Comment session

After a well-attended session earlier this month, there was no one in attendance at Thursday night's directors session.

The sessions are scheduled twice a month to permit Manchester residents to comment on anything pertaining to the operation of the town. A member of the Board of Directors attends each session.

The first session of the month, held June 7, drew more than a dozen residents. But Thursday night, no one came.

The sessions are held the first Tuesday of the month from 8:11 a.m. and the third Thursday of the month from 8:30-9:30 p.m.

Rocket pioneer dines at 65

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Werner von Braun, the German-born scientist whose rockets rained terror on London and sent Americans to the moon, died of cancer of the colon Wednesday morning. Hospital officials said today. He was 65.

The sources said he died in nearby Alexandria (Va.) Hospital after a long illness. The funeral was Thursday and attended by his family and a few close friends.

Von Braun lived at a time when rockets evolved from backyard experiments to a standard means of transportation. He was at the forefront when rockets achieved success as a tool of peace as well as a weapon of war.

He led the team that developed the rocket that orbited America's first satellite. And later, von Braun became known as the "father of the Saturns" that launched Apollo moon explorers.

Von Braun retired from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in 1972 to become vice president of Fairchild Industries, Germantown, Md. But he remained as active as ever in promoting space.

Miss Hazel S. Purington
SOUTH WINDSOR — Miss Hazel S. Purington, 24, of 184 Woodland Dr. died Thursday at Manchester Memorial Hospital after a short illness.

Miss Purington was employed as a machine operator at Pratt and Whitney Division of United Technologies Corp., East Hartford, for two years. She was born in Hartford and had lived in South Windsor most of her life. She was a graduate of South Windsor High School.

She is survived by her parents, Laurel B. and Sarah Lee Emory, Purington of South Windsor; two brothers, Michael White of East Hartford and John White of Portland, Maine; a sister, Mrs. Deborah Masucci of Ellington; and her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Malinda Emory of North Carolina.

The funeral is Saturday at 11 a.m. at Sarnes-Bassinger Funeral Home, 419 Buckland Rd. Burial will be in Wapping Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home today from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Cycle track favored

The Advisory Park and Recreation Commission will recommend to the town Board of Directors that the town lease land for a bicycle track.

Rick Kiernan of the Manchester Cycle Shop presented the idea of the track for the special 20-inch bikes to the board last month. They asked him to get more information, which he brought back Thursday night.

Kiernan said he is willing to make the initial investment on the course if the town will provide the land. He estimates that there are about 5,000 bicyclists in the area and that there are no facilities for them to use for racing.

The track proposed would be a quarter-mile track of varying widths with several obstacles. Kiernan said a person would be able to obtain a license and a list of the rules to use the track, which could be used for practice and for special races.

In another matter, the Recreation Board asked Siebold to continue to look for an area for use by skateboarders.

Siebold reported Thursday that he had not been able to find any suitable, town-owned paved areas. An area at Waddell School was the only one available, he said, but it would require patching.

The board agreed that a safe paved area away from traffic should be found for the many skateboard enthusiasts who have expressed interest.

Other areas Siebold also reported that Globe Hollow swimming pool will be ready for opening next Wednesday at 1 p.m. when the rest of the town pool will open.

The pool system recently installed in the pool appears to be working successfully, Siebold said.

He also reported that new boards for signing up at the town's tennis courts will be installed next week.

Manchester police report

Police arrested a 15-year-old male youth Thursday on charges of risk of injury to a minor and indecent exposure.

The arrest was in connection with an incident involving an 8-year-old girl who was approached by the youth on the playground of Bowers School on the evening of June 14, police reported.

Police said no physical contact was made, but the girl was taken into a wooded area of a lower playground of the school, but ran to tell her mother of the incident. Police said the arrest was made based on the girl's accurate description of the accused.

The youth has been referred to juvenile authorities.

Two men were arrested on charges of breaking and entering on Thursday night at a Main St. apartment. They were Carl B. Balk, 63, of West Hartford and Albert Palmer, 48, of 689 Main St. Police said a light satellite, and later, von Braun became known as the "father of the Saturns" that launched Apollo moon explorers.

Arrested on a warrant Thursday was Shirley A. Jones, 22, of Hebron, charged with issuing a bad check and fourth-degree larceny. The charge dates to April 7 for a check issued at K-Mart on Spencer St. She was released on a $500 nonsurety bond for court appearance June 27.

Also arrested on a warrant Thursday on a charge of issuing a bad check was Virginia D. Hodson, 46, of Middletown. The charge dates back to July 23, 1975. She was released on a $100 nonsurety bond for court appearance June 27.

Two charges were made Thursday to drivers operating a motor vehicle while their licenses are suspended. They were Reginald F. Denis, 32, of 88 Oakland St. and Robert G. Kiernan, 17, of 113 Marlowe St. Both were released on $100 nonsurety bonds for court appearances July 5.

Brian L. Chudzinski, 19, of Granby, was charged with fourth-degree larceny Thursday in connection with a shoplifting incident at Caldor on Tolland Tpk. He was released on a $50 surety bond for court June 27.

Donald R. Boushee, 45, of 412 Hilliard St., was charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol in connection with an accident Wednesday night in the Manchester Parkade. Police said Boushee's vehicle struck a pole, then backed into two other cars parked in the lot. One was owned by NIK A. Koszowski of Coventry. The other was unidentified. Both cars were unoccupied at the time. Boushee was released on $100 bond for court June 27.

Police reported that a home on W. Middle Tpk. was robbed of about $10 in change by two male robbers while the woman resident was at home Thursday about 2 p.m.

Police said the two young men entered the home of the woman who is confined to a wheelchair. One man carried on a conversation with the woman while the other took money from various parts of the house, according to the report. The men then left without injuring the woman.

They were described as white males, both about 5'10", tall, age 18 to 20, wearing similar blue denim jeans and jackets. One man was described as clean-cut with short dark hair and the other was said to have a bushy Afro haircut.

An attempted break and entry was reported at a Pine Hill St. home owned by Shirley A. Jones. The resident reported that a man was trying to pull open a kitchen window in his home when the resident found him. Two males were involved in the attempt, police said. They fled when discovered.

Similar descriptions of the men were given at the W. Middle Tpk. burglary, except that one man was described as having a full beard, instead of the Afro haircut.

Several pieces of jewelry and watches and collector's coins and money were reported missing from the attic of a home on Wells St. within the last 10 days.

Reconstruction work on Vernon and West Vernon Sts. was placed in the second priority group, and reconstruction on Hillstreet Rd. ranked in the lowest group.

Jay J. Giles, director of public works, said that it may still be some time before the town actually begins work on any of the projects that will to have enough boys interested to form an intra-town league, but at least $5 would be needed.

In another matter presented by residents Thursday night, coaches and members of the Savings Bank of Manchester team in the women's recreation league opposed a petition against allowing women to slide in league play.

The coaches were Harry Kiebler and Roger LaJoie. They said they were opposed to the manner in which their team was approached with a petition by Dorothy Brindamour, member of the league, and a member of the Advisory Recreation Commission. The men contended that the petition was presented to the women while they were playing a game. The coaches also said they think sliding should be allowed.

Mrs. Brindamour said she has received many names on the petition and will present it to Siebold. She said the women and coaches present that they could withdraw their names from the petition.

CRCOG priorities set for projects

The Policy Board of the Capitol Region Council of Governments (CRCOG) has voted to adopt a transportation program that provides funding for several area projects, including at least four in Manchester.

The cost of the four Manchester projects in the top category total $3,370,000. Giles said last month that he might propose a bond issue to cover the town's share of the cost, but no final decision has yet been made.

Giles said that the completion of the projects might take three to four years. He mentioned a similarly funded project, the Urban Systems project on W. Middle Tpk. and Adams St., which took about four years from the start of planning to finish.

The standing of projects from other area towns remained unchanged in Thursday's vote.

Vernon has two projects — Windsor Ave. improvements and East Main St.-Grove St. improvements — in the top-priority group. South Windsor also has two in the top category — Buckland Rd. reconstruction and Chapel Rd. reconstruction.

East Hartford has one project — reconstruction work on Tolland Tpk. — in the top group.

The loss no vote cast at Thursday's session was by a representative sent by Hartford City Councilman Nicholas R. Carbone.

Manchester was represented by Beldon Schaffer, a member of the Board of Directors, who voted for the transportation program.

Reconstruction work on Vernon and West Vernon Sts. was placed in the second priority group, and reconstruction on Hillstreet Rd. ranked in the lowest group.

Workers may get benefits under special new law

HARTFORD (UPI) — Connecticut workers who lost their jobs because of increased foreign imports may be eligible for special federal unemployment benefits, according to state Labor Commissioner Frank Santaguida. The Federal Trade Act of 1974 is being examined to see how it could be used to justify the payments. He said Friday benefits already have been approved for several hundred workers at 11 plants, including Hall Dye and Print Works Inc. in Derby and the Central Shoe Manufacturing Co. in Norwich.

Applications for benefits for workers laid off from 19 other firms are still under consideration, he said. Other major firms which could be involved include Pratt and Whitney Aircraft Group, Inhibitor of Meriden, Unairco Inc. of Naugatuck, Bridgport Brass Inc., New Britain Machine Co., Emhart Inc. of Windsor, and Dictaphone Inc. of Bridgeport. Santaguida said he can't estimate the number of persons who may be eligible for the benefits because of the complex standards in the law.

CATV series to feature art council activities

The "Manchester Profile" show to be seen Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday will feature the recent activities of the Manchester Arts Council. The one-hour program, a weekly news magazine show sponsored by the Town of Manchester, will be shown all three days at 7:30 p.m. on Channel 13 of Greater Hartford CATV. The show will include the Manchester Civic Orchestra Pops Concert and the "Evening with the Arts Council" held at the Foot Prints Community Center. Alan Mason, the Arts Council president, will also be interviewed about the organization's work to date and its future plans. Other features on the show include a discussion of the Recreation Department's summer activities, U.S. Rep. Toby Moffett's recent speech to the League of Women Voters of Manchester, and a profile of award-winning fashion design student Jed Krascella of Manchester. "Manchester Profile" is supported through the Summer Activities in Manchester (SAM) program and is produced by Marc Hirschfeld and Mark Zarbo, and hosted by Gerry Perret.

Mrs. Father's Day

SPOKANE, Wash. (UPI) — Mrs. John Bruce Dodd, 96, the founder of Father's Day, will observe the occasion this weekend in the nursing home where she has lived for the past several years. Mrs. Dodd lobbied and got congressional approval for an official Father's Day in 1910. She did it, she said, to honor her father and all the fathers in the world who sacrifice and work hard for their families. Library announces summer schedule. The Junior Room at Mary Cheney Library will begin its summer schedule Monday. It will be open Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Mondays and Thursdays from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Return to the cities

It hardly amounts to a reversal of the trend of the past few decades, but for a variety of reasons more and more middle-class whites are moving back into the cities... The phenomenon is occurring in a number of major cities but is especially evident in Washington, D.C.

School calendar change draws protest from student

The student body of Manchester High School is very much perturbed about the recent decision regarding the school calendar... The student body and faculty were asked their opinions on the subject and an overwhelming majority voted to retain the traditional calendar.

Our invisible misgovernment

By Martha Angie and Ritha Walters

WASHINGTON - (NEA) - W. Michael Blumenthal, newly installed as Treasury Secretary, recently produced his first report on the continuing financial travails of New York City... The report, in the form of testimony prepared for the Senate Banking Committee, was replete with all the standard clichés about "urban economic decline" produced by the flight of businesses and middle-income households from the "older central cities."

Little difference The solemn rhetoric about the need for fiscal responsibility differed little from the pious proclamations of William E. Simon, whom Blumenthal succeeded... Indeed, there is little indication that President Carter's Democratic administration is any more willing to confront the real problems of urban America than the Republicans were under President Gerald R. Ford.

An angry book The phenomenon may be less visible elsewhere, but the book ought to be read by residents of smaller cities and communities where... The county commissioners awarded a lucrative, non-competitive contract for new voting machines to the company which retained the "best connected" law firm in town.

T. F. Moriarty dies

Thomas F. Moriarty Sr., 75, of Dunstable, Fla., formerly of 11 Strickland St., retired assistant postmaster of the Manchester Post Office, died Friday at St. Francis Hospital and Medical Center, Hartford. He was the husband of Mrs. Monica Hayes Moriarty.

Mr. Moriarty began his career with the post office in 1929 as a substitute clerk. At that time there was a North Branch office in Dunstable, Fla. He was appointed as assistant postmaster in August 1965. He retired Aug. 31, 1966.

About town

Campbell Council, Knights of Columbus, will meet at the Council Hall, 138 Main St., on Sunday at 7:30 p.m. to pay its last respects to Brother Thomas F. Moriarty.

Federal rules may jeopardize sewer projects

Gov. Ella T. Grasso feels a set of proposed federal regulations could cost Connecticut $60 million in federal sewer-building funds and 3,000 jobs.

The Town of Manchester has applied for a portion of the federal funds to pay for the proposed sewer installation project in the Baldwin-Concord Rd. area and a trunk line installation running from Tolland Tpk. to Union Court.

In a letter Friday to Environmental Protection Administrator Douglas Costle, Mrs. Grasso urged rejection of a proposal which would require towns to furnish more detailed reports before being granted federal funds to build sewers.

The proposed regulations would require that towns seeking for the federal funds submit detailed analysis of their proposed projects.

"Such analysis and review cannot be completed prior to the funding deadline of Sept. 30, 1977," she said, calling the proposed regulations "excessive, unnecessary and clearly discriminatory."

"This action would have a devastating, negative impact on the environment and economy of Connecticut," she said.

"Under our present timetable, a major change in EPA policy regarding collector sewers would deny Connecticut municipalities adequate time to prepare documentation needed to obtain federal funding."

"I believe these procedures would discourage or eliminate municipal grant applications for collector sewer projects," she told Costle, a former Connecticut environmental commissioner.

EPA Assistant Administrator John T. Rhetz has recommended the new requirements.

"Almost all of Connecticut's collector sewer construction projects will be jeopardized if you implement Rhetz's proposed policies before Sept. 30, 1977," she said.

Collector or lateral sewers link individual homes to major sewer pipelines.

A total of 28 Connecticut municipalities have applied for federal collector sewer construction grants. They total more than $60 million. The projects also call for 25 per cent local funding, bringing the final price tag to more than $80 million.

Manchester had applied to provide federal funds for the $13 million Baldwin-Concord area project. Street sewers in that area had been rejected previously because residents opposed a high sewer charge that would result because of the cost of the project. But, town officials said that federal funding would lower the town's cost for the project and, thus, would also lower the charge to residents in the area.

MHS mails course cards for next year

Elective cards for the 1977-78 school year have been mailed to parents of students who will be in Grades 10 through 12 at Manchester High School next year.

The mailing was prepared by the following members of the local chapter of RSVP (Retired Senior Volunteer Program): Mrs. Raymond Davis, Mrs. Elizabeth Gallup, Mrs. Bertha Wallace, Mrs. Dorothy Donovan, and Mrs. Connie Vejiard.

These members spent Friday at the high school folding the letters and stuffing and stamping the envelopes.

The elective cards list the courses selected by students for the coming school year. Also included are the names of the counselors assigned. An error in the printing of these assignments was discovered too late for correction. However, students who had Ronald Meadolo as their counselor this year will continue to have him as counselor next year, not the counselor whose name appears on the elective card.

The accident occurred at 3 p.m. Friday, Police said. Ms. Menard was treated at Manchester Memorial Hospital for minor injuries and released. Another two-car accident Friday afternoon resulted in the arrest of Raymond J. Wroblewski, 17, of 571 Tolland Tpk., police said.

He was charged with failure to grant one-half of the road, police said. There were no injuries reported in the accident, which occurred on Union St.

Police charged Christine E. Olmstead, 18, of 354 Walker St., with failure to grant the right-of-way in connection with an accident on East Center St., about 300 feet east of Lenox St. There were no injuries reported.

Police arrested an East Hartford resident and two minors for having liquor on town property. The arrests were made Friday at Center Springs Park.

Richard N. Dagon, 19, of East Hartford, was charged with failure to obey a red light following a two-car accident at the intersection of W. Middle Tpk. and Tower Rd., police said.

Police arrested Nuncio L. Spacone, 38, of 278 Parker St. and charged him with third-degree criminal mischief, interfering with an officer, and disorderly conduct.

Police said Spacone was being questioned about an incident at a Manchester store. He became disoriented during the questioning, police said. Court date is July 11.

Police also reported that several items were stolen Friday from the old Bon Ami building on Electric St. Several tools and some copper is missing, police said.

Manchester police report

William C. Uim, 46, of no certain address was arrested Friday and charged with third-degree criminal mischief. Police said that Uim was attempting to enter an apartment on Chestnut St. where he lived until about three months ago.

A police officer arrived at the scene to find Uim breaking a door window with his fist and unlocking the door. Police reported, Court date is July 11.

No damp spirits for Penney grads

The ceremony. After the awards were presented by Cramer, organizational representatives and School Supt. Eugene Diggs, Cramer said, "Let me tell you what we just did to you tonight. We said $12,870 in awards was given by schools and organizations. The financial aid packages are worth $248,184. The 79 awards given total $261,054."

"This is more than we gave last year," Cramer said. "As most college and university awards are four-year renewable, we gave $268,142 away. I think that's pretty good," the principal said.

Cramer then presented the Class of 1977 to Dr. Richard Veltri, a member of the East Hartford Board of Education.

Before presenting diplomas, Dr. Veltri told the graduates, "I'd like to make a few personal observations about your future. The friendships and closeness you have developed among yourselves may slowly fade as you go your separate ways. But the pleasant high school memories will not."

"During these exercises you have heard words from the viewpoint of the school administration, your peers, and the Board of Education. Therefore at this time, as a board member, I would like to invoke a privilege of the board and suggest the rules so for these next few moments I may speak to you as a parent." (Dr. Veltri's daughter, Bernadette, was a graduate.)

Dr. Veltri went on, "I hope that these statements would be the same as those expressed by your own parents were they able to be in my place tonight."

"We (parents) watched you as you took your first step to school 13 years ago and we watched through times of crisis and joy. Now we must watch you take another step that begins a new adult life style of your own choosing. Penny equipped you with the tools you need to succeed."

"Each graduate was called to the platform by Vice-Principal Ronald Schmitt. After he called the last name of the class president, Deanna Charrette, Schmitt congratulated the class.

"You have been a pleasure to work with," he said. "The Class of '77 has class."

A spiritual singing of the school song, praising Penney, ended the formal ceremony.

As proud parents and friends lined both sides of the aisle, the graduates, filed past, stopping to greet parents with handshakes and hugs.

The closeness of the indoor ceremony added to the occasion. The spirit of Penney filled the air.

Minutes after the seniors came outside for the Penney graduation ceremonies, raindrops started to fall, forcing the Class of 1977 back inside. Weather didn't dampen the spirit of the occasion, however.

A crowd of more than 1,000 filled Penney High School's main gymnasium for graduation ceremonies held inside by rain Friday night. Not all could fit in the main gym, so the event was piped to the smaller gym via closed circuit television. (Herald photos by Dunn)

Herb garden being planted

Bolton
The herb garden at Bentley Memorial Library is being planted and Bolton residents are being asked for donations.
The garden is a project of the Bolton Women's Club conservation committee. It was conceived and designed by Alan Wiedie, the architect who designed the library. Bonnie Massey made a few changes in the original design.
Groundbreaking for the garden began in October 1976. The soil has been conditioned and tilled. Bricks outlining the garden have been laid.
Club members participating in the construction of the garden were Linda Boothroyd, Sandy Pierog, Bonnie Legg, Lydia Grous and Mrs. Massey.
Non-club members participating were Ernest Pierog, Fred Boothroyd, Larry Shaw and Cliff Massey.
Local businessmen which donated items for its construction were George Negro and Ernest Reed.
Persons having herbs to donate, or wanting a list of preferred herbs, are asked to call Mrs. Boothroyd, 643-9029.
When funds become available, the club will purchase a sundial for the center of the garden.

Court cases

Tolland County Superior Court
Nancy Lecker Tingle, 18, of 14 Penfield Ave., Ellington, was sentenced Thursday in Tolland County Superior Court to an indefinite term, not to exceed three years, at the Connecticut Correctional Center in Mantic.
Mrs. Tingle pleaded guilty last month to sale and possession of cocaine. The charges stem from the 1976 investigation of a drug sale to an undercover agent, Atty. Edward Y. O'Connell, acting for Mrs. Tingle, asked for a suspended sentence because of her pregnancy. Her husband, David Tingle, is serving a 2- to 5-year prison term on drug-related charges.

Also at Thursday's court session, Roger Robitaille, 19, of Hartford, pleaded guilty to charges of illegal sale and illegal possession of a hallucinogenic substance. He will be sentenced July 21.
Raymond Carpe, 17, of 82 Abbott Rd., Ellington, pleaded guilty to illegal sale and possession of hallucinogenic substance. He will be sentenced July 21.
Patrick M. Bartlett, 18, of 40 Hickory Dr., Coventry, was sentenced up to one year in the Cheshire Reformatory on charges of injury to a child, burglary and larceny.

Andrew T. Grasse III, 19, of River Rd., Vernon, was sentenced to nine months at Cheshire, and James C. Boudreau, 28, of 17 Wilshire Rd., Vernon, was given a suspended one-to-four-year sentence and three years probation on a charge of first-degree larceny.

Housing units hinge on rules

Manchester may lose a proposed 100 units of housing for the elderly if the town's Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC) does not approve regulations allowing construction of the Wesley Retirement Center on the Hartford Rd. campus of South United Methodist Church.

If Manchester is to have its first privately sponsored housing for the elderly, ground breaking for the retirement center will have to have to take place no later than November, according to the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) regulations.

There are 239 application on file for town housing for the elderly, and some of the names have been on the waiting list for more than two years. Leon Enderlin, executive director of the Housing Authority, said that the "normal wait for such housing is three to three-and-a-half years."

The Spencer St. elderly housing project, now under construction, will add 40 units to the town's existing housing for the elderly, and "by the time it is completed, there will be more names on the waiting list," Enderlin said.

The PZC at its May 23 meeting reviewed a change to the town zoning regulations, prepared by Town Planner Alan Lamson, that would permit elderly housing projects as a special exception in all zones. One commissioner felt that present regulations were sufficient, and another who said he was not sure that large elderly housing projects were good. No action was taken at this meeting on the exception.

If the commission approves the change on regulations, the South Methodist Property Interest Committee, composed of members and friends of the church dedicated to stopping the sale of the church's Hartford Rd. property for the retirement center, are expected to oppose the change when it is scheduled for a public hearing.

About town

Manchester's American Legion Auxiliary will have its annual potluck Monday at 6:30 p.m. at the Legion Home. Members are asked to bring a dish of food for supper, coffee and dessert will be provided. After supper, officers will be elected and installed during the business session. Junior members of the Unit are invited to attend the event as guests of the senior members.

Pollution data now available

Stanley J. Pac, Commissioner of the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP), has announced information on daily air pollution levels is now available toll-free from the DEP representative at the Governor's State Information Bureau. The number to call is 1-800-842-2220.

For people within the greater Hartford area, air pollution information can also be obtained from the Connecticut Lung Association at 528-9437. The Lung Association offers to the public a free pamphlet which explains the index.

The air pollution index presents each day's air quality as a numerical value from 0-500. The number 10 corresponds to the federal standard set to protect public health. Each division within the range has a health label associated with it - GOOD (0-50), MODERATE (50-100), UNHEALTHFUL (100-200), VERY UNHEALTHFUL (200-300) and HAZARDOUS (300-500).

Four pollutants are considered for the index but only the one pollutant with the highest index value will be reported for each of twelve monitoring sites. The sites are located in Hartford, New Haven, Derby, Bridgeport, Stamford, Greenwich, Danbury, Waterbury, Middletown, Enfield, New Britain and Groton.

The latest index information will be available each day at approximately 3 p.m. This information will include the current pollution levels plus a forecast of expected air quality for the following day.

Dorsey band at MHS

The famous Tommy Dorsey Orchestra, directed by Buddy Morrow, will be heard Thursday at 8 p.m. in Bailey Auditorium at Manchester High School.

The concert is sponsored by Campbell Council, Knights of Columbus.

The Dorsey organization is the only authorized band to present the original Dorsey arrangements of such hits as "For Sentimental Reasons," "Little White Lies," "Marie," "Opus 1" and others.

Tickets are available at Manchester State Bank, Watkins Store, Singer Sewing Machine Co., Beller's Music Shop, Nassiff Camera and Photo Shop, Farr's, and Lane Music Center in Vernon. Reservations may also be made by calling 643-0770.

Burton dance recital

The Burton Dance Studio will present its annual dance program tonight at 8 in Bailey Auditorium at Manchester High School. More than 200 students will perform in ballet, tap, jazz and acrobatic routines.

Features of the program called "Razzle-Dazzle" will be the Burton Dancers, a group of senior performers who will present a "Rockette" type precision dance routine. The Junior Burton Dancers will also be seen. The major ballet productions will be Pas de Quatre and the Foxhunt.

The studio instructors and owners, Lee and Beverly Burton, will also perform. The Burtons are members of the Dance Masters of America, the Dance Educators of America and the Professional Dance Teachers Association.

Tickets will be sold at the door.

Dance at Civic Center

An exhibition of ballroom dancing will be presented Wednesday and Thursday from noon to 1 p.m. in the center court at the Hartford Civic Center. The event is sponsored by the Dance Shack of East Hartford.

The dancers will demonstrate several dance steps accompanied by modern swing and hustle music.

There will be an evening of ballroom dancing in the Civic Center Exhibition and Assembly Halls Tuesday at 8 p.m. featuring the Glenn Miller Orchestra directed by trombonist Jimmy Henderson. Reservations may be made by phoning 561-6588.

Jazz at Foot Prints

Professional craftsmen will demonstrate their techniques as they create their craft from bonsai to sculpture at Foot Prints, 466 Main St., June 25 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

June 26 at 4 p.m., Jazz by "Voosh" will be presented. Donations may be made at the door.

Also on June 26, there will be a reception for "Women's Works," a new exhibition of crafts in the gallery from 5:30 to 7 p.m.

Participation and donations will help the Community Arts Center at Foot Prints match a $2,500 grant from the Connecticut Commission on the Arts. Further information is available by calling 643-8953.

Area theater

Tonight is the final performance of "Sweet Adeline" at the Goodspeed Opera House in East Haddam. Tuesday, "Hit The Deck" sails into Goodspeed for an eight-week run. Vincent Youmans created the score which includes such musical standards as "Hallelujah" and "Sometimes I'm Happy." For reservations, call 873-8668.

Summerstage at Trinity College in Hartford is showing "Sleuth," a spine-tingling mystery, through June 25 in the Austin-Arts Center on campus. For reservations, call 525-1471.

At Nutmeg Summer Playhouse in the Harriet S. Jorgensen Theatre at Storrs, Terri Sturtevant is starring in "Last of the Red Hot Lovers" through June 25. For reservations, call 429-2912.

Mac Davis and Dolly Parton open the 24th anniversary season at Oakdale Musical Theatre in Wallingford Monday through Saturday. Rock Hudson stars in "Camelot" June 27 to July 2. For reservations, call 265-1501.

For travelers, The Berkshire Theatre Festival opens in Stockbridge, Mass., on July 6 with a revival of the roaring twenties farce/melodrama, "Broadway," featuring William Atherton and Gilda Radner. For information call 413-298-5536.

Musical events

Yale-In-Norfolk begins its 37th season Friday with a chamber concert. Featured will be Katherine Wright, soprano, and two string quartets and other small musical groups. For information, call 542-5537.

The Trinity College carillon concert in Hartford features Suzanne Gates, former master carillonneur of the Trinity Guild, Wednesday at 7 p.m. Audiences of about 500 persons gather on the grassy quadrangle with lawn chairs, blankets and picnic suppers to listen to the 30-bell carillon. After the carillon concert, visitors are offered a guided tour of Trinity Chapel and have an opportunity to chat with the carillonneur. All concerts are free.

Dinner theaters

"Kismet," featuring melodies by Alexander Borodin, is featured at the Pine Brook Dinner Theatre in Higganum through July 31.

At Coachlight Dinner Theatre in East Windsor, "Pal Joey" continues through July 2. "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" opens July 19.

Patrice Munsel is starring in "Kiss Me Kate" at the Chateau de Ville Dinner Theatre in East Windsor.

Waiting list for ballet

The First Federal Savings & Loan Association of East Hartford community service program for June 25 is sold out. Reservations for the Stuttgart Ballet performance of "Sleeping Beauty" at the Lincoln Center Metropolitan Opera House in New York are filled. However, there is a waiting list and replacements for cancellations will be made. Persons interested in the variety of upcoming summer outings planned by the bank's community service program may contact Miss Doris Rayner at the bank.

Buddy Morrow will conduct the Tommy Dorsey Orchestra Thursday at 8 p.m. at Manchester High School auditorium.

At the Bushnell

Danny Davis and The Nashville Brass perform tonight at 6 and 8:30 at Bushnell Memorial Hall in Hartford for the benefit of the Hartford Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, Newington's Children's Hospital, Times Farm Camp and Camp Courant. For information, call 527-0112, extension 267.

Sunday at 8 p.m., Johnny Guitar Watson, country-western favorite is scheduled.

Wednesday at 8 p.m., Chuck Mangione, jazz musician, appears.

June 25 at 8 p.m., Graham Central Station and Billy Paul, soul entertainers, will perform.

Jazz course at MCC

A former jazz columnist and jazz disc jockey will teach a six-week lecture series "Focus on Jazz," beginning June 27 at Manchester Community College.

Mort Fega says about himself, "If anyone knows anything about jazz, I know it."

Fega has also been the impresario for jazz concerts at Lincoln Center, Carnegie Hall and Town Hall, all in New York City, and emcee at the Newport Jazz Festival.

He hosts a jazz program on Radio Station WWUH Tuesdays from 9 p.m. to midnight and Saturdays from noon to 4 p.m.

His three-credit course will be Monday through Thursday through Aug. 8. Registration will be Monday and Tuesday from 2 to 7 p.m. in the college administration building on the Bidwell St. campus.

Art exhibits

Watercolors and pastels by Andi Thorne of Simsbury are on exhibit at Connecticut Public Television's Gallery 24 through July 15 at the CPTV studios, 24 Summit St., Hartford, weekdays from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Maritime prints by Currier and Ives, famous American lithographers of the mid-19th Century, are on exhibit now through the summer in the R.J. Schaefer Building at Mystic Seaport, Mystic. The exhibit is free to Seaport visitors from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily. For further information, call 536-2631, extension 318.

At the Wadsworth Athenaeum, information about current exhibitions and events is available by calling 247-9111. The Cafe on the Mall, the Athenaeum's outdoor restaurant, is open Monday through Friday, weather permitting, from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. For further information, call 278-2670, extension 204.

Summer school

The Albano Performing Arts Center Inc., Connecticut's first training center in the performing arts, announces its curriculum for summer school beginning June 27 in Hartford.

Two three-week sessions are offered with daily and evening instruction in dance, music, opera and drama.

Classic ballet, toe and partnering courses combine with the Albano Youth Ballet Company's Performance Workshop.

To learn more, call 232-8898.

Ask Kleiner

By Dick Kleiner

DEAR DICK: In some of The Big Valley shows, Lee Majors has blond hair, then in some of the later ones his hair is brown. Which is the natural color, and in the first couple of shows did he bleach it? C.C., Montebello, Ca.
Lee is naturally fair, but his hair is closer to brown than blond. He did bleach it for a few shows, then it was decided he looked better with brown hair. Besides, it was less trouble.
DEAR DICK: What's with Totie Fields? I hear she has one of my favorite show people. MRS. INIE BENSE, Rush Run, Ohio.
Totie had her leg amputated following medical complications. She's coming along slowly but steadily. It's too early to know if she will resume her career or not.
DEAR DICK: Can you please tell me if Julie Christie and Susannah York are one and the same person. MRS. T. SNOPOKOWSKI, Olean, N.Y.
No, they are two and different persons.
DEAR DICK: A couple of years ago I read that Lindsay Wagner - The Bionic Woman - was the daughter of Anne Bancroft and Mel Brooks' step-daughter. Now, People magazine says she is the daughter of a teen-age marriage that went on the rocks. What's the truth? B.G., San Diego, Ca.
The second story is true. Lindsay is no relation to Anne Bancroft.
DEAR DICK: Please tell me when Errol Flynn died and how old he was. My son says he was in his fifties and my son's wife says he was 42. Which one is right? M.D.L., Conshohocken, Pa.
Neither. Flynn was exactly 50 when he died in 1959.
DEAR DICK: Could you please tell me if Jackie Coogan ever played in silent films. Also, how old is he? AL. MESSERE, Conshohocken, Pa.
Some of Coogan's best work as a boy was in silent - "The Kid," "Oliver Twist," "Peck's Bad Boy." He started his career in 1920 and the first talkie - "The Jazz Singer" - wasn't made until 1927. Coogan is 62 now.
DEAR DICK: What ever happened to Frank Sutton? I haven't heard of him since Gomer Pyle was on. JEFF STALNAKER, Springfield, Mo.
Sutton died.
DEAR DICK: Will S.W.A.T. be back? And will Swiss Family Robinson be back? We all liked those shows better than most shows. IRENE RAE BODNAR, Aberdeen, Wash.
No. They're both gone, part of TV's history now. They had low ratings so were axed.
DEAR DICK: I have written often to Sonny and Cher but they have never written me back. Don't stars usually answer their mail? F.M., Springfield, Mo.
Stars get thousands of letters a week. Most of them employ fan mail services, which answer the letters as a matter of routine - generally the kind that request pictures and biographies. These services turn over especially interesting letters to the stars. Your chances of getting a letter back from the stars themselves are about the same as finding a diamond ring inside a head of lettuce.

Agricultural fair season is coming

The agricultural fair season is coming to Connecticut next month, and it's bigger and better than ever.

Agricultural fairs have been a Connecticut tradition since the very early days, says Gov. Ella Grasso.

"Each year in time-honored tradition, farmers gather to display their bountiful produce, show their prize livestock and engage in friendly competition," the governor says. "Baked goods tempt the palate and handwork delights the eye."

But Connecticut's fairs aren't just for farmers. This year, activities include art shows, concerts, circus acts, midways and a variety of other entertainment.

Here's a list of fairs this year, compiled from "1977 Handbook of Connecticut Fairs" by the state Department of Agriculture:

- JULY
8 and 9 - North Stonington Agricultural Fair, Grange Fairgrounds, Wyassup Rd., North Stonington.
16 and 17 - Pachaug Fair, Rt. 138, Griswold.
29 to 31 - Connecticut Agricultural Fair, Durham Fairgrounds, Rt. 17, Durham.

- AUGUST
5 to 7 - New Haven County 4-H Fair, North Haven Fair Grounds, Washington Ave., North Haven.
12 to 14 - Fairfield County 4-H Fair, Rt. 6, Bethel.
12 to 14 - Middlesex County 4-H Fair, Durham Fairgrounds, Rt. 17, Durham.
13 - Coventry Town 4-H Fair, Coventry.
13 - Little River Grange Fair, Grange Hall, Rt. 97, Hampton.
13 - Winchester Grange Fair, Grange Hall and Grounds, Winchester Center.
13 and 14 - Cheshire Fair, Wallingford Rd., Cheshire.
13 and 14 - Litchfield County 4-H Fair, Goshen Fair Grounds, Rt. 63, Goshen.
19 and 20 - Preston City Fair, Rts. 164 and 165, Preston.
19 to 21 - Bridgewater Country Fair, Rt. 133, Bridgewater.
19 to 21 - Hamburg Fair, Grange Hall, Rt. 156, Hamburg.
19 to 21 - Tolland County 4-H Fair, Rt. 30, Vernon.
19 to 21 - Windham County 4-H Fair, Woodstock Fair Grounds, Rts. 169 and 171, South Woodstock.
26 and 27 - New London County 4-H Fair, Kahn Rd., off Rt. 87, Franklin.
26 to 28 - Brooklyn Fair, Rt. 169, Brooklyn.
26 to 28 - Chester Fair, Rt. 9A, Chester.
26 to 28 - Hartford County 4-H Fair, Bradley Field, Rt. 75, Windsor Locks.
27 and 28 - Southington Fair, Grange Hall, Knowles Ave. and Summit St., Southington.
28 - Cannon Grange Agricultural Fair, Cannon Grange Hall, Cannon Rd., off Rt. 7, Wilton.

Collectors' Corner

Stamp badge hard to get

By RUSS MacKENDRICK

This is the Boy Scout merit badge pamphlet with the addition of a canceled stamp — the four-cent Golden Jubilee issue of 1960. The book was obtained from the Merit Badge Library at D & L in the Parkade. (48 pages, 55 cents). They have dozens in stock — on basketry, beekeeping, bookbinding and so on.

Nobody has to be a scout to read and profit from these publications. The one on coin collecting would be a great help in assembling a 20th-century United States type set.

It is not as easy as falling off a log to get a merit badge for stamps. There are 10 requirements spelled out in the pamphlet and any youngster who can plow through all these is well on the way to being a real philatelist.

Right off the bat he is hit with an essay project: "Discuss how you bettered your understanding of persons, places, institutions, history and geography in your own country and the world because of your collecting stamps."

The next question is on the growth and problems of the postal system. The booklet shows a pie chart of mail volume: First class, 57 per cent; second class, 10, and third class, 25.

The booklet tells about the stamp catalogs, and how to evaluate the condition of stamps. Then the tools: Perf gauge, watermark detector, tongs, magnifying glass, etc. There will be questions on these.

There are also some show-and-tells. The scout has to display examples of perforations, imperfs, roulettes, coils, overprints and surcharges. And here is a bit that would stump many adult collectors: Come up with actual examples of engraving, photogravure, offset lithography, typography and letterpress.

Requirement No. 7 says, "Prepare a page showing ingenuity in displaying one or more stamps...to emphasize the story behind..." No. 8: Show and explain definitives, commemoratives, semi-postals, air-mails, dues, envelopes, precancels, revenues and air-letter sheets. And a perhaps unexpected one — postage meter labels. They say that 39 per cent of all U.S. mail, (except for second class) goes with these labels — not stamps, but they are collectible as such.

The applicant has to explain various types of stamp collections and then make up an exhibit with a choice of four areas.

It is a useful booklet but no "1976 printing of the 1974 edition" could be expected to be up on all the whimsies of the USPS.

The first-day cover section is out of date and airmails can be used on almost anything now. Other flaws: The Western Stamp Collector paper has dropped the "Western" and what you see on Page 7 is no way to spell "Gandhi."

Enough picky-picky — this booklet and the others of its ilk are a good "read," not at all kid stuff, and you don't have to be a scout to buy them.

Are they unhinged?

The American Philatelic Society has adopted a new logo/insignia that should be reconsidered and rejected: "STaMPSHOW." This atrocity was "selected as being easily recognizable by non-collectors, and by those concerned with stamp collecting as pertaining to an APS-sponsored event." Ugh!

Best recent issue

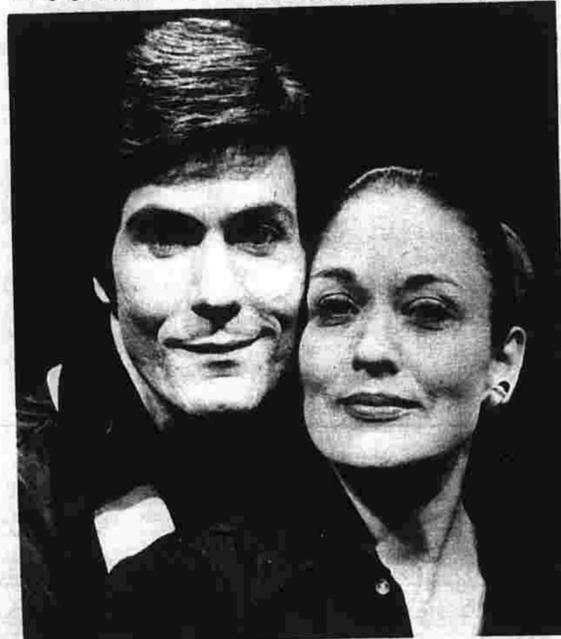

The butterflies are here — not free as in the Goldie Hawn movie — but they are here. They are 13-cent seentans in good colors — the best U.S. stamps issue in a long time.

Coming events

The NEBPEX tomorrow, 11 to 5. This is the exhibition of the Hardware City Stamp Club, at the Howard Johnson Motor Lodge, 65 Columbus Ave., New Britain. They will have a postal substation with pictorial postmark of the two-cent Columbian envelope and also a cacheted cover with the 21-cent Giannini, plus souvenir cards. There will be a CPS meeting with installation of officers.

The Boy Scout merit badge booklet on stamp collecting — You don't have to be a scout to buy it, and you can learn a lot from it.

Joe Masiell and Julie Wilson are starring in "Pal Joey" at the Coachlight Dinner Theatre in East Windsor through July 2.

Status sets coming

By INK DIPPER

Look for all the big manufacturers of CB units to roll out with "Cadillac" models this fall. They'll be higher priced and they will have many more gadgets on them than in the past. Retail prices will range from $250 to $400 on these super 40-channel jobs.

That's the word circulating as manufacturers show their models at the big Newcom Show in Las Vegas, Nev., in mid-summer.

The reason for this change in emphasis from lower priced models to higher priced rigs is that profit margins for manufacturers, distributors and retailers have been eroding badly as price cutting hit CB immediately after Christmas.

Also, there is enough technology available to the manufacturers, developed by the calculator industry, so that including micro-processor units in your new CB rig is relatively simple. This means the inclusion of memory, readout and keyboard technology.

Hy-Gain probably leads the field right now. But, industry sources report that Texas Instruments is rolling ahead with models that utilize what TI engineers learned in the expansion of their semiconductor business and manufacturing digital watches and electronic calculators.

Pipeline and retail shelves for 23-channel CB units are beginning to thin out. Up until March, 23-channel units were in abundance. The end appears in sight now. Import reports indicate that orders for units are more than 3 to 1, 40 over 23-channel units. All available information indicates that 40s lead considerably in cumulative total over 23-channel units.

All sales are down, however. This probably reflects the flattening of license applicants at the FCC. Projections now are that they will continue to run at the 300,000 to 400,000 monthly rate. This is considerably lower than the 500,000 to 600,000 level last year.

The FCC has been type-accepting and certifying 40-channel type units, 448-in total to be exact. It happened at the end of March, but it occurred to me that the names hadn't been published. Here they are, along with the number of models approved: Fannon-Courier (29); Hy-Gain (23); Midland (21); Karco (18); Pathcom & Matsushita (17); Radio Shack (12); Royce, SBe, and Sears (11 each); GE and Penny (10); RCA and Dynascan (9); E.F. Johnson (8); Lafayette and Uniden (6); and Ward (3). Volvo is also on the FCC list. It is offering CBs as an accessory.

The FCC's Personal Radio Planning Group is studying possible alternatives for location of new personal radio service. They've listed seven alternatives among 17 frequency bands in the study of spectrum analysis. We'll let you know if there is any development that may affect CBers.

Many pick minis ...

As Paris fashions for fun

By Rosette Hargrove
 PARIS—(NEA)—Here's something to ponder during the steamy summer months: Come next winter there is a style to suit every shape of woman. Most designers showing in the recent Ready-To-Wear week here seemed to have been thinking of the business girl with a tiny budget.

There is still quite a bit of mink and sable around, also diamonds and pearls, but these were treated casually. It's as though it is unchic to aim to look rich.

Ready-to-wear styles for winter 1977 are comfortable, casual, soft, with a touch of devilry at times. The mini is staging a spectacular comeback. Also clothes can be switched around, worn for more than one season and the wearer never feels that they have to be lived up to. This winter 1977 vintage is gay and sparkling.

According to top ready-to-wear designer Karl Lagerfeld, people are feeling the urge to wear amusing clothes, change their identity. They are ready for a carnival, ready for revelry, to chase away the black mood. Tomorrow's fashions will have a sense of humor.

In a way it's another French revolution. Even toprankers like Dior, Saint Laurent and Givenchy seem to have given up those demanding dressy styles that shout the Rolls Royce-and-chauffeur at you. There are, of course, clothes for gala occasions. And they are nonchalant, sometimes outrageously sexy and definitely flashy.

The enormous betwing sweaters, taffeta knickers, Japanese-lantern bloomers, wrinky jodhpurs, tight ringed in colors, floppy funnel collars, colored hose exactly matching the mini (grass green, purple, black, lacquer red, shocking pink), those are for the long-legged fashion-loving girl of the western world. But not all girls have good legs and not all women feel themselves young enough to wear minis, however slender their ankles may be.

For the latter there is another strong current out of Paris. This is the long, loose look of sweaters, big smocks and unbelted chemises reaching to below calf length, worn with high or low-heeled boots. And for those who do not accept "extravaganza" there are plenty of outfits which still spell understated elegance.

Ponchos are all over the place, so are the bulky parkas and blouses, usually hitting below the hipline and looking one or two sizes too large. Yves Saint Laurent's ponchos are so wide that one front flap wraps over the head. Shawls of varying sizes and bulky fringed scarves knotted at the neck are equally popular accessories.

It would be impossible to wear a conventional coat over this unstructured top bulk, so there are sleeveless unlined coats or wide hiplength jackets, and little warm fleece-lined vests. Capes are still a very good bet. But this voluminous unbelted style is one which men will consider utterly devoid of allure but women will feel very comfortable in.

Pants are part of the overall picture. Outside of the knickers, bloomers, Bermudas, culotte skirts there are also slick straight pants with turnups and some that fit like a second skin. These pants are usually tucked into boots and boots reflect the Wild West, Parsian, Renaissance, Near East, Eskimo, Casanova, Three Musketeers' influences, in all lengths.

Hats for winter vary from the Pakistan bonnet, the Renaissance beret, fedoras and immense Davy Crocket fur toques. In his first fur collection Saint Laurent must have warmed every furrier's heart by putting bushy fox tails on a great number of models, using them as a trimming in his usual lavish way. Any woman who still owns a twin silver fox stole (so elegant 30 years ago) can now bring it out and wind it around her head instead of her neck. Yves did just that.

Handbags are large totes, often fringed or fur-flapped as well as "besaces" (beggars' bundles). Belts are borrowed from officers' uniform or motorcyclists' gear.

Side by side with the "bulky" look is the peasant skirt very wide and gathered around the waist, worn over one or two petticoats supplying different colors. They are topped by a blouse, or again a long chemise-cum-tunic, sometimes ruffled. Over this goes a sleeveless vest and a vast coat, plus a capelet, a shawl or just simply a collar.

With hems seesawing universally high and low they no longer are arbitrary. It is up to the individual to decide what's most flattering for her.

From Ungaro Parallele is this white tricot dress with batwing top striped brown, purple, Havana and white. At right, Jun Ashida offers a three-quarter coat in dark blue wool and white with wide obi band to wear over dark blue velvet jodhpurs.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Carol Horn understands, really. She's not distressed when she's in a store promoting her clothes and she catches women watching, terrified.

"I know women are afraid of that first step out in my things because no one wants to look that different," she says. "So I feel like I'm a public servant. Some people get anxiety attacks because they've never worn magenta, let's say. I like to show them five different ways of wearing it."

Or ten days of wearing one dress, one from her first dress collection, "CHH," for summer.

You do it with the sash that's sewn at the bodice, tying it low, high, around, over, with knots or without.

That kind of thinking was what got Ms. Horn dubbed the queen of "ethnic" in '73 when Carol Horn's Habitat got started.

She'd been to India, Guatemala, other places, and she'd marveled at how inventively women wrapped one piece of fabric around themselves. That's functional, comfortable and fun, she decided. That's the kind of sportswear I'll offer women, things they can wear any which way, with drawstrings and ingenuity. Why not make skirts with elasticized

What's it all about

The current crop of hairstyles

By Ellie Grossman
NEW YORK — (NEA) — Here you've got Farrah Fawcett-Majors; there you've got Dorothy Hamill.

And scurrying to their hairdressers for the jungle look of one or the tossability of the other are women everywhere.

Which they choose — assuming they're drawn to either — says something about them which Dr. Judith Waters is in a position to ponder.

She's a psychologist on the faculty of Brooklyn College with a special interest in physical appearance.

But first a disclaimer.
"I wouldn't invest too much psychological meaning in every hair style that comes along," she says. "Styles are pushed by the media and very often husbands want their wives to be in fashion."

Very often the wives themselves want that, although more often today women want one style they can play with, pull back, pin up, let down. "We want to jog during the day and go out at night and we won't be prevented from taking an active part in life because we can't do a thing with our hair."

Okay, let's get to Fawcett-Majors and Hamill, hyphenated names first.

For openers, "Farrah's style isn't threatening to men," Dr. Walters says. "You have to spend a lot of time on hair like that which implies a return to the traditional role of women." The idle, unliberated lady at home dallying with her tresses.

"And it's more openly sexual than a lot of other hairdos. Men can run their fingers through it, they can touch it," and that, she says, speaks of reality rather than artificiality.

"We were involved for a long time with teased hairdos that couldn't be touched and had to be wrapped at night. You could go into a beauty salon every week and the operator wouldn't know if you were coming or going. If your hair isn't touched, what kind of life are you living? If you don't comb it from one week to the next, you're more concerned with superficiality than reality."

So Farrah's hair style shrieks of tradition, sensuality and down to shoulders realism.

Her hair color says other things. Treading carefully here — if the shade is natural, then its blondeness connotes childhood with its "innocent, virginal look."

"That incidentally, is why Alfred Hitchcock likes to use blondes in his films," Dr. Waters says. "Blood on blondes has more shock value."

Grisliness aside, natural blonde hair also makes you look younger. "But," she cautions, "we wouldn't like to see Farrah's style on Marlene Dietrich, for instance, because that would say — here's a person who can't let go of youth." And that's disturbing to the young who dread ending up that way themselves.

Continuing with color, when you get to blatantly bottled blondeness, "You're dealing with part of a total package. You don't do your hair one way and dress another. If you see long, bleached blonde hair along with hot pants and hip boots, say, you're pretty sure you have a certain kind of person because we attribute traits to people based on their appearance."

There's nothing wrong with bottled sun, of course — Dr. Waters openly admits to streaking her own brown hair — but the less artificial it appears, the better.

And the more gradually you effect the change, the better, perhaps.

"Sometimes a drastic change in hair color is threatening to people," she says. "You may not be trustworthy any longer. If you show up at a church supper suddenly as a blonde, every woman will pull her husband away."

The chances of their pulling them away from the Dorothy Hamill look, however, need scarcely be mentioned.

First, Ms. Hamill is a brunette and that says she's eminently trustworthy. "Because the color is natural, brunettes are thought to be more stable," the doctor explains.

Men are in luck

'Safe' summer fashions run gamut

By Charles Hix

This summer's men's wear isn't only for the Trendies. Even the meek can inherit some of the best in clothing without fear of looking too bold. Inside advice about men's summer clothing is: If the wallet isn't pinched, stock up now and save on next summer's clothing budget. The styles will survive for at least a couple years. Here are some shopping tips:

POOR MAN RICH MAN — Much of the summer's men's wear comes in fabrics that used to be considered only for the man of moderate (or impoverished) means. No longer. The rumpled look of the seersucker suit, for example, has been translated into fine tailored clothing. The southern legacy of the pin cord suit has likewise been redefined even for Boston bankers. And madras is now coming back from its '60s heyday stronger than ever, in everything from golf slacks to sports jackets to belts to walking shorts to neckties to casual shirts. At the opposite end of the economic facade, luxurious silks also have reappeared, but they're competing with silk-like polyester fabrications that are easier on the money clip. And linen suits aren't necessarily what they appear to be: Some are the real thing. Others are good, blended imitations. Poplins and chinios also are being dressed up.

COME RAIN, COME SHINE — It used to be that the tan windbreaker was a mainstay in every man's wardrobe. Why? Because the short jacket was sublimely functional. Now, a new generation of "drizzler" jackets has been born. Worn for golf or what-have-you, this shorter outerwear (ranging from waist to top of the thigh lengths) is shined up in brighter colors, in water repellent cotton, in just about any manner imaginable. "This type of jacket is only beginning to come into its own," says Chip Tolbert, of the Men's Fashion Association of America. "It's the fastest growing area in men's wear, fortunately combining lots of good looks with practicality."

WHITE COLLAR WORKERS — Shirts with contrast collars (either white or other-colored) are back in force, both as dress shirts or sport shirts. Ironically, while this trend will continue, so will the resurgence of traditional button-down models. And band collars (shirts without collars at all) have never been as strong as they are this season. It seems the only mistake someone can make when buying a shirt is to pick out a floral or conversational print.

SHORT TERM INVESTMENT — And the only mistake when looking over shorts is not to buy a pair. Walking shorts come in every length, some with loads of pockets, some pleated, all looking natty and terrific. "Forced to choose," notes Tolbert, "I'd say this year's most important length will be the 'gentlemen's length,' close to the Bermuda length. Next summer, that length will probably be a bit shorter — the Jamaica length." The long-range planner, then, might go the Jamaica route this summer, too.

TERRY TUNES — About the only clothing item not to be found in terry this Small-scaled checks are crisp and underpowering on the summer scene.

Cost less Accessories

By Ellie Grossman

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Let's just keep this between us, because if accessories people ever get wind of it, there'll be the devil to pay.

About those charming little flowers and things you're supposed to stick in your hair to add pizzazz to a summer outfit and legal tender to store cash registers: you can make them, for a song and a dance.

First, clean out your jewelry box and put aside the rhinestone earrings you never found the mate to, the two charms you saved from the bracelet you broke, the brooch that doesn't have a pin on the back and the "emerald" necklace you bought in Spain, which began to unravel midway across the Atlantic.

You're not going to throw any of this out; you're going to glue them, however you like, on some inexpensive combs you bought in the five and dime.

Well, you won't glue the necklace onto anything. What you'll do with that is wrap it around your pony tail or around a pigtail which we hear is the chic hairstyle for fall.

Then you'll take a couple of real flowers, or fake tulip or a few feathers from an old hat, and stick them in the necklace. If you're handy, you can twist a pipe cleaner into a black-eyed Susan and gussy it up with a bit of gingham ribbon. The ribbon? You got it from that small year is a business suit. Terry is inside drizzler jackets. Terry makes a splash in swimwear. Terry does loads of shirting numbers. It's in loungewear and active sportswear. Terry is its own drummer. And as ubiquitous as terry is, velours aren't far behind. Apparently, this summer — and next — will be very, very plush.

SPORTING AROUND — "I've never seen so many sweat and exercise suits on the street. Even men who don't exercise want to look as if they're part of the scene," a menswear expert remarks. Consequently, sports-inspired fashions just won't quit. Tennis still leads the pack, but the rugby look has never been stronger. Will these sporting trends keep up their energy? "American males continue becoming more body conscious," suggests a men's fashion director, "and that means sport connotations in fashion will keep growing."

SMOOTH SAILING — With tennis wear everywhere, the nautical influence in menswear is the up and coming trend, already firmly established at the designer level, if only because of its snob appeal and moneyed associations with the yacht club. Of course, only landlubbers will wear some of the styles, obviously created solely for show. On the other hand, a sizable portion of the summer introductions also can serve as true foul weather gear.

Sling on the sarong

NEW YORK — (NEA) — "Hello, Gladys? It's me. I want to go over what I'm packing so I don't forget anything. I'm doing it scientifically this time, from morning to night.

"First of all, we get up and boom, we go to breakfast wearing bathing suits under our culottes and a blouson top.

"Let's say that's a fizzle, zero action at the breakfast table, so the weather's good and we go to the pool. I'm in my black maillot or my blue check bikini with the detachable straps, or the new one with the South Seas print bandeau top and the matching sarong skirt.

"You know, don't take this wrong, Gladys, but those sarong skirts are terrific because if you tie them right, who knows you've got a stomach roll?

"So, okay, we sit at the pool, we dip a little, check out who's around and now it's time to stroll to the tennis court. Yeah, I'm packing my brother's racket but I'll just carry it. Remember that cute white cotton eyelet tennis outfit I saw? Well, I bought it. So I'm taking that plus a pair of bright green terry warm-up shorts with a terry tank top...I beg to disagree with you, Gladys, but green does not make me look washed out. Are you sore because I mentioned your stomach roll?

"Anyway, it's now time for lunch, so boom, we go back to the dining room and I'm wearing my new white skinny jeans with a turquoise big top that works with my culottes and my short shorts, too.

"Now let's say for argument's sake nothing happens and we decide to do a little sight-seeing in the afternoon, you know, before we go back to the pool.

"I figure I'll wear what I'm traveling in, my wrap skirt with a short-sleeve T, or maybe a halter top if it's really hot.

"So boom boom boom we sight-see and it's time for the pool again and cocktails then, for which I'm packing at least one peasant blouse and a floral dirdle skirt with a ruffle. Okay, a flounce, what's the difference?

"And then it's dinner time, we take a little nap before, and zap, right into my blue crepe strapless jumpsuit which I will wear with the stole so I don't devastate the waiter. But later, when we're out on the town and we meet two fascinating men who will sweep us off our feet..."

"One more thing, Gladys. I'm taking two Agatha Christie's, how about you?"

Serendipity celebrates

Designs for future generations

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Look at Stephen Bruce up there on the back roof in fishermen hip boots that grow up his chest and over his shoulders.

While dark clouds move overhead, he takes a four yard piece of cotton denim from a pile — blue, khaki, perhaps purple — and spreads it out.

He stands contemplating it, twisting his waxed black mustache, and then he makes his move.

"Sometimes I create light and dark shading that's very subtle by splattering bleach on the denim with different size paint brushes, or I do very big abstract designs applying the bleach like you would on a canvas," he says.

Or he shakes the bleach straight from the bottle and folds the denim so it comes out a playground of Rorschach designs.

Next, he hoses down the material so the bleach doesn't lose its head and eat the denim or turn it yellow. (He prefers over-cast days because the sun has yellowing powers, too, he says.)

When he's all bleached out, he hangs his handiwork up to dry in the city winds on East 60th Street.

That's where the roof he works on is, on top of a narrow townhouse that houses Serendipity 3, the shop-and-eat boutique Bruce and others opened 22 years ago.

No one had ever thought of decorating a shop before with imitation Tiffany lampshades, he says, and of selling doodads, geegaws, planters, pillows, purses, "20th century antiques," corrupting desserts such as frozen hot chocolate that are eaten at little garden tables, and all kinds of clothing for men and women. The idea was captivating.

"We were discovered by the avant garde and became society's darlings," he Perching on the fire escape of the Serendipity 3 townhouse are partners Stephen Bruce and Leila Larmon, both wearing outfits designed and bleached by the duo.

says, "and now we're very popular with second and third generation customers." Even the Metropolitan Museum of Art's Costume Institute took a liking to them. Recently, it asked for and got a collection of the denim Bruce bleaches and his colleague, Leila Larmon, designs. We want to show future generations how it was with us, they said. Certain of us, anyhow.

What future generations will stare at on a Sunday afternoon includes a denim trench coat such as Cher, Joey Heatherton and Marlo Thomas bought for approximately $160; denim bikinis that tie on for $35, a pair and a half of which Candice Bergen gave as presents to a couple (he only got bottoms, which cost $28); and the caftan which Princess Loryana Berry Ryan, John Lennon, Dick Van Dyke and Katharine Hepburn, among others, picked up for $55 plain, $125 and up embroidered. And why did they all buy?

"We were just about the only place to get goodlooking denims beyond blue jeans and overalls when denim became popular in the '60s," says Ms. Larmon, fair, redhaired, studious in glasses.

"And we do things on a custom level. Our seams are finished (except on recycled patchwork garments), there's a lot of hand work, and patterns match which you don't find in large manufacturers' denim garments.

Diahann meets challenge

By Ellie Grossman
"Everything is proceeding normally," the Revlon representative said. "Diahann Carroll will make in-store appearances and do television and radio shows to talk about her wig line. Don't forget this is an important thing for her. It's been brewing for awhile, and we have a contract."

"And she's an actress. She can do it."

What she can do is continue to promote the line of wigs bearing her signature, manufactured by General Wigs, a Revlon subsidiary — despite the fact that one Friday a few weeks ago her husband, Robert De Leon, was killed in a car crash.

Late one Thursday afternoon in February we met with Mr. and Mrs. De Leon in an imposing dining room at Revlon's headquarters in the General Motors building to hear about the wigs.

The atmosphere was posh — shinning wood and a carpet so thick the waitress materialized without warning with Ms. Carroll's plate of baby carrots and a cup of hot water with lemon; brownies and coffee for the rest of us.

"My husband doesn't like sweets," Ms. Carroll said, smiling at him and reaching for half a brownie which she never ate.

She was more visibly tired than he. There's been the long plane ride in from the coast the night before, conferences and pictures and interviews all day.

But she's a professional. She's accustomed to the demands and the tuggings, the same questions from what must seem like the same faces. Why had she put her name to a line of wigs? Was she giving up show business? ("No, one doesn't negate the other.") Etc., etc.

"I've been a wig wearer for, let me see, over ten years," she said. "I find them very useful and I agreed to endorse these because the company involves itself with the total look of a woman so I don't have to ride, what's the word," she asked, turning to her husband, touching his arm.

Who
It's hard to tell from this photo the conclusion of the Manchester Soap Box Derby, as she was driven across the flag. Brennan was undoubtedly Father's Day. (Herald photo)

East Hartford wins Soap

Number 13 enclosed in a shamrock proved to be good luck for Aldea Brennan, age 10, of 140 Forest St. East Hartford, the winner of the Manchester Soap Box Derby on Sunday afternoon.
Aldea won seven out of eight races to be declared the winner of the Manchester first derby in 30 years. She beat Matt Callahan, 12, of Scarborough Rd. in the last two heats of the nearly four-hour long event. Over 1,000 persons filled the slope of Manchester High School along Brookfield St. to cheer the 33 racers.
Aldea was one of four girls who entered the derby and may be one of the first female winners in Connecticut. She will go to Akron, Ohio for the National Soap Box Derby Championship on Aug. 20, her 11th birthday, with her parents, George and Delores Brennan.
Aldea had to build most of the car herself, with her father helping, under careful specifications outlined by the Soap Box Derby Association.
The sponsors of the derby, Local Union 1579 of the Town Fire Department, held four inspections at several clinics showing the contestants step-by-step how to build
