Entrance to burned out night club

Through this entrance as many as 160 people walked to their deaths Saturday in Southgate, Ky., when the Beverly Hills Supper Club burned trapping the victims. Most died in the Cararet room where they had come to hear performer John Davidson. Here Kentucky State Police investigator in charge of the fact finding group — Kenneth Brandenburg — emerges from the only portion of the once swank night club that was not devastated by fire and later ripped apart by a crane searching for more bodies. None was found. Newsmen were allowed a tour of the remains yesterday and then the area was sealed off to the investigators to make their findings as to the cause of the rapidly spreading fire. PZC postpones hearing on Gardner St. proposal

By GREG PEARSON

Herald Reporter
A meeting of the Manchester Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC) that would have included a public hearing on the proposed subdivision off Gardner St. has been postponed a week to Monday, June 13.
The meeting had originally been set for this Monday, June 6. But, only four of the eight commission members and alternates would have been able to attend that night. Thus, the meeting will be held the following week at the same time — 7:30 p.m. — and place — Woodruff Hall, Center Congregational Church, 11 Center St. The PZC normally has five voting members in attendance at all meetings. State statutes require only a majority of the commission to vote on zoning matters.

But, if 20 per cent of the property owners who abut or are within 500 feet of the proposed change express opposition, "such change shall not be adopted without a vote of two-thirds of the committee," the statute reads.
An employee in the Planning Office said that the PZC always tries to have five voting members in fairness to the applicant.
"If you don't have five members, it gets a little hairy," the employee said.
The proposed subdivision for the Lenti Farms tract off Gardner St. has been proposed by Manchester developers Robert Stone and Jack Goldberg. The proposal is for a Double A Cluster Zone for the 40-acre tract.

Several residents in the area surrounding the tract have expressed opposition to the 79-unit development. The opposition has been based primarily on two items.
The cluster zone would permit homes and lots that are smaller than those allowed in a regular Residence AA Zone. Neighbors have said that this would be "out-of-character" with existing homes in the area.
There is also opposition to two drainage detention ponds that are part of the proposed development. Cluster zoning requires the developer to give 25 per cent of the property — in this case, about ten acres — to the town.

The portion proposed to be given to the town would detain water during periods of heavy rain.
Residents of the area have said that this might pose safety or health hazards to them. They also feel that it is not proper property to be deeded to the town under the cluster zoning proposal.
The Stone and Goldberg application had been scheduled for the May meeting of the PZC. But, the two men postponed it to June 6. Since the May meeting, both Stone and Goldberg have resigned from positions on town boards — Stone had been on the Manchester Economic Development Commission and Goldberg had been on the Board of Directors.
A conflict of interest question had been raised surrounding the application because both of the developers served on town boards and would be involved in a transfer of property to the town. Stone and Goldberg decided to resign from the boards that they had served on and resubmit the application for this month's meeting.

Christine was late

Christine McCarthy had a good reason for being late to school this morning. She could not run into her Grade 2 classroom at Nathan Hale School when the bell rang because she was literally "stuck" on the playground.
Christine's finger was lodged in a small hole in one of the play bars on the playground. Attempts by school officials to get the finger out were not successful, so the police and town fire department were called in.
Fire fighters applied liquid soap for several minutes. Christine seemed to enjoy all the attention and was laughing along with her rescuers, until it was time for one last pull on the finger which freed it. Then the tears and pain came, but the finger only suffered a scrape and swelling.
Principal Leo Diana took Christine into school for first aid and her school day finally began, about a half hour late.

Rhodesian action brings warnings

By United Press International
Britain and the United States are considering possible joint action, including an appeal to the U.N. Security Council, to compel Rhodesia to withdraw its troops from Mozambique, the British Foreign Office said today.

A spokesman said the British government always has ruled out major military action against Rhodesia, "but an appeal to the Security Council is a possibility."
The Foreign Office statement came amid warnings from leading world diplomats that Rhodesia's invasion of neighboring Mozambique could trigger "a serious military conflict" and disrupt attempts to negotiate a peaceful transition to black rule.

British Foreign Secretary David Owen, currently in Paris attending the North-South economic conference, in a statement late Tuesday condemned the Rhodesian raid into Mozambique territory. He warned it could start a serious military conflict in the area.

A Foreign Office spokesman said Owen also sent a "strongly worded" personal message to Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith. The spokesman refused to disclose its contents but said it was along the same lines as Owen's statement.

Owen met with Secretary of State, Cyrus Vance in Paris today to discuss the situation. A U.S. State Department spokesman in the French capital called the invasion a "grave development."

The spokesman said, without elaboration, that the State Department is "considering what further steps might be taken to get the Rhodesian forces out of Mozambique."

In London, the British Foreign Office spokesman said: "The U.S. government shares our concern over the seriousness of this development and its possible effect on U.S.-British peace initiatives."

He said Owen also sent a message to South African Foreign Minister Pik Botha. He said Britain also has informed the presidents of the five so-called "Frontline" states — Tanzania, Mozambique, Botswana, Zambia and Angola — of Britain's "v-concern" and of the message to Smith.

In Washington, State Department spokesman John Trattner said the United States deplored the invasion.

Rhodesia says its troops, who launched the invasion Sunday, have captured four guerrilla camps and one Mozambican city, nearly 50 miles from the border.

Rhodesia's military commander said Tuesday the forces will stay inside Mozambique until they "eliminate" the guerrillas.

In London, Owen said he was "deeply concerned" not only about the invasion but by Rhodesia's pledge to keep its forces inside Mozambique.

The United States and Britain have proposed that Rhodesia's white minority regime draft a new constitution providing for black majority rule in 1978.

"This goes far beyond hot pursuit (of guerrillas) and raises issues of the utmost seriousness: challenging the territorial integrity of a member state of the United Nations," Owen said.

Waldheim, in a statement released at U.N. headquarters, demanded the immediate and unconditional withdrawal of the Rhodesian troops.

Begin statements draw criticism

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — A senior government official said today that prospective Prime Minister Menahem Begin is causing "nearly irreparable damage" to Israeli foreign policy with extremist statements on retaining the occupied West Bank of Jordan.

The official said Begin's remarks at a Jewish settlement in the West Bank shortly after the May 17 election provoked President Carter to react strongly and caused concern in Israel.

Begin, the official told Israeli con-respondents, "is causing nearly irreparable damage to Israel's foreign policy stance because of his very extreme statements."

The victorious leader of the right-wing Likud bloc told settlers at Kadum he would strengthen Israel's hold on the West Bank, which he said is liberated Israeli territory and not occupied Jordan.

But the Likud later modified that stand and said Begin had no plans to annex the West Bank, home to 650,000 Palestinians, so long as an opportunity exists for peace talks with the Arabs.

Dry weather strains town water system

By GREG PEARSON

Herald Reporter
The recent weeks of hot weather and little rain has caused heavy demands on the Town of Manchester's water system, and the Water Department is implementing a partial water ban in the Forest Hills section of town.

Bob Young, an employee of the Water Department, reports that there is not a shortage of water, but heavy use has required increased work for water plants and equipment.

The Progress Dr. well has been unable to meet demands in the Forest Hills area, he said. Some of the residents in higher locations, particularly Sage Dr., have been unable to get water in their homes because of the high demand for water in the area.

Thus, the department has imposed the alternate-day partial ban, which goes into effect Thursday at 5 a.m.

The ban prohibits sprinkling lawns, washing cars, and watering gardens from 5 a.m. to 9 p.m. The ban is in effect every other day for each household.

The ban prohibits even-numbered houses from watering on even-numbered dates and odd-numbered houses from watering on odd-numbered dates. For instance, tomorrow, June 2, is an even-numbered day. Thus, only those in odd-numbered homes, such as 73 Smith Dr., will be allowed to water during the period from 5 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Any use of water is permitted during the period not included in the ban. The ban will be in effect until further notice. The streets that are included are: Kennedy, Bishop, Kent, Hamilton, Woodstock, Sage, Carpenter, McDivitt, Grissom, Shepard, and Pinewood.

This is the only area in town that has experienced problems with water shortages, but Young said that all of the town's water equipment is getting more use than normal.

"There's plenty of water. We're just running for a long time. We're putting a lot of wear and tear on the pumps," he said.

He said that the Cooper Hill plant is pumping about one million gallons per day. This is 20 or 40 per cent more than normal, he said. The plant has been pumping for 16 hours per day recently and has been filtering around the clock.

It has recently filtered 1.5 million gallons per day — about 250,000 to 500,000 gallons more than normal, Young said.

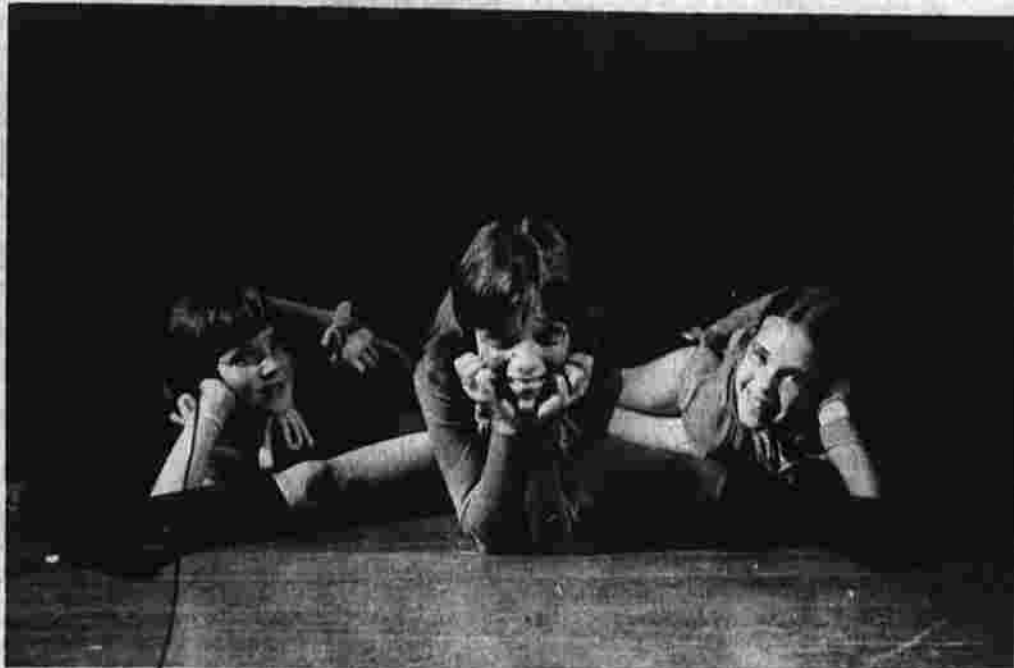

"Everything's been running at full tilt for a very long time," he said. "It's just from a lot of water use all at once."

There have been some compressor failure, Young said.

The hot weather, coupled with the lack of rain, has increased water usage.

"I've seen people all around town watering their lawns. I can't say I blame them, but when they do it all at once, it causes problems for us," he said.

Some relief may be coming. Weather reports forecast a high probability of rain tonight through Thursday.

Senate okays ethics bill

HARTFORD (UPI) — Ethics are like motherhood and apple pie, so it's no surprise that when a tougher set of standards for state officials was sent to the Senate it was approved unanimously. However, the ethical code endorsed by the Senate Tuesday wasn't quite as comprehensive as the ones proposed at the beginning of the legislative session last winter, after being watered down a bit in backrooms and committee chambers. The bill restricts some outside income for state officials, requires financial disclosure and creates a board to oversee their behavior. The bill, which now goes to the House of Representatives, is similar to a plan advanced by Gov. Ella T. Grasso. It approved by the House and signed by Mrs. Grasso. It will take effect Jan. 1, 1978.

Federal agency may modify coal conversion proposal

HARTFORD (UPI) — Rep. Anthony Moffett, D-Conn., says the federal government may modify its decree that Connecticut utilities must switch to burning dirtier coal from more expensive oil. "I think what they (the federal government) will do is end up giving us a number of exceptions in the coal conversion order," Moffett said Tuesday. The Federal Energy Administration has unveiled a plan ordering conversion to coal as a primary fuel source at a number of utilities

PUCA orders state utilities to use time-of-day rates

HARTFORD (UPI) — They're still talking in Washington about President Carter's plan for time-of-day electric rates, but Connecticut has become the first state to order them implemented. Albert J. Kleban, chairman of Connecticut's Public Utilities Control Authority which Tuesday ordered the new rates, called it a "momentous decision." Time-of-day rates gives consumers who use electricity when demand on the power system is lightest — late at night or early in the morning — lower rates. Such rates have been advocated by consumer groups and conservationists who want to change the present system in which consumers using the most power are charged the least per kilowatt hour. "This decision implements the President's program while they are

Jaycees named top area chapter

The Manchester Jaycees were recognized for outstanding achievement in many program areas for the past year at the Connecticut Jaycee convention this weekend in Enfield. The chapter, led by President Tom Harrington, was recognized as the number one chapter in the North Region (an area including 21 chapters in the Greater Hartford region and the northeast portion of the state). The chapter was also selected as one of the top ten chapters in the State of Connecticut. There are 120 chapters in the state. The chapter also received the Blue Chip Award for accomplishment in chapter management. Only fourteen chapters received the award. This is the third year out of the last four that the Manchester Jaycees have been a recipient. At the Installation Banquet Saturday, the chapter was awarded second place in the Henry Giesenberg Memorial Award for the most outstanding chapter in the state for communities with a population of 30,000 to 50,000. The award is given for overall excellence in community action program.

This marks the third consecutive year the chapter has placed first or second in this category. Henry Giesenberg was the founder of the Jaycees movement in 1915. Awards for individual programs included: First place for Town Meeting '76 (governmental involvement), chaired by Alan Lamson. First place for economic development, chaired by Ray Valade. First place for an individual development project, the Speak-up program, chaired by Alan Lamson. Second place for chapter newsletter, chaired by Kevin O'Brien. First place in interchapter visitations. Two projects were also recognized as one of the top ten overall projects in the state. These were the last four that the Manchester Jaycees have been a recipient. At the Installation Banquet Saturday, the chapter was awarded second place in the Henry Giesenberg Memorial Award for the most outstanding chapter in the state for communities with a population of 30,000 to 50,000. Drought threatens Bay State crops

By United Press International
Massachusetts farmers and agriculturalists say 20 days without rain has already harmed hay and pasture crops, and forecast higher produce prices if the drought continues. "We've got to get some rain within the next five to 10 days," said state agriculture spokesman Guy Paris. "After five days it could become serious. After 10 I'd call it critical." Meteorologists forecast no rain for the Boston area over the next four days. The last rainfall was on May 9 and May 10. Traces recorded since then have not been enough to keep parched fields moist. "If you've got a field with high sandy soil, then you've probably got trouble by now," said Byron Peterson, statistical chief of the U.S. Department of Agriculture for New England. "If we don't get rain, it could be all over for the crops that haven't germinated already." Some farmers have started irrigation one month early. Others said they have delayed planting tomatoes, peppers and eggplant until they are assured of rain. Officials said the dry spell might hike the price of salad greens already in the ground from an average 29 cents to as high as 40 cents.

Bermuda Masons arriving; to perform degree Friday

Bermuda Masons began arriving in Manchester today, and more will arrive Thursday.

They are members of Atlantic Phoenix Lodge, which is chartered under the Grand Registry of England.

Atlantic Phoenix Lodge will pay a fraternal visit to Friendship Lodge of Masons this weekend, and on Friday they will portray their Master Mason degree before an audience of Masons at Hill Junior High School. Lodge will open at 7:30 p.m.

Arrangements have been made by the Past Masters Association of Friendship Lodge and Raymond E. Bogue is general chairman.

Tickets are available for Friday night and can be secured from any past master or any Friendship Lodge officer.

The degree work is a new ritual developed by A. A. "Sandy" Powell and approved by the Grand Lodge of England. Powell will be the director of ceremonies for the degree team whose worshipful master is Charles W. Kempe Jr.

Bermuda visitors will stay at the Quality Inn at Talcottville. On Friday, they will tour Starbridge Village. Saturday, the Bermuda Masons will participate in the Shrine Parade and then go on a shopping tour. On Sunday, they will be guests of Friendship Lodge members before a Farewell Party at the Colony Sunday evening. They return to Bermuda Monday.

Friendship Lodge has twice visited Atlantic Phoenix Lodge—in 1969 and in 1974.

In his message of fraternal greetings, Kempe said, "...we were treated to excellent ritual performances, good Masonic fellowship, and retained a warm feeling for Friendship Lodge. We look forward to a renewal of those experiences at our meeting in Manchester."

Walter J. Hilleman, worshipful master of Friendship Lodge, said, "We wish to extend our greetings to the brothers of Atlantic Phoenix Lodge, and hope their visit will be a pleasant one."

A delegation of Masons from Union Lodge on Nantucket Island will also visit to witness the work.

House approves workfare bill

HARTFORD (UPI)—Able-bodied welfare recipients and their children over the age of 16 would be required to work on certain community projects under a measure approved by the Connecticut House.

The community work proposal was an amendment to a bill that would hike welfare benefits by 10 per cent in the coming fiscal year. Money for the welfare raise was included in the budget which recently became law.

Before sending it to the Senate, the House Tuesday decided to amend the welfare package to require those welfare recipients, who are physically able, to work on community projects in towns that have them.

Welfare children, over the age of 16, would also be required to work in the municipal work relief projects.

Manchester and Bridgeport already have similar work relief programs.

Under the bill, a town would not be required to set up community projects for welfare recipients, but it could if it wanted to. Welfare recipients would not receive money for their work.

Rep. John Mannix, R-Wilton, author of the work amendment, said his proposal would save the state money and provide an incentive to work.

"Many people on welfare are not cheating, but they're lazy," he said. House Majority Leader William O'Neill, D-Hartford, agreed.

"We should try this," he said. "Those that are able to perform should perform."

Although a handful of lawmakers spoke against the amendment, only one, Rep. Boyd Hinds, D-Hartford, voted against it.

Hinds said the community work project idea was not "workable" because the state administers welfare payments, not municipalities. He said it would be impractical to expect the municipalities to set up the programs for the state.

The overall welfare bill will boost welfare payments to 1973 levels. Welfare payments are currently pegged to the 1971 cost of living.

The 10 per cent welfare hike, which will raise benefits for the average family of four from $550 a month to $384 a month, was a hotly contested issue this session.

Gov. Ella T. Grasso recommended a 5 per cent welfare hike, but some lawmakers wanted a 44 per cent increase. After weeks of negotiating, the Appropriations Committee agreed on the 10 per cent compromise.

Louisiana bans limos

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—Following the lead of President Carter, the Louisiana Senate has voted to ban limousines for virtually all state and local officials.

The bill prohibits state agencies and municipalities from ordering cars equipped with luxuries such as power seats, automatic locks, speed control, FM radios, citizens' band radios and tape decks.

Sen. Foster Campbell, D-Bossier City, one of the sponsors, said the state owns 41 vehicles classified as luxury cars. He said the bill would not prohibit officials from adding luxury features later at their own expense.

The only exceptions in the bill are the governor and lieutenant governor.

Saving lives came first

SOUTHGATE, Ky. (UPI)—A volunteer fire chief who battled the blaze that killed at least 160 persons at the Beverly Hills Supper Club says he believes he and his all-volunteer force saved 400 lives.

"We had a crucial decision to make when we first arrived Saturday night," said Dick Risenberg.

"We could try to save the building or we could try and get more people out."

"And, I believe," he said, "our first job was to save lives."

So, instead of immediately hooking up all the water hoses, Risenberg directed his men to put on air masks and push through the smoky doorways to pull out confused and choking people.

"We went in three exits and my men literally pulled people out, made sure they were breathing, and went back in for more," said Risenberg.

"It was a quick decision, but I feel I was right in making it," he added. "We believe we saved 400 lives."

"I don't think we would have saved many lives by doing nothing but pouring water on the fire when we first got there. I figured there would be a more immediate need, and it turned out there was."

Risenberg, 37, has been a volunteer fireman in this Cincinnati bedroom community for 18 years, and chief the past year and a half.

"We've fought some fires and done a lot of life-squad work, but obviously we've never had anything like this," he said as he helped supervise Monday's fire investigation.

"Today, I feel two emotions," he said. "I'm very, very sad and depressed about all the lives lost here. But, I'm exceptionally proud of the men I worked with because of the lives saved."

Risenberg, who works for the Cincinnati Gas and Electric Co., woke up at 6 a.m. Saturday to start enjoying the Memorial Day holiday weekend, but that ended abruptly at 9 p.m. Saturday when the fire broke out.

The chief had been up 41 straight hours before finally getting to bed at 11 p.m. Sunday.

"I was afraid I would keep seeing bodies in my mind and not be able to sleep," he said. "But, I must have really been worn out. To be honest, I didn't even take a shower last night. I dropped off to sleep like a rock, but I was back up today at 6 a.m."

Gas saver

Saving gas and making life a little easier at the same time is the new electric car owned by Mr. and Mrs. William Everhart of 12 Trotter St. The Everharts, who have cerebral palsy, said the car was a gift from an anonymous donor and it was custom built just for them. (Herald photo by Dunn)

The Lost Continent? Africa is bulging with investment opportunities but few American companies are rushing in, according to a Conference Board report. U.S. direct investment in Africa amounted to only $1 billion in 1976 — only 3 per cent of the country's total overseas investment. U.S. firms aren't aggressively moving into Africa because of that old bogey: political instability. In the words of one top executive: "You're just a pistol shot away from sheer chaos."

One-run rally in final inning nets MHS softball victory

wanted the chance of playing the No. 1 team. Amity, 17th ranked, bows out with a 13-7 mark.

A second life for Kathy Strand started Manchester's winning effort in the seventh. The lefthanded swinging senior popped a foul down the first base line but first sacker Michelle Santoro seeing it go in and out of her glove.

Given an second shot, Strand drilled a liner up the middle and didn't stop until third base. Amity center fielder Karen Johnson was playing well over in right centerfield giving Strand lots of room to shoot for. Rachel Rosen then followed with a hard drive which shortstop Cathy Lenahan got a glove on but couldn't handle scoring Strand with the game-winning run.

Amity jumped off to a 4-0 edge in the first two frames with the help of four Indian errors. "We made so many errors today," exclaimed Fagnant, "We made them all today after not making them during the year. We averaged one or two a game and today..."

Manchester battled back with two runs in the third. Strand stroked a leadoff homer with a Rosen single and Shirley Adams double producing the second tally. Unearned runs in the fourth and fifth, both without benefit of a hit, knotted it.

Amity, however, regained the lead in the top of the fifth on three singles, the last by Santoro. But the Indians knocked it in the home fifth with Ellen Donadio's single up the middle chasing home

Jacque Figley, that set the stage for Rosen's and Rosen's seventh inning efforts.

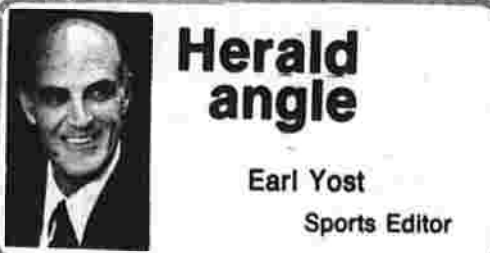

Doreen Downham after a shaky start settled down and wound up with an eight-inning. She walked four and struckout none in gaining her eighth win against four losses. Ade Loukides went the distance for Amity and took the loss. Her record is now 12-7.

Strand, Rosen, Donadio and Figley each had two hits for Manchester with Rosen driving in two runs. Santoro and Loukides each had a pair of blows for Amity.

Champ to return
Spindly-legged Danny McDavid of Ireland, winner of the six-mile race last summer, which was one of the features of the Bicentennial Relays staged in Manchester, will be back to defend his title June 26, Pat Mastrotta reports. McDavid is the Irish marathon champ who ran away from the field in the race here last June. McDavid's travel expenses will be paid by a Boston Irish organization. This year's relays, named the New England Relays, will be held June 25-26, the first day at the Manchester Community College campus with three and six-mile runs and the second at Wilgen Track at Manchester High's Memorial Field. Between 750 and 1,000 athletes are expected. Little League baseball program starts the second half of its season tonight. Speaking of the Little League, the program is in trouble when only 50 out of 140 youngsters in one team expect to assist in the annual canvass for funds. On one entry, only one boy showed up and a second call for help in one league brought out 14 boys. Despite the lack of cooperation on the part of some, Little League officials expect to raise over $2,000 in the drive to help meet operating expenses. Thanks to racing enthusiast Binky Hohenbahl, a month's supply of Indianapolis Star daily papers were forwarded to this desk. Hohenbahl has witnessed several 500 races over the years.

Contractor-sportsman Jack Hunter achieved the ultimate goal of every golfer when he scored a hole-in-one on the 185-yard seventh hole at Ellington Ridge last Saturday. Reports unfounded
Carl Silver reports a complaint that one Silk City entry used eight non-residents in a recent game was followed up and found to be false. Said team used the five allotted non-residents only. Silver also added that a charge by Dave Woodbury that Moriarty's entry in the Felme League had two ineligible players was not true. The two players have automobiles registered in town to get under the existing regulations. Three non-residents with Crispino's in the Felme League qualify as Manchester residents. Silver said, Dick Thorpe, dean of local softball umpires, reached his 60th birthday recently. He's still one of the best and the sharpest dressed among the men in blue. 'Super coup'
NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — University of New Orleans officials believe they pulled off a "super coup" by signing Butch Van Breda Kolf as the new UNO basketball coach and athletic director, according to a university official.

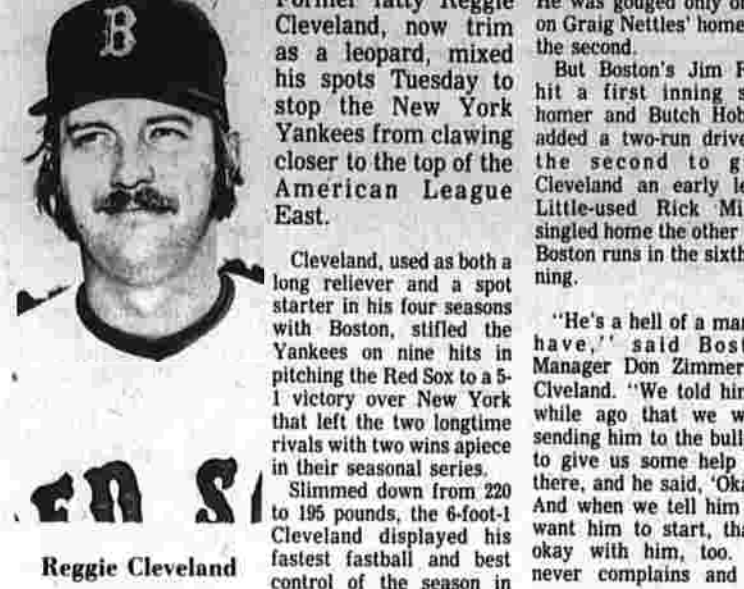

The official, who declined to be named, said Tuesday the school will announce the hiring of van Breda Kolf officially at a news conference today.

He said van Breda Kolf signed a multi-year agreement with the terms to be announced at the conference.

Van Breda Kolf is a former major and a former National League batting champion and MVP, replaced Joe Frazier, a low-key guy caught in a high-visibility situation, as the Mets' manager Tuesday night and promptly announced he "would like to put a set lineup on the field and see what happens. Otherwise, I hope I have my status with the front office is concerned, though, it won't change."

Other news from the press conference but when contacted said, "I would have done the same thing in the Mets' place..."

Reggie Cleveland trims Yankees as Rice and Hobson hit homers

Reggie Cleveland

BOSTON (UPI) — Former fatty Reggie Cleveland, now trim as a leopard, mixed his spots Tuesday to stop the New York Yankees from clawing closer to the top of the American League East.

Cleveland, used as both a long reliever and a spot starter in his four seasons with Boston, stifled the Yankees on nine hits in pitching the Red Sox to a 1-0 victory over New York that left the two longtime rivals with two wins in their seasonal series.

Timmed down from 220 to 195 pounds, the 6-foot-1 Cleveland displayed his fastest fastball and best control of the season in throwing just 97 pitches. He was gassed only once, on Graig Nettles' homer in the seventh.

But Boston's Jim Rice hit a first inning solo home and Butch Hobson added a two-run drive in the second to give Cleveland an early lead. Little-used Rick Miller singled home the other two Boston runs in the sixth inning.

"He's a hell of a man to have," said Boston Manager Don Zimmer of Cleveland. "We told him a while ago that we were sending him to the bullpen to give us some help out there, and he said, 'Okay.' And when we tell him we want him to start, that's what him, too. He never complains and he's been that way for the four years he has been here."

Zimmer made the decision to use Cleveland last weekend when, stymied for a starter to face the hard-hitting Yankees, the manager went to the club record book for help. He learned that Cleveland was 3-0 last year against the defending American League champions and was 5-1 lifetime against them.

"The decision proved to be the right one as Cleveland threw an assortment of pitches right into the waiting target set up by catcher Carlton Fisk.

"I had real good rhythm and good control of my pitches," said the 29-year-old native of Swift Current, Sask. "The first inning I was shaky because I felt too strong but after that I was all right."

Cleveland, 33 on the season, made just two more bad pitches after yielding Nettles' long homer to right. With the Yankees trailing, 3-1, Thurman Munson scored the sixth with a single to right and Chris Chambliss moved him to third with a double off the left field wall.

"This is the first time I ever thought about it this way, but I decided to forget about the runners," said Cleveland. I knew the guy on second was the tying run but there was nothing I could do about him. He was already on base.

"So I just concentrated on getting the batter at the plate out because he was the go-ahead run."

The power of positive pitching worked as Cleveland retired Reggie Jackson, Roy White and Nettles on grounders to end the inning without a run being scored.

In the Boston sixth, Yankee starter Gil Patterson hit Fisk and walked Bernie Carbo, who came into the game in the third after Patterson had struck Boston first baseman George Scott on the hand with a pitch. Scott was not seriously injured, but left the game.

Patterson got Dwight Evans on a sacrifice bunt and struck out Hobson before he was lifted for lefthanded relief ace Sparky Lyle.

Lyle, who had given up only one run in his previous 15 innings of pitching, surrendered a single, who was playing for the first time since breaking his left thumb May 1.

"Three or four times in the inning without a run being scored and we had opportunities to score and didn't," said New York Manager Billy Martin. "The Yankees carried those Yankees trail division-leading Baltimore by 13 games and lead the third place Red Sox by one game. "We even had the right guys up in those situations but Cleveland had a good sinkerball and got the guys out that he had to."

The Red Sox were to launch a seven game road trip in Texas tonight with Luis Tiant, 24, set to face Doyle Alexander, 6-1.

"The Yankees carried their road trip to Minnesota tonight, where Ron Guidry, 3-1, was to meet Geoff Zahn, 2-1.

Torre solves first problem with just stroke of pencil

NEW YORK (UPI) — Joe Torre solved his first problem as the new manager of the New York Mets with the stroke of a pencil but resolving the issues involving star pitcher Tom Seaver and slugger Dave Kingman may not be as easy.

The 36-year old Torre, a veteran of 15 seasons in the majors and a former National League batting champion and MVP, replaced Joe Frazier, a low-key guy caught in a high-visibility situation, as the Mets' manager Tuesday night and promptly announced he "would like to put a set lineup on the field and see what happens. Otherwise, I hope I have my status with the front office is concerned, though, it won't change."

Other news from the press conference but when contacted said, "I would have done the same thing in the Mets' place..."

Kingman said that Torre's appointment did not change their basic thinking. "Seaver's desire to be traded and Kingman's determination to play out his option and sign with the highest bidder in next winter's re-entry draft."

"My disagreement has been with the front office," said Seaver. "It has not been with the manager. This is a step in the right direction and I hope we can get untracked but more should be done. We will have respect for Torre like we had for Gil Hodges. If anyone can turn the team around he can."

"I haven't had much time to think about it," said Kingman. "As far as my status with the front office is concerned, though, it won't change."

Other news from the press conference but when contacted said, "I would have done the same thing in the Mets' place..."

Strong relief pitching works well for Twins

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gene Mauch is borrowing Sparky Anderson's pitching theories to keep the Minnesota Twins atop the American League West.

The Cincinnati Reds' manager has long maintained that in this era of specialization relief pitching is the most essential ingredient to a team's success.

"I'm tickled to death with our starters do well, but if they start to slip, I won't hesitate to go to the relievers."

Tigers 5, Oakland 2
Detroit used eight innings of nine-hit, nine-strikeout work from converted reliever John Hiller and home runs by Mickey Stanley and Milt May to snap a six-game losing streak Hiller was relieved by Steve Foucault after serving up a homer to Marly Perez in the ninth. The solo homers by Stanley and Hiller broke up a close 3-2 game in the eighth. Ulysses, 3-6, was the loser.

Angels 7, Indians 6
Frazier was the hero of the game — a two out 11th inning single — scored pinch runner Gil Flores. May broke up a close 3-2 winning run and gave reliever Dave LaRoche his first win as an Angel.

Reds 10, Astros 10
Rookie Willie Aikens opened the 10th for California with a double before being replaced by Flores. Remy followed by punching a lineout from loser Jim Kern into left field for the decisive hit.

Lucas sparks Blazers

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Maurice Lucas had promised things would change when the NBA championship series got to Portland, and he helped make that promise good by leading the Portland Trail Blazers to a 130-98 rout of Philadelphia Tuesday night to tie the title playoffs at two games apiece.

Lucas was a terror in games 3 and 4 after having two poor games in Philadelphia.

Tuesday night he came up with 24 points Tuesday night to go along with Holins' 25 in the second thumping of the 76ers.

Hollins said, "When we came home from Philadelphia I wasn't sure we could beat them. Now I know we can."

The fifth game in Philadelphia Friday night with the sixth scheduled in Portland Sunday.

Caldwell Jones, the 7-foot-1 Philadelphia center, said "just because it is 2-2 doesn't mean it is the end of the world. I'll get off the plane in Philadelphia, get a good night's sleep a little round a little and run around town a little. I'll be there Friday."

Julius Erving had 24 points for Philadelphia, but Portland shut down guard Doug Collins, holding him to 11 points, his lowest output in the series. George McGinnis continued to be plagued by an agonizing playoff slump. He wound up with just five points Tuesday night and has not been a factor in any of the four games.

"They just kicked us from end of the floor to the other," he said.

Steve's Coach Gene Shue said he planned no lineup changes for game 5. "I'll stick with the players who got us here," he said.

The Tuesday night contest was so one-sided that Bill Walton spent the last 19 minutes on the bench.

Portland shut down guard Doug Collins, holding him to 11 points, his lowest output in the series. George McGinnis continued to be plagued by an agonizing playoff slump. He wound up with just five points Tuesday night and has not been a factor in any of the four games.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I'm half-crazy trying to find the recipe for your fabulous "can't fail" cheesecake. I cut it out of your column nine years ago, and whenever I've made it, I got raves. I never told anyone where it came from and never gave it out, and now I've lost it. Maybe God is punishing me for my selfishness. If I'd given it to just one friend, I could call her and get it back.

Will you please send me another one? "JUST DESERTS" IN N.J. DEAR JUDY: Your letter gives me an ideal opportunity to say something I've been wanting to say for 20 years. I can't help you because you failed to include your name and address. If it appeared on your envelope you are out of luck because the envelopes are discarded when my mail is opened.

Also, when I request something, I always enclose a stamped, addressed envelope for a reply. I feel that since I am asking for a favor, the least I can do is to provide the postage. This month I have had approximately 2,000 requests for information about the "Salvation Army Missing Persons Bureau," "Fat Pencil Party Hostess," my "Ten Commandments for Husbands and Wives" and the usual letters from students asking me to help write their term papers. All expect me to fulfill their requests and pay the postage as well.

So, dear readers, if you want a favor, the least you can do is include a stamped, addressed envelope. DEAR ABBY: I knowingly broke the law by failing to file my income tax. Knowing that I could be caught, I'm driving me crazy. I'm even afraid to call the IRS out of fear that any questions will give me away.

Please, Abby, if there is any way I can pay now without going through a court proceeding and possible sentence, tell me about it. This is constantly on my mind and is becoming too much of a mental burden to bear. ANXIOUSLY AWAITING YOUR REPLY DEAR AWAITING: Write to the IRS and "fess up." I understand that those who voluntarily admit to breaking the law are dealt with more leniently than those who are

Skateboard enthusiasts

Keep on rollin' along

By GREG PEARSON

Herald Reporter
 It's a sport that doesn't offer much glamour for its participants. There aren't many skateboarders doing commercials for rent-a-cars or demanding five-year, $2 million contracts.
 But, for those who do take part in the sport, they say there's nothing quite like the free feeling of rocketing down the pavement on a board.
 "There are no boundaries, you can do what you want," Steve McKenzie, 17, who lives at 12 Steep Hill St., said. "Like moving on wheels, it's a feeling."
 And interest in the sport is blossoming in Manchester.
 McKenzie and a group of his friends have formed a skateboard club, the High Rollers of Manchester. They hope to go before the Board of Directors and propose a "skateboard day" in town, which would include demonstrations and lessons on how to use one of the four-wheel boards.

The group, and other skateboarders, have also made suggestions to town officials that a park for skateboarding be set up in Manchester.
 Manchester Police Chief Robert D. Lannan has said that skateboarding on town streets is not allowed. Thus, the permitted area for use of the boards is limited and enthusiasts are seeking to have a special area designated for skateboards.

"I've had more input on that one subject than on any other subject in the past few months," Mayor Matthew Moriarty said.
 He said that residents began mentioning the idea to him last fall, but the suggestions slowed once the winter months came.
 "Now that the weather's improved, it's picking up stronger than ever," the mayor said of interest in a skateboarding area.

With the proposal, Moriarty said that this is not the best year to propose such a park. But, he did say that Recreation Director Melvin Siebold is looking into the possibility of converting an area of an existing park for skateboard use.

A full-fledged skateboard park exists in Rhode Island. The park includes a track that resembles a shallow swimming pool, which permits the skateboarders to travel along the ramped edges. An area is also set aside for doing tricks or jumping.

McKenzie got his skateboard about 1 1/2 years ago.
 "My friend down the street got one and it looked like fun, so I got one," he said. Since then, other of his friends have also purchased boards, which usually cost anywhere from $15 to $25, he said.

He also started skateboarding about 1 1/2 years ago. One of his favorite moves is doing a hand stand on the board while it is moving. He said that he can keep going in that position "as long as my arms can take it and as long as I'm not going too fast."
 Belger and McKenzie both said that it takes a week or two to feel comfortable on the board. Then you can start experimenting and practicing the trickier, more complicated moves.

Another local skateboarder is 11-year-old Sloan Mahone, of 151 Chestnut St.
 "I just got my skateboard this Christmas. I can do a few turns and tricks, but I'm not a professional," she said.
 She did say that she felt skateboarding is harder than bike riding. "It's hard to get used to," she said. But, she also thoroughly enjoys the sport. "It's a challenge and it's fast. It's not boring at all," she said.

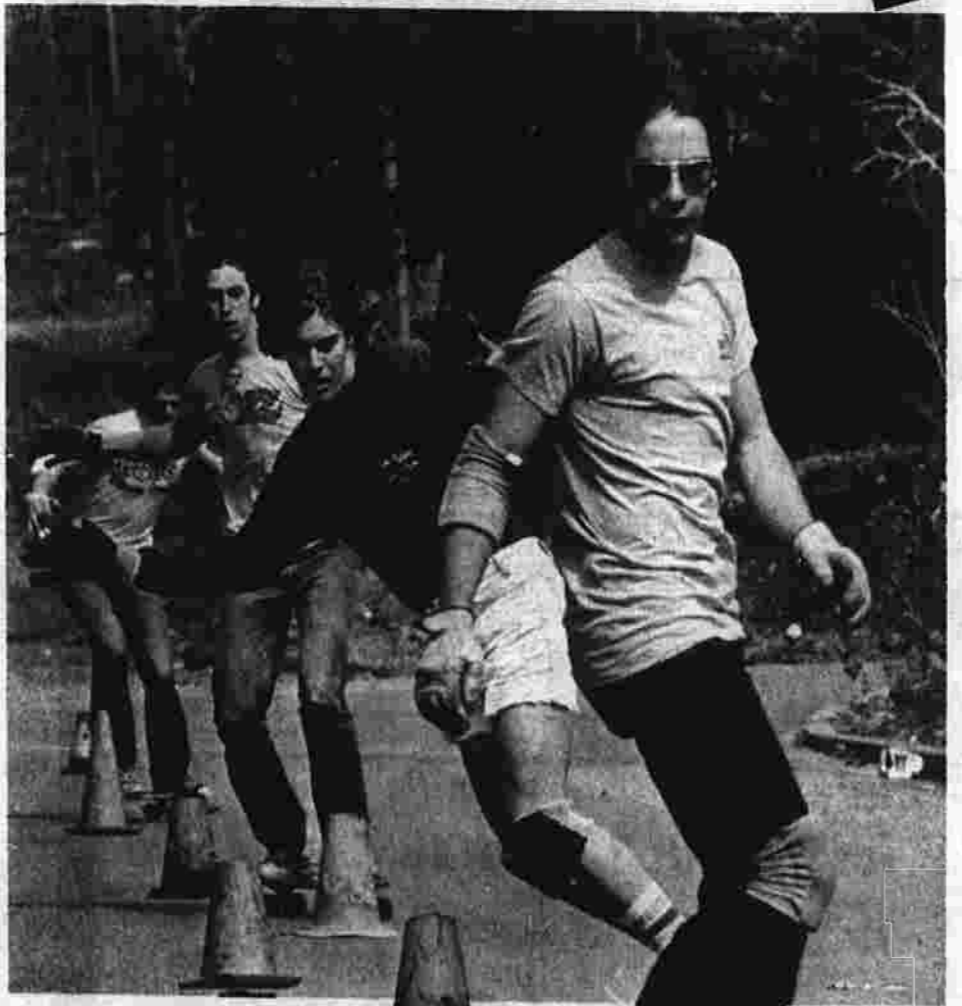

The speed, the challenge, and the freedom. That seems to be what has caused the increase in the sport.
 Another cause just might be Farrah Fawcett-Majors, who is frequently shown cheesebaking atop her board in posters and on television.
 "That helps," McKenzie said.

Your neighbor's kitchen

By Betty Ryder

Some of the country's best known epicures Helen McCully, House Beautiful food editor, Jacques Pepin, House Beautiful chef, Robert Jay Misch, syndicated columnist and James Beard, the foremost culinary authority in the U.S.A. recently met to evaluate 200 recipes selected from over 24,000 entries in the fourth annual recipe contest sponsored by a Seagram's V.O.

Their comments as they prepared one of the prize-winners, "Chestnut Soufflé in Apple" may prove a valuable guide to anyone who has ever contemplated entering a recipe in competition:

Beard: Originality is important, but not just for its own sake. The recipe must be something you can submit because they really enjoy and the chances are we will too.

McCully: Often the end result is not as the contestant describes it.

Beard: Yes, often the wrong cooking utensil is recommended, the cooking time is inaccurate, a step is left out or something is incorrectly identified. For instance, in the recipe we are tasting, a custard is called a hard sauce. These errors are not confusing to experts but make a recipe terribly difficult to follow for the average cook.

Pepin: We can tell just by looking at a recipe whether or not it is going to work. Sometimes there is a better way of achieving the desired result than the one given. However, whatever the method it should be clearly and explicitly communicated.

Misch: And ingredients should be

On second thought

By JAN WARREN

I can see clearly now!

For the most part I've accepted the maturing process gracefully. When my first grey hairs appeared I bought a bottle of golden blonde rinse and said, "There, that takes care of that!"

When the first laugh lines showed up, I looked at myself in the mirror and said, "Don't worry. Laugh lines mean you have a good disposition." But last month when I went to see the eye doctor and he told me that I needed bifocals, I revolted.

"What does doctor know anyway?" I said to my husband. "Grandmothers need bifocals. Grey haired school teachers need bifocals, but I don't need them. Not me. No sir."

"For heavens sake be sensible!"

Through the top of the glasses the world looked about the same as it always has. But through the bottom bifocal lens...wow. I could see things I hadn't seen for years. Things I didn't even know were there.

I could see John's freckles so clearly I could count them. I could see a single grain of salt on top of the salt cellar. I could see a tiny ant crawling across the kitchen table. I could see "Made in Japan" stamped on the bottom of my salad bowl.

"You know, these aren't going to be so bad after all," I said to my husband. As I turned my bifocal gaze on him, I was in for another surprise. I don't know when or how it happened. But my husband, the young man I married, has developed a few grey hairs and laugh lines, too.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Crash diets often harm

DEAR DR. LAMB—My sister went from 230 to 155 pounds in five months. She didn't do it under a doctor's supervision. She got some appetite depressants and just went on the Dr. Atkin's diet.

I lost weight by going to T.O.P.S. My sister and I were both in good health otherwise. I still feel fine and I'm on 1200 calories. It took me over nine years to lose 60 pounds and I don't ache or have pain.

I really hope you can help her. She is losing the love of her family.

DEAR READER—Get do anything. She complains her to a doctor fast. Those crash diets often do far more harm than good. It is true that excessively rapid weight loss will cause a woman but now she has dark hollow circles around her eyes. Her children say she's not pretty anymore.

I read an article that may have been yours that if one loses weight too fast it will affect the muscles. Can you comment on this in your column?

In the early 1940s, Dr. Ancel Keys and associates proved that young men on a diet of little more than 1600 calories a day developed serious problems. These young men had been averaging around 3600 calories a day before the diet, and were not obese because they were young and active. Certainly an 800 calorie a day diet in a large woman or man can be as bad or worse.

Personality changes occurred. Muscle mass loss occurred. Pains and aches occurred. Intolerance to the cold occurred. Some lost their hair. Emotional disturbances and a tendency toward withdrawal was observed.

In addition to the harmful effects of the diet there is the question of what the diet suppression pills did to your sister. These can cause real problems.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 31, Low Carbohydrate Diet Fads which discusses the Atkins' diet. You should have your sister read it if she will. Others who want information on low carbohydrate diet fads can send 20 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for this issue. Remember these diets are not approved by the American Medical Association. Many of them can induce weight loss but the goal is to eliminate weight safely without damaging one's health. That is not always so simple.

Convert single-family homes to save energy

By Lou Cottin The older Americans are with you, Mr. President. In fact, we're way ahead of you. You called for a change in lifestyle to conserve fuel and energy. Right on! Lifestyle was exactly what we changed when we became senior citizens. When young, we strained and struggled to buy all the marvelous appliances...

benefit many of the less affluent aging financially and socially as well. Restrictions can limit the use of two-family dwellings to the aged without children only. Dear Mr. President, surely you understand how all this came about, so you must understand the dilemma posed by senior citizen housing. In our lifetimes, to be rich was not a matter of having money in the bank. Rather it was a matter of spending money. Thus, we were rich mainly because we owned many of the energy-wasteful commodities.

Consumer concern

According to a study just completed by the Automobile Mutual Insurance Alliance it would cost a consumer $21,471 to replace all the parts on a 1977 car. The $21,471 repair cost is more than four times the original purchase price...

Court favors states

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court ruled 8 to 0 Tuesday that neither federal law nor the Constitution prevents a state from denying unemployment compensation to a worker laid off because of a strike elsewhere.

The Ohio law involved in the case has been amended since the appeal was brought. State laws vary as to how such persons should be treated.

The lawsuit was brought by Leonard Paul Hodory, an employe at the Youngstown plant of U.S. Steel Corp. He was among 1,250 workers furloughed by his company and Republic Steel because of a strike at company-owned coal mines.

At the time of the suit in 1974, Ohio law disqualified a worker from unemployment benefits if his situation was due to a labor dispute other than a lockout. Speaking for the court, Justice Harry Blackmun said the state law must be examined not only from the standpoint of the recipient but also for the contributors to the compensation fund.

Although the law may provide only "rough justice" and a rough form of state neutrality in labor disputes, it cannot be said to be irrational, he said, and the need for limitation of the liability of the fund is a legitimate state interest. "The employer's cost goes up with every laid-off worker who is qualified to collect unemployment," the opinion said. "The only way for the employer to stop these rising costs is to return the employe to work."

MVD Info

Motor Vehicles
Commissioner

I've been following your advice on improving gas mileage and notice the time between fill-ups. What additional car care tips can you give me? A. Check tire pressure at least once a month at the office of Energy Conservation and Environment and advise for best gas mileage and for driving on long trips with heavy loads, inflate your tires 3 to 4 pounds above the recommended pressure. Do not exceed 32 psi. Underinflated tires can decrease fuel economy by as much as 1 mile per gallon.

1. Consider buying radial tires. Radial tires will give you 0.2 to 1 more miles per gallon. The initial high cost is usually paid for in fuel savings and longer tread life. Warning: Do not mix radial tires with conventional tires.

2. Make sure your wheels are properly aligned. An annual check is in order. Improper front wheel toe-in alignment can increase fuel use by 0.3 miles per gallon.

3. See that your brakes are adjusted correctly. Dragging brakes can rob gasoline economy. Be sure they are releasing properly.

4. Use gasoline of the proper octane rating. Using too low an octane rating for your car will produce a "ping" which, if sustained, will damage the engine. Using too high an octane rating wastes money and will not produce more power or improve fuel economy.

5. Change oil and oil filter at recommended intervals. Dirty oil can seriously damage engine parts and cause friction and wear that rob gas mileage. A worn engine that burns oil will require more frequent tuning and get progressively poorer gas mileage.

Social Security

Q. My sister, who is 28 and mentally retarded, lives with me. I just found out that SSI payments are made to people who are mentally retarded. Would my sister be able to get these payments even though she lives with me and I take care of her?

A. Your sister may be eligible for SSI checks, depending on her income and other resources. The fact that she's living with you would not make her ineligible but might affect the amount of her payments. You should get in touch with any Social Security office and apply in behalf of your sister if she's not able to apply herself.

Q. I applied for SSI payments because I'm 65 and haven't been able to get along on the small income I have. However, I own my own home and I forgot to ask Social Security what would happen if I get SSI checks and then I sell my house.

A. Even though your home doesn't count as part of your resources while you're living in it, the money you would realize from its sale would be considered resources which you could use toward your support. Therefore the SSI payments would be discontinued if your resources then exceeded $1,500.00.

Q. How can I figure out if I am eligible for SSI? What is the SSI program all about?

A. The idea of SSI program is to provide a floor of income and to keep people from falling below a certain level of need. Thus, a person with limited income may own as much as $1,500 in resources and still receive SSI payments. A couple may have $2,500 in resources. If you have limited resources and income, the only way you can really be sure whether you qualify for SSI payments is by applying. Let us figure it out for you.

Q. As a SSI resource, what is considered a car of "reasonable value"?

A. In general, a car which has a retail value of $1,200 or less, or which is used for transportation to a job or to a place for regular treatment of a specific medical problem, is not counted toward your resources for SSI purpose.

Q. Does a wife automatically get monthly checks if her husband is eligible for Social Security disability benefits?

A. No. Payments are made to a wife under 62 only if she's caring for either a child under 18 or a child any age getting disability payments on the husband's earnings record. However, a wife 62 or older can get checks even if she isn't caring for children entitled to benefits.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

By Will Bernard

Summoned to testify in a bribery probe, a politician was asked if he had ever paid off any public officials. When he refused to answer on constitutional grounds, investigators tried to have him punished for contempt.

"By 'taking the Fifth,'" they complained in a court hearing, "he is sabotaging this very important inquiry."

But the court upheld the witness' privilege under the Fifth Amendment to remain silent.

"This privilege may not be violated," said the court, "merely because its restraints are inconvenient or because the disclosure of wrongdoing will promote the public weal. It is a barrier interposed between the individual and the government, and neither legislators nor judges are free to overlook it.

The Fifth Amendment, traceable to the evils of the Inquisition and the Star Chamber, is based on the unfairness of forcing a person to convict himself. However, there are important limitations.

For one thing, the privilege is personal. One man invoked the Fifth Amendment in a case questioned about his cousin, the defendant in a manslaughter case. But it was obvious that the only purpose of the witness was to protect his cousin, not himself.

Ordering him to answer, the court said he had "no right, under the pretext of shielding himself, to (shield) others seeking shelter behind his privilege."

Furthermore, there must really be a risk of incrimination. A witness in a burglary case was asked whether he had ever served time in prison. He pleaded the Fifth Amendment, but the court ruled that he must answer because his reply could have no criminal consequences.

Even though he could be embarrassed by his "past," said the court, embarrassment alone wasn't a weighty enough reason to block the course of justice.

A sign of the times

Just two letters can make a big difference as Josephine Salas, a cable splicer for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., Dallas, shows. She painted the "WO" on the standard "man working" sign. (UPI photo)

U.S. Supreme Court rules seniority systems are lawful

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled 7 to 2 Tuesday that union seniority systems are lawful even though they may perpetuate racial discrimination forbidden by the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

Justice Potter Stewart wrote for the majority that Congress intended this result "even where the employer's pre-act discrimination resulted in whites having greater existing seniority rights than Negroes."

He said although a seniority system inevitably tends to perpetuate the effects of earlier discrimination, Congress did not wish to "destroy or water down the vested seniority rights of employees simply because their employer had engaged in discrimination prior to the passage of the act."

Justices Thurgood Marshall and William Brennan dissented. The court's lengthy opinions in the labor field dealt primarily with the widespread practice in the trucking industry of not allowing transfers from city to long-haul driving and the related bar to carrying over seniority if an employee resigns from his city job to apply for long-haul.

An avalanche of cases has developed throughout the industry, including one by the Justice Department. The Teamsters union and T.I.M.E. D.C., Inc., appealed an adverse ruling by the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in a case brought by the Justice Department.

Another suit was won in the same court by complaining minority employees living in San Antonio who sued East Texas Motor Freight, operator of 52 terminals in 19 states. Yellow Freight and Lee Way Motor Freight; Teamsters Local 657; and the Southern Conference of Teamsters, which negotiates separate contracts for city and line drivers with various companies.

The court unanimously held that the government proved T.I.M.E. D.C., Inc. had engaged in a post-act pattern of discrimination at its Nashville, Tenn., terminal and that retroactive seniority may be awarded to employees who can prove that fact, even if the seniority system makes no provision for relief.

This result is required under earlier Supreme Court opinion that persons who applied for work and were not hired because of race are entitled to seniority back to the time of the refusal.

Stewart said a worker's failure to apply for a job does not necessarily bar all relief, and individual non-applicants must be allowed to undertake the "difficult task" of proving they should have been treated as applicants.

The non-applicant must show he was a potential victim of unlawful discrimination and that he would have applied for a line-driver job had it not been for the company's discriminatory practices.

Court denies stay of jail sentences to Nixon aides
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court refused Tuesday to stay the jail sentences of former Richard Nixon aides John Mitchell and H.R. Haldeman pending their final effort to win review of their Watergate cover-up convictions.

The court last week rejected appeals by Mitchell, Haldeman and former White House aide John Ehrlichman, who already voluntarily in service his cover-up sentences.

The Court's action opened the way for Mitchell and Haldeman to begin serving their prison terms — 30 months to eight years each.

Lawyers for Mitchell and Haldeman plan to ask the court to reconsider its decision — something the justices almost never do. They asked the justices last week to stay their clients' jail sentences in the meantime.

News for senior citizens

Hi! Well, how did your extra long weekend go? Sure was beautiful weather, and it felt good just doing nothing but relaxing.

The big reminder here is that all you folks who will be heading for the coast Friday, June 3, should report bag and baggage here at the center by 9 a.m. as the bus is scheduled to leave at 9:30 a.m. Also, remember to have a "carry-on" bag with your "nitty" toilet articles and pills because the first night will be spent on a boat and you will not be able to get to your big suitcase.

Wildwood trip
While on trips, remember that the Wildwood trip is really shaping up and scheduled to have two buses leaving here on Monday morning, June 13. We still have room for a few more and so stop thinking about it and join me on a week to remember. We'll be located just a block or two from the ocean, have a real nice motel, plus meals, and especially the dinner in the evening as we are treated to a different restaurant each night.

There are eight-sighting trips planned, plus other entertainment along with golf for those who would like to play, and also lots of time for splashing or swimming or just sun bathing on the beautiful beaches. All this and more for just $100, so why hesitate? Drop in before the week is out and sign up.

By the way, everyone going on this trip must be paid up in full by Friday of this week.

The next big registration will be held this coming Monday morning, June 6, and will be for our one day Boston Harbor Cruise scheduled for June 30. The complete package is $17.50 and consists of the bus ride, boat cruise and a delicious meal on the top floor of the Presidential Center Building. Like always, we sign up on a first come basis and start registering around 8 a.m.

Card games
Let's get back to the action here at the center which starts with last Friday afternoon's setback games. We had 44 players and the lucky winners were: Sue Kerr, 13; Gladys Seeler, 12; Ada Rios, 12; John Phelps, 12; Paul Schuetz, 12; and Gerald Bowler will be showing some colored slides of the variety show, which should be fun to see.

For the next couple of weeks, we will not be serving any meals, so you folks who come to attend both the morning and afternoon programs must bring your own goodies to munch on.

Starting on Monday, June 27, and right on through July, our good friend Gerry Kelly will be back with us to serve our meals. This is done through the courtesy of the members of UNICO who will sponsor our five-week summer meal programs once again.

Back to Wildwood, and we just had a couple of unexpected cancellations on the second bus; unless we can fill at least these vacancies, we may not be able to take the second bus. Let's go to work and pick up a few more members or just friends to come along.

Here's a bit of interesting news. Monday, June 6, will be Senior Citizens Day at the Regional Occupational Training Center on Webster St. On this day from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., seniors can have their cars washed and vacuumed for 50 cents in the automotive department. Coffee and fruit cake will be served in the Home Economics Room for 25 cents and the school store will have a variety of plants for sale at 50 cents.

Let's try to make it to the ROTC building on that day, and it's real cheap way of getting your car all washed and vacuumed while you enjoy touring the building.

Dance party
Our square dance group known as the Linden Squares celebrated the big holiday weekend with a gala dance party at the recreation center building on Saturday afternoon, May 22. Tommy O'Neil, the president of the Linden Squares, wants to personally thank everyone who attended to help make the dance a success. A special thanks to our favorite caller Happy Hal Petachko and also to Tommy's helpers, Ceil King, Helena Foster, Lena Speed and Ruby Wales.

The Linden Squares meet every Tuesday morning here at the center and welcome newcomers and anyone wishing to enjoy a fun morning of square dancing as well as learning some new steps. There is a nominal fee of $1 charged to cover the expenses, and it is well worth the enjoyment of dancing and even beginners can come and join the group.

We just heard that our good friend Mary Rhodes is in the Vernon Convalescent Home.

Rebuffed again
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rita Warren of Brockton, Mass., a proponent of school prayers who has had her troubles with the Supreme Court, was rebuffed again Tuesday.

In a brief order, the justices declined to review her conviction for trespassing at the court in protest of a previous appeal the court had turned down.

Mrs. Warren staged a sit-in at the court the day after the justices in November 1975 rejected her appeal from lower federal court decisions in favor of the Brockton public schools.

Officials had refused to allow her daughter, Theresa, then an eighth-grade student at East Junior High, to hold audible prayer sessions with like-minded pupils apart from the rest of the students and teachers.

Q — I completed six months training on active duty with the National Guard. Am I eligible for VA hospital benefits?
A — National Guardsmen who complete active duty for training are not eligible for VA hospital benefits unless during such service they are disabled from disease or injury incurred or aggravated in line of duty.
Q — Both my neighbor and I are 100 per cent service-connected disabled. He and his wife receive 70% from the VA each month. Why do my wife and I only get $750?
A — Your neighbor receives his VA benefits because his wife is in need of aid and attendance.
Q — I am a veteran who has been awarded the VA compensation rated at 40 per cent. What is the advantage of receiving his services his cover-up sentences.
The Court's action opened the way for Mitchell and Haldeman to begin serving their prison terms — 30 months to eight years each.
Lawyers for Mitchell and Haldeman plan to ask the court to reconsider its decision — something the justices almost never do. They asked the justices last week to stay their clients' jail sentences in the meantime.

same services they have gotten at the Main St. (East Hartford) office.

The older Main St. office serves Zip Code 06108.

The new office is also the base for the 32 delivery routes in the south end of East Hartford. In the past, many of the routes had to use the Main St. station as their base. The Silver Lane store was too small.

The building cost the federal government about $300,000 to build and looks it inside and out. Patches and a well-kept square in front of the station. It was expensive but Wasielewski said it will make future maintenance cheaper.

"People used to have to go to Main St., or to Manchester or Glastonbury," he said. "Now they can get anything they need done right here."

Zip Code 06118 serves 10,700 families and 250 businesses.

South Windsor referendum Voters league supports council-manager form

The League of Women Voters of South Windsor is urging town voters to retain the council-manager form of government in this Saturday's referendum.

The league has studied both the council-manager and strong mayor systems since the Charter Revision Commission began its work last spring, said Nancy Braender, co-president of the league.

"We have concluded that the best interests of the town will be served by a town manager-council form of government over the longer range, since it allows continuity of government," she said.

"Also, the town manager has professional training and experience in town government, can be chosen from anywhere in the United States, and can be dismissed at the will of the council."

"Use of a town manager rather than a strong mayor should help to divorce politics from town administration."

"We urge the voters to retain the present form of government and work to improve the council-manager government rather than experiment with an unknown and untried system in our town," Mrs. Braender said.

Landfill rules
Town Manager Paul Talbot has approved new regulations for the Strong Rd. landfill, effective June 27.

The landfill will be open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of each week. The facility shall be closed on all holidays.

Only vehicles which have a resident sticker shall be allowed to use the facility. There is no charge to residents for the sticker, which may be picked up at the Town Garage during regular working hours - Monday through Friday, 7 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

For senior citizens
A variety of trips are planned for South Windsor senior citizens in the summer months.

On June 13, a 40-passenger bus will leave St. Margaret Mary's parking lot at 10:30 a.m. for a trip to the beach area, and a Rocky Point shore dinner. Bus fare is $4.50 per person.

Dinner will be extra. Reservations may be made by calling Jim Snow at the Town Hall. The bus will return at 5 p.m.

One-run rally in final inning nets MHS softball victory

By LEN AUSTER

Down 4-0 after two innings, Manchester High's girls' softball team rallied from behind with a seventh inning rally giving it a 6-5 win over Amity Regional of Woodbridge in State Tournament qualifying round action yesterday at Fitzgerald Field.

The win was the Silk Towers' sixth straight and moves the 13-6 local, 16th seed in the Class LL Division, into today's first round against top-ranked 17-1 Hamden High in Hamden at 3:15. "The kids are glad to be playing Hamden," exclaimed Manchester Coach Mary Faignant stated. "They wanted the chance of playing the No. 1 team." Amity, 17th ranked, bows out with a 12-7 mark.

A second life for Kathy Strand started Manchester's winning effort in the seventh. The lefthanded swinging senior popped a foul down the first base line but first sacker Michelle Santoro seeing it go in and out of her glove.

Given a second shot, Strand drilled a liner up the middle and didn't stop until third base. Amity center-fielder Karen Johnson was playing well over to right centered giving Strand lots of room to shoot for. Rachel Rosen then followed with a hard drive which shortstop Cathy Lenahan got a glove on but couldn't handle scoring Strand with the game-winning run.

Amity jumped off to a 4-0 edge in the first two frames with the help of four Indian errors. "We made so many errors today," exclaimed Faignant. "We made them all today after not making them during the year. We averaged one or two a game and today..."

Manchester battled back with two runs in the third. Strand stroked a leadoff homer with a Rosen single and Shirley Adams double producing the second rally. Learnered runs in the fourth and fifth, both without benefit of a hit, knotted it.

Amity, however, regained the lead in the sixth, the last by Santoro. But the Indians reknotted it in the home fifth with Ellis Donadio's single up the middle chipping home

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (UPI) — The New York Jets, Tuesday announced the signing of six free agents, two of them from previous National Football League experience.

Reggie Cleveland trims Yankees as Rice and Hobson hit homers

Reggie Cleveland

BOSTON (UPI) — Former fatty Reggie Cleveland, now trim as a leopard, mixed his spots Tuesday to stop the New York Yankees from clawing closer to the top of the American League East.

Cleveland, used as both a long reliever and a spot starter in his four seasons with Boston, stifled the Yankees on nine hits in pitching the Red Sox to a 5-1 victory over New York that left the two longtime rivals with two wins apiece in their seasonal series.

Slimmed down from 220 to 185 pounds, the 40-1-1 Cleveland displayed his fastest fastball and best control of the season in throwing just 97 pitches. He was gassed only once, on Reggie's homer in the second.

But Boston's Jim Rice hit a first inning solo homer, and Dutch Hobson added a two-run drive in the second to give Cleveland an early lead. He learned that Cleveland was 3-0 last year against the defending American League champions and was 5-1 lifetime against them.

The decision proved to be the right one as Cleveland threw an assortment of pitches right into the waiting target set up by catcher Carlton Fisk.

"I had real good rhythm and good control of my pitches," said the 29-year-old native of South Carolina. "The first inning I was shaky because I felt too strong but after that I was all right."

Cleveland, 3-3 on the season, made just two more bad pitches after yielding Nettles' long homer to right, with the Yankees trailing, 3-1. Thurman Munson opened the sixth with a single to right and Chris Chambliss moved him to third with a double off the left field wall.

"This is the first time I ever thought about it this way, but I decided to forget about the runners," said Cleveland. I knew the guy on second was the tying run but there was nothing I could do about him. He was already on base.

"So I just concentrated on getting the batter at the plate off because he was the go-ahead run."

The power of positive pitching worked as Cleveland retired Reggie Jackson, Roy White and Nettles on grounders to end the inning without a run being scored.

In the Boston sixth, Yankee starter Gil Patterson opened the sixth with a single to right and Bernie Carbo, who came into the game in the third after Patterson had struck Boston first baseman George Scott on the hand with a pitch. Scott was seriously injured, but left the game.

Patterson got Dwight Evans on a sacrifice bunt and struck out Hobson before he was lifted for lefthanded relief ace Sparky Lyle, who had given up only one run in his previous 15 innings of pitching, surrendered a single, surrendered a pitch, who was middle to Miller, who was

The Red Sox were to launch a seven game road trip in Texas tonight with Luis Tiant, 2-4, set to face Doyle Alexander, 6-1.

Torre solves first problem with just stroke of pencil

NEW YORK (UPI) — Joe Torre solved his first problem as the new manager of the New York Mets with the stroke of a pencil but resolving the issues involving star pitcher Tom Seaver and slugger Dave Kingman may not be as easy.

The 36-year old Torre, a veteran of 16 seasons in the majors and a former National League batting champion and MVP, replaced Joe Frazier, a high-voltage situation, as the Mets manager Tuesday night and promptly announced he "would like to put a set lineup on the field and see what happens."

Frazier had been switching lineups from day to day in a vain effort to find a winning formula.

But both Seaver and some interest in managing," said Torre at the press conference called before Tuesday night's game with the Montreal Expos. "I get along with people. I've had to relate and lows. I hope to relate those feelings to the players."

"We're going to win a lot more than we have," said Torre. "We're not as good as we have been playing. We should be a representative team."

The Mets sent Torre off to a victorious start when they defeated the Expos 6-2.

"This win was satisfying," said Torre. "I was nervous and excited. Now we have to put something together and get the season back into perspective."

Frazier was not present at the press conference but was contacted Sunday. "I would have done the same thing in the Mets' place..."

Philles 6, Pirates 5
Garry Maddox led off the game with a home run and drove in two more runs with a seventh-inning triple to help reliever Ron Reed gain his fourth win in six decisions. Kent Tekulve, the third of five Pirate pitchers, took the loss to 2-1.

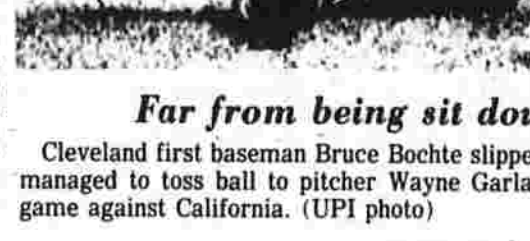

Cardinals 6, Cubs 0
Ken Reitz hit his fourth home run in five games and drove in three runs to support the five-hit pitching of John Denny whose perfect record now stands at 7-0. The homer was Reitz' seventh and Denny scattered five hits while striking out three.

Reds 5, Braves 3
Cesar Geronimo homered in the seventh inning and added a two-run, home-run single during a three-run eighth to provide Cincinnati with a victory. Dale Murfay hurled two scoreless innings in relief to win his third of four decisions.

Astros 5, Dodgers 2
Run-scoring singles by Julio Gonzalez and Willie Crawford helped Houston hand Los Angeles its fourth consecutive loss. J.R. Richard pitched his fifth complete game of the season, scattering seven hits and evening his record at 4-4. Ex-Dodger Joe Ferguson pitched a solo homer in the fourth.

Padres 4, Giants 2
A mental error by second baseman Rob Andrews and a throwing error by third baseman Bill Madlock provided San Diego with a pair of gift runs in the eighth. The homer was the Padres to their fifth straight victory. Rollie Fingers picked up his 13th complete game of the season and added a two-run, home-run single during a three-run eighth to

Champ to return

Spindly-legged Danny McDavid of Ireland, winner of the six-mile race last summer, which was one of the features of the Bicentennial Relays staged in Manchester, will be back to defend his title June 25. Pat Mistretta reports, McDavid is the Irish marath runner who ran away from the field in the race here last June. McDavid's travel expenses will be paid by a Boston Irish organization. This year's relays, renamed the New England Relays, will be held June 25-26, the first day at the Manchester Community College campus with three and six-mile runs and the second at Wigen Track at Manchester High Memorial Field. Between 750 and 1,000 athletes are expected. Little League officials expect to raise over $2,000 in the drive to help meet operating expenses. Thanks to racing enthusiast Binky Hohenbahl, a month's supply of Indianapolis Star daily papers were forwarded to this desk. Hohenbahl has witnessed several 500 races over the years.

Contractor-sportsman Jack Hunter achieved the ultimate goal of every golfer when he scored a hole-in-one on the 105-yard seventh hole at Ellington Ridge last Saturday. Wheelock, a product of Rockville High and a fine catcher, is currently handling the Jayvees nine. Steve Chotiner, Moriarty first baseman in Twi League play the past two years, is playing summer ball in Virginia. Bob Carlson, a familiar figure with the MB's for a decade, has decided to retire. Jack Taylor, former UConn pitcher and now varsity assistant at the University of Maine, will be with the MB's this summer in Twi warfare.

Reports unfounded
Carl Silver reports a complaint that one Silk City entry used eight non-residents in a recent game was followed up and found to be false. Said team used the five allotted non-residents only. Silver also added that a charge by Dave Woodbury that Moriarty's entry in the Feline League had two ineligible players was not true. The two players have automobiles registered in town to get under the existing regulations. Three non-residents with Crispino's in the Feline League qualify as Manchester Community College students, Silver said. Dick Thorpe, dean of local softball umpires, reached his 60th birthday recently. He's still one of the best and the sharpest dressed among the men in his. Tony Lapin finished with a winning record at Dartmouth before stepping down as varsity head baseball coach. The former local man, who played in the majors with the Red Sox and White Sox, saw his Dartmouth teams win 813 games while losing 301. Lupe spent 21 years at Hanover.

Indians draw Staples in first tourney test

Victories in its last two games qualified Manchester High for the annual CIAC State Baseball Tournament and with that honor, a bus trip across state. That became known yesterday as tournament rankings and pairings were released in Hamden.

Manchester, in post-season play for the fifth consecutive year, is 21st seed in the Class LL Division with a 9-9 record. The Indians first opponent in a playdown round test Thursday afternoon at 4 will be 12th-ranked 12-5 Staples High in Westport. The two clubs meet in the 1974 tourney at Kelley Field with the Silk Towers prevailing, 6-1.

The Manchester-Staples winner will advance to Friday's first round where fifth-ranked 14-4 Westhill of Stamford will be waiting.

Four area clubs also qualified for the tourney. Central Valley Conference champ Rockville High is fourth-ranked in Class LL with the Rams not seeing action until Friday when they'll host the Windsor-Bristol Eastern winner. South Windsor High is 13th ranked in Class L at 11-7 with the Bobcats uncertainly handling the Jayvees nine. Steve Chotiner, Moriarty first baseman in Twi League play the past two years, is playing summer ball in Virginia. Bob Carlson, a familiar figure with the MB's for a decade, has decided to retire. Jack Taylor, former UConn pitcher and now varsity assistant at the University of Maine, will be with the MB's this summer in Twi warfare.

Spring football

Spring football practice at Manchester High will begin Monday afternoon at 3:15. Equipment will be issued Friday afternoon from 3 to 4:30 and Saturday morning from 10 to 12.

Unless participating in an interscholastic sport or having a personal excuse acceptable to the coaching staff, all candidates are expected to attend spring practice if planning on playing in the fall.

Those who can't make all practice sessions should contact Coach Jack Holik at 644-1148 before Monday.

Honor Foster

NEW YORK (UPI) — Cincinnati Reds' outfielder George Foster, who hit seven home runs in nine games, has been named National League Player of the West for the period ending May 30.

Foster's hitting streak came when the defending World Champion Reds were in the process of losing three games off the Los Angeles Dodgers' huge lead in the National League West.

'Super coup' NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — University of New Orleans officials believe they pulled off a "super coup" by signing Butch Van Breda Kolff as the new UNO basketball coach and athletic director, according to a university official.

The official, who declined to be named, said Tuesday the school will announce the hiring of Van Breda Kolff officially at a news conference today. He said Van Breda Kolff signed a multiyear agreement with the terms to be announced at the conference.

Van Breda Kolff, 47, is a former coach of the University of Kentucky and has coached at several other schools. He was named to the position after a search that lasted several months.

Strong relief pitching works well for Twins

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gene Mauch is borrowing Sparky Anderson's pitching theories to keep the Minnesota Twins atop the American League West.

The Cincinnati Reds' manager has long maintained that in this era of specialization relief pitching is the most essential ingredient to a team's success.

The Twins' Tuesday night 8-3 victory over the Baltimore Orioles, in which Jerry Remy went 3-4, drove one run and scored two others, was an example of Mauch's belief in Anderson's manner of handling pitchers.

Pete Refern was cruising into the ninth inning with a four-run lead and an 8-1 lead when Lee May hit the second of two home runs to make the score 8-1. Out came Mauch and to the showers went Refern as Tom Johnson finished up by retiring his final two batters.

"With our bullpen being so strong, I feel sorry for any of our starting pitchers who can't find themselves," said Mauch. "I'm tickled to death when our starters do well, but if they start to slip, I won't hesitate to go to the relievers."

Lucas sparks Blazers

PORTLAND, Ore. Lucas was a terror in games 3 and 4 after having a little, I'll be there with five fouls. McGinis said, "They have played even better without him."

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I'm half-chasing trying to find the recipe for your fabulous "cut-it-out" cheese cake. I cut it out as you column nine years ago, and whenever I've made it, I got raves. I never told anyone where it came from and never gave it out, and now I've lost it. Maybe God is punishing me for my selfishness. If I'd given it to just one friend, I could call her and get it back.
