HRC seeks ruling on hearing power

A member of Manchester's Human Relations Commission (HRC) has requested Town Counsel Victor I. Moses to rule on the commission's power and has said that the HRC may seek increased power if Moses rules against it.

The letter from Atty. Joseph T. Sweeney, a commission member, is in response to a recent memo from Town Manager Robert B. Weiss to Lee Ann Gunderson, chairman of the HRC, concerning the commission's ruling in the Roy Thompson case.

The commission held a hearing about the Thompson case and later ruled that there was no discrimination in the matter. Thompson had charged that age discrimination had kept him from being hired as a police dispatcher.

The commission, however, recommended that the town eliminate its procedure of curving test scores.

Weiss agreed with the HRC recommendation, but said that Thomas Prior, assistant town counsel, had informed Charles F. McCarthy Jr., assistant town manager, that the commission "had no authority to hold a hearing."

Sweeney did not mention Weiss by name in his letter to Moses, but he did say, "One town official suggested that our commission might not have the power to hold hearings. This suggestion not only shocked the members of our commission, but also ran counter to my personal, professional legal opinion."

Thus, he has asked Moses to rule on whether the commission does have the power to conduct hearings in connection with investigations it is conducting.

Sweeney also indicated that the commission may seek further action depending on Moses' ruling.

"If, in your opinion, there is any uncertainty as to the commission's power in this regard, it may be necessary for us to request the Board of Directors to further legislate on this question," he wrote.

Workfare implementation discussed by DellaFera

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

Mary DellaFera, director of social services for the Town of Manchester, said Friday that a state-proposed plan to put some welfare recipients to work will require time to implement.

Miss DellaFera's remarks came after recent criticism of Social Services Commissioner Edward Maher by two Republican legislators who feel the program should have started.

The State General Assembly passed a law that says Maher must develop regulations requiring employable recipients of Aid to Families with Dependent Children to work in community projects. The bill, which was signed by Gov. Ella Grasso, went into effect July 1.

Maher has questioned whether the new state law would be acceptable to Manchester. He also said that he must see if towns can devise the programs sought by the law.

KUWAIT (UPI) — Twelve heavily armed gunmen masquerading as Syrian soldiers hijacked a Beirut-to-Baghdad passenger jet Friday and forced it to land in Kuwait with dozens of hostages aboard. Their leader was described as "unbalanced."

The gunmen, who claimed to have dynamite on board the Kuwait Airways Boeing 707, released 11 captives soon after landing and began negotiations with Arab diplomats in an apparent attempt to win the

Blast destroys pipeline station

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (UPI) — A fiery explosion turned a Trans-Alaska pipeline pump station into rubble Friday, killing one worker, injuring five others and halting the southward flow of black gold that began 19 days ago at Prudhoe Bay.

A body was found in the debris hours after the blast and fire destroyed the building where two giant turbines move oil along the $9 billion system.

The worker's identity was withheld pending a coroner's investigation. The five other pipeline workers were treated for minor injuries at nearby hospitals and released.

Some 300 men were at the site but most were in the camp area hundreds of yards away from where the explosion occurred. The oil had already been pumped 40 miles past the site when emergency procedures locked it in the pipeline after the blast.

Alyeska Pipeline Co. officials quickly secured the complex and inspectors from the company, government agencies and fire department arson units worked to determine the cause of the explosion.

A Department of Transportation spokesman in Washington said it had a preliminary report that the fire began with an explosion in a turbine that drives the pump in the pumping station.

Pipeline officials today considered whether to reroute the oil flow around the pump station.

Beverly Ward, spokeswoman for Alyeska Pipeline Co. in Anchorage, said the pipeline was not ruptured and company officials hoped to reach a decision today after determining damages.

"The decision has not been made on whether to go ahead with pumping by bypassing Pump Station No. 8," she said. "They do have that option but it's predicated that nothing was damaged but the pump room."

Miss Ward said the flow of oil through the 779-mile system could resume its southward trip to Prudhoe Bay if damage from Friday's blast was limited to the pump house.

Governors query Carter on energy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter, striving for a national consensus on energy policy, faced questions today from 44 of the nation's governors — most of them concerned with the particular needs of their region.

The special two-day conference at the White House opened Friday night with a working dinner attended by various governors and administration officials. It is being sponsored jointly by the White House and the National Governors' Conference.

Officially, the agenda was geared to "state-federal relations in implementing national energy policies." The topics ranged from enforcing the 55 mile per hour speed limit and motor fuel taxes to solar energy and educating the public on conservation.

Many of the participants, however, had a narrower scope in approaching the conference.

"I still believe that the energy plan before Congress is very shortighted on the production side and that we're simply leading the country into a shortage," Oklahoma Gov. David Boren said Friday.

Washington Gov. Warren Hearnes said he had a $2.6 per cent price hike from February, 1976, to February, 1977.

Gordon Pozza, director of economics for the association, said Friday that despite the steep yearly price increases, natural gas remains the nation's cheapest fuel.

The association's report said fuel shortage caused by excess demand was the chief culprit in driving up prices.

"I sometimes believe that there is a deliberate policy being followed to discourage exploration with the belief that oil and gas should be left in the ground," he said.

Kansas Gov. Robert Bennett told reporters: "One thing I intend to push for and have pushed for previously is deregulation of new oil and new gas and hopefully allowing the marketplace to arrive at its own level."

New Jersey Gov. Brendan Byrne smiled when asked why he came to the White House. "For everything I can get," he said as he walked inside.

The comments point up one of the difficult problems inherent in such a conference — competing regional needs.

New England governors, for instance, are concerned about adequate supplies of heating oil, since demand is high during their cold winters and few refineries are located in the area.

Coastal states have a major interest in policies on offshore drilling and states with oil and natural gas industries are concerned with continued price controls.

Soaring gas prices blamed on shortages

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Fuel prices paid by homeowners who burn natural gas have risen by 20 to 40 per cent in each of the past five years, largely because of chronic shortages, according to a new survey covering 41 states.

Last winter's bitter cold drove prices up even more sharply in some cities, says the study by the National Association of Regulatory Utility Commissioners. It says Dallas was hit the hardest with a $2.6 per cent price hike from February, 1976, to February, 1977.

Gordon Pozza, director of economics for the association, said Friday that despite the steep yearly price increases, natural gas remains the nation's cheapest fuel.

The association's report said fuel shortage caused by excess demand was the chief culprit in driving up prices.

News for senior citizens

By WALLY FORTIN

Hi! Our Splash Party Picnic Wednesday turned out to be quite an enjoyable day. However, although the weather was nice, we didn't see enough of the sun to have many go in for a swim.

Also many thanks to our good friend Norman Fendell who made it possible to use the facilities and to Mr. Martin, manager of the apartment complex for his cooperation and help in giving us the run of the place.

Let's see, the action here started with our Senior Golf League playing at the Red Rock Golf Course with the following results:

Opinion

Grand Comrade Leonid?

We've always assumed Leonid Brezhnev was intelligent, or he wouldn't have been able to climb to the top in the Kremlin and stay there, and thus we've been puzzled by his making so many state visits abroad.

A state visit is one of the most tiresome events devised by the human mind, consisting as it does of 21-gun salutes, national anthems, security precautions, official banquets, tedious toasts and diplomatic negotiations, which are the most boring talks in Christendom.

However, it turns out Brezhnev has an incentive to travel. He's a collector of fast and fancy foreign cars and much like medieval potentates giving a jeweled sword to a royal visitor, his hosts have been filling up the Brezhnev garage.

Washington's new leak

Congress has passed the President Carter signed a bill appropriating $4.7 million to repair the leaky roof of the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington.

Of course $4.7 million isn't much money by Washington standards, but still there is a useful lesson in the Kennedy Center's drip drip drip.

Court decision urges flexibility

WASHINGTON — It finally happened. The Supreme Court has ruled unanimously that the Constitution is not violated merely because public schools are predominantly white or predominantly black.

The civil rights activist position has always been that all black schools and all white schools must be abolished because they are a form of de facto segregation. That is a silly proposition, simply because it ignores geography, and it's strange that the Supreme Court took so long to come down in favor of logic, not to mention a black pupil's desire to attend a school in his neighborhood.

What the Court did — while reaffirming the power of federal judges to end racial segregation in public schools — was tell those judges to use a little more common sense. The judges, said the Court, must tailor remedies in school segregation cases to fit the constitutional violation.

In the opinion, Justice William Rehnquist noted that "mandatory segregation by law of the races in the schools has long since ceased."

Therefore, he wrote, judges should measure the "incremental segregation effect" any violations had on, say, racial distribution of the school population against what the problem.

That's right, it prohibited the application of anti-segregation remedies to the entire system if only some parts of that system were in violation.

Underused facilities drain funds High costs laid to city hospitals

By Thomas F. Frist Jr., M.D. Commentary

Health Care experts estimate there are 100,000 excess hospital beds in the United States, but many areas of this country still suffer from a shortage of medical facilities, and costs continue to skyrocket.

A major culprit for this trio of problems — overbedding nationwide, shortages in some areas, and increasing costs — is the inner city hospital.

In many of our downtown areas, which have been turned over almost totally to business and industry and vacated by residents, old hospitals stand like ghosts.

On his just-concluded visit to Paris he was presented with a green Matra sports car designed for off-road driving. Ever the perfect guest, Brezhnev said he didn't like green and painted it blue.

Though the French government is saying nothing, Matra says it was ticked off to have to hold up its production line and paint the car blue, a color it doesn't stock.

The Chinese, who see no good in Russia, call the leaders there "the new czars" for the way they behave. We wouldn't want to take sides, but Brezhnev's lordly treatment of the French was if not czarlike, at least that of a prerevolutionary grand duke.

The old buildings more often than not are inefficient to operate. They are high-level energy consumers and do not benefit from modern, cost-efficient advances in hospital design.

Many of them also pose dangers to those who use them because they no longer meet government regulations, fire and safety codes, OSHA requirements and important environmental guidelines.

All of this adds up to higher costs down the line for health care consumers. Obviously, many teaching and research hospitals must continue to be operated at central locations, and sufficient bed capacity must be maintained in our inner cities to serve those who do still live there.

These services, however, must be tailored to meet present needs. Statistics mandate that many inner city hospitals must be made more efficient or closed to reduce overbedding in some areas, effect a better

Commentary

In many cases, these companies are replacing outdated and inadequate hospitals in these areas with their own buildings, relieving the area's residents of the heavy, difficult burden of financing the expensive new constructions through increased taxes.

They are building new hospitals in areas where well-trained dedicated doctors want to practice, where today's citizens are choosing to live.

Our firm, for example, already has built new hospitals for residents of suburban areas of Atlanta, Richmond, Dallas, San Francisco, Roanoke, and Nashville, and in dozens of smaller communities across this land.

We operate the only hospital in more than 30 American communities, including the state capital of Kentucky, and we are building modern, efficient, new facilities in many towns which otherwise could not afford them.

At current construction and equipment costs, the additional 50,000 beds professionals estimate are needed in growing suburban and rural communities across the United States would cost $3 billion.

That illustrates, as well as any figure, the scope of the problem. We have neither the time nor the resources to continue to waste on outdated, inefficient, unused properties in our inner cities or anywhere else.

Silly season in the House

By Martha Angle and Robert Walters

WASHINGTON (NEA) — There are seasons in the affairs of state — and this is certainly one of them — when the founding fathers deserve a fervent vote of thanks for their genius in devising a system of government based upon checks and balances.

The House of Representatives, always the most rambunctious arm of the government, seems to have fallen prey this summer to a peculiar onslaught of temporary insanity.

Emerging from what Chief Justice Warren Burger called "cultural blindness," many of those black pupils need something more than a desk in a new school. They go to that school clutching IOT's from the Republic.

Thankful for Senate "Thank God for the Senate," said one exasperated House leader. "They're going to save us from ourselves."

A variety of factors have contributed to the outbreak of silliness in the House this year, but the single most significant element is the makeup of the body itself.

Seventy per cent of all House members have served less than a decade; just under half have been elected since 1972. They are inexperienced in the complexities of legislation, insecure in their grip on their seats.

Low esteem They are acutely conscious that Congress is held in low esteem by their constituents, and are therefore reluctant to give offense by taking potentially unpopular stands.

Single purpose

Hospitals are single purpose, very expensive structures which are difficult to finance, equip and staff with highly trained and qualified specialists on an individual basis.

Many communities have found building their own hospitals frustratingly impossible and have been forced to continue living with old, ill-equipped facilities or no hospital at all.

That unacceptable alternative no longer has to be inevitable. Armed with the desire for better health care for their communities, the energy to work hard for it, and the assistance of creative professionals, community leaders can have the facilities necessary to adequately serve their family, friends, and neighbors.

Land prices Some downtown hospitals occupy very valuable land that could be disposed of at prices high enough to offset much of the cost of new or improved, better located buildings.

Funds being diverted to the maintenance of unused and underutilized facilities can be put to productive use in hospitals where patient demand keeps beds filled.

Our health resources, like our country's natural energy supplies, are precious, and should be fully and efficiently utilized. To squander or waste them is a disservice that eventually costs all of us.

Contractor, architect blamed for illing gym floor damage

The architects and the general contractor for the Iling Junior High School additions and renovations are being held responsible for recent severe water damage to the school's gymnasium floor.

A letter from Town Counsel Victor I. Moses has been sent to Lawrence Associates of Manchester, the architects, and Ray Adler, Inc., of Ridgefield, the general contractor.

The decision to send the letter was made after recent meetings between school and building committee officials with Moses.

The Building Committee agreed last week that it wants the floor problem corrected and that it is not the town's responsibility.

The identical letters state, "The responsibility for this problem lies with your company since it arose during the planning, development and/or construction of the new addition to the school."

Moses added, "If this problem is not immediately rectified the Town will be forced to expend large sums of money to repair the existing situation and will look to your company for reimbursements and restitution. Not only was this problem solved, but also, all of the damage created thereby will have to be repaired. If the situation is allowed to remain beyond the start of the school year, further damage will result, for which your company will be liable."

An inspection of the floor Friday showed that about three-fourth of the wood floor boards are cupped in a wobbly effect.

The problem began about six months ago when snow and ice began to thaw, heaving up a walkway outside the gymnasium, and bringing water under the gym doors and onto the floor, according to Andrew Vincens, assistant principal of Iling.

Paul Phillips, chairman of the building committee, said the cause of the water seeping into the gym is that the walkway should have been built eight inches lower than the door sill, according to the construction specifications.

Richard Lawrence, architect, told the building committee that two detailed drawings of the plan showed two different heights for the walkway and that Adler chose which plan to use. He said the contractor should have obtained a written ruling from the architect on such a discrepancy.

Lawrence estimated the cost of doing the walk to be the building would cost about $3,000.

The gym floor has been left to dry to see if it would settle, but it has not dried as expected, Vincens said. The company which installed the floor, Wilco Sales and Service of Fairfield, will be asked to check the present condition of the floor to determine the extent and cost of the damage.

The company will be asked to remove a section of the floor to determine if water may be also coming from underneath the floor, Phillips said.

The floor is guaranteed for five years from buckling, which has not yet started but looks like it could soon, Phillips said. The new gymnasium has been in use since March 1976.

It is not possible to imagine today's young people asking the kind of questions that they asked of Jonathan Edwards in the 1700s. In the "Life of Jonathan Edwards," by O.E. Winslow, we read that he kept a notebook in which he put the questions which boys and girls had asked of their minister.

A nice, warm towel

Happiness is a nice warm towel after a chilly swim. Benoit wants comments on Vernon Circle plan

In response to requests by several business persons in the Vernon Circle area, Mayor Thomas Benoit has sent letters to owners of commercial buildings to get opinions about proposed changes for the expansion of I-68 in the circle area.

Mayor Benoit asks if they agree with plans for the circle, whether the traffic plans will be satisfactory, and any other comments.

The recipients are asked to return their answers by July 15. The mayor will then go over them and coordinate them to be sent to the town's three state representatives, Chester Morgan, Dorothy Miller, and Teresale Bertinussen and state Sen. Robert Houley.

Several businessmen met with the mayor about a week ago and expressed their concern, which has been repeated for more than a year, about state plans for moving the eastbound ramp at the circle.

While the state has not yet started to start for about two years, the property owners feel there is still plenty of time for the state Department of Transportation to change the plans.

The board of trustees of the Rockville Memorial Scholarship Loan Fund met Wednesday at the office of the superintendent of schools and elected Martin Fagan, principal of the high school, as president.

Francis Shortell, guidance supervisor, was elected secretary. Other trustees present were Dr. Raymond Ramsdell, superintendent of schools; Allen L. Dresser, former assistant superintendent; Frederick Halcher of the Savings Bank of Rockville; William Houle, chairman of the Board of Education, and Atty. Abbot Schwelb.

The loan fund was established in 1958 following the sudden death of Paul J. Roden, who for many years taught industrial arts at the high school.

The need was felt for a suitable memorial fund to give financial aid to graduates continuing their education. The Board of Education supported the idea and established the loan fund that year.

Once the student finishes college, the loan is paid back to the fund and the money is then used to help other students. Money for the fund is raised through contributions.

Names of contributors are placed on the permanent memorial plaque in the main lobby of the high school. A contribution of $150 or more is required before a name is added to the plaque.

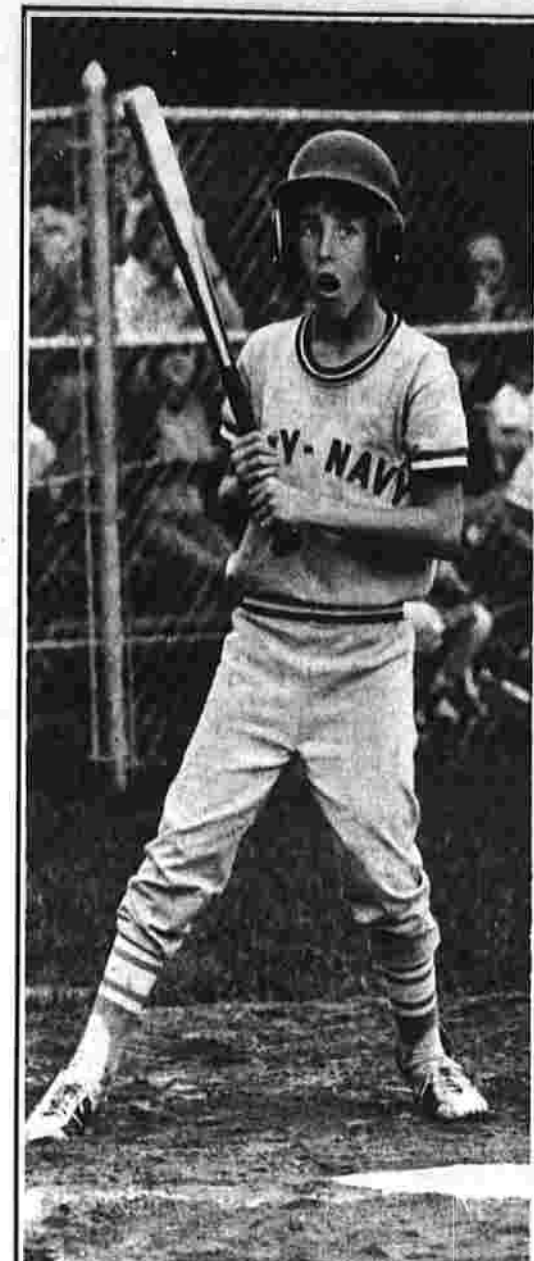

Contributions may be made by making checks payable to the RHM Memorial Scholarship Fund and mailing them to the high school, Loveland Hill.

Caught looking

Moriarty's remain unbeaten

Remaining unbeaten, Moriarty Bros. stopped Army & Navy, 4-1, in Town Little League Tournament action last night at Leber Field.

Monday night at 6 at Leber, Army & Navy will oppose the Oilers with the loser ousted in the double elimination competition.

The Vets scored as Leon Blidow worked out a leadoff walk, went to third on Billy Hill's single and scored on Ken Krajewski's infield groundout.

The National League hitters knotted the score in their half of the third inning. Brian Feshler walked and came around to score on a hit batsman, another walk and a wild pitch by losing hurler Tim Ellis.

Moriarty will play the winner Wednesday night for the championship with a 1:15 slated Friday if necessary.

Winning pitcher Jeff Popik had a shaky first inning, allowing the American League champs a run, but settled down to hurl scoreless ball the rest of the way.

The winners added a run in the fifth as Popik singled, moved to second on a walk, third on a wild pitch and scored on a catcher's overthrow. The MBS final tally in the sixth was a result of four bases on balls.

Three different players collected the winner's hits while Hill had two of the four tagged by Army & Navy.

Army & Navy had a threat going in the last of the sixth inning but Popik ended the final batter ending the contest. Popik struckout 11 and walked three while Ellis fanned 12 but was plagued by wildness issuing eight free passes and hitting a batter.

Umprising behind the plate was Lou Pilver with Drew Gustafson, Ken Monroe and Jerry Kennedy on the bases.

Scott responds to boos, homer paces RSox win

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — When George Scott came to bat Friday night at Milwaukee County Stadium most of the 31,636 fans in the stands lustily booed the former Milwaukee Brewer.

Scott answered the way he most likes to—with a home run, his 24th of the year and tops in the major leagues.

Teammates Bernie Carbo, another former Brewer, and Jim Rice also cracked homers while Reggie Cleveland scattered eight hits to lead the Boston Red Sox to a 7-3 win over Milwaukee and keep them one game back of the New York Yankees in the American League East.

Afterwards the "Boomer" was repeatedly asked if there was any special cushion over his 12th homer of the year in the Brewer second to tie with the Brewers Monday.

"To be honest I think it (boosing me) was about 65-70," he said. "I think there was a lot of cheering and clapping too."

The three homers gave Boston 123 for the season and Scott's gave them a 1-0 lead in the second inning.

But Sal Bando of Milwaukee countered with his 12th homer of the year in the Brewer second to tie with the Brewers Monday.

"I don't have any ill feelings," Scott said. "I have a lot of friends over on the club."

After that however, Cleveland and his teammates poked the whole game and upped his record to 7-4 while Jim Slaton, who was knocked out in the sixth inning, fell to 6-8.

Alex Grammas, the Milwaukee manager, was asked if it hurt a little more to have two former series beat his home runs against Milwaukee.

"That's baseball," Grammas said. "It doesn't frustrate me at all. It's like pitching to any other ballplayer. It's just another ballplayer to get out."

The Brewers' loss dropped their record to 38-43, marking the halfway point in the first half of the season. The Brewers are five under the 500 and 8 1/2 games behind New York and Grammas was asked how he felt about it.

"My feelings are we have to get more hits to score more runs and win some games," he said. "I'm discouraged any time we lose whether it be the first game or the 12th."

Pirates win wild game

NEW YORK (UPI) — By the time Pittsburgh and Philadelphia finished playing Friday night it was hard to tell which had more dents, the players or the balls.

The Pirates defeated the Phillies 8-7, on a bases-loaded walk in the ninth, but not until they had committed four errors and two bench-clearing incidents and enough violence for a television series.

"I can't blame him for his reaction," said Pirate pitcher Bruce Kison, who had provoked the first round by plunking slugger Mike Schmidt. "No one likes to get hit. I respect him for making his point. I'm definitely a competitor and he sure is, too."

Schmidt leads the major league in homers. He expects to get shaved now and then. What he didn't expect was a fastball in the eighth when an umpire called a balk on reliever Clay Carroll. St. Louis slugger Yano Hernandez blasted the call. "The league is doing a poor job," he said. "It's better start getting these guys (umpires) on the ball."

The Phils went up 7-3 on a hit by Richie Hebner, Jay Johnstone and pitcher Tug McGraw in the eighth.

When Pittsburgh scored from the field on a two-run homer by Philadelphia's 4-3 lead. He jawed and pointed at Kison. He fired his helmet to the ground; threw a punch at Kison and the 'Thrilla' in Pittsburgh was on.

Regalado tops golf

COAL VALLEY, Ill. (UPI) — Victor Regalado waited four hours and seven minutes for the rain to stop.

That he completed his second round Friday to bring his total to a nine-under-par 133 and grab the lead in the Quad Cities Open. The Tijuana, Mexico, resident shot a five-under-par 68 Friday to go with his first round 67.

Not all the golfers in the tournament were able to finish the second round on the par 71, 6,600-yard Oakwood Country Club course, and they were to continue today.

Two players who finished the second round — Gary McCord, Escondido, Calif., and Keith Ferguson, Houston, Tex. — were tied for second place with eight-under-par 134s. Fuzzy Zoeller, New Albany, Ind., was nine under after 32 holes, with 118 strokes.

McCord was 11-under-par with three holes to play when the sky clouded, thunder roared and lightning could be seen. McCord then bogied the last three holes to wind up in second place.

 Moriarty's will represent the Little League in the State Class A Softball Tournament in Greenwich July 16-17. The winner of the 14-team play will gain the regional title with the world title at stake in Jacksonville, Fla., on Labor Day weekend.

Test scores good in Coventry schools

Arnold Elman, Coventry school superintendent, Thursday night distributed test scores for students at the town's four schools to the Coventry Board of Education.

He said all schools scored above the national average, with particularly good showings at the two elementary schools.

Donald Nicoletti, assistant superintendent, said there was no significant difference in children's intelligence quotients between the Robertson School and the Coventry Grammar School, although students at the latter did better on the composite abilities tests.

Elman attributed the difference to the high turnover at Robertson, where about 30 per cent of the student body turns over each year.

"Children in our system one or two years scored in the 37th percentile on the average," Elman reported, "while those in the system three or four years scored in the 88th percentile."

The national average is the 50th percentile.

In other business, the school board accepted the resignation of recently appointed High School Principal Charles Murphy, who cited "family reasons" for his inability to accept the post.

Elman said he is interviewing other applicants and will narrow the list down to about five for board interviews later this month.

The board was surprised by a $1,400 bill from Town Atty. Abbot Schwelb for negotiation services related to the organization of cafeteria workers at the schools. The board will ask the attorney for a periodic report on expenses in future cases, to prepare budgetary requests.

Board Chairman John Lewis noted that the cafeteria workers wanted the same benefits as custodial workers who have been organized for many years. She said the new group will have to start from scratch and will not automatically gain these benefits.

Board member Jacob Wiseman maintained that the organizational drive probably would not have occurred if students had not circulated normal channels for complaints against the cafeteria workers last year.

About 20 students bypassed their high school principal last year and descended on a board meeting to complain of poor food quality and services in the cafeteria. Apparently the subsequent publicity prompted cafeteria workers to organize. At the time, Elman said his investigation showed little basis for the complaints.

The board appointed Leah O'Mahoney as a sixth grade teacher and Edmund Steinagel as a seventh grade teacher to replace two middle school teachers who are on leave.

Council makes appointments

On Monday, the council will hold a special meeting on roads. The town has come under increasing pressure in recent months to improve roads in the lake area which are overseen by private homeowners' associations.

Town Atty. Abbot Schwelb has told the council it is obligated to provide matching funds for road improvement to lake area associations which have incorporated under the state's Home Rule Act.

Town Manager Frank Conolly said that the following associations are presently covered by the act: Gerald Park, Lakeview Terrace, Oak Grove, Pine Lake Shores, Waterfront Manor, Waterfront Park, Waterfront Heights and Bellevue.

The status of the following associations has not yet been determined on a board meeting to complain of poor food quality and services in the cafeteria. Apparently the subsequent publicity prompted cafeteria workers to organize. At the time, Elman said his investigation showed little basis for the complaints.

Area police report
 A spectacular fire near East Hartford's town incinerator belched thick smoke and colored the sky red for much of Friday night.
 East Hartford fire fighters were busy throughout the night, pouring water and shoveling dirt onto a huge, blazing pile of old tires at the site. Authorities said the fire was put under control with some difficulty. Fire fighters remained at the area all night, and one engine was still pumping water this morning.

The first alarm was sounded at 7:04 p.m. Friday, sending two engines to the scene. Fifteen minutes later, the Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Fire Department was summoned to help fight the blaze.

Pratt & Whitney sent a chemical fire truck, used for fighting aircraft fires, to try to spread foam on the burning tires. That attempt was unsuccessful, officials said, and the special apparatus was released from the scene at about 9 p.m.

Fire fighters said the blaze covered an area of about two acres. Tires are piled there for sorting and recycling.

One fire fighter suffered minor injuries during the Friday night struggle against the fire. The man, whose name wasn't available, was hurt when a fire hose broke.

By mid-morning today, the smoldering tires were completely doused, but fire fighters were still throwing dirt on them. They expected to remain on the scene until noon.

Three Vernon persons were issued summonses Friday charging them with a vandalism incident at the firemen's beerfest last weekend.

Mary Callahan, 16, of 35 Hillcrest Dr.; Robin Cooper, 18, of 142 Crest Ridge Dr.; and Andrea J. Sereby, 16, of 16 Hayes Dr. were charged with tampering with a motor vehicle. Court date is July 22.

Hot round for Carl

Carl Bolin is a 10-handicap golfer but you would never know it by the line one under par 71 round he turned in this week at the Manchester Country Club. Bolin collected two birds, one bogey and 15 pars in his time round. Speaking of golf, Dave Curtis, of Boston, son of the Rev. Newell Curtis if Manchester, gained the semifinal round in the Massachusetts Amateur Golf Tournament. Popular Dave Proctor has returned as tennis pro at the Neepic Tennis Club. Mark this corner down as one who endorses the point scoring system employed in World Team Tennis matches. It's a lot wiser and makes more sense to score a game one, two, three, four instead of 15, 30, 40, game for individual points as the long and antiquated system requires. Also, the WTT in a decade game is decided on the next point and a two-point margin isn't necessary as in regular scoring. Mike Riccio is handling tennis lessons for beginners and advanced beginners mornings for the Recreation Department. Lessons are held Monday and Friday at Memorial Field, Tuesday at Charter Oak, Wednesday at Robertson and Thursday at the West Side. Entries are being accepted for the Candlelight Slow Pitch Softball Tournament July 16-17, 2:34 at Robertson Park. Carl Silver of the Rec staff is handling applications...Have a nice weekend.

Borg the best
 One Man's Opinion: Bjorn Borg is the best pro tennis player to display his wares in Hartford. Yes, better than Jimmy Connors who has led the United States to Aetna World Cup titles the past two years.

Borg, in Hartford this week as a member of the Cleveland Nets in World Team Tennis play, said he gets out to practice at least two hours daily when not playing in a match.

"Since I got more confidence in my game, I am serving better and more aggressive," Borg said.

As for his serves, Roscoe Tanner is considered the player with the fastest serve in the game but Borg can't be far behind. He got off several cannon shots.

The Wimbledon champion's serves in both singles and doubles play against the Lobsters were super.

Neither Borg nor Cleveland got off to a fast start in WTT but the Swede admittedly had a little time adjusting to the single set used.

"I just wasn't eager enough at first. I'm now very sharp from the first to the last point," he added.

Roy Emerson, the one-time ruler in world tennis circles, as a last minute singles foe was sadly outclassed by Borg. Emerson stepped in when Tony Roche, who whipped Borg in straight games in two previous meetings, begged off with a pulled muscle pull in his leg.

"I was looking forward to playing Roche but I didn't care who it was as long as I won," Borg answered. He topped Emerson, 6-2.

To many, this interested onlooker too, it seemed that energetic Mike Estep would have been a better man to go up against Borg but Emerson runs the show.

Estep is a much underrated player who traded rocket shots with Borg in doubles play much to the delight of the largest crowd ever to watch the Lobsters, 6,118 filling up the choice seats.

American League

The Yankee catcher required seven stitches to close a thumb wound earlier in the week and contemplated sitting out Friday night's 7-5 victory over the Baltimore Orioles. He just couldn't.

The gull puns were too much for him to stand.

"I wanted to play pretty badly because I felt okay before the game," said Munson, last year's MVP. "I feel so guilty when I have to miss a game. You've got to know yourself whether you feel up to it or not and I knew I could handle it."

Munson handled it alright. His two-run homer and two-run double snapped Baltimore's seven-game winning streak and dropped the Orioles two games off the pace in the East.

After wiping out a 2-0 deficit on Graig Nettles' two-run double in the second, New York took the lead in the third when Willie Randolph singled and Munson drilled a Rudy May fastball into the left field seats. In the fifth

The wisecracking Texan from El Paso, starting the round sharing second place with the 68-year-old leader, did not blame the weather for his double bogey at the eighth and single bogey at the ninth, but the "blow up" effectively blasted him out of

Munson likes wood in hand over bench

NEW YORK (UPI) — Thurman Munson has this thing about wood. He loves holding it in his hands but feels very guilty when he's sitting on it.

The Yankee catcher required seven stitches to close a thumb wound earlier in the week and contemplated sitting out Friday night's 7-5 victory over the Baltimore Orioles. He just couldn't.

The gull puns were too much for him to stand.

"I wanted to play pretty badly because I felt okay before the game," said Munson, last year's MVP. "I feel so guilty when I have to miss a game. You've got to know yourself whether you feel up to it or not and I knew I could handle it."

Regalado tops golf

COAL VALLEY, Ill. (UPI) — Victor Regalado waited four hours and seven minutes for the rain to stop.

That he completed his second round Friday to bring his total to a nine-under-par 133 and grab the lead in the Quad Cities Open. The Tijuana, Mexico, resident shot a five-under-par 68 Friday to go with his first round 67.

Not all the golfers in the tournament were able to finish the second round on the par 71, 6,600-yard Oakwood Country Club course, and they were to continue today.

Two players who finished the second round — Gary McCord, Escondido, Calif., and Keith Ferguson, Houston, Tex. — were tied for second place with eight-under-par 134s. Fuzzy Zoeller, New Albany, Ind., was nine under after 32 holes, with 118 strokes.

McCord was 11-under-par with three holes to play when the sky clouded, thunder roared and lightning could be seen. McCord then bogied the last three holes to wind up in second place.

The Pirates defeated the Phillies 8-7, on a bases-loaded walk in the ninth, but not until they had committed four errors and two bench-clearing incidents and enough violence for a television series.

"I can't blame him for his reaction," said Pirate pitcher Bruce Kison, who had provoked the first round by plunking slugger Mike Schmidt. "No one likes to get hit. I respect him for making his point. I'm definitely a competitor and he sure is, too."

Schmidt leads the major league in homers. He expects to get shaved now and then. What he didn't expect was a fastball in the eighth when an umpire called a balk on reliever Clay Carroll. St. Louis slugger Yano Hernandez blasted the call. "The league is doing a poor job," he said. "It's better start getting these guys (umpires) on the ball."

The Phils went up 7-3 on a hit by Richie Hebner, Jay Johnstone and pitcher Tug McGraw in the eighth.

When Pittsburgh scored from the field on a two-run homer by Philadelphia's 4-3 lead. He jawed and pointed at Kison. He fired his helmet to the ground; threw a punch at Kison and the 'Thrilla' in Pittsburgh was on.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Something touched me deeply this morning, and I hope you will find this worthy of publishing. I am a hairdresser. For more than a year, a little lady has a standing appointment with me at 3 p.m. every Saturday.

Today (at 9 a.m.) this lady telephoned the shop and said, "My husband's brother passed away very suddenly last night, and I won't be able to come in today. Knowing that appointments are at a premium on a Saturday afternoon, please fill in my time, if they are going to be out of town do the same?"

ROSE

DEAR ROSE: Because they lack the qualities of thoughtfulness, consideration and kindness that makes a lady a lady.

DEAR ABBY: There is an old guy in our town who is driving everybody nuts. He's about 70 years old, and he can't keep his pants off women. No waitress will get within six feet of him. When he comes into the restaurant, the cashier has to take his order, and the cook comes out of the kitchen to serve it to him!

This guy went to a doctor for a checkup, and the nurse told me that if he ever came back, she was going to have a pair of handcuffs ready to use.

I can't understand why they let a man like that run loose. Isn't he dangerous?

DEAR PASO: Probably not. If everybody in town knows about him, they're safe. It's the ones they DON'T know about who are dangerous.

DEAR ABBY: We have one child, 17, I'll call "Brenda." She is a normal, average child, and a little spoiled, but she's never given us any trouble.

Brenda has never washed a pair of hosiery or ironed a blouse because her mother wouldn't let her. She's never even made her own bed. My wife was a personal maid for this child. Brenda was never allowed to spend a night at a girlfriend's house or a week at summer camp.

Now the subject of college is at hand, and Brenda has agreed to go to college, and I think she should, but her mother can't bear it without bursting into tears. What should be done?

BRENDA'S DAD

DEAR DAD: You appear to have one neurotic female on your hands. Do you want to try for two? Ask your clergyman, family doctor or someone whose opinion you will value to speak to her.

She must understand that her attachment to her daughter is unhealthy. Brenda needs freedom to develop some self-reliance, and her mother desperately needs to develop some outside interests.

Glass works site story clarified

The executive board of Orford Parish Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR) will meet with the board of directors of the Manchester Historical Society Monday to discuss the disposition of the site of the Pitkin Glass Works on Pitkin St. owned by Orford Parish Chapter.

Should a decision be made to sell the property, money from the sale would belong to the Orford Parish Chapter. It would not be turned over to the National DAR as was stated in Friday's Herald. The Herald was misinformed. The local DAR chapter would probably use the money for local area restorations and for scholarships, according to Miss Sally Robb, a member of both the state and national DAR boards and a local chapter officer.

She said the local chapter has donated to the Band Shell fund. She also said the chapter might consider using some of the money, if the glass works property is sold, for the restoration of Cheney Hall if the opportunity arose.

Miss Robb also said that the marble fountain which the Cheney family gave to Manchester, which has found an untimely ending in the town dump, belongs to the local DAR chapter. She said the DAR tried unsuccessfully to get someone or some organization to renew an interest in it for the town's Sesquicentennial.

Today's thought

Christ has made us free! Through Christ's death and resurrection we have been called to liberty. How we use this spiritual freedom makes a difference in our lives.

If we use our spiritual freedom as a license to hurt others physically or emotionally, we are misusing our gift from God. We are then letting this "call to freedom" be an excuse for our own selfish intentions. We are then becoming slaves of our desires — the antithesis of free people!

Instead, God has intended us to utilize our Christian freedom to help others. As it says in Galatians 5:13: "Serve one another, rather, in works of love." This is the true call of freedom our Lord has given us — freedom to show love to others! Are you free?

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Jerry S. Williams Jr., who passed away July 11, 1977.

Always a silent heartache,
Many a silent tear,
But always a beautiful memory,
Of the one we loved so dear,
God gave us strength to bear it,
And courage to face the blow,
But what it meant to lose you,
No one will ever know.

Summer homes

The Marble House (right) and The Breakers (below) are just two of the many mansions open to the public in Newport, R.I.

Marble House, one of the most sumptuous of Newport's summer cottages, was completed in 1892 for William K. Vanderbilt. It takes its name from the many kinds of marble used in its construction and decoration.

The Breakers was built in 1895 for Cornelius Vanderbilt. It resembles 16th Century north Italian palaces. The grounds overlook the Atlantic Ocean and Newport's Cliff Walk.

Dinner theaters

The current musical at Pine-Brook Dinner Theatre in Higganum is a letdown in comparison to the nightspot's previous high calibre performances.

"Kismet," with melodies by Alexander Borodin, turns out as a shabby spectacle with costumes that look sleazy and poorly made and music that is often taken at a speedier tempo than Borodin ever intended, even if it is adapted to a musical comedy.

The exception to the mediocre soloists is David Beckett who plays Hajj, a devious beggar, who gives an operatic quality to both his singing and his acting. Renee Stevens stars as Marsinah, daughter of the poet-beggar, who brings a suggestion of her former starring role in "Oklahoma" into the Arabian Nights setting of "Kismet." Her mid-American wholesomeness is all too apparent in an oriental atmosphere.

The story deals with Hajj, who through his wiles, maneuvers a series of events he gains wealth, finds a new love, avenges wrongs done his daughter, triumphs over a wicked Wazir and achieves a position of eminence in the city—all the result of fate, which is the meaning of Kismet."

The musical continues through July 31.

The Coachlight Dinner Theatre in East Windsor is closed for vacation, but reopens July 19 with "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" which runs through Sept. 4.

At Chateau de Ville Dinner Theatre in East Windsor, Myron Cohen headlines a program of entertainment July 15 through 18.

Coventry man reprinted first drug book

THE FIRST PHARMACOPOEIA

Published In The Federated States of America
by

William Brown

Entitled

Pharmacopoeia Simpliciorum
et Efficaciorum in Usum
Nosocomii Militaris

Published by Styner Cist. 1778

An Exact Facsimile
Edited, with Notes, by John M. Scarchuck

By RUSS MacKENRICK

This is the title-page of a facsimile reprint of America's first book on medicines and drugs. It was published last year as a Bicentennial contribution of Coventry by John Scarchuck who was given the ceremonial title of "Apothecary to the Nathan Hale Ancient Fifes and Drums."

The Latin part means "Pharmacopoeia of Simple and Efficacious Remedies for the Use of the Military Hospital..." (Belonging to the Army of the Federated States of America.)

It is published with notes by Mr. Scarchuck explaining its existence.

The original pamphlet was written, entirely in Latin, by Dr. William Brown at the village of Lititz in Pennsylvania. (Between Harrisburg and Philadelphia; now a town of 7,000).

Lititz was a communistic village founded by the Moravians (a Bohemian sect), who gave up their Brethren's House for the hospital. The preface is dated "Lititz, Mart. 12, 1778." (March is Martius in Latin.) It was printed in Philadelphia later that same year.

The formulary describes 100 preparations, 84 for internal use and 16 for external or surgical use. There were 48 drugs derived from plants. Of these, five were exclusively American concoctions, not be found in British publications of the time. They were based on sassafras, Virginia and Seneca snakeroot, pine or fir pitch, and butternuts.

We are probably happier not to know what they were used for.

The original pamphlet was in 32 pages with the text occupying an area of 3 by 5 inches. The present volume is about 4 inches wide by 7 high.

This facsimile was made from the copy in the Boston Medical Library. Only two others are known. There was a second edition in 1781 with Dr. Brown's name on the title-page, (the first was anonymous) but that, also, is excessively rare.

Mr. Scarchuck, a long-time member of the Manchester Philatelic Society, is a lecturer on plant science and propagation at the College of Agriculture in Storrs. He does research on plant genetics and has developed a new variety of basil called "Dark Opal" and very recently an improved bush type acorn squash.

His facsimile volume has a Liberty of Congress card catalog number and is being picked up gradually by medical school libraries all over the country.

It is available for purchase from John M. Scarchuck, Rt. 3, Box 382, Coventry, CT 06038, for $2.50.

Big CB makers cry 'foul' over imports

By INK DIPPER

Embattled CB manufacturers, faced with sluggish sales and overblown inventories, now confront another problem, and this one was brought on by the Federal Communications Commission.

Last year, you will recall, the FCC issued manufacturing specifications for CB units which were considerably more stringent than previously required. The rule's effective date was based upon production schedules.

It has now been discovered that the FCC's wording was somewhat loose. As a result, off-shore manufacturers will probably continue to flood the U.S. market with sets manufactured under the old specs, while our manufacturers face an

Aug. 1 starting point for observing the new rule.

"The Commission probably should have established a marketing date, rather than a production date," one of the staffers at the FCC told us. "But, it's too late to change it now."

Meantime, just when it appeared that things had to get better, they got worse for the big CB producers.

"Flooding this market with El Cheapos through the fall can be disastrous," an industry source said, mournfully. "They have names you never heard of, and they are selling for peanuts."

Several weeks ago we had a column about the import problem and the relief that some big name manufacturers felt was required in order to stabilize the market. E.F. Johnson's president, Richard Horner, was so concerned that he planned to make his plea in the form of legal action under Section 201 of the Tariff Act. Now, he's announced that he's also going to the FCC to see if he can shut the door on this latest import problem.

Johnson is expected to file its petition claiming damage to the domestic CB industry under Section 201 any day now. Their action at the FCC would take the form of a request for a rule change.

The industry is troubled, and no question about that. The distributors and retailers are actually in the catbird seat because they've got products coming from all directions, in every shape and size they could want. More important, they've got merchandise they can price to cover the whole spectrum and still make a profit, no matter what we wind up paying. Many producers, meantime, are selling units at a loss in order to keep their cash flows flowing, regardless of cost.

It's some kind of turmoil.

'Personal radio'

The "personal radio" concept has grown tremendously as a result of CB and the resultant interest. The FCC is now making a formal study of this scene. It has given Advance Research Resources a $100,000 contract to survey and analyze it for them.

This awareness of two-way radio is also leading manufacturers in other directions of personal communications, too. They're exploring marine, landmobile and amateur equipment market ideas. The big splurge of CB started the whole thing. And even with sales of CB units this year expected to hit eight to 10 million, including four million 23s, the industry feels it has just scratched the surface of personal radio.

Linear amps

By the way, the FCC continues its determined march against linears. Its vow is to get all linear amps out of CB, and it seems equally stern in its refusal to increase power output to 100 watts. The FCC says "status quo" when questioned about possibility of this uppage in the future, near or long term.
