Negotiations continue for 50 adults

BOVENSMILDE, The Netherlands (UPI) — South Moluccan gunmen today released more than 100 children imprisoned four days in a school swept by sickness but still held five teachers in the school and more than 50 passengers on a hijacked train.

Farewell, chuckholes, farewell. Employees of The Balf Co. were busy Thursday completing paving work near the intersection of W. Middle Tpk. and Adams St. Jay J. # State revamp plan sent to governor

HARTFORD (UPI) — For 40 years, Connecticut has been considering various plans to reorganize its state government. The legislature has finally adopted one.

The House of Representatives Thursday approved 130-13 and sent to Gov. Ella T. Grasso a master plan to reorganize state government similar to ones adopted by 26 other states in recent years. Mrs. Grasso is expected to sign the bill into law.

The Democrat-controlled House resisted Republican attempts to tamper with the consolidation bill for almost four hours and then rubber-stamped a plan approved by the Senate earlier this week.

Under the measure, the state's more than 200 departments, boards and agencies would be merged into 23 so-called superagencies over the next two years.

No one would lose his job and no programs would be abolished in the first year of reorganization. But lawmakers would ultimately be required to evaluate the performance of 100 state agencies to see if they were serving a useful purpose.

Last year, Mrs. Grasso established a special study group headed by Aetna Life & Casualty Co. President

Employee honored

Doris Remy, a secretary in the Engineering Department, was honored Thursday as the Public Works Employee of the Year. # Doris Remy named top worker of year

Doris Remy, a secretary in the Town of Manchester's Engineering Department, has been named the Outstanding Public Works Employee of 1977.

Jay J. Giles, director of public works, announced the award Thursday in observation of National Public Works Week, which ends Saturday.

Mrs. Remy was recommended for the award by Town Engineer Walter Senkow. She has worked in the department for over nine years and is the first woman to win the Public Works Employee of the Year honor, which has been presented for several years. She will be leaving the position later this year when she and her husband, Lewis, move to Pennsylvania.

"Doris's motivation and performance have been outstanding, not only for the Engineering Division but for the entire Town of Manchester," Giles said.

"It has been very comforting to know that Doris Remy is an employee of the Public Works Department. Employees like Doris make my job and Walter Senkow's job easier," he said.

Mrs. Remy has been a town employee since 1964. She worked in the Highway Department before moving to the Engineering Department. Manchester State Bank and the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce, contractor's division, each presented Mrs. Remy with a $25 savings bond.

Members of the Perennial Planters Garden Club planted flowers at Munro Parklet Thursday and not the Manchester Garden Club.

A "show cause" hearing involving four paraprofessional employees of Manchester's Board of Education has been continued until June 9.

The hearing was started Thursday with opening arguments and has been continued until the June date, Atty. William Collins, who is handling the case for the town, said.

The four employees have taken legal action against the town because they have not been allowed to make retroactive payments into the pension plan. The four women say that they were erroneously left out of the pension plan when they began working for the school system.

All are now members of the plan, but they want to receive credit from the time they first worked for the town.

Atty. Collins is handling the case because Town Counsel Victor I. Moses previously ruled in favor of the employees making the retroactive payments.

Scholarship fete set

The Manchester Scholarship Foundation has scheduled its 11th annual awards ceremony for Wednesday, June 8, at 7:30 p.m. in the Manchester High School cafeteria.

Students receiving awards, their parents, representatives from local organizations presenting awards, and the public are invited.

Scholarships will be awarded to graduating high school seniors who are Manchester residents, and to Manchester resident students at Manchester Community College who are transferring to other institutions.

The awards ceremony is coordinated by Richard Sartor assisted by N. William Knight, Nicholas Krascella, Mrs. Charles Morse and Mrs. James Gerrity.

Freedom from smut

The so-called victimless crimes of pornography and prostitution are turning out to be not so victimless after all. The situation is most acute in New York, the city that epitomizes so much that is good and bad in American society.

While it may be true that pornography and prostitution are victimless in that no one is forced to patronize either product of service, it is also true that Times Square has been turned into a physically and spiritually blighted area.

It is ironic that only a few years ago, the guardians of the public morality diligently prosecuted anyone they could find secretly enjoying a dirty book, even in the privacy of his own home.

It need not be, says a distinguished legal authority. In the matter of pornography, at least, there could be a compromise which protects the rights of those who want to view or read it as well as the rights of those who don't.

Writing in Atlantic magazine, attorney Charles Rembar says that the courts should be guided by the constitutional right of privacy, which includes the right to be let alone.

As of mid-May, however, no such nomination had been submitted to the Senate and Smith's service as "acting" deputy had stretched past the 90-day mark.

Four years ago, in June 1973, a federal court in Washington ruled that Nixon appointees Howard J. Phillips could no longer function as director of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

The lawsuit which resulted in that injunction against Phillips had been filed by four Democratic senators, including the man who is now Jimmy Carter's vice president: Walter F. Mondale.

Metzenbaum has called that case to the attention of FEA in warning that Smith may be occupying his post illegally, sources tell us.

FEA power struggle

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A potentially heating battle may be looming on Capitol Hill over the job status of the number two man at the Federal Energy Administration.

For weeks now, critics within and outside the government have been searching for a way to oust retired Army Gen. Gorman Smith from his position as acting deputy administrator of the FEA.

Smith, a holdover from the Nixon-Ford era, is regarded as a villain by consumer groups, environmentalists and their allies in Congress.

Wants Smith
Their opinion is not shared by FEA Administrator John O'Leary, a Carter appointee who has shown no intention of dumping the deputy he inherited more than three months ago from the outgoing Republican administration.

Warning issued
The warning, according to our sources, was issued by Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, a member of the Senate Energy Committee and an outspoken critic of Smith who would like to see him forced out of government entirely.

Status studied
The spokesman acknowledged that FEA had received "a Senate inquiry" about the legality of Smith's status as acting deputy, but said agency lawyers "are not aware of any legal limitations at this time."

Politics Pearson

Mancheste's two state senators were on opposite sides during a battle over the Bottle Bill earlier this week.

One of those who had originally challenged the petition was Sen. George Hannan (D-3rd), who represents all of East Hartford and part of Manchester.

The bill would ban flip-top cans and require a three-to-five-cent deposit on bottles. The proposal, modeled after similar laws in effect in Oregon and Vermont, has generally been backed by environmentalists and opposed by business and labor.

The bill has been approved by both the House of Representatives and the Senate, but in different forms. Thus, a petition drive was started in the Senate to force a vote on the bill as passed by the House.

Zinc tablets may help

DEAR DR. LAMB— About three months ago I contracted a virus. As a result I lost my sense of taste and smell. On the advice of my physician I began taking vitamin C tablets and found these of little value. I am still unable to taste or smell anything and have been told by some people that I may find this lack of senses persisting for a year or more.

A few years ago Dr. Robert I. Henkin, now at Georgetown University's Center for Molecular Nutrition and Sensory Disorders, discovered that zinc deficiencies were related to many of these problems. There are many causes for a zinc deficiency, including a few cases of cancer, so anyone with such a problem should certainly see a physician.

Youth job bill passed

WASHINGTON (UPI)— The Senate approved a bill to provide jobs and employment training for about 200,000 young people, mainly between the ages of 18 and 23, during the next 18 months.

Some people with your problems and a zinc deficiency are not able to absorb zinc properly. It may take some time to achieve the best results if you regain your taste you will get along with a normal well balanced diet.

Carter trying to widen U.S. foreign policy

WASHINGTON (UPI)— President Carter has decided the time has come for the United States to broaden the base of its foreign policy—to move from total reliance on the Atlantic Alliance and anti-communism to a new view of an emerging world.

He believes that the post World War II fears that motivated U.S. policy also limited its scope and forced America to abandon its values.

In a major address on foreign policy at the University of Notre Dame commencement, Carter said:

"Being confident of our own future, we are now free of that inordinate fear of Communism which once led us to embrace any dictator who joined us in our fear. For too many years we have been willing to adopt the flawed principles and tactics of our adversaries, sometimes abandoning our values for theirs...this approach failed, with Vietnam the best example of its intellectual and moral poverty."

The President said U.S. policy was guided by a belief that Soviet expansion must be contained and "the corresponding belief in the importance of an almost exclusive alliance among non-Communist nations on both sides of the Atlantic."

Long on rhetoric
The President was long on rhetoric and short on specifics. But it is clear that he would like to see the United States get more with it in terms of Africa and Latin America, which have been neglected in the past with makeshift policies.

Carter also says he is getting a gratifying feedback from nations around the world because of his defense of human rights.

"We can no longer separate the traditional issues of war and peace from the new global questions of justice, equity and human rights," Carter said.

A new world
"It's a new world, but America should not fear it. It is a new world and we should help to shape it. It is a new American foreign policy—a policy based on constant decency in its values and on optimism in its historical vision."

Since he took office, Carter has tried to put his imprint on foreign policy. He is new at it. But even if he hears a few pages out of the old book, he believes he can write some new history.

30-year-old-deadlock
In the Middle East, he is striving to break a 30-year-old deadlock which will permit Israel to be a secure nation and at the same time require her to return conquered Arab lands.

On Cuba, Carter has made strides toward restoration of diplomatic relations.

In Africa, Carter has taken a bold stance, permitting controversial U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young, a former civil rights leader, to speak out forcefully, while the United States takes a strong stand in favor of majority black rule.

Big city climber

Gasoline price up over 1977

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Motorists can expect to spend five or six cents a gallon more for gasoline this Memorial Day weekend than they paid a year ago, the American Automobile Association reported Thursday. A nationwide AAS survey of 3,600 service stations showed average pump prices at the beginning of this summer driving season—a time of year when gasoline prices traditionally increase—stand at 69.9 cents a gallon for premium, 66.9 for unleaded and 64.0 for regular.

The national average for diesel fuel is 56.6 cents a gallon, the association said. Trucks, buses and a few cars burn diesel, considered by some vehicle designers to be the fuel of the near future.

"To the surprise of absolutely no one who drives a car, the cost of gasoline is higher now than it was a year ago," the AAA said. "The price hike is about five to six cents a gallon." Hawaii had the highest reported gasoline costs, with an overall average of 75 cents a gallon. The survey showed Hawaiian motorists can expect to pay 71.7 for premium, 75.2 for unleaded and 73.5 for regular.

Within the continental United States, regional prices were highest in the West with premium costing 69.9, unleaded 67.4 and regular 65.4. Wyoming led the list at 72.5 for premium, 70.9 for unleaded and 69.7 for regular.

Assistant Treasury Secretary C. Fred Bergsten said in a speech in New York the trade deficit for all of 1977 may exceed $20 billion. The report said that goods exported to other nations during April were valued at $9.97 billion, about $10.4 million—or 1 per cent—less than the March export total.

However, imports of merchandise during April were valued at $12.59 billion, up 1 per cent over the March level. The import total also was a record.

April trade deficit set at $2.6 billion

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States registered a historic $2.6 billion trade deficit in April, the fourth consecutive month that a record has been established, the Commerce Department said Thursday.

The April trade gap pushed the trade deficit for the first four months of 1977 to $8.5 billion, a level that has exceeded by almost $2.7 billion the trade deficit for all 12 months of last year, the department said.

The record trade deficit for one year was $6.4 billion in 1972.

Man scales World Trade Center to earn cheers and lawsuit

NEW YORK (UPI)—A 28-year-old man reached the summit of New York's highest "mountain," the 110-story World Trade Center, in an act of daring that brought wild cheers from thousands of rush hour spectators and a $250,000 lawsuit from the city.

"It was a lot of fun," was all the daredevil, George Willig of New York, was able to say before police slammed the door on a patrol car and, siren screaming, whisked him off to book him on charges of trespassing, reckless endangerment and disorderly conduct.

Willig's bold act caught the imagination of rush hour commuters in New York's financial district and they watched in awe for hours as he scaled the sheer 1,350-foot face of the world's second tallest building. Traffic was jammed for blocks. Burglers stopped on their routes to gawk.

The daredevil used a special mountain climbing device to crawl up the window washing tracks on the side of the building.

When Willig reached the top parapet at 10:30 a.m., thousands of onlookers at their necks stiff from staring upwards at the "human fly" gave out loud war whoops, and motorists blared their horns.

"He's up there. He's on top and he's safe," shouted one man in the street.

But the city's Corporation Counsel, W. Bernard Richland, who handles lawsuits for the city, immediately slapped a $250,000 law suit on Willig to cover the expenses incurred because of the early morning stunt.

"Every time you divert a policeman for this kind of exploit, a neighborhood is unmoved and there is overtime," Richland said. "It's

Governor signs several laws

HARTFORD (UPI)—Gov. Ella T. Grasso has signed into law a bill making it a felony to steal a firearm in Connecticut.

Beginning Oct. 1, a person convicted of stealing a gun or rifle can face up to five years in jail and a fine of $5,000. Presently, firearm theft carries no specific penalty.

The governor also signed into law Thursday a proposal requiring group health insurance companies to cover outpatient treatment of alcoholism.

A bill protecting dentists and teachers with first aid experience who give emergency care and then are sued for malpractice.

A measure allowing registrars to set up polling places in another district if they can't find a suitable polling place in their district.

A proposal requiring write-in votes be counted along with absentee ballots and voting machines votes when an election is disputed and the votes are recounted.

A bill allowing municipal police to attend state and community college police academies tuition-free.

A constitutional amendment allowing 17-year-olds to apply to be electors if they can't find a suitable takes place.

A measure changing all references to "town clerks" in Connecticut statutes to "municipal clerks."

A proposal setting up a special Insurance Department panel to investigate malpractice claims. Those involved in the suit could voluntarily seek the board's advice.

Jai alai reopens despite strike

HARTFORD (UPI)—Gamblers and players ignored picket lines set Thursday night by striking workers at the opening of Hartford's Jai Alai arena.

A crowd of 4,878 wagered $350,000 on 12 matches, surpassing last year's inaugural opening when just over 3,000 gamblers wagered $140,046.

Operators of the gambling facility got the go-ahead to open up from the state gaming commission apparently after it determined before the 6 p.m. starting time that most of the estimated 300 arena employees planned to work.

The decision to allow the arena to open was made by Louis C. Ficchio, Racing Division director of the gaming commission. The strike by Local 59, Hotel and Restaurant Employees and Bartenders Union, began Wednesday after employees, excluding players and parking attendants, voted 125-46 Tuesday night to reject the management's contract offer.

The union said workers earn an average of $2.60 an hour and the company has refused to provide any fringe benefits or medical insurance.

About 75 persons picketed outside the facility when it opened at 6 p.m.

Henry J. Tamarin, business agent for Local 59, accused the management of intimidating the employees in returning to work.

COEP fete described a success

The annual banquet of Manchester High School's Cooperative Occupational Education Program (COEP) was at the Colony Restaurant May 17. The dinner was attended by about 400 people: students and their employers, and teachers involved in the program.

COEP is a work experience plan whose students spend some time at school and some time working. There are three divisions to the program: nursing, education, and the diversified or general category.

Outstanding student awards, presented on the basis of grades, work achievement and general attitude were received this year by the following students: Natalie Goff, COEP I; Joseph Cullen, COEP II; Louis Pantaleo, COEP III; and Fernanda Corrales and Jane Goulet, Distributive Education I and II.

In April the MHS team competed in the Connecticut Association of Math Leagues Contest. Manchester placed a very respectable fourth out of all the top teams from the five major Connecticut Math Leagues. With a strong contingent of returning veterans, MHS can look forward to another outstanding season from next year's Math team.

The banquet was a success, well attended by students and two hundred of their employers from the business community. Other guests included officials from the Connecticut State Department of Education, the Vocational Education Advisory Committee and the Manchester Board of Education.

Rock review:

Tull reaches out, crowd impressed

In 1968, an unencured group of musicians stepped on stage and began to stomp a song that shocked most of the judges. The leader's dress was simple, consisting of a long tweed coat and sneakers, accompanied by a head of hair about a foot in diameter.

Nine years later, the same band, along with the revisions of new and more members, once again stepped on stage at New Haven Coliseum and created the unmistakable aura of Jethro Tull.

The only original member of Jethro Tull is its proclaimed savior, Ian Anderson. To thousands of fans, he is Tull. It's not difficult for one to come to that conclusion. The band's life revolves around him. He has written, arranged and led nearly every song they have produced.

Math team sums up a year of competition

The Capitol Area Mathematics League ended its 76-77 season with a banquet at Willie's Restaurant May 4. The Manchester High School Math Team was honored for placing third in the large school division behind powerful teams from Hall and Concord of West Hartford, respectively.

Several MHS students were honored for their outstanding performance. Senior David Hardy was named top senior in the league for his season average of 18. In the nine-year history of the twenty-six school league, no student has ever before had a perfect average. David was also selected as the MHS team's Most Valuable Player, having contributed the highest percentage of the team's total points.

Senior activities listed by Principal Emmerling

About two months ago, George Emmerling took the opportunity to meet with all seniors in small groups in order to make them aware of Senior Week activities.

The following activities encompass the school's sponsorship and endorsement: Friday, June 10—Senior Prom at the Howard Johnson Convention Center in Windsor Locks, 8 p.m. to midnight. Immediately afterward is the Rotary Club-sponsored Dawn Dance at the MHS cafeteria.

Monday, June 13—Annual Senior Picnic at Frank Davis Resort in Moodus, 9 a.m. until return to Manchester at 7:30 p.m. All seniors participating will travel by bus both ways. A full day's activities plus two meals are planned.

Wednesday, June 15—Senior Party at the high school quadrangle, weather permitting, otherwise in the high school cafeteria. A nominal fee may be charged.

Tuesday, June 21—Final Graduation rehearsal and Awards Assembly in MHS Arena beginning at 9 a.m. No classes for seniors. Graduation ceremony will begin promptly at 6:45 p.m. on Memorial Field.

Emmerling would like to stress that MHS in the way sponsors a "Senior Skip Day." In the spring of 1969, one of MHS's candidates for graduation was killed in a car accident and several others were seriously injured. Emmerling strongly discourages the kind of a day which could end in similar tragedy.

Emmerling would also like to note that the senior graduation party, which for the past several years has taken place after the graduation ceremony in different areas of our community, is in no way sponsored or chartered by the high school.

Convicts visit law classes

Recently, the assorted law classes in the high school were introduced to three gentlemen from Enfield. Each spoke about his experiences with criminal law enforcement and gave a description of life in jail.

Through the combined efforts of MHS's public relations officer McCooe and Mr. E. Zatursky, the convicts were able to visit a class of 50 students. Normally, ninety or more students are needed for the more interesting guest speakers. The convicts appeared uneasy, showing little emotion other than boredom or fascination.

His 5'-10" body was stocky, clad in a basic green prison wear. He took a firm hold of the podium, stated his name and number, and explained the three men are convicts at the state correctional institution in Enfield.

Housing boom

Earlier forecasts of a spring season housing boom have come true, reports the National Association of Realtors.

The association points to a vigorous rate of new housing starts, with single-family construction approaching an all-time record pace, and near-record levels of resale transactions.

One thing which we do not need at this point is for the market to boom out of sight and reach a white-hot level of activity."

Save gas saving Connecticut motorists could have saved at least 13.8 million gallons of gasoline worth about $8 million in 1976 had they properly inflated their tires.

The correct air pressure also extends tread wear, which in turn saves oil because many components of tires come from crude oil, Lovell pointed out.

76ers lead 2-0

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Some will say the ugly difference between Doug Collins and a telephone pole can't sink a 20-foot jumper or drive to the basket kamikaze-style for a twisting layup.

The 6-foot-6, 175-pound Philadelphia string bean joined teammates Julius Erving and Henry Bibby in a classic display of fast break basketball in the second period Thursday night and the 76ers rolled to a 107-89 victory over the Portland Trail Blazers to take a 2-0 lead in the NBA championship series.

Collins shot 10-for-16 while scoring a game-high 27 points, but it wasn't easy. He twisted an ankle and had to lay up in the first quarter and the selfless Spectrum crowd of 12,276 held its breath in unison.

Later, he sustained a four-stitch cut over the right eye during an ugly, bench-clearing free-throw battle that resulted in the ejection of teammate Darryl Dawkins and Portland's Maurice Lucas in the fourth quarter.

Collins hit two baskets to spark the Sixers' second-quarter burst that ended in a 41-40 lead as Bibby added eight points and Erving six. Of the 13 baskets Philadelphia made in the fourth, nine were layups or dunks.

At the same time, the Blazers shot themselves out of the game with mistakes, said Erving, who had 20 points. "Our defense was superb. It's a challenge to stop us if you can't do that."

The fight that marred the game, which came with the Sixers holding a safe 20-point lead with 4:52 to play, was touched off after the 6-foot-11, 225-pound Dawkins and the Blazers' Bob Gross went crashing to the floor on a rebound.

"We have not played well in these games," he said. "Our game is ball movement and we haven't been doing it. Instead of us getting the fast break, we're giving it to them and you can't do that."

Winning Coach Gene Shue called the Sixers' second-quarter performance "as well as a team can play under stress."

"We made them make mistakes," said Erving, who had 20 points. "Our defense was superb. It's a challenge to stop us if you can't do that."

Messersmith key Brave

NEW YORK (UPI)—Andy Messersmith, who is only being brought to pitch up to his capabilities, is the key man if the Atlanta Braves are to become a factor in the National League's Western Division race.

That, at least, is the opinion of former teammate Tom Paciorek, who says, "I still think Andy is the best money pitcher in the game."

Messersmith, a two-time 20-game winner in the major leagues, allowed four hits in seven innings Thursday when the Braves scored an 8-3 victory over the San Diego Padres. Messersmith walked five and struck out eight before being replaced by Rick Camp, who shut out the Padres for the last two innings.

"The longer Andy pitches in a game, the better he gets," said Paciorek. "I still say he can do more to make them a winner than any other player on the squad."

In other National League games, Chicago defeated Montreal, 1-0. St. Louis beat Philadelphia, 4-3. Los Angeles nipped Houston, 4-3 in 10 innings, and San Francisco topped the Cincinnati Reds, 6-4. Chicago shaded Milwaukee, 4-3, in the only scheduled American League game.

Mike Krukow pitched a four-hitter and scored the game's only run when Bob Murcer walked with the bases filled in the sixth inning.

Howton in the 10th, was the winner, and Ken Forsch the loser. Houston held the Astros hitless until Art Howe led off the sixth with a single.

Giants 6, Red 5

Terry Whitfield's fourth single of the game drove in five runs and two out in the eighth and enabled the Giants to run their winning streak to four games. Garry Lavelle, who worked the last two innings, won his third game while Pedro Borbon was the loser.

White Sox 4, Brewers 3

Chicago broke a four-game losing streak when pinch-hitter Lamar Johnson knocked in the winning run with a sacrifice fly. Steve Stone allowed seven hits in seven innings and won his fifth game with the relief aid of Lerrin LaGrow. Sal Bando and Don Money homered for the Brewers.

- Here are a few tips to help make your homemore saleable.
1. List with a real estate firm. His professional knowledge will obtain the best market price for your home with a minimum of delay and trouble to you.
  2. Let the salesman do the selling. Do not discuss price, terms, possession or other factors with the prospect. Refer these questions to the salesman.
  3. Avoid crowds. Avoid having too many people present during inspections. The prospect will feel like an intruder and will hurry through the house.
  4. Be courteous but do not force the prospect. He is inspecting your house, not making a social call.
- These are just a few tips. I'll have more for you next week.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I am a 33-year-old man who is very much in love with a 22-year-old girl. I know you think I'm crazy, but this girl really loves me. She even broke up with a young, good-looking man just for me...

DEAR ISLANDER: Make her a better offer. She might surprise you. But don't give up your last dime for your freedom because that "sweet, unspooled girl" might also surprise you and disappear when she discovers you're broke.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a 28-year-old, college-educated man who takes a ping-pong ball to bed with him every night and keeps bopping it off the wall and catching it until he gets tired enough to fall asleep?

DEAR JEALOUS: Yes. And from where I sit, I would say that you are. I would also say that the "method" you used to break up the "classmate" between your husband and your children was underhanded and nothing to be proud of.

DEAR JEALOUS: Yes. And from where I sit, I would say that you are. I would also say that the "method" you used to break up the "classmate" between your husband and your children was underhanded and nothing to be proud of.

State revamp plan sent to governor

HARTFORD (UPI) — For 40 years, Connecticut has been considering various plans to reorganize its state government. The legislature has finally adopted one.

The House of Representatives Thursday approved 130-13 and sent to Gov. Ella T. Grasso a master plan to reorganize state government similar to ones adopted by 26 other states in recent years. Mrs. Grasso is expected to sign the bill into law.

The Democrat-controlled House resisted Republican attempts to tamper with the consolidation bill for almost four hours and then rubber-stamped a plan approved by the Senate earlier this week.

Under the measure, the state's more than 200 departments, boards and agencies would be herded into 25 so-called superagencies over the next two years.

No one would lose his job and no programs would be abolished in the first year of reorganization. But lawmakers would ultimately be required to evaluate the performance of 100 state agencies to see if they were serving a useful purpose.

Last year, Mrs. Grasso established a special study group headed by Aetna Life & Casualty Co. President

A "show cause" hearing involving four paraprofessional employees of Manchester's Board of Education has been continued until June 9.

The hearing was started Thursday, with opening arguments and has been continued until the June date, Atty. William Collins, who is handling the case for the town, said.

The four employees have taken legal action against the town because they have not been allowed to make retroactive payments into the pension plan. The four women say that they were erroneously left out of the pension plan when they began working for the school system.

All are now members of the plan, but they want to receive credit from the time they first worked for the town.

Atty. Collins is handling the case because Town Counsel Victor I. Moses previously ruled in favor of the employees making the retroactive payments.

Freedom from smut

The so-called victimless crimes of pornography and prostitution are turning out to be not so victimless after all. The situation is most acute in New York, the city that epitomizes so much that is good and bad in American society. The Times Square area, especially, has become the world's greatest center of sex for sale. If the visitor's eyes are not assailed by theater marquees and peepshow signs promising the utmost in salacious entertainment, his person is accosted by brazen ladies of the evening—or morning or afternoon.

While it may be true that pornography and prostitution are victimless in that no one is forced to patronize either product or service, it is also true that Times Square has been turned into a physically and spiritually blighted area and that there are indeed victims—the citizens whose right NOT to be affronted by these activities is being grievously violated. The same problem is emerging to a lesser degree in other large cities.

It is ironic that only a few years ago, the guardians of the public morality diligently prosecuted anyone they could find secretly enjoying a dirty book, even in the privacy of his own home. Today, the authorities seem utterly paralyzed when it comes to controlling the increasingly blatant public exploitation of sex. We have carried Supreme Court interpretations of the First Amendment right of free speech and press to a ridiculous extreme.

It need not be, says a distinguished legal authority. In the matter of pornography, at least, there could be a compromise which protects the rights of those who want to view or read it as well as the rights of those who don't. Writing in Atlantic magazine, attorney Charles Rembar says that the courts should be guided by the constitutional right of privacy, which includes the right to be let alone. "Exhibition inside theaters is in this sense private; no one is compelled to enter. The same for books and magazines; no one is forced to read them. "But once the stuff spills onto the street — on theater marquees or posters, in storefront windows or newsstand displays — the privacy of those outside is assaulted. If the people wish to forbid public exhibition which displays some of those who are trying to enjoy their clear right to use the streets and sidewalks free of assault, there is no First Amendment reason that ought to stand in the way."

First Amendment handwriters might pay some attention to Rembar. It was he who won the landmark legal battles which freed "Lady Chatterley's Lover" and "Fanny Hill" (how innocent they now seem) from the iron grip of the censors. Rembar also recommends that we discard the term "obscene" for legal purposes altogether, since it carries an impossible burden of passionate conviction from both sides and diverts attention from real issues. But while so many things once considered to be "obscene" have been found to be protected by the First Amendment, he adds that this does not mean that the flow of expression cannot be channeled. Even our most liberal Supreme Court justices have agreed that the First Amendment is not infringed by laws that seek to safeguard children or to prevent unwanted displays to a captive audience, or to distinguish between expression and action.

"The control of conduct has never been restricted by the First Amendment. Indeed, the control of conduct is the primary business of government."

In New York, says Rembar, 42nd Street constitutes a public nuisance. No need to cogitate and strain over whether the displays are obscene. What is thrust upon the passerby can be regulated because the citizens feel it is disagreeable or offensive or unhealthy — "that is, if there are enough such citizens so that under our democratic processes they constitute a majority."

FEA power struggle

By Martha Angle and Robert Walters
 WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A potentially bruising battle may be looming on Capitol Hill over the job status of the number two man at the Federal Energy Administration. For weeks now, critics within and outside the government have been searching for a way to oust retired Army Gen. Gorman Smith from his position as acting deputy administrator of the FEA.

Smith, a holdover from the Nixon-Ford era, is regarded as a villain by consumer groups, environmentalists and their allies in Congress, who consider him an ardent promoter of the oil and gas industry.

His opinion is not shared by FEA Administrator John O'Leary, a Carter appointee who has shown no intention of dumping the deputy he inherited more than three months ago from the outgoing Republican administration. "But O'Leary, we have learned, was privately warned that Smith's prolonged tenure may constitute a violation of a federal law prohibiting anyone from serving in an 'acting' capacity for more than 30 days in a job which requires a formal presidential appointment and Senate confirmation."

The warning, according to our sources, was issued by Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, a member of the Senate Energy Committee and an outspoken critic of Smith who would like to see him forced out of government entirely. "O'Leary has previously said that Smith would be formally nominated for the number two job at FEA, although that decision ultimately rests with the President — not with O'Leary."

As of mid-May, however, no such nomination had been submitted to the Senate and Smith's service as "acting" deputy had stretched past the 90-day mark. "We understand it's at the White House, going through clearance," an FEA spokesman said.

Status studied
 The spokesman acknowledged that FEA had received "a number of inquiries" about the legality of Smith's status as acting deputy, but said agency lawyers "are not aware of any legal limitations at this time." The matter, he added, is under investigation.

Four years ago, in June 1973, a federal court in Washington ruled that Nixon appointee Howard J. Phillips could no longer function as director of the Office of Economic Opportunity, a post he had occupied for almost five months in an "acting" capacity without receiving Senate confirmation.

The lawsuit which resulted in that injunction against Phillips had been filed by four Democratic senators including the man who is now Jimmy Carter's vice president: Walter F. Mondale.

Solution easy?
 Metzenbaum has called that case to the attention of FEA in warning that Smith may be occupying his post illegally, sources tell us.

By GREG PEARSON

Mancheste's two state senators were on opposite sides during a battle over the Bottle Bill earlier this week. Lt. Gov. Robert Killian, who presides over the Senate, ruled that a petition requesting a Senate vote on the bill was invalid.

One of those who had originally challenged the petition was Sen. George Hannon (D-3rd), who represents all of East Hartford and part of Manchester. One of those who challenged Killian's rejection of the petition was Sen. David Barry (D-4th) who represents part of Manchester and several surrounding towns.

The bill would ban flip-top cans and require a three-to-five-cent deposit on bottles. The proposal, modeled after similar laws in effect in Oregon and Vermont, has generally been backed by environmentalists and opposed by business and labor, who fear increased expenses and loss of jobs in the bottle industry. Supporters of the bill, however, feel that the returnable-bottle setup would create more jobs than it would eliminate.

The bill has been approved by both the House of Representatives and the Senate, but in different forms. Thus, a petition drive was started in the State to force a vote on the bill as passed by the House.

Sens. Hannon and James Murphy (D-10th), however, said that such a vote requires a petition from the House and not from the Senate. Killian Tuesday ruled that Sens. Hannon and Murphy were correct and that the petition to force the Senate vote was invalid.

Sens. Barry and Joseph Lieberman (D-10th) then challenged Killian's ruling, but the challenge was defeated by a 24-12 vote of the Senate. A House petition could still be filed to force a vote in the Senate, but the petition would have to have 76 signatures by June 1, less than one week away.

Barry has supported the Bottle Bill in past years when it has failed in the state legislature. Hannon has said that he favors the anti-litter bill which was proposed as an alternative to the Bottle Bill. The anti-litter bill would tax businesses for litter cleanup.

A bill proposed by Rep. Francis Mahoney (D-13th) has been killed in the State Senate for this year. The bill would have permitted the Probate Court to grant name changes. Such requests are presently handled exclusively in Superior Court.

Mahoney said that a member of the Senate requested that the bill, which had been passed by the House, be sent back to committee. The request was granted, thus ending the bill's chances of passage for this session.

Atty. Hillery Gallagher of Manchester had suggested the legislation to Mahoney. Gallagher recently handled a case for a client from Korea who had become a naturalized citizen. A younger child was born in the United States and was not a naturalized citizen. Thus, the family had to hire an attorney and go through the Superior Court, which includes a $50 fee, to get the name change.

Mahoney said that he feels the bill was not passed because it was opposed by lawyers in the Senate who might have feared the loss of business the bill would cause.

Today's thought

To settle for mediocrity in ourselves when excellence is a reasonable expectation is a tragic injustice to ourselves. All men are born equal in capability, talent, and mental capacity. Efforts to level them will result in the deterioration of society, through a lowering of productivity and the standard of living, and through the unhappiness of failing to achieve personal fulfillment.

Many well-intentioned but misguided people have allowed their sympathy for the less fortunate to blind them to the reality of variations in achievement. Seeking to reward the less gifted person equally with the one with superior endowments will discourage the latter and create a euphoric sense of equality in the former.

Jesus recognized differing abilities in us, in his parable of the talents, Matthew 25. Each is held accountable for his performance in keeping with his gifts. For us to treat these distinctions differently is to engage in unrealistic folly. Do the best you can with what you have, asking God's blessings upon your efforts. To settle for less is to untruly to our Creator, to ourselves, and to our fellowmen.

 just around the Good Season's corner. Who's afraid? Who's afraid of inflation, sitting on a bench in the middle of a forest of blossoms? Their petals tell us that by heaven our leaders had better do something about the price of pork chops. For a few weeks, we can tell ourselves that the country is not, either, headed for perdition, and that the tube will show us something besides people maiming other people.

Accordingly, I cast my vote for these days "with that nameless pathos in the air which dwells with all things fair." Thanks a million, Nature, and pull up a chair.

Zinc tablets may help

DEAR DR. LAMB — About three months ago I contracted a virus. As a result I lost my sense of taste and smell. On the advice of my physician I began taking vitamin C tablets and found these of little value. I am still unable to taste or smell anything and have been told by some people that I may find this lack of senses persisting for a year or more.

In your experiences have you run across either a remedy or some encouraging news on when I can expect to recover my sense of taste and smell? I am interested in knowing just what happened, how physicians treat this loss and what can be done in the future to prevent a recurrence. A person never values all of his senses until he is without some of them for as long as I have been.

DEAR READER — You will be surprised to learn that I get many letters asking about the same or similar problem. It is not unusual for such a loss to occur in the wake of a virus illness.

A few years ago Dr. Robert I. Henkin, now at Georgetown University's Center for Molecular Nutrition and Sensory Disorders, discovered that zinc deficiencies were related to many of these problems. There are many causes for a zinc deficiency, including a few cases of cancer, so anyone with such a problem should certainly see a physician.

Doctors often prescribe zinc tablets for this problem. That will work if the loss of senses is directly related to a dietary deficiency of zinc. And it may work in your case if your loss is a complication of the virus illness that you have now recovered from.

You can get zinc tablets (zinc sulfate) without a prescription and your druggist will help you. They come as 66 milligram tablets and contain 15 milligrams of zinc.

Zinc is an important part of your diet. It is commonly found in meats. If you happen to have been on a protein deficient diet you would be more apt to have a dietary deficiency.

Dr. Henkin has discovered that saliva normally contains a protein which he calls gustin. The gustin stimulates the growth and development of new taste buds. If you are zinc deficient you don't produce gustin and you

Fresh Air Fund needs area help

The Fresh Air Fund Program, through which children from New York visit the 12 Eastern seaboard states for two weeks each summer, is seeking host families. The youngsters all come from poor families and range in age from five to 12 years. The children are selected without regard to race, color or religion. All receive physicals a day or so before arrival. A host family incurs little expense. The program provides transportation, insurance, medical, etc. The program was initiated by the Rev. Willard Parson of Pennsylvania some 100 years ago after he had visited New York City. It began with a few children visiting in the country, and now the figure is close to 15,000 children each year, many of whom have never gone camping, seen a mountain, taken a dip into the sea. The youngsters will be visiting this area from July 13 to July 26. Interested families may contact Mrs. Heidi DuMouchel, 643-2885; Mrs. Mary Mean, 675-1954; or Mrs. Rosemary Gibbs, 749-2451.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Pacific Gas & Electric Co. is preparing emergency plans for "rolling blackouts" over vast areas of California this summer because of a hydroelectric power shortage caused by two-year drought. Fire department updating list of handicapped

The Town Fire Department is currently updating its file on handicapped persons and needs information on any new handicapped Manchester residents. The files are relied upon to assure that fire fighters are aware of the residences where handicapped individuals live, since special evacuation and rescue techniques must be used for emergencies.

Town Fire Chief John C. Rivosa is requesting that any handicapped persons, or anyone aware of such persons or any other individuals who rely on special life support equipment, contact the fire headquarters on its routine call number, 648-2808.

The Fire Department needs to know the nature of the handicap, the structure of the house and rooms where evacuation might be made.

Chief Rivosa added that the department may request that the residents allow a team of fire fighters to visit the home to draw floor plans and decide the proper rescue routes and techniques for emergency situations.

representatives have been visiting major customers to set up "emergency planning" because the crisis season is May to October and overloads "could start any time with a hot spell or major outage."

He said, however, the utility has specific controls so blackouts would be carefully shared among businesses and residents.

PG&E has area "blows" and would try to divide power loss among them on a rotating basis for roughly two to four hours each.

This means, for instance, that rather than shutting off an entire city, PG&E would impose blackouts on some customers in many areas throughout the state.

The key to the problem is peak periods when air conditioners and agricultural irrigation coolers overtax the power capacity of PG&E, whose hydroelectric supply — drawn from water — has been reduced to 13 per cent of normal, Baxter said.

PG&E serves 9 million persons north from the Los Angeles County line to near the Oregon border, encompassing nearly 60 per cent of the state's area.

Carter trying to widen U.S. foreign policy

By HELEN THOMAS
UPI White House Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter has decided the time has come for the United States to broaden the base of its foreign policy — to move from total reliance on the Atlantic Alliance and anti-communism to a new view of an emerging world.

He believes that the post World War II fears that motivated U.S. policy also limited its scope and forced America to abandon its values.

In a major address on foreign policy at the University of Notre Dame commencement, Carter said:

Confident of future
"Being confident of our own future, we are now free of that inordinate fear of Communism which once led us to embrace any dictator who joined us in our fear. For too many years we have been willing to adopt the flawed principles and tactics of our adversaries, sometimes abandoning our values for theirs... this approach failed, with Vietnam the best example of its intellectual and moral poverty."

The President said U.S. policy was guided by a belief that Soviet expansion must be contained and "the corresponding belief in the importance of an almost exclusive alliance among non-Communist nations on both sides of the Atlantic."

Long on rhetoric
The President was long on rhetoric and short on specifics. But it is clear that he would like to see the United States get more involved with its neighbors in Latin America, which have been neglected in the past with makeshift policies.

Carter also says he is getting a gratifying feedback from nations around the world because of his defense of human rights.

"We can no longer separate the traditional issues of war and peace from the new global questions of justice, equity and human rights," Carter said.

A new world
"It's a new world, but America should not fear it. It is a new world and we should help to shape it. It is a new American foreign policy — a policy based on constant decency in its values and on optimism in its historical vision."

Since he took office, Carter has tried to put his imprint on foreign policy. He is new at it. But even if he hears a few pages out of the old book, he believes he can write some new history.

30-year-old-deadlock
In the Middle East, he is striving to break a 30-year-old deadlock, which will permit Israel to be a secure nation and at the same time require her to return conquered Arab lands.

On Cuba, Carter has made strides toward restoration of diplomatic relations.

In Africa, Carter has taken a bold stance, permitting controversial U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young, a former civil rights leader, to speak out forcefully, while the United States takes a strong stand in favor of majority black rule.

Big city climber

Gasoline price up over 1977

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Motorists can expect to spend five or six cents a gallon more for gasoline this Memorial Day weekend than they paid a year ago, the American Automobile Association reported Thursday. A nationwide AAS survey of 3,800 service stations showed average pump prices at the beginning of this summer driving season — a time of year when gasoline prices traditionally increase — stand at 69.2 cents a gallon for premium, 66.9 for unleaded and 64.9 for regular.

The national average for diesel fuel is 56.6 cents a gallon, the association said. Trucks, buses and a few cars burn diesel, considered by some vehicle designers to be the fuel of the near future.

To the surprise of absolutely no one who drives a car, the cost of gasoline is higher now than it was a year ago, the A.A.A. said. "The price hike is about five to six cents a gallon."

Hawaii had the highest reported gasoline costs, with an overall average of 75 cents a gallon. The survey showed Hawaiian motorists can expect to pay 77.1 for premium, 75.2 for unleaded and 73.5 for regular.

With the continental United States, regional prices were highest in the West with premium costing 69.9, unleaded 67.4 and regular 65.4. Wyoming led the list at 72.5 for premium, 70.9 for unleaded and 69.7 for regular.

The record trade deficit for one year was $6.4 billion in 1972. Assistant Treasury Secretary C. Fred Bergsten said in a speech in New York the trade deficit for all of 1977 may exceed $20 billion.

The report said that goods exported to other nations during April were valued at $9.97 billion, about $10.4 million — or 1 per cent — less than the March export total.

However, imports of merchandise during April were valued at $12.59 billion, up 1 per cent over the March level. The import total also was a record.

April trade deficit set at $2.6 billion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States registered a historic $2.6 billion trade deficit in April, the fourth consecutive month that a record has been established, the Commerce Department said Thursday.

The April trade gap pushed the trade deficit for the first four months of 1977 to $8.5 billion, a level that has exceeded by almost $2.7 billion the trade deficit for all 12 months of last year, the department said.

The record trade deficit for one year was $6.4 billion in 1972. Assistant Treasury Secretary C. Fred Bergsten said in a speech in New York the trade deficit for all of 1977 may exceed $20 billion.

The report said that goods exported to other nations during April were valued at $9.97 billion, about $10.4 million — or 1 per cent — less than the March export total.

Man scales World Trade Center to earn cheers and lawsuit

NEW YORK (UPI) — A 28-year-old man reached the summit of New York's highest "mountain," the 110-story World Trade Center, in an act of daring that brought wild cheers from thousands of rush hour spectators and a $250,000 lawsuit from the city.

"It was a lot of fun," was all the daredevil, George Willig of New York, was able to say before police slammed the door on a patrol car and, siren screaming, whisked him off to book him on charges of trespassing, reckless endangerment and disorderly conduct.

Willig's bold act caught the imagination of rush hour commuters in New York's financial district and they watched in awe for hours as he scaled the sheer 1,350-foot face of the world's second tallest building. Traffic was jammed for blocks. Bus drivers stopped on their routes to gawk.

The daredevil used a special mountain climbing device to crawl up the window washing tracks on the side of the building.

When Willig reached the top parapet at 10:05 a.m., thousands of onlookers — their necks stiff from staring upwards at the "human fly" on the trade center's south tower — gave out loud war whoops, and motorists blared their horns.

"He's up there. He's on top and he's safe," shouted one man in the street.

But the city's Corporation Counsel, W. Bernard Richland, who handles lawsuits for the city, immediately slapped a $250,000 law suit on Willig to cover the expenses incurred because of the early morning stunt.

"Every time you divert a policeman for this kind of exploit, a neighborhood is uncovered and there is overtime," Richland said. "It's not a good thing."

"He'll probably get the same as Philippe," one man said. As Willig reached the parapet of the building, police opened a small hatchway near the roof, but the daredevil, who police said "climbs mountains as a hobby," at first refused their help.

"But the thing is, if he should fall he's got to hit it," an Emergency Services officer said. "Believe it or not, there's a target on the airbag, but I doubt he could see it — even if he cares — from that far up."

Traffic along busy Church Street came to a halt every few minutes as drivers, including bus operators, pulled up to get a look at the climber. As Willig neared the 78th floor, police standing in the chest-high bucket that was lowered from the roof again offered him a ride to the top, but Willig refused.

Four other persons, including Willig's brother Stephen, were arrested on criminal trespass charges moments after Willig began his climb. The other confederates were identified as Gerald Hewitt, Ronald DiGiovino and a woman, Randy Zeiberg, all of New York.

"He's using some kind of a device that hooks into the window-washing tracks," a police spokesman at the scene said. "He has a rope with him

Governor signs several laws

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Ella T. Grasso has signed into law a bill making it a felony to steal a firearm in Connecticut.

Beginning Oct. 1, a person convicted of stealing a gun or rifle can face up to five years in jail and a fine of $5,000. Presently, firearm theft carries no specific penalty.

The governor also signed into law Thursday: — A measure requiring group health insurance companies to cover outpatient treatment of alcoholism.

— A measure allowing registrars to set up polling places in another district if they can't find a suitable polling place in their district.

— A proposal requiring write-in votes be counted along with absentee ballots and polling machine votes when an election is disputed and the votes are recounted.

— A constitutional amendment allowing 17-year-olds to apply to be electors if they will be 18 when the election takes place.

— A measure changing all references to "town clerks" in Connecticut statutes to "municipal clerks."

— A proposal setting up a special Insurance Department panel to investigate malpractice claims. Those involved in the suit could voluntarily seek the board's advice.

Jai alai reopens despite strike

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gamblers and players ignored picket lines set up Thursday night by striking workers at the opening of Hartford's Jai Alai arena.

A crowd of 4,878 wagered $38,692 on 12 matches, surpassing last year's inaugural opening when just over 3,000 gamblers wagered $140,046.

Operators of the gambling facility got the go-ahead to open up from the state gaming commission apparently after it determined before the 6 p.m. starting time that most of the estimated 300 union employees planned to work.

The decision to allow the arena to open was made by Louis C. Fiocchi, Racing Division director of the gaming commission. The strike by Local 59, Hotel and Restaurant Employees and Bartenders Union, began Wednesday after employees, excluding players and parking attendants, voted 125-46 Tuesday night to reject the management's contract offer.

The union said workers earn an average of $2.60 an hour and the company has refused to provide any fringe benefits including medical insurance.

About 75 persons picketed outside the facility when it opened at 6 p.m.

Henry J. Tamarin, business agent for Local 59, accused the management of intimidating the employees in returning to work.

Cracking Down on Slick Products: Companies are showing less and less patience with products which don't meet company standards, according to a Conference Board study. Firms are moving more quickly than in the past to slash and even abandon products which are not bringing in satisfactory profits and which have sluggish growth prospects.

COEP fete described a success

The annual banquet of Manchester High School's Cooperative Occupational Education Program (COEP) was at the Colony Restaurant May 17. The dinner was attended by about 400 people—students and their employers, and teachers involved in the program. COEP is a work experience plan whose students spend some time at school and some time working. There are three divisions to the program: nurses' aide, distributive education, and the diversified or general category. Students acquire jobs in Manchester and the surrounding area through the program and their work is good for school credit as well as personal profit.

The crowd was entertained by several speakers including Manchester businessmen James Farr and William Root, Director of Vocational Education Neil Lawrence and COEP students Michael Ruff, Kenneth Hole, Michael Colbath and Joseph Gaudin provided listening pleasure on the keyboards, drums, base guitar and saxophone respectively.

Outstanding student awards, presented on the basis of grades, work achievement and general attitude were received this year by the following students: Natalie Goff, COEP I; Joseph Cullen, COEP II; Louis Fantales, COEP III; and Fernanda Correia and Jane Gault, Distributive Education I and II. In the nurses' aide division, Kim Tully, conscientious nurse assistant and Patricia Scranton, hospital nurse assistant were award recipients. Eleanor Gowen, MHS vice principal, presented a scholarship from King's Department Store to Kathy Klein. Kathy is a Distributive Education senior who served on King's Fashion Board for one year.

The banquet was a success, well attended by students and two hundred of their employers from the business community. Other guests included officials from the Connecticut State Department of Education, the Vocational Education Advisory Committee and the Manchester Board of Education. The work experience program at MHS is providing a vital service in career training and is appreciated in both community and school, as the banquet clearly demonstrated.

Rock review:

Tull reaches out, crowd impressed

In 1968, an uncutured group of musicians stepped on stage and began to stomp a song that shocked most of the judges. The leader's dress was simple, consisting of a tweed coat and sneakers, accompanied by a head of hair about a foot in diameter. The other three members followed suit (no pants included) and appeared much different than the other black tie contestants at the Sudbury Jazz Festival.

Nine years later, the same band, along with the revisions of new and more members, once again stepped on stage at New Haven coliseum and created the unmistakable aura of Jethro Tull. The only original member of Jethro Tull is its proclaimed savior, Ian Anderson. To thousands of fans, he is Tull. It's not difficult for one to come to that conclusion. The band's life revolves around him. He has written, arranged and led nearly every song they have produced. He took medieval music and updated it, with words and music that gives birth to something new. His posters flow walls, and his eloquent voice flows through speakers constantly. But the true experience is to witness him on stage. He speaks, sings, gestures, and bounces about the stage in flawless motion, holding an intense aura of motion and sound. He speaks like a prophet to his children, who will bend to his every whim.

The backbone to his power is the bass. Jethro Tull, although it gives the impression of one person, is an ever changing group. The original combination of Anderson, Mick Abrahams on guitar, Glenn Cornick on bass, and the exquisite Clive Bunker on drums has been transformed to Martin Barre on the electric guitar, John Evans on the keyboard, John Glascock on bass, Barrimore Barlow on percussion and the immortal Ian Anderson. Combined on stage, the band is un-

Math team sums up a year of competition

The Capitol Area Mathematics League ended its 76-77 season with a banquet at Willie's Restaurant May 4. The Manchester High School Math Team was honored for placing third in the large school division behind powerful teams from Hall and Concord of West Hartford, respectively.

Several MHS students were honored for their outstanding performances. Senior David Hardy was named top senior in the league for his season average of 18. In the nine year history of the twenty-six school league, no student has ever before had a perfect average. David was also selected as the MHS team's Most Valuable Player, having contributed the highest percentage of the team's total points. Sophomore Scott Freedman was also awarded a plaque for having the second highest average for all grades in B-league individual competition and for a perfect match. David Ostrom was honored for attaining a perfect match, placing third among ranking juniors with a 19.5 average. Senior

About two months ago, George Emmerling took the opportunity to meet with all seniors in small groups in order to make them aware of Senior Week activities. They also discussed their responsibilities as members of the graduating class and early graduates were assured they were welcome to attend all activities. The final graduation rehearsal will be Tuesday, June 21, at 9 a.m. in the MHS arena.

The following activities encompass the school's sponsorship and endorsement. Friday, June 10—Senior Prom at the Howard Johnson Convention Center in Windsor Locks, 8 p.m. to midnight. Immediately afterward is the Rotary Club-sponsored Dawn Dance at the MHS cafeteria. Monday, June 13—Annual Senior Picnic at Frank Davis Resort in Moodus, 9 a.m. until return to Manchester at 7:30 p.m. All seniors participating will travel by bus two ways. A full day's activities plus two meals are planned. Wednesday, June 15—Senior Party at the high school quadrangle, weather permitting, otherwise in the high school cafeteria. A nominal fee may be charged. Tuesday, June 21—Final Graduation Rehearsal and Awards Assembly in MHS Arena beginning at 9 a.m. No classes for seniors. Graduation ceremony will begin promptly at 6:45 p.m. on Memorial Field. In case of inclement weather, the ceremony will be held in the MHS Arena on the same evening. No tickets are necessary for the outdoor ceremony; if indoors, seniors will be limited to two tickets each, distributed in homes before final exams begin. Seniors are permitted to invite guests to the Prom, Dawn Dance and graduation ceremony only. It is not too late to purchase picnic tickets. Those who did not get measured for caps and gowns must do so at Marlow's Department Store. All seniors participating in the graduation exercises will be required to wear caps and gowns and only those academically certified for graduation may take part. Since there was a very tragic accident eight years ago, Emmerling would like to stress that MHS in no way sponsors a "Senior Skip Day." In the spring of 1969, one of MHS's candidates for graduation was killed in a car accident and several others were seriously injured. Emmerling strongly discourages the kind of a day which could end in similar tragedy. Seniors participating in a senior skip day this year will be given six hour's detention and will be out of sight and reach a white-hot level of activity."

Convicts visit law classes

Recently, the assorted law classes in the high school were introduced to three gentlemen from Enfield. Each spoke about his experiences with criminal law enforcement and gave a description of life in jail. Because of their involvement with the state judicial system they have been stripped of their last names and given a five number digit in its place. The three men are convicts at the state correctional institution in Enfield.

Through the combined efforts of MHS's public relations officer McCooe and Mr. E. Zatursky, the convicts were able to visit a class of about 50 students. Normally, ninety or more students are needed for the more interesting guest speakers. The convicts appeared uneasy, showing little emotion other than boredom or fascination. Rudolph constantly gazed out the window, the others eyed their listening audience. After a brief impersonal introduction by Officer McCooe, the first man rose to speak. His '5-10" body was stout, clad in basic green prison wear. He took a firm hold of the podium, stated his name and number, and explained that he was serving 25 years for manslaughter. Although Rick failed to elaborate on his crime, he did outline prison life as a whole. He shied away from sharp remarks and gave no obvious indication that he was all angered at the prison system. He was more or less factual in covering most of the prison routine in his brief summary. Of course, his message was basically to elaborate on his crime, he did outline prison life as a whole. repeatedly told the class, "Man, I was cool!" or some similar stereotyped line. Tom was much more successful in his efforts to end someone's life. "Someone was being a pest, so I shot him." ## Girls softball season ends

The MHS girls' softball team has completed most of its regular 18-game season and has compiled an 8-6 record. The team is composed of four seniors, Jennier Krasella, co-captain, Rachel Rosen, Colleen Shane and co-captain Kathy Strand, four juniors: Marianne Colombe, Ellen Donadio, Doreen Downham, and Jackie Figley, and three sophomores: Shirley Adams, Debbie Brinard, and Lori Turkington. Pitching this year for Manchester are Downham (5-1) and Adams (3-2). The Indian offense is strong and well-balanced with a team batting average of about .330. Leading hitters include Rosen (.450), Strand (.408 and 23 RBIs), Donadio (.405), Figley (.367), and Downham (.331 and 14 RBIs). Defensively, the season has been highlighted with games against East Hartford and Fernli with scores of 1-2 (in extra innings), and 10-1, respectively. — Rachel Rosen

Connecticut motorists could have saved at least 13.8 million gallons of gasoline worth about $8 million in 1976 had they properly inflated their tires, the Tire Industry Safety Council estimates.

The simple act of keeping the right amount of air in automobile tires will make an important contribution to energy conservation, said Council Chairman Malcolm R. Lovell Jr. "Proper inflation will benefit the car owner by saving both gasoline and tires."

The Sunday hours starting May 29 are 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. In addition all 45 Caldor stores will be closed on Memorial Day, May 30.

Kasnitz commented that "it is unfortunate that we have to be open at all on Sunday, but we are doing so to meet the competition. Children freed by terrorists

Negotiations continue for 50 adults

BOVENSMLIDE, The Netherlands (UPI) — South Moluccan gunmen today released more than 100 children imprisoned four days in a school swept by sickness but still held five teachers in the school and more than 50 passengers on a hijacked train.

Dependence for their homeland from Indonesia. They have demanded a flight out of the country and the release of 21 jailed comrades.

Officials said at least 50 of the children released just before dawn were suffering from an "infectious disease" with symptoms that included vomiting and diarrhea. They described it as "serious but not fatal."

Doctors would not say exactly what the disease was, but officials said the gunmen agreed to the release because it had spread to such proportions.

Those youngsters who could walk boarded buses and others were carried to a small army of waiting ambulances for the trip to nearby hospitals and medical posts.

Justice Minister Dries van Agt, who headed the effort to free the children, said in a radio interview shortly after the last of the youngsters had left the school.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — President Carter went to sea today aboard the nuclear attack submarine Los Angeles, one of the nation's deadliest weapons, to inspect first hand "the capabilities and limitations of our strategic force."

Immediately after boarding the sub, the Carters went into the wardroom, the officers' mess where a table that seats 10 was laden with coffee cups and a silver bowl of fruit.

United States now has 108 nuclear submarines and 31 more are either being built or authorized.

Local solon displeased with state's new budget

By GREG PEARSON Herald Reporter A Manchester legislator who serves on the Appropriations Committee is displeased with the final state budget of $1.915-billion, but two other local legislators feel that the budget is basically a good one.

Gov. Ella Grasso Tuesday took no action on the budget, neither signing it nor vetoing it. This step allowed the document to become law. "I think the governor should have signed it or vetoed it. Personally, I wish she had vetoed it and given us another shot at it," Rep. Francis Mahoney (D-13), a member of the Appropriations Committee, said.

Rep. Theodore Cummings (D-12th) also feels the budget is sound. "It is a conservative budget that tries to meet the needs of the most critical areas," he said.

Sen. David Barry (D-4th) agreed that the governor should have either signed or vetoed the budget.

76ers lead 2-0

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Some will say the only difference between Doug Collins and a telephone pole is that the telephone pole can't sink a 20-foot jumper or drive to the basket kamikaze-style for a twisting layup.

The 6-foot-6, 178-pound Philadelphia string bean joined teammates Julius Erving and Henry Bibby in a classic display of fast break basketball in the second period Thursday night and the 76ers rolled to a 107-89 victory over the Portland Trail Blazers to take a 2-0 lead in the NBA championship series.

Collins shot 10-for-16 while scoring a game-high 27 points, but it wasn't easy. He twisted an ankle driving in for a layup in the first quarter and the first Specter crowd of 13,276 held its breath in un-

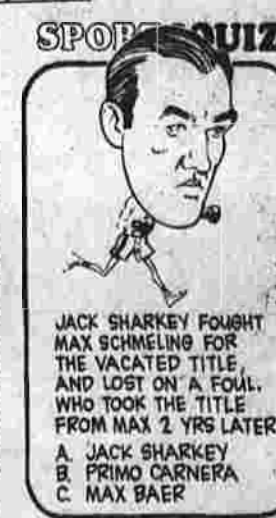

Later, he sustained a four-stitch cut over the right eye during an ugly, bench-clearing free-for-all that resulted in the ejection of teammate Darryl Dawkins and Portland's Maurice Lucas in the fourth quarter.

Collins hit two baskets to spark the 76ers' second-quarter burst that ended in a 61-43 lead as Bibby added eight points and Erving six. Of the 13 baskets Philadelphia made in the period, nine were layups or dunks.

"We have not played well in these two games," he said. "Our game is ball movement and we haven't been doing it. Instead of us giving it to them and we're giving it to them and we're giving it to them."

At the same time, the Blazers shot themselves out of the game with miserable 22 per cent shooting. Winning Coach Gene Shue said the junior second-quarter performance "as well as a team can play under stress."

"We made them make mistakes," said Erving, who had 20 points. "Our defense was superb. It's a challenge to stop us defense-

Messersmith key Brave

NEW YORK (UPI) — Andy Messersmith, who is only beginning to pitch up to his capabilities, is the key man if the Atlanta Braves are to become a factor in the National League's Western Division race.

That, at least, is the opinion of former teammate Tom Paciorek, who says, "I still think Andy is the best money pitcher in the game."

Messersmith, a two-time 20-game winner in the major leagues, allowed four hits in seven innings Thursday when the Braves scored an 8-3 victory over the San Diego Padres. Messersmith walked five but struck out eight before being replaced by Rick Camp, who shut out the Padres for the last two innings.

"The longer Andy pitches in a game, the better he gets," said Paciorek. "I still say he can do more to make them a winner than any other player on the squad."

In other National League games, Chicago defeated Montreal, 1-0. St. Louis beat Philadelphia, 4-3. Los Angeles nipped Houston, 4-0, in 10 innings, and San Francisco (Christen 4-4), N. Here are a few tips to help make your homemore saleable.

1. List with a real estate firm. His professional knowledge will obtain the best market price for your home with a minimum of delay and trouble to you.
2. Let the salesman do the selling. Do not discuss price, terms, possession or other factors with the prospect. Refer these questions to the salesman.
3. Avoid crowds. Avoid having too many people present during inspections. The prospect will feel like an intruder and will hurry through the house.
4. Be courteous but do not force the prospect. He is inspecting your house, not making a social call.

These are just a few tips. I'll have more for you next week.

it's a great day for buying a home

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 53-year-old man who is very much in love with a 22-year-old girl. I know you think I'm crazy, but this girl really loves me. She even broke up with a young, good-looking man just for me. She worked for me for a short time, but we didn't want any talk around the place, so I had her quit.

DEAR ISLANDER: Make her a better offer. She might surprise you. But don't "give up your last dime" for your freedom because that "sweet, unspiced girl" might also surprise you and disappear when she discovers you're broke.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a 28-year-old, college-educated man who takes a ping-pong ball to bed with him every night and keeps bouncing it off the wall and catching it until he gets tired enough to fall asleep? That's my husband.

DEAR JEALOUS: Yes. And from where I sit, I would say that you are. I would also say that the "method" you used to break up the "closeness" between your husband and your children was underhanded and nothing to be proud of.

Somewhere there may be a couple of players who won't fall for this swindle, but it's sure looks good to us. Just suppose we run off those six hearts while discarding a spade, a club and then all our diamonds from dummy.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and our daughter were too close to suit me. They were cutting me out, so I solved it by telling my husband a few things about her, and they are no longer close.

An unkind reader sent us the North and South hands and asked us the best percentage play to make six hearts.

MISSOURI reader wants to know if it is your legal right to pass your partner's forcing bid.

It certainly is perfectly proper in a legal sense. It's rather dangerous if your partner is apt to get really mad at you for doing it.

How do you want your pizza sliced... in four wedges or six?

Oh, I don't know... four, I guess, I'm not really too hungry.

I warned you to wait until they had finished!

When we change over to the metric system, I wonder what they'll call pound cake?
