Today's summary

Compiled from United Press International

State

STORRS — The University of Connecticut's students affairs vice president, Frederick G. Adams says he will tell the Board of Trustees today that a noncredit summer course on marijuana is legal under the U.S. Constitution and state law. However, a college staff member said the course may be canceled because of insufficient registration.

GROTON — The Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics has been cited for alleged safety violations found by federal inspectors during a surprise visit to a nuclear attack submarine undergoing overhaul in March. The firm is contesting the charges involving beryllium dust which is a cancer-causing material.

LISBON — State police said they hope to have a Superior Court warrant today for the arrest of Tax Collector Edward Gulowsen Sr. in connection with the disappearance of about $10,000 in town tax receipts.

Regional

WARWICK, R.I. — Former California Gov. Ronald Reagan denounced any talk of post-war aid to Vietnam and preached strategy for a Republican renaissance during a five-hour swing through Rhode Island Friday.

BOSTON — New England's jobless rate decreased in March and factory production increased — indicating the region's gradual economic recovery, according to the Federal Reserve Bank.

BOSTON — The extended forecast for Southern New England, Sunday through Tuesday, calls for: Fair Sunday becoming cloudy Monday. Chance of showers Tuesday. Warm and humid through the period with highs in the 80s and low 90s. Overnight lows in upper 50s and middle 60s.

National

WASHINGTON — President Carter is making a fundamental change in U.S. arms sales — the "burden of persuasion" henceforth will be upon those favoring the sale instead of opponents to the transaction. He will limit future conventional weapons sales to "our close friends" and other nations necessary to American global security.

CINCINNATI — The 1.2 million-member National Rifle Association opens its annual convention in Cincinnati after deciding against meeting in the nation's capital because it did not feel welcome there.

WASHINGTON — Former President Gerald Ford's visit to Washington ends today after an afternoon meeting with President Carter. He admits he is on dangerous ground in speaking out on current Washington politics.

WASHINGTON — Democratic congressional leaders have told President Carter privately his instant voter registration bill is in for rough sledding and House action may not be possible before late June.

WASHINGTON — Maj. Gen. John K. Singlaub, chief of staff of the U.S. forces in South Korea, has been called home for a face-to-face meeting with President Carter to explain public criticism of planned U.S. troop withdrawals.

International

GENEVA, Switzerland — U.S. and Soviet negotiators — reported near agreement on the framework for a new strategic arms limitation accord — met for the fourth time today in an unexpectedly brief session.

VIENNA, Austria — Vice President Walter Mondale said today he encountered "fundamental and profound" disagreement in his efforts to persuade South African Prime Minister John Vorster to abandon his nation's racial discrimination policies.

Consumer costs up .8% in April

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumer prices jumped 0.8 per cent in April, the fourth straight month that food and energy costs have caused a strong inflationary surge, the Labor Department reported today.
The increase reflected an annual rate of 9.6 per cent, consistent with a trend that began in January.
Food prices soared 1.5 per cent, more than twice the March rate. Other commodities rose 0.4 per cent and services climbed 0.8 per cent — exactly duplicating their performance in March.
The Consumer Price Index stood at 179.6 in April, reflecting a 6.8 per cent increase over the past year. This means that goods and services costing $100 a decade ago, now cost $179.60.
Excluding food and energy costs,

April's inflation rate was a more moderate 0.6 per cent. Food and energy have been singled out as the culprits since the first of the year.
This strong price surge since the start of 1977 has generated fears among administration officials, who are hoping to contain the nation's inflation rate to about 6 per cent this year.
But the President's top economic adviser suggested earlier this week there was still some reason to believe food costs would decline in the later months of 1977.
Over the past three months, food prices have risen at a compound annual rate of about 17.4 per cent rate. This compares with an annual rate of 1.8 per cent between last August and October.
Among April energy costs, fuel oil rose 0.4 per cent, coal was up 0.9 per cent and gasoline and motor oil prices jumped 0.6 per cent.

April's food price increase was smaller than the 2 per cent jump registered in February, when the nation was suffering the worst effects of the severe winter weather on southern farms.
Weather nonetheless contributed to some of April's problems. Fresh vegetable prices rose substantially last month at a time when the normally decline. The increase was blamed on limited supply of onions, cucumbers, green peppers and tomatoes after the late frost in Florida.
Grocery store prices rose 1.6 per cent in April, while restaurant meals were up 1.1 per cent. Prices climbed for coffee, pork, cereal, bakery products, sugar and fats.

Town and union discuss worker layoff procedures

By GREG PEARSON

Herald Reporter
Officials from the Town of Manchester and the union representing employees of the Public Works Department are meeting today to discuss the "bumping" procedure involved when union members are laid off. And, the president of the union has expressed concern about the recent layoff of four union members.
The union contract permits a laid-off employee to replace, or "bump," a similarly ranked employee in another department who has less seniority.
The contract provision has never had to be used before, but the town last week announced the layoff of four workers in the Highway Department.

Robert Fuller, president of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, Local 991, which represents blue-collar workers in all Public Works Departments, said that the layoffs may present problems for the town.
He said this morning that the union contract requires that positions for several categories of workers — including part-time employees, CETA positions and welfare work-relief employees — be eliminated before full-time employees are laid off.

"They (the town) will lose a helluva lot more than they're going to gain," Fuller said of the layoffs. "I anticipate all kinds of problems with the layoff."

He said that the layoffs could eliminate summertime help that has been used by the town in past years in some Public Works Departments.

He said that he is more concerned at this time with the effect of the layoffs than with the procedure for regulating the "bumping" process.

Charles F. McCarthy Jr., assistant town manager, said that today's meeting to discuss the "bumping" matter is to ensure that the town and the union can work together on the issue.

The "bumping" clause has been in the union contract for several years, and is a common clause in many similar union contracts, he said.

"It's never been examined because it's never been used," McCarthy said.

The contract provision permits a laid-off employee to approach the union and express his interest in replacing an employee in another department who holds a similar position but has less seniority.

The union then passes the request on to Town Manager Robert B. Weiss, who would make the final decision on the matter, McCarthy said.

"The union has the right to grieve (the final decision). We want to work closely with the union," he said.

In another matter, Local 991 and the union completed arbitration proceedings at a meeting Thursday with the three-member arbitration panel. The panel is expected to issue its decision on the contract award by June 14.

The union has been working without a contract since July 1. It has failed to reach agreement with the town during the first three steps of municipal labor negotiation.

The two sides are now in the fourth, and final, step — binding arbitration. Both sides will now present final contract offers, and the arbitration panel will rule in favor of one of the contracts. There is no compromising between the final offers of the two parties.

Governor to decide fate of 'quits and fires' bill

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Ella T. Grasso will have to make a very unpopular decision by next Wednesday.

She must decide whether to veto or sign bills preventing most workers who quit or get fired from their jobs from collecting unemployment benefits.

The governor has refused to say what her decision will be. But whatever it is, she is bound to anger either organized labor, which vehemently opposes the bills, or business groups, which adamantly support them.

The House of Representatives Thursday gave final legislative approval to the "quits" and "fires" bills.

The House suspended its rules and sent the bills directly to Mrs. Grasso who has five calendar days, excluding Sunday, to consider the measures.

Labor leaders said they would try to meet with Mrs. Grasso today to urge her to veto the bills. Business leaders are also expected to plead their case in the coming days.

Under existing law, a person who quits or gets fired from his job, after a four-week waiting period, can collect benefits the same as someone who is laid off.

After hours of debate, the House first approved 86-16 the measure to prevent almost all persons who quit their job from collecting benefits. It then approved the fires bill 88-59.

Under the legislation, a person who quits his job would not be allowed to collect benefits unless he proved at a hearing he was forced to quit for a legitimate "work-related" reason.

Under the fires measure, a person could not collect benefits unless he proved he was not fired for "repeated willful misconduct" or "felonious conduct."

House Republicans voted virtually as a block, with only a handful opposing the measures. Democrats split on the issue, with about a third of them helping the Republicans push the proposals through.

Proponents of the measures successfully argued people are abusing the unemployment compensation system, by choosing to take benefits rather than work.

"These benefits are wrong," said Rep. William Lawless, D-Rowayton.

"It is wrong for us to encourage people not to work. Quits and fire benefits are bad for the United States. They weaken the character of the people."

But Rep. William Mahoney, R-Milford, disagreed.

"This is the most regressive legislation since the turn of the century. Management is going to have a field day firing people."

Area solons split on job reform bills

By GREG PEARSON

Herald Reporter
Four area Democratic legislators voted Thursday for the business-backed "quits and fires" bills that would eliminate unemployment compensation for most workers who quit or get fired from their jobs.

Local Democratic Reps. Francis Mahoney (13th District), Abraham Glassman (14th), Timothy Moynihan (10th) and Richard C. Willard (11th) joined the lone local Republican in the House — Rep. Dorothy Miller (55th) — in voting for the two-part legislation.

The "quits" bill would prohibit unemployment compensation for a worker who quits a job unless he can prove he quit because of a legitimate, work-related reason. The House passed the bill by an 86-16 vote.

The "fires" bill would eliminate unemployment compensation for a worker who was fired unless he can prove he was not fired for "repeated willful misconduct" or "felonious conduct." This bill passed by an 88-59 vote.

The four local Democrats and Rep. Miller voted for both bills. Mahoney represents part of Manchester, Glassman represents part of Manchester and all of South Windsor, Moynihan and Willard both represent East Hartford, and Mrs. Miller represents Andover, Bolton, Hebron and part of Vernon.

The area's other five Democratic representatives voted against both bills. They are: Reps. Muriel Yacavone (9th), Theodore Cummings (12th), Robert Walsh (53rd), Chester Morgan (56th) and Teresalee Bertinuson (57th).

Mrs. Yacavone represents parts of East Hartford and Manchester, Cummings represents part of Manchester, Walsh represents Coventry and Tolland, Morgan represents part of Vernon and Mrs. Bertinuson represents Ellington and part of Vernon.

Both bills have already passed the Senate and now must be signed by Gov. Ella Grasso. It is not yet known whether she will sign the bills.

Industrial solvent taints sludge

By GREG PEARSON

Herald Reporter

A solvent material, with a heavy concentration of copper, has gotten into the system at Manchester's sewage treatment plant and caused the contamination of about one million gallons of sludge.

The sludge, which is the material that is left after the treatment process, is being treated with chemicals in an attempt to neutralize the effect. Frank T. Jodanis, water and sewer administrator, said, "If the chemical treatment is not eventually successful in decontaminating the sludge, the material may have to be transported out of the plant and incinerated, a process that could be very costly to the town."

Jodanis said that the solvent apparently got into the system a week ago Saturday. It marked the third "oil dump" into the town's sewage system in the past two months, Jodanis said.

The first two spills came from different sources, he said. One was caused by a sump pump located in a cellar that also housed a leaking oil storage tank. The source of the second spill has not yet been determined.

The first two spills also were detected before they arrived at the sewage treatment plant. These spills were diverted into sewage oxidation ponds near the site of the plant, and the ponds retained the sewage until the oil had naturally filtered out, Jodanis said.

The third spill, however, got into the plant treatment system before it was detected.

Jodanis said that the overabun-dance of heavy metal—particularly copper—in the spill a breakdown in the treatment of the sewage. Thus, the sludge that was effected by the spill has not been properly treated. It is presently sitting in the plant's three digester tanks and being treated with chemicals to attempt to neutralize the contamination.

Normally, the treated sludge is filtered to drain the liquid and then deposited in the town landfill. The contaminated material, however, can not be deposited in the landfill because it might cause odor problems, Jodanis said.

If chemical treatment fails to solve the problem, the town would have to contract a firm to transport the material.

"There's really no place we can put it," Jodanis said of the contaminated material. "It has to be removed, filtered and incinerated," he said.

The transportation would be done in 5,000-gallon trucks, which would require a number of trips considering the size of the contaminated material, Jodanis said. The contracting of a firm to undertake the project would be very expensive, he said.

The three half-million-gallon digesters contain a total of about one million gallons of the contaminated material, according to Jodanis.

He said that state officials have been contacted and have discussed the situation with the town. A federal inspection of the plant is also scheduled to take place today.

Jodanis said that he does have an idea of where the copper-rich material that caused the problem

Common Market ministers to meet in historic castle

By FREDERICK M. WINSHIP

The informal meeting this weekend of Common Market foreign ministers at Leeds Castle in England marks the debut of the 1,100-year-old landmark as the site of top level international and ministerial meetings.

The former royal residence near Maidstone, Kent, was rescued from near-ruin in 1926 by Olive Lady Baillie, a British granddaughter of American trolley millionaire

William C. Whitney. When she died in 1974, Lady Baillie bequeathed the castle and its brook park to the British nation fully restored.

The castle and a $3.3 million endowment left by Lady Baillie is administered by a board of trustees to which she had expressed hope that Leeds become a center for the arts and for meetings. In 1976 the trustees made Leeds available to the government for small and medium size international conclaves.

The meeting of the nine foreign ministers of the European Community, hosted by British Secretary of State David Owen, is the first of such gatherings at Leeds. The castle will be closed to tourists for the weekend as the foreign ministers can have free run of its antique-filled rooms, gardens, aviaries housing cockatoos and parakeets, and a nine-hole golf course.

Leeds had its beginnings as a wooden castle built on two rocky islands in a small lake by Leod, chief minister of Saxon King Ethelbert IV in 857.

This was rebuilt in stone by Robert de Crevecoeur, a Norman baron, in 1119. The Plantagenets gained possession in 1272 and Leeds remained a royal residence for 300 years, a particular favorite of Henry VIII.

Although turreted battlements reflected by the swan-flecked lake give the castle a distinct medieval appearance, the Tudors spent lavishly turning the fortress into a palace with broad casement bay windows and other refinements.

Lady Baillie furnished the grander rooms and chapel in the Tudor style but some of the intimate "family" rooms reflect 18th Century French and English tastes.

Leeds has a second link to America. It was once owned by the Fairfax family, which acquired 5.2 million acres of Virginia and Maryland land by grant from Charles II. The 6th Lord Fairfax left Leeds after being lured by an English girl and went to live on his American estates where he befriended a young neighbor, George Washington.

Illegal aliens puzzler

The controversy over President Carter's pardoning of several tens of thousands of Vietnam War resisters may look like a tempest in a teapot compared to what may be stirred up by his plan to grant some form of amnesty to an estimated eight million illegal aliens or undocumented persons in this country.

Nor are all the illegal aliens productive citizens. Last year, Los Angeles County, the area in the nation hardest hit in this respect, laid out $48 million for emergency medical care to illegal aliens.

This has prompted Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., to introduce legislation requiring the federal government to reimburse local governments for half the cost of such services, the same as it now does for indigent citizens and lawful residents.

There is no reason why county taxpayers should bear the full cost of the federal government's failure to control the flood of aliens entering the country without documents.

But while illegal aliens may be a federal responsibility, many of them have been lured here in the first place by American employers willing to exploit them at low wages.

What do we do when the number of illegal aliens has again grown to eight million or so 15 or 20 years from now - have another amnesty?

It is no coincidence that the staunchest supporter of the President's proposal is a coalition of Mexican-American and associated organizations called Concerned Hispanic Citizens of the United States.

Indian philosophy keys Andru's outlook

Lee Roderick

WASHINGTON - "It is time that we came to feel at home in America without a compulsion to change it in such a way that we destroy it bit by bit."

That is the essence of a major address here the other day by Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus who outlined and clarified the Carter Administration's policies on a broad range of environmental and energy-related issues.

Without question we have the oil, gas, coal, hydro-potential, timber and other natural energy resources in abundance.

Respect for the land The Secretary said, "In the last quarter of the 20th century there is no way that we can - nor do I suggest that we should - consider every part of this country sacred."

Defending the Administration's ongoing attempt to kill or cutback 23 water projects now under construction, Andrus said "We have reached the point of diminishing returns, and what we do from here on should be done with the greatest of care."

Andrus reshuffled the organizational chart at Interior and has elevated the position of Indian

Marshall sets new OSHA aim

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Labor Secretary Ray Marshall Thursday announced sweeping new changes in the Occupational Safety and Health Administration, designed to focus on major worker hazards and stop "nitpicking" small businesses.

Marshall told a news conference that OSHA's new strategy was drafted at the request of President Carter. He said it was designed to do two things.

One is to get the monkey of unnecessary and complex government regulations off the backs of small business," he said.

Marshall said the agency now intends to work with small businesses to prevent health and safety problems, and eliminate many of the "nitpicking" regulations.

Marshall said he recently came to the conclusion that both criticisms were correct.

OSHA had neglected long-term health problems in order to enforce some petty standards not directly affecting safety or health," he said.

Don't pull fire alarms

With the arrival of spring each year at MHS, out come Frisbee throwers, sun worshippers, and fire alarm pullers. In recent weeks we have seen a flourish of the latter and we think a restraint is in order.

There will always be juveniles who like to see shiny, red fire engines and who like to stand out on the sidewalk for 15 minutes (twice a day), so we shall not direct this article to them. Obviously, if they can not comprehend, "Pull in case of fire," then, certainly, they won't be reading a newspaper.

We would like to plead with those who might watch a person pull a fire alarm, or who even has heard of someone who pulled one, to report such an act to the administration. Nothing but disruption has resulted from these false alarms at our school: lunches have been disturbed, the amount of testing time shortened, and periods have been lengthened and shortened till no one knew what period was in progress.

Beyond these difficulties, firemen, as required by law, must rush to the alarms, thus keeping them from a possible real fire. Answering an alarm can also be a dangerous procedure. We all remember last summer when a motorcyclist was killed by a fire engine rushing to an alarm during the Bicentennial parade. Any bystander who allows a student to pull a false fire alarm could be an accessory to the death of another person.

As of last year, it cost the taxpayers five hundred dollars for each false alarm. Police investigations are made and students receive a little less education. This means taxes must be raised even higher and we already know how our parents feel about that.

If this fact doesn't disturb the less-than-civic-minded students, then, perhaps, this will: with each false alarm, another nail is pounded into the coffin of our open-study system. Being public nuisances is as good a reason as any for keeping us in closed study halls. Anyone who uses the old excuse that "this is a typical case of the minority running it all for the majority" is wrong. If we allow this maliciousness by some juveniles to continue, then we are all to blame.

A person who is caught in two weeks' suspension from school, a large fine and a free trip to the police station. Talk a bored friend out of such idiosyncrasy or report someone you don't know, because you're the one who is going to get hurt in the long run. — Mike Danahy and Kelly Vogt

Guidance notes

The Guidance Department is planning a workshop on job seeking June 1. On the recent senior questionnaire approximately 50 seniors indicated an interest in participating in a workshop. Further details will be announced on the daily bulletins.

The guidance office is still receiving brochures on summer school programs. We have recently received information from Trinity College, University of Hartford and Manchester Community College.

St. Joseph College and the University of Hartford continue to offer tuition-free college courses to high school students for the school year 1977-78. Interested students should see their counselors.

MHS student profile: Dawn Hliviak

Dawn Hliviak is, in her own words, "one of the zaniest people around." Even if you don't know her, you can recognize her instantly. Just look for the happiest, loudest person in the hall, and chances are that person will be Dawn. She has a distinct talent for standing out in a crowd — she makes her presence known by some "different" remark or action.

Before moving to Manchester 6 years ago, Dawn lived in such exciting places as Guam, Norway, Germany, and the Philippines. After her father retired from the Air Force, her family settled here. Dawn has attended the high school for three years, and has become one of the most active and popular students at Manchester. In addition to her "heavy" schedule of UConn English, Patterns, Shakespeare, and Choir, Dawn is secretary of Student Assembly, Junior Civitan and Announcer's Club. She is also a member of the Senior Commencement Committee, Round Table, and Sock and Buskin. These activities, plus her part-time job at Westown Pharmacy, keep Dawn on the go.

might think of her, as long as she is being herself, and having a good time. Her idea of a good time is getting together with a few friends and just talking. When she has a chance to be by herself and relax, she listens to the music of James Taylor and Jackson Browne, "just to unwind."

With her active schedule, the moments when she gets the chance to do that are few and far between.

Dawn is a very happy-go-lucky type of person, and is rarely serious about anything. She believes if you're too serious and think too much about serious things, you can easily become depressed. And, "I refuse to be depressed — it's boring!" (Tehee).

One thing Dawn is totally serious about is her future. She plans to attend UConn for four years, and major in drama. After graduating, she would like to join Equity (an actor's guild) in New York, and pursue a serious acting career in the theater. Dawn enjoys acting because she has a chance to express herself. Her goal

'Teahouse' is toasted

The prologue begins. The lights dim. The last few people find their way to their seats. The "Teahouse of the August Moon" is about to open to a sellout audience of 150 people.

All was hushed in anticipation on Friday night as Sock 'n Buskin made its first performance of its spring production, "The Teahouse of the August Moon." The play was directed by Mr. Lee Hay, and produced in thrills staging. The set was somewhat simple when compared to those of previous years, but its simplicity was in keeping with the small Okinawan village it depicts.

The play deals with a bungling officer in the U.S. Army named Captain Fishy, who is sent to a small village in Okinawa to Americanize it at the end of World War II. The villagers, accustomed to the efforts of their various conquerors to change them, make an Okinawan out of him in the end.

Wilson does an excellent job of portraying Captain Fishy. He is a lovable character, and he steals away the audience's heart. Playing alongside him as his interpreter, Sakini, is Paul Martz. He is an animated character, likable and easygoing. The two men communicate well with each other.

In their parting scene, the feeling that radiates between them is intense. Lumps rise in the throats of everyone in attendance. The character of Lotus Blossom, played by Mari Brennan, develops much more slowly. This could be due to the fact that she speaks only in Okinawan and, therefore, relies more heavily on body movements and facial expressions to get her message across. She handles this difficulty admirably, giving the impression of a china doll in her graceful movements.

One of the most comic members of the cast was Val Scott in the role of Miss Higa Jiga. Her antics on the stage got a laugh every time, and set the mood all the villagers took. However, each villager also had a unique personality. There were some technical difficulties in the production.

The ringing of the telephone sounded somewhat distant. The sliding platforms on which the set was built also caused problems. Three of the wheels on one platform slid off the track during one of the earlier scenes. At the end of the scene the crew did an excellent job of replacing the wheels on the track quickly and quietly, as they did with all their scene changes.

The over-all effect was an excellent show, well worth seeing. There will be two more performances on Friday, May 20 and Saturday, May 21, at 8:00 p.m. I would highly recommend seeing it. — Grace Jaworski

Debate team wins

The Manchester High School varsity debate team of Mary Toland and Susan Launi is the top ranked championship team of the Connecticut Debate Association for 1977.

On May 8, Manchester High debate teams and their coaches, Mrs. Millie Costa of the English Department, journeyed to Choate Rosemary Hall in Wallingford for the state tournament. Mary and Susan, of the four debates in the tournament, won 3 and lost 1. They qualified for the finals. The 5th debate was unanimously awarded to Manchester with a 3-0 decision of the judges. The varsity team also scored exceptionally high speaker points; Susan Launi was awarded in addition an award as the first varsity speaker and state champion speaker with a total of 105 speaker points.

Entered in the novice division was Manchester's team of Gregory Kalagion and Richard Walden, who won one and lost three of their debates. They scored a total of 132 speaker points in their closely called debates. — Richard Walden

The rite of spring

The air is full of lethal Frisbees in the spring. Two types of people are responsible for destructive Frisbee fights: those who can throw a Frisbee, and those who cannot. The untrained, unskilled Frisbee-thrower has clumsy wrists and handles the Frisbee — like an anvil, occasionally like a garbage can lid.

He is not well-liked among social circles: he knocks out people's front teeth, bruises their heads and shoulders, and steps on their fingers while retrieving his Frisbee. He is a bungling idiot, and everyone who meets him wishes to force his Frisbee down or up any office in his body. Plagues of locusts are more desirable than his spastic tosses.

More deadly than the unskilled Frisbee thrower, however, is the

The lighter side:

The Lone Eagle won fame the hard way

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — On the 50th anniversary of his trans-Atlantic flight there seems to be a feeling that Charles A. Lindbergh was a different breed of hero from what we have today.

For one thing, he managed to incite worldwide admiration without hiring a press agent.

And while he was able to turn fame into fortune, he did so without hair spray endorsements, deodorant testimonials or television talk shows.

In short, he did it the hard way. Looking back on this epic event, it isn't hard to imagine what the Lindbergh saga might have been like a half century later.

"Mr. Lindbergh? I'm Sammy Flackhorn, your new drum-beater. You wanna put me into the picture?"

"Well, ah, somebody has offered a $25,000 prize for the first nonstop solo flight across the Atlantic, and, ah, I thought I might take a crack at it."

"Hummm. This is gonna be tougher than I thought. It's hard-getting media exposure for anything that smells like a publicity stunt. What's your angle?"

"My angle?"

"Yeah. What are you promoting? A new line of waterproof watches or something?"

"No. Nothing like that. It's more like a personal challenge. There's something inside me that..."

"Okay, okay. We'll get to the gimmicks later. What's your flight plan?"

"I was thinking of taking off from New York and maybe landing in Paris."

"Cripes! It's a good thing I got to you in time. New York-to-Paris is about as sexy as a trip on the Weehawken ferry. Everybody does the Paris bit. You need a swinging destination. Think you could make it to Monte Carlo?"

"Whatever you say, Sammy."

"Terf! By the way, what's the name of your plane?"

"I don't have one yet, but some people in St. Louis helped me raise the money to buy it so I was thinking of naming it for that city."

"That's the wrong spirit. We'll do better with a nationwide Name-That-Plane contest. And while we're at it, we'll need a nickname for you."

"Some people call me 'Lucky Lindy.'"

"Much too frivolous. It's gotta be something dramatic. I'm only thinking of the top of my head now, but how does 'The Lone Seagull' grab you?"

"I guess I could learn to live with it. What are you going to say when you land in Monte Carlo?"

"Bon jour!"

"It won't wash, Charlie. You need a real zinger. Try something like 'One small flight for an Arctic Tern, but one giant flight for a man.'"

Foreign news commentary:

China prepares for war

By RUTH YOUNGBLOOD

HONG KONG (UPI)—Viewing a Soviet Union "burning with wild ambition to subjugate" the Chinese people, China will fortify itself for "a big war that may break out at an early date," according to the Chinese Communist party daily newspaper.

The article, which appeared recently in the Peking Peoples Daily, is part of the new round of saber rattling between China and the Soviet Union. Chinese officials have become so emphatic that war is mentioned in almost every possible context.

Communist party Chairman Hua Kuo-feng, addressing the nation's major important industrial conference recently, stressed the need to build China "into a powerful socialist country before the end of the century, so that our national economy advances in the front ranks of the world."

But in explaining the need for speed, Hua emphasized the political rather than economic question says, "We must definitely be ready for war."

Even more adamant was the official Communist party newspaper's warning.

The Chinese people will heighten their vigilance, constantly strengthen their defense capability and get prepared against war, against a big war that may break out at an early date.

The Soviet revisionists' vicious intention of subjugating the Chinese people has only further aroused resolve to rely mainly on their own efforts and never seek hegemony (but) be prepared against war."

It further said that "after repeated trials of strength...the Soviet revisionists' scheme to turn Socialist China into their protectorate and colony through nuclear blackmail and intimidation have all gone bankrupt."

China's strong statement and their increased repetition have not been ignored by Moscow, which this week resumed its full-scale war of words against Peking for the first time since the death of the Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

Paying taxes not enough

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—"My taxes are paid. Just because I wouldn't sell, they're going to try to force me out," she said in a lecture to deputies who arrived to evict her.

The county has been trying to convince her to leave for two years and they have been joined by relatives, church spokesmen and representatives of the Mason's fraternal order to which her late husband belonged.

She was told in February 1976 that her property was being condemned and that it was valued at $10,000. She refused to listen.

When appraisers went to her home to evaluate the property, she wouldn't let them in.

The Redevelopment authority went ahead and took title to her home in April 1976 and put the $10,000 in escrow because she refused to accept it. The county found alternate housing for her, but she refused to move.

her home Wednesday to move her out. She still couldn't understand it and she still wouldn't let anyone in. Finally, one deputy removed a basement window and entered the home.

A short time later, she was gone.

Compliments of the captain

BOSTON (UPI)—Capt. Charles Marks decided honesty was the best policy and the 130 people who ride the commuter boat Baystate agreed the policy was pretty good.

Marks Wednesday apologized to commuters on the morning run across Boston Harbor from Hingham to Boston for the 20-minute delay, saying simply he had overstept.

To make up for it, he decided not to charge them the usual $1.50 each.

"The passengers were very, very nice about it," said Provincetown-Baystate Steamship Co. office manager Eileen Hamblin. "They thanked him for his honesty in admitting it."

IT'S PROBABLY THE MOST SENSIBLE CAR IN THE WORLD.

$2,858. 49/36 Quality

That's a really sensible price for a car you won't have to be squeezed into with a shoehorn. This is the manufacturer's 1977 suggested retail price. Price does not include tax, license, transportation charges and optional equipment.

It's just good common sense to want a car that'll last for a while. And Toyotas last! That's why we say—if you can find a better built small car than Toyota...buy it!

It's just good common sense to want a car that'll hold its value. Owning a Toyota is like money in the bank. Because Toyotas have traditionally high resale value.

It's just good common sense to want a car with superb gas mileage. These EPA results are estimates. The actual mileage you get will vary depending on your driving habits and your car's condition and equipment.

It makes sense to buy a car that'll hold its value. Owning a Toyota is like money in the bank. Because Toyotas have traditionally high resale value.

Penney's considering catalog store here

A local developer has said that he has had discussions with the J.C. Penney Co. about locating a catalog order store at a Manchester site.

Kenneth Burkamp, owner of the Manchester Mall, said that his Main St. building is one of the sites Penney has looked into for the 2,000-square-foot store, which could be used by people to place catalog orders in person rather than through the mail.

Burkamp, however, said that his failure to obtain financing for improvements to the mall's rear entrance with town bankers at the site as a possible location for the catalog order store.

Sylvia Dresner, director of corporate press relations for Penney, said that any discussion about the matter at this time is "very premature."

She said that catalog order and catalog outlet stores frequently are built in the same market area as catalog distribution centers. Penney has announced plans to locate a two-million-square-foot catalog distribution center at a site in the Buckland section of Manchester.

Penney has signed a contract with the town for a 160-acre site that would be part of the town's proposed industrial park. Several matters concerning the park, including two appeals of zone changes, are still in litigation, and the contract is contingent upon Penney being able to start construction by Sept. 1.

If Penney does locate in Manchester, the distribution center would not be completed until 1980. No catalog-related store would open in the area until that time, Ms. Dresner said.

Ms. Dresner also said that because he is unable to obtain local funding, he may approach a New York City group that says is interested in buying a controlling interest in the mall.

The organization, however, has not yet said what it is interested in using the Main St. building for.

Penney is also considering locating a catalog outlet store in the Hartford area, Ms. Dresner said. The store would be a discount-type retail store.

Penney has 11 similar stores across the country, and all are located near catalog distribution centers, she said. In three locations, the outlet stores are part of the catalog distribution center, but this setup will not be used in Manchester.

"There will not be any catalog outlet store as part of the distribution facility," Ms. Dresner said.

Decriminalization rejected

AUGUSTA, Maine (UPI)—The Maine Legislature has rejected a move to make the state, one of the first in the nation to "decriminalize" possession of marijuana, the first to reinstate it as a criminal offense.

Maine has treated possession of one and one-half ounces or less of the substance as a civil offense for adults for the past year. An adult convicted of the charge can be fined up to $200 but no record is kept.

Possession of small amounts of marijuana still is treated as a criminal offense for juveniles.

The Senate voted 18-14 to accept the majority "ought not to pass" report of the Judiciary Committee, an action taken by the House a week earlier.

The rules of the legislature provide that once an issue is rejected it may not be taken up again by the current legislature.

Cupboards sold for $60,000

MENTMORE, England (UPI)—A Boston surgeon paid almost $60,000 Thursday for a pair of 18th century cupboards at an auction of Rothchild furniture, a sale that already has raised $4.5 million.

Dr. Amelia Brown of Boston University, who arrived at the Mentmore Towers "sale of the century" in a blue-and-white helicopter, paid $58,400 for the pair of Louis XV corner cupboards, made about 1725.

The collection of the late Baron Mayer de Rothschild was put on the block Wednesday by Mentmore's owner, the 7th Earl of Rosebery, to raise money to pay a huge inheritance tax.

Intricately inlaid French furniture from Rothschild's hoard sold today for $1.26 million, raising the total after two days of bidding to $4.37 million.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Role of estrogen

DEAR DR. LAMB - I would like to see comment on the enclosed article, "12-year Study Links Estrogen, Breast Cancer." Sometime ago you commented on a similar article in reference to cancer of the uterus. You said if a woman had had a hysterectomy it was all right to take estrogen. Does this hold true for breast cancer or is there a danger of breast cancer if one takes estrogen daily?

I have had a benign breast tumor removed a few years ago and I note that the article says that breast cancer is seven times more likely if you have had a benign breast tumor.

DEAR READER - The breast cancer scare is really an oddity. The authors of the scientific article that appeared have apparently agreed to disagree about the meaning of the study. A scientist from the National Cancer Institute studied the patients of a top-notch gynecologist. The NCI scientist opened the door to the possibility that female hormones might increase the chances of developing breast cancer - in post-menopausal women.

Dr. Lamin Gray Sr., the gynecologist, disagreed. He pointed out some weaknesses in the study. Basically the results showed that post-menopausal women on estrogen were 1.3 times more likely to have breast cancer than women who did not take estrogen.

DEAR DR. LAMB - Is corn oil margarine better since safflower margarine also contains coconut oil? DEAR READER - All of the margarines have some saturated fats in them. If they didn't they would be liquid. Both safflower oil margarines and corn oil margarines have had some of the fat converted by hydrogenated (saturated) fats. Your question suggests that you want a margarine low in saturated fat (coconut oil is over 80 per cent saturated fat) and high in polyunsaturated fat. The label of most margarines will tell you how much of each kind of fat it contains.

these three fats. The brand I just looked at would be 18 per cent saturated fat (divide 2 by 11) and 45 per cent polyunsaturated fat (divide 5 by 11).

DEAR DR. LAMB - I was surprised to read in your column that some very young girls between the ages of 2 and 8 sometimes start menstruating and some have even become pregnant. Surely that is a misprint! Any comment?

DEAR READER - To err is human and misprints do occur along the production chain from me to your newspaper - but this is not one of them! The statement is correct.

Dr. Robert Kistner, well known gynecologist from Harvard, discusses this in his text, Gynecology, Principles and Practice, (Year Book Publishers, 2nd Edition 1971 page 183). Usually when this occurs in very young girls there is some underlying disorder but it has happened in apparently normal girls. It is rare, however. The usual age to start menstruation is between 10 and 16 years of age.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am corn oil margarine fan since safflower margarine also contains coconut oil? DEAR READER - All of the margarines have some saturated fats in them. If they didn't they would be liquid. Both safflower oil margarines and corn oil margarines have had some of the fat converted by hydrogenated (saturated) fats. Your question suggests that you want a margarine low in saturated fat (coconut oil is over 80 per cent saturated fat) and high in polyunsaturated fat. The label of most margarines will tell you how much of each kind of fat it contains.

Former resident commissioned in ALC staff ministry

Joan Strickland Johnson of Bloomington, Minn., formerly of Manchester, is the first lay person to be commissioned under revised Commissioned Church Staff Ministries policy of the American Lutheran Church. The commission took place on Sunday, May 1, at Community of the Cross American Lutheran Church (ALC) in Bloomington, where she has served as parish secretary since May of 1974. Mrs. Johnson's husband, Joel, and her eldest daughter, Ellen, participated in the commissioning service. The intention of the new Commissioned Church Staff Ministries program is to upgrade the certifying of non-ordained persons who are serving in church staff positions. The person being certified must meet minimum standards that include Biblical understanding, knowledge and understanding of Lutheran history, skills in a particular area of work and job experience. Mrs. Johnson, a 1951 graduate of Manchester High School, was certified as both parish secretary and parish worker but will continue to serve in her current position. She began full-time church staff work in 1959 as parish secretary at First Lutheran Church, Jamestown, N.Y., and later became a staff member in the departments of stewardship and evangelism at the Augustana Lutheran Church national offices in Minneapolis, Mo. More recently she has served as children's choir director at House of Prayer Lutheran Church, Richfield, Minn. and St. Luke's Lutheran Church, Bloomington, where she and her family are members. Her eldest daughter, Ellen, 15, recently was named the "Outstanding Young Adult of the Year" by the Mrs. Jaycees of Bloomington. Mrs. Johnson lives at 9231 Elliot Ave. S., Bloomington, Minn.

Seven COEP students honored

Seven Manchester High School students were honored with outstanding student awards Tuesday at the annual banquet of the MHS Cooperative Occupational Education Program (COEP) held at the Colony in Talcottville. More than 400 students and their employers attended the event which was arranged and hosted by the students. Sue Turner, a senior COEP student, was the mistress of ceremonies. Speakers James Farr and William Road, Manchester businessmen and members of the COEP Advisory Committee, spoke and complimented the students for their outstanding performance and commitment to the business community. Others on the program were Neil Lawrence, director of vocational education and a member of the advisory committee, and the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward J. Reardon, also advisory committee member, who gave the invocation. Outstanding student awards were presented to Natalie Goff, Joseph Cullen and Louis Pantaleo, all in the diversified work program of COEP; Fernanda Correia and Jane Goulet in the distributive education phase of COEP; and Kim Tully and Patricia Scranton of the nursing assistant program of COEP. Entertainment was provided by COEP students Michael Ruff on keyboard, Kenneth Holt on drums accompanied by Michael Colbath on base guitar and Joseph Gaudin on saxophone and flute.

Brink's robber broke and full of regrets

BOSTON (UPI) — Twenty-seven years after Frank Richardson and ten others pulled off the daring Brink's Co. robbery which netted them more than $2.5 million, he's broke. The Brink's robbers were arrested and convicted in 1950, six years after the crime. Richardson and Vincent Costa, another of the famed Brink's gang, were at the scene of the crime in Boston's North End Wednesday to promote a new book, "Big Stick-Up at Brink's" and subsequent movie about their famous heist. "I have plenty of regrets," said Richardson, who was released in 1970. "If I worked the years I was in jail I'd have more money now and a pension."

Richardson said his share of the loot went to gambling losses and supporting his family during the six years between the robbery and his arrest. "I regretted it long before I was caught," Richardson said of the robbery that took six years to plan. "The FBI was watching me and chasing me. It was our own fault. I haven't got any of the money. I haven't got the time of day." The Jan. 17, 1950, robbery of the Brink's Boston office netted a whopping $2,775,395.12. Seven men wearing identical chauffeurs uniforms and grotesque halloween masks surprised employees, ransacked the office and escaped arrest until 1956.

Budget impact study said 'pure political hogwash'

Phyllis Jackson, a Democratic member of the Manchester Board of Directors, has called a Republican director's request for a study of the impact of the 1977-78 budget "pure political hogwash." Republican Carl Zinsser requested last week that Town Manager Robert B. Weiss prepare an in-depth analysis of the proposed budget. Zinsser has expressed concern that the revenue figures in the budget are inflated. Mrs. Jackson said, "Director Zinsser's demand to know the impact of the 1977-78 budget on the town's departments is purely political hogwash! We have had enough of this kind of political hogwash." The final budget calls for a 2.12-mill increase in the General Fund tax rate and a 0.74-mill increase in the Fire District rate. Mrs. Jackson pointed out that the Republican party called for a two-mill increase before the budget proceedings began. "Was this statement nothing more than 'political play,' or is he kidding?" she asked.

Mrs. Bjorkland elected by garden club council

Mrs. Fred Bjorkland of 284 Burdside Ave., East Hartford, recently was elected president of the East Central Council of Garden Clubs at a meeting at Willie's Steak House. She succeeds Mrs. Ernest Croteau of South Windsor. Other elected officers are Mrs. Barnard LaFickey of East Hartford, vice-president; and Mrs. John Keithline of East Hartford, treasurer. The newly-elected officers will be Mrs. Lyman Taylor of Manchester, parliamentarian; Mrs. Laurier DeMars of Coventry, member-at-large; Mrs. Andrew Reggents of Manchester, publicist; and Mrs. Gerald Wagner and Mrs. Thomas Meila and Mrs. Douglas Roberts, both of Vernon, directors. The council is composed of garden clubs from Manchester, East Hartford, Coventry, South Windsor, Vernon and East Windsor.

Carter calls Nixon concept of presidential power tragic

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Richard Nixon's contention that the President could legally use any means short of murder to crush dissent during the Vietnam War has been labeled "tragic" by President Carter. Saying "paranoia for peace isn't that bad," Nixon claimed Thursday he had a legal right to order burglary, bugging and other illegal acts against war protesters he "hated." Pressed for an explanation why the White House used burglary, wiretaps, mail openings, political use of the Internal Revenue Service and other harassing of dissenters, Nixon declared: "Well, when the President does it, that means it is not illegal." The White House responded promptly that Carter does not believe the President is above the law. "President Carter does not feel any President has the right to break the law," deputy press secretary, Greg Graum, said. "He feels very strongly that it's a tragic mistake to follow that policy, as past events have shown so dramatically. Without demonstrators in the streets and criticism of the war in the press, Vietnam would have been over two years earlier, Nixon contended in his third paid interview with David Frost. "In wartime, a president does have certain extraordinary powers, which would make acts that otherwise be unlawful, lawful, if undertaken for the purpose of preserving the nation and the Constitution," Nixon said, quoting Abraham Lincoln and Thomas Jefferson in his defense. "Where do we draw the line," Frost asked. "Murder is over the line, the former president responded. He added: "There are degrees, there are nuances which are difficult to explain, each case has to be considered on its merits."

Manchester police report

David Latham 33, of Bloomfield, was charged Thursday with obstruction of an emergency vehicle in connection with an incident Wednesday night. Police said Latham's vehicle blocked the progress of an ambulance of Trinity Ambulance Service en route to Manchester Memorial Hospital about 7:45 p.m. Wednesday near Center St. and W. Middle Tpke. Scott Johnson, 17, of Bolton, was charged with breach of peace and threatening on a warrant issued Thursday. He was released on a promise to appear in court June 13. Elvera D. Harwood, 59, of South Windsor, was arrested Thursday on a charge of fourth-degree larceny in connection with a shoplifting incident at Caldor. He was released on a promise to appear in court June 6. Lorraine L. Chamberland, 27, of 71 Ridge St., was charged with operating with unsafe tires in connection with a one-car accident on Center St. Thursday night. Police said the car had a blow-out of a tire, veered off the road into a guard rail. Both front tires were in very poor condition, police said. Ms. Chamberland was treated at Manchester Memorial Hospital for a laceration over her eye and discharged.

Tax lien notices sent to 400

Manchester Collector of Revenue James Turek has already sent out lien notification to about 400 delinquent taxpayers. The letters notify the property owner that the town will place a lien on the land if the overdue taxes are not paid. The town will begin placing the liens during the first week of June, Turek said. The town has started the lien process earlier this year than in the past. Turek said that the town has previously begun placing liens on property during the last week of June. The property taxes are due in two installments, one in July and one in January. The liens will be placed on those properties whose owners have not yet paid for the 1976-77 fiscal year. Democratic Director Phyllis Jackson had proposed that the lien proceedings be started at an earlier date to increase tax revenues before the end of the fiscal year on June 30. Through April 30, the town had collected $15,305,885 of a projected $15,947,477 tax revenue figure for 1976-77. In January, Turek said that he expected the town to fall about $200,000 short of the estimated figure. He feels that the $200,000 shortfall estimate may still be accurate. He is hopeful, however, that the final collection figure will be close to the estimated figure set by the Board of Directors. He said that his office has collected about $60,000 this month and that June is a "very active" month for tax collection.

Legislature enacts new insurance rules

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Ella T. Grasso has signed into law tough new regulations governing insurance companies in Connecticut. The new law, signed Thursday, takes effect Oct. 1. It makes it easier for the state to deny insurance rate increases, and also requires an insurance company to give its reasons in writing for cancelling a Connecticut customer's homeowner, automobile or commercial fire policy. The state insurance commissioner is given broader powers by the new law. The auto insurance industry will have to give the commissioner statistical information on the number of policies written, cancelled, not renewed and kept in force during the year. Legislators who drew up the bill said the information will give the commissioner greater ability to keep track of the industry. The law also requires the insurer or the agent to mail to the customer the premium billing notice for an automobile policy at least 30 days in advance of the expiration date of the policy.

Lawmakers stand pat on state budget

HARTFORD (UPI) - Gov. Ella T. Grasso, having been told by lawmakers they won't cut the $1.915 billion budget, is expected to make a decision on the spending plan early next week, sources say.

The wheels of the gray-white Ryan monoplane began to roll in the mud. The pilot, Charles Augustus Lindbergh, must, he thought, get airborne, bounced back to earth, got again. He cleared a tractor by 10 feet, cleared a string of telephone wires, and began riding the foggy springtime sky into history.

Bolton planning unit opposes zone change

The Bolton Planning Commission has unanimously agreed that it would not be advisable for the Zoning Commission to grant a zone change from residential to business on property at 59 West St. owned by Frances Halston.

Mrs. Halston is requesting the change to expand an existing antique shop and have a tea room.

Planning Commission members felt the zone change would not be in harmony with the town plan and they questioned the size of the lot. They were told it was three acres, but their information says it is only one and a quarter acres.

The Zoning Commission will conduct a public hearing June 1 at 8 p.m. at the Community Hall to consider the change.

A public hearing held by the Planning Commission Wednesday to discuss a proposed subdivision was not attended by the public.

Ernest Reed is proposing a 1.7-acre subdivision, Westridge, on Tinker Pond Rd. The subdivision will have one new road, now unnamed.

Commission members felt a reserve strip should be planned in case the back land is ever developed.

The commission approved the preliminary map. It anticipates the final map will be presented at its June meeting.

The Zoning Commission reviewed the map and said it met all zoning requirements.

Mrs. Funk honored by Coventry Jaycees

Coventry Jaycees presented their annual Citizen of the Year Award to Fran Funk at their installation banquet and awards night.

Mrs. Funk was the unanimous choice of the three judges: Sheila Keim, president of the Junior Women's Club; Frank Connolly, town manager; and the Rev. Robert Bechtold.

Nominations were received during the month of April from town residents who wished the judges to consider their candidates to be recognized for outstanding and meritorious service to the town of Coventry.

Jaycee Project Chairman Joe Pacheco said Fran was being recognized for her efforts on behalf of conservation and beautification within the town.

Mrs. Funk served for many years as chairman of the Conservation Commission and is now Chairman of the Beautification Committee and Coventry Tree Warden. She is also active in Joshua's Trust, a regional group interested in conservation.

In addition to the above organizations, there are many other projects around town that Fran has organized and devoted great quantities of her time, talent and knowledge, without seeking personal gain.

She organized Bid Litter Day and was responsible for the Beautification Commission improvements in the Eagleville Dam area. She organized the cleaning up and pruning of the apple orchard near the Town Hall and found and planted laurels there.

Fran also assisted the Jaycees by planning the course of the nature trail that the Jaycees built through the town-owned Laidlaw Park.

Mrs. Funk is also a free-lance photographer.

She lives with her husband, a local educator, and two sons on Old Eagleville Rd.

Attorney answers Vernon fund question

Unexpended or unencumbered funds at the end of the fiscal year in Vernon's Capital Improvement budget will lapse and revert to the General Fund.

This is the finding of Town Atty. Martin B. Burke. Burke was asked by the Town Council as to whether it could encumber, at the end of a fiscal year, any balance left in the Capital Improvement budget, thereby preventing the funds from reverting to the General Fund.

In his answer, Atty. Burke quoted from the Town Charter, which states that appropriations for construction or for other permanent im-

South Windsor looks at I-park traffic impact

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter
The South Windsor Mass Transit Commission Thursday suggested that the Town Council study the effect on local roads from traffic generated by Manchester's proposed industrial park.
Alan Lamson, Manchester's town planner, spoke to the commission and said that the two major South Windsor routes from the park - Pleasant Valley Rd. and Chapel Rd. - will each receive less than 10 percent of the park traffic.
Kirby Holcombe, a commission member, suggested that the town look into developing a traffic pattern for both of those roads as well as Clark St., a third road that would be affected by park traffic.

"That's where our greatest contribution can be made - where the traffic on those three roads should go," he said. He suggested that the Town Council study the matter and decide the best pattern for traffic on the South Windsor streets. The rest of the commission supported the proposal.
Lamson spent the first 45 minutes of the meeting discussing the park plan and proposed changes to local roads both in Manchester and South Windsor. The plan includes alteration of the Pleasant Valley Rd.-Wheeler Rd. intersection, he said.
Commission members also suggested that serious efforts be made to increase mass transit service to the industrial park area.
Lamson said that 1-86 improvements include special lanes for car poolers.
"The J.C. Penney Co. would like to continue that concept right to the door of the building," Lamson said. He said that the firm, which would be the park's major tenant, plans to reserve the parking spaces nearest its plant for those employees who car pool.

The commission also suggested that mass transportation to the park could be increased by van and rail services.
Nancy Caffyn, commission chairman, also asked why South Windsor had not been consulted before the park plan was developed.
She mentioned to Lamson that Manchester worked closely with those residents who would neighbor the park.
"We are Manchester's neighbors. It's too bad that we didn't have some input into this," she said.
She pointed out that several state agencies have been involved in developing the park plan.
"A state project should encompass all the towns involved. The roads don't end at the end of the map (of the park)," she said.
The proposed plan for I-291 was also discussed by the commission. Lamson said the highway would cut about 20 acres from the west side of the park and would include an entrance and exit near the park for eastbound traffic. No such ramping, however, would be provided near the park for westbound traffic, he said.
Members of the commission plan to continue studying the effect of I-

Reading program completed

Pleasant Valley School's year-long reading program culminated with a reading festival this week.
Included in the festival, which was held Wednesday and Thursday, was an evening program featuring the sixth grade play, entitled "A Literary Nightmare."
"We are proud of the special projects the students in our school have done and would enjoy sharing them with others," said Reading Consultant Renate Rioux.
"Our goal at Pleasant Valley School this year has been to promote an interest and love for books and reading," said Mrs. Rioux, "and the children on every grade level have worked on special projects to discover the excitement and adventure in reading."
Winners of the Theme Contest held in conjunction with the festival are Grade 1, Cindy Cohen; Grade 2, Danny Lane; Grade 3, Sue LeBlanc; Grade 4, Dawn Reilly; Grade 5, Kristin Luscia and Grade 6, Gordon Hargrove.

Mrs. Worthen seeks top GOP post

Referring to the Watergate scandal, Mrs. Worthen said the Republican party suffered quite a blow. But she said the party is stronger than ever, showing the Republican party held its own in Vernon.
Mrs. Worthen made her announcement at a press conference at the home of Robert Todoli, Todoli, a first-year member of the town committee, announced his support of Mrs. Worthen.
Todoli said he felt he was speaking for fellow Republicans when he said, "We believe that our party cannot remain viable in American politics by clinging to the traditions of the past as inviolate, but must reshape and update, to this heritage if we are to survive."
Steve Wakefield, who was unable to attend the press conference, said he had decided to seek the post of chairman because of "my deep concern for our town and the people who govern it."
Mrs. Worthen and her husband Samuel live on Brimwood Dr. and have four children, Christopher, 15; Joseph, 17; David, 13; and Rachel, 8.

Top three teams

Three best college basketball teams in Connecticut, in order this season, are Connecticut, New Haven and Eastern Connecticut. Coach Larry Panciera at UConn has perhaps his best all-around team in his 16 years and the pitching staff is deep in starters and in Andy Baylock has one of the best assistant coaches on any level. Veteran stock car driver Ed Flentie is again behind the wheel of Bill Thornton's Manchester Sand & Gravel car this season in competition at Stafford Speedway. The Atlantic Coast Conference has agreed to use three officials for all basketball games starting next season. Dave Saunders will manage the paddle ball facility which will be built and hopefully ready for occupancy in the fall in Manchester. Saunders is one of the area's better players. Among the book-scholarship award winners at the University of Hartford was Harold Gaglio of Manchester who received the Del Kinney golf award. Amy Burfoot, winner of seven Five Mile Road Races in Manchester, including last Thanksgiving, expects to be a father for the first time in October. Bill Woodridge handles the varsity basketball team at Bennett Junior High this spring while Bob VonDeck has a similar post at Illing Junior High.

Martens honored

Joe Martens has been elected co-captain of next year's varsity track team at the University of Massachusetts. The East Catholic grad has been a big point-winner with the squad the past two seasons. Well deserved was the honor given Dave Roback by Manchester Community College at its annual sports awards banquet. Roback has served as publicist for MCC teams the past two seasons and turned in a topflight job for which he was presented with the Matt Moriarty plaque. One of the state's best college baseball hitters in Rockville High played Steve Krajevski at Eastern Connecticut. Major League baseball scouts are well aware of Krajevski's long-ball hitting. Mike Johnson will pass up playing with Moriarty's in the Two Baseball League and will play Legion ball instead. Now it can be told, thanks to Sports Illustrated and the New York Times. The Jimmy Connors-Manuel Orantes winner-take-all $250,000 tennis match instead found Connors guaranteed $500,000, win or lose. The Connors-lie Nastase match, also billed for $250,000 winner-take-all, was not so. Connors received $500,000, win or lose, and Nastase got $150,000, win or lose. Pat Mistretta reportedly required 300 volunteers to conduct the two-day Manchester Relay last June.

Exhibition tonight

Softball exhibition twinned tonight at Fitzgerald Field will feature the New England Whalers against WTC at 6 o'clock. Prelim at 6:15 features women's teams, Moriarty's and Crispino's. Proceeds are earmarked for New Hope Manor. Craig Pinney of East Hartford is one of five UConn varsity baseball players named to the Academic All-American team's honor roll. Pinney has a 3.2 average. He's majoring in civil engineering. Dick Soltanek, who retired last year as a faculty member at Manchester High, was stricken and is now hospitalized in Manchester. Soltanek handled varsity swimming for years.

Braves' owner to be benched

ATLANTA (UPI) — Ted Turner, the colorful and often controversial owner of the Atlanta Braves, is about to be benched again. U.S. District Court Judge Newell Edenfield ruled Thursday that baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn did indeed have the authority to slap a one-year suspension on Turner for "tampering with outfielder Gary Matthews." Kuhn, who just last week chased Turner out of the Braves' dugout after Turner named himself temporary field manager, now must decide when the suspension, which was temporarily lifted by the commissioner pending the outcome of Edenfield's ruling, goes back into effect. Turner sought an injunction blocking the suspension, challenging that Kuhn could legally prevent him from running his own business for a year. Edenfield, who heard two days of arguments here in late April and then took the case under advisement after final written briefs were presented to him on May 9, disagreed, saying, "The court concludes that the commissioner acted within the scope of his authority." The judge did give the Braves one break. He ruled

Yankees' Randolph feels 'comfortable' making opponents most uncomfortable

NEW YORK (UPI) — Willie Randolph feels "comfortable" and that's making the New York Yankees' opponents most uncomfortable. The 22-year-old second baseman had four hits and scored four runs Thursday night, sparking the Yankees to a 9-1 win over the Baltimore Orioles in the opener of a five-game series between the American League East contenders. "I like to do things a leadoff man has to do," Randolph explained. After batting eighth for most of last season, he was elevated to the leadoff spot when Yankees Manager Billy Martin sought to end an April losing streak by literally selecting a batting order out of his hat. While other elements of that batting order have since been discarded, Randolph's status as leadoff man has been made permanent. "I'm just comfortable batting first because I can hit, bunt, take a walk, steal a base, whatever it takes," said the second baseman. "I've always been an aggressive hitter and that's what a leadoff man has to do. I see more fastballs because they know I can run and they're always around the plate." Randolph went to Martin last season with a request to bat first in the lineup. Martin recalls, "I said that when the time comes I'll move you up."

American League

Martin recalls, "I said that when the time comes I'll move you up."

Flanagan for two runs in the third, and Randolph's opposite-field double ignited a three-run burst in the fifth. Ed Figueroa won his fifth game in seven decisions, allowing only six hits, while lowering his league-leading ERA to 1.23. In other American League games, Chicago crushed Kansas City 6-3, Seattle blanked Oakland, 3-0, Milwaukee clipped Toronto, 5-3, and California topped Minnesota, 5-3. White Sox 8, Royals 3. Jim Coburn, who no-hit Texas in his previous start, failed to survive the third inning and Steve Stone pitched his first complete game in eight starts. Jorge Orta, Oscar Gamble and Chet Lemon hit Chicago homers and Eric Soderholm capped a five-run White Sox third with a bases-loaded single. Mariners 3, A's 0. Dave Pagan, in his first 1977 start, struck out eight and scattered six hits to hurl Seattle's first shutout victory. Bob Stinson doubled in one run and Bill Stein singled in another in a two-run second that helped Pagan, 1-1, beat Rick Langford, 3-3. Brewers 5, Blue Jays 3. Jim Slaton snapped a personal hard-luck streak with the aid of a bizarre third-inning rally. Slaton trailed, 2-0, until Milwaukee scored four times on six walks and Cecil Cooper's two-run single. Bob McClure retired the last two batters to pick up his third save of the season. Nolan Ryan survived eight walks but fanned 12 to tame the Western Division leaders. Ryan walked in two runs in the first inning, but Tony Solaita drove in runs in the first and third innings to tie the score. Joe Rudi and Dave Chalk singled home runs in the fifth.

Gossage producing as Buc

NEW YORK (UPI) — Rich Gossage is beginning to make National League hitters think he is almost as good as Manager Chuck Tanner of the Pittsburgh Pirates says he is. "And that's mighty good, indeed," Gossage turned in an overpowering performance Thursday night when he allowed one hit and struck out eight of the 10 batters he faced in the Pirates' 6-5, 10-inning victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers. Gossage has now appeared in 18 games, has a 4-0 record, eight saves and an 0.84 earned run average.

Braves added four runs in the seventh with the help of run-scoring singles by Junior Moore, Jeff Burroughs and Gary Matthews and a double by Cliff Pocoroba. Rick Reuschel was the loser. Astros 3, Phillies 2. Ken Boswell drove in the tying run with an infield single and Willie Crawford knocked in the decisive run with a sacrifice fly as Houston rallied for two runs in the eighth inning. Joaquin Andujar went eight innings, squaring his record at 3-3 for the Astros while reliever Gene Garber suffered the loss. Mets 4, Giants 3. John Milner and Lenny Hinkle homered for the Mets as rookie Jackson Todd went 7-23 innings and won his first major league start with relief help from Skip Lockwood. Terry Whitfield's three-run homer in the eighth spoiled Todd's shutout bid. Ed Hatcher suffered his fourth loss against two wins for San Francisco. Padres 5, Expos 2. Randy Jones, recovering from his slow start, won his fourth game with Rollie Fingers' four innings of shutout relief as San Diego snapped its five-game losing streak and extended Montreal's losing skid to

Little League

INTERNATIONAL BREAKING into the winner's circle for the first time after four losses, Boland Oil topped the Oilers last night at Leber Field, 7-6, thanks to a four-run last inning. Scott Kvasas singled, doubled and tripled for the Oilers and Steve Strand added two doubles and a single. His second double with the bases loaded clinched the decision. Todd MacFarland singled and tripled for the Oilers. Chris Rodriguez hurled a four-hitter as Ed's Arco topped Nichols Tire, 17-2, last night at Buckley. The winning hurler got all the plate from Mark Stepper who had three hits, one a homer. Dave Stepper added two hits to the cause and Mike Diana had the same number for the Tires. NATIONAL Two fine defensive plays and the strong relief pitching of Scott Flyor gave Civitan Club a hard-fought 13-10 win over Police & Fire last night at Waddell Field. Earl Lappen was hitting star for the winners as he clubbed two home runs, one a grand slam, in a nine-run third inning. Doug Mitchell yielded the big stick for Police & Fire with a pair of four-baggers. He led off the sixth with a circuit cut with the next three batters drawing bases on balls. Flyor came on and induced the next stick for Police & Fire and on the next second baseman Mike Downs who made a fine leaping catch and got the last out on a fly to centerfielder Glen Boggini. Montreal's losing skid to

Final practice for 500 drivers

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Drivers prepared to make the best of their last practice session today before the final weekend chance to qualify for the 50-mile Speedway auto race. Twelve positions were still open for the 33-car race day lineup on May 29. The Indianapolis area was hit by a thunderstorm late Thursday following a record-high temperature of 90 degrees, but the rains missed the oval. However, the track was closed nearly half an hour early when a wind and dust storm limited practice. "The best thing that could happen to this place is a healthy downpour," said one veteran track official. The track temperature Thursday soared to 134 degrees. "If this weather keeps up, we'll have to take whatever speed we can get and hope for the best," said Dick Simon, one of the veteran non-qualified drivers.

As goes Craig Steuernagel, so goes East Catholic's baseball team. Maybe not totally accurate, but the sophomore lefthander won his fifth game yesterday, the Eagles have won seven, spinning a five-hit 2-0 shutout against Windsor Locks at Eagle Field. The lanky bespectacled southpaw, who has struck out the first batter in every game he's pitched this year, whiffed a total of nine to run his season total to 80 in 54 2/3-innings. Steuernagel, 5-3, exhibited excellent control walking only one and getting seven of the outs on popups by changing speeds effectively. Only one Windsor Locks runner, Lou Rague in the fourth, got as far as third base. Rague tried to score as one of Steuernagel's slants got away from Dave Bottaro. But the freshman catcher pounced on the ball quickly and pegged home to Steuernagel who applied the tag for the final out in the frame. East didn't give Steuernagel much to work with, collecting its two runs and all four hits in the home fourth. Mike Purling lined a single to left after Raider hurler Jeff Breton had retired the first nine in a row. After a Ken Brasa sacrifice, John Murphy and Pete Kiro singled to load the bases. Designated hitter Mark Dumais fanned but Jim Dakin jumped on a 1-1 offering and delivered a single to left chasing home the Eagles' only tallies. Murphy, in the fifth inning, was robbed of a home run as Raider lefthander Frank Netoch reached high and snared the drive which would've cleared the four-foot high fence. East, 7-8, must win two of its last three to qualify for the State Tournament. The Eagles have an engagement in Middletown tonight at 7:30 against powerful Xavier High of Palmer Field. Brasa draws the starting mound assignment. Saturday, the Eagles would've cleared the four-foot high fence. East, 7-8, must win two of its last three to qualify for the State Tournament. Seattle Slew in No. 8 spot for Preakness Saturday

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Seattle Slew, the Kentucky Derby winner Thursday drew the No. 8 post in the field of nine for the 102nd running of the Preakness Saturday, but it failed to dampen any spirits. Seattle Slew's owner Karen Taylor bravely predicted: "We'll be in front."

Her husband, Mickey, who only expects a victory but thinks Seattle Slew might make his eighth straight conquest the spectacular type fans have been expending of the unbeaten 3-year-old colt. "He just looks fitter now than he has his whole life," said Taylor. "He's fit enough to run around the world."

Shinkel quits Penquin post

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Ken Shinkel says the Pittsburgh Penguins need strong discipline and since he couldn't provide it he turned in his resignation. The former Penquin player announced Thursday he was trading the coaching job he had held twice for that of player personnel director.

Wadkins in tie, passed up 'walk'

DUBLIN, Ohio (UPI) — The Bobby Wadkins disappearing act will have to wait. Wadkins, who "felt like walking in" after his fifth bogey in six holes, decided to stick it out through nine holes Thursday. That decision resulted in his sharing the first-round lead with Mark Lye in the $25,000 Memorial Tournament. Thanks to an eagle three on the 549-yard seventh hole, Wadkins turned the front side in a semi-respectable three-over 39 on the 7,101-yard Muirfield Village Golf Club course. Lye, three notches ahead of Wadkins on the money list, fired a four-ander-32 on the front side with four birdies and had a steady one birdie-one bogey back nine.

Women's singles and doubles and a mixed doubles match complete the card.

That was two shots better than the two-over 70s turned-in by Bruce Lietzke, Chi Chi Rodriguez, Gary Player and Jerry McGee on the Muirfield layout. "After the first six holes, when I was five over, I felt like walking in," said Wadkins. "I have a history of that." But, he added, "I was going to the ninth hole anyway because I like the golf course. I knew how high the scores were here last year and, anyway, I needed the practice. I just got it going." Lye, three notches ahead of Wadkins on the money list, fired a four-ander-32 on the front side with four birdies and had a steady one birdie-one bogey back nine.

Pitch, Hit, Run

Registration for the local Pitch, Hit and Run competition closes May 22. Boys and girls between the ages of 9-12 (age determined as of Aug. 1) are eligible. Entry blanks are available at all Thom McAn stores. The competition will be held at Waddell Little League Field, Saturday, June 4 at 9 a.m.

Hockey school

A hockey school will be held at the Bolton Ice Palace Aug. 14-26. The staff will consist of Skip Cunningham and Joe Altott of the New England Whalers. Paul Thornton, coach at American International College, and Pete Lalushis, director of the Bolton Ice Palace Adult Clinic. The school will offer instruction on the finer points of hockey for boys 8 to 16. For further information, call 646-7851.

CANDELIGHT
Each side scored all its runs in one inning. Holiday Lanes getting three in its first at bats and Gus's pushing across five in the sixth frame for a 5-3 verdict at Robertson Park last night.

No member of the winners had more than one hit while Craig Pepin and Al Noske each hit safely twice for the Lanes.

SILK CITY
Allied Printing scored in just one frame, the fifth, but it was enough for a 5-2 decision over Fogarty Bros. last night at Fitzgerald.

Van Oudenave scattered seven hits while teammates Bob Tinsley, Don Leonard and John Sommers each collected two hits.

Tom Melick led the Oliers with three blows.

The nightcap was a slugfest with Moriarty's getting 20 base hits in routing Pero's, 12-7. Leading the offensive was Paul Ostum with four hits, Karl Havel with three and Ron Laliberte and Leo Williamson with two each for the Gas Housers.

Just a Reminder — A copy of "The Energy Crisis Hits Home" is now available to anyone who is interested in conserving energy and saving money in your own home. You may receive your copy from the office of any local realtor. I picked up a copy for myself and it contains a lot of useful information. I'm sure we will all benefit if we put the suggestions to use.

Boat costs affected by different inflation

A different type of inflation is making boats more expensive these days.

Boat Industry Association points out that part of the higher price tag is due to those traditional bugaboos, higher labor costs and more expensive raw materials, particularly petrochemicals. But soaring insurance premiums and the cost of compliance with new federal standards are rapidly becoming the biggest factors in boat price increases, a BIA spokesman observed.

"For the past year, boat manufacturers — as well as makers of other leisure equipment — have been getting jolted by notices of quantum jumps in their product liability insurance premiums. Increases of several thousand per cent have not been uncommon. In some cases there has been outright refusal of insurance companies to renew product liability coverage — at any price," noted Matt J. Kaufman, BIA president.

"Insurance companies are blaming the huge judgments against manufacturers in liability suits. They also blame unscrupulous lawyers who encourage consumers to file such suits. The lawyers deny the charges and contend that the insurance companies are using a relative handful of huge damage awards to justify higher rates. No matter who's using a relative handful of huge damage awards to justify higher rates.

No matter who's right, the customer winds up paying the bill. If the manufacturer can pay the premium, he simply adds it on to the price of the boat. The smaller manufacturer, on the other hand, might choose to risk doing business without insurance and close up shop at the first hint of a lawsuit. In this case, even the buyer with a legitimate claim won't be able to collect. Ultimately, this will lead to fewer boatbuilding jobs and decreased competition with resulting higher prices," Kaufman said.

He noted that BIA has joined with other leisure industry groups in urging product liability reform through legislation. "The way it stands now, a manufacturer can be sued for an alleged failure in a product built 30 years ago. Unless some reforms are enacted, we'll soon see insurance premiums making up more of the cost of a boat than materials and labor," Kaufman asserted.

"Ironically, the increasing damage suits and higher insurance premiums are coming at the same time as dramatic declines in the boating accident rate," he added.

A second major factor in increased boat prices is the cost of compliance with new federal boat construction standards. In its economic impact statement published with the new standards for fuel and electrical systems, for example, the Coast Guard estimates that compliance will result in consumer cost increases.

"Anyone who's bought a car in the past few years is probably conditioned to price increases like these. Passenger restraints, energy-absorbing bumpers and air pollution controls have added enormously to the cost of an automobile. We don't expect anything nearly that dramatic in the boat business. Some manufacturers were producing boats with level flotation for example, long before the feature was required by the Coast Guard," Kaufman observed.

No shortage of places to go fishing in state

Fishing is one of the easiest, most relaxing and most popular sports in Connecticut.

Fishermen may pursue such freshwater species as trout, bass, pickerel and shad, or take to the salt water for the seasonal excitement of bluefish and striped bass.

There's no shortage of places to go fishing in Connecticut. More than half of the state parks and forests are open for fishing, and there are scores of lakes, ponds, streams and rivers open.

If you're new to Manchester, here's a list of the most popular fishing spots in the area. The list is by no means complete.

- Bolton Lake, with access from Rt. 44A. Experts say it's best for small and large mouth bass.

- Bolton Notch Pond, at Bolton Notch. There are a lot of small fish, particularly bluegill and perch, and it's best for youngsters.

- Coventry Lake, reached from Rt. 31. Large mouth bass are plentiful.

- Crystal Lake, off Rt. 30 in Ellington and Stafford. It's good for trout and bass.

- Mansfield Hollow, off Rts. 89 and 195 in Mansfield. Large mouth bass and pickerel are found in great numbers.

- Walker's Reservoir, off Rt. 31 near the Wilbur Cross Highway in Vernon. It's one of some 250 lakes, ponds and streams stocked with trout.

- Mashapaug Pond in Union, off Rt. 171 near the Massachusetts state line.

Mashapaug holds the state record for small and large mouth bass.

- Williams Pond on Rt. 207 in Lebanon. Again, small and large mouth bass are found.

- Moodus Reservoir off Rt. 66 in East Hampton. A variety of fish.

- Gardner Lake, off Rt. 54 in Salem. Large and Small mouth bass are best.

- Hop River, near Rt. 6 through Andover and Columbia, stocked with trout.

- Scantic River in East Windsor and Podunk River in South Windsor, relatively small rivers, both stocked with trout.

- Farmington River, through Granby and Windsor. One of the best-stocked trout streams.

- Mt. Hope River and Natchaug River, both emptying into Mansfield Hollow. Both good for trout.

- Last but not least on our select list, the Connecticut River. It's said to be the best in the U.S. for shad during the April-to-June season. It's possible to find anything there, though. The closest places for access are in East Hartford, Glastonbury and Rocky Hill.

Open fishing season in Connecticut runs from the third Saturday in April to the end of February, but some species close at the end of October.

Resident fishing licenses, available in town clerk's offices and selected sporting goods shops, cost $4.35.

Boats wait in line along East Hartford shore of Connecticut River during last year's East Hartford Marine Classic. This year's event, sponsored by the East Hartford Jaycees, is scheduled for June 18 and 19. (Herald photo by Dunn)

East Hartford Jaycees plan 'Marine Classic'

The East Hartford Jaycees will sponsor the third annual East Hartford Marine Classic June 18 and 19 on the Connecticut River.

The event has drawn thousands of spectators who view the races from the river banks.

It will be from noon to 5 p.m. both days. Boat owners enter the race at the waterfront park off Pitkin St. near the Founders Bridge.

The Yankee Power Boat Racing Association will run the race. The American Power Boat Association sanctioned it, meaning winners get points in national competitions.

Proceeds from the races go towards Jaycee charities and programs. Jaycees prepare a program book with ads which they sell. They also staff some of the concession stands.

The Special Olympics will also benefit from the event's proceeds, said Jim DeWitt of the local racing association.

The classic features races between classes of inboard and outboard hydroplanes. Some reach speeds of more than 100 miles an hour.

Most of the racers are from the East Coast, many from this region.

The classes and facts about each are:

- "A" Outboard Hydro —powered by highly modified König or Quincey-Mercury engines not exceeding 15.2 cubic inches. Straightaway record is 91 m.p.h.

- "C" Outboard Hydro —powered by highly modified König, Crescent or Quincey-Mercury engines not exceeding 30.5 cubic inches. Straightaway record is 104 m.p.h.

- "C" Racing Runabout —same power plant as above but on a runabout hull. Straightaway record is 90 m.p.h.

- "F" Racing Runabout —a most popular class because it is the only outboard class that carries a deck rider besides the driver. Maximum engine is 67.1 cubic inches. Straightaway record is 96 m.p.h.

- "C" Modified Hydro —powered by a modified Mercury not over 30 cubic inches. Uses pump gas only. Straightaway speed is 75 m.p.h.

- 145 Inboard Hydroplane —powered by a 4-cylinder stock automotive engines, usually Pinto and Falcon. Straightaway record is 104 m.p.h.

- 280 Inboard Hydroplane —powered by stock automotive engines, usually 265-cubic inch Chevrolet and 273 Chrysler. Straightaway record is 119 m.p.h.

- 850 Inboard Hydroplane combined with 72 Inboard Hydroplane —powered by foreign automotive engines, usually Sunbeam, Datsun, or Toyota. Straightaway speed is 80 m.p.h.

- SK Inboard Runabout combined with SS Inboard Runabout —the most spectacular class scheduled. SKs are powered by modified auto engines up to 400 cubic inches. SSs are powered by stock engines not over 427 cubic inches. Hulls are fiberglass. Speed record is 121 m.p.h.

Each race consists of two heats, three laps, each of a mile and two-thirds oval course.

Prizes supplied by the Jaycees include money, trophies and boat products. Winners also get points for national standings.

Bill Logozzo, winner of the SK race in 1975 and 1976, will race again. The West Hartford man is president of the Nutmeg Chrome Co. of West Hartford.

All of the jobs done to run the classic are filled by volunteers, said DeWitt, an Ellington resident. Jobs include divers, fire fighters, inspectors, time keepers and many more.

Weather is the key to camping vacation

By EARL YOST

Weather conditions always play a big part in any vacation. Actually, weather is the key.

For many, after spending 50 weeks behind a machine in the shop or sitting behind the desk in an office, a two-week camping vacation is the only thing to do to get out into the fresh air and enjoy the sunshine.

Full cooperation from the weatherman is necessary for the perfect camping vacation. But then, nothing is perfect and anyone who gets 14 consecutive days of warmth and sunshine without any rain or cold weather can get down and thank his lucky stars.

Anyone who camps, especially tent campers — and there are still a number although the figure is getting smaller with each passing season — takes a chance.

One summer, a family of four was able to get into Nickerson State Park on Cape Cod for two weeks. Would you believe that it rained off and on for two solid weeks, with only a few rays of sunshine breaking through?

Finally, on the final day, the Manchester family had its thoroughly wet camping gear and damp clothing all packed and ready for the trip home when the sun came out. It was a beautiful day all the way home.

Inexperienced campers should be aware of drawbacks when the weather is wet.

A flap sufficient to cover the eating area is a must. It would be wise, also, to have an extra flap to go over the top of the tent for two reasons — for protection against heavy rain and to help cool the tent during the day when the sun is at its hottest.

During a wet spell, not only does camp equipment get damp, but also clothing. Enough clothes should be kept in a dry area, like the station wagon or car.

Raincoats are a must and you'll be surprised how many times they come in handy.

Provisions should be made to entertain children during periods when they can't get outside to play. It would be wise to include a few table games when packing, just in case they are needed for such an emergency.

In certain northern camping areas, showers have been known to fall every day, usually in late afternoon, and unless tent supplies are under cover many could get drenched and in the case of food, destroyed.

Everyone dreams of that perfect camping trip — but you need perfect weather for that experience which few realize.

Gasoline tanks used on outboard boats should always be removed from the boat when refilling, to prevent spills into the hull.

Proper personal flotation devices (life jackets) must be provided on all boats. How many? One for each person on board.

Fire extinguisher should be stored next to the galley, just in case. Other good places: in the forward cabin and engine compartment.

Vent pipe is pointed out in engine compartment. The Coast Guard requires ventilation of all engine and fuel compartments.

Groups work to inform of pleasure boat safety

This year by presidential proclamation, National Safe Boating Week is designated July 3 to July 9. With the growing thousands of pleasure boaters taking over our waters, along with a steadily increasing accident rate, an all-out effort is made each year by interested organizations to remind boaters of safe boating procedures.

In this area, the Manchester Power Squadron and the Coast Guard Auxiliary conduct safety inspections on request. The inspections include close examination of safety equipment that should be on all boats.

In addition, both the United States Power Squadron and the Coast Guard Auxiliary conduct basic boating courses for the public each year. These courses are given in various locations in the Connecticut.

For information about the Manchester Power Squadron, phone Eugene Blackwell at 644-1686. For information about the Coast Guard Auxiliary, phone Thomas Mannix at 249-8601, extension 510.

Check tire pressures on RVs

The call of the open road is ringing out across the United States as many of the nation's 5.8 million recreational vehicles crank up for another vacation season.

Because recreational vehicles (RVs) may have been out of service for most of the winter, and because they are used most frequently during the hot, summer months, proper care and maintenance of tires are especially important, the Tire Industry Safety Council advises.

"The most critical factors are proper tire selection, proper inflation pressures for the load carried and the need to observe maximum load and inflation limits," said Council Chairman Malcolm R. Lovell Jr.

Lovell advises RV owners to check trailer weights, load distribution and tire wear and inflation pressure at the start of a trip.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration warns that serious accidents can occur because of failure of travel-trailer suspensions systems due to overloading and improper load distribution.

The NHTSA also said its studies indicate that 59 per cent of trailers carry tire pressure below the recommended maximum, and 34 per cent were loaded beyond the rated capacity of the trailer suspension systems.

"Underinflated or overloaded tires build up heat which can cause tire disintegration," Lovell said. "Many RV drivers mistakenly overinflate their tires to handle heavy loads, but inflation beyond the safe limit is no substitute for the proper tires for the weight you want to carry."

"Refer to the vehicle manufacturer's recommendations in the owner's manual or placard affixed to the vehicle for tire and load information," Lovell said. "The only sure way to prevent overload is to weigh, axle by axle, the fully loaded vehicle on reliable platform scales," he said.

Such scales may be found at highway weighing stations, building supply firms, coal yards, scrap yards and similar businesses.

The Tire Industry Safety Council also offers these tips for RV owners:

- Carry a good, properly inflated spare tire. Don't get stuck off the beaten path without a spare that you can use as a replacement.
- Watch for excessive wear and overheating in smaller trailer tires. They can turn up to 80 per cent more revolutions per mile than larger tires on the towing vehicle. Overheating is one indication of overload or underinflation.
- If one tire requires a lot more air than the others, look for a possible leak, bent rim or a cracked valve stem.
- Inflation pressures should be checked when tires are cold. Heat generated during driving temporarily increases air pressure, possible 10 to 20 per cent above the recommended cold inflation pressure. Never bleed hot tires.

"The important thing is to make sure the tires are correctly inflated at the start of the trip and are rechecked periodically when they are cold," Lovell said.

Wildlife camp set for youths

Wildlife Camps and Environmental Adventures, two National Wildlife Federation outdoor education programs held in the scenic Blue Ridge Mountains of North Carolina, are being offered to youths up to the age of 16 for the summer months of 1977.

The Wildlife Camp program, now in its seventh year, offers a blend of educational and camping activities on 1,300 acres near Hendersonville, N.C. It is open to young people 8 to 12 years old.

Wildlife Camp activities include hiking on scenic trails in forests, use of freshwater streams and spring-fed lake as an outdoor laboratory for environmental learning.

A 12-day backpacking trip through the Blue Ridge Mountains is offered to youths 13 to 16 in the nonprofit federation's other outdoor education for young people, Environmental Adventures.

Details may be obtained by writing to: National Wildlife Federation, Department CS-4, 1412 16th St. N.W., Washington, D.C.

Camping shows planned

A fall camping show will be inaugurated by the North American Family Campers Association (NAFCA) in October.

Prompted by the successful February show at the Northeast Trade Center in Woburn, Mass., NAFCA plans to hold a similar show this Oct. 13-16.

The emphasis at this show will be on winter camping and related outdoor activities.

NAFCA, a nonprofit campers association, will hold a backpacking and hiking show Feb. 18-20, 1978. NAFCA's regular camping show will be Feb. 4-12, 1978.

Too many camping shows? "Not at all," according to show committee chairman Dick Parker of Amesbury, Mass.

Fish wake up hungry

Anglers have known for years that fishing is usually best early in the morning and again late in the evening through the early dark hours. But have you ever wondered why fish feed more actively at these times?

The most common reason is that they're hungry! Like people, fish have periods of the day when they want to eat. Then, with their hunger satisfied, they rest—or at least they don't feed—until they get hungry again.

Being hungry at dawn and then again at dusk is more than a fad with fish, according to the experts. It's actually a conditioned response to natural factors which make feeding at those times of day easier and more beneficial to the fish. Just as you would find it difficult to prepare a meal in total darkness, so fish find it more to their liking to feed when they can see.

Fish actually have two kinds of cells in their eyes which respond to light. One, cone cells, are used during daylight, while the other, rod cells, are used at night. The position of these cells within the eye is controlled by the amount of light entering the water. The cells are most responsive and fish have their best vision during periods of marginal light. Therefore, they feed mostly at dawn and dusk, times when they have the best advantage over their prey.

Why don't fish feed more during the day? Biologists have learned that it takes five or six hours for a fish to digest the food in its stomach, and then a few more hours before the fish starts to get hungry again. So anglers can expect about half a day to pass between active feeding periods for most freshwater fish.

Call 'em fisherladies

A lot of changes have occurred in the outdoor scene. One of the most impressive—in terms of its impact—has been the increased interest of women in fishing and camping, traditionally male-oriented outdoor activities.

Fishing tackle manufacturers are beginning to cater especially to women with such items as pastel-colored fishing rods and special versions of fishing reels.

Women aren't new to fishing. In fact, for years they have competed right alongside men for saltwater fish records and now hold more than 100 such titles in one of the major saltwater record-fish associations. But they are also competing together in freshwater fishing, with past tournaments held in Florida and Texas, and the promise of more in other areas.

Another interesting sidelight about women anglers: Fishing guides report that the women are better anglers than men because they listen well and follow instructions carefully.

So, guys, no matter what you call 'em—fisherwomen, fisherpersons, fisherladies or simply anglers—it looks as though women have made their mark in the outdoors and will be around for a long time. Just don't let them outfish you!

Boat family

The National Association of Engine and Boat Manufacturers has announced a nationwide search for the 1977 "Boating Family of the Year."

The family being sought is distinguished from others by the totality of their boating experience.

The winners will receive a trip to the New York Boat Show and a $2,100 cash prize.

Extra help

A new concept in protection for the family camper has been developed by a new Nevada company, The Outdoor Traveler of 700 E. Glendale Ave., Sparks, Nev. 89431.

The benefits of membership include a variety of insurance-type services, an emergency toll-free message center, mail forwarding and around-the-clock reservations service.

New York fishing

New, three-day non-resident fishing licenses are now on sale in New York State.

The cost for the short-term license is $5.50. A seven-day fishing license costs $10.25 and the season-long non-resident license costs $17.25.

New York's license year runs from Oct. 1 through Sept. 30.

Forest campsites

Public campsites in the Catskill and Adirondack Forest Preserves of New York will open for the season May 27.

Sites are available on a first-come, first-served basis, and by reservation. In New York, reservations can be made through Ticketron.

Canoe camping

"Canoe Camping on Vermont and NH Rivers" is being published this month by the New Hampshire Publishing Co.,

Somersworth, N.H. 03878.

The book is a guide to more than 600 miles of rivers, through some of New England's most unspoiled countryside along riverside villages. It includes maps, photos, summary tables and comments on campsites, fishing spots, picnic areas, hikes and historical sites.

Adventure school

The Hurricane Island Outward Bound School is still enrolling students for its fall courses.

The nonprofit organization, based in Maine, offers a variety of educational experiences. With a few skills taught by instructors (and with safety supervision), students explore navigation problems, rock climbing, living alone on an island for three days, and expeditioning in open boats.

To learn more, contact the school at Box 429, Rockland, Maine 04841.

Sunglasses needed

Almost as important as your outdoor adventure gear is your sunglasses.

According to experts, outdoor light, especially around water and beaches, can be as much as 20 times stronger than indoor light. Sunglasses should be selected to absorb at least 70 per cent of the light.

As for color, the most recommended are sage green or neutral gray. These colors are most compatible with the eye's visual system and produce very little color distortion.

Mystic sets special day

Free exhibits, demonstrations, field trips, boat trips and films, all related to man's many uses of coastal resources, will go on throughout Mystic on Coastal Awareness Day, June 11 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Most activities and an information center will be located at the Mystic Marine Aquarium parking area near Rt. 95, Exit 90.

For further information, contact Public Affairs, Mystic Seaport, Mystic, Conn. 06355, telephone 536-2631, extension 316.

Coastal Awareness Day activities have been cooperatively planned by the Coastal Area Management Program of the Connecticut Department of Environmental Protection, the Connecticut Audubon Society, Mystic Marine Aquarium, Mystic Seaport, Olde Mistick Village, the Southeastern Connecticut and Mystic Chambers of Commerce.

CB for campers

More and more RVers are becoming CBers, putting Citizen Band radios in their RVs (recreational vehicles) for help in driving and finding campsites. CB Channel 12 is becoming known as the "camper's channel." Many campgrounds have installed base stations.

Camping safety

Many of the injuries associated with outdoor activity involve the use of portable camping equipment—stoves and grills, catalytic heaters, lanterns and lamps, etc.

The most common hazard, according to the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, is inadvertent ignition of a fuel source. Other hazards: Contact with hot equipment, carbon monoxide poisoning, explosions of equipment and ignition of flammable vapors.

For further information, contact the National Injury Information Clearinghouse, U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, Room 323, 5401 Westbard Ave., Bethesda, Md. 20207.

Police report

East Hartford

Gregory U. Ratti, 23, of 34 Stanley St., East Hartford, was arrested today at 1:15 a.m. in the Governor St. area and charged with first-degree sexual assault.

The arrest followed a call from a 19-year-old woman to police. She said Ratti had just raped her. Police found Ratti at the scene. No other details were released by police.

Commander Joseph Leone said, "There is no evidence there is any connection between this incident and the others."

By "others" he meant a series of about five rapes of women in the apartments in the Burnside Ave. area in the past six months.

Ratti was being held on $20,000 surety bond this morning for appearance in Common Pleas Court 12.

Police said today they are still investigating a shooting incident which took place on Burnside Ave. at 10:37 p.m. Wednesday.

Two men in a Cadillac told police they were driving on Center St. in Manchester when the occupants of a Buick in front of them threw beer bottles at them. They chased the Buick into East Hartford and onto Burnside Ave.

A passenger in the Buick reached out his window and fired what sounded like a gun at the Cadillac, missing it, the Cadillac men said. The Buick pulled into the parking lot at Lindy's Restaurant. The Cadillac stopped on Burnside Ave. The Buick then roared back past the Cadillac while the passenger fired again.

This time the shots struck the Cadillac.

An attendant at the Gas Land station on Burnside Ave. saw the incident and called police.

Police found the Cadillac at Powder Mill Plaza. The occupants told police they had chased the Buick back towards I-86 where they had lost it.

The Cadillac had dents on its side leading police to suspect the shots were from an air gun.

David Beaupre, 8, of 21 Oliva Court, East Hartford, ran from 65 Forbes St. between two steam rollers parked on the curb and into the path of a school bus at 3:13 p.m. Thursday, police said.

The bus driver, Bertram R. Wolven, 56, of 285 Burnside Ave., braked and pulled to his left. But the boy ran into the right bumper and mirror.

David was taken to Hartford Hospital where he was treated for minor injuries and released.

A home on Oxford Dr. was broken into Thursday between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Two bikes valued at a total of $460 were reported missing from a locked rear porch.

Fast work saves five from blaze

By MAL BARLOW

East Hartford Reporter

Quick work by two East Hartford police officers appears to have saved the lives of five men living on the second floor of 27 Burnside Ave. after a fire started there Thursday night.

Officers Francis Malozzi and Jay Fornal were in a cruiser passing the wood frame building at 11:29 p.m. when Malozzi saw the fire, police said.

They called police headquarters. Headquarters used a special line direct to the fire department headquarters on Main St. The station dispatched Engine Cos. 1 and 2, Rescue 1, Ladder 3 and Car 3.

Meanwhile, Malozzi ran into the burning building to alert its residents, five boarders in five rooms on the second floor. He was soon joined in this by Fornal and Officer James Hankard.

They woke all five and helped them outside.

Deputy Fire Chief Tim Kelleher said his men arrived at the scene to see a brown smoke drifting across Burnside Ave. There were flames then pouring out of the bedroom windows on the east side of the building and climbing to the roof.

While several men connected hoses to the 500-gallon tank of a pumper, Kelleher sent fire fighters into the building to make sure no one had been missed. He soon learned from the police they had gotten out all persons known to be inside.

A close hydrant assured a steady supply of water, Kelleher said. But the smoke and heat was exhausting his men after a few minutes. He called a second alarm, bringing in Engine Co. 3 from the Burnside Ave. station along with five fresh men.

"We thought we had it under control once," he said this morning. "But then it mushroomed right up to the attic."

The 17 fire fighters then at the scene worked until after midnight before they got the fire fully under control, he said.

Despite climbing up and down ladders with gear and hoses, and despite swinging axes on the roof to open it up, no fire fighter was hurt. One man later banged his elbow rolling up used hose, Kelleher said.

The policemen first on the scene, Malozzi and Fornal, were both overcome by smoke. They were taken to Manchester Memorial Hospital where they were treated and released.

The building is owned by Al Prandini of Forbes St., the town's dog warden. He once ran an upholstery business on the first floor of 27 Burnside Ave. The business is still run there by others.

The fire is under investigation by Fire Marshal John Armstrong's office. No cause is listed so far, although the fire appears to have started in one of the upstairs bedrooms, said John Gorman, Armstrong's assistant.

In the police report submitted by Hankard, a member of the force for nearly three years, he said of Malozzi and Fornal, "I've never seen so much bravery as tonight."

Housing authority plans credit check of tenants

"We've had some bad experiences with recent tenants," said Ray Lavey, chairman of the East Hartford Housing Authority.

He was explaining the authority's concern for checking applicants to the town's 879 units of public housing.

The authority voted Thursday night to use the services of Capitol City Credit Co. in West Hartford. The firm will give the authority "pre-inspections" on prospective tenants.

said Nick Giamalis, executive director of the authority.

The cost is $7 per check, he said.

"This seems inexpensive if it prevents our accounts receivable list from growing and we get tranquil tenants."

Authority member John McNamara questioned the benefits of the checks.

"I no longer have any faith in credit reports," he said. "Creditors can't give out good or bad debt information without permission (from the debtor)."

The federal Fair Credit Reporting Act has caused the change, he said.

He also said he was once an apartment manager. The best way to get rid of a bad tenant is to give him a glowing reference, he said.

"This guy is beautiful, you'll love him," he said.

The authority decided to take a chance on the credit checks anyway.

Exchangettes honor outstanding students

The Exchangette Club of East Hartford Wednesday night presented awards to outstanding Grade 8 students in East Hartford schools at Willie's Steak House in Manchester.

Each student received dinner, a U.S. Savings Bond and the award.

Top winner was Scott Saunders of the Pitkin School. His principal, Miss Helen Jeffrey, accepted a plaque given the school in his name.

Other winners and their schools are: Leila Bradley of St. Christopher, Mary Jo Donovan of St. Rose, Mary Flynn of Center School, Jane Fraga of Hockanum, Barbara Gargano of Sunset Ridge, Allison Kirwin of O'Connell and Deborah Linder of O'Brien.

The Exchangettes choose the winners with these guidelines: An honor student who exemplifies a typical, well-rounded youth, service to school and community, leadership and ability. Awards committee members are Marilyn MacDonald, Caroline Burnham, and Sandy Lembo.

Sam Leone, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of instruction, was the guest speaker.

Other Exchangette work includes: Meals-on-wheels, YWCA campership, Bingo at Burnside Convalescent Home, cheer projects for Manchester Memorial Hospital, creating a minipark in East Hartford's center, donations to town charities, and the annual Exchangette Award. The club has 21 members.

Correction

There will not be any roller skating at the St. Mary's School Hall Saturday. The notice about the skating in The Herald Thursday was incorrect.

Bolton planning unit opposes zone change

The Bolton Planning Commission has unanimously agreed that it would not be advisable for the Zoning Commission to grant a zone change from residential to business on property at 51 West St. owned by Frances Halston.

Mrs. Halston is requesting the change to expand an existing antique shop and have a tea room.

Planning Commission members felt the zone change would not be in harmony with the town plan and they questioned the size of the lot. They were told it was three acres, but their information says it is only one and a quarter acres.

The Zoning Commission will conduct a public hearing June 1 at 8 p.m. at the Community Hall to consider the change.

A public hearing held by the Planning Commission Wednesday to discuss a proposed subdivision was not attended by the public.

Ernest Reed is proposing a 17-lot subdivision, Westridge, on Tinker Pond Rd. The subdivision will have one new road, now unnamed.

Commission members felt a reserve strip should be planned in case the back land is ever developed. The commission approved the preliminary map. It anticipates the final map will be presented at its June meeting.

The Zoning Commission reviewed the map and said it met all zoning requirements.

At its meeting Wednesday, the Zoning Commission agreed to obtain a legal opinion from Jerome Walsh, town counsel, as to the status of a driveway permit issued recently to Alan Robbins.

The permit was issued to Robbins by Donato Rattazzi, town foreman, for a lot on Rolling Hills Trail.

A group of Rolling Hills Trail residents objected to the permit, alleging the driveway will be used for two residences.

Walsh will be asked whether state statutes or local zoning regulations prohibit the use of a portion of a lot as a right-of-way to serve as a driveway for access to two residences without street frontage.

Members of the Rolling Hills family asked the commission for permission to build an addition to a garage on North Rd., which is unaccepted street.

Because of its being an undersized lot, a variance from the Zoning Board of Appeals will have to be obtained.

Bulletin board

It was incorrectly reported in Wednesday's Herald that the cost to pave Tunxis Trail would be $60,000. The actual estimated cost is $6,000. It is anticipated the paving will get underway immediately.

The Democratic Town Committee will meet tonight at 8 at the Community Hall.

CRCOG plans talks on region land use

Views on the future land use development pattern in the Capitol Region and its implications on area towns will be discussed at a meeting in Vernon's Memorial Building June 1 at 7:30 p.m.

The meeting will be conducted by the Regional Planning Commission of the Capitol Region Council of Governments (CRCOG). People from Vernon, Ellington and Tolland are invited to attend.

The meeting will be informal and there will be a slide presentation to explore the functional planning areas of housing, transportation, economic development, open space and land use.

The regional commission has developed a preliminary series of goals and policy statements which will serve as a guide in developing the Regional Land Use Plan.

The commission said the revised policies and plans will be used to review local applications for federal and state funding in the three towns, as well as zoning and subdivision referrals.

The commission said it feels that the local planning process is the regional plan and policies is of the utmost importance.

Some of the major issues addressed by the commission include:

- Preservation of at least the current amount of food supportive agricultural land.
- Acquisition and preservation of open space areas along major rivers to provide shoreline access.
- Development of concentrated centers of mixed land use along major transportation corridors.
- Expansion of overall transit ridership.
- Maintenance of at least the current level of public transit for the transit dependent.

Mrs. Funk honored by Coventry Jaycees

Coventry Jaycees presented their annual Citizen of the Year Award to Fran Funk at their installation banquet and awards night.

Mrs. Funk was the unanimous choice of the three judges: Sheila Keim, president of the Junior Women's Club, Frank Comolly, town manager, and the Rev. Robert Bechtold.

VFW post elects officers

The following officers were appointed by the new president: Linda West, secretary; Diane Switzer, quartermaster; Robert Planders, chaplain; George Bardons, post advocate; Charles Birt, surgeon; and Philip Martin, Richard Fleming, and Frederick Gleim, trustees. Birt was appointed adjutant by Hooper.

The joint installation ceremonies will be Saturday at the Post Home on Tolland Stage, followed by a buffet and dancing.

Both organizations are making plans for a Memorial Day Service on Tolland Stage, May 30 at 2 p.m. Earlier in the day the Post Color Guard and members and the Auxiliary Drill Team Color Guard will participate in the Vernon parade. Gold Star Mothers, Mrs. Anna Polinski and Mrs. Frances LeBlond are expected to participate along with this year's Poppy Queen, Billie Jo Shields and Poppy King, Gene Wheelock Jr.

Getting instructions

Specialist Cathy Weidner of Vernon is receiving instructions on a mobile radio from her battalion commander. A full-time Guard technician, she is currently on two weeks of maneuvers with the 242nd Engineer Battalion of the Connecticut Army National Guard at Fort Devens, Mass.

The St. Maurice Church Knights of Columbus will have their annual sports award dinner June 9 at 6:30 p.m. at the Parish Center. The event is co-sponsored by the Bolton Women's Club. For tickets, call Thomas Sheridan, 646-6619.

Patricia Narasavage has been elected president of the Bolton Woman's Club for 1977-78. Other officers elected were Nancy Fish, vice-president; Marge Klar, recording secretary; Marilyn Vatteroni, secretary; Cathy Sprecher, assistant treasurer; and Joan Morra, nominating chairman. The officers' meeting will be held at the club's banquet May 26 at Fiano's Restaurant.

The Bolton Woman's Club conservation committee will have a plant and bake sale Saturday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Bolton Notch shopping center. Plants from members' gardens, as well as commercially grown plants and home baked goods, will be available. Proceeds will finance future conservation projects.

Shawn J. Flaherty, 16, of Williamantic, was charged Thursday with driving while under the influence of liquor or drugs, using a motor vehicle without the owner's permission, and driving without a license.

He was involved in a one-car accident on Rt. 275. Police said he was driving from one side of the road to the other and struck a tree. He is to appear in court in Rockville June 3.

South Windsor

South Windsor Police Chief John Kerrigan said his department is still tying up loose ends and waiting for the report of the medical examiner in the case of the death of two South Windsor residents.

June A. Foster, 52, of 128 Kelly Rd., South Windsor and Raymond E. Foster Sr., 50, of 64 Syracuse St., East Hartford were found dead in the Kelly Rd. home Wednesday night.

Chief Kerrigan said Thursday that preliminary indications were that Mrs. Foster shot her husband and then herself. He said he did not suspect that anyone else was involved in the incident.

The bodies were taken to Hartford Hospital for post-mortem examination and Chief Kerrigan is awaiting the results of that report.

Reading program completed

Pleasant Valley School's year-long reading program culminated with a reading festival this week.

Included in the festival, which was held Wednesday and Thursday, was an evening program featuring the sixth grade play, entitled "A Literary Nightmare."

"We are proud of the special projects the students in our school have done and would enjoy sharing them with others," said Reading Consultant Renate Rioux.

"Our goal at Pleasant Valley School this year has been to promote an interest and love for books and reading," said Mrs. Rioux, "and the children on every grade level have worked on special projects to discover the excitement and adventure in reading."

Winners of the Theme Contest held in conjunction with the festival are Grade 1, Cindy Cohen; Grade 2, Danny Lane; Grade 3, Sue LeBlanc; Grade 4, Dawn Reilly; Grade 5, Kristin Luscia and Grade 6, Gordon Hargrove.

Area police report

Vernon

The Special Services Unit of the Vernon Police Department is conducting an investigation into the death of a six-year-old Vernon girl.

The child, Sharyn Weirs, 6, of 83 High St., died at St. Francis Hospital early Thursday morning after being transferred there from Rockville General Hospital.

The child reportedly fell from her bicycle but the incident was not reported to Vernon Police.

Brenda Cote, 17, of 15 Gem Dr., Vernon, was charged Thursday with fourth-degree larceny on a complaint of the Clothes Corner at Vernon Circle. Court date is June 8 in Rockville.

Edson Bristol, 23, of 46 Mountain St., Rockville, was charged Thursday with breach of peace in connection with a disturbance at his home. He was released for appearance in court in Rockville June 8.

Mrs. Worthen seeks top GOP post

Referring to the Watergate scandal, Mrs. Worthen said the Republican party suffered quite a blow. But she said the town went Republican last year, showing the Republican party held its own in Vernon.

Mrs. Worthen made her announcement at a press conference at the Connecticut Education Association.

Miss Rothe said she feels strongly that the Republican party must get away from the elitist image it seems to have and should reach out to the youth and the senior citizens because they all have something to offer.

She said she feels Mrs. Worthen will lead the party the way "I would like it led."

Jon Paul Roden, who said he is probably the newest member of the town committee, said he has not been exposed to inner politics but has followed Mrs. Worthen's work on the school board and sees her as an intensely interested and able to make rational judgments.

Miss Worthen and her husband Samuel live on Brimwood Dr. and have four children, Christopher, 18; Joseph, 17; David, 13; and Rachel, 8.

Attorney answers Vernon fund question

Unexpended or unencumbered funds at the end of the fiscal year in Vernon's Capital Improvement budget will lapse and revert to the General Fund.

This is the finding of Town Atty. Martin B. Burke. Burke was asked by the Town Council as to whether it could encumber, at the end of a fiscal year, any balance left in the Capital Improvement budget, thereby preventing the funds from reverting to the General Fund.

In his answer, Atty. Burke quoted from the Town Charter, which states that appropriations for construction or for other permanent improvements, from whatever source derived, "shall not lapse until the purpose for which the appropriation was made shall have been accomplished or abandoned."

A project is deemed abandoned if three fiscal years have elapsed without any expenditure from or encumbrance of the appropriation.

"Any portion of an annual appropriation remaining unexpended and unencumbered at the close of the budget year shall lapse," the charter states.

To clean graffiti

The Vernon Town Council voted Tuesday night to spend $50 to remove graffiti from inside the tower at Fox Hill in Henry Park.

Because of the height of the tower and the need to use special equipment and acids, it is necessary to have a specialist do the work. This will be the Rudder Building Service.

The town and the Vernon Jaycees and other groups have done a lot of work to get the tower in shape so visitors may be allowed inside.

The Board of Education has a small machine to remove graffiti from school property and the town has used it to clean the outside of the tower. It does not serve the purpose to do the high inside areas, however.

The town hopes to open the tower soon and to have the picnic area around it used.

South Windsor looks at I-park traffic impact

The plan includes alteration of the Pleasant Valley Rd.-Wheeler Rd. intersection, he said.

Commission members also suggested that serious efforts be made to increase mass transit service to the industrial park.

Nancy Caffyn, commission chairman, also asked why South Windsor had not been consulted before the park plan was developed.

She mentioned to Lamson that Manchester worked closely with those residents who would neighbor the park.

"We are Manchester's neighbors. It's too bad that we didn't have some input into this," she said.

She pointed out that several state agencies have been involved in developing the park plans.

"A state project should encompass all the towns involved. The roads don't end at the end of the map (of the park)," she said.

The proposed plan for I-291 was also discussed by the commission. Lamson said the highway would cut about 20 acres from the west side of the park and would include an entrance and exit near the park for eastbound traffic. No such ramping, however, would be provided near the park for westbound traffic, he said.

Members of the commission plan to continue studying the effect of I-

291 on the area. A letter from Paul A. Martin, a N. King St. resident and member of the South Windsor Farms Association, was presented to the commission. Martin raised several questions about the proposed highway, including the effect on agriculture, noise levels and air quality.

Mrs. Caffyn said that some of the questions raised by Martin should have been considered before the town council voted to support I-291.

Speaking to Councilman Raymond Dankel, who attended the meeting, she said, "You just hung your hat on a solution to all our problems. I don't think that's true."
