A note of caution

Congratulations are in order to the Connecticut General Assembly for enacting the so-called "quits and fires" unemployment compensation reform bills and to Gov. Ella Grasso for signing into law despite pressure from organized labor.

However, a note of caution must be voiced.

The tightening of unemployment eligibility in the case of "quits and fires" isn't of itself going to bail Connecticut out of its huge debt to the federal government for past unemployment benefits. As soon as the economy improves substantially, the business community and the legislature ought to address the problem of an orderly retirement of this debt so the unemployment fund is made solvent. This is not only good for business but for the workers covered by the act.

While we do not believe the extravagant claims made by organized labor during the debate on the bills, it would be wise for employers to exercise restraint in their usage of the new acts.

After all, it has been a long struggle to eliminate this tax policy toward "quits and fires" in this state, which gave our state a competitive advantage over us. It would be foolish if the new acts were in judiciously used so as to provide a case for organized labor to seek their repeal in the next session.

Those of us, who favored the legislation as a matter of simple justice, should let our representatives know we appreciated their vote for the bills, if they did so, and especially Gov. Grasso for signing it despite the continuing threats from certain quarters that she will pay for it at the polls if she should seek re-election.

We think the bills and Gov. Grasso's endorsement of them is a good, strong message to out-of-state businessmen that we are serious about improving the business climate in Connecticut. It is a message that needs repeating if we are to rebuild a strong economy to reduce unemployment to a minimum in the future.

Vandalism deplored

To whom it may concern: As a taxpayer in Manchester, I am concerned with the vandalism that is occurring at the schools. An example is just last Thursday, May 12, morning a crew of four men had finished six days of work erecting a fence 9-feet x180-feet long at the rear of Iling Junior High.

On Friday morning, May 13, 90 feet of the fence had been torn down. Now the vandals had to cut the wire with wire cutters to start; the poles that run through the posts were also removed. Now is this type of vandalism necessary?

Extra men were put on the fence detail Friday and the fence put up again. Some time between Sunday morning and Monday morning, May 16, the fence was again taken down. Someone, somewhere must know who is doing this for there are tools being used.

I have read letters about the condition of the various schools, but wonder just how many parents realize how destructive the children are that are attending these schools. Not all are, however. There are barrels all over the school yards for any rubbish that the children have to dispose of, yet everyday a crew of men have to pick up beer bottles, paper of all kinds and cans of all sorts just tossed aside some landing right beside a barrel. There are many needless hours spent picking up debris at every school including the high.

It brings to mind the slogan "Do you know where your children are tonight?" I wonder how many know or care where they are and what they are up to.

Sincerely, Norman O. LaRose 53 Birch St. Manchester

Deplores MHS letter

To the editor, I had the occasion last Saturday to visit the rear of the high school. The specific area just outside the cafeteria. The area was littered with cigarette butts by the thousands, empty milk cartons, paper cups, etc. I am not blaming the Maintenance Department, they didn't put it there. Can't we teach young adults to clean up after themselves? I wonder if the increase in the budget is giving the taxpayer the quality education they promised. Could not the seniors monitor the upkeep of the area as a program to replace one of the unnecessary special programs they now have? I will be waiting for Mr. Kennedy's reply in The Herald as soon as possible. (This condition exists in disgraceful) John F. McVeigh 257 Spruce St. Manchester

Today's thought

An elderly woman was carrying a large bag of groceries which caused her to stop frequently to rest. A young boy came up to her and smilingly, took hold of one of the bag's handles. The old woman was able to walk with greater ease because someone was kind enough to share the load she carried. And so it is with our every-day lives and the cares that each day brings. Our cares would be so much easier if only there were someone who would help us to carry our burdens.

care that seems so great because we carry it alone. You will find his promise in Matthew 11:28-30. "Come to me all you labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you, and learn from me, for I am gentle and lowly in heart, and you will find rest for your souls. For my yoke is easy and my burden is light." If you have a problem today which seems too heavy to bear alone, why don't you take our Lord at His word and ask Him to help you carry it? He waits daily to help us all if we but turn to Him. Mrs. Josephine Soucier Metcalf Rd. Tolland

An owlsh editor's notebook

By FLOYD LARSON

The President sacked a general the other day for meddling in the nation's foreign policy. Now he might get somewhere if he could muzzle a few senators.

Another interesting thing about the flap between Carter and the general is that no one raised the cry that Carter was trying to stifle dissent in the Defense Department, something Republican presidents get accused of every time they try to tell generals what the policy is going to be.

Of course the reason the South Koreans want American troops in their country is not that they can't take care of themselves, but because they know that any American caught in the crossfire between the two Koreas will be cause for U.S. intervention. They can't say "My big brother can lick you big brother" if big brother isn't nearby.

Carter is right though, generals have no business propagandizing for the South Korean government. Lord knows, we probably have enough congressmen being paid to do that.

An interesting thing about the new tax bill is the attempt being made by Congress to eliminate the tax break that a single person had over a married couple. It seems that some couples were getting divorced so they could file tax returns as individuals and save money enough to pay for the splitting and a vacation in the Caribbean while they were getting it.

Congress may have taken the profit out of living in sin, but not the fun.

The report that the new tax law provides for a form which calculates your tax at a glance should be labeled with a health warning. We don't know how many of us could stand to find out our tax bill instantly after only three years of having warmed up to it with a page or two of mathematical calculations.

We are reminded about the perennial oldie about tax forms. The shortest one on record is the one which asked three questions: How much did you earn? How much do you have left? How come?

While on the subject of taxes, isn't it kind of strange that one of the state's newest industries - dog racing - is about to get a tax break rather easily, while traditional, long-time businesses have to fight tooth and nail for crumbs?

It seems that the sale of the presidential yacht Sequoia has hit a snag. The Navy apparently forgot to clear the sale with the Interior Department which has control over historic artifacts among other things.

Ah, for the lazy, lazy days of summer - especially those of years ago when Presidents would cruise down the Potomac River on the Sequoia. But no more, Carter ordered it sold as we have noted. But that doesn't mean ex-Navy man Carter is going to be a landlubber. Come Friday he will go to sea aboard the nuclear attack submarine Los Angeles, accompanied by Adm. Hyman Rickover, the father of nuclear subs and a Carter hero dating from his Navy days.

We were told the reason for selling the Sequoia was that it cost $800,000 a year to maintain. We can't help but wonder what sub cruises are going for these days.

Corrupt special: Something to think about if you plan to drive during the holiday weekend ahead. It takes about 2,000 bolts to hold a car together, but only one loose nut to scattered it all over the highway.

Stench won't go away: Moreover, there is a stench at the administration's presentation of its proposal that won't go away. Craig Donato, chief of the Justice Department's election unit of its criminal division, wrote a memo a couple of months ago opposing the bill "as a dangerous relaxation of what precious few safeguards presently exist against abuse of the franchise."

It is a bumper: As Congress wrestles with this mess, its members might profitably consider the judgment of the Heritage Foundation, a public policy research outfit which has prepared a lengthy study of the bill. The study gives both sides of the argument, then concludes: "The Carter plan would make vote fraud easier, impose a massive administrative burden on local officials, and make inevitable a dramatic increase in contested election outcomes (and) by the electoral process, the proposal would heighten the popular spirit of cynicism, distrust and alienation from politics."

In short, H.R. 5400 is a bumper. Registering names in some Elysian graveyard, the late Boston Mayor Jim Curley may have passed to tip his hat to Jimmy Carter, a politician who thinks big.

Compulsory schooling: More than 75 per cent said required school attendance until age 16 was a worthwhile government restriction "needed to protect society as a whole," almost 57 per cent placed the mandatory 55-miles-per-hour speed limit in that category and a surprising 45 per cent endorsed handgun control on those grounds.

That's probably because the typical businessman places a high premium on education, seldom needs to speed on the highway and is quite willing to subordinate the constitutional language about "the right of the people to keep and bear arms" his belief that handguns are tools of robbers, burglars and other criminals.

But, wage laws... But fewer than 31 per cent of those polled believed minimum wage laws were "needed to protect society as a whole." Is there not a direct relationship between that view and the fact that minimum wage laws can restrict business profits?

Rickey talked, in his speech, about the need to identify and support "theologians of freedom." The business community does indeed need someone to espouse to coherent philosophy on its behalf because the survey results suggest that the current rhetoric represents little more than the promotion of selfish interests in the ill-fitting disguise of "constitutional rights."

PZC decides not to alter town carnival ordinance

The Manchester Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC) Monday night took no action on a change in the regulations governing carnivals, a move that could jeopardize future affairs such as the Parkade Carnival.

Town Counsel Victor I. Moses issued a ruling last month that said town ordinances appear to prohibit such an event. He did permit the carnival to be held this year, saying that the Parkade was acting under an "established precedent" that permitted the chief of police to issue them a permit for the event.

But, Moses suggested that a change be made in the town ordinance to permit carnivals and to establish "certain restrictions and requirements to insure a safe and clean operation."

Town Planner Alan Lamson presented the matter to the PZC Monday night, but the commission preferred to take no action on the matter.

School census is completed: The annual Manchester School Census has been completed.

If you have not been contacted by your area census taker, and have anyone residing in your home born between Jan. 1, 1974 and Dec. 31, 1976, please notify Youth Services, 646-6500.

The Youth Service Department is counting everyone born between those dates. This includes children currently in school, preschool children, anyone who has quit school or graduated, those working, unemployed, in the service, or in college.

Connecticut State Law requires residents to give this information annually for a more accurate count.

Honored for service: Mrs. Marie Cheney, seated right, and Mrs. Bernice Tierney, both charter members of the board of directors of Manchester Homecare Services, Inc., were recently presented with plaques for their service by Joseph Swenson, seated, president of the board.

Keeping Connecticut Green: United Technologies spends a pile of money in Connecticut. That's only natural, since we're the state's biggest industrial operation and its largest employer.

We pump more than $1 billion directly into Connecticut's economy every year. For a perspective on that sum, consider that the state's operating budget for the current fiscal year is $1.8 billion.

Our 1976 expenditures break down to an average weekly outlay of nearly $25 million in wages and salaries, state and local taxes, purchases from other Connecticut companies, capital investments, and charitable contributions.

The largest single outlay in 1976 - more than $800 million - went for wages and salaries paid to our Connecticut employees.

From Connecticut suppliers, we bought about $400 million worth of goods and services.

We turned over about $35 million in taxes to the state and its cities and towns.

Among our expenditures were capital investments totaling about $65 million to improve our Connecticut facilities. In addition, we initiated a number of new, large-scale capital projects during the year. They include $18 million for an engine experimental research laboratory, $10 million for an automated production facility for turbine blade casting, both in Middletown; $3.5 million for an engine control laboratory in East Hartford; and $18 million for new machinery and plant modernization in Windsor Locks and Stratford.

Half of our corporate contributions are made in Connecticut. Last year, our corporate gifts here totaled $1.2 million. They went to health, educational, cultural and social service organizations. Our support of local United Way appeals in Connecticut, for example, totaled almost $400,000.

We just thought you'd like to know about the dollars we plow into our home state.

DAR official to speak at Memorial Day rites

Mrs. Ben D. Sasportas of Windsor, vice-president general of the National Society of Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR), will be the principal speaker Monday at the Memorial Day ceremonies in Center Park. Her topic: "You're A Good Man, Uncle Sam."

The annual Memorial Day program will open with a parade starting at 9:30 a.m. from the Army and Navy Club. The parade will go north on Main St. to the Center and then march east on E. Center St. to Munro Park where a brief memorial service will be conducted at the World War II monument. The parade will return to the Center and continue along Center St. to Linden St. where it will enter Center Park for the ceremonies.

Mrs. Ben D. Sasportas

Wreaths will be placed at the base of the Civil War monument in Center Park.

Mrs. Sasportas, a member and past regent of Abigail Wolcott Ellsworth Chapter, DAR, in Windsor, has also served as state vice-regent and state regent of the DAR. She has been the state chairman of DAR Schools, and chairman of the DAR Jubilee committee, the Flag of the United States committee, and the transportation committee.

Nationally, the guest speaker has served as president of the State Vice Regents' Club and is a member of the National Officers Club. She is also a member of the DAR Speaker's staff and a trustee of Hillside School, a DAR facility in Marlboro, Mass.

Flags on graves tradition, goes back to Civil War

The Permanent Memorial Day Committee of Manchester is continuing the tradition, started shortly after the Civil War, of honoring on Memorial Day those men and women who served in our country's many wars or conflicts.

The committee follows the procedure that has changed little since the turn of the century. The planning for the memorial church service, the parade, the speaking program and the decoration of veterans graves keeps the committee members busy for much of the year.

The veterans of the Civil War were organized under the banner of the Grand Army of the Republic to assist one another and provide for the widows and orphans of their fellow veterans. They exerted a great deal of influence on the social and political life of the nation until the early 1900s. Today veterans organizations are still pledged to carry out the same basic principal started by the GAR.

The members of the GAR, town officials and townspeople listened to the speeches at the old Cheney Hall on Hartford Rd. after which they and their families walked or rode in horse-drawn carriages to the town's cemeteries where flowers were placed on veterans graves.

Today the various veterans organizations and the ladies of the Daughters of the American Revolution and Daughters of Union Veterans decorate the graves of veterans with a small American flag before the customary parade and speaking program in Center Park.

The Civil War monument in Center Park is circled by flags and small bouquets of flowers to honor Manchester men who were missing in action or lost at sea and were never returned home for burial. The ring of flags and flowers represents men from each war. The last flag is in memory of a petty officer in the U.S. Navy whose plane was shot down by North Koreans while on a reconnaissance mission.

Starting on the Thursday before Memorial Day, the veterans' organizations, assisted by local Scout Troops, place over 1,500 flags in veterans graves in the local cemeteries. Each year 80 to 120 new names are added to the list of deceased veterans.

Those graves with the state or federal markers, flat or upright stones, are easy to find. Those graves of veterans in family plots or with family markers are more difficult to locate and many times are inadvertently overlooked.

Each group responsible for a cemetery has a list of veterans' graves and an attempt is made to place a flag on each one. Sometimes, within hours, these flags have been removed by vandals or people unfamiliar with the purpose or significance of Memorial Day.

The Daughters of the American Revolution decorate the graves of veterans in West Cemetery. The Disabled American Veterans are responsible for St. James Cemetery; the Marine Corps League, Buckland Cemetery; the Veterans of Foreign Wars, St. Bridget's and St. Johns Cemeteries; the American Legion, East Cemetery including Veterans' Field.

The committee encourages the families and friends of veterans whose graves have not been decorated to notify the organization responsible for that cemetery or the Memorial Day Committee secretary, Walter A. Von Horn. They should give the name, location, type of marker, and the name of the person to contact if the grave still cannot be located.

Significance of poppy explained by Legion

The poppy as the memorial flower for American war dead is a tradition which began in the years following the first World War, according to the American Legion.

Veterans returning to their homes in this country remembered the wild poppies which lined the devastated battlefields of France and Flanders, and the soldiers of all nations came to look upon this flower as a living symbol of their dead comrades.

A Canadian officer, Col. John McCrae, who was killed during the war, immortalized the flower in his famous poem, "In Flanders Fields." Its opening lines are familiar to millions of people around the world.

"In Flanders fields the poppies blow— Between the crosses, row on row—the war dead, it underlines the plight of those men who did not die; but returned permanently disabled. The poppy soon became a symbol of honoring the dead and assisting the living victims of the war.

The flowers are made by disabled servicemen, in government hospitals and convalescent workshops maintained by the American Legion Auxiliary.

The veterans are paid for the poppies they make. It is their only opportunity to earn money during the year. As each poppy leaves the hands of a disabled man it contributes monetary assistance for necessities and comforts not supplied by the hospitals, a small amount of savings for the veteran toward the day he can leave the hospital and financial assistance for his dependents.

Contributions received from poppy sales enable the American Legion and the VFW to meet the needs of our disabled veterans and families of deceased servicemen. Dimes and dollars contributed during poppy day and month go directly into the rehabilitation and child welfare programs for these organization.

Each group responsible for a cemetery has a list of veterans' graves and an attempt is made to place a flag on each one. Sometimes, within hours, these flags have been removed by vandals or people unfamiliar with the purpose or significance of Memorial Day.

The Daughters of the American Revolution decorate the graves of veterans in West Cemetery. The Disabled American Veterans are responsible for St. James Cemetery; the Marine Corps League, Buckland Cemetery; the Veterans of Foreign Wars, St. Bridget's and St. Johns Cemeteries; the American Legion, East Cemetery including Veterans' Field.

The committee encourages the families and friends of veterans whose graves have not been decorated to notify the organization responsible for that cemetery or the Memorial Day Committee secretary, Walter A. Von Horn. They should give the name, location, type of marker, and the name of the person to contact if the grave still cannot be located.

Returning servicemen brought with them memories of the battlefield poppies, and the flower soon took a special significance. The red blossom became the flower of remembrance for the men whose lives had been lost in the defense of freedom. As a memorial emblem for

Planning guide offered by CofC

Business

The Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce now has available the "Business Planning Guide," a 100-page document designed to assist prospective or existing small businessmen and women in developing effective plans of operation.

The "Business Planning Guide" is published by the Urban Affairs Section of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston. It has been developed to offer assistance in constructing logical business plans that are helpful in avoiding the many unforeseen problems that can plague a small commercial venture.

According to the "Guide," over half of all new businesses fail within the first two years of operation. Over 90 per cent fail within the first 10 years. The major reason cited for these failures is lack of planning.

The "Guide" addresses elements such as location, competition, market analysis, management and personnel as well as cash flow, capital equipment and loan application preparation.

The Chamber emphasizes that the "Guide" is not a substitute for other, essential forms of assistance, but highlights the need for proper planning and preparation.

Persons interested in further information should contact the Chamber at 257 E. Center St.

Gasoline use up by state

State Transportation Commissioner James F. Shugrue expressed concern over an upward swing in 1976 of the number of gallons of fuel consumed by registered vehicles in Connecticut.

"It is disturbing to learn that the average vehicle used slightly more than 692 gallons of fuel during the year," Shugrue said. This figure represents a substantial increase over the annual usage of 678 gallons per vehicle in the "energy crisis" years, 1974 and 1975, and a total annual increase of approximately 38 million gallons.

He urged voluntary conservation by motorists and more use of existing bus and train systems as well as car-pool programs.

Ohio ruling favors UT stock purchase

COLUMBUS (UPI)—A hearing officer for the Ohio Department of Securities has recommended that United Technologies Corp., Hartford, Conn., be allowed to buy all 12 million shares of Babcock & Wilcox Co. stock if certain conditions are met.

Clark Wideman ruled that United should extend the time for the proposed takeover to 20 days and must pay the "fair market price" for the stock.

Wideman's decision will be passed on to James Hurd, department commissioner, who will take it under advisement before ruling.

United has reportedly offered $42 a share and B & W, which has its main office in Barberton, Ohio, and other facilities in Alliance and Wickliffe, says that is not a realistic price.

B & W says the current market value is $44 a share and says the stock will rise in value because of the current emphasis on electricity for energy.

B & W makes coal-fired and nuclear generating equipment in addition to steel tubing and automated tools.

B & W also claims that a takeover by United would give that firm a lock on the sale and manufacturing of power generating systems in violation of antitrust laws.

Patterns.

The patterns of life are constantly changing and intermingling. There was a time when schools could only mold youngsters into a single pattern. Today, teachers help each child to find and develop his or her own particular talents to better face the changing patterns of society.

Over the years, educational facilities and programs have been improved to meet the need to provide better and more relevant instruction to tomorrow's young adults. The old molds no longer fit and the new patterns are more complex than ever before. That's why today's teachers are professionals - knowledgeable in their respective fields and constantly acquiring new skills to help students ready themselves to meet the challenge of the future.

Tomorrow is always going to come. And when teachers, parents, and communities work together, we can make sure today's children will be ready to fit.

Special education

Board is concerned about requirements

Vernon

State mandates to Boards of Education concerning special education programs are still there whether or not the appropriations are, Albert Kerkin, assistant superintendent, told the Vernon Board of Education Monday night.

Kerkin, who has charge of special education in Vernon schools, attended a meeting on a federal mandate which gives education rights to all handicapped persons without exception.

The meeting was attended by educators and Board of Education members from all around the state. Kerkin said the public law was instituted because federal committees discovered violation of individual rights involving more than 1.5 million handicapped persons.

The law puts a heavy burden on local school systems for personnel as well as financing. It guarantees a "free appropriate education for all handicapped" at no cost to the parents.

Kerkin said federal funding is authorized pending appropriation. The formula is based on a percentage of the average per-pupil cost and just as the state provision, it only is for excess costs beyond that average.

Each school system will have to provide written reports and maintain records and will be accountable on both the state and federal level.

Kerkin said the meeting stressed that each school board must have a written policy regarding special education.

He cautioned the board of several concepts it must consider when setting this policy. He said especially emphasized is the requirement that written individualized programs be presented for each student to receive funding.

Other responsibilities and requirements include such things as: Parents must be involved in all deliberations concerning special education students; funds must be administered by a public agency; the board must give assurance that the proper facilities, personnel and services will be provided.

Kerkin said Vernon already has a policy statement concerning special education.

Kerkin said board members and educators at the meeting expressed concern in several areas. He said they are concerned about the additional costs to the boards; the additional staff to accomplish the detailed planning and to meet requirements for additional meetings; and the need to develop new programs to meet the needs of all handicapped, including the severely and profoundly retarded and the physically and multi-handicapped.

Kerkin said it appears that the statutory language is on the books but the regulatory language isn't yet finalized.

Kerkin said he feels the Vernon school system is well equipped to start the program but he is concerned about the need for an additional psychological examiner and a social worker for testing.

Kerkin said he also attended a meeting on new legislation for a Guaranteed Tax Base (GTB).

He said Vernon's share is expected to be $288,284, which will be a considerable increase over the $127,000 received this year. The final figures are expected in July, Kerkin said.

The formula, as it now stands, considers differences in town wealth, compared to the median community, multiplied by the school tax rate. It also considers effort in a town; times the population.

He said a key concept is the "effort" part of the formula. He said if a town uses the GTB to reduce the overall school budget request, then the future amounts of the monies will be decreased.

Pratt & Whitney gets big contract

EAST HARTFORD (UPI) — The Air Force has awarded a contract to Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Group for aircraft engine parts. It was announced Tuesday by the office of Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn.

The value of the contract, part of which was previously awarded to the East Hartford plant, is $13.2 million, Ribicoff's office said.

Bolton meeting just a formality

Bolton's Town Meeting tonight to consider a $2.2 million budget for 1977-78 will be little more than a formality because the town clerk has received the necessary signatures to bring the budget to referendum (voting machine).

At tonight's meeting, scheduled for 8 at the Community Hall, Town Clerk Catherine Leiner will submit certification that she received the necessary signatures.

Mrs. Leiner said she received petitions with 237 signatures and five were rejected because of illegibility.

By state law 200 signatures are necessary to bring the vote to referendum.

Tonight's Town Meeting will be asked to set the date for the referendum. If it is not done by the Town Meeting, the Board of Selectmen will set the date.

The referendum must be held not less than seven but within 14 days of the Town Meeting. Those attending tonight's meeting may discuss the budget. The only action item at tonight's meeting will be to authorize the selectmen and treasurer to borrow money from the budget as needed to meet the town's expenses and obligations.

Spring concert
The Bolton High School band and chorus will present their annual spring concert Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the school.

The following students will be conducting selections for the band: Patsy Maneggia, Kathy Leiner, Brenda Carron, and Steve Bates. Jeff Potterton will be featured in a drum solo.

The chorus will open the second part of the program and Miss Maneggia, Susan Murdoch and Debbie Gilinack will be conducting selections for the group. Gay Hoffman will be accompanist for "The Impossible Dream."

The following seniors will present "Godspell" — Kathi Morianos, Miss Maneggia, Miss Gilinack, Miss Murdoch, Bates, Jon Dooley and Donna Mateau.

Edward DiFranzo is band and chorus director.

Bolton GOP plans for future victories

Bolton's Republican Town Committee Tuesday night discussed a number of plans to regroup, broaden its base, and make sure future elections are GOP victories.

"We want to get to more people and have more people get to us," Republican Town Chairman Robert Morra said, explaining ideas to the committee.

The plans discussed by the committee include:
• A testimonial dinner, tentatively set for June 25 at the St. Maurice Church Parish Center, to honor outgoing elected officials for significant contributions to the town.
• Creating a district system, similar to large city neighborhood organizations, to keep on top of area issues and get more input.
• Considering taking stands on controversial issues in town. The committee declined Tuesday night, however, to support plans for a constituency in town.

"The possibility of giving awards, to 'future town leaders' in the high school graduating class.

"The idea of a community project, initiated by Republicans, to ask homeowners to plant dogwood trees. Ernest Shepherd, selectman-elect, suggested the project which would be coordinated by the GOP committee. Much of the Tuesday night discussion about the plans dealt with the public relations aspects of the projects. Many town committee members indicated they need better publicity for the Republican party.

In a surprise announcement at the end of the meeting, Joseph Gately submitted his resignation as vice-chairman of the GOP town committee. Gately cited business pressures, but pledged he'll continue to work on the committee, although not as an officer.

The last family dinner of this school year, sponsored by Grade 6 students at Andover Elementary School, will be Thursday from 5 to 7 p.m. The menu will include pizza, beverage and dessert. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stanley will be honored. The Stanleys have attended every dinner for the last three years and are usually the first to arrive.

An attempt to organize a summer school reading program for Andover Elementary School students is being made. The program will be staffed by volunteers because federal funding is not available. The only skill needed by the volunteers is a willingness to set aside some time for a child. Anyone interested in having his child participate, or in serving as a volunteer tutor, is asked to call the school.

Coventry PZC

Bond called for markers

The Town of Coventry is calling a $3,000 performance bond to finish placing monuments on Merrow Rd., the Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC) said Monday night.

The subdivision was built several years ago by Webster Built Homes and the permanent markers in measure lot lines were never put there. The monumentation was a condition of the PZC's approval to build.

The town made several attempts to allow the company to complete the required work, but it is still not done. The town will obtain two bids to complete the work on the seven-lot subdivision.

The PZC Monday approved the sale by the town of two lots on Pine Lake

Dr. to adjoining land owner Steven Toth. The lots do not meet town requirements for building.

The PZC discussed the problem of unleashed dogs ruining private property and killing livestock in the town. Town Atty. Abbott Schwebel recommended enforcing health and hazard and noise disturbance laws, with the help of local police.

It was also recommended that neighborhoods petition to bring civil suit against owners of problem dogs. The PZC also discussed tag sales and their effect on local businesses. Old Country Store owners Burt and Barbara Baver complained that people are running profit-making sales continuously without permits.

The PZC has no regulations about tag sales, but Town Planner Gregory Paddock is meeting with Town

Manager Frank Connolly to discuss the need for ordinances to control these operations.

PZC Chairman Sandra Slave sent a letter to absent member Bentz Banack, requesting a statement of his intentions regarding service to the commission.

Banack has missed seven meetings and alternate James Lacock has been serving in Banack's absence. The commission set the following public hearing dates next month: Subdivision application, Cassidy Hill Rd., June 13, special permit application, Presbyterian Church, Rt. 44A and Trowbridge Rd., and subdivision application, South St. and subdivision application, Carpenter Rd. and Broad Way, June 27.

South Windsor mulls firehouse bid waiver

The South Windsor Town Council will decide June 6 if it will waive competitive bidding and allow the Public Building Commission to sign a $820,000 general contract with a Bloomfield firm to build the new Firehouse No. 1 on Ellington Rd.

Bids for the firehouse project came in higher than the referendum-authorized ceiling of $765,000.

According to Town Atty. Thomas Dennis, competitive bidding would have to be waived because the final figure with Lupachino and Salvatore of Bloomfield was reached through negotiations rather than by bidding.

State law forbids contracts which would bring the cost of projects higher than amounts appropriated.

Dennis said the Town Charter leaves only two alternatives. The town can reject all bids and go to re-bid or waive competitive bidding in the best interest of the town.

At a work session this week most of the council felt it best to waive competitive bidding. Deputy Mayor Robert Myette, however, said he wanted to reevaluate the project before making up his mind.

Lupachino and Salvatore's original bid was for $788,444. A vote will be taken when the council meets Monday.

Housing project started

Vernon

Ground was being broken today for expansion of the Grove St. senior citizen housing project in Vernon. The addition will bring the number of units to 54.

The project has been delayed because bids were higher than the grant from the state. In order to keep within the time frame and not to lose the grant, the town appropriated some money and some federal community development funds, earmarked for sidewalk improvements, were used for site work.

The project now has 24 units and 30 will be added, for an addition of 45,000 square feet. The grant was for $30,000. The low bid was $48,394.

Special considerations for handicapped persons, now required by law, were responsible for some of the additional costs of the project.

The low bid was submitted by Joseph Kovarovich of Mansfield.

Guindon sets pace

WINNIPEG, Manitoba (UPI)—Little-used Bobby Guindon, one of the lesser-known in the Winnipeg Jets' star-studded lineup, is proving there's still a place for a little man with a big heart in pro hockey. Given a rare opportunity to play a regular shift, Guindon responded by scoring two goals and assisting on another to help the Jets to a record-shattering 12-3 victory over the Quebec Nordiques Tuesday, sending the World Hockey Association Avco Cup final into a seventh and deciding game.

The Jets' victory tied the best-of-seven series at 3-3, with the showdown in Quebec City on Thursday, where the Jets will try to wrap up their second consecutive WHA championship.

"This is the highlight of the year for me," said Guindon, who got his chance to play when Jets' coach Bobby Kirtman decided to use a fourth line to give some of his big guys a rest.

Fun in the sun for Mary and pup

Sister of a 'star'

Has her own big production

By BETTY RYDER
Family-Travel Editor

Pretty "Billy" Buckland may not have acquired the fame her half-brother has, but she sure is a scene stealer at her home at 28 Box Mt. Rd. in Bolton.

The three-year-old female bull mastiff, whose AKC (American Kennel Club) registered name is Bando's Jam Session, "is half-sister to 'Butkas' who played the canine friend to Sylvester Stallone, in his role as 'Rocky' in the movie of the same name.

The little lady, owned by Bob and Mary Buckland, presented her happy owners with a litter of 14 puppies; nine of which survived.

The seven-week-old brood comprised of five males and four females is Billy's second litter.

"We are going to keep one of the males and let Billy retire from puppy-bearing," Bob said.

"This litter required a lot of care since Billy didn't have enough milk to feed them. Mary and I had to force feed them every two hours," he said.

Mary, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cornell LaTourneau of Manchester, has kept quite busy corraling the active pups.

Stopping to retrieve an adventurous pup who had managed, with an unexpected boost from his brother, to climb over the edge of the pen set up for them, Mary sighed, "They are just beginning to get around and are hard to keep track of."

Bob explained that the average grown weight of this breed of dog ranges about 110-115 pounds for females and 115-125 pounds for males. The new litter, which will be ready to leave home at eight weeks, sell for between $350-450 each, Bob said.

"We purchased Billy from Marge Triggs of Avon. She recently received a call from Stallone inquiring about the possibility of buying a pup."

Mrs. Triggs owns and operates Gad's Hill Kennels in Avon. The common parent of Billy and Butkas is Champion Charlie Hexum, the sire of the Buckland's puppies is Tauralon Pop Brass.

Bob, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Buckland of Hilltown Rd., credits his wife for all her efforts in caring for the pups while he is working at B. F. Plumbing in Wethersfield.

Undanted, his bride of two years has managed well, so far.

Glancing around their comfortable home, she said, "Can you just imagine what will happen if we don't sell them and Bob and I have to live in this small house with nine lively dogs?"

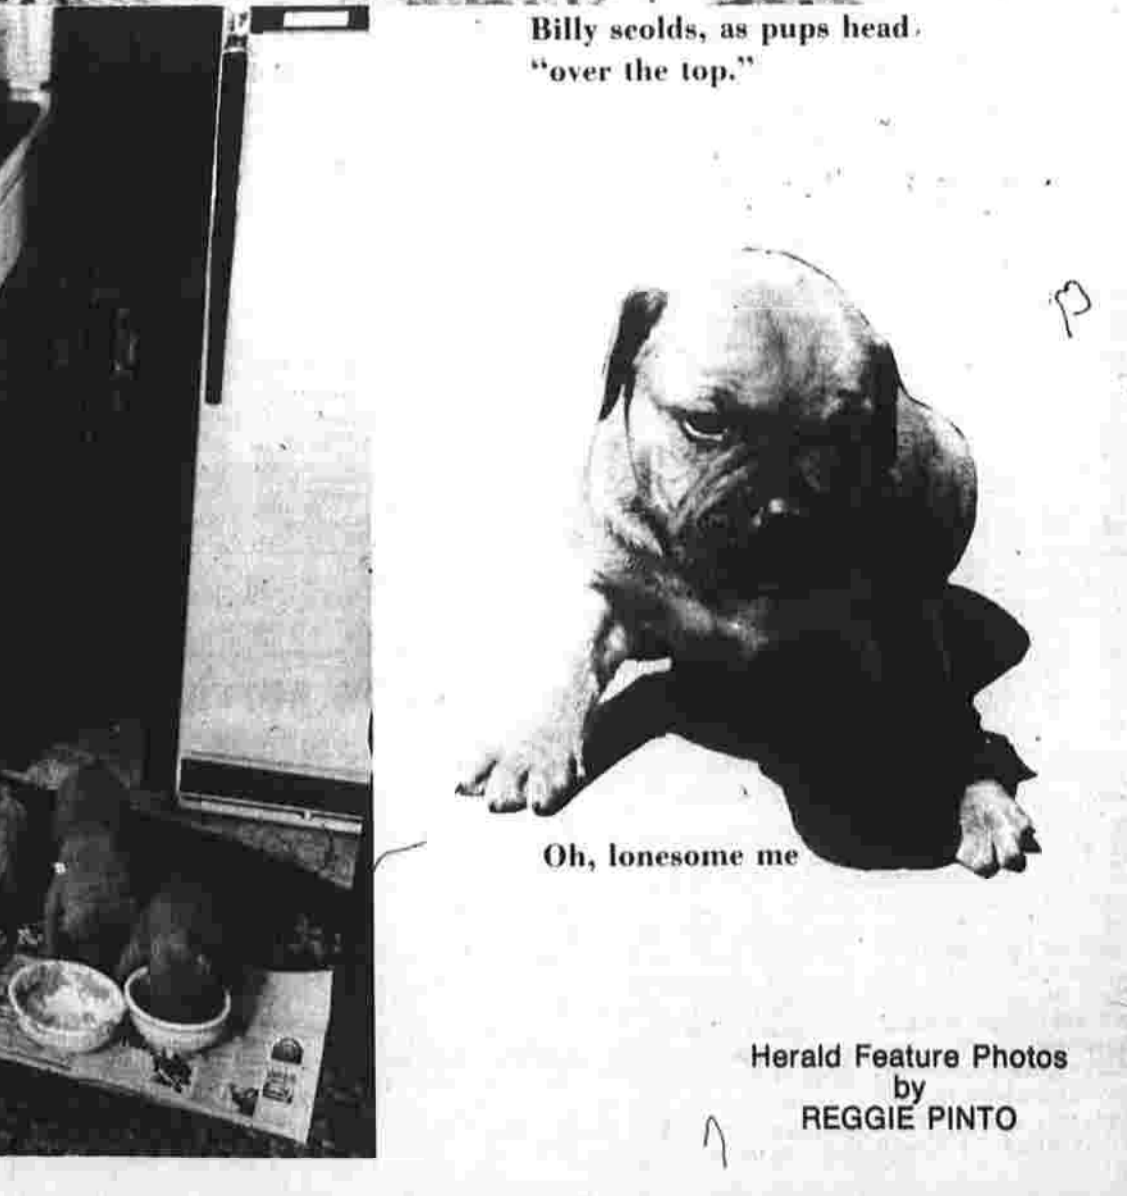

One can well imagine the havoc nine pups can wreak, but after viewing these snugly masses of activity, I feel sure prospective new parents will come along soon.

Billy scolds, as pups head "over the top."

Bob and Billy watch "chow hounds" pitch in.

Oh, lonesome me

Growing older

Growing older does not mean that we are ever too old to change bad habits. At least we can try because the effort could possibly make the difference between being sick and well. For many years the American Heart Association has recommended a meal plan that is low in saturated fat and cholesterol and still provides all the essential nutrients. Their literature states this plan is mainly for adults from their 20s on who have a family history of heart disease or who may have increased their risk through a regular diet high in saturated fat and cholesterol. They suggest that children and adolescents, especially from susceptible families, can also benefit by forming tastes for food early in life that may protect them from heart disease when they reach adulthood. I know that parents have tread on soft-boiled eggs when giving advice to their children or grandchildren. Perhaps putting literature in their hands, which is free from your local Heart Association, might just do the trick without resentment on the part of the younger set. From time to time I read health reports pointing a guilty finger at such staples as sugar and salt. After extensive research, the Senate Select Committee on Nutrition and Human Needs has released its report on dietary goals for Americans which states that simple procedures could improve the health of all of us. They suggest a good start by cutting down on salt and sugar. The report advises cutting sugar intake by at least half and salt consumption by 50 or 75 per cent. To make it easier, why not keep the salt shaker and the sugar bowl in the kitchen cupboard instead of putting them on the table? And cut down on the amount of salt and sugar when cooking. Before you know it, you'll begin to enjoy the natural taste of unsalted foods. Spices and herbs can be substituted for

Good health means good eating habits

Heart Association's caution about foods high in cholesterol and advises cutting down on these. They state that approximately 45 per cent of our total food intake now consists of fat calories. They suggest cutting it to 30 per cent, with a bit more than one-third coming from polyunsaturated fats, one-third from monounsaturates and the final third or less from saturated fat. To achieve this it would help to substitute low-fat milk for whole. We use powdered nonfat milk in our home for drinking and cooking, even for desserts and baking. Or the powdered milk can be mixed with whole milk should you prefer. We also use corn or safflower margarines. Eggs and organ meats should be used in moderation. Low-fat meats, poultry, low-fat cheeses, veal and fish and even some vegetables are a good source of protein and can help achieve the cut that the Committee suggests. And get in the habit of reading labels. Try to avoid processed foods that are not nutritious. Sugar-coated cereals should be "no-no," as well as snack foods that are loaded with sugar and salt. Also be wary of foods that are labeled as containing "vegetable fat" or "shortening." Many of these are made with coconut oil which is higher in saturated fats than the natural butter or cream. Do yourself a favor and phone or write your local American Heart Association and get their free booklets called "The Way to a Man's Heart" as well as their Recipe Book so that you may eat wisely and live longer.

Q - How may a former serviceman obtain a copy of his lost or destroyed report of separation from service?
A - Any VA office will provide a form which he may request a duplicate from the National Personnel Records Center in St. Louis. In addition, if the former service person had his discharge recorded with his county upon separation from service, he may be able to get a copy from that source.
Q - How much burial expense is paid by VA upon the death of an honorably separated wartime veteran?
A - A burial allowance not to exceed $250 plus an amount not to exceed $150 toward cost of a burial plot or interment if not buried in a national cemetery. Payment not to exceed $800 may be made if the veteran's death is found by VA to be service-connected. Additionally, transportation costs are paid in certain instances.
Q - May a beneficiary receiving dependency and indemnity compensation reside in a foreign country?
A - There are no restrictions residing in foreign countries, except if not buried in "blocked countries." Complete information is available at any VA office or American Consular office.

Q. Spring cleanup time is here for the home and it's also spring tune-up time for the car. Any advice on what I should have my garage do?
A. Keep your car engine tuned according to the specifications given in your owner's manual. If your manual is lost, then follow this plan: Every 10,000 miles a major tune-up should be done. That means:
* Install new spark plugs, ignition points, and condenser.
* Clean or replace the positive crankcase ventilating (PCV) valve, and remove gum or sludge from the hoses.
* Check all electrical ignition circuits and connections for voltage drop and resistance. Clean, tighten, and replace them as necessary.
* Inspect the choke for proper operation.
* Set the timing to the manufacturer's specifications.
* Check the ignition advance mechanism (mechanical and vacuum).
* Remove foreign matter from the exhaust gas recirculatory valve and hoses; check the controls following the manufacturer's specifications.
* Check the exhaust system for blockage.
* Replace air and fuel filter elements.
* Check for fuel leaks at carburetor, fuel pump, gas line and gas tank.
* About 5,000 miles after the major tune-up, a minor tune-up should be performed. This may involve cleaning the plugs, and adjusting points and timing as necessary.

News for senior citizens

Hello everybody! Well, our Big Week is now over and it all ended in great fashion with our annual card party on last Friday at the Community Y at the North End. The McKeever's, Ed and Mary were once again in charge and like always they did a super job. Along with our volunteers, the McKeever's had Mary Sulats, Millie Koss, Marge McCoo and Tessie Reister, to help and with everyone working so well together, it made for a very successful night.

The big feature this year was that we had more door prizes than people and therefore everyone received one prize and some were lucky enough to receive a few. Thanks must go to Irene Bissett and Eve Warner who spent countless hours traveling all over town soliciting some very fine gifts. We must also thank the many merchants who gave so graciously to make it possible to give our members some extra nice gifts.

So on behalf of the staff, we wish to thank everyone who helped and worked so hard to make the Big Week a huge success. And last but not least all of you who were able to attend the week.

Don't forget take a look at the outstanding window display in Watkins of some of the wonderful crafts and paintings done by our members. This display will run through May 31st.

Back to normal

So now back to normal once again and the big thing to remember this week is the bus to Vermont to see the apple blossoms. The bus will be leaving at 8:30 a.m. so we expect to see you all shortly after 8 a.m. Because of the trip, we will not have a meal on Thursday and we won't have any special programs. The building will be open and also the outdoor shuffleboard courts for anyone who would like to play or visit.

By the way, our good friend and oldest member, Nellie Moran is now a patient at Manchester Manor and can now have visitors. So whenever you're in that neighborhood, stop in, and she will be very happy to see you.

Also, another good friend of ours Sue Scheibenflug of 281 School St. is quite sick at her home and cards would be nice to send.

Trip near

Our trip to Wildwood, N.J. isn't too far away and we need about ten more to fill the second bus. So if you've been thinking about it, you still have time, just call in and tell us you're interested and when we fill the bus, we'll get back to you. It's really a fun time trip down close to the ocean with lots of action.

Next Tuesday the bus for the Boston Red Sox-Yankee game will leave the center at 3 p.m. so you all should be here around 2:30 p.m. We will stop on the way for dinner and will not stop on the way home.

Then the trip to Nova Scotia June 3 will be leaving the center here at 9:30 a.m. You folks making this trip are reminded to pack a little bag to carry your "nightsies" and toilet articles because the night of the boat ride you will not be able to get into your large bag. So remember, to put all your pills and whatever is necessary in a small bag that you can keep with you on the bus.

Honored by UofH

Three Manchester and surrounding area residents were among 97 faculty and staff members at the University of Hartford who received awards Tuesday at the annual Charter Day luncheon at the university. The event marked the university's 20th year.

The UofH was founded in 1957 through the union of Hillier College, Hartt College of Music and the Hartford Art School.

Ten-year certificates were awarded for full-time service to Mrs. Edna M. Penny of 395 Burnham St., assistant to Mrs. Helen M. Loy, UofH assistant vice-president; Dr. Calvin W. Lane, professor of English, of 870 Main St., South Windsor, and Dr. John J. Sullivan associate professor of economics, of Crestwood Rd., Vernon.

Vytautas Marijosius, professor of conducting and theory at Hartt College of Music and former conductor of the Manchester Civic Orchestra, became a new member of the Quarter Century Club. Prof. Marijosius lives in West Hartford.

Open house planned

New Hope Manor, the residential drug and/or alcohol treatment center for teen-age girls, will have an open house June 9 from 11 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at its 48 Hartford Rd. facility.

Police report

East Hartford

Police Tuesday arrested a man and a woman in connection with a May 17 attack on two men with a crow bar. Alfred Chisolm, 20, of Hartford was charged with first-degree assault, first-degree robbery and threatening.

Ann Marie Levere, 19, of 54 Greenbrier Rd., East Hartford, was charged with conspiracy to commit first-degree robbery and conspiracy to commit first-degree assault.

Police said a black male burst into the apartment at 560 Burnside Ave. at 9:45 p.m. May 17. He struck a male occupant on the head with a crow bar and choked him before tying him up, police said.

The victim's roommate out in the hall heard noise and came in the apartment where the black male hit him twice in the head with the crowbar, police said.

Both Chisolm and Levere appeared in Common Pleas Court 12 in East Hartford Tuesday where their cases were continued to June 7. She was released on $2,000 surety bond. He was held on $12,500 bond.

Ronald E. Peters, 22, of 36 Chester St., East Hartford, was arrested Tuesday on a court warrant charging him with first-degree unlawful restraint and criminal attempt to commit sexual assault.

The charges stem from an incident reported Thursday at 2:09 a.m. on Chester St., police said.

He was released on $500 non-surety bond for appearance in court June 6.

A home on Legion Dr., East Hartford, was broken into Tuesday by forcing the front door. Missing are a $10 bill and a TV set.

Vernon

James Melon of 47 Worcester Rd., Vernon, was charged with failure to grant the right of way at an intersection. He was involved in a two-car accident Tuesday at Rt. 83 and Merline Dr.

The driver of the other car was Neil Matthews, of 695 Talcottville Rd., Vernon. Melon has a court date of June 3 in Rockville.

Timothy Martin, 18, of Benedict Dr., South Windsor, was charged Tuesday with shoplifting on complaint of Caldor at Vernon Circle. Court date is June 8 in Rockville.

Shirley Smoot, of 13 Windsor Ave., Rockville, was charged Tuesday with fourth-degree larceny (shoplifting) on complaint of Hartmann's Market, Windsor Ave. court date is June 8.

Vernon Police charged a 15-year-old boy with second-degree larceny Tuesday. The arrest involved the theft of a mini-bike from a Washington St. home. The bike was recovered.

Employe idea stops flooding at project

An idea of an East Hartford Housing Authority employe is saving thousands of dollars and much grief.

For many years, the buildings of the King Court housing project have suffered flooding in every rain storm or snow melt. The storm drains would back up into the basements. Water would rise as high as a man's waist.

Tenants learned to keep their valuables high. But the burners on the furnaces would be destroyed by the water almost every time. The water also destroyed many electrical parts.

Tenants suffered long spells without heat in the winter.

In the past, work crews of the authority would fight the flooding with pumps. The administration would buy new burner motors costing hundreds each.

Edward Miller, maintenance mechanic with the authority, suggested at the end of the winter a way to slow the flooding.

Why not close up the three manholes in the backyards?

The manholes led to storm drains.

In a heavy rain, water would rush down the manholes adding to the water pressure in the drains.

Richard F. Smith, superintendent, went along with the idea. They tried putting plastic over the holes.

Heavy spring rains found the King Court basements dry.

Smith then ordered permanent metal seals from St. Jean's Welding of 16 Marshall St. for $48.

And Smith asked Nick Giamalis, executive director, to consider recognizing the idea with a bonus of $25.

Giamalis brought up the story at a meeting of the Housing Authority board. They promptly approved the bonus and added their praise.

Ray Lavey, authority chairman, said encouraging men like Miller could help lead to solutions to other problems.

The only problem with the idea is a shortlived pool around the manholes after a heavy storm, said Michael Kiro, superintendent. But it's a problem everyone, including tenants, are glad to have in trade for the flooded basements, he said.

City group to watch fair housing system

By MAL BARLOW
East Hartford Reporter

"We would go to the (real estate) agent before the front page," said Michael Sharp of the Hartford Urban League Tuesday night at South Congregational Church.

Sharp was explaining the league's proposed plan for monitoring housing practices in the Hartford region. The group listening to him Tuesday was the fourth and largest regional meeting of members of groups such as East Hartford's Human Relations Commission. The local commission hosted the gathering with financial help from Pratt & Whitney Aircraft.

The office set up to run the monitoring program would wait for a complaint first, said Sharp. Then it would study the case. Finally it would "test" the agent involved.

"Our testing would bring out valid information showing an agency is in violation of the law," he said. "We would document it. Then we'd get it to the local human rights group. Hopefully that group would act on the information."

By "act" Sharp said he meant "to inform." The major thrust of the monitoring would be to let real estate agents and apartment managers know clearly what is the law.

"We will not intimidate. But we don't want any agent saying he never knew steering was against the law."

Steering is the practice of an agent guiding home buyers to the neighborhoods in which he thinks they belong. Blacks would stay with blacks, whites with whites.

Other illegal practices include block busting, red lining, and other practices which deny fair housing opportunities to anyone, he said.

The Hartford area needs the program, Sharp said. A league study of the locations of area people and several dramatic cases exposed in the press are proof, he said.

Each town has a duty to ensure fair housing, he said.

Sharp told of a visit to the office of Mayor Richard Blackstone in East Hartford.

"He was very polite," said Sharp.

"He said he would take it under advisement."

About 80 people attended the regional meeting. About half were from East Hartford, many involved in local government in jobs which require them to be aware of discrimination. They included Mrs. Helen Quinn of the social services office and William Miller, director of personnel.

Dr. John Rogers of the University of Hartford spoke about the state's history with minorities. Sharp, a black, said later his Columbia University history professor referred him to Rogers for research aid.

Hans DePold, HRC chairman, said he was pleased with the turnout. More and more people are concerned with human rights, he said.

Honored by the DAR

Steven Zonghetti, left, and Patty Pollard hold the Daughters of the American Revolution awards they received for "excellence in history." They are in fifth grade classes at Burnside School taught by Joseph Perzanowski and Mrs. Elizabeth Gauthier, respectively. Mrs. Gauthier is a member of the Martha Pitkin Wolcott Chapter of the DAR. Area cops hunt escapee

East Hartford and other area Police Departments are looking for a 21-year-old East Hartford man who bolted from police custody while being brought into Common Pleas Court 12 this morning.

Police said Peter Dunn of 9 Burnside Ave. was brought from the state jail earlier this morning. When being brought from the police lockup into court he bolted out the back door, police said.

He is described as a white male, weighing about 155 pounds, five-foot-11 inches tall, having brown eyes, brown hair parted in the middle and a mustache. He was wearing a checkered shirt when he left the court and fled on foot.

Police said a second prisoner tried to leave with Dunn but he was apprehended. He was Mark Boyer of 406 park Ave. East Hartford.

Dunn was arrested May 13 when he was found on the roof of Fred Locke Stereo, 1071 Burnside Ave. He was charged with first-degree burglary, first-degree larceny, possession of burglary tools and carrying a concealed weapon (a knife.)

Special education

Board is concerned about requirements

Vernon

State mandates to Boards of Education concerning special education programs are still there whether or not the appropriations are. Albert Kerkin, assistant superintendent, told the Vernon Board of Education Monday night.

Kerkin, who has charge of special education in Vernon schools, attended a meeting on a federal mandate which gives education rights to all handicapped persons without exception.

The meeting was attended by educators and Board of Education members from all around the state.

Kerkin said the public law was instituted because federal committees discovered violation of individual rights involving more than 1.5 million handicapped persons.

The law puts a heavy burden on local school systems for personnel as well as financing.

It guarantees a "free appropriate education for all handicapped" at no cost to the parents.

Kerkin said federal funding is authorized pending appropriation. The formula is based on a percentage of the average per-pupil cost and just as the state provision, it only is for excess costs beyond that average.

Each school system will have to provide written reports and maintain records and will be accountable on both the state and federal level.

Kerkin said the meeting stressed that each school board must have a written policy regarding special education.

He cautioned the board of several concepts it must consider when setting this policy. He said especially emphasized is the requirement that written individualized programs be presented for each student to receive funding.

Other responsibilities and requirements include such things as: Parents must be involved in all deliberations concerning special education students; funds must be administered by a public agency; the board must have written goals on the provisions of appropriate education to all the handicapped and a timetable to reach these goals; the board must give assurance that the proper facilities, personnel and services will be provided.

Kerkin said Vernon already has a policy statement concerning special education.

Kerkin said board members and educators at the meeting expressed concern in several areas. He said they are concerned about the additional costs to the boards; the additional staff to accomplish the detailed planning and to meet requirements for additional meetings; and the need to develop new programs to meet the needs of all handicapped, including the severely and profoundly retarded and the physically and multi-handicapped.

Kerkin said it appears that the statutory language is on the books but the regulatory language isn't yet finalized.

Kerkin said he feels the Vernon school system is well equipped to start the program but he is concerned about the need for an additional psychological examiner and a social worker for testing.

Kerkin said he also attended a meeting on new legislation for a Guaranteed Tax Base (GTB).

He said Vernon's share is expected to be $268,264, which will be a considerable increase over the $127,000 received this year. The final figures are expected in July, Kerkin said.

The formula, as it now stands, considers differences in town wealth, compared to the median community, multiplied by the school tax rate. It also considers effort in a town; times the population.

He said a key concept is the "effort" part of the formula. He said if a town uses the GTB to reduce the overall school budget request, then the future amounts of the monies will be decreased.

Pratt & Whitney gets big contract

EAST HARTFORD (UPI) — The Air Force has awarded a contract to Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Group for aircraft engine parts, it was announced Tuesday by the office of Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn.

The value of the contract, part of which was previously awarded to East Hartford plant, is $13.2 million, Ribicoff's office said.

Bolton meeting just a formality

Bolton's Town Meeting tonight to consider a $2.2 million budget for 1977-78 will be little more than a formality because the town clerk has received the necessary signatures to bring the budget to referendum (voting machine).

At tonight's meeting, scheduled for 8 at the Community Hall, Town Clerk Catherine Leiner will submit certification that she received the necessary signatures.

Mrs. Leiner said she received petitions with 237 signatures and five were rejected because of illegibility.

By state law 200 signatures are necessary to bring the vote to referendum.

Tonight's Town Meeting will be asked to set the date for the referendum. If it is not done by the Town Meeting, the Board of Selectmen will set the date.

The referendum must be held not less than seven but within 14 days of the Town Meeting. Those attending tonight's meeting may discuss the budget. The only action item at tonight's meeting will be to authorize the selectmen and treasurer to borrow money from the budget as needed to meet the town's expenses and obligations.

The Bolton High School band and chorus will present their annual spring concert Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the school.

The following students will be conducting selections for the band: Patty Maneggia, Kathy Leiner, Brenda Carron, and Steve Bates. Jeff Potterton will be featured in a drum solo.

The chorus will open the second part of the program and Miss Maneggia, Susan Murdoch and Debbie Gilnack will be conducting selections for the group. Gayle Hoffman will be accompanist for "The Impossible Dream."

The following seniors will present "Godspell" — Kathi Morianos, Miss Maneggia, Miss Gilnack, Miss Murdoch, Bates, Jon Dooley and Donna Mateau.

Edward DiFranzo is band and chorus director.

Bolton GOP plans for future victories

Bolton's Republican Town Committee Tuesday night discussed a number of plans to regroup, broaden its base, and make sure future elections are GOP victories.

"We want to get to more people and have more people get to us," Republican Town Chairman Robert Morra said, explaining ideas to the committee.

The plans discussed by the committee include:

- A testimonial dinner, tentatively set for June 25 at the St. Maurice Church Parish Center, to honor outgoing elected officials for significant contributions to the town.
- Creating a district system, similar to large city neighborhood organizations, to keep on top of area issues and get more input.
- Considering taking stands on controversial issues in town. The committee declined Tuesday night, however, to support plans for a constabulary in town.

"The possibility of giving awards to 'future town leaders' in the high school graduating class.

"The idea of a community project, initiated by Republicans, to ask homeowners to plant dogwood trees. Ernest Shepherd, selectman-elect, suggested the project which would be coordinated by the GOP committee.

Much of the Tuesday night discussion about the plans dealt with the public relations aspects of the projects. Many town committee members indicated they need better publicity for the Republican party.

In a surprise announcement at the end of the meeting, Joseph Gately submitted his resignation as vice-chairman of the GOP town committee. Gately cited business pressures, but pledged he'll continue to work on the committee, although not as an officer.

Andover

The last family dinner of this school year, sponsored by Grade 6 students at Andover Elementary School, will be Thursday from 5 to 7 p.m. The menu will include pizza, beverage and dessert. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stanley will be honored. The Stanleys have attended every dinner for the last three years and are usually the first to arrive.

An attempt to organize a summer school reading program for Andover Elementary School students is being made. The program will be staffed by volunteers because federal funding is not available. The only skill needed by the volunteers is a willingness to set aside some time for a child. Anyone interested in having his child participate, or in serving as a volunteer tutor, is asked to call the school.

Housing project started

Vernon

Ground was broken today for expansion of the Grove St. senior citizen housing project in Vernon.

The addition will bring the number of units to 54.

The project has been delayed because bids were higher than the grant from the state. In order to keep within the time frame and not to lose the grant, the town appropriated some money and some federal community development funds, earmarked for sidewalk improvements, were used for site work.

The project now has 24 units and 30 will be added, for an addition of 454,000 square feet. The grant was for $38,000. The low bid was $43,394.

Special considerations for handicapped persons, now required by law, were responsible for some of the additional costs of the project.

The low bid was submitted by Joseph Kovarovich of Mansfield.

Coventry PZC

Bond called for markers

The Town of Coventry is calling a $3,000 performance bond to finish placing monuments on the Tiffany Estates subdivision on Merrow Rd., the Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC) said Monday night.

The subdivision was built several years ago by Webster Built Homes and the permanent markers to measure lot lines were never put there. The monumentation was a condition of the PZC's approval to build.

The town made several attempts to allow the company to complete the required work, but it is still not done. The town will obtain two bids to complete the work on the seven-lot subdivision.

The PZC Monday approved the sale of the town of two lots on Pine Lake

Dr. to adjoining land owner Steven Toth. The lots do not meet town requirements for building.

The PZC discussed the problem of unleashed dogs ruining private property and killing livestock in town. Town Atty. Abbott Schwebel recommended enforcing health hazard and noise disturbance laws, with the help of local police.

It was also recommended that neighborhoods petition to bring civil suit against owners of problem dogs.

The PZC also discussed tag sales and their effect on local businesses. Old Country Store owners Burt and Barbara Baver complained that people are running profit-making sales continuously without permits.

The PZC has no regulations about tag sales, but Town Planner Gregory Paddock is meeting with Town

Manager Frank Connolly to discuss the need for ordinances to control these operations.

PZC Chairman Sandra Stave sent a letter to absent member Bentz Banack, requesting a statement of his intentions regarding service to the commission.

Banack has missed seven meetings and alternate James Lacock has been serving in Banack's absence.

The commission set the following public hearing dates next month: Subdivision application, Cassidy Hill Rd., June 13; special permit application, Presbyterian Church, Rt. 44A and Trowbridge Rd., and subdivision application, Bishop Lane, June 20; rear lot application, South St., and subdivision application, Carpenter Rd. and Broad Way, June 27.

South Windsor mulls firehouse bid waiver

The South Windsor Town Council will decide June 6 if it will waive competitive bidding and allow the Public Building Commission to sign a $62,000 general contract with a Bloomfield firm to build the new Firehouse No. 1 on Ellington Rd.

Bids for the firehouse project came in higher than the referendum-authorized ceiling of $765,000.

According to Town Atty. Thomas Dennis, competitive bidding would have to be waived because the final figure with Lupachino and Salvatore of Bloomfield was reached through negotiations rather than by bidding.

State law forbids contracts which would bring the cost of projects higher than amounts appropriated.

Dennis said the Town Charter leaves only two alternatives. The town can reject all bids and go to re-bid or waive competitive bidding in the best interest of the town.

He said he would refer the petition to the town counsel and did not plan to call a Town Meeting unless the counsel rules one necessary.

Marnicki said "since we had a Town Meeting to decide whether or not to enter into a contract with the Town of Glastonbury, I feel we should have a Town Meeting to decide whether or not to terminate this contract and switch to a different system."

Selectman Arthur Pinney said townspeople should be advised of any new proposal for the town in the way of professional services.

He said no action has been taken by the Board of Selectmen on the announcement by Reid that Ellzey was available for the appointment.

He said he thinks the matter will be discussed at the next meeting of the Board of Selectmen.

At a work session this week most of the council felt it best to waive competitive bidding. Deputy Mayor Robert Myette, however, said he wanted to reevaluate the project before making up his mind.

Lupachino and Salvatore's original bid was for $788,444. A vote will be taken when the council meets Monday.

Hebron group seeks health services talk

A group of Hebron residents have petitioned the Board of Selectmen to call a Special Town Meeting to discuss health services provided to the town by Glastonbury.

David Marnicki of Kinney Rd. presented the petition, containing 33 signatures, to Town Clerk Marion Celio Monday night.

The document said nothing for or against the Glastonbury services, but simply called for discussion of the matter.

Circulation of the petition began over the weekend following an announcement by First Selectman Aaron Reid of the availability of Dr. William Ellzey of Columbia for appointment as director of health.

Reid had also announced at the selectmen's meeting that persons interested in the sanitarian's position should contact him at the Town Office Building.

Reid said Monday night he had no knowledge of what the petition was all about. He said if there were any problems he didn't know why they haven't been presented to the selectmen.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago I married an older man after waiting for three years for him to get a divorce. He settled out of court, giving his wife practically everything she asked for, including a beautiful home and all the furnishings.

DEAR NEEDS: Nowhere have you mentioned that you love him. It appears that you are concerned mainly with money, material things and getting the short end of the deal. Only you can decide whether you're getting more out of this marriage than you're putting into it.

DEAR ABBY: I'm in a recent column, one of your correspondents stated that she had signed a contract under pressure from a door-to-door salesperson. She said she couldn't afford the monthly payments, didn't really need the product and was afraid to tell her husband about it.

DEAR B. L. K.: It is my understanding that in most states if the consumer sends a registered letter to the company within three days after signing such a contract, his request to cancel the contract will be honored.

YOUR BIRTHDAY - May 28, 1977. Something extraordinary, but highly beneficial, may occur in your work or career this day. It will happen fast, so keep on your toes!

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Things should go favorably today, but some difficulties will surface. Trying to find shortcuts to make things easier would only create confusion.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Management is definitely not your long suit today. This applies not only to what you have, but to resources of others.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't be wily-waity with those for whom you're responsible today. Being what you feel is extra-feral is preferable to being too lenient.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Letting your intuition and sensitivities dominate your actions today might be trouble. Do everything as logically and rationally as possible.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Joint ventures are good at present, but not quite as spectacular as you may think. Anticipating too much may cause disappointment.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) It may seem more convenient to let others handle matters for you today, but they can only touch lightly what you could actively accomplish yourself.

INRO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) It's necessary to be an early bird in and take care of things on schedule. The longer you wait, the more you minimize your gain.
