.

Senior co-captains Steve Dawson and Glenn Florsdorf captured five events between them with the former taking the 100, 220 and 440 yard dashes and Florsdorf the mile and 880 yard runs. Brian Benito, Bob LaChance, Mark Slankiewicz, Karl Kohn, Matt Walsh, Andy Darna and Tim Wrobel performed well for the Silk Towners.

Red roses for Moses Malone

HOUSTON (UPI) - The Houston Rockets do not resemble water buffaloes in every game, and Moses Malone has 12 long-stemmed roses to prove it.

The red roses the 6-foot-11 forward clutched after Houston's 118-94 rout of Philadelphia Wednesday night came from 76ers' coach Gene Shue. "I'm the champion, and I want to beat all against to prove it," Norton said. "I'm the champion, and I want to beat all against to prove it," Norton said.

Garland's luck changes

NEW YORK (UPI) - Wayne Garland has got his old uniform number back, is close to having his pitching rhythm back and is perhaps now ready to pay the Cleveland Indians back for the $2.3 million they shelled out to acquire him last winter.

"When Dave LaRoche was traded tonight, No. 17 became available and I grabbed it, hoping maybe it would change my luck," said Garland, who spaced eight in eight innings to gain credit for Wednesday night's victory in the Indians' 4-3 decision over the Milwaukee Brewers.

Oddly, it was Paul Dade, a much cheaper free agent pickup, who provided Garland with his initial win by knocking home Frank Duffy with a sacrifice fly in the eighth inning to snap a 2-3 tie. Elsewhere in the American League, Chicago shaded Texas, 4-3, in 10 innings, Detroit toppled predicted victory in the seventh or eighth round of the scheduled 12-round bout. "I didn't think I would beat Bobick that soon," Norton said. "I thought he might absorb some damage and I'd wear him down."

New Norton, who earned $500,000 (to $300,000 for Bobick), or more than $8,000 a second for his evening's work, can look ahead to a $2.5 million payday for a fight with Muhammad Ali in September. Norton claims to already have a signed contract for the bout, which would be their fourth.

Owner Braves' manager of record

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ted Turner is now the Atlanta Braves' manager of record and today has an 0-1 managerial mark after the Pittsburgh Pirates scored a 2-1 victory over the Braves.

The victory stretched the Pirates' winning streak to 11 games and the Braves' losing streak to 17.

The flamboyant owner of the Braves Wednesday night sent Dave Briskley to the team's nominal manager, on a 10-day substituted and took over the leadership of the club himself.

"I went into the dugout in search of an education," said Turner after the game. "And I got it."

"People had been asking me why we lost games," he added with a grin. "And I told them I had to read the newspapers to find out."

Dave Parker, developing this season into one of the game's deadliest game-winning hitters, stretched his hitting streak to 22 games with a solo homer in the third inning. The blow snapped a 1-1 tie and eventually dealt Phil Niekro his seventh straight loss without a victory.

John Candelaria allowed eight hits and struck out four in 8 1/3 innings and won his fourth game with the help of Rich Gossage, who ambled out of the bullpen to strike out the last Brave in the ninth. Barry Bonnell singled in the Braves' run in the second inning.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: The problem is not with me but with some people I know. First, I am a boy.

Why do they think it's "unmasculine" for a boy to babysit?

I'm a senior in high school, and I've been babysitting since Junior High. I have sat with children as young as four days old and some were ten and eleven years old. I don't say this in a bragging way, but some of the people who have hired me say I'm better than most girl babysitters my age.

I like children, and I really enjoy babysitting. Besides I think it's good practice for fatherhood. (Not to mention the money I'm saving for college.)

I hope this makes your column. A lot of us boy sitters who get teased for doing "sissy" work would appreciate it.

BOY BABYSITTER

DEAR BOY: My hat is off to you and to all the other boys who enjoy babysitting and regard it as good training for fatherhood. And what a compliment to be different from parents' most precious possessions—their children!

DEAR ABBY: Recently I drove through a small "art colony" village in Pennsylvania, which is normally frequented by tourists.

I got the shock of my life when I saw about 75 young people all dressed exactly alike—in blue denim! I wondered if there had been a prison break, or an invasion of the "Union Army."

What is it with our young people? They have about as much individuality as connected sausage links. They all look alike. Some dress, some jeans, some long straight hair—it's hard to tell one from the other. Go anywhere young people gather, high schools, colleges, social affairs, it's the same story. Why are they afraid to be different?

It wasn't like that 20 years ago. Kids looked and acted like individuals and enjoyed it.

WONDERING WANDERER

DEAR WANDERER: The young people who dress uniformly today do so because they want to identify with each other. There is comfort and security in "belonging" to a gang, group or band. And if it makes them happier, what's the harm?

DEAR ABBY: Please help me! I am pregnant, but it is true, so help me God!

I'm 17 (so to be) and we have gone steady for a year and five months, during which time we did a lot of very heavy petting, but I swear to you that I am a virgin. We came close, but never actually went all the way.

How can I get my parents to believe me? They will think I am lying for sure. Have you ever heard of this ever happening to anyone else?

Please help me. We love each other very much, are graduating in June and plan to be married.

NEEDING HELP

DEAR NEEDING: Yes, I have heard of such cases. It is indeed possible for a girl to become pregnant and not be virgin. Girls who do everything "but" qualify only as technical virgins, but virgins they are.
