Escorted by police

Luis Robinson, left, 26, of Somerset, N. J. is escorted by a policeman at Kennedy International Airport, New York, late Monday after he surrendered. Robinson hijacked a Vermont bound bus to Kennedy Airport earlier in the day, killed the driver and a woman passenger, and demanded $6 million and a plane to fly him to safety before he surrendered and released his remaining hostages. Bus hijacker surrenders

NEW YORK (UPI) — A young Panamanian, enraged because he was "mistreated in this country" and "had no one to talk to," hijacked a Vermont-bound bus, then shot and killed two persons and wounded four others Monday before surrendering to police.

Luis Robinson, 26, a U.S. Navy enlisted man, later told police the idea for his 9 1/2 hour spree of terror "came to him in a dream," authorities said.

Police said Robinson would be formally charged today with murder, kidnaping and possession of a dangerous weapon.

Robinson hijacked the bus shortly after it left a terminal in New York City, police said, and diverted it to Kennedy Airport where he demanded $6 million and a plane to fly him to safety.

He killed the bus driver and a woman passenger and wounded four other passengers, police said, but finally surrendered at 11:31 p.m. — 9 1/2 hours after the ordeal began — and released a dozen hostages when a police armored personnel carrier jammed the bus against a fence in a corner of the airport.

Police sources said Robinson told authorities the idea for the hijacking "came to him in a dream. He had to do this." He earlier complained to his hostages that he had been "mistreated in this country."

Robinson told officers he had problems with the Navy and with the men on his ship, the police sources said. He said the other men "picked on him."

He also told police he put white people on the side of the bus where he thought police would be because, "I thought they'd (police) be less likely to shoot their own kind."

Shortly after 5 a.m. today, Robinson while being led from a stationhouse to a police van which took him to the Queens House of Detention, was asked by reporters why he did it.

"I don't know," Robinson said. "They say you did it because you were set up," said one newsman.

"That was one of the reasons," Robinson replied.

"What are the others?" another newsman pressed.

"No one to talk to," the bearded Robinson said.

"Do you have any remorse?" he was asked.

"For the people that died," he replied.

"Does that mean you didn't mean to kill anyone?"

"No," said Robinson.

Robinson had led police on a bizarre chase across the Kennedy Airport grounds before he finally was arrested. The bus — which he drove after killing the driver — crisscrossed runways and taxiways at the sprawling facility while Robinson fired his .45-caliber handgun at pursuing police cars.

He slowed the bus twice — once to hurl the body of a dead woman out the door and again to push a child from the vehicle.

The child was not harmed.

Finally, Robinson gave up, telling police he had "made friends" with his hostages.

Later, Bruce DeBoer, 20, one of the hostages, said in the early moments of the ordeal Robinson shot and wounded John McGovern, and warned the remaining passengers: "This is what's going to happen to everyone if you don't listen."

McGovern, 50, a librarian at Connecticut's University of Hartford, was hospitalized in fair condition with a neck wound.

Police said Robinson, of Somerset, N.J., was a seaman's apprentice on a pass from the USS Detroit, a supply ship based in Bath, Maine.

In addition to the two dead — one of whom was the bus driver — four other passengers were wounded, one critically.

Robinson surrendered at 11:31 p.m. EDT as police used an armored personnel carrier to force the bus into a fence near a National Airlines hangar.

Auditors question validity of MCC senate payments

An audit by the State of Connecticut has found that members of the Manchester Community College Student Senate paid themselves $21,000 during two fiscal years.

State Auditors Leo Donohue and Henry Becker Jr. said it was "unusual they got paid at all." Donohue and Becker said that members of the Student Senate paid themselves $2.10 per hour, the same hourly rate that the state pays student laborers.

Gloria DeFillipo, former Student Senate president, was reached at work this morning, but said that she would not comment until she completes her work day.

MCC President Ronald Denison and Director of Public Relations Carroll Maddox could not be reached for comment this morning.

The state auditors said that the payments to the Student Senate members were unusual because no similar payments have been found at about a dozen other state, community and technical colleges audited in recent years.

In fiscal year 1974-75, the payments to officers amounted to $10,219 from total student activity fund revenues of $137,739. The following year, payments totaled $11,589 from a total fund of $126,975.

The auditors also said that school officials were dividing purchases into amounts less than $100 to avoid requirements for state approval of purchases worth more than that amount.

Donohue and Becker also said that school officials should improve their control over items of value such as lumber and the school should eliminate the practice of maintaining large quantities of such items.

Other criticisms made by the auditors were:

- Instead of paying all of the college's utility costs out of its general fund, the school should receive some payment from programs that use the school's facilities.
- The college should take steps to ensure that all new equipment is identified and inventoried.
- The college should do a better job of quickly repaying the state and federal government money it owes.

Egypt accepts Israeli offer to resume Geneva peace talks

By United Press International
Egypt has eagerly accepted an Israeli offer to reconvene the stalled Geneva Middle East peace talks in October, but no other Arab nation replied and the Israelis warned they do not want the PLO at the talks.

President Anwar Sadat said Monday it was "encouraging" that Israeli Prime Minister Menahem Begin earlier had said he was ready to go to Geneva in October, and added Egypt "shall be ready to go... in October, and even before."

In Washington, President Carter told UPI "good, it suits me fine," when asked for his reaction to the statements.

The Sadat and Begin comments Monday were the first time Arab and Israeli leaders had mentioned a specific date for the talks, although both sides have said they wanted to resume the conference this year.

In Tel Aviv, Begin said he was ready to start the talks in October during a meeting with Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y. An Israeli official later said Oct. 10 was a likely date but warned the Jewish state will not tolerate Palestinian Liberation Organization representatives at the conference.

"We are ready to go to Geneva at any time," the official said. "We are ready to speak about everything, with nothing barred and with no preconditions."

"Begin has peace deeply in his heart and I gather that he feels... that the time has come when it should be possible to work out a peace treaty," Javits said later.

The Israeli stand on the PLO pointed up what most observers believe will be the main sticking point of the talks because the Arabs insist that any Geneva meetings be attended by Palestinian delegates, presumably the PLO.

The Geneva conference, cochaired by the United States and the Soviet Union, began after the 1973 Middle East war but became deadlocked quickly and has been in recess since then.

Army takes over Pakistan

RAPALPINDI, Pakistan (UPI) — The Pakistan army seized power today and jailed Prime Minister Ali Bhutto and other political leaders in a move to end what diplomats called the "disrupting political impasse" leading Pakistan to economic disaster.

The coup was reportedly led by Gen. Zia Ul-Haq, 53, the army chief of staff who may become the next Pakistani strongman. He is known as a Moslem disciplinarian but not a fanatic, a man with little political background.

Haq was scheduled to address the nation later today and was expected to disclose then whether he will rule alone or as part of a junta.

Pakistan Radio said the armed forces imposed martial law in an effort to end four months of political violence that killed more than 300 persons and left the country in chaos. Already one minor demonstration was reported here today by 100 persons protesting martial law.

Although Haq was reported head of the group that deposed Bhutto, government sources in Karachi said Gen. Mohammed Sharif, the navy head, was named chief martial law administrator.

The sources called the coup a peaceful takeover and said all was normal, although the army was guarding key installations. They said Bhutto was under "house arrest."

Diplomatic source said Haq might form a three-man junta consisting of himself, air force Commander Zulfikar Ali Khan and Sharif, commander of the navy, to lead the country. All three are four-star generals.

Pakistan, with some 75 million people has a total military strength of about 450,000.

Diplomatic sources said some of Bhutto's last acts in power, such as total prohibition and shutdown of nightclubs, gambling and racing, were brought about by pressure from right-wing religious opponents.

One source, who referred to Haq as "least ambitious" members of the right wing, said the general was forced to stage the coup to put an end to the "disrupting political impasse that seemed to lead to certain economic disaster."

Picnics, parades highlight Fourth

By KENNETH R. CLARK
United Press International
The Bicentennial year faded into the nation's third century Monday, but the trappings of its celebration were the same: Parades, picnics, speeches, sunbathed bodies, food, fireworks and a rising death toll on holiday highways.

Philadelphians cheered an elaborate parade celebrating historic "firsts" for their city — among them, the founding of the nation's first art museum in 1805, Ben Franklin's discovery of electricity in 1752, and the first American balloon flight on Jan. 9, 1793.

In San Francisco, hordes flocked to Golden Gate Park for a band concert, then to Candlestick Park for a fireworks display, and in New York City, thousands turned out to watch a fleet of sailing ships as they cruised into the harbor under the thunder of a 50-round cannon salute to the states.

White duck pants and Bermuda shorts blended with blue jeans in the nation's largest city as throngs dined on exotic foods along Manhattan's "great ethnic way," ogled an Air Force jet plane display of precision flying above the Statue of Liberty, or paused to watch magicians, jugglers and ventriloquists performing in jammed streets.

There was even a weight lifter who pressed trusting passersby over his head.

It wasn't the sophisticated fare of which New Yorkers generally boast, but no one seemed to mind. "Sophisticated?" What's sophisticated?" asked Peggy Patterson, of Brooklyn Heights as she listened to a top-hatted brass band playing Sousa marches. "We're just having fun."

They were having fun in Bartow, Fla., too — at the 135th birthday party of Charlie Smith, acknowledged by the Social Security Administration as the nation's oldest citizen.

Smith — who says he was born in Liberia in 1842 and sold into slavery at a New Orleans slave auction in 1854 — munched a slice of his red, white and blue birthday cake and washed it down with Koolaid.

"The cake is good and so am I," he said.

The nation's highways were as jammed as its streets, beaches and parks, and the result was tragedy so familiar now as to have become merely a statistical readout to those not touched by it.

As the holiday drew to a close, the traffic death toll was nearing the 500 mark, with most Fourth of July celebrants still facing the long drive home. The National Safety Council had predicted death over the weekend for 500 to 600 travelers.

A high rise view of fireworks

Bombs burst in air over Martin Park as seen from the top and 10th floor of Meadow Hill at 101 Connecticut Blvd. in East Hartford Monday night. Police estimate 35,000 people viewed the near hour-long display in and around the park. Countless thousands more watched from miles away. New bumper sticker stresses need for awareness of youth

"Have you hugged your child today?" is the question on a new bumper sticker intended to convey a positive message and community awareness of youth concerns in Manchester. The bumper stickers are being distributed by MOTION (Manchester Organization to Investigate our Need), a special task force of the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce to deal with youth concerns. The idea for the bumper stickers was suggested to the committee by the Rev. Ronald Fournier who received one from his sister in Illinois. Mrs. Shirley McCray, chairperson of MOTION, said the bumper sticker is based on the idea of using a positive approach and stressing family unity as a means of preventing youth problems. One of the main concerns of the committee has been dealing with vandalism among youth. Two of the committee's projects to deal with the problem have been presentation of a film on vandalism to the town's schools and elementary Amnity Day, when persons were encouraged to return town property. The committee will have

Sausage Club gives funds to two camps
Sam Fillorano and Raymond Damato, both of Manchester, recently were guests at a meeting of the Sausage Club at Frank's Restaurant.
During the meeting, $504 was removed from the restaurant's ceiling, where it had pinned at former meetings. The club divided the collection between the Times Farm Camp and Camp Courant. Since it was formed six years ago, the club has contributed $1,500 to various causes. It's next collection will benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Fund.
Fillorano also reported that Dr. John X.R. Basile, a member of the club and chairman of the Venetian Earthquake Relief Fund, showed pictures of the library in Artega and the Senior Citizens Center in Osoppo, Italy. The library furnishings and the center's dining facilities were contributed by the Venetian Relief Fund.

Crowd fizzles out for belated display

MADISON (UPI) - If you've ever planned a gathering where everything went wrong, consider the plight of Robert Cairns and his 20-600 people showed up for the fireworks display for the past 25 years in this shoredown town. The distributor assumed the display was to be Monday and Monday was the date in the written contract. After the mistake was discovered Sunday about 6 p.m., a car with a loudspeaker drove along the beaches announcing the fireworks display would be Monday. Many people, apparently believing the announcement was a hoax, continued waiting for hours.

Cairns said he blames no one but himself. He was so upset he said he couldn't sleep at all Sunday night.

"Nothing like that has ever happened before," he said.

The town hired 20 extra policemen to control the crowds Sunday night and had to rehire them for the display Monday. The cost was about $1,600 to ask what had happened.

It turned out Cairns and the New Hampshire fireworks distributor had a simple misunderstanding.

Cairns assumed the distributor understood the display was scheduled for Sunday. Cairns confirmed the agreement for the fireworks by telephone but said he didn't check the written contract.

Newton wants another chance

NEWTON (UPI) - Black Panther leader Huey P. Newton wants another chance to be free on bail because he is ready to fight the murder charges against him in court.

His attorney, Sheldon Otis, said Newton would appear before Municipal Judge Jacqueline Taber today to ask that he be granted freedom on bail while awaiting trial for the stabbing death of a teenage girl.

Newton, 35, returned voluntarily to the United States Sunday night after a self-imposed 2 1/2-year exile in Cuba. He immediately was booked into Oakland's City Jail on the murder charge in the girl's death and a charge of assault on a police officer.

Newton, who was free on $42,000 bail when he disappeared in August 1974, has said his lawyers now can prove he was the victim.

Pipeline security problems

Heretofore secret testimony before a Senate subcommittee focuses attention on the possibility that the trans-Alaskan pipeline - slated to carry 10 per cent of U.S. domestic oil needs - could be a 795-mile-long target of terrorists.

Informed that assuring the uninterrupted flow of oil is too big a task for Alaskan state police, the subcommittee headed by Sen. James Eastland, D-Miss., recommended that a federal energy security be set up within the proposed new department to oversee all large pipelines.

One witness estimated that fewer than 50 terrorists, timing their acts of sabotage to coincide with another Arab oil embargo, could leave northeastern states virtually without fuel and tighten the energy squeeze elsewhere in the "lower 48."

A fragment of some screenwriter's imagination? Apparently not. Testimony revealed that in mid-February three former employees of Alyeska, the pipeline construction company, threatened to blow up the pipeline in 18 places unless their demands for extortion money were met. A lengthy search uncovered no explosives, but the incident cast a long shadow.

Nor are terrorists the only danger.

Other witnesses warned the subcommittee that militant Indian citizens might occupy pump stations in order to press real or imagined claims against the government. Some 80 per cent of the Alaska's highway signs are said to have bullet holes in them, so vandalism or malicious damage by hunters can't be ruled out. Once ruptured, the trans-Alaskan or any comparable pipeline would have to be shut down entirely.

Witnesses differed as to how long repairs would take; estimates range from several months to a year.

Either is unacceptable from a national security standpoint; we believe. Pump stations and pipeline bridges ought to be guarded around the clock.

Air patrols should scrutinize pipeline rights-of-way just as cruiser patrols monitor highways.

The citizenry may be reluctant to see another federal police agency formed, and wonder why the pipeline company cannot guard its own property.

However, if after careful study it turns out there is no other way of protecting 10 per cent of the nation's oil requirements, the price of an energy security agency will have to be paid.

Wallace J. Irish Jr., a member of the Republican State Central Committee, said that he will ask State Chairman Frederick K. Biebel to target Manchester as a town that the party can win in November.

In recent elections, the Republican party has targeted towns that it feels can be changed from Democratic to Republican rule. Irish said that the state party has provided increased funding for the local party organization in targeted communities to help pay for campaign expenses.

"I'm going to recommend Manchester based on the potential that is here," Irish said.

The Democrats presently hold a 6-3 advantage on the Board of Directors. But, Irish said that the recent resignation of two of the directors - Jack Thompson and Jack Goldberg - and the announcement that Mayor Matthew Moriarty will not seek re-election have increased his party's chances in the local election. And, he said, the Republican leadership has not yet revealed names of interested candidates.

"It looks very good for us," he said. "The Republican leadership has not yet revealed names of interested candidates."

The party will also be endorsing a slate of candidates in early August after reviewing candidates in July. Ferguson said that the GOP candidates who have expressed interest had signed up before Moriarty announced on June 9 that he would not seek re-election.

"Many of them had the feeling back then that this would be a Republican year," Ferguson said.

Proficiency testing proposal applauded

Dear editor,
Congratulations to the Manchester Board of Education for their common sense and good judgment regarding the proficiency testing directive reported in The Herald June 28. The muchheralded innovations of the education "experts" over the past 15 years must now receive more scrutiny by the public.

Far too long now we have been captivated by the education "experts" who have been telling us how to raise and educate our children. Well, I say, beware of these "experts" for they have led us down the path of educational disaster for the last fifteen years.

I believe we have an excellent superintendent in Dr. Kennedy, and his recommendations to the board to implement proficiency testing reaffirms my belief. Proficiency testing is a good start. The Chinese have a saying that a journey of a thousand miles starts with the first step, and I call on the school board to start walking.

Board member Paul Greenberg's statement that he had some concerns for the stigma associated with the students who does not pass the test shows his lack of concern for the student who can not pass a simple employment test, which is a far worse stigma, after all, failure is a fact of life.

MPIG extends invitation to public meeting Thursday

To the editor,
On Thursday evening July 7 at 8 p.m. at the First Federal Savings Bank office at 344 West Middle Tpke., Manchester, the South Methodist Property Interest Group (MPIG) will hold an open meeting. President Bob Von Deck, other members of this group and myself invite all Manchester area citizens to attend this important meeting.

We especially invite members from the surrounding churches, the Manchester Commission on Aging, Manchester Public Housing Authority and indeed some of the local private contractors and business community people to attend. How more open can we be?

For months, our group has and continues to oppose the sale of this beautiful Hartford Rd. property. We will present facts supporting our opposition.

Especially, we will discuss the new zoning regulations to be presented for public consideration July 25. If these regulations are adopted they will restore spot zoning, allow up to 30 units per acre in a AA Zone in time this could mean a possible 340 units could be built on the Hartford Rd. property.

All are welcome, sorry no refreshments, just some good, open honest discussion. Come and bring a friend. William T. Strain, Locust St. Manchester

To whom it may concern:
This is to inform the Manchester public with the abortion that exists at the Nathan Hale School playground.

An indisputably cockeyed case

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON - Littering in the Supreme Court building with intent to commit journalistic lese majeste, this reporter gave silent thanks that ultra liberal Earl Warren Bench no longer was doing business.

That particular Supreme Court, one fears, by now would have so adjusted the Constitution that labor unions would be running over prisons and warden would be elected by popular vote of the inmates.

Relevant musings
The musings is relevant. The Court had just handed down a 7 to 2 decision that the Constitution does not require a state to let prisoners solicit membership in a prisoners' union or let the union hold meetings. The two dissenters - you guessed it - were Justices William Brennan, an Eisenhower appointee, and Thurgood Marshall, appointed by Lyndon Johnson. I question not the integrity of either justice, only their congenial capacity for seeing only the liberal side, no matter how cockeyed.

And this case was indisputably cockeyed. Indeed, it did not pit liberal versus conservative but foolishness versus common sense. One wonders at the lunacy of a judicial system that forced the Supreme Court to consider the case. Chartered in 1974.

Plaintiff was the North Carolina Prisoners' Labor Union, Inc., which was chartered in 1974 for God knows what reason. The union sought to promote "charitable labor union purposes" - to form a unit "at every prison and jail in the state," to be a vehicle for the presentation and resolution of inmate grievances, and "to seek through collective bargaining...to improve working conditions."

The state legislature did forbid the union to bargain over pay, hours of work and other conditions of incarceration. It did not oppose union membership, but proposed regulations prohibiting inmates from soliciting other inmates, holding union meetings, or bulk mailings about appearance it is strikingly beautiful.

Most town officials were at their desks for the Saturday and Sunday Open House in 1977.

The 1927 story described a tour of the building, saying, "...the first impression of rugged New England architecture is received from the handsome colonial doorway. Just inside the eye meets the beautiful marble staircase."

The Hearing Room upstairs was called "the most impressive room in the whole building...It is the Public Hearing room...individual mahogany chairs are placed in rows for the use of the property owners and taxpayers who wish to speak to the Board of Selectmen."

Today's tour of the Municipal Building would be unlike that taken 50 years ago. The spaciousness is no longer there; the interior has undergone renovations over the years, and every couple of years or so you hear plans advanced for either an addition or for a new building.

The one that came closest in recent years was during Downtown Renewal plans five years ago. An idea was suggested to build a new Municipal Building on Main St. That plan died, as did Downtown Renewal.

The general contractors for the building were the Peck, McWilliams Co. of Norwich. Subcontractors were largely local men.

Frank Farley of New York City and a nephew of Frank Cheney Jr. of Cheney Bros. was the architect. The story said, "His design harmonized with several of Manchester's finest buildings, the schools of the Ninth District and Memorial Hospital. The building is colonial in design and though simple in its exterior

Reflections

Hal Turkington
Managing Editor

How old is Manchester's Municipal Building? Well, they started building it in July 1925, occupied it in September 1926, and opened it to the general public for the first time on Sunday, April 3, 1927.

Whatever changes that have been made in the building since then have not changed its original name. It is still called today as it was in 1927 - the Municipal Building.

What did the building cost? In 1927, it cost $190,000. A story about its dedication in The Herald of April 2, 1927, said, "It will astonish guests this afternoon and tomorrow that such a fine structure can be built and furnished under $200,000."

When the building was opened, the Police Department moved across the street to the Hall of Records.

MACC news

By Elaine Holcomb

During the weeks that Nancy Carr is on a well-deserved vacation, MACC division chairmen will use this column to share their work and plans with the community. Today's focus is on the Division of Christian Unity.

Oct. 2 is World Communion Sunday, when Christians around the world will be celebrating the observance of the Lord's Supper.

Here in Connecticut, the Christian Conference of Connecticut (CHRISCON) has designated this day also as Christian Unity Sunday, when we are to pray for unity.

And, of course, until that day when we can break down those barriers which keep us from sharing the same bread and cup, our unity will not be complete.

To take advantage of the importance of this day, South United Methodist Church is planning to host another dinner for all Christian clergy, their spouses, and other religious orders within Manchester.

Invitations will be in the mail this week. As with a similar dinner held at South Church last January, it will be co-sponsored by this division with delegates in attendance.

The enthusiastic turnout last January, plus the chance to have fellowship and share ideas, was the motivation that prompted South Church to schedule another such event for this fall.

Since the demise of Manchester's Clergy Association, opportunities such as this are important for establishing and enriching relationships within the religious community and for promoting ecumenical cooperation.

The Rev. Dr. David Mellon, executive director of the Capitol Region Conference of Churches, will share some of the current happenings on the ecumenical scene following the dinner and provide an opportunity to discuss issues at hand.

I remind you that any time you have a suggestion for programs or concerns we will be happy to hear from you.

The Jewish-Christian Dialogue Group, begun over three years ago, is still going strong and generating new understandings and friendships between these two great faiths.

For you early risers, you can start the day on the right foot by listening to the one-minute radio "spots" at 6:10 a.m. on WINF (1230). We'd like to know if you tune in, and if you enjoy these little minute messages...so please let us know, won't you?

And then, toward the end of the day, pick up your Herald and turn to the editorial page where the "Today's Thought" will give you another lift.

Should you have need of some "God's News" anytime of the day, just pick up your phone and dial 646-6955 for a positive message of inspiration, sponsored by Community Baptist Church.

Looking forward to vacation? Hope it's a nice relaxing time for you and yours. And when Sunday rolls around, take time to refresh your spirit with a visit to God's house.

Betty's notebook

By Betty Ryder

Last week I had the opportunity to review the troops with Gov. Ella Grasso at Fort Drum, N.Y. We had a great flight from Bradley International Airport aboard a U.S. Air Force plane. Oh, there was a slight delay in takeoff due to a "liquid lock" in one propeller and the kindly Air Commander Donald J. of the Connecticut Air National Guard assured us that all was ready. He said—but truthfully I was sitting on the side of the plane with the stubborn prop and when it started to turn over, I kept checking its speed with the prop on the other side. Well, finally, they seemed to hum evenly and off we went into the wild, blue yonder.

Landing at Wheeler-Sack Field at Fort Drum, the governor was greeted by members of the CANG. After a brief briefing of you'll pardon the pun, we boarded helicopters and headed for Range 37.16. There, we witnessed demonstrations of 90 mm M16, M16A1 and M16A2 and TVT. Now you ask me for an explanation, I'm in trouble. Just take my word, they are very noisy weapons.

After sky-hopping to a couple of other ranges, we lunched "with the boys" in a covered tent in the fields. Later, we traveled to a range where we witnessed a simulated attack by F100 jet bombers with a rifle squad in attack on the ground. Boy, when those "screeching eagles" roared in close to the ground, one could really get the feeling of what it would be like if they were actually dropping live bombs. After the third attack, they flew off in formation signifying victory.

It was a marvelous day—breezy and sunny. I was the only other woman besides Gov. Grasso, and so we had time to chat along the route. Finally, at the beautiful LeRay Mansion on the grounds of Fort Drum, we shared a spacious bedroom where we had a chance for some "girl talk" and to freshen up before a reception on the mansion lawn.

When "off camera" from her role as governor (which is rare) Gov. Grasso says she likes to read, do needlepoint, talk with friends and cook.

Discussing diets and exercise programs, she said, "I know I should exercise more, but I don't. I do like to swim and take walks, but I realize I really should have a steady program of exercise."

Slipping into a yellow and white sleeveless dress with yellow shoes and leaving the dust of the day on a beige shanting pantsuit behind, Gov. Grasso joined the Guard's commanding officer, Col. Richard Lugli of the 43rd Brigade, 26th "Yankee" Infantry Division and Maj. Gen. John Freud in the garden.

Oh, I had a unique experience earlier in the day. I was asked to join "the boys" in the back of a two-and-one-half-ton truck.

Well, being the good sport I am, I did. I shouldn't have. That truck with its wooden seats and matching back boards was the bumpiest ride I have ever taken. The dirt bled in as we rumbled along and I tried to look ladylike as I hung on for dear life. Oh, it was an experience all right—but one that I'd rather not repeat. I bet I lost five pounds in about a 20-minute ride. On second thought, maybe I should take just one more ride—it might mean another five pounds.

Arrived back at Bradley Field about 5:30 p.m. and after a brief farewell with the governor, headed back home.

Homeward bound
Well, the young lady of the family who is vacationing in California has been in contact. She wrote "I'm having a wonderful time—but I miss you. I visited Mt. Diablo and we are going camping in the Sierra Mountains. Oh, I'll be careful. The weather has been about 100 degrees. Say hello to the boys and tell them 'thanks for the $10'."

Little girls sure can wrap big brothers around their little finger can't they?

Anyway, a weekend call disclosed her itinerary and Sunday she was heading for Minnesota on the first leg of the trip home. There they will visit grandparents of the children she is with and they should arrive home about July 13 or 14. Oh, happy day.

Members of instructors of the Handicapped (IOH) and Recreation Director Melvin Siebold will meet Tuesday with the Manchester Board of Directors to discuss whether the town will pay maintenance costs for a pool for the organization.

The Recreation Department could use the pool for swimming lessons and as a swim area for the town's elderly and handicapped, according to Siebold and Town Manager Robert E. Weiss.

IOH has raised $100,000 to build a shallow pool adjacent to the full-size pool in Manchester High School. The organization has sought such a pool to provide swimming instructions to handicapped persons on Sundays, but it does not yet have an estimate on the cost of construction.

IOH appeared before the Board of Education in June to seek funding for the estimated $4,000-per-year cost of maintaining the pool. Dr. James F. Kennedy, superintendent of schools, said that the project was worthwhile, but he could not make a recommendation to spend $4,000 per year of education money for four hours of use each Sunday.

Thus, the organization is now turning to the town to seek the funding for maintenance of the pool. The Board of Directors will not actually make an appropriation at this time, but IOH wants to know if the board would provide future funding to cover the maintenance costs.

IOH has to know, before it proceeds, if the town is willing to underwrite the cost, Weiss said. He said that it would be hard for the town to justify the annual expense if the pool was just used by IOH on Sunday. But, he feels it could be used regularly for town recreation programs.

Weiss said that the town's elderly or those less severely handicapped who might not be involved in the IOH program could use it as a swim area. Also, it could be used as an area for providing swimming lessons.

Siebold said that Globe Hollow is the only existing town pool that is shallow enough for swimming lessons for youngsters.

The IOH pool would be shallow enough for this purpose and could be used for such swimming instructions during the non-summer months, Siebold said.

The meeting will be held Tuesday, July 12 at 7:30 p.m. The meeting will be held at Nathan Hale School and will proceed after the Board of Directors' regularly scheduled meeting.

Local man sentenced

James Richard, 29, of Manchester, was sentenced Friday in the New York State Supreme Court to up to 12 years in state prison for the attempted rape and sodomy of a White Plains, N.Y. woman last year.

The court room was reportedly packed with supporters of the truck driver.

Judge Isaac Rubin said his decision was difficult, but told Richard, "Apparently you are a split personality; you are one thing on the road and another thing at home."

Richard hijacked the woman as she drove toward Brewster and took her to a wooded area off Rt. 116 in the Westchester County community of Purdy.

White House considering admission of refugees

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The White House is considering admitting an additional 15,000 Indochina refugees into the United States on an emergency basis, a move backed by the State Department.

Deputy presidential press aide Rex Gatum said Monday the State Department had recommended lifting of normal immigration procedures for the refugees who come from Thailand and other sections of Southeast Asia.

A similar emergency exemption, under which some 150,000 mostly Vietnamese and Cambodian refugees were allowed to settle in the United States, was granted during the closing days of the war in Southeast Asia two years ago.

Gramm said the request "is currently being reviewed" by Carter's national security adviser, Zbigniew Brzezinski, and the National Security Council.

The New York Times Monday reported Carter as sympathetic, but said a number of influential members of Congress oppose any sudden influx without specific legislation to cover the move.

A report submitted to Congress by the White House found that most of the Indochina refugees in the United States hold low-paying jobs and suffer depression brought on by cultural and language differences.

Carter and his family returned to Washington Monday night in time to view the city's traditional July 4th fireworks display. They had spent a long holiday weekend at Camp David.

Weiss said that the town's elderly or those less severely handicapped who might not be involved in the IOH program could use it as a swim area. Also, it could be used as an area for providing swimming lessons.

Thought

In my Old Testament study for a trip to the Holy Lands, I've discerned a recurring theme in the statements of those people I met in Israel who work for Him. Gideon exemplifies this. When God informs him that it is he who will rescue the Israelites from the power of Midian, he questions His judgment.

"Forgive me, my Lord, but how can I deliver Israel? My clan, you know, is the weakest in Manasseh and I am the least important in my family."

One cannot assume that Gideon is just being humble or modest. He has not trained to be a warrior, let alone a military leader. He is a wheat-thresher, surely not an occupation requiring operative strength or brawn. Yet God chooses him above all others to do this heroic act of attacking Midian.

It is consistently the most unlikely, the common, ordinary person like Gideon the wheat-thresher, Moses the stammerer, and David the youngest of a family of eleven that God selects to do His service. Might not God also work in similar fashion today? Might God at some point be tapping us to do His bidding? Let us keep an open heart and mind to God's choosing us to work for Him.

Members of town departments involved with work at Globe Hollow pool will meet at the pool Wednesday at 9 a.m. to discuss recent vandalism problems that have plagued the popular swim area.

The pool was opened in late June after improvements to the circulation system were made. But, vandalism has been a problem since then, and if it continues, it could result in the closing of the pool, Melvin Siebold, recreation director, said.

Siebold said that the most serious problem occurred when pieces of broken glass were stuck into the entrance of the circulation system on the spillway leading to the pool.

A lifeguard who was picking up the glass cut his foot and missed 12 days of work, Siebold said. The glass presents a serious problem if it gets into the circulation system and ends up on the pool floor, he said. To prevent such future problems, town officials will meet at the pool to discuss the matter. One possibility that has been mentioned is to close the pool, Siebold said.

Sykes School club finds trip to D.C. isn't all fun

By BARBARA RICHMOND Herald Reporter

Don't plan on going to Washington, D.C. if you're not prepared for heat, to eat on the run or eat between places to go.

This is advice given by a student of Vernon's Sykes School Government Club. The advice is for future students who plan to join the club just so they can go on the annual Washington trip.

The students were in Grade 8 and their club adviser was Larry Colvin. This year's group of 30 students spent four days on the trip.

On their return Colvin asked them to write the compositions entitled, "Don't Plan On Going to Washington if..."

And some of the "ifs" are: If you get homesick easy, you don't get to bed early the week before... If you are just out for a joy trip... If you are a very fussy eater...

Colvin said this year's group set a record for sprained ankles. Maybe that's because the motto was "Go-Go-Go" for the trip.

He asked the Board of Education to consider allowing him to have a school nurse go with the group next year. He said some school groups from other towns did have a nurse accompany them. One student said, "This trip will be all the fun you would want but all the work you wouldn't want..."

During the year club members went deeply into the workings of town, state and federal government.

Some of the other "don't go ifs" included: If you are going to get into mischief, you can't be without chewing gum for five days...

On the first evening on the trip the group went on an illuminated tour with stops at the Lincoln Memorial, Jefferson Memorial, and the National Archives.

After lunch was the wreath-laying ceremony at Arlington National Cemetery, where the Vernon students put floral tributes on the graves of several local persons who were killed in wars.

commented for providing "superb and diversified service to the town" under adverse conditions.

Many of the programs must be held in school basements or halls because of the cramped space in the library.

Although the need for library facilities is known throughout the town, a library proposal has been turned down twice at referendum.

The next morning it was a tour of the White House, a tour of the Capitol and a meeting with Connecticut Congressman Christopher Dodd and Sen. Lowell Weicker.

The students then had lunch in the Senate Cafeteria by way of the subway. After that was a tour of the Smithsonian Aerospace Building.

The group left Washington early Saturday morning and arrived back in Vernon in mid-afternoon.

So it's true — don't plan on going to Washington if you don't like going to bed late and getting up early, you get blisters on your feet easily...

Water rate hike hearing July 13

Vernon

The state Public Utilities Control Authority (PUCA) will conduct a public hearing July 13 on the application of the Rockville Water & Aqueduct Co. to increase its rates.

The water company has applied for an increase to raise its revenues, on an annual basis, by about $77,701 ($5.15, per cent retroactive to May 1, 1977).

In its application the company said the charge to a typical residential customer, using 1,000 cubic feet of water per quarter, would be increased from $73.44 a year to $78.59.

The hearing is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. July 13. A pre-hearing conference will be conducted in the same office on July 11 at 10 a.m.

The town will object to the requested rate increase on behalf of taxpayers who are customers and also on behalf of the town, because it will mean a substantial increase in hydrant charges.

The water company officials contend that the rate raise is necessary because the company earned only 90 per cent of its permitted net income in 1976.

The last increase granted the company was in March 1975, when an increase in revenues of $69,409 was granted. The request for increase would have brought in additional revenues of $197,151.

The morning buses are scheduled to arrive at Central Row at 7:17, 7:27, 7:37, 8:18 and 8:48 a.m.

Express bus rolls soon

RSox bats explode on holiday by banging out eight homers

BOSTON (UPI) — After a lengthy hiatus, it was back to business as usual for the Boston Red Sox.

And it couldn't have come at a more appropriate time. In a Fourth of July display of fireworks, the Red Sox tied a major league record with eight homers to send a nine game losing streak up in flames as they defeated the Toronto Blue Jays, 9-6.

The "Over the Wall" game, led by two homers apiece from George Scott and Fred Lynn, accomplished the feat over a span of four innings and, much like a fireworks display, began slowly and built the show into an explosive climax.

NEW YORK (UPI) — After a day spent watching the Montreal Expos maul his pitching staff, Chicago Cubs' manager Herbie Dick Frankl scarcely cared to deal in profanities.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Nolan Ryan once remarked it probably is easier to pitch no-hitters than to strike out all 27 batters in a game.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jim Langford's seventh loss in other American League games, New York defeated Cleveland, 7-5.

Library talk continues

South Windsor

A large turnout is expected when the South Windsor Town Council meets tonight at 8 p.m. to continue discussion on where to put the new library — the town's first priority for $436,000 in expected federal funds.

The council had decided to build the library on the Town Hall site, primarily because the site work had already been done and the necessary application could be sent to the Economic Development Administration (EDA) to meet the July 12 deadline.

It is possible that an extension can be granted to delay the deadline until July 8. Some town officials have indicated a preference for placing the library at the site of Wapping Elementary School — a school which will be closed after the 1977-78 school year.

Four council members appear to be in favor of the Wapping proposal, and hope to win a fifth vote to make it official at tonight's meeting.

Some members of the council contend that placing the library at the Wapping site, in hopes of converting the school into a community and senior citizen center, attached, is presumptuous on the part of the council.

"This is an election year," said Councilwoman Dick Cleecker, "and a corner of the board of education may not concur with the old board's intent to turn the vacant school over to the town or town use."

Rec rules hearing tonight

Coventry

The Coventry Town Council will conduct a hearing tonight before its regular meeting at the Town Hall on a proposed ordinance to regulate use of recreational areas in town.

Most of the regulations would apply to the town's two public beaches, Lisickie Beach and Sandy Shores. Alcoholic beverages would be banned from all recreational areas.

Children under age 12 would have to be accompanied by an adult to use the swimming facilities. Animals would be prohibited on the beaches, as well as motorized vehicles.

One section disallows firearms and any other weapons harmful to wildlife and dangerous to human safety. Swimming at Lisickie beach is prohibited before noon when lessens are being given in the morning.

Normally lifeguards are on duty from noon to 6 p.m. At other times, residents and guests may swim at the beach with their own supervision.

Miller tabs Watson British Open choice

TURNBERRY, Scotland (UPI) — In California-like sunshine, defending champion John Miller flew in from San Francisco Monday, spent half of Independence Day sleeping off the jet lag and then picked in-form Tom Watson as the front runner in the 10th British Open golf championship starting Wednesday.

The 30-year-old blond Mormon took a sleepy, blue-eyed look over Turnberry's narrow fairways on the long 6,875-yard, par-70 Alisa seaside links and observed: "You have got to hit it long and straight. It's a course for long drivers. Tom Watson swings his driver like it weighs one ounce. Jack Nicklaus, Tom Watson and Hubie Green are also ready-made for this course."

The bookmakers largely agreed with the assessment making Nicklaus 11-2 favorite for the $17,000 first prize with Watson and Westkopf bracketed at 10-1, and Green listed at 14-1. "I have set a record with my number of championships wins. Someone, someday will come along and beat it. But I want to set a target, which will last for a long time," said Nicklaus.

Kathy only girl in boys' baseball

By Milt Richman NEW YORK (UPI) — The horse is a dumb animal.

"I know this world isn't all with the vast majority of horse lovers. Give them half a chance and they'll convince you some horses have such astonishing perception that they can do anything in the world from signing a check to whipping up a juicy Carbonade a la Flamande, which actually is nothing more than Belgian stew made with beer.

Boston Slumptown USA; baseball club hit before

BOSTON (UPI) — Now the ball is a white bullet; the opposition has 15 men on the field to catch every line drive; a walk is a cause for celebration; a victory is an unfulfilled dream.

Welcome to Slumptown USA, where every day brings another loss and every loss adds to the trauma that helps provoke yet another loss.

They also have more talent than the 1975 edition which won the American League East title by 4 1/2 games. That team also went into a late-June-early-July swandive, dropping seven of nine games behind on Aug. 23 to seven games ahead at season's end. The 1976 Red Sox lost 10 straight games in May and never recovered. But the 1966 Red Sox hold the club mark for consecutive losses with 20 — en route to a 49-105 record and an eighth place finish.

So the 1977 Red Sox, as badly as they have played and as unlucky as they have been, can take heart. They certainly are more talented, player-for-player, than any of their slump-ridden predecessors.

Second guessing for Billy Turner

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Trainer Billy Turner is second guessing himself following Seattle Slew's stunning defeat in the $316,000 Swaps Stakes.

The previously unbeaten Triple Crown winner finished fourth — 18 lengths off the pace — in Sunday's race at Hollywood Park as Bill Shoemaker guided J.O. Tobin to an eight-length triumph.

"We carried 'him' on the 'impossible dream' one day too far," Turner said Monday. "I just have to see what happens. But he's 100 per cent healthy now."

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 35-year-old widow contemplating marriage to a widower. He is affectionate, trustworthy, and thoughtful. He loves my children and they love him. He is a wonderful father to his own children. He cooks, cleans, washes, irons and never complains. We couldn't help but have smooth sailing, and I do love him, but my problem is the strong objections my family has to this man. They don't like him because our backgrounds are so different. My parents are culture-conscious and somewhat snobbish. My friend is the eldest of 15 children of a because he hasn't had the educational advantages I've had. If left alone, I'm sure we could overcome these differences, but I am very close to my family, and they would make life unbearable for me if I were to marry this man. I've told him yes, but wonder if perhaps I should reverse my decision. Do you consider my parents' objection too great a stumbling block?

UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: Yes, because apparently you do. When you are able to say, "I intend to live my own life with a man of my choice, and if my parents don't like it, let them lump it," I'll reverse my answer.

DEAR ABBY: I don't know what I am writing to you for. My problem is money, and you can't help me unless you get big-hearted and send me a check for $60,000. I own my own business and make good money, but my wife spends it faster than I can make it. To make matters worse, I have four daughters who are exactly like their mother. I am drowning in bills every month, and there doesn't seem to be any end to it. Will you please tell my wife and daughters to quit being extravagant?

OWENS PLENTY

DEAR OWENS: No, that's YOUR JOB. It's had enough to perpetuating the crime by raising four more females in her image. Turn off those charge accounts, Dad, and put your wife on an allowance.

DEAR ABBY: A girl I work with is getting married soon, and she wants to borrow my wedding gown. She'll want to wear it. So many of my friends have told me they'd love to wear it, but she's seen pictures of my wedding and says that's exactly the kind of gown and veil she's always wanted. Unfortunately, we're the same size, too.

Abby: I'm saving my wedding gown for my two younger sisters to wear—and my younger sister will have to wear it. I will want to wear it. So many of my friends have told me they'd love to wear it, but she's seen pictures of my wedding and says that's exactly the kind of gown and veil she's always wanted. Unfortunately, we're the same size, too.

What story can I tell this girl so I won't have to let her wear it? I hate to have her mad at me, as we work together every day.

SIZE TEN

DEAR TEN: Why make up a story? Tell her the truth.

Fire officers re-elected

Coventry

The North Coventry Volunteer Fire Department has re-elected George E. Ross Jr. as president and Richard J. Cooper as chief.

Other officers are Carl Hicking, vice-president, Kenneth McCaffery, secretary, and Lawrence Beecher, treasurer.

Other officers under Chief Cooper are Robert Topf, deputy chief; Sherman Trueman, first assistant chief; Thomas Hicking, second assistant chief; Richard Eberle, Alan Schmidt, William Vokert and Ross, captains.

During the past year the department answered 223 alarms. There were 26 structure fires, 27 accidents, 4 car fires, 2 search and rescue missions, 74 rescue calls, 22 brush and grass fires, 10 chimney fires, 8 bomb scars and 6 false alarms. The department averaged 12 men per call responding.

GOP election plans

The nominating committee of the Republican Town Committee will report on candidates for the fall elections Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Town Hall.

The nominating committee is still seeking interested candidates for the Town Council, Board of Education, Zoning Board of Appeals, Board of Tax Review and other town offices.

The Republicans are planning a potluck supper July 21 at Lisicke Beach. Ann Hicks will chair the event. Those who attend should bring eating utensils, chairs, and a dish for the supper. Soft drinks will be available.

At the last GOP Town Committee meeting, Town Councilman Robert Olmstead and Nancy Moore were accepted as members of the committee. Jeffrey Lancaster was endorsed for appointment to the Parks and Recreation Commission.

The Republicans also endorsed the regional sewer system as proposed by the Sewer Authority at a recent hearing.

Pageant finalist

Miss Kathryn Healy, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerard R. Healy of Coventry, has been named a finalist in the 1977 Connecticut United Teen-ager Pageant, which will be July 30 in Hartford.

Contestants will be judged on scholastic and civic achievements, beauty, poise and personality. The Connecticut winner will get a trip to Washington, D.C., to compete in the national contest.

Common Pleas Court cases

Three men who were charged last month in connection with an attempted holdup at Allen's Supermarket, Rt. 44A in Coventry, were bound over to Tolland County Superior Court after probable cause hearings in Common Pleas Court 19, Rockville.

"MY WEDDING DAY WAS GREAT"

"UNTIL I SAW MY WEDDING PICTURES"

I really didn't realize how overweight I looked. My girlfriend told me she was going to Gloria Stevens and it was working for her, so I decided to try it.

I never thought dieting and exercise could be fun and the personal service sure gets results. I've lost 25 lbs. 4 1/8". My husband is so proud of me and best of all I'm proud of myself.

I can truthfully say if you have a figure problem Gloria Stevens can help you. They sure helped me.

Many thrills at fireworks

By MAL BARLOW
East Hartford Reporter

"That's the best fireworks I've ever seen," said Mrs. Phillip Tierney of Wind Rd., East Hartford Monday night.

She watched the town's $3,500 aerial display shot up from Martin Park while standing at her back door. Thousands more from town and beyond did the same.

Besides home viewers, police estimate there were about 35,000 people in and around Martin Park off Burnside Ave. to watch the display from underneath it.

The display began about on schedule at 9 p.m. Steady bursts shot into the air for nearly an hour. One ground display involving an American flag came at the end just before a close series of aerials left the thousands below clapping and cheering.

The Ideal Display Co. of Moscow, Pa., supplied this year's fireworks. The firm had also supplied the $5,000 display in 1975, shot from the top of Wickham Park. That display shared by East Hartford and Manchester was also well received.

"This was the biggest crowd we've ever had," said Fire Marshal John Armstrong this morning.

Fire fighters, police, and the Explorer posts of both departments were out in force at the park and on area streets. Except for a hot ember on the roof of the Huguenot House, a restored colonial home, there were no reported accidents due to the display.

Illegal fireworks competed with the official display between 9 and 10 p.m. Residents made many calls to police complaining about them and the noise. No arrests were reported.

"I've never seen so many private fireworks either," said Armstrong. Among home viewers with the best view were the residents of Meadow Hill, the 10-story high rise at 101 Connecticut Blvd. They sat on the open porches on each floor and had a clear view of the whole display except the ground flag.

"I really enjoyed it," said Mrs. Gert Cunningham, a 10th story viewer. "It was better tonight than last year," said Mrs. Leola Elliott. "Exciting," said Mrs. Mary Fregeau.

McGuire trophy to Lewis

Young athlete honored

By MAL BARLOW
East Hartford Reporter

"If it weren't for the Little League, I wouldn't have done much," said Rich Lewis, 17, of 55 Cornell Circle, East Hartford.

But Lewis did a great deal. The latest proof came last week at McAuliffe Park Stadium where he was awarded the Kerry McGuire trophy.

Kerry McGuire was a fine local athlete. He had a 43-15 won-lost pitching record with the fast pitch East Hartford Dovelettes before he died in a swimming accident in 1957.

The award set up in his name has been given each year to a fine local athlete. It includes a trophy and a scholarship.

Lewis started out as a failure, he said. When a boy, he tried out for Little League and couldn't make a team.

"I tried like heck to make myself better," he said.

He practiced with other boys and worked out to make himself stronger.

"The next year I made it," he said. "In the Little League I met a lot of friends, learned baseball, and learned what sportsmanship means."

He learned how to take defeat, too, although his Rotary team was the town champ in his last league season in 1972.

He went on to play baseball in what is now the Pony League for 13-year-olds and then the Colt League on the East Hartford Police Benevolent Association team. His father is Lt. Richard Lewis of the local force.

In his freshman year at East Hartford High School, he tried out for cross country. He finished the year as the third best distance running freshman in the state.

"After that, I thought I might be pretty good," he said.

So he joined the indoor track program that winter.

"Not many people know about cross country. It's not a physical sport. It's all mind. You've got to have guts and desire."

In baseball, Lewis got on the varsity team in his sophomore year as a catcher. He caught more than he bargained for in an early game when he put out a player running home but was struck in the left cheekbone by a flying knee. The blow crushed the bone, putting him off the team until the last few games.

By his senior year, Lewis had caught his stride. In cross country, he was one of the top state runners, leading the EHHS team to third in the state.

In indoor track, he was on the four-man team, which ran the second fastest 3200-yard relay in state history.

In baseball he batted .371 in the cleanup spot on the lineup. He also led in RBIs. He won the most votes for All-CCL outfielder.

All his hits were for extra bases although he did not get a home run until the final game of the season against Penney High School. Despite his triple and single in that game, Penney took it from EHHS by 5-3.

Lewis plans to attend the University of Connecticut in the fall. He'll major in marine biology.

"People are going to be going to the oceans for their food, even to live," he said.

He won't try out for a sport until he's sure he can handle his studies. But he expects he'll be able to try out for UConn's baseball team in the spring.

His brothers, Jerry, 19, and Tim, 15, have also won sports trophies. Their parents display them across one wall of their family room.

Jerry is studying police science at Manchester Community College. Tim plans to be an electrician and is taking the courses he needs at EHHS, where he'll be a junior next fall.

Mayor says forget heat and consider the winter

Despite the summer heat, Mayor Richard Blackstone is asking residents to consider winterizing their homes now.

Residents may be eligible for help through a project run in this area by the Community Renewal Team. It is called the Home Winterization Program and is federally funded.

Its aim is to cut down on use of heating fuels such as oil, gas and electricity.

CRT will help a resident put in insulation, weatherstripping, new windows and plastic foundation protection.

Police report

East Hartford

Michael S. Hawley, 20, of 98 Janet Dr., East Hartford, was arrested over the weekend on a warrant charging him with misconduct with a motor vehicle, in connection with a fatal accident June 5.

Police said Hawley was driving east on Burnside Ave. near the Marco Polo Restaurant when his car crossed the center line and struck two westbound motorcycles driven by Dennis Chokas, 29, of 140 Silver Lane, East Hartford and Gary Chokas, 20, of 81 Diane Dr., Manchester.

Barbara Capano, 23, of 142 Penney Dr., East Hartford, was a passenger on the motorcycle of the older Chokas brother. She died at Hartford Hospital after the accident.

Both brothers were seriously injured from the accident. Hawley is scheduled to appear soon in Common Pleas Court 12.

Kevin A. Giberson, 18, of 93 Phelps St., East Hartford, was arrested Monday on warrants charging him with three breaks into local churches in November and December 1976.

The charges are third-degree burglary (three counts), second-degree larceny (two counts), third-degree larceny, fourth-degree larceny and possession of marijuana.

The breaks took place at St. John's Episcopal Church, St. Mary's Church and the First Congregational Church, all along Main St.

Giberson was being held this morning on $7,500 surety bond for court appearance today.

A home in the 200 block of Burnside Ave. was broken into Saturday between 7 a.m. and 9 p.m. through a partially opened window. Missing are $200 in cash and a .22 calibre pistol valued at $100.

Sykes School club finds trip to D.C. isn't all fun

By BARBARA RICHMOND
Herald Reporter

Don't plan on going to Washington, D.C., if you're not prepared for heat, to eat on the run or eat between places to go. This is advice given by a student of Vernon's Sykes School Government Club. The advice is for future students who plan to join the club just so they can go on the annual Washington trip. The students were in Grade 6 and their club adviser was Larry Colvin. This year a group of 30 students spent four days on the trip. On their return Colvin asked them to write the compositions entitled, "Don't Plan On Going to Washington if..." And some of the "ifs" are: If you get homesick easy, you don't get to bed early the week before. If you are just out for a joy trip, if you are a very fussy eater, if you can't stand walking because that's all you do. Colvin said this year's group set a record for grained ankles. Maybe that's because the motto was "Go-Go-Go" for the trip. He asked the Board of Education to consider allowing him to have a school nurse go with the group next year. He said some school groups from other towns did have a nurse accompany them. One student said, "This trip will be all the fun you would want but all the work you wouldn't want," as a caution to those who may think it's all fun. During the year club members delve deeply into the workings of town, state and federal government. Some of the other "don't go ifs" included: If you are going to get into mischief, you can't be without chewing gum for five days, you can't stand in long lines in the heat, you can't ride eight hours on a bus, you don't like being pushed and shoved in large crowds, you don't have any interest in government, you get blisters on your feet easily, if you want to find out that teachers are like real people. On the first evening on the town the group went on an illuminated tour with stops at the Lincoln Memorial, Jefferson Memorial, and the National Archives. Bright and early the next morning, the students left to tour the Bureau of Printing and Engraving and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. After lunch was the wreath-laying ceremony at Arlington National Cemetery, where the Vernon students put floral tributes on the graves of several local persons who were killed in wars.

It was then back to the hotel for dinner and after that to the Washington Monument and the Smithsonian Museum of History and Technology. The next morning it was a tour of the White House, a tour of the Capitol and a meeting with Connecticut Congressman Christopher Dodd and Sen. Lowell Weicker. The students then had lunch in the Senate Cafeteria by way of the subway program over five years ago, said Shirley MacLaine perform. It was up and go-go again the final day, with a tour of Mt. Vernon and the Alexander's Village where the students had lunch. Then on to the Ford Theater and the Peterson House, the Aerospace Museum, and the Kennedy Center. The group left Washington early Saturday morning and arrived back in Vernon in the afternoon. So it's true—don't plan on going to Washington if... you don't like going to bed late and getting up early... you get blisters on your feet easily... if you don't like to eat between places to go.

Karen Regan, a member of the Government Club of the Sykes School, Vernon, places flowers on the grave of Stanley Doboze, a Rockville resident who was killed in World War I and is buried in Arlington National Cemetery in Washington, D.C.

Water rate hike hearing July 13

Vernon The state Public Utilities Control Authority (PUCA) will conduct a public hearing July 13 on the application of the Rockville Water & Aqueduct Co. to increase its rates. The hearing will be in the offices of the PUCA in the State Office Building, 185 Capitol Ave., Hartford. The water company has applied for an increase to raise its revenues, on an annual basis, by about $773,701 (26.5), per cent retroactive to May 1, 1977. In its application the company said that water per residential customer, using 1,800 cubic feet of water per quarter, would be increased from $73.44 a year to $92.86. The hearing is scheduled for 9:30 a.m., July 13. A pre-hearing conference will be conducted in the same office on July 11 at 10 a.m. This will be for the authority staff, the staff of the water company, and any other interested persons or intervenors. The town will object to the requested rate increase on behalf of taxpayers who are customers and also on behalf of the town, because it will mean a substantial increase in hydrant charges. The water company officials contend that the rate raise is necessary because the company earned only 50 per cent of its permitted net income in 1976. The last increase granted the company was in March 1975, when an increase in revenues of $69,409 was granted. The requested increase would have brought in additional revenues of $137,151.

Express bus rolls soon

Vernon A new express commuter bus service between Vernon and Hartford is scheduled to begin Monday, July 11. "This will be the 15th express commuter bus service that we have implemented since we started this popular program over five years ago," said James P. Shagrus, state transportation commissioner. "These buses now carry approximately 33,000 passengers weekly." The new service will be operated by Collins Bus Service Inc. of South Windsor, which holds the franchise to operate bus service on this route. The buses will operate weekdays, Monday through Friday, except holidays. Free parking will be provided at three pick-up points in Vernon—the commuter parking lot on Mile Hill

Rd. (Rt. 31) at Exit 98 off I-96, Vernon Middle School at Rt. 30 and West St., and the commuter lot on Rt. 30 between Exits 95 and 96 off I-96 about a half mile east of Vernon Circle.) The one-way fare will be 75 cents and a monthly pass will cost $26. The passes will be honored as transfers to Connecticut Transit buses throughout Greater Hartford. In the morning, five bus runs will leave the Exit 98 lot at 6:45, 6:50, 7:05 and 7:15 a.m. The last two inbound buses will make pickups at the Vernon Middle School at 6:52, 6:57 and 7:07 a.m., and the Rt. 30 lot at 6:57, 7:02 and 7:12 a.m. The department schedule from Central Row is: 4:07, 4:27, 4:47, 5:17 and 5:37 p.m. The buses will arrive at the Rt. 30 lot at 4:27, 4:47, 5:07, 5:37 and 5:57 p.m.; at Vernon Middle School at 4:32, 4:52, 5:12, 5:42 and 6:02 p.m., and at the Mile Hill Rd. Lot at 4:39, 4:59, 5:19, 5:49 and 6:09 p.m.

The morning buses are scheduled to arrive at Central Row at 7:17, 7:27, 7:37, 7:47 and 8:48 a.m. Additional information about the schedule can be obtained from Collins Bus Service, 944-1531. In the evening, the first homebound bus will originate at 4:01 p.m. from in front of the gas company building on Pearl St., the second two at 4:05 p.m. and 4:15 p.m. from Asylum St. and Union Pl., and the fourth and fifth from the gas company at 5:11 and 5:31 p.m. The department schedule from Central Row is: 4:07, 4:27, 4:47, 5:17 and 5:37 p.m. The buses will arrive at the Rt. 30 lot at 4:27, 4:47, 5:07, 5:37 and 5:57 p.m.; at Vernon Middle School at 4:32, 4:52, 5:12, 5:42 and 6:02 p.m., and at the Mile Hill Rd. Lot at 4:39, 4:59, 5:19, 5:49 and 6:09 p.m.

Library talk continues

South Windsor A large turnout is expected when the South Windsor Town Council meets tonight at 8 p.m. to continue discussion on how to put the library—the town's first priority for $430,000 in expected federal funds. The council had decided to build the library on the Town Hall site, primarily because site work had already been done and the necessary application could be sent to the Economic Development Administration (EDA) to meet the July 12 deadline. It is possible that an extension can be granted to delay the deadline until July 26. Some town officials have indicated a preference for placing the library at the site of Wapping Elementary School—a school which will be closed after the 1977-78 school year. Four council members appear to be in favor of the Wapping proposal, and hope to win over a fifth vote to make it official at tonight's meeting. Some members of the council contend that placing the library at the Wapping site, in hopes of converting the school into a community and senior citizen center, attached, is presumptuous on the part of the council. "This is an election year," said Councilwoman Cle Decker, "and a new Board of Education may not concur with the old board's intent to turn the vacant school over to the town or town use." Library officials rejoiced last week when the council unanimously agreed to make a new library its first priority for the EDA funds. The library has been functioning in 5,000 square feet of storefront space for the last 12 years. The storefront was intended to be a temporary facility until more adequate housing could be found. The library has been repeatedly commended for providing "superb and efficient services to the community under adverse conditions. The library staff has planned and presented programs for both adults and children. Many of the programs must be held in church basements or halls because of the cramped space in the library. It is not unusual to find students sitting cross-legged on the floor in a corner of the library because the few reading tables in the library are in use." Although the need for library facilities is known throughout the town, a library proposal has been turned down twice at referendums. Some feel the reason for the negative reaction to a new library is because the original building plans were ambitious and called for some 25,000 square feet of space. The scaled-down version, which will be built using the EDA funds, is 15,000 square feet.

They were involved in a fight in the parking lot of the Alpha-Omega Inn, Bolton. Chris Feigh, 28, of 301 Lake St., Vernon, was charged Saturday with breach of peace. Police said he caused a disturbance at the fireman's beefed. He was released on a $100 non-surety bond for court appearance July 27.

Robert W. Sailor, 19, of 41 Russell Dr., East Hartford, was charged Sunday with day with failure to drive in the proper lane. Police said his car went off Rt. 6 and struck a barrier and several traffic signs. His court date is July 15. Rec rules hearing tonight

Coventry The Coventry Town Council will conduct a hearing tonight before its regular meeting at the Town Hall on a proposed ordinance to regulate use of recreational areas in town. Most of the regulations would apply to the town's two public beaches, Lisick Beach and Sandy Shores. Alcoholic beverages would be banned from all recreational areas. Children under age 12 would have to be accompanied by an adult to use the swimming facilities. Animals would be prohibited on the beaches, as well as motorized vehicles. One section disallows firearms and any other weapons harmful to wildlife and dangerous to human safety. Swimming at Lisick will be prohibited before noon when lessons are being given in the morning. One section of the new ordinance that drew opposition at the recent council meeting involves the restriction of "non-swimmers" to a shallow area, roped off at the beaches. Residents contended that this stopped children from swimming with their parents, confining them to the shallow area. A survey of Lisick last week showed that the deepest part of the shallow area had only about 2 1/2 feet of water and that the lake bottom was extremely rocky. Head Lifeguard Tom Duffly routinely requires children under 12 to take a "deep water swimming test." Under the ordinance, the lifeguard on duty would have full discretion about who passes the swimming test. A resident complained that in past years all children under 12 were automatically failed to simplify the lifeguard's task. Normally lifeguards are on duty from noon to 6 p.m. At other times, residents and guests may swim at their own risk between sunup and sundown. Girl Scout chairman Elaine Fallard of Hendee Rd. has been appointed chairman of the Coventry Service Unit of the Connecticut Trails Council of Girl Scouts. She succeeds Kitty Keller, who retired. Mr. Pallardi has been in Girl Scout for 10 years, as senior troop assistant, brownie and junior leader, junior consultant, program trainer and public relations chairman. Mr. Keller, who had been chairman for four and a half years, will continue to serve on the board of directors of the council, which is based in New Haven. Mrs. Keller was honored recently for her service to girl scouting.

Five Rockville persons were charged Monday with breach of peace. They were involved in a fight on Village St., police said. Charged were Daniel R. Prince, 17, and James Cortez, 21, both of 12 Tolland St.; Michael Gibson, 24, and Sherri Gibson, 21, both of 37 Village St.; and Rhonda Hine, 20, of 32 Village St. They were released on their promise to appear in court in Rockville July 27. Robert J. Tyrol Jr., 20, of 5 Willowstream Dr., Vernon, was charged early today with illegal discharge of fireworks, driving while his license was suspended, reckless driving, failure to obey an officer's signal and failure to obey a traffic signal. He was released on a $500 non-surety bond for court appearance July 27.

Lawrence Dole, 20, of 5 Hillton Dr., South Windsor, was charged Saturday with risk of injury to a minor, delivery of liquor to a minor, and dispensing liquor without a permit. Police said the arrest was made in connection with a June 24 party in the meadows near the river. Dole was released on a $500 non-surety bond for court appearance June 24. Michael Gardiner, 19, of 20 Overlook Rd., South Windsor, was charged Saturday with breach of peace and larceny. Police said he allegedly took a can of beer at the Seven-Eleven Store on Sullivan Ave. He was released on a $500 non-surety bond for court appearance July 11.

Robert J. Amiot, 21, of Marlborough, was charged Sunday with failure to drive in the proper lane. He was involved in a one-car accident on Rt. 5. New Britain Police said Amiot's car struck a utility pole. He is to appear in Common Pleas Court 12, East Hartford, July 15.

Ryan ties Koufax strikeout record

NEW YORK (UPI) — Nolan Ryan once remarked it probably is easier to pitch no-hitters than to strike out all 27 batters in a game. So nobody was surprised Monday night when Ryan tied Hall of Famer Sandy Koufax' major league record of 97 games with 10 or more strikeouts when he fanned 11 batters, pitched a six-hitter and won his 11th game with a 4-2 victory for the California Angels over the Oakland A's.

"I just wish I'd win all those 97 games," he said. "I'm sure 10 years from now someone will come along and erase all my records." Ryan, who raised his season strikeout total to 211, received an ovation from the hometown crowd of 41,303 when he tied Koufax' record by firing a third strike past Marty Perez with one out in the seventh inning. Rookie Rance Mulliniks drove in his first three major league runs with two singles and his first big league homer to lead the Angels' 12-hit attack which home in the second inning off Wayne Garland to lead the Yankees to their win over the Indians. Ed Figueroa went 7-13 in his first start, allowing four runs and eight hits and winning his 10th game against seven defeats. White Sox 6, Mariners 2. View 5, Brewers 0. Mike Cuybage hit a two-run homer and Paul Thomsen pitched a five-hitter for the Twins, who trail the White Sox by 2 1/2 games in the AL West. Red Sox, bidding to become the major league's first 400-hitter since 1941, went 0-for-3 and his average dropped from .407 to .403.

RSox bats explode on holiday by banging out eight homers

BOSTON (UPI) — After a lengthy hiatus, it was back to business as usual for the Boston Red Sox. And it couldn't have come at a more appropriate time. In a Fourth of July display of fireworks, the Red Sox tied a major league record with eight homers to send a nine game losing streak up in flames as they defeated the Toronto Blue Jays, 9-6. "The 'Over the Wall Gang,' led by two homers apiece from George Scott and Fred Lynn, accomplished the feat over a span of four innings and, much like a fireworks display, began slowly and built the show into an explosive climax. Lynn, Rice and "We were down and came back," said American League home run leader Scott, who hit the final first and last round-trippers of the afternoon. "When you come back as a team like that with everybody swinging the bat good, you have to feel that this is the start of something good." Scott got things off to a good start in the fifth inning when he blasted a 440-foot two-run homer into the centerfield bleachers. Lynn lofted one into the leftfield screen an inning later. Butch Hobson and Bernie Carbo hammered back-to-back homers in the seventh inning to bring the Red Sox to within one run, 6-5. Then the grand finale. Lynn, Rice and

Yastrzemski hit consecutive homers into distant parts beyond the right-field fence, but the final and biggest explosion was provided by the "Boomer." "He (Mike Willis) got behind me two balls and no strikes and he came over the plate with a fastball," said Scott. "It wasn't my wheelhouse. It was high. But in a situation like that you've got to be aggressive. I happened to look up at that area and got it up in there and took it downtown." Literally. The ball left the confines of Fenway Park in a hurry and landed some 500 feet away on a roof across the street from the leftfield wall. "If you're not the other end of it you don't enjoy it," sighed Toronto

Manager Roy Hartsfield. "But give them some credit. After all they didn't go out to the corner drugstore and get this group together." Boston, the major league home run leader, now has 118 and are once again ahead of the pace of the 1961 New York Yankees, who belted 240, led by Mickey Vernon's 61 and Roger Maris's 54. "I'm not worrying about the home runs. I'm worrying about wins," said Manager Don Zimmer, whose schizophrone crowd had won 13 of 14 before their tailspin. "We still have to get better pitching." "When we get the pitching like we did three weeks ago, then we'll win some ballgames. It takes both."

Blue Jays' starter Jerry Garvin, who pitched perfect ball over the first four innings, gave up just four hits over the first six innings, but unfortunately for Toronto, Hartsfield felt he had lost his staff to "We were nursing a lead, so I took him out. I thought it was time," said Hartsfield. "If the relievers had done the job, I would have been a genius." But Zimmer had the bomb expert. Relief ace Bill Campbell came on in the eighth inning, and after giving up a walk to load the bases, threw a double play ball to end the threat and help him gain his sixth victory in 11 decisions to go along with his league-leading 15 saves. Toronto reliever Chuck Hartenstein, now 0-2, got the loss.

Cubs' pitching sours and skid continues

NEW YORK (UPI) — After a day spent watching the Montreal Expos maul his pitching staff, Chicago Cubs' Manager Herman Franks scarcely cared to deal in profanities. "Anyone can tell we're not getting any pitching," he said Monday after the Expos swept the Cubs, 19-7. "That ain't hard to say."

So with the Cubs trailing by a touchdown or so in the eighth, Bitter entered and served up a pinch homer to Larry Parrish (8). He also gave up ninth-inning homers to Ellis Valentine (15), and Andre Dawson (8). "Herman saved my pitching. It was the logical thing to do," said Montreal pitcher Dick Williams. "I was surprised he called me. I'd have done the same thing. Why waste other pitchers?"

Why, indeed, on a day when Warren Cromartie would finish 5-for-5, including three doubles, and Valentine and Dawson would each average five RBIs. Jackie Brown went the distance, evening his record at 6-6. In the nightcap, Sam Mejias' double scored Gary Carter to break a 4-4 tie in the seventh. The blow came off Bruce Sutter in relief of loser Paul Reuschel, 2-1. Bill Atkinson, 4-1, earned the victory but needed losing help from Joe Kerrigan and Willie McEwen.

In other NL games, Los Angeles blanked San Francisco, 4-0, Pittsburgh swept St. Louis, 5-2 and 4-3, Atlanta upended Cincinnati, 5-4, Philadelphia beat New York, 3-1, and Houston ripped San Diego, 12-7. Dodgers 4, Giants 0. Don Sutton, 10-3, hurled a three-hitter and Ron Cey drove in two runs with three straight singles as Los Angeles completed a four-game series sweep. Rick Monday hit his ninth-inning homer in the nightcap helped Kent Tekulve, 6-1, seal the sweep. Omar Moreno drove in three runs in the opener with a single and two-run homer as Rich Gossage saved Jim Rooker's sixth victory. Braves 5, Reds 4. Bill Pocerba's three-run double in the eighth wiped out a 3-2 deficit and defeated Tom Seaver, 8-5, in the nationally televised contest. Cincinnati now trails first-place Los Angeles by 10 1/2 games in the National League West. Phillies 3, Mets 1. Ollie Brown's two-run triple keyed a three-run third inning as New Hampshire, obviously can no longer be counted among the legions of Boston fans. In fact, he probably made a few enemies when he defeated the Red Sox, 5-0, Saturday, his first victory after three losses to Boston. Members of his family admitted he was a bit nervous prior to the game. "Being left-handed and having the money built tickets all out there, there were a thousand variables. "But I was determined. This was a big win for me."

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 35-year-old widow contemplating marriage to a widower. He is affectionate, trustworthy, and thoughtful. He loves my children and they love him. He is a wonderful father to his own children. He cooks, cleans, washes, from and never complains. We couldn't help but have smooth sailing, and I do love him, but my problem is that my objections to my family has to this man. They don't bring objections my family has to this man. My parents are culture-conscious and somewhat snobbish. My friend is the oldest of 15 children of a struggling immigrant family. His English is not very good because he hasn't had the educational advantages I've had. If left alone, I'm sure we could overcome these differences, but I am very close to my family, and they could make me unbearable for me if I were to marry this man. I've told him yes, but wonder if perhaps I should reverse my decision. Do you consider my parents' objection too great a stumbling block?

UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: Yes, because apparently you do. When you are able to say "I listened to my own wife with a man of my choice, and if my parents don't like it, they can lump it," I'll reverse my answer.

DEAR ABBY: I don't know what I'm writing to you for. My problem is money, and you can't help me unless you get big checks and send me a check for $50,000. I own my own business and make good money, but my wife spends it faster than I can make it. To make matters worse, I have four daughters who are exactly like their mother. They are returning in bills every month, and there doesn't seem to be any end to it. Will you please tell my wife and daughters to quit being extravagant?

OWES PLENTY

DEAR OWES: No, that's YOUR JOB. It's had enough to have spoiled your wife, but you are guilty of perpetuating the crime by raising four more females in her image. Turn off those charge accounts, Dad, and get your wife on an allowance.

DEAR ABBY: A girl I work with is getting married soon, and she wants to borrow my wedding gown and veil. She's not even a close friend, but she's seen pictures of my wedding and says that's exactly the kind of gown and veil she's always wanted. Unfortunately, we're the same size, too.

ABBY: I'm saving my wedding gown for my two younger sisters to wear - and someday I will have daughters who will want to wear it. So many of my friends have told me they're returning in terrible condition that I hate to take the chance. What story can I tell this girl if I won't have to let her wear it? I hate to have her mad at me, as we work together every day.

SIZE TEN

DEAR TEN: Why make up a story? Tell her the truth.

his two-suit hand. North jumped to five clubs and the club spade game had gone to that of space and time from which no traveler returns.

On the other hand, it took some real play by Jais to beat the five-diamond contract. He started by leading his ace of clubs. Then he led his ace of hearts. East produced the king and led back a spade. There was no way to keep Jais' trump from collecting the setting trick.
