War and peace

Simple words, basic words. But they should be more meaningful for Americans on this day than perhaps any. For they define the paradox of our national experience.

As a nation we were born in war and we have known much of it as our history has lengthened. More, we have become accustomed to doing well in war. From Lexington Gettysburg and Belleau Wood to Normandy, Inchon and even the tragedy of Vietnam, Americans have ever fought well for cause and country.

Yet we are not a warlike people. The warrior state has never been our goal. Our deepest attachments have always been to the pursuits of peace. And if we have rejoiced in victory, the real reason has not been the material spoils that it might bring but because it has meant the return of peace.

All too often, however, we have taken the return of peace as a signal for national relaxation. We have not pursued the national welfare and betterment in peace with the ardor and valor we have devoted to war.

On this day when, above all others, we pause to remember with pride and pain the tragic, ultimate sacrifice all too many thousands have had to pay that we might do well in war, it is fitting that we also pause to ponder our commitment to our honored dead.

Its fulfillment requires more than flags, flowers and memorials. It requires that we dedicate ourselves to perfecting that which we have begun in war, as we learn so painfully in our most recent resort to trial by combat, the national wounds from which are not yet completely healed. But the proper employment of peace to justify the sacrifices of war and perfect the ideals of truth, freedom and brotherhood which sustain us is no less difficult.

Yet this is our task and our commitment. Our message for today was stated many years ago by Robert Browning: "He who did well in war just earns the right to begin doing well in peace."

Joshua, the courageous man of faith who led the children of Israel into the promised land, proposed a challenge to these people. "Choose this day whom you will serve" Joshua 24:15.

Suppose now that Joshua were alive today and made the same challenge. Many would say, "We choose to serve the Lord." This is admirable, and he would be pleased. But how many of us give only lip service to this statement?

Are we serving the Lord when we "verb" in school or tell stories that are not altogether true? Is the Lord pleased when we disobey our parents or when we take something that is not ours?

"Now therefore fear the Lord and serve him in sincerity and in faithfulness" Joshua 24:14.

Meet the challenge of Joshua starting today, and serve the Lord as the children of Israel elected to do. There will never be a better time to begin.

The Ethics Bill we are in the process of adopting may not be a cure-all for all the alleged violations voiced by the public in its criticisms. However, it's much more than just a start. It's a definite directive. Only time will tell how effective it will be, where it needs tightening and where it needs additional regulations.

We in public office recognize the public's concern. Consequently, we are doing our utmost to establish a "Code of Ethics" that will go far toward restoring confidence in the integrity of government.

This Ethics Bill is just one of several important proposals to be acted on in the last two weeks of the session.

Sometimes the publicity surrounding the passage of the state budget seems to overshadow some of the other issues before the General Assembly.

This issue of public confidence being restored is most important — and the Code of Ethics Bill will help in this restoration.

The Senate ethics guardians

By Martha Angle and Robert Walters
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Sen. Harrison H. Schmitt believes the Senate's new code of ethics is unenforceable. Sen. John G. Tower says the measure is "a hoax." And Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr. calls it "a smelly piece of legislation."

Those three men, all Republicans, are members of the small band of 14 senators who thought so little of the Senate's effort to upgrade its ethical standards earlier this year that they either voted against it or abstained when it was adopted or voted against it.

But Schmitt of New Mexico, Tower of Texas and Weicker of Connecticut have another distinction: They comprise the entire Republican membership of the Senate Ethics Committee, which has full responsibility for implementing the enforcing the new legislation.

Overworked cliché
The fox-guarding-chicken-coop analogy is an overworked cliché, but it certainly seems applicable in this case. Without tough but fair oversight on the part of the committee, the highly touted code of ethics will serve as little more than a paper facade for the questionable practices which Congress has allowed to flourish for so long.

Indeed, the recent history of ethics enforcement in both the House and Senate suggests that there is little enthusiasm for consistent, meaningful implementation of the high-toned moral standards which the legislators have rushed to formulate in order to improve their image after every major scandal of the past 15 years.

Baker case recalled
The influence-peddling controversy surrounding Robert G. (Bobby) Baker during the early 1960s led the Senate to vote on July 24, 1964 to establish a Select Committee on Standards and Conduct.

PR effort
The end product of this effort is nothing more than a blatant public relations effort designed to justify the recent pay raise which Congress received," said Tower, one of our senators who weren't present to vote on the measure. "This bill is a hoax."

Weicker, who voted against it, called the proposal "an amalgam of arbitrary restrictions and incomplete regulations." He predicted that if the ethics code ever faces a court test, "it will clearly fail on constitutional grounds."

Schmitt, who also voted in opposition to the proposed resolution assumed that the rules can be enforced by the Senate. Common sense would suggest that nothing could be further from the truth.

Those three men are highly unrepresentative of the rest of the Senate, 86 of whose members voted for the code of ethics. They are not even in step with most of their fellow Republicans because 27 GOP senators voted for the reform. Yet they now cast half of the votes on the Senate Ethics Committee.

Formed in 1967
The House Committee on Standards of Official Conduct was not formed until 1967 — just after the Senate censured Dadd and the House was forced to deal with the scandal involving Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y.

In its almost 11 years of operation, the House committee has matched the Senate record of inaction, by also initiating precisely one comprehensive investigation, involving Rep.

dialogue, which later involved, detailed discussion of specific guidelines for conducting warrantless wiretaps." Rep. Eldon Rudd (R-Ariz.) noted the other day in a speech here.

Rudd, a 20-year veteran of the FBI himself who was first elected to Congress last year, added that "The members of Congress who approved his nomination gave their tacit approval to such legitimate intelligence-gathering activities."

CIA excused
It is also noteworthy that the Justice Department in January of this year ruled against prosecution of CIA officials who conducted mail-opening activities for which Kearney stands accused.

Persons should not be prosecuted when the governing rules of law have changed during and after the conduct that would give rise to the prosecution," said the Department in its ruling on the CIA. Of equal application to Kearney's case is the Department's added observation that "In such circumstances, prosecution takes on an air of hypocrisy and may appear to be the sacrifice of a scapegoat."

The issue here isn't so much the methods in question as the matter of simple justice. Attorney General Griffin Bell's indictment of Kearney — and the possible indictments of other FBI agents which he hints will follow — are unfair and unwarranted in light of the circumstances outlined above.

As the New York Daily News said in a recent editorial: "Let's end the present rules fully, but not apply them retroactively."

WASHINGTON — The Weathermen Underground is a terrorist organization which claims credit for the following activities: the 1974 bombing of California Attorney General Evelle Younger's Los Angeles Office; a 1969 sniper attack on a Cambridge, Mass. police station; bombings in the early 1970's of a bank of America building in New York City, a California National Guard armory, and the Pentagon.

John J. Kearney is a former FBI agent whose job it was to help prevent such violence. He retired from the Bureau in June 1972 after a distinguished 25-year career including a stint as an FBI supervisor assigned to track down Weathermen using techniques employed by FBI and other security agencies for many years.

Guess who?
Guess who was recently indicted on five criminal counts for the activities outlined above?

Kearney's indictment in April sent a shockwave through the nation's top law enforcement agency. To many, it is one more sign of the topsy-turvy nature of American justice where the rights of criminals often seem more important than those of law officers and victims.

Kearney stands accused of using mail opening and wiretapping against the Weathermen after those activities were ruled a no-no by the Department of Justice a decade ago. The problem, however, is that although FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover did order sharp restrictions plans to stay in the military." Singlaub knew that the moment he put on his first uniform.

Friends of Singlaub tell me he was "sandbagged" by Carter, that he was stunned by the President's action. Singlaub is easily stunned. He knew the rule and he broke it. Did the man expect Carter to decorate him for his offense? His pals also note that the general holds major combat decorations from three wars.

That does not mean Singlaub can't have an opinion. He can have 33 opinions, all of them right. It does mean, however, that once the commander in chief embarks on a course for the military. He was sorry MacArthur had to be sacked, said he, "but Truman had no choice. In Truman's place, I'd have done the same. If MacArthur wanted to disagree with Truman, all he had to do was resign from the Army."

Moreover, like would have approved Carter's troop withdrawal proposal. From the White House, he tried in vain to reduce U.S. troop strength abroad but was beaten down by the jingoists. He was fond of telling reporters, "You don't need an Army to show the flag."

That applies to South Korea. Carter plans to withdraw U.S. ground troops, now numbering about 40,000, over the next four or five years. But he would maintain 7,000 airmen, supported offshore by the Seventh Fleet. The last time anybody looked, this policy was supported by Melvin Laird, Defense Secretary under Nixon.

Now Mel Laird is a lifetime conservative with hawkish tendencies. Reagan might have been expected to consider a viewpoint proffered by a member of the club. But no. At a time when hawks are unpopular and conservatives in both parties are seeking common ground with the masses, Reagan spoke from his glands instead of his brain.

The independence of the United States is commemorated at all military posts equipped with suitable artillery by the salute to the Union — one gun for each state — fired at noon on July 4.

We might as well stay home in bed

FRAMINGHAM, Mass. (UPI) — For all the exercise they get, some Americans could just as well stay in bed.

"There seems to be a substantial proportion of the population that seems to be virtually motionless," Dr. William B. Kannel, director of the Boston University-Framingham Heart Study, reports.

"They wake up, sit down at their meals, go to the office desk and come home and watch television. The most exercise they get is moving their jaws at snacks."

Kannel told a Massachusetts Medical Society meeting 16 percent of the men and 21 percent of the women he has studied in the Framingham program scored less than 28 in a physical fitness test in which spending 24 hours a day in bed rates a 45 would indicate a high level of physical fitness.

"In our urban society there is not much time to get exercise in work because we're replaced by machines," Kannel said.

However, Kannel said "even moderate amounts of activity seem to be helpful" in avoiding heart attacks. He said exercise should be part of program that also includes a diet low in fat, not smoking, not gaining excess weight and regular medical checkups.

"If people learn to walk again briskly, to climb stairs instead of elevators and pursue far more active leisure activities than watching television," he said, "they would stand to benefit as far the risk of

Asparagus blight cuts crops
HADLEY, Mass. (UPI) — Agriculture experts say a severe blight has destroyed as much as half of the state's asparagus crop and they have not found a way to stop it.

They say lysarium, a fungus growth that attacks the roots of the plant, has been hitting western Massachusetts' asparagus crops since 1970 but this year's blight is the worst yet.

"I don't know of a single asparagus field in town that doesn't have it," Hampsh County Extension Service Agent John Howell said. "The yield is at least 50 per cent off. Some farmers have lost all but 10 per cent of their asparagus crop."

Fusarium has heavily damaged the asparagus crop in New Jersey during the last decade before spreading to the Hadley area, where most of the state's asparagus is grown.

Howell said as the disease spreads farmers have been plowing up some fields and switching to other crops. He said scientists are trying to develop special soil treatments to combat the disease and are trying to develop a more rugged seed that might not die of the disease.

Howell said two or three types of the disease may be active in Massachusetts' crops. University of Massachusetts scientists are also studying information about the New Jersey and Massachusetts blights at the Waltham Experiment Station.

In East Hartford Nursing director is out of her job

By MAL BARLOW East Hartford Reporter

Miss Carolyn V. Furness put in her last day Friday as East Hartford's director of nursing services.

She spent the last few days this week talking to an attorney, Donald F. Crowley of 84 Northfield Dr., East Hartford, whose office is in Hartford.

She planned to take her case to the state Labor Department.

Miss Furness was hired by Dr. John N. Gallivan, part-time director of health, more than 11 years ago to fill her present position.

She said she never forgave her for the failure of the town's nursing services to merge with the school system's nurses about two years ago.

He wanted to control all the publicly employed nurses in town, she said.

This spring, Mayor Richard Blackstone proposed in his budget that her position be terminated as of June 30. On July 1 the position of director of health would change from part time to full time.

He said Dr. Gallivan would be considered for the new post and that Miss Furness would no longer work for the town.

The mayor suggested the East Hartford Public Health Nurses Association (EHPHNA) should hire Miss Furness as its nursing director.

To help them do it, he put another $10,000 in the town's annual sum budget EHPHNA.

Mrs. Virginia Tozier, president of EHPHNA and a nurse herself, said this meant Friday had to be her last working day.

"This is inhumane," she said. "It is unfair to do this to a professional person, a loyal employee of the town for 11 years, and a veteran."

She was a flight nurse during the Korean War.

The EHPHNA board met Thursday night in a special meeting to discuss what's been going on," said Mrs. Tozier.

EHPHNA voted to establish the position of nursing supervisor, she said. They also voted to meet with the mayor's staff to "reach some sort of agreement to continue joint service," she said.

Mrs. Tozier said there never was any doubt about Miss Furness' ability to do her job.

"She's highly qualified," she said. Miss Furness had already set up interviews for posts elsewhere and hoped to have a position by August.

Another quote due on Vernon insurance

Mayor Thomas Benoit said officials of the Hartford Insurance Group will be taking another look at Vernon's insurance costs to see if they can come up with a lower price than originally given.

When the Town Council was considering its budget workshops, it was told by Arnold Zachin of the Insurance Advisory Board that insurance costs were to be greatly increased or the insurance will be terminated July 1.

Benoit said the higher costs may have been figured in haste and he was assured the officials will rework them to see what they can come up with.

He said the town has a pretty good track record so he couldn't understand the big jump predicted. The current cost for liability insurance is $45,000. The proposed cost is about triple that.

Benoit has asked the Capital Region Council of Governments (CRGOG) to study insurance problems of other towns.

Benoit had also mentioned the possibility of the town providing limited self-insurance on streets and sidewalks. This won't be discussed until he hears from the Hartford group again.

Dr. Stave awarded study professorship

Coventry Dr. Bruce M. Stave of Coventry, a University of Connecticut authority on urban history, has been awarded the first multi-national Fulbright-Hays professorship for study/research and teaching in Asia and the South Pacific.

Stave, a UConn professor of history, leaves next month for an extended tour of cities and institutions of higher learning in New Zealand, Australia, The Philippines, Indonesia and India.

The competitive award was made to Stave by the Fulbright-Hays Foundation, Council for International Exchange of Persons and the U.S. State Department. It marks the first such professorship awarded under the Fulbright-Hays American Studies Program on a regional or multi-national basis, Stave said.

Stave will carry out interviews with historians, geographers, and other urbanists in each of the countries he visits during the next several months while on sabbatic leave from UConn.

Stave received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Columbia University and his Ph.D. degree from the University of Pittsburgh, where he was an Andrew Mellon Fellow in 1961-63.

Stave was editor and a major contributor to the book "Socialism in the Cities" which focuses on the experience of Socialism in several American cities. In addition, he is author of a series of oral history interviews with leading urban historians which have appeared in the Journal of Urban History.

Last summer, Stave carried out interviews with a number of British urban historians for publication in the quarterly journal of which he is associate editor.

Boston Red Sox get into homer act

BOSTON (UPI) — The baseballs kept flying out of Fenway Park Friday night. But, for the first time in a week Red Sox fans were cheering instead of groaning.

And while the Red Sox were whacking 13 hits off four Kansas City Ditchers, Boston's Ferguson Jenkins scattered eight hits in leading Boston to a 10-1 drubbing of the struggling Royals.

Jenkins' complete game was his fourth of the season and of the seventh of the year by Boston pitchers. The win marked the first complete game by a Red Sox pitcher since Jenkins lost 2-1 in Oakland 16 days earlier.

"It was a big lift for us. We needed a complete game psychologically," said Boston manager Don Zimmer. "It was nice to finally give the bullpen the night off."

"I felt comfortable out there because I was driving more off my right leg and kicking higher than I had been," said Jenkins, now 5-4 after rebounding from an Achilles tendon injury last September.

"(Pitcher) Tom House mentioned it to me about four days ago and Dwight Evans said something to me the other day so I decided to try pushing harder off that foot. Scott followed with a solo drive the fifth time in a year. Boston has hit back-to-back homers — to greet reliever Marty Pattin.

Hai McRae spoiled Jenkins' bid for a 41st career shutout by hitting him in the sixth inning.

"You're going the rest of the way because I want to give the bullpen a rest."

There was no rest for the Kansas City bullpen, even though Dennis Leonard had a good assortment of pitches. Leonard struck out a career-tying nine batters and issued one walk in 6-1/3 innings.

But Leonard yielded a first inning run on a leadoff double by sizzling Rick Burleson, a single to Fred

Hutton hits hard as Seaver hurls

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tommy Hutton thrives where other National League batters fear to tread — in the batter's box against Tom Seaver.

Friday night, the Phillies' utility infielder-outfielder indulged once again in his favorite pastime, touching the Mets' ace for a run-scoring single and a two-run homer en route to a four-RBI performance in Philadelphia's 5-4 victory.

Hutton did not discriminate among New York hurlers, however, as he knocked in the game-winner with an eighth-inning sacrifice fly off the Mets' losing relief pitcher Skip Lockwood.

"I don't have any idea why I hit Tom Seaver so well," he said. "I get some lucky hits off him, but I have had a lot of good swings. He's thrown me everything, just got up to bat ready to swing anything — maybe it's just positive thinking."

While Hutton may be thinking positive thoughts, Seaver must be excused for talking to himself. After a

Bobby Murcer broke a 2-2 tie with his seventh home run of the season — a solo shot in the sixth inning as Chicago trimmed Pittsburgh's lead in the NL East to a half-game over Chicago. Marcer's blast saddled John Candelaria with his first loss of the season after six victories.

Junior Dave Thomas continued to score well as Manchester High's golf team split a pair of matches yesterday at Goodwin Park in Hartford. The Indians, now 5-16-1 overall, topped host Bulkeley, 3 1/2 to 1 1/2 and lost 3-2 to Bristol Central.

Bristol's Jeff Duncan took medalist honors with a four-over-par 74 while Thomas fired a 78. For nine matches, Thomas is at 4.5 over par which should easily qualify him for the State Division I Golf Championship in June at Ellington Ridge Country Club.

Other local scores were Chris Nelson 82, Carl Baker 86 and Mike Presti 81.

Results: Thomas (M) def. Maselli 9-1, Presti (M) winter with Phillips, Haver (B) def. Baker 4-3, Nelson (M) def. Urlicio 4-2, Manchester won medalist play, 329-348; Duncan (BC) def. Manchester High's girls' softball team, winners of its last five straight and eight in nine, ranked 16th in the Class LL Division with its 12-6 record as rankings and pairings for the third annual CIAC State Tournament were announced yesterday in Hamden.

The Silk Towners will face in a qualifying test Tuesday afternoon at Fitzgerald Field at 3:15. The 17th-ranked Amity High of Woodbridge, also with a 12-6 record. The Manchester team will have a tough assignment as the first round opponent Wednesday will be top-ranked 17-1 Hamden High in Hamden.

Penney High of East Hartford also qualified in the LL Division with the 20th-ranked 11-7 Knights slated to face 18th-ranked 12-5 Torrington High Tuesday in a qualifying test in Torrington.

MeBride signs

Three school records set in MHS girls' track

Three school records were set as Manchester High's girls' track team turned in several outstanding performances in yesterday's Class L Sectionals at Windsor High. Four individuals and one relay team advanced to the Class L Championship Meet next Saturday at Shelton High.

The mile relay quartet of Cindy Swallow, Yvonne Kearney, Nancy Downing and Linda Maher snapped the old school record by nearly three seconds with a fast 4:14.5 clocking. They qualified for further competition.

Sophomore Sharon Maher broke the discus record set earlier in the year by teammate Tracy Culbertson, with a toss of 89-feet. Senior Teri Arend surpassed her own standard for the third time this campaign with a leap of 16-feet, 1-inch, breaking the 16-foot barrier officially for the first time. However, neither Maher nor Arend qualified for further action.

Katie Hennessy won her heat and placed third overall in the 440-yard dash to move to the L finals. Lori Veal placed in the two-mile run and Downing advanced in the 220-yard dash.

Other top performances saw Swallow set a personal best in the 440 while Siobhan Duffy in the hurdles, Kearney in the 220 and Liz Barrett in the 800 also did well.

Confidence key

"Confidence is the biggest difference in my play this season," Australian Tony Roche noted after he trounced fellow countryman Rod Laver as he led the Boston Lobsters to an impressive win over the San Diego Friars last week in World Team Tennis at the Hartford Civic Center.

"I have complete confidence in my game once again and as a result I am playing well," the Boston ace said.

Playing well, he is, for according to the latest statistics, the 22-year-old southpaw is leading the singles players in victories in WTT play to date. That's one of the reasons the Lobsters are No. 1 in the Eastern Division standings.

"I like the team concept and I like it because it cuts down on the traveling. When you are playing on the tour you are always on the go from one country to another," Roche said.

"The way I feel now, I can beat anybody in this league. I'm a fast starter and I like the idea of playing one set at a time."

Roche was involved in a great singles match against Jimmy Connors in the Aetna World Cup play last March at the Hartford Civic Center. Connors won but only after he wore Roche down.

"I'm playing better now than I did in the Aetna," Roche offered.

The man who looks more like a pro boxer than a tennis pro has posted a winning record in all three seasons of the WTT play, the first with Denver and the last two with Phoenix.

The No. 1 male singles player with the Lobsters, Roche teams with Roy Emerson in doubles forms a top-grade team. Emerson, also an Aussie, is still one of the world's top doubles players.

Before beating Laver, 6-2, Roche whipped Bjorn Borg, 6-3, in Boston several nights earlier.

How much help can a coach like Emerson, give an established veteran player like Roche?

"He can be a good help. He's one of the finest teachers in the game."

Roche knows a little about coaching, too, as he held a player-coach post with Denver four years ago when that entry won the WTT title.

The next Hartford showing for the Lobsters will be one week from tonight when Billie Jean King comes in with the New York Apples.

Biggest thrill

"The biggest thrill I ever received in hockey was to play on the same team with my sons," Gordie Howe said at this week's press gathering in Hartford after he officially joined the New England Whalers. That takes in a lot of ground as Howe six times was named the Most Valuable Player in the National Hockey League and once in the World Hockey Association. The addition of Howe to the Whaler family gives it additional front office personnel which is already extra heavy with Howard Baldwin, Jack Kelley, Harry Neale, Ron Ryan and Don Blackburn around. The latter 15 is on crutches following surgery on one of his knees. Jake Gibbs, former York Yankee catcher, now coaching baseball at the University of Mississippi, and former Yankee teammate, pitcher Steve Hamilton, coach at Morehead State (Ky.) State, both on their teams in NCAA Regional Tournament play...Bill Schabek caught a 3-4 pound rainbow trout this week. Now that the fish he finally been put away, Schabek finds time to fish several times weekly with Al Kurlowicz. The 40th anniversary of his team's success was celebrated Tuesday. The first major league game was played in Cincinnati when the Reds hosted Philadelphia...Have a nice holiday weekend.

Million dollar jackpot awaits '500' car drivers

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — The emphasis was on safety today, 24 hours before the 61st annual Indianapolis 500-mile auto race blasts off with the field of 33 battling for a million-dollar jackpot.

"We want all hands to use caution and safety in their operations," Frank DeLroy, chairman of the USAC's Technical Committee, told the traditional drivers' meeting Friday.

"If anybody causes an unsafe condition, the penalty will be one lap. Safety is our No. 1 concern."

As many as a dozen drivers are considered capable of winning the 200-lap holiday race, expected to be run Sunday in generally sunnier weather with a temperature in the mid-80s.

Half a dozen former winners are among the favorites, and Janet Guthrie, the first woman to take a crack at racing's richest event, is one of seven rookies in the lineup.

The drivers were told they could warm up their engines twice before the flying start of the race at noon EDT — first in the pits and then when they are lined up in 11 rows of three abreast on the race track.

Among the top favorites are defending champion Johnny Rutherford, A.J. Foyt, brothers Bobby and Al Unser, Gordon Johncock and Mario Andretti — all turned in the third best former winners — along speed.

"Because of the lingering heat, most drivers intend they planned little qualifying records two weeks ago."

Others to be reckoned with include Wally Dallenbach, winner of the recent Trenton 200, Pancho Carter and Bill Vukovich in Foyt's first backup machine.

They will be shooting for the race record of nearly 163 miles per hour by the late Mark Donohue five years ago.

Most of the favorites start up front, but Rutherford must challenge for the lead from the 17th position. Although a miscalculation cost him the chance to qualify on the opening day of the time trials, he

Stockton shares top as putting goes cold

ATLANTA (UPI) — Dave Stockton looked like he was ready to run away from the field in the Atlanta Golf Classic before his driver deserted him.

Brilliant putting had put the two-time PGA champion into the lead in this $200,000 tournament. But his inability to stay in the fairway dropped him back into a tie with Lou Graham and Mac McLendon at the end of Friday's play.

The three, at 7-under-par 137, went into today's third round with a one-stroke lead over Australian David Graham — no kin to Lou who hails from Tennessee — and Jim Dent, two and ahead of Bob Dickson who birdied six of his first seven holes Friday enroute to a sparkling 7-under-par 68.

Stockton, a 35-year-old Californian who won the PGA Championship in both 1970 and last year, ran off four straight birdies in the Erving, who has guided Philadelphia to a 24-lead over Portland in the NBA championship series, says that's not a bunch of million-dollar one-on-one wonders. Oh, they do that very well, but more important to Erving is that some people start giving Shue credit as coach.

With his team two-up on the Portland Trail Blazers as the best-of-seven switches to Portland for games three and four Sunday and Tuesday, Erving says, "I'm proud of this team. Gene Shue deserves a lot more credit than he gets because he put the team together and we are together."

That's his way of saying Philadelphia is beating Portland with a team effort by the 76ers.

Spain chief challenge to Britain, not USA

SANDWICH, England (UPI) — Peter Oosterhuis and Doug McClelland look to Spain and not, surprisingly, the United States to provide the chief challenge Saturday in the final round of the $85,000 Penfold PGA championship.

Oosterhuis, a 29-year-old California-based Londoner, battled to a third-round 75 Friday to retain the lead he has held from the start, while McClelland equaled the day's lowest round — a par 70 — to finish one stroke behind at 216.

Spaniards Manuel Pinero (217) and Manuel Sotomayor (218) are the closest challengers with the expected U.S. charge failing to materialize.

Erving glad Shue lauded

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Julius Erving of the Philadelphia 76ers, as everybody knows, is an exceptional basketball player. He isn't a bad basketball thinker either.

Hear him out, especially the critics in Philadelphia and elsewhere. About Coach Gene Shue. Arts festival

The opening night performance of the 1977 Greater Hartford Arts Festival will take place on Saturday, June 4, at 8:30 p.m. at Hartford's Constitution Plaza—on the Phoenix Stage decorated with the rich Spanish settings of "The Barber of Seville."

The performance of Rossini's comic opera, laid in 17th Century Spain, will be the first of nearly 300 presentations during the festival. The event continues until June 12 with music, dancing, theater, a wide variety of children's programs, and exhibits of more than 1,000 works of art.

"The Barber," which will celebrate the opening of the festival's seventh year, will be sung in English and feature the following international artists: Diana Reed as Rosina, Albert Garcia as Figaro, Antonio Barasorda as Count Almaviva, Howard Sprout as Basilio, Duncan Bockus as Doctor Bartolo, Karl Patrick Krause as Fiorello, and Paula Byczko as Berta.

Among the artists' collective credits are performances at the Teatro del Liceo in Barcelona, the Opera of Santa Margherita in Italy, the Teatro Nacinale in the Dominican Republic and opera houses in other European and South American cities as well as the United States.

The production is staged by William B. Warden; set designs are by Dean Tschetter; costumes are by Jane Tschetter, and the orchestra and chorus will be conducted by Doris Kosloff.

Admission is free, as are all performances at the festival, which is the largest free outdoor exposition of the amateur and professional visual and performing arts in New England.

Sweet Adelines sing

The Mountain Laurel Chorus of Sweet Adelines will present a showcase performance for program chairmen and others interested in providing entertainment for their club or organization. The performance will be Thursday at 8 p.m. at St. James Episcopal Church auditorium, 1018 Farmington Ave., West Hartford.

Further information is available by calling Elsie Johnson at 633-0417, Arlene Fenten at 528-0434, or Carolyn Newell at 521-4579.

The chorus placed first in the recent North Atlantic Region One competition.

The chorus is directed by Vincent Zito of Manchester. Sandy O'Leary of Glastonbury is performance coordinator.

Festival boycott

According to a report in the June issue of Connecticut Magazine, the biggest and most widely attended cultural event of its kind in the state is in trouble.

The Greater Hartford Arts Festival, which attracted 175,000 people last year (its seventh) during its one week of activities, will be boycotted by members of a number of artists' organizations who will display their work in an alternate exhibit, the magazine states.

In an article entitled "A Rift In The Arts Festival," Connecticut Magazine predicts that "when the festival opens this month, it will be against a backdrop of problems and controversy."

The protesting artists' organizations, including the Connecticut Alliance of Black and Hispanic Artist, the Asylum Hill Artist's Cooperative, the New Haven Chapter of the Connecticut Union of Visual Artists, and the Artist's Collective, contend that "rather than benefitting artists, the festival exploits them for its own purpose — promotion of the Hartford business community."

In addition to a number of specific complaints, the artists' groups cite as a major problem the composition of the festival's policy-making board of directors, which consists almost entirely of prominent members of the business community.

According to Sandra Hamer, festival executive director, the business-oriented makeup of the festival board of directors is justifiable because the business community provides monies for the festival and, therefore, should have control of how the money is spent. The festival's board, she claims, has tried to respond to specific complaints.

However, artists like sculptor Wolfgang Behl of the Hartford Art School have not been appeased, the Connecticut Magazine story indicates. A number of prominent artists, he insists, will show their work concurrent to the festival at an exhibit scheduled to run at the Asylum Hill Arts Cooperative.

"The festival organizers encourage a county fair atmosphere and a decline in the quality of the art exhibited," he says.

Christopher Gibson of the Harkness School of Ballet will dance the lead role of Prince Florimund in the ballet, "Sleeping Beauty," Sunday, June 5, at 6 p.m. at Manchester High School. The event is presented by the Priscilla Gibson School of Dance Arts. Gibson studied mime and ballet for two years in Paris, France. Tickets are available at the door or by calling Alberta Parsons, 649-2766.

Musical events

The Hartford Symphony Orchestra with Arthur Winograd, director, will present "Sinfonia Italiana," an evening of Italian symphonic music Thursday at Bulkeley High School in Hartford. Concert time is 7:30 p.m. Arias from "La Traviata" and "La Boheme" will be sung by Stephanie Conte, soprano, a graduate of the Hartt College of Music. For ticket information, call 278-1450.

The Tower Ringers and St. Andrew Ringers (bell ringers) from the Presbyterian Church in Morristown, N.J., will ring out with 97 bells at Center Congregational Church, Manchester, Friday at 8 p.m. The bell ringers are made up of senior high and junior high youth from the Presbyterian Church in Morristown. The public is invited. A free-will offering will be accepted.

An Evensong for Trinity Sunday will be presented June 5 at 5 p.m. at Trinity Episcopal Church, 120 Sigourney St., Hartford. Performing will be the Trinity Church choir and the choirs of men and boys of Christ Church Cathedral and St. James Church in West Hartford. They will perform "Surge Huminare" by Ned Rorem and Magnificat by Schutz. Accompaniment will be by organ and instruments. For information, call 527-8133.

Foot Prints, 466 Main St., announces a festival of the arts during June. Everyone is invited to join Foot Prints for "Join-in-Month." The festival begins with a "pillow concert" with flute, piano and bassoon on Saturday, June 4, at 8 p.m. An art auction will be held Sunday, June 5, from 7 to 10 p.m., of original works.

Library concerts

To lead off Hartford Public Library's week-long series of Coffee Concerts during the Civic and Arts Festival, the Children's Workshop of the Julius Hartt School of Music will present a musical program at noon on Saturday, June 4, the first day of the festival in the library auditorium at 500 Main St., Hartford.

Coming programs in the Coffee Concerts will feature Dave McLellan, guitarist; Dave Ramsey, jazz pianist; Caryl Barker, composer-performer; Brad and Toni Easterson, flute and piano duo; William Rollins, actor, and Kurt Kikkanen, violinist.

The events are free and open to the public. Audiences are invited to bring a lunch. Free coffee will be served.

Dinner theaters

At the Pine Brook Dinner Theatre in Higganum, "Kismet" opens June 8 and plays through July 31.

The Coachlight Dinner Theatre in East Windsor is presenting the musical comedy, "Pal Joey," through June 5. The Woody Allen comedy, "Don't Drink the Water," opens June 7 and plays through July 3.

The Mills Brothers perform tonight and Sunday at the Chateau de Ville Dinner Theatre in East Windsor. On June 3 to 5, The Amazing Kreskin, mentalist, will be featured. Patrice Munsel comes to the Chateau on June 7 starring in "Kiss Me Kate."

'Kid Splash' is best in our neighborhood

By JUDY KUEHNEL

I hold the dubious distinction of being the mother of the best "spitter" in the neighborhood.

It doesn't matter which way the wind is blowing. Rain is no deterrent. My seven-year-old practices his new-found art from morning until night.

Once one of those cynical parents who would snicker "boys are no different than girls." I've now become paranoid waiting for the next stage...ever fearful that the next may be the one to do me in.

At first I thought the worst was over when I suffered through 11 solid months of his learning to whistle.

Heaven forbid my son should not grow up and develop in all the normal ways or, worse yet, I should be responsible for inhibiting what could be the first signs of musical aptitude!

Now I have a real respect for the "wolf-whistler." Behind every 16-year-old "wolf-whistler" is some poor mother who listened to months of practice.

I had just about tolerated all the whistling I could stand and was considering suicide by way of "Tidy Bowl" in my coffee when along came spring, and with it the "spitting season."

I wasn't prepared.

Only the week before I had used up all of my patience convincing him that "put on clean underwear" meant INSTEAD OF, rather than on top of, the ones he was wearing. (He had the worse case of "underwear buildup" I had ever seen.)

I was raking under his bed with a portable backhoe I had rented when, through the screen, I heard a strange noise outside.

As I cautiously peered over the sill, ready to defend hearth and home, my son proudly exclaimed, "Look, Mom, I can spit all the way over to there."

Soon my only was known as "Kid Splash" by half the neighborhood.

In desperation I swallowed my pride and admitted to my husband I couldn't handle the situation any longer and he had better speak to his son about shaming the family name.

No longer could I tolerate kids riding by the house on bike yelling, "Hey, kid, see if you reach me!"

My husband was no help.

"You ought to see that kid spit," said his proud father coming in from a man-to-man talk with Kid Splash. "He can spit a country mile."

In the name of motherhood I had developed an appreciation for frogs, bird skeletons and garter snakes.

Gently, I had taught him that desserts are eaten after meals, peanut butter does not go with mustard, mothers cannot hear through closed doors, little boys do not sleep with sneakers on, and zippers on pants belong in the front.

But this was too much!

Desperate action was called for. I decided on a showdown.

"Okay, Kid Splash," I said, "I challenge you to the best two out of three. If I win, you have to cross your heart and hope die you'll never spit again."

"And if you ever tell anyone I did this, I'll hide your teddy bear," I whispered.

Europa stamps drop symbolism for 1977

By RUSS MACKENDRICK

The theme of this year's Europa stamps is to be scenic landscapes — no more way-out symbolism like the 19-spoked wheel, the passel of doves flying as one, or stylized links to show unity, or communication sparkles, or interwoven threads.

The Isle of Man has just released this contribution to the omnibus issue: "Looking South From Mooragh Park, Ramsey." It shows North Barrule Mountain and the Albert Tower. There is a profile of the Queen at the upper right. Another stamp in the issue, not shown, is a 6-cent one entitled "Carrick Bay from Tom the Dipper's." (We can only guess at the history of this place-name.)

The stamps are lithographed by Questa Colour Security Printers. The size is 24.1 by 60.96 mm, or if you are not quite ready for the looming metrics, about 1 by 2½ inches.

The "common design" Europa stamps ran from 1956 through '73. The high point was in 1969 when 23 nations were represented. This was the tenth anniversary of the CEPT. (Conference of European Postal and Telecommunications Administrations). For the very first

Collectors' Corner

Europas, in 1956, there were just the six countries of the Coal and Steel Community — Belgium, France, Germany, Italy, Luxembourg and the Netherlands.

The philatelic world will be eagerly awaiting further panoramas expressing the theme of scenic landscapes.

I brake for garage sales

A new paperback just hitting the stands, is called "The Flea Market and Garage Sale Handbook" by Irene Copeland. It states that the modern flea market first appeared in 1956 at Salisbury, Conn. Russell Carrell had the bright idea of bringing antique dealers together in an outdoor market to sell their goods from cars or station wagons.

Now, according to the handbook, this state has weekly markets in Canton, Enfield, Milford, Norwich, Plainville, Southington, South Norwalk, Wallingford and Woodbury.

The chapters in order: 1 — Secrets of a Successful Garage Sale. Collect and survey your unwanted belongings and no matter how awful, don't throw anything away until after the sale.

2 — How to Make Money Selling at Flea Markets. Get there early to sell to other dealers and do some shopping for yourself.

3 — How to Find What to Sell. Be shameless and get things for nothing — from friends, demolitions, people moving, pick dumps, run ahead of the truck on rubbish days. Trade, scrounge, barter, and when all else fails — buy, from tag sales, flea markets, bazaars, thrift shops, antique shops and auctions. Always carry a flashlight, magnet, penknife, and magnifying glass. Also some bags to carry home the loot.

4 — How to Fix Your Finds. One surprise: Use epoxy glue and titanium dioxide to make a kind of putty to replace chips.

5 — How to Organize a Fundraising Flea Market. Remember the one for New Hope at McDonald's parking area?

6 — Guide to Flea Markets in 50 States. There is a big one in Anchorage, Alaska. California has the most with 24, Pennsylvania close up with 23. Maryland has a market on a retired ferry boat. (These are all weekly ones, but there is a special mention made of the three-times-a-year whopper at Brimfield, Mass. — 750 dealers!)

7 — Useful books and periodicals.

8 — Tax Information You May Need.

(The book may be ordered by mail from Popular Library, P.O. Box 5755, Terre Haute, Indiana 47805. $1.75 plus 35 cents postage.)

WHAT'S UP

A capsule view of tastes, interests and attitudes

... on television

The Nielsen ratings show that the following series are watched by more Americans than any other series:

1. Laverne & Shirley (ABC)
2. Happy Days (ABC)
3. Barny Miller (ABC)
4. Three's Company (ABC)
5. Charlie's Angels (ABC)
6. Welcome Back, Kotter (ABC)
7. Eight is Enough (ABC)
8. Hawaii Five-O (CBS)
9. What's Happening! (ABC)
10. *M*A*S*H* (CBS)

How those two CBS programs managed to fight their way onto this virtually exclusive ABC list is hard to say unless it's argued that the two shows were Fearless Freddie Silverman's gifts to CBS where he was programming chief before crossing the street to ABC. Formulate for a hit show on next season's schedule: Take a couple of rookie cops who happen to be comely young women just out of high school, give them some comedy lines and just a soupcon of adventure and a pale hint of violence and, viola!

... in books

"Best sellers" aren't necessarily what people are actually reading. This list, prepared by the American Library Association, is based on most-requested books from the shelves of libraries in 150 key cities around the country.

- Nonfiction
1. Roots, Alex Haley (Knopf). Not your ordinary prison novel.
 2. Passages, Gail Sheehy (Dutton). The midlife crisis and what to do about it.
 3. Your Erroneous Zones, Wayne W. Dyer (Funk & Wagnalls). A little self-help.
 4. Haywire, Brooke Hayward (Knopf). Growing up in Hollywood as the daughter of a famous couple.
 5. Blind Ambition, John Dean (Simon & Schuster). Growing up in Washington as the counsel to an infamous president.
 6. The Grass is Always Greener Under the Septic Tank, Erma Bombeck (McGraw-Hill). The joys of suburban living.
 7. The Hite Report, Shere Hite (Macmillan). Sex, sex and more sex.
 8. The Right & The Power, Leon Jaworski (Reader's Digest Press). The Watergate special prosecutor tells his version.
 9. Bubbles: A Self-Portrait, Beverly Sills (Bobbs-Merrill). Is that any name for a prima donna?
 10. Intermission, Anne Baxter (Putnam). Life in the out-back.
- Fiction
1. Falconer, John Cheever (Knopf). Not your ordinary prison novel.
 2. Oliver's Story, Erich Segal (Harper & Row). Yes, Oliver's back and somebody or other doesn't quite get him.
 3. The Rich Are Different, Susan Howatch (Simon & Schuster). Historical gothic in the grand tradition.
 4. Trinity, Leon Uris (Doubleday). Gripping saga of Ireland and its troubles.
 5. Condominium, John D. MacDonald. No Magee here but a dandy story of greed and power in Florida.
 6. Raise the Titanic, Clive Cussler (Viking). Carefully constructed thriller starring ship that couldn't sink.
 7. The Crash of '79, Paul E. Erdman (Simon & Schuster). The BIG Crash (still to come) and what happens after it.
 8. The Users, Joyce Haber (Delacorte). A roman a clef, sort of, of Hollywood, which Haber knows very well.
 9. The Chancellor Manuscript, Robert Ludlum (Dial). Another dandy Ludlum, but more than you might expect.
 10. October Light, John Gardner (Knopf). An exploration into art and life in an odd novel within a novel.

... in records

Stevie Wonder

Sylvester Stallone

The following films, according to Variety, are just picking up the critics might be saying about them:

1. Rocky, Sylvester Stallone, Talia Shire (PG). Local pug makes good in the City of Brotherly Love. An Oscar winner.
2. Black Sunday, Robert Shaw, Marthe Keller (R) Star of the show is really a Goodyear blimp and, possibly, the Super Bowl.
3. Airport 77, Jack Lemmon (PG). This time out, the poor plane drops. Next year, no doubt, it will merely evaporate.
4. Network, Faye Dunaway, William Holden, Peter Finch (R). What happens when a bunch of weirdos run a network. Screenplay by Paddy Chayefsky. An Oscar winner.
5. Demon Seed, Julie Christie (R). Sex and the single computer, which sounds like Robert Vaughan.
6. Fun With Dick and Jane, Jane Fonda, George Segal (PG). Fun, hi-jinks and just a little stealing.
7. Slap Shot, Paul Newman (R). A lot of rude words and violence along the two-bit hockey circuit.
8. The Late Show, Art Carney, Lily Tomlin (PG). Tired old private eye gets a little help from a card-carrying crazy person. A joy.
9. Audrey Rose, Anthony Perkins, Marsha Mason (PG). Another one of those possession films, but not bad.
10. Littlest Horse Thieves (G). Happy trails with Walt Disney and the gang.

CB Convac

Authors unearth some CB facts

By INK DIPPER

It was only a matter of time before the great world of statistics grabbed us CBers and began the arduous chore of determining whether we had mostly blue eyes and silver tongues.

Two Texans named Nadine Wells and Joe Pinner invested their own money and time to put together a 108-page book called "The CB Bonanza." And it is really loaded with statistics. According to their research, 40 per cent of all CBers are located in only six states: Texas, Illinois, Missouri, Florida, California and Iowa. And 13.4 per cent of these are in Texas. The distribution of most CB units in use, they say, is in only 16 states where three-quarters of all CBers live.

In addition to the six aforementioned, the other 10 states are Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Indiana, Wisconsin, Tennessee, Kansas, Nebraska, North Carolina, and Oklahoma. The other 25 per cent are in the other 44 states.

If you are like me, you're scratching your head and saying why so big a load in some states and so few in others. Nadine and Joe don't give any answers to this question.

They come up with some other facts that are intriguing too. For instance, they say that 96 per cent of all CBers are men, and their ages are between 25 and 45 years. Nearly 90 per cent are married, and 31 per cent have teen-age children. More than half, 52 per cent, reside in towns of 100,000 or less population. The salary range of 46 per cent is between $10,000 and $20,000 annually. Of their respondents 65.6 per cent purchased their CB units for personal use. However, 27.8 per cent use their unit for both personal and business purposes.

I don't know where the book is available, but, obviously, "The CB Bonanza!" is the accumulation of a tremendous amount of research. It is well worth searching out and perusing.

By the way, look for the higher-priced CB units to be the big thing later this year. All the manufacturers are chugging out the bells and whistles in the 40-channel rigs they'll be marketing this fall. This is a customized line that includes memory readout (borrowed from the calculator industry), keyboard technology, pushbuttoned channel selection, digital display of frequency and digital timekeeping.

Hy-Gain has several models in the $250 class ready now. Sony and Mathushita (Panasonic) also are heading for the high end of the CB price structure. The Panasonic label, for instance will introduce a combination in-dash car radio, eight track tape player, and a CB transceiver at about $350.

According to trade reports, the reason all the manufacturers are going to the high priced units is that this is the sales area which is not depressed in the CB field.
