MACC chaplaincy program

A great number of people have worked over the years to provide chaplaincy services in Manchester. It was the result of a three-year study by the Manchester Council of Churches that established a chaplaincy program at Manchester Memorial Hospital in 1961. That part-time program was designed to provide support to patients with no church affiliation and to out-of-town Protestants. The program was initially funded by the council as its sponsoring body.

chaplaincy service to the convalescent homes in an attempt to meet the growing patient need at the hospital. The Council spent considerable effort in seeking grant and foundation money to support a full-time chaplain. Not only were the efforts unavailing, but financial pressures brought them to the Board of Trustees of the hospital asking for funds to maintain even the part-time chaplaincy.

In 1971, Manchester Memorial Hospital assumed two-thirds of the cost of hiring a clinically trained professional chaplain to work 20 hours a week at the hospital. In 1973 the Council was replaced by an ecumenical committee of churches (MACC) including both Roman Catholic and Protestant churches. At this time a 40-hour ecumenical chaplaincy program was established. It included a 20-hour paid Protestant chaplaincy student secured through the Hartford Hospital Clinical Training Program, and a 24-hour volunteer Roman Catholic chaplaincy provided by two local priests.

The situation showed deficiencies. The Protestant chaplain often stayed only one year leading to a certain inconsistency and lack of continuity. The Roman Catholic chaplains found that due to increasing parish duties the provision of 20 hours of chaplaincy became increasingly difficult.

In 1976 Manchester Memorial Hospital instituted a Department of Pastoral Care. Rev. Ernest Harris, a Protestant clergyman, was chosen as full-time chaplain and head of this department.

MACC has been attempting since then to provide an ecumenical chaplaincy to the hospital and also to begin again to extend similar services to local convalescent homes.

In the fall a position will be opened in the Archdiocese of Hartford for a Roman Catholic priest to serve as chaplain, part-time at Manchester Memorial Hospital, and part-time at Meadows Convalescent Home. This chaplaincy will be financed by MACC and area Roman Catholic parishes.

In time, MACC hopes to stimulate full-time ecumenical chaplaincy services not only to the hospital, but to local convalescent homes and Manchester Community College as well. — MACC Chaplaincy Committee.

Betty's notebook

By Betty Ryder

Took a sentimental journey one night last week and I didn't even leave the house.

I was in the process of redecorating my daughter's bedroom while she is vacationing in California. Well, while moving some of her castaways into a storage room, I came across a large envelope just filled with photographs.

That ended the redecoration. I sat down, dumped the photos out and went back in time — years back.

I found pictures taken when I was in high school (now you know that's going back). Some of my brother and his friends in the service. A few of whom were killed in action.

Then I came across one of a boy who I had been thinking about recently since I had read where he had passed away in California.

His name was Donald Ward. When I knew him he was in the U. S. Navy and had attended Hartford schools. Through the years, I never heard anyone of him until I read his obituary.

Come to find out, he was the deputy sheriff in Independence, Calif., who arrested Charles Manson. According to the newspaper, he had for several months urged his superiors to go into the valley where Manson was supposedly living with his "family" and arrest him.

Evidently, the task finally fell to him and the arrest was made.

Life takes some strange turns, doesn't it?

I always knew I was a string saver but I never knew I had saved so many birthday cards, dance programs, and crushed flowers in my life.

Of course, the boys were very sympathetic. I proudly showed them a photo of me, all in color and laminated for protection.

"This was your mother when I graduated from high school," I said proudly. To which one answered "Gee, what happened?"

Later, he gave me an affectionate hug and said "You're still cute, mom." Come to think of it, I think the hug came just before dinner time.

Incidentally, for those of you who have inquired, the lady traveler is due home Thursday. She called Sunday and was in Minnesota with grandparents of the family she is traveling with. We're all prepared to hoist the banners saying "Welcome Home."

Heading for Greece

Had a chance to talk briefly Saturday with Robert W. Allison, son of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Allison of 127 Brandy St., Bolton.

I called him in New York because he was leaving for Greece with his wife and two children on Monday.

Bob received a two-year grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities to participate in the Mount Athos Greek Manuscripts Catalogue Project located at the Patriarchal Institute for Patriotic Studies in Thessaloniki, Greece.

He will be the first American to participate in the project.

He will be sending me a copy of the grant and will be carrying a more detailed story about his accomplishments soon.

Opinion

A threatened rip-off

A powerful lobby made up of shipbuilders, ship operators and maritime unions is waging a well-financed struggle for President Carter's mind, and to be blunt about it, we hope they lose.

Their weapons are a vast advertising campaign and a bill in the House of Representatives that would require up to 30 per cent of imported oil to be carried by 1980 in privately owned tankers flying the American flag.

Sounds innocent enough; but the implications are bad and extremely costly for the U.S. taxpayers and consumers.

First, to meet the bill's goals some $13 billion in new U.S.-built tankers would be needed over the next few years.

Second, it costs far more to operate an American-flag vessel, U.S. crews being paid almost four times more than foreign ones. Since there is no free lunch, the tankers would need operating subsidies or would have to charge a lot to bring in the oil.

Simply put, this means that every gallon of gasoline and heating oil would cost more because of the shipping industry's bill. How much more is in dispute, but some estimates are that the nation's oil bill would be $38.3 billion higher by 1985. (Inflation, anyone?) Third, there is a worldwide glut of tankers. Almost every nation has tankers laid up without cargoes for them. It is sheer economic madness for this country to build costly tankers when, if needed, they could be bought cheaply from surplus fleets.

The lobby is using a scare argument about "national defense," claiming that American flag tankers would be an asset in an emergency. In point of fact, vast tonnage of American-owned tankers is registered under foreign flags of convenience, like Liberia's. In wartime they would go where their owners (and the U.S. government) told them, not where anyone else said.

In 1974 the maritime lobby, which contributes lavishly to political campaigns, got a similar bill through Congress. Fortunately for the public purse, President Ford had the wisdom and courage to veto it. We wish we could say Carter would do the same. However, maritime interests kicked in early and often to his primary campaign. As an ex-naval officer he is sympathetic to their arguments about a strong merchant marine. And the lobby has cleverly hired the ad agency of Gerald Rafterison, who did Carter's campaign publicity, to handle its $500,000 propaganda drive.

And in all, the public is in grave danger of a multibillion-dollar shipping rip-off.

Women's views neglected in abortion debate

To the editor, In all the letters written by religious men of their stand on abortion, I have yet to read one that expresses a concern for the woman, and this is the way religion has been for centuries. It was founded by men and is controlled by men. They pass the laws for both women and men and they do not ask a woman's opinion.

It is also men who have tried to tell women that being pregnant and going through childbirth is a natural process, nothing to be alarmed about. How do they know this? Is a cesarean section normal?

Men also feel that raising children is a natural function for women; that they adapt easily to it because it's their nature. Who decided this? A woman has physical and mental limits just as a man does and one

Skateboard area wanted

To the editor, I like to ride my skateboard, but lately there seem to be too many hazards which a skateboarder must face. Cars, dogs, and other people are among the hazards which a skateboarder must contend with. I heard that the town may put a skateboard park in by Union Pond. I hope they will, because it will make skateboarding in Manchester safer.

Block party successful

To the editor, Police Chief Robert Lannon was most cooperative and helpful in obtaining roadblocks for our street's annual block party this past July 4th. Elizabeth Drive had its third annual block party this year with fun and entertainment for all residents. Chief Lannon was instrumental in helping us obtain barricades from the highway department. It was unfortunate that he could not attend, but we hope to see him next year at the party. We also appreciate Steven J. Fisher of Rockville for providing some excellent music in the evening.

Sincerely, Spin Zucker 85 Elizabeth Dr. Manchester

WASHINGTON — "For too long, all of us in health care have been using our ingenuity to cure problems, rather than our ingenuity and self-discipline to prevent them... system which relies largely on private medical insurance. While my friend lay in a semi-private room after his initial admission, for example, he was simply kept on pain killers for three to four days while his doctor went on a weekend vacation. Other cost abuses ensued.

Coverage prolongs stay "They knew I had medical coverage," he explains. "I feel sure that if I had been paying for it myself, they would have to get me out of there earlier."

Medical surveys tend to support his contention. One such survey, by the Federal Health Benefits Program, indicates that employees enrolled in traditional insurance programs such as the one my friend is in spend 994 days a year in the hospital for every 1,000 covered employees. However, for every 1,000 employees covered by prepaid plans, only 429 days — less than half — are spent in the hospital.

Further, those enrolled in Blue Cross programs under 150 per cent more fossil-fuel costs than those in pre-paid plans. Third party-payer world "We do not perceive the health care industry as a world of good people and bad people," says

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for 16 years and have four children. The oldest is 15 and the baby is 2. My husband (I'll call him "Joe") is a NCO in the U.S. Army. I thought our marriage was solid, but when he came home last month after serving 13 months in Korea, he seemed quiet and moody. Then he dropped a bombshell in my lap when he told me he had "fallen in love" with an 18-year-old Korean girl who is now four months pregnant with his child!

He says he loves me but can't turn his back on this girl because when she was 17, she had a baby by a Canadian soldier who deserted her. Joe wants to divorce me, go back to Korea, marry this girl and bring her (and her child) here, so she can have her baby here. He says in time she may find another man to love and marry her, then he'll divorce her and marry me. Joe is 38 and I am 35. I know he really loves me, but he feels guilty about what he did in Korea and takes pity on this girl. I told him I loved him too much to divorce him. (Was that wrong?) I know if I let him go to marry her, he'll regret it later. What do you advise?

HEARTSICK IN TEXAS DEAR HEARTSICK: I think you're wise to hold off rushing into a divorce. Although Joe deserves every good conduct medal for his behavior in Korea, it's his credit that he's willing to accept the responsibility for his actions. An alternative plan would be to send the Korean girl money for her confinement and child support. It makes more sense than breaking up a 16-year-old, four-children marriage so that he can hastily marry a 18-year-old girl, divorce her later and remarry you again. The word from here is to hang in there and keep your marriage intact. Good luck. Let me know what you decide to do, I care.

DEAR ABBY: SINGLE SIMON wrote to say that as a bachelor he is through accepting party invitations unless he can bring his own date. And you said that most bachelors invite bachelors to provide escorts for the single women. The concept that most bachelors are invited to parties only to provide escorts for single women is a screaming insult to all single men!

DEAR SINGLE: For my part, guests should be invited to parties for their personalities—and not to balance the number of males and females. (P.S. I've never seen any good conduct medals for his behavior in Korea, it's his credit that he's willing to accept the responsibility for his actions.)

DEAR ABBY: How can a woman tell for certain whether a man's proposal of marriage is sincere?

DEAR PROPOSED: If a woman doesn't know a man well enough to know whether he's sincere or bluffing, she doesn't know him well enough to marry him.

Sidewalk deferral granted in error

In one recent case, and possibly in other subdivision requests in past years, the Manchester Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC) has granted a deferral of sidewalk installation, a step which it is not permitted to take under present subdivision regulations.

The decision to defer was made because of a misinterpretation of the regulations, according to Alan Lamson, town planner. He said that a granted deferral presents no problems and that the PZC will take no action to change the status of such a decision.

Under present regulations, the PZC may only waive or require the installation of sidewalks and curbs a waiver means that if the town ordered the installation at a later date, it would have to pay the cost of the work.

A deferral, which is not permitted, would allow the town to postpone installation until it finds that sidewalks and curbs are needed. Then, the developer would pay the full cost. Such a deferral permits the developer to avoid any expense for the installation until the town requires the walk.

The PZC recently permitted a deferral of sidewalks for a subdivision at the intersection of Hillstown Rd. and Woodside St.

Of the last 50 subdivisions that have been heard by the PZC, only three have received waivers for sidewalks and curbs, Lamson said. He did not know how many others, if any, had received such deferrals besides the Woodside St.-Hillstown Rd. project.

Those will be the last ones, unless the PZC changes the regulations, Lamson said. Earlier this year, the PZC learned that its regulations do not permit such deferrals. This has generated concern with some local developers, who feel that they are being required to make installations for sidewalks and curbs that are present not needed. This, in turn, means the cost of development is increased.

One of the developers, Hockanum Valley Associates, has requested that deferrals be legally permitted under the regulations. The request item at the PZC's July 25 meeting.

The DAR was deeded the property about 50 years ago by the Horace Pitkin family.

On hand to defend the preservation of the once famous industry, John Shanahan, director of the State Historical Commission, said that by no means should any disposition of the property be considered without consulting his office. He said his department had legal tools that could be helpful in retaining the property.

He also advised the DAR to apply for a National Register listing. Such a listing would offer possibilities of matching grants and aid for preservation.

David Poirier, staff archeologist with the State Historical Commission, said that the Pitkin Glass Works is one of two above-ground glass works that remains in the state out of about 10 original sites.

Lines from a poem written in 1897 by Marietta Stanley Case entitled "The Old Glass Works" described the gray stone monument to a phase of history.

"O dear old ruin, in our charming town, Whose beauty gives to it a fair renown, Thou art its relic gem of early days, Most picturesque and pleasing to our gaze! Blow softly, winds, upon these chiseled walls; Drift lightly, snow, as fairy footstep falls; Deal gently, time, that they may long be spared As a memorial to him who shared The fortunes and privations of his men, And led them on, their freedom to obtain."

Partial water ban set for Glastonbury area

The Town of Manchester's Water Department is imposing a partial water ban for some residences in Glastonbury.

Fran Taylor of the Water Department said that pumps in the area are old and have been used excessively in recent weeks.

"It doesn't take much of a dry period to affect the area," he said. The department plans to install new pumps there, but preparation work still has to be done by the electric company before the installation can take place, he said.

Because of the overuse of the pumps, the department is imposing an alternate-day partial ban beginning Thursday at 5 a.m.

The ban prohibits sprinkling lawns, washing cars, and watering gardens from 5 a.m. to 9 p.m. The ban is in effect every other day for each household.

On odd-numbered dates, the ban applies to even-numbered houses. On even-numbered dates, the ban applies to odd-numbered houses. For instance, if you lived at 73 Woodhaven St., you would not be able to water your lawn today — July 12. You would have to wait until tomorrow, an odd-numbered date, July 13.

The ban affects the following Glastonbury streets: Shady Hill, Knollwood, Briarwood, Woodhaven, Brookhaven, and Cedar Ridge.

A similar partial ban has been in effect in the Forest Hills section of Manchester since the beginning of June. Taylor said that cooperation by residents in that area has helped ease the strain on water equipment during dry periods so far this summer.

The streets included in the Forest Hills ban are: Kennedy, Bishop, Kent, Hamilton, Woodstock, Sage, Carpenter, McDivitt, Grissom, Shepard, and Pinewood.

The size of the parcel is 66 feet by 130 feet. The 130-foot side boundary is adjacent to the school property. The asking price of the property is $45,900.

Dr. Kennedy said it would cost an additional estimated $10,000 to remove the house and change the property into a parking lot.

Dr. Kennedy said his recommendation is based on discussions with Douglas Townsend, Bentley school principal, and Richard Mankey, architect for the scheduled renovations to the school, who both agreed that the purchase would be advantageous.

Far-ranging agenda on tap for town directors tonight

The Manchester Board of Directors holds its only scheduled meeting of the month tonight, and the agenda is a varied one that ranges from massage parlors to sidewalks.

The board's regular meeting will be held at 8 o'clock at Nathan Hale School, but this meeting will be preceded by several matters.

The board is scheduled to meet at 7 p.m. at the old Kenney Street School, a site that is being considered for a carpentry shop for the Public Works Department.

From the school, the directors will travel to the Pine St. firehouse, which is now used for such carpentry work. At 7:30 p.m., the board will meet at Nathan Hale with members of instructors of the Handicapped to discuss the organization's proposed swimming pool at Manchester High School. IOH is seeking town funding to cover the $4,000-per-year cost of maintaining the pool.

The directors will also conduct a public hearing on the acquisition of about 33 acres for the proposed industrial park. The property would be purchased from the Hartman Tobacco Co. at about 15 per cent more than the appraised value. But, Town Manager Robert B. Weiss said that he feels it would be advantageous for the town to purchase the land rather than go to condemnation.

School board may purchase land to expand playground

Dr. Kennedy also contacted state Board of Education officials who said the state grant for the Bentley renovation plans, Dr. Kennedy said, as they have already been cut back considerably from the original proposal because of declining school enrollment.

The new parking lot would be close to the art school, which may eventually be changed over for other public uses, Dr. Kennedy said.

Water study group takes no action

A citizen group studying alternatives for improving Manchester water treatment adjourned last night without taking action when it became apparent that too few members were present to make a final decision.

The group plans to meet again July 19 if enough members are available. It has already eliminated from consideration seven of the 11 alternative proposals for water treatment studied by Weston & Sampson, Boston consulting engineers.

All four of the remaining ones involve building a new central treatment plant using existing sources of water supply.

Fred Thrall, former Water Department superintendent, Monday night indicated his preference for a plan that would upgrade and retain the Cooper Hill Treatment plant and build a new plant in the Globe Hollow area.

Manchester police report

Two young Manchester men were arrested early today on charges of disorderly conduct and possession of a controlled substance. They were David H. Irwin, 15, of 123 Benton St. and Robert L. Martin, 15, of Center St. They were to be presented in court today after being held at police headquarters overnight.

Police said the arrests resulted from a complaint of noise behind apartments on Henry St., where the two men were found by police in possession of small amounts of grass-like substances.

Ronald W. Russell, 19, of 215 Center St., was charged Monday night with possession of marijuana in an amount of less than five ounces. He was arrested at his home where police were interviewing him in relation to another incident. He was released on a promise to appear in court July 25.

A house on Burnham St. was reported burglarized and ransacked during the day Monday. Stolen in the break were two television sets, a tapestry, jewelry and money with an estimated total value of $1,000.

About $200 in cash and a paycheck were reported stolen from the Manchester Book Shop, 707 Main St. Monday morning. There was no forced entry, police said. Entrance appeared to have been gained by use of a key.

Seven wheels and tires and tire equipment were reported stolen from in front of a Congress St. apartment Monday night. The items were valued at $875. The tires were stacked in front of a parked car at the time of the theft, police said. Forced entry into a Center St. apartment resulted in the theft of a 10-speed bicycle Monday.

A resident of a Homestead St. apartment discovered the theft of his motorcycle early today and saw two persons riding on it behind the apartment. If caught there, they were identified as the thief. The motorcycle was valued at $400. The thief was discovered another motorcycle in the same location which had been stolen from a Green Rd. address.

Army & Navy in Little League finals

Behind the two-hit pitching of Billy Hill, American League champion Army & Navy eliminated Ansdali's from the 1977 Town Little League Tournament, 3-1, last night at Leber Field.

Wednesday's play at 6 o'clock at Leber against National League pitcher Anthony Bross. A victory by the latter would clinch the championship while a triumph by the Vets would necessitate another tilt Friday.

Ansdali's broke on top with a run in the first inning. Kent Stringfellow walked, Tony Chevette looped a single to right center fielding Stringfellow to third and when the throw in went astray the latter scored.

Army & Navy threatened in its half of the first on a Ken Krajewski single and Tim Ellis double into the right field corner but Pat Burke bore down to get out of the inning. But Army & Navy did manage to knot it in the home third. Hill singled with Krajewski forcing him at second. Ellis blooped a single to center sending Krajewski to third and the latter cut back scurrying home as the ball fell to the centerfielder with Ellis winding up at third where he was left stranded.

Murray Yankee killer

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Because players tend to acquire certain reputations during their first year in the major leagues, Baltimore's Eddie Murray may soon get a nickname.

Eddie "The Yankee Killer" Murray Nobody can argue with his credentials. In the Orioles' seven wins over New York, Murray has driven home the winning run five times — including Monday night's 4-3 victory. The win was the Orioles' 10th in 11 games and kept them within a half-game of Boston in the American League East.

"I've been going real good lately," said Murray, a 21-year-old switch hitter who ended the game with a one-out, bases-loaded single. "Sometimes you just can't wait to get up there."

After Al Bumbry opened the ninth with an opposite field triple that skidded under Roy White's glove, Yankee manager Billy Martin relieved starter and loser, Mike Torrez, 8.8, with the AL's most effective pitcher, Sparky Lyle. But Lyle was knocked fast — a line drive by pitcher Rich Dauer carried off his pitching hand to second baseman Willie Randolph.

Dick Tidrow came in and intentionally walked Pat Kelly, then settled down to pitch to Ken Singleton. But Kelly stole second on the first pitch, dictating another pass to give to second baseman Mike Torrez. Kelly stole second on the first pitch, dictating another pass to give to second baseman Mike Torrez.

"Intentionally walks have a way of getting me real keyed up," said Murray. "It's like they want to pitch to me."

Stringing away with a 3-1 count, Murray lofted a fly, well over the head of substitute left fielder Paul Blair, to complete a 3-for-4 night and give Baltimore left-hander Mike Flanagan, 6-8, his fourth straight complete game victory.

"I knew if I could keep them close we'd get a couple of runs — it was just a matter of time," it said Flanagan.

Flanagan got his only real grief from Yankee third baseman Graig Nettles, who smashed 400-foot solo home runs in the second and fourth innings, giving him 20 for the season and 200 career.

"They were identical fast balls down the middle of the plate," said Flanagan. "I didn't throw any down the middle of the plate later — I made sure of that."

Some very unpopular calls by the home plate umpire highlighted a totally weird first inning but everything worked out in the end as Manchester trimmed Bloomfield, 9-6, in Zone Eight play last night at Eagle Field.

The triumph ups the Post 102 club to 11-3 in the zone, 3½ games behind unbeaten Leber East Hartford. Manchester is off until Thursday night at 6 when it hosts Stafford in a zone tilt and Friday night is a big one as East Hartford visits.

Bloomfield played two runs in the top of the first with the second marker coming home as an apparent pop down the first base line was judged fair. Fortunately first baseman Bruce Ballard, who had the ball pop out of his mitt, had the good sense to pick it up and fire home to catcher Mike Linsenbjer preventing a third tally.

Stanley hurls RSox gem

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Boston Red Sox beat Cleveland Manager Jeff Torborg at his own game Monday night.

Torborg, who constantly stresses defense and pitching, watched Boston rookie Bob Stanley toss a neat five-hitter and the Red Sox turn in a couple of spectacular double plays as they upended the Indians 2-1.

Stanley, making only his second start since June 3, gave up singles to the first two Cleveland batters in the first inning and lost a shutout bid in the fifth when Andre Thornton drilled his 11th homer over the 400-foot mark in center field.

"I pitched well because I wasn't in real trouble tonight," said Stanley. "And I had excellent defense behind me."

"This was the best game of my career," said Stanley, who blanked the California Angels 3-0 earlier this season. "I felt a little shaky in the first inning but then I settled down, and Stanley, who retired 10 straight after giving up the first inning hits to the first two Cleveland batters in order to pick up his sixth victory against three losses.

When Rico Carli fired out to centerfield to end the game, the Sox had come within one infield out of tying an American League record of 45 put-outs by an infield set in 1941 by the Detroit Tigers.

The 45 infield put-outs by both clubs Monday night, with Boston getting 24 and the Indians 21, tied an American League mark set by the Tigers and Washington Senators in 1945.

Astros' Richard stops Cincinnati

NEW YORK (UPI) — J.R. Richard is just a big old country pitcher — old-time players called 'em 'Apple Knockers' — who the Houston Astros think has unlimited potential.

"It's hard to rate a whole league's pitchers," said catcher Joe Ferguson Monday night, after Richard pitched a five-hitter that gave the Astros a 2-0 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

"But I'd have to rate him among the top five in the National League," Richard said, who struck out five and walked two, and was locked in a scoreless duel with Fred Norman on the sixth, when the Astros scored both their runs on singles by Richard and Julio Gonzalez and Bob Watson's double.

"I'm content with the Astros now," said Richard. "A few years ago, as the club was in chaos and I wanted to play anywhere else but their disappointing show on 7-9.

Nassif Arms overpowered Westland, 19-7. Beth White doubled for four hits including two grand slams. Sabrina Fairbanks, Sue Mirante and Patty Sabia each had three for Nassif's.

Krause scored two runs in the second inning and was left stranded. The winning marker went to the fourth. After one out Chris Peterson walked. A strikeout followed by Hill's grounder to short was thrown away with Peterson scoring and Hill streaking to third from where he scored on a Krajewski single.

Town manager suggests energy saving measures

Town Manager Robert B. Weiss has sent a memo to Town of Manchester employees suggesting that they work carpools for transportation to and from work.

The manager's office will coordinate the carpooling program by trying to match employees with others who live nearby. Weiss said the memo includes a form to be filled out by interested employees.

Weiss also encouraged workers to wind carpoolers on their own.

"I expect all employees who have to give a ride to at least one other employee," he wrote in the memo.

Weiss also reminded employees that the legislature recently passed by the State General Assembly sets a minimum temperature of 78 degrees for artificial cooling systems.

Air conditioning in the Municipal Building is controlled separately in each room. Thus, Weiss has told all town departments to stay above the 78-degree level.

If an office must be cooled below that temperature, Weiss has asked the office to notify him so the town can seek an exemption from the State of Connecticut.

"Energy conservation can only be accomplished when each one of us takes personal responsibility," Weiss wrote. "It is very easy to not think about it and go about consuming energy as we have done. Let's make a determined effort to save energy," he said.

Building boom indicated by June permit requests

June bustled out all over, at least for employees in the Town of Manchester Building Department.

The department issued 163 building permits in June, the most issued in one month since April 1975.

The approved projects have a total estimated cost of $2,149,241, the largest dollar figure for any single month since June 1975 when $2,578, 876 worth of projects, including the $15 million addition at Manchester Memorial Hospital, were issued permits.

The largest project issued a permit last month was the elderly housing that will be built at 151 Spencer St. The 40 units, which will be built by Keenan & Navarro, are estimated to cost $688,000.

62 sign up as new voters

The registrars of voters office reported that 62 Manchester residents signed up to vote during the three-day sidewalk sale on Main St. Another four-cross town registrations were also made.

A total of 23 registered as Democrats, 19 became Republicans, and 3 signed up as unaffiliated voters.

The registrars office also reported that eight 17-year-olds have pre-registered to vote since a new state law went into effect Friday. The law permits 17-year-olds, who will turn 18 by Election Day, to pre-register to vote. This year's election will be held on Nov. 8.

Although the month was a productive one, Chief Building Inspector Francis J. Conti expressed some disappointment that only 14 single-family housing starts were recorded during the month.

"It hasn't gone like everyone had hoped," he said of the housing construction market. "We've had some starts, but nowhere near what everyone thought."

Conti did say that housing construction this year has increased over a year ago.

The town also issued permits for five garages, eight miscellaneous projects, ten tool sheds, 11 swimming pools, 14 fences, six signs, 95 alterations and additions, seven affidavits, and two demolitions.

The Building Department also issued 58 electrical permits, 20 plumbing permits, and 21 heating permits.

Painters win title

The American League Tikety Painters won the East Hartford Little League championship Sunday afternoon, beating Vintage Homes of the National League, 9-3.

John Kiernba Jr., Tikety's pitcher, did a superb job on the mound. He held Vintage Homes to three runs scored early in the game. He allowed two hits and two walks.

Ed Clarke, Vintage Homes manager, said after the game, "He (Kiernba) did a marvelous pitching job. He had lots of control—a super job."

Police report

Dexter Williams' Bey of 32 Norfolk St., Hartford, was arrested Monday by East Hartford police on a Common Pleas Court 12 warrant charging him with first-degree robbery and first-degree assault.

Police said the arrest was made in connection with a July 8 incident in which an East Hartford man was beaten in his home and was robbed of an undetermined amount of money. The unidentified victim was taken to Hartford Hospital for treatment of multiple facial fractures.

Williams' Bey was being held on a $15,000 bond and was to be presented in court today.

Gas station drops plan for liquor

By SHEILA TULLER
Herald Correspondent
Melley's Service Station at 196 Pitkin St. asked permission from the East Hartford Redevelopment Commission Monday night for a limited liquor license.

A few months ago, Melley's owner David Levy asked the Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC) for permission to set up a beer and wine store in one of the service station's three bays.

Because the station is within the redevelopment area, the PZC referred the case to the Redevelopment Commission.

In the letter received by the commission Monday night, Levy said his plans had changed and he now needed the repairer's license.

A location permit is requested from the Zoning Board of Appeals. The ZBA will not meet until fall.

The Redevelopment Commission also heard an updated report on four redevelopment area parcels. A Lincoln-Mercury dealer plans to move from Hartford to one parcel and a health care organization is planning to build on another.

Warren Sullivan, town development director, said there have been no serious inquiries on the remaining two parcels. Both of the properties are riverfront land.

According to Sullivan, one of the commissioners suggested a hard-sell advertising campaign to attract buyers. Because of loosening money and a brighter economy, the commission feels this approach might be successful.

Teacher is cleared of spanking charge

The East Hartford Board of Education has cleared a Burnside Elementary School teacher who was accused of spanking a first-grade child.

The superintendent had said then that the incident had been investigated by school administrators, who considered the matter closed after last week's hearing. The school board also directed the parent and the school administration to work together to provide the best possible educational situation for the child.

School Supt. Eugene Diggs said any reference to the incident would be removed from Mrs. McCabe's personnel file.

The school policy says corporal punishment isn't to be used by classroom teachers. After a large hearing and board decision, Diggs said the policy was adopted before 1959 and needs to be reviewed and probably revised.

Before the hearing, Mrs. McCabe had been given a reprimand for being "technically in violation" of the

Harassing of elderly reported to agency

Several incidents of elderly persons being harassed at their homes has been reported to the Human Services Department.

Diane Wicks, outreach worker for the department, said two elderly persons who live near Main and N. Main Sts. were confronted last week by persons, one a black male and one a black female. They said the individuals were very persistent in trying to enter the elderly's homes.

Several other incidents in recent weeks have also been reported, such as men trying to sell services or repair jobs, she said. The incidents have occurred in several areas.

Ms. Wicks said she and the other outreach workers plan to get special identification cards, so residents will know who they are when they call on them.

Community Relations Officer James McCooe of the Police Department is encouraging the elderly residents to be on guard for the unwanted callers. He said the residents do not have to let the callers in and if they have trouble should call police immediately.

Some residents are reluctant to call the police, but McCooe said. He stressed the importance of making police aware of any incidents or potential problems.

Three attending seminar

Vernon unit wants combined park-rec

By BARBARA RICHMOND
Herald Reporter

The Vernon Charter Revision Commission would like to see the Parks and Recreation Commission combined and then have the combined commission headed by a recreation director.

Commission members attending Monday night's meeting were in favor of this action, but throughout the discussion was interwoven a concern as to where senior citizens would fit in this proposal.

At a previous meeting a bare majority of the commission agreed to retain the Recreation Department as it is now in the charter. The charter does not include the position of recreation director. The full-time director was appointed after the charter was revised about seven years ago. He also has charge of senior citizen activities and this isn't included in the charter either.

Commission member Mary Glenn said she would like to retain the commission with the powers it now has. This includes responsibility for planning and development of recreation activities, except those of the Board of Education but including senior citizens. She would also like to see a director who has charge of the department, all recreation programs and the senior citizen center.

She said her intent was to strengthen the director's position by putting it in the charter. She said that policy decisions should be made with the commission and the administration to the director.

Seymour Lavitt, chairman of the revision commission, asked why it wouldn't be feasible to appoint two sub-directors under the director, one to handle the senior citizens and one to handle other matters.

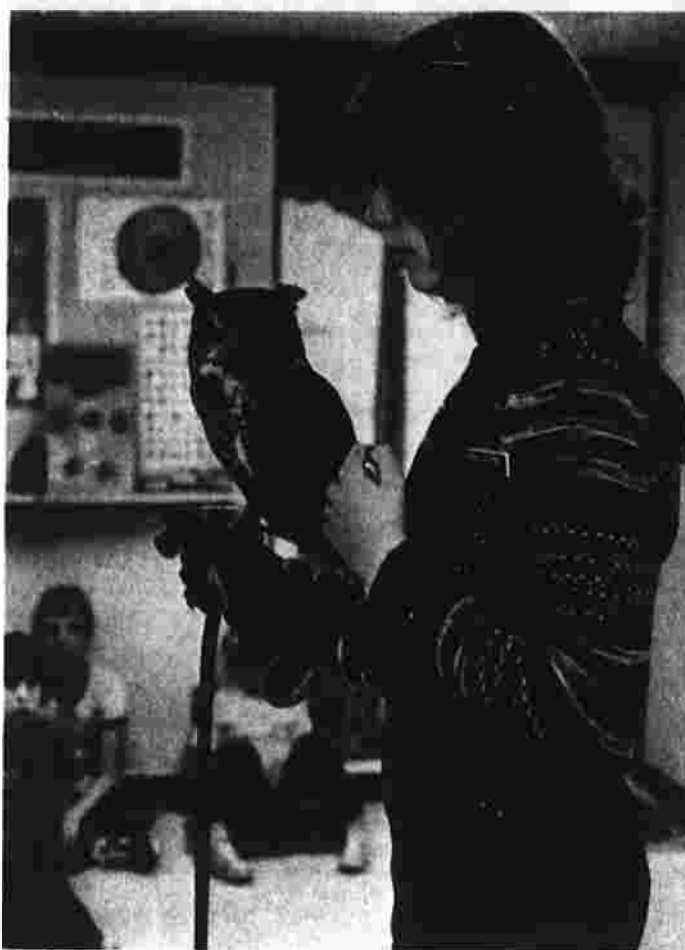

Commission members Fred McKon and Christine Lavitt said they would be against singling out senior citizens in the program. Both agreed this would be segregation and that there shouldn't be a distinction in the charter for age groups.

The commission also agreed that the position of recreation director should be included in the charter with officers outside the classified service.

The commission members were divided as to whether to have one commission or two advisory commissions. They finally voted 6-2 on a nine-member advisory commission and the majority agreed they do not want to make any special provision in the charter for the elderly.

Lavitt said, in discussing the elderly and the aging, that the commission had been talking around the issue. He said the Welfare Department should be changed to Department of Social Services in the charter to remove the stigma of welfare from social services. Mrs. Jean Pearsall, head of the town's welfare department, had also asked for this change when she spoke to the commission.

Lavitt said the logical starting topic for the July 25 meeting of the commission would be the proposed Department of Social Services. Stanley Salalik suggested that a better name for the department would be changed to Department of Community Services. The commission agreed.

Owl visits Rockville

Duncan, a horned owl from the Children's Museum in Hartford, perches on the hand of Eileen Fielding of the museum staff as she explains owls to children in the summer program at the Rockville Public Library. Duncan wasn't very happy to be out in the bright lights. He was raised at the museum after he was found abandoned in the woods and therefore doesn't know how to forage for himself. Ms. Fielding also brought with her a large boa constrictor named Delilah, a possum and a ferret. (Herald photo by Richmond)

Residents file suit against Bolton inn

Owners of the Alpha-Omega Inn have been ordered to appear in State Police. He was served a summons charging him with violation of a state statute concerning liquor permit premises.

The Alpha-Omega Inn has had three outdoor concerts this year and Gorgoglione said more are being planned. Residents have been complaining about the volume of the music, which apparently amplifies across the water.

The Board of Selectmen will meet tonight at 7:30 at the Community Hall. Included on its agenda are appointments.

The Board of Education will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. at Bolton Elementary School. The lengthy agenda includes special reports about Bolton High School courses offering the Committee to Study Town and School Intramural and Scholastic Sports.

Under unfinished business, the school board will discuss the 1976-77 budget encumbrances and final report; adjustments to the 1977-78 budget; several policies and the advisory planning committee for Bolton schools.

Water at Bolton inn said unsafe by state

Water samples taken from Bolton Lake and the well at the Alpha-Omega Inn have been declared unsafe for bathing and drinking by the state Department of Health. The samples were taken June 30 by Calvin Hutchinson, local sanitarian.

Hutchinson said bathing will not be permitted until further notice. He plans to take water samples today from the well near the Alpha-Omega Inn and from the upper dam area.

John Gorgoglione, manager of the Alpha-Omega, said he was told by the University of Connecticut laboratory that Hutchinson took the water samples improperly. Gorgoglione is making arrangements to have the lab test the water today.

The money will be added to the $438,000 expected in federal funds and the $127,000 already in the library trust fund.

The total cost of the library, which will be built near the Town Hall, is expected to run about $830,000. The final council vote was 6-2, with Councilman Raymond Dankel and John Mitchell voting against the appropriation. Six Democrats voted in favor of the library.

A public hearing preceding the council vote took 90 persons in favor of the library and 12 against it. State Rep. Abraham Glassman, D-

South Windsor, told the packed house that the town would be foolish to bypass the federal funds and reject the project. Glassman said the federal money gives the town the opportunity to finally build a library at a minimum cost to the taxpayer.

He said the town, however, will have to bond an additional $100,000 for the already-approved firehouse building project to come up with the necessary money to add to the federal funds for the library.

The landfill is closing and all local trash will be hauled to East Windsor. Councilman Edward Havens suggested a drop-off area when he learned that many residents recycled the discarded lumber.

Havens said he thinks it is a waste if the wood is taken to East Windsor when it could be recycled.

South Windsor

South Windsor residents may be able to pick up scrap pieces of lumber, discarded by local builders, if a suitable place in town can be found where the wood can be piled. Town Manager Paul Talbot says he will look into the possibility of the

Coventry Lake beaches rated by water survey

Coventry Sanitarian Donald Holmes has done an island bathing area study of Coventry Lake which was analyzed by the state Health Department laboratory. The coliform content shows Oak Grove Beach and Waterfront Park have the best sanitary quality for bathing purposes. The following areas received a fair rating: Listicke Beach, Waterfront Heights, Gerald Park, Lakeview Terrace, Sandy Shores Beach, Waterfront Manor Beach and Hemlock Point Beach.

Coliform organisms (bacteria) are normally present in all surface waters. Holmes explained. A good rating shows a content, per 100 milliliters, of zero to 200 coliforms. Fair is 201 to 1,000, and poor is greater than 1,000. Samples of water were collected at each bathing area at about waist depth.

The tests seem to bear out residents' claims that Coventry Lake is not polluted. The town has been under a water pollution abatement order by the state Department of Environmental Protection since 1971, and the Coventry Sewer Authority has proposed a regional sewer system to reply to the order.

Army & Navy advances in farm league action

For the second time in the 1977 Town Farm Little League Tournament, Army & Navy outlasted Dairy Queen, 14-13, last night at Waddell Field. The victory advances the American Farm League champs into Wednesday night's play at 6 against Carter Chevrolet while the loss sends Dairy Queen to the sidelines in the double elimination play.

A victory by Carter's, champs of the National Farm League, Wednesday night will give it the championship while a win by Army & Navy would necessitate another tilt. Mike Banavage had two doubles, Mark Cimino doubled and Mike Donlon honored for the winners with Andy Taylor adding two singles and Glen Jutrus singling in the bottom of the sixth inning to plant the winning marker.

Mike Anderson's spectacular stab in the sixth inning saved the contest for the Yets.

For Dairy Queen, Ron Pinney had two hits, Mike Hebert three and Iv Hainsey doubled. The Queens knotted it in the top of the sixth on safeties by Pinney and Mike St. Onge.

The Queens had an 11-7 lead after three innings but Army & Navy plated four runs in the fourth and two in the fifth to take a temporary lead. The winners had eight hits and committed two errors while the losers stroked 10 safeties and were charged with just one miscue.

The triumph ups the MBs record to 6-6 which keeps them in fourth place in the American Division. There is no rest for the locals as they host Hartford Group tonight at 6 at Moriarty Field.
