Lisa Abell, 14, of 25 Butler Rd., is a member of United Synagogue Youth (USY) which is sponsoring a cross-country summer tour. Six busloads of young people and chaperones departed from New York City on June 27 to begin their journey on the USY on Wheels program. They will travel for about six weeks through the United States, Canada and Mexico. While en route, the USYers pray three times a day, observe Shabbat, and Kashtar, and participate in daily study sessions. Their itinerary includes cities like Montreal, Chicago,

Colorado Springs, and New Orleans. Visits to national parks include Mt. Rushmore, Yellowstone, Grand Canyon and Yosemite. Disneyland is also on the itinerary. Sometimes the travelers will be accommodated and hosted by various Jewish communities where they stay with the families of local Conservative Congregations. Lisa is in the ninth grade at Manchester High School and attends Temple Beth Shalom.

Porno bill signed

HARTFORD (UPI)—Involving minors in the production of pornography in Connecticut after Oct. 1 will be punishable by 20 years in jail and a $10,000 fine. Gov. Ella T. Grasso signed the bill, which also sets the same maximum penalty for parents who allow their children to be used in pornographic ventures. The legislation, part of a national drive to eliminate so-called kidporn, would make such acts a felony and would apply to children under 16 years of age. The legislation does not affect the distribution of such pornography, only its production in Connecticut.

Explosion injures man

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

A hydrogen gas explosion Thursday afternoon at the Klock Co., 1366 Tolland Tpk., resulted in injuries to a New Jersey man and a situation termed "one of the most potentially dangerous I've ever faced" by a local fire official.

William C. Hall, 46, of Franklinville, N.J., suffered second- and third-degree burns of the face, head, and shoulders as a result of the blast. He was taken to the intensive care unit at Manchester Memorial Hospital and is listed in satisfactory condition today, according to a hospital spokesman.

Hall is an employe of Air-Co Inc., a hydrogen gas delivery company. The firm was making a delivery of liquid hydrogen to the Klock Co. when the explosion occurred. The Klock firm does metallurgical processing at the Tolland Tpk. plant, a company spokesman said.

The Eighth Utilities District Fire Department received a call about the blast at 4:12 p.m. Fire Chief Granville Lingard said.

His department responded with Engines one and four and rescue truck five. The Town Fire Department was also called and Engine Five from Buckland responded, he said.

Lingard said that the blast occurred when the two workers from Air-Co. had just about completed the hydrogen delivery. They were draining the excess hydrogen from the line at the time, he said.

The second worker, Harry C. Nicholas, was uninjured and was determined, Lingard said. Town Fire Chief John Rivosa, who is fire marshal for the Buckland area where the blast occurred, could not be reached this morning.

The explosion scattered a steel canopy that covered the underside of the truck. Parts of the canopy landed 300 feet from the scene, Lingard said.

There was also some damage to a fence protecting the tank in the rear of the Klock Co., but the tank and the building were not damaged.

Lingard said that the explosion caused a leaking of hydrogen from pipes that ran underneath the truck were loosened.

"It was a very, very dangerous situation. It was one of the most potentially dangerous situations I've had to face in almost 30 years of fire service," Lingard said.

After the explosion, a fire started underneath the truck. Lingard said that fire fighters hosed this area as well as the truck to cool it and prevent any further explosion problem.

"If we hadn't had a persistent attack immediately, we could have had a serious problem," he said. He praised the work of fire fighters from both the Town and District Fire Departments. Fire fighters said that the blast could be heard two miles away. Lingard said that his son said that he felt the blast while on Woodbridge St.

Manchester Police at the scene kept spectators away from the southeast corner of the building, where the incident occurred.

Police handled traffic control and reported no problems, although the incident occurred just before rush hour and in the vicinity of the company's main parking lot near Exit 93 of I-88.

Thunderstorms and high winds hit the Midwest and Plains Thursday, while record heat continued to stifle the Southeast.

Several tornadoes were reported in Minnesota and Wisconsin, with winds measured at above 70 miles per hour in both states. Golf ball-size hail was reported in Spring Valley, Minn., and in Cheyenne, Wyo., storms pelted golf-ball sized hail as much as 14 inches deep in some spots, farmers said.

However, no deaths or serious damage was reported.

At Cheyenne, Wyo., storms pelted golf-ball sized hail as much as 14 inches deep in some spots, farmers said.

Carter striving to avoid confrontation in Korea

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Carter persisted today in efforts to keep the shooting down of an American helicopter by North Korea — leaving three dead and one captured — from "escalating into a confrontation."

Carter, performing more as "a President than a commander-in-chief" in one side's view, planned to start a weekend at Camp David, Md., even while the Americans and the North Koreans meet tonight at 10 p.m. EDT (11 a.m. Saturday, Korean time) to discuss the incident.

Reporters kept a near 24-hour vigil at the White House, although press secretary Jody Powell said Carter maintained his normal schedule except for longer national security briefings.

It intended to go the east coast to pick up a South Korean navigator at Pang-Nung about 15 to 20 miles south of the DMZ, because of what Carter described as apparently "a navigational fix," the helicopter did not pick up the navigator but veered northward.

Powell said the pilot was certified and qualified to fly in the buffer zone region just south of the DMZ but had not flown in the area previously.

South Koreans fired shots to warn the Americans they were entering the no-flight DMZ. The helicopter landed for a minute or two, apparently to inspect for possible damage, and when North Korean troops began to approach he took off again.

Korean sources said the CH47 helicopter was flying with a second helicopter which did turn back. A Pentagon spokesman said, "I don't have anything to substantiate that."

The helicopter was shot down by machine-gun fire from the ground at about 10:30 p.m. EDT. According to Carter, two crewmen were killed in the crash and one was killed by gunfire.

The Defense Department today identified the four crewmen aboard the helicopter.

But Pentagon spokesman said it was not known which of the four was taken prisoner or which were the three reported killed by North Korean authorities.

The four: — Chief Warrant Officer 2 Joseph A. Miles, 26, Washington, Ind., the pilot. — Chief Warrant Officer 2 Glenn M. Schwank, 28, Spring Green, Wis., the copilot. — Sgt. Ronald E. Wells, 22, El Paso, Tex., crew chief. — Sgt. Robert C. Haynes, 29, Aniston, Ala., assistant crew chief.

At the time, the President was attending the entertainment at the White House after a formal dinner for West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt. He was notified of the incident by his security adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski, and Powell soon told reporters.

NYC blackout ends

NEW YORK (UPI)—In the glare of light, New York's "night of the animals" seemed just a fleeting nightmare.

If the President, the mayor and the governor were demanding investigations into a blackout that virtually closed America's largest city for about 24 hours, most New Yorkers were just happy to see their TV sets flicker to life, feel the cool of their air conditioners and listen to the rumble of the subway train.

Early today Mayor Abraham D. Beame formally declared an end to the city's state of emergency adding another cheering note to the overall picture of a city fighting its way back to normalcy.

On Thursday night at one sweltering bar, more specific song like Londoners during the blitz as the Con Ed juice surged back into the power lines.

"When the lights go on again, all over the world..."

It had been a nasty ordeal for many.

More than 10,000 policemen — four times the normal night force — patrolled the streets Thursday night to head off a recurrence of the looting, sniper fire and arson, which had shaken Harlem, the South Bronx, Brooklyn's Bedford-Stuyvesant district and other neighborhoods the night before on a scale not seen since the riots of the mid-1960s.

As police reported isolated instances of looting in the Bronx and Brooklyn, Consolidated Edison at 10:39 p.m. reported electric service had been restored to virtually all of its northern suburbs.

More than 3,400 persons were arrested by Thursday night. Estimates of the losses to small businesses ranged into the billions of dollars. About 900 fires were reported, including 55 which were considered major blazes.

In the South Bronx about 100 persons picked a police stationhouse to protest the arrest of their neighbors for looting.

Gov. Hugh Carey sent in 250 state troopers to help direct traffic and take some pressure off beleaguered city police.

Politicians were spitting mad, demanding explanations of why the power company allowed an extended replay of the 11-hour blackout of 1965.

Mayor Abraham Beame accused Con Ed of "gross negligence."

"Sometimes I think we ought to condemn them to hang," snapped the mayor at one point in a troubled day.

Con Ed said it was just one of those things. Three bolts of lightning shot out of a thunderstorm 50 miles north of the city, playing havoc with key lines, transformers and generators.

"It was an act of God," said Joyce Tucker, a spokeswoman for the power company.

Charles Luce, chairman of the board of Con Ed, was more specific. "A fail-safe mechanism, installed after the 1965 blackout, which is designed to reduce 5 per cent of the system's load during power crises, was inadequate," he said.

The Federal Power Commission, under orders from President Carter, began an investigation and said it would have an initial report within two weeks.

"Since the Northeast blackout of Nov. 9, 1965," said FPC Chairman

Richard Dunham, "many steps have been taken by the electric industry to avoid the serious recurrence of that very unfortunate episode. Recent events indicate those preventative measures have been insufficient in Con Ed's service area."

Whoever was at fault, the darkness provided cover for the night stalkers, the looters — men, women and children.

Gunsshots rang out, plate glass shattered, sirens screamed. With police forces spread thin, the looting continued into the daylight hours.

"It was the night of the animals," said one patrolman.

At the Ace Pontiac Co. in South Bronx, 50 new automobiles were driven away by thieves, right through the showroom door.

"There is not a single television set left in Harlem," said Police Officer John Ryan.

Guns, liquor, furniture, and clothing, including one store's entire stock of tuxedos, were carted away.

No one was able to put an exact value on the losses, but unofficial estimates put it in the billions. Many of the small businesses in the city's high crime areas had been unable to obtain insurance.

Court rejects site according to owner

By SUSAN VAUGHN
Herald Reporter

Neil Ellis, owner of the former Forbes & Wallace building in the Manchester Parkade, said today that he would relocate Common Pleas Court 12 in the building have been refused by the court.

When asked about a rumor that Marshall's departing store, now located at 410 Center St., plans to move into the site, Ellis said he had "no recollection on that."

State sources connected to the court relocation did not confirm Ellis' comment about court plans.

George F. Quagliaroli, facilities coordinator for the Common Pleas Court, said the matter is still in the hands of the state Property Review Board, and that the status of the negotiations has not changed. He said the office of Judge Roman Lexton, chief judge of the common pleas court, is "anxiously" awaiting the decision of the board and hopes to hear from the board within a week to 10 days.

Judge Lexton chose a portion of the 70,000 square foot Parkade building as a site for the overcrowded court last February. The matter has been in planning and negotiations since then.

Harlan C. Judd, public information officer for the state Public Works department, said, "As far as the department is concerned the matter is still under negotiation."

The court's plans were to use 20,000 square feet of the one-story building for the court and aimed at an opening time of September.

Judge Lexton, who is presently on vacation, said in late June he does not understand why the lease agreement for the site has been held up for so long. He said it is causing much concern because of the overcrowded conditions of the present court which is located in the Police Department in East Hartford.

The Herald has learned that Marshall's may be moving to the Forbes and Wallace Building by Nov. 1, but Marshall's personnel in the store's Boston office could not be reached to confirm this and the local management would not comment.

Sketch conference slated on Bentley School project

State and local school officials reviewed all state building code requirements which will apply to the renovations on Bentley School in a meeting in Hartford this week.

Manchester School Supt. James P. Kennedy, who attended the meeting, said school personnel and the architects for the project are concerned that all code items are covered in the new plans because Bentley has been the subject of a number of code inspections in the past.

The local officials have requested that an official from the state in charge of code enforcement, Robert Langer, conduct an on-site inspection on Aug. 9. He will go over the present building and relate his findings to the plans.

Particular problems arise for Bentley because of its age and the way it is constructed on a number of levels. The oldest section of the building was built in the late 1890s and the newer wing was built in the 1920s. The majority of the renovations will concentrate on the older wing, but the entire building will be updated according to the state code requirements, Dr. Kennedy said.

The state officials also were interested in energy saving steps and more details on site development. Kennedy said extensive work is needed on the asphalt areas, the main entrance to the school and improvement of the playground.

The possible purchase of a property directly west of the school would open up the play area and also solve another problem of the requirement

WATERBURY (UPI)—The jury in the Waterbury Superior Court murder trial of former Connecticut legislator Bernard L. Avocelle has gone home for the weekend now that testimony in the trial has ended.
 The jury is scheduled to hear closing arguments Monday from attorneys for both sides.
 Testimony in the nine-week trial ended Wednesday with the statement of state witness Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Brown, who said Mrs. Avocelle, a confidante and neighbor, was afraid her husband might kill her.
 The state contends Avocelle, 45, a criminal lawyer and ex-Marine sergeant, strangled his wife so he could move in with Mrs. Mary Jane Rado, 34, a high school English teacher.
 Mrs. Avocelle, 43, a nurse and mother of five, was found floating face down in the Avocelle's swimming pool in Naugatuck Oct. 30, 1975.
 Mrs. Brown testified Mrs. Avocelle told her: "He (Avocelle) might be trying to make her out to be wacko or trying to do something to her. She said kill."
 Mrs. Brown said her talk with Mrs. Avocelle was 15 days before the woman was found dead.
 "I was very alarmed," said Mrs. Brown. "I said if you think he's sick and might harm you, you should leave her now."

Opinion

The good U.N. life

In a welcome development the White House and Congress are showing concern over the lavish pay and privileges accorded to bureaucrats at the United Nations and other international organizations.

Such critical attention is long overdue, for it is the American taxpayer who pays a large part of the budgets that permit international payrollers to live the good life.

Three figures are revealing: In the U.S. Civil Service a professional with a GS-18 rank is paid $47,500 a year. At the World Bank the same kind of job pays $74,100. At the United Nations the scale is $85,500. In addition, the World Bank and similar institutions in Washington keep their professional employees content with country club memberships, tuition allowances, subsidized cafeterias and free trips around the world.

Not to be outdone the United Nations gives its bureaucrats pensions some 55 per cent higher than those paid in our Civil Service (and federal pensions are not bad at all). The U.N. types also get longer vacations, rent subsidies, bonuses for working away from their home countries, discount book and income taxes. If the U.N. bureaucrat merely was overpaid, things might not be so bad. But he is also as fissionable as a uranium 235 atom. During the past 10 years the U.N. work force has doubled to near 41,000 as new agencies have sprung up in an explosion of waste and duplication.

Now if the plight of the world's poor was being alleviated meaningfully by the U.N. and the World Bank salaries and perquisites might be swallowed. But unfortunately, the main beneficiaries of the war on poverty are the paper-shufflers themselves.

Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., made a very good point when he declared: "If these international organizations are truly set up to help the poor, as is so often proclaimed, let us at least see that it is the funds of the taxpayers of the United States going into these organizations in fact go to the poor, and not to line the pockets of international bureaucrats."

Let us also hope that President Carter and his officials mean business when they talk about shrinking international bureaucracies. The United States pays 25 per cent of the budgets of U.N. agencies, which would give the country leverage — if it has the will to use it.

The case for advertising

The lawyers have a favorite saying that "justice delayed is justice denied."
But we would guess that far more justice is being denied because many people are not obtaining legal help in the first place — they have no idea what it might cost and are afraid to ask — than by lengthy waits on crowded court dockets.
For this reason, the U.S. Supreme Court's ruling that lawyers may advertise their services is welcome. It will open up the legal profession in a way that in the long run will benefit both it and the public immensely.

It is significant that the case on which the court based its narrow 5-4 decision involved a legal clinic in Phoenix, Ariz., run by two maverick lawyers who placed a newspaper advertisement listing "reasonable fees" for such services as an uncontested divorce, adoption, change of name, etc.

Some lawyers may hate to admit it, but it is exciting work like this that is the bread and butter of most legal practitioners. And most of the routine paperwork involved can be handled just as well by secretaries or "paralegal" personnel.

Thus the lifting of the ban on advertising is expected to give a tremendous boost to the growth of legal clinics, where certain standard services are available at low cost. The clinics can now go after the high volume of clientele they must have to be able to offer cut-rate legal services.
The American Bar Association and its state, county and city counterparts will still exercise considerable say-over professional ethics, however, and this is good.
The high court's ruling is specifically limited to simple newspaper advertisements. False, deceptive or misleading advertising remains subject to restraint and "there may be reasonable restrictions on the time, place and manner of advertising."

There will always be plenty of scope for the reward of legal brilliance. The prestige law firm and the specialist attorney will still command high fees and never stoop to advertising.

But for the legal services most people need at some time or other in their lives, anything that places the system within closer reach and which fosters competition is a worthwhile development.

A reminder...

Readers are reminded that the deadline for letters on the Springfield board for discussion is now Monday, July 18.
The subject is: Should the South United Methodist Church use its property for the site of a church-sponsored, federally funded, retirement center?
The Herald will publish the letters Wednesday, July 20.

Let's get on with our jobs as reporters

WASHINGTON — An awful lot of nonsense is being spoken in city rooms and saloons these days about the need for national legislation to protect freedom of the press.
Apparently, a reporter here and an editor there has been harassed or frustrated by some public officials.

Andrew Tully

The whimperers in my dodge want Congress to pass a law or two that would — as they put it — "spell out" our rights.
I cast no aspersions on such colleagues. They are, I am sure, well-intentioned. But I cannot understand their paranoia. There will always be people, usually politicians, who seek to curb freedom of the press. But we're all big boys and girls. We can live with those nuts.

We can live with them because this is a Republic which guarantees our rights.

I worry not about fretful politicians. Our only problem is that the news trade is too thin-skinned. A lot of us can dish it out but can't take it. As Acheson said, "When people start criticizing the press, the press screams foul — you can't do that to me..." We tend to think of ourselves as noble public servants, which is a touch pompous. Worse, we flee where the First Amendment says no man may pursue us.

Two mottoes
I keep on the wall above my desk two mottoes from newspaper clippings. One quotes Emil W. Reuter Jr., editor of the Norfolk, Neb., Daily News, as saying it was "helpful" for government officials to criticize the press. The other quotes a vital trustee by Harold W. Anderson, president of the Omaha World-Herald: "Any news medium that is intimidated by criticism was a pretty timid news medium to begin with."

Philosophy is okay, but we media types prefer to talk common sense. There is a fact, it is called the First Amendment. That Amendment says plainly that Congress shall make no law abridging the freedom of the press. I repeat: NO law. What else do we want? What else can we possibly need?
Any more is redundant.
What else indeed. Any legislation on the subject would be redundant at best and perilous at worst. I don't want any noisy member of Congress

Anderson on shaky ground

By Martha Angle and Robert Walters
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Congress is full of nervous politicians these days, but few are as jumpy as the man who replaced Vice President Walter F. Mondale in the Senate. And with good cause.

The voters of Minnesota, who are uncommonly fussy about who represents them, have by no means forgiven former Democratic Gov. Wendell Anderson for effectively appointing himself to Mondale's old seat.

Simply put, they think it was a tacky thing to do — a reaction that has been widely shared by voters elsewhere in comparable situations in the past.
Only Chandler won
Only one state governor in this century — Happy Chandler of Kentucky — ever won election to the Senate after first having himself appointed to fill a vacancy. Eight others were reelected at the polls as soon as they had to face the voters.

Anderson knew all this when he decided last winter to grab Mondale's seat himself instead of appointing either a caretaker or a serious contender to the job. But like others before him, he was convinced he could overcome voter resentment. There are signs that he may have miscalculated.
Throughout his six years as governor, Anderson always drew higher positive than negative ratings in periodic public opinion polls conducted for the Minneapolis Tribune.

Manchester and its surrounding towns, like the entire State of Connecticut, had a smaller increase in per capita income for the first half of the 1970s than did the nation as a whole.

But, in population growth, some area towns were above both the state and national averages for the period from 1970-75.
The figures, compiled by the Connecticut Public Expenditure Council, show that the state had an average per capita income growth of 38 per cent from 1969 to 1974. The national average for the same period was 46.6 per cent. During the five-year period, the inflation rate increased by about 35 per cent.
South Windsor had the highest increase of any area town — 44 per cent. Andover went up 42 per cent, and Bolton and Glastonbury both showed 41 per cent increases.
Two of the larger towns in the area — East Hartford and Manchester — had the smallest increases in per capita income, both increasing about the same amount as the inflation rate.

"Who has won? Who has sorrow? Who has strife? Who has complaining? Who has wounds without cause? Who has redness of eyes? Those who carry long over wine, those who go to try mixed wine, do not look at wine when it is red, when it sparkles in the cup and goes down smoothly. At the last it bites like a serpent, and stings like an adder. Your eyes will see strange things, and your mind utter perverse things. You will be like one who lies down in the midst of the sea, like one who lies on the tip of a mast. 'They struck me,' you will say. 'But I did not hurt; they beat me, but I did not feel it. When shall I awake? I will seek another drink.' (Proverbs 23:29-35)

Other towns in the area had the following increases, according to the report: Tolland, 40 per cent; Ellington, 40 per cent; Vernon, 39 per cent; Coventry, 38 per cent; and Hebron, 37 per cent.

The largest local population increase was in Hebron, where the population went up 26 per cent. During the same 1970-75 period, the state population increased two per cent while the national population went up 4.3 per cent. Only 11 towns in the state showed a larger population growth than Hebron.
At the other end of the scale, Andover had no increase in population and East Hartford's population dropped six per cent.
The largest population drop in the state, incidentally, was in Union, which had a fall of 16 per cent. Hartford was close behind with a 13 per cent drop.
Only four other communities — New Haven, North Canaan, Bridgeport, and Windsor Locks — had a larger drop in population than did East Hartford.
Other area towns had the following per cent of growth: Glastonbury, 14; Bolton, 13; Ellington, 12; Vernon, 8; South Windsor, 7; Tolland, 6; Coventry, 6; and Manchester, 5.

Yaz becomes all-time Red Sox hit leader

CLEVELAND (UPI) — American League hitters will have to worry about pitching to veteran Carl Yastrzemski for at least two more years.

"I plan on playing next year and in 1979, then I will make a decision," said Yastrzemski, who blasted his 17th homer and upped his current average to .307 Thursday night as he led the Boston Red Sox to a 7-4 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

"Right now," said Yastrzemski, "I'm just thinking about my goals; I'm just thinking about the pennant."

After Yastrzemski homered to trigger a three-run fourth inning, he singled in the fifth for his 2,655th hit to move him ahead of Ted Williams as the Red Sox all-time hit leader.

"It is an honor passing up a player like Williams, but if he would have played the five years he was in the service I'd still be chasing him for a long time," added the 37-year-old outfielder.

Rico Carty, who drove in his first runs since July 3, staked the Indians to a 2-0 lead when he singled home Buddy Bell from second in the first inning and smacked his sixth homer in the third off Boston starter Luis Tiant.

Carty, who has had only six hits in his last 47 at-bats, bunched up four singles in the fifth for his 2,655th hit

"When you hit good and the team loses I hate that," said Carty. "I was due to get some hits because I was hitting the ball, but I couldn't find any holes. Tonight I found some."

The Red Sox went ahead 3-2 in the fifth and Butch Hobson triggered a three-run sixth inning explosion by sending his 17th round-tripper over the 400-foot mark in centerfield and handing Cleveland starter Al Fitzmorris his sixth defeat against two losses.

Reggie Jackson slammed his 14th and 15th homers and George Zeber added his third. Ed Figueroa, 9-7, Coburn struggled through five innings to Sparky Lyle in the seventh. Lyle allowed two-hits to Reggie Jackson.

Chicago 2, Toronto 1

Richie Zisk scored from second on third baseman Dave McKay's two-out error in the eighth as Ken Kravec, 6-2, earned his fifth straight victory. Jerry Garvin fell to 7-9 despite pitching a four-hitter.

Orleans 6, Rangers 1

Eddie Murray's single skipped past left fielder Claudell Washington all the way to the wall to key a three-run seventh. Ross Grimsley, 9-4, won his fifth game in his last six decisions.

Royals 4, Tigers 3

Frank White drove in a run in each of his first three at-bats and Jim Coburn struggled through five innings to record his 11th victory. Larry Rocco pitched the last four innings. Jason Thompson and Ron LeFlore homered for Detroit.

Mariners 4, Angels 1

Dick Pole and Enrique Romo combined for a three-hitter in a game that featured the triple play in California history, a 5-4-3 conversation on Leroy Stanton's grounder.

All-Star rosters filled by pilots

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pete Rose of the Cincinnati Reds and home run champion Mike Schmidt of Philadelphia were among 12 players named today by Reds Manager Sparky Anderson to complete the National League team for the major league All-Star baseball game.

The game will be played next Tuesday night at Yankee Stadium.

Anderson also named his own right fielder, Ken Griffey, making a total of seven members of the two-time world champions among the 28 NL All-Stars.

Also named to complete the squad were catchers Ted Simmons of St. Louis and John Stearns of New York, first baseman Willie Montanez of Atlanta, second baseman Manny Trillo of Chicago, shortstop Garry Templeton of St. Louis and outfielders Reggie Smith, Los Angeles; Ellis Valentine, Montreal; Dave Winfield, San Diego; and Jerry Morales, Chicago.

New York Yankee Manager Billy Martin added three Boston Red Sox to the American League roster making a total of seven from the Beantown.

American League

First baseman George Scott and outfielders Fred Lynn and Jim Rice were added to those already picked by the fans. Martin selected catcher Thurman Munson and third baseman Graig Nettles from his own club making it five Yankees on the All-Star club.

Others chosen were Ken Singleton, outfielder from the Baltimore Orioles, second baseman Don Money of the Milwaukee Brewers, catcher Butch Wynegar and outfielder Larry Hite of the Minnesota Twins, outfielder Ruppert Jones of Seattle Mariners, shortstop Bert Campaneris of the Texas Rangers and first baseman Ron Fairly of the Toronto Blue Jays.

Martin also picked Detroit Tigers' first baseman Jason Thompson as a substitute for ailing pitcher Mark Fidrych and replaced injured Frank Tanana with Nolan Ryan, the latter part from the California Angels.

Redskins' Allen gets big money

WASHINGTON (UPI) — George Allen's fans in Washington can relax. There's no longer any danger he'll leave to start another "Over-the-Hill gang" elsewhere in the National Football League.

Allen, who has led the Washington Redskins to five playoff berths in six years, has agreed to a four-year contract extension — through 1981 — at a salary matched by few NFL coaches.

Club President Edward Bennett Williams announced the deal Thursday, but refused to disclose terms, only saying Allen's salary increase was "very, very substantial."

How can it possibly continue to meet the human needs of my students when I am expected to respond like a cold-blooded computer?

DEAR CONFUSED: I fail to see what being male has to do with the criticism. I'm sure a female teacher would be criticized for giving her students back rubs, allowing them to sit on her lap and hugging them.

While your motives may have been beyond reproach, the kind of physical contact you engaged in might easily be mistaken for intimacy beyond acceptable boundaries and possibly first degree, yes — but fourth graders, no.

Another ace

Having done it a year ago and to his liking, Joe Liebold fired another hole-in-one yesterday at Manchester Country Club, setting the 3,147-yard fifth hole. He used an eight iron. Liebold was in the past month with Leo Broussard, Frank Yotta and Don Galli.

Authentic Seaver hurls two-hitter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tom Seaver, his own worst critic, has reached the point where even he is satisfied with his performance for the Cincinnati Reds.

"This isn't the real Seaver," he said earlier in the week. "I still want to show this club how I can pitch."

Seaver did just that Thursday night when he pitched a no-hitter for 1-3 innings and wound up with a two-hitter that gave the Reds a 7-1 victory over the Atlanta Braves. George Foster led the Reds' attack with three homers and five RBI and Seaver also homered.

"It's a matter of getting into a groove," said Seaver. "It takes a while to become adjusted. But I feel I'm getting it now."

MBs gain

The seven-hit pitching of Dave Bidwell led Moriarty Bros. 4-1 Tuesday night at Assumption College. Bidwell, former Manchester High star, struck out four in the first inning and walked three in the second. Moriarty's plated two in the second on a Mike McDonald double and two in the third on sacrifice flies by Ron Krogh and McDonald. McDonald drove in three runs to lead the MBs.

Maxwell to sign

BOSTON (UPI) — First round draft choice Cedric Maxwell will sign a contract next week with the Boston Celtics according to the club.

The 6-foot-8 forward from the University of North Carolina-Charlotte has been conducting negotiations with the Celtics for a past month. The club has called a press conference for Monday to announce the signing.

National League

Can show the Reds that they made a good deal when they acquired me."

Seaver, who raised his record to 10-5 including 3-1 with the Reds, had a no-hitter until Willie Montanez doubled with one out in the seventh inning. He had a shutout until the ninth when the Braves scored an unearned run on a double by Rowland Office and an error by shortstop Rick Auerbach.

Martini in lead

SUTTON, Mass. — Forget bluegrass, bent grass and Bermuda grass. The playing surface at Pleasant Valley Country Club has been converted to Martini grass.

The busy fairways — object of cutting remarks by Jack Nicklaus — were tamed Thursday by witless veteran Fred Marti, who trimmed a stroke off the record in grabbing the first round lead in the $250,000 Pleasant Valley Classic.

Marti's 64, fashioned with remarkable long and short iron shots, put him three strokes ahead of South African Dale Hayes and 1976 Masters champion Ray Floyd. British Open winner Tom Watson and Nicklaus were among 11 golfers at 98. Vic Regalado, the 1974 Pleasant Valley tournament winner, also had a 68.

Nicklaus had stayed away from Monette had three hits and Ron Sepowitz two including a homer for Bogner's.

Legion in rout

Nine errors opened the floodgates as Manchester's American Legion baseball team routed Stafford, 15-3, in a Zone Eight contest last night at Eagle Field.

The triumph by the Post 102 entry sets the stage for tonight's clash at 6 at Eagle Field against unbeaten zone leader East Hartford. Bruce Ballard is expected to draw the hill assignment for the locals, 12-3 in the zone and 12-71 over-all, while Mike Moss is the likely East Hartford hurler.

The last time the clubs clashed, Ballard won a three-inning but was bested by a Moss two-hitter in a 1-0 East Hartford triumph.

Manchester scored two runs in the first, six in the second, three in the third and four final tallies in the sixth against Stafford, collecting nine hits.

Jeff Backten had three hits and scored three runs, Pete Kim two-for-three and two RBIs, Frank Livingston a two-run double and Ray Gila a two-run first-inning homer and four runs scored.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Someone asked you if a 13-year-old boy could get a girl pregnant, and I'm glad you said yes because I am pregnant.

Five months ago I got a 15-year-old girl pregnant. Her parents and mine raised a terrible fuss and sent threats back and forth. The girl finally got an abortion, and we kindergartners are not allowed to see each other again.

Might I add that my puberty started when I was 11. THIRTEEN AND OLD ENOUGH

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I am a fourth grade teacher employed in a suburb of Minneapolis, Minn. During the past few years I have found that most of my students seem to appreciate physical contact.

In early December my building principal called me into his office and told me that a parent had called the superintendent and expressed concern that my actions were, if not morally improper, certainly "weird" and abnormal.

After my initial shock I asked who complained, and what specifically was the nature of his complaint. I never was told who, but I was told that each of the following actions was specifically for alarm.

Joy ride

EAST HAMPTON (UPI) — About 20 angry adults Thursday chased and caught two boys, aged 12 and 14, after they allegedly stole a car, knocked down a fence and a light pole, and crossed several laws on a joy ride, police said.

The boys drove the car — which had the keys left in the ignition — from a Barton Hill Road home, and were speeding along Lake Road when the car careened across the lawn and came to rest on a protruding rock, police said.

Sen. Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee and the bill's sponsor, said Carter told him at a breakfast with members of Congress Wednesday that he generally supports the bill. The decision for the first time put the White House behind a specific no-fault plan. No-fault laws require automobile insurance companies to automatically pay claims to persons they insure without regard to who was at fault or an accident.

Carter favors no-fault

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter favors passage of a bill that would convert the nation to a no-fault automobile insurance system, the bill's sponsor said today. Transportation Secretary Brock Adams endorsed the bill at a Senate Commerce Committee hearing this morning, when he told the Senate: "Accident victims deserve an insurance system that is certain, comprehensive, timely and fair. The current system does not meet these requirements. It also costs the courts with unnecessary litigation."

In 16 states where no-fault laws are in effect, he said, "No fault is compensating more victims, more completely, more quickly and more equitably for their economic losses than did the tort liability system, and with less reliance on the courts and legal system."

Cab firm asks to end service

By GREG PEARSON

The East Hartford-Manchester Cab Co. has applied for a suspension of its operating license with the State of Connecticut's Public Utilities Control Authority (P.U.C.A.). The suspension of operation by the cab company leaves the Town of Manchester with no in-town taxi service.

The company had been referring its calls to the Yellow Cab Co. of Hartford, Bob Langdon, manager of Yellow Cab, said. The East Hartford-Manchester Cab Co. phone number, however, is no longer in service.

Yellow Cab Co. does not have a license to provide service within Manchester, Langdon said. The firm is licensed to provide service from Manchester to other towns, but it cannot provide service from one spot in Manchester to another, Langdon said.

He said the company does have a license to provide service within East Hartford. A spokesman for the P.U.C.A. said East Hartford-Manchester Cab listed "financial difficulties" as its reason for requesting a suspension. She said that she had no indication whether the suspension would be temporary or permanent.

Vernon Police remind persons using Valley Falls Park that no cars are allowed in the park later than one hour after sundown. That is the time that the park is secured for the night and any cars there after that time will be towed at the owner's expense.

Manchester police report

Thomas B. Connelly, 27, of East Hartford, was arrested Thursday night in Center Springs Park in connection with driving a motor vehicle into the park past an entrance barrier. Police said Connelly drove a vehicle into the park, under a chain across the entrance. When told he would be issued a summons for operating a motor vehicle on park grounds, police said he refused to cooperate. Additional charges of disorderly conduct and refusal to be fingerprinted were made against Connelly. It is the first arrest since town officials put a ban on motor vehicles in the park Wednesday. The ban was placed after town officials received several complaints from neighborhood residents complaining of noise, traffic and vandalism in the park.

Area police report

South Windsor Steven Perdikakis, 25, of Hartford, was arrested Thursday on a Common Pleas Court warrant charging him with third-degree assault and breach of peace. An East Hartford boy reported to South Windsor Police Thursday that he was robbed of $14 by two youths. Police said the boy is a newspaper carrier and had gone to the 10-Pin Bowling Alley on Rt. 5 to change some coins into bills. He told police that when he came out two youths approached him and took the money. The matter is still under investigation. Tolland James F. Luce, 27, of Charter Rd., Tolland, reported to State Police Thursday night that he was forced off the road on Rt. 15 when another car passed him and cut in too soon. The other car did not stop. George D. Milward, 7, of 16 Cora Rd., Tolland, was rescued from Cranford Pond on Cedar Mill Rd. late Thursday afternoon. Police said he was taken to Rockville General Hospital, treated and released.

More power eyed for inspectors

By GREG PEARSON

The Town of Manchester is considering an increase in power for town inspectors that would permit them to issue tickets when violations are found. The final form of that streamlining has not yet been decided and will depend on guidance from the town council, he said.

Francis J. Conti, chief building inspector, and Ernest Macchelli, zoning enforcement officer, have written to Weiss in the past requesting that their powers be increased. They said that they do not have proper authority to solve a problem when a building or zoning violation is found. In a letter sent last October, the two wrote, "Without the granting of police power, the present stalemate of both the building inspector and zoning enforcement officer will become paper tigers."

A citizens group has also requested that the powers of such inspectors be increased. Weiss said that the ticket-issuing power, if granted, would also apply to housing code inspections, which are done by Health Department employees. The present process for stopping violations of town codes is a cumbersome one, according to all parties involved. "We're trying to streamline the process," Weiss said. The final form of that streamlining has not yet been decided and will depend on guidance from the town council, he said. He said, however, that the town expects to give the inspectors limited authority that would permit them to issue a ticket when a violation is found. The ticket would probably require a court appearance or payment of a fine. Weiss said that he expects some type of power-increase for inspectors to be implemented within 30 days. Town Counsel Victor I. Moses said that he will have to investigate what changes might be needed in town ordinances and state statutes before such a change is granted. Conti said that he does not department wants the power primarily to increase enforcement. He said that warnings would be issued before a ticket was written. "We're not interested in people being fined. We want people to comply with the code," he said. If someone failed to correct a problem after being warned, the ticket would then be issued, Conti said.

Day camp opens Monday

The 10th annual Manchester Interfaith Day Camp, sponsored by Manchester Area Conference of Churches (MACC) will begin Monday at Concordia Lutheran Church, Manchester. The two-week day camp is free. The campers include 20 second, third and fourth graders from the Revivalization Corps of Hartford and 40 children from Manchester, 20 from Squire Village and 20 from Nathan Hale school district. The children are selected upon recommendation from school and social workers. The daily schedule will include a snack, arts and crafts, music, hot lunch, sports, swimming and another snack. A day trip is planned to Gay City. The camp season will end with a carnival day complete with games, prizes, and pizza and coke for lunch. Because of the cost and distance, the Rocky Neck trip was canceled. The camp is dependent on donations from area churches, organizations and individuals because there is no charge to the camper. The approximate cost of running the camp is $25 per child for the two weeks. Because all members of the camp staff and counselors volunteer their time and the church provides its facilities without charge, the operating costs are held to a minimum. Hot lunches, bus rental and sports and arts and craft materials are the major expenses. Anyone wishing to sponsor a child may send donations to the Rev. David Rimas at Concordia Lutheran Church, Manchester. Homemade desserts are a special treat to the youngsters and many churches and groups have already agreed to bake, but more are needed. Members of the camp staff are the Rev. Mr. Rimas, director; Eileen Fairbrother, camp co-ordinator; Irene Goss, camp manager; Nancy Carr, executive director; Linda Haberman, head nurse; Anna Mae Potocki, Florence Parker and Gloria Kjelsson, assistant nurses; Nancy Von Hollen, finance manager; Dr. C.W. Wickersham will be camp doctor. Vicki Jennings will direct the arts and crafts program the first week. Members of the Junior Women's Club will donate snacks and provide kitchen help the first week and direct the second week's arts and crafts period. Volunteer counselors are needed to work with campers on a one-to-one basis. Anyone wishing to volunteer may contact Nancy Carr, 649-2093, Miss Fairbrother, 647-9941, or Ms. Goss, 649-4256.

The plaintiffs, a group of lake residents, had asked for temporary and permanent injunctions prohibiting the loud noise, controlling the conduct of the inn's customers when they leave the premises, and using $20,000 in damages.

Atty. Daniel Harris is representing the plaintiffs. He had no comment about the case.

The defendant, Richard Brown, representing the inn, said he had no comment for comment.

PBC opens bids for EHHS work

The Public Building Commission (PBC) opened bids on the East Hartford High School science wing renovations before its meeting Thursday night at the Town Hall.

The low bidders will not be announced by the PBC until the architect, I. Joseph Hirsch, reviews all the bids. He will also inspect bids for equipment to make sure it's what he specified.

Hirsch told the PBC he can finish the review in about a week. In that time, the PBC will study bids submitted by AcMat Corp. of East Hartford and Delta Builders & Developers of Manchester.

AcMat's base bid of $168,998 was lower than Delta's bid of $174,500. However, Delta's additional bid of $61,900 for air conditioning was lower than AcMat's bid of $75,757.

Both bids also included costs of vertical window blinds and exterior window trim.

Conco Industries of West Haven is the apparent low bidder on counters and cabinets, based on specifications. Conco offered wood counters and cabinets, with stone tops, for $122,000. A lower bid came in, but offered laminated plastic cabinets.

Several PBC members said they would like an opportunity to inspect the equipment. They asked the Conco representative, Ron Lambert, to provide samples with an explanation on how they would be built.

PBC member George Precourt asked Conco to also supply a list of former jobs, stating the schedules met.

The PBC's decision on the bids will be made after the review.

Town still has cabs despite firm's plans

By GREG PEARSON Herald Reporter

The East Hartford-Manchester Cab Co. has applied for a suspension of its operating license with the State of Connecticut's Public Utilities Control Authority (PUC). The firm is requesting a suspension because it has no indication whether the suspension would be temporary or permanent.

An attorney representing the firm could not be reached this morning. The PUCA spokesperson also said that no taxi companies have yet applied for a license to provide service within Manchester.

Langdon said his company has not decided whether to apply for a change in its license to provide service within Manchester. The firm is licensed to provide service from Cranford Pond on Cedar Mill Rd. late Thursday afternoon. Police said he was taken to Rockville General Hospital, treated and released.

George D. Milward, 7, of 16 Cora Rd., Tolland, was rescued from Cranford Pond on Cedar Mill Rd. late Thursday afternoon. Police said he was taken to Rockville General Hospital, treated and released.

Police said the arrest was the result of a complaint by a woman that Perdikakis struck her. He was released on a $500 non-surety bond for court appearance July 19.

An East Hartford boy reported to South Windsor Police Thursday that he was robbed of $14 by two youths.

Police said the boy is a newspaper carrier and had gone to the 10-Pin Bowling Alley on Rt. 5 to change some coins into bills. He told police that when he came out two youths approached him and took the money. The matter is still under investigation.

Defending World Team Tennis (WTT) champion New York Apries took first place in the Eastern Division for the first time this year last week. But the stay was short-lived as the Boston Lobsters, leaders through most of the campaign, regained the top spot.

Attendance all over the league is up. The percentage increase this year over last is 15 per cent with over 64,000 more fans attracted than a year ago in comparable playing dates.

One of the top features was on July 8 when the Phoenix Racquet met New York in Phoenix. A crowd of 9,517 was on hand to watch Chris Evert avenge her loss at Wimbledon to Virginia Wade with a 7-6 tiebreaker triumph. Evert topped the other Wimbledon finalist during the past week, Betty Stove of the Netherlands, by a 6-4 margin.

Evert was kept busy as in her first appearance ever in mixed doubles, she and Phoenix Coach Ross Case combined to end the eight match in streak of New York's Billie Jean King and Ray Ruffels.

The city of San Diego did itself proud last Saturday as it had a record-setting audience of 14,153 paid to view the WTT All-Star Classic. Wimbledon men's singles champs Bjorn Borg, playing for the Cleveland Nets in WTT, easily routed the Nastase and earned the male most valuable player award.

Through matches of last Sunday, Evert had the best record in women's singles with a 400 winning percentage, taking 18 and losing five matches. She has a total of

Court order will stop music at Bolton Lake

The playing of outdoor music and the use of amplifiers at the Alpha-Omega Inn on Bolton Lake must stop, at least until July 27.

Owners of the Alpha-Omega Inn appeared in Tolland County Superior Court Thursday to answer complaints by several Bolton Lake area residents.

The court reporter said the defendants were ordered to "cease and desist" playing music and having amplifiers outside the premises "until further orders of the court are forthcoming. The hearing was continued to July 27.

The plaintiffs, a group of lake residents, had asked for temporary and permanent injunctions prohibiting the loud noise, controlling the conduct of the inn's customers when they leave the premises, and $50,000 in damages.

Atty. Daniel Harris is representing the plaintiffs. He had no comment about the case.

Atty. Richard Brown, representing the defendant, could not be reached for comment.

Judgment entered

Judgment against the Negro Bros. owners of the inn property, firming up the timetable to get the septic system fixed, was entered in court Wednesday.

The court order was based on an agreement between Richard Webb, assistant attorney general, and Josiah Lesser, attorney for the Negro Bros.

Negro Bros. had been served an administrative order by the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) more than a year ago. Negro Bros. failed to comply with the order and the attorney general's office intervened.

Webb said the court order instructs that the engineering report be completed by June 30, contract plans and specifications completed by July 31, construction of a system started by Aug. 31, and the constructed system be in operation by Sept. 30.

An extension was given on the June 30 deadline to monitor use of water over the Fourth of July weekend. Webb said the other deadlines had not been extended.

All those concerned with the problem, including the attorney general's office, the DEP and the local sanitation, have said there is now an atmosphere of cooperation not seen in the past.

Most everyone is optimistic the longstanding problem will be solved.

South Windsor mulls use of old firehouse

Now that construction on the new firehouse headquarters on Ellington Rd. is well under way, South Windsor Town Council members will soon be faced with a new problem.

What do we do with the old firehouse No. 1?

The item is listed on the agenda for a July 25 town council work session. Town Manager Paul Talbot is expected to make recommendations then.

Town officials say numerous groups and organizations have come forth already, each hoping to gain claim to all or part of the building for their use.

Councilman Edward Havens said the American Legion and senior citizens have asked that the building be made available to them. The senior citizens now meet in the basement of St. Margaret Mary's Church.

Officials say the town recreation department has suggested the building be used for cold storage.

"Depending on what the building is finally used for, a great deal of restoration will probably have to be done," said Havens. "No decisions have been made

South Windsor mulls use of old firehouse

yet, but one thing is for sure—the building will not be torn down.

The old Firehouse No. 1 is the second structure to come before the long line of local groups and organizations which need a meeting place or storage facility.

The South Windsor Board of Education recently announced its intention to close the Wapping Elementary School after the 1977-78 school year. A diminishing elementary school enrollment is cited as the reason for closing the building.

Since the announcement—which stirred anger among many Wapping School parents—there has been much discussion about how the building may be used to serve the needs of the community.

Three years ago, the old Community House on Main St. burned down, leaving the town without a meeting place for a variety of organizations. Many citizens would like to see at least part of the Wapping School used for that purpose.

There was talk for some time of converting the school into a library. Those plans, however, are no longer necessary because $436,000 in federal money will be put toward a new library building.

Basketball clinic slated by Indian Valley YMCA

The Indian Valley YMCA will conduct a youth basketball clinic during the week of July 25 at the Vernon Center Middle School. Tim Forbes of Ellington will conduct the clinic.

Forbes was a runner-up on the Connecticut All-State Basketball team and recently broke freshman scoring records as a member of the Ithaca College Basketball team.

Coventry GOP making plans for elections

Coventry Town Councilman Leonard Giglio, Republican, announced this week that he will seek re-election this fall.

"There is a lot of unfinished business before the council," Giglio said, citing the five-year road improvement plan as an example.

Robert Kellier, Republican, said he would be retiring from the council when his term expires, having served six years on that agency. He said he was disturbed by the public abuse heaped upon town officials by some townpeople who will not volunteer to serve themselves.

Douglas Whipple also will seek a second term on the council and hopes to be renominated at the Republican caucus Aug. 2. Council Chairman Jesse Brainard plans to run again, and the fifth Republican member, Robert Olmstead, still has not reached a decision on whether to run.

Democrats plan to announce their candidates later this month. The Democratic caucus also is set Aug. 2.

Coventry

The Coventry Paddle, Prop and Sail Club will sponsor rowboat races tonight at 8 by the Henry Grabowski home. The event is open to members and friends of the club. Children may participate too. The club will sponsor a sailboat race Sunday at 1 p.m. at Coventry Lake. All sailboats are welcome.

Three will be a free blood pressure clinic Tuesday, July 19, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Hills Pharmacy, Main St., Coventry. The event is sponsored by the Coventry Public Health Nursing Association.

South Windsor

Raul E. Andagua of South Windsor has been reappointed, by Gov. Ella Grasso, to the Citizens' Advisory Committee on Social Services. The appointment was effective July 1 and is for a four-year term. Ralph C. Lasbury Jr., also of South Windsor, was reappointed to a six-year term on the Connecticut Marketing Authority.

Hebron

The Building Department reports seven permits issued for single family dwellings during June. The estimated cost of construction for the seven houses is $241,000. Two permits for additions and repairs were issued at a total value of $1,740. Miscellaneous permits—for five pools, a porch, chimney, greenhouse and two sheds—have a total estimated value of $10,850.

There is a part-time custodial position open at the Hebron Elementary School. Custodial duties are included as outlined in the school board's job description. Interested persons should contact Principal Paul White at the school.

Vernon

There will be a benefit softball game Sunday at 3 p.m. at Henry Park between Vernon National Bank and the New England Whalers. Donations will be accepted. Proceeds will go to the American Cancer Society and the station will be made in the name of the late Jim Doran.
