Heat wave creates host of problems

By United Press International
Fire fighters battled two major brush and grass fires in the West Sunday but firemen in Ohio turned their hoses on thousands of country music fans who flocked to "a redneck version of Woodstock."

Utah fire fighters battled a blaze in the tinder-dry Ashley National Forest that gutted 1,400 acres of sagebrush. But forest service officials said Sunday night that high winds had diminished and the fire was expected to be contained today. The blaze killed three men Saturday.

A volunteer firemen from St. Clairsville, Ohio, provided free showers for many of the 25,000 country music lovers who turned out in 90-degree heat to applaud such headliners as Johnny Cash, Barbara Mandrell and Tom T. Hall. At least 40 persons were treated for heat prostration and officials said 700 others were treated at a special medical tent.

One observer dubbed the outdoor festival "a redneck version of Woodstock."

Farmers and businessmen at Dawson, Ga. — about 20 miles from President Carter's hometown of Plains, Ga. — hired a rainmaker for $25,000 a month to seed clouds with silver iodide.

"I think we're getting some moisture," said Bobby Locke, a farmer-businessman. "It rained pretty hard in one area where we seeded today."

On the East Coast, stifling heat sent residents swarming to beaches for relief. More than 2 million people crowded New York area beaches to beat 97-degree temperatures. A citywide water alert remained in effect in New York because of dangerously low water pressure.

Police at Old Orchard Beach, Maine, said thousands of vacationing Canadians flocked to New England beaches during the weekend from their homes in Ontario and Quebec.

In Boston, fire officials installed tamper-proof caps on 140 fire hydrants to prevent attempts by city residents to use the hydrants to cool off.

The National Weather Service extended its air stagnation advisory for the District of Columbia, Virginia and Maryland for the third day. Baltimore reported an afternoon temperature of 100 and it reached 94 in the nation's capital, the 20th day in the last 22 in which temperatures reached at least 90 in the area.

The National Weather Service said temperatures also reached a record 96 at Rhode Island Sunday. At Russell, Kan., the afternoon reading reached 102.

The lingering July heat wave that has blistered most Americans also took it out on chickens — prematurely frying thousands in Maryland and Virginia. A spokesman for Perdue Inc., near Salisbury, Md., said about 30,000 roasters had died in the summer heat, cooped up in their crowded barns.

Beating the heat in Hebron

Shortfall is $350,000

Town tax collections total $15.5 million

By GREG PEARSON

Herald Reporter

Final figures for the 1976-77 fiscal year show that the Town of Manchester collected $15,599,506.34 in taxes, a shortfall of almost $350,000.

The report from Collector of Revenue James A. Turek includes all tax revenues collected during the fiscal year that ended June 30.

The Board of Directors, while preparing the 1976-77 budget, set a tax collection figure of $15,947,477. That estimate was based on collection of about 98.8 per cent of current taxes.

The final collection figure for the year falls $348,970.66 short of the board's estimate. Turek said that the final figure represents collection of 97.8 per cent of estimates.

Last year, the town collected $14,578,937.48 in taxes. That figure represented collection of 98.6 per cent of estimates Turek said.

The shortfall in tax collection will have to be made up in other areas if the 1976-77 budget is going to end up with a surplus.

Controller Thomas S. Moore said this morning, "We have exceeded revenues in other areas." He did not have an estimate on whether the budget would end with a surplus or a deficit. Some final revenue figures still have to be compiled before the final status of the 1976-77 budget is known, Moore said.

"We've been concerned right along," Moore said of the tax shortfall situation. He said, however, that the town has fallen short of tax revenue estimates for several years but has had other revenues to prevent a deficit. This is the largest tax-collection shortfall he could recall.

Budget Analyst Paula Yellman said that an $87,000 surplus account from 1976-77 that had been appropriated in the present year budget will probably have to be used to offset the tax collection deficit. The surplus account is an on-going one that is frequently continued from one year to the next.

Turek had predicted that the final collection figure would be $300,000-$320,000 less than the directors estimate. He said that the final figure was higher because of some revenues he had anticipated that did not come in during 1976-77.

He blamed the shortfall on two factors — the general economic climate during the past fiscal year, which included several bankruptcies by local businesses, and "unrealistic" estimates of tax collection by the Board of Directors.

The directors had estimated $15,665,477 in current-year collection. The town collected $15,411,428.17. For prior-year collection, the board estimated $210,000 in revenues, but the town collected only $108,058.58. The town did collect $79,019.59 in interest charges, a figure slightly higher than the board's estimate of $72,000.

Carter prepares for talks with new Israeli leader

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter, on the eve of a crucial round of meetings with Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin, is trying to make certain the talks go smoothly, according to officials on both sides.

Secretary of State Cyrus Vance was set to conduct a foreign policy briefing at the White House tonight for high-level staff members and their families, including the President and First Lady Rosalynn Carter.

Much of Carter's efforts for a Middle East peace settlement hinge on the talks with Begin, which begin Tuesday with a formal welcoming ceremony.

"Obviously, we want things to go smoothly," a White House official said. "It is important to come out of this with a sense of accomplishment."

Members of the Israeli delegation in Washington say the administration has made it clear through the advance ground work, that it is placing a special significance on the first meeting between Carter and Begin.

If the new Israeli government is to be convinced to go along with some of the concessions sought by the Arabs, Washington will have to prove that its support of the Jewish state will remain firm.

Some of that effort undoubtedly will be tied to discussions on U.S. arms sales and the extent to which the administration will help Israel build up its weapons' arsenal.

The President and his family returned to Washington Sunday night after spending the weekend at Camp David in the nearby Maryland mountains.

Begin to request a delay of Vance Mideast tour

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin will urge Secretary of State Cyrus Vance to delay his planned Middle East trip for a few weeks, until late August, State Department sources said today.

The sources said the timing of Vance's projected trip, originally scheduled for early in the month, will be one of the subjects for discussion during Begin's conversations with President Carter Tuesday. Begin arranged to fly to Washington from New York this afternoon.

Vance may have difficulty with the Israeli request because he plans to visit Peking at that time.

Both U.S. and Israeli officials say the discussions here are expected to be "very friendly conversations." One source said Begin will request an increase in U.S. military aid for Israel.

Begin, who led the conservative Likud party to upset victory in recent national elections, is now the key figure in Carter's effort to orchestrate an Arab-Israeli peace settlement. He also is the unknown quantity for Carter.

U.S. officials publicly challenged some of Begin's early policy declarations on occupied Arab territories, but in recent weeks the two leaders have been trying to patch things up with conciliatory statements in anticipation of the two-day Washington conference.

Begin flew to New York Friday, disclosing as he left Israel that he was "bearing concrete proposals for the peace-making process."

Israeli government sources said Begin may ask for $2 to $2.5 billion in military and economic aid in fiscal 1979 — compared to the $1.75 billion it will get in the 1978 fiscal year that begins this Oct. 1.

Israeli sources also said Begin will push for a reconvening of the Middle East peace conference with a projected opening date of Oct. 10.

Mt. Etna erupting

CATANIA, Sicily (UPI) — Lava from the erupting Mt. Etna reached 1.5 miles down the mountain's treeless slopes today but experts said it had yet to threaten the numerous nearby villages.

The eruption, which began Saturday and marked the most violent activity of Etna in 18 months, has provided a nighttime show similar to a fireworks display for the thousands of tourists in eastern Sicily.

Experts at the Catania Volcanology Institute said the lava flow from Etna's northeast crater was following cracks in the mountain side as it coursed slowly down to a level area known as the Valley of the Lion.

The lava has been accompanied by thick clouds of acrid black smoke that began pouring out of the crater seven days ago.

Four group operators in the Catania area have been taking groups up to Etna's main crater, currently quiet, to get a better look at the mist-shrouded northeast crater.

At 10,707 feet, Etna is Europe's tallest and most active volcano.

Its last full-scale eruption came in November 1975.

Carter says no to prosecutor for Korean influence scandal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter has "no plans" to appoint a special prosecutor to investigate charges of South Korean influence buying on Capitol Hill, despite fresh demands for an independent probe.

Returning to the White House from a weekend at the presidential retreat in Camp David, Md., Carter was asked whether he would appoint a special prosecutor to substitute for the ongoing investigation by the House Ethics Committee.

"I have no plans to," Carter said. Key Senate and House Republicans have called for appointment of a special prosecutor, as have 25 Democratic junior congressmen.

Pressure for an independent investigation follows the resignation of the committee's chief counsel, Philip Lacovara. A former member of the Watergate prosecutor's staff, Lacovara resigned from the Korean investigation Friday, saying Chairman John Flynt, D-Ga., was slowing the investigation.

Lacovara is in England vacationing.

In a report from England, ABC radio Sunday said it learned from an unnamed source close to the investigation that House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill and House Democratic Leader James Wright personally have "reason to be concerned" about the investigation of Korean influence-buying.

The network quoted its source as saying "it appears to be true" that O'Neill put pressure on the House

Ethics Committee to slow its probe of South Korean favors, contributions and gifts to congressmen over the last several years.

Flynt, O'Neill and Wright vehemently denied the report.

In Georgia, Flynt told ABC-TV news "neither the speaker nor the majority leader have ever at any time... put pressure on me about the conduct of this investigation."

"It's a damn lie," Wright told UPI. "This is an absolute and malicious lie."

"I have never interfered with the progress of the committee's investigation, either to speed it up or to slow it down," an aide quoted O'Neill as saying.

O'Neill has repeatedly told newsmen that he never took money from South Korean businessman Tonsung Park and that he may have attended "two or three parties that Park hosted." An aide said O'Neill reported these parties to the Ethics Committee.

The report came amid new disclosures by the Washington Post that federal investigators have turned up several "little black books" belonging to Park, a central figure in the alleged bribery scheme who also is in England. The books contained money figures alongside the names of former congressmen.

ABC reported it was Flynt's refusal to subpoena the black books from the Justice Department that led to Lacovara's resignation.

Film reviews crimes against elderly

By SUSAN VAUGHN Herald Reporter

"If it hasn't happened to you, don't think it can't," James McCooe, community relations officer of the Manchester Police Department, told 100 retired citizens after they viewed a film on common crime schemes geared at the elderly.

McCooe this week to the Hartford Film members of the Telephone Pioneers of America at the Manchester Country Club. The retired employees of Southern New England Telephone Co. are an active group of volunteers with about 400 members.

In the film, the seniors were advised to be on guard for "guiltibility, goodness and greed" in con artists schemes. They were told to never tell a stranger about their personal finances, especially over the phone; to watch out for greed, and not to share the quality of goodness with a thief.

Elderly persons are often the vulnerable targets of con artists. Incidents such as the bank scheme, and the charity switch have occurred in Manchester, McCooe said. Some incidents of very persistent "salespersons" were reported by elderly residents last week.

McCooe told the group that they do not have to let persons who come to their doors into their homes. "If it is a salesman, ask for identification," he said, "and make sure the screen door is always locked."

McCooe encouraged the citizens to call the police immediately in the event of any suspicious incident or amounts of cash, and using checks as often as possible.

When in the car, McCooe told the Pioneers, always keep the doors locked, never pick up a hitchhiker and use the horn when in trouble.

He also advised they close the garage door when they go out. He said burglars often watch for the absence of a car. He advised not to let strangers in the house to use the phone. "Make the call for them if they appear to be in trouble," he said.

McCooe also assured the seniors that 99 times out of 100 the burglar will leave once discovered.

When one man asked, "What do you do if the person confronts you with a gun and you have a gun handy?" McCooe says the law states that a person cannot shoot the burglar unless his life is in direct danger.

As part of his presentation, which he gives to many groups during the year, McCooe also has a display of locks, showing residents what to look for in added security equipment.

Theater marquee torn down

Persons driving or walking on Main St. this week may notice something missing. A familiar landmark, the old State Theater marquee, was torn down Saturday. Jim See of Coventry (foreground) and Tony Swider of South Windsor (back right) completed the project for the Griesse Custom Signs, Inc. The building is now used by the Full Gospel Interdenominational Church which will install a new sign on the new recessed front. (Herald photo by Dunn)

Meeting set for Wednesday on Illing gym water damage

Town officials, architects and contractors meet Wednesday to work out a solution for extensive water damage which occurred last winter at the new Illing Junior High School gymnasium. Ray Adler, general contractor for the additions and renovations to the school which were completed in March 1976, will present some possible solutions for correcting the problem, according to Paul Phillips, chairman of the town Building Committee.

Manchester police report

Three men were arrested early Sunday after police investigated reports of a disorderly group near 282 Tolland Tpke. Gregory A. Tilley, 18, of East Hartford, was arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct when he became belligerent and threatening to police officers who found two vehicles with six male passengers at the location. Police said two of the men, David P. Hogg, 17, and Eric Perznowski, 19, both of East Hartford, followed the police cruiser to police headquarters and entered the station where police said they became loud and abusive, in the lobby and out on the lawn. They were also arrested on charges of disorderly conduct. All three men were released on $100 non-surety bonds for court appearances Aug. 1.

Blood donors

FARMINGTON (UPI) — The Connecticut Red Cross collected 142 pints of blood at a special blood center set up Saturday because its supply of blood has dropped dramatically. About 80 pints was collected Friday, the first day of the special appeal. Two patients in New Haven needed 135 pints of Type O positive blood during surgery Thursday, 92 Laurel St. (Town) Sunday, 8:30 p.m. — Order of gas at 118D Ambassador Dr. (Town).

ZBA to hear order appeal

The Manchester Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA) will meet tonight at 7 o'clock to hear the case of Nicholas and Phyllis Jackson, who are appealing a stop-work order issued for construction activity at 72 Maple St. The Jacksons had received a building permit to build an addition at the Maple St. site. But, the addition has been found to be in violation of the town's zoning regulations. Because of this, Chief Building Inspector Francis J. Conti issued a stop-work order on June 13. The Jacksons have appealed the order, and that appeal will be heard tonight by the ZBA.

Strike may delay some local burials

Local funeral directors said today that they won't carry through with burials if it means crossing a picket line. The potential problem arose after 85 gravediggers, maintenance workers and laborers at 25 cemeteries in the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Hartford, including St. Bridget Cemetery and St. James Cemetery, went on strike Saturday. They are affiliated with the United Steelworkers of America. Henry Higgins, superintendent of St. James Cemetery, said he would dig the graves himself, if necessary, during the strike.

Glass works committee appointed

The committee of 15 members appointed to study the cost of maintenance of the Pitkin Glass Works will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Cheney Homestead on Hartford Rd. The first 10 members were appointed recently at a joint meeting of the executive board of the Orford Parish Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, owner of the glass works at Pitkin and Parker Sts., and the Manchester Historical Society. Five members were appointed from each group and their names have been announced.

Police investigate possible kidnapping

Manchester police detectives are investigating a report of a possible kidnapping of a 28-year-old man by burglars who forced their way into his Henry St. apartment Friday night. The report of the incident was made early Saturday morning by another resident of the apartment who stated that two men in their early 20's approached the victim as he was about to leave for the evening. They allegedly entered the apartment, dismantled several pieces of stereo recording equipment, looted

Area police report

Police said he created a disturbance at the home of his ex-wife, Carol Dimmock, 113 Terrace Dr., Rockville. He is to appear in court in Rockville Aug. 2. Tolland Marcia Rock, 22, of 16 Thompson St. Rockville, was admitted to Rockville General Hospital Sunday morning with injuries suffered in a three-car accident on Rt. 195 in Tolland. Ms. Rock was charged with reckless driving and is to appear in Common Pleas Court 19, Stafford, Aug. 1. Police said the Rock car, traveling north, swerved into the left lane and sideswiped the two other cars driven by Blaney A. Simmons of Hartford and Robert Owens of 130 Vernon Ave., Rockville. Carlene Owens, a passenger in the Owens car, was treated for a cut on the head and discharged. The Vidito car was chased into Ellington, along Rt. 83 and failed to negotiate a curve, went off the road and knocked down several guard posts, crossed a lawn on Rt. 83, overturned onto its roof and crashed into a car in the driveway before coming to a stop. The accident is being investigated by officers of Troop C, Stafford. Harold Dimmock, 37, of 124 Sandy Beach Rd., Ellington, was charged early Sunday with breach of peace.

Water tested today

Samples of water from Bolton Lake were to be taken today and sent to the state Department of Health and the Coe Laboratory in Storrs for testing. Calvin Hutchison, sanitarian, planned to take water samples from the area of the lake near the Alpha Omega Inn and various other locations. The water samples will be tested by the state. John Gorospe, inn manager, said he made arrangements with Dr. Benjamin Coszma, operator of Coe Lab, to take samples of lake water from the inn area for testing. The water tests take 18 hours. Water tested from the lake and well at the inn on June 30 was considered unsafe by the state Department of Health but no one seems to know why. The inn's well water was tested by the Coe Lab on July 12 and it tested perfectly. The lake water couldn't be tested because of the weather.

Joe D chewed out once by manager

NEW YORK (UPI) — Some of the players at the Mets' Old-Timers' reunion were talking about the problems the Yankees kept having and someone asked Joe DiMaggio whether he had ever been chewed out by a manager in his 13 active big league seasons.

"Only once," he said, flashing that old familiar Joe DiGrin he frequently displays when he starts telling a story to himself.

Second win for Carner

DUBLIN, Ohio (UPI) — JoAnne Carner didn't know how important the putt was that she made on the 17th hole Sunday.

Floyd banks $50,000 to join golf millionaires

SUTTON, Mass. (UPI) — Ray Floyd might have been looking for a new line of work this morning. Instead, he was banking a $50,000 check and loosening up for this week's Canadian Open.

Unlike many golfers who have wilted under the late charge of Jack Nicklaus, Floyd stayed cool to take a one-stroke victory over the Golden Bear and become pro-golf's 15th million-dollar money-winner.

Floyd increased the drama for the 34,450 spectators and a national television audience, by taking a double bogey on the par 4, 17th hole.

The modest sum pushed Boros over the $1 million mark in career earnings, making him the 14th pro ever to reach that figure.

Boros, battling hip and back injuries in the past year, plans to play as long as he is healthy.

Asked once if he contemplated retiring, the 1963 U.S. Open winner said, "Retire to what? I already play golf and fish for a living."

They got too much attention and you know how that works, it puts pressure on me," said Terry, an assistant golf pro at Latourrette, Staten Island, here in New York.

Nicklaus, for the second straight week, also shattered the tournament record. But for the second straight week, he was a bridesmaid.

"I would hope not to be negative with a one-shot lead on a birdie hole," said Floyd, whose career earnings soared to $1,011,000 with his $50,000 victory.

The par on the 18th hole gave Floyd a final round of 69 to go with rounds of 67-68-67 for a 271 total, 13 under par.

His four-round score was four strokes better than the best total in the previous 10 tournaments at the Pleasant Valley Country Club.

Julius Boros, still swinging well at age 57, also became a million-dollar money-winner by finishing at two-over-par 386.

Fred Marti, whose course record of 64 on Thursday lasted just two days, rallied from a second round 80 to finish tied for 66th place, with a four-over-par 288.

Julius Boros, still swinging well at age 57, also became a million-dollar money-winner by finishing at two-over-par 386.

Class A — Jan Leonard and Karen Parciak.

Spencer credits Zisk with surge of power

CHICAGO (UPI) — Jim Spencer credits teammate Richie Zisk's bat for his surge of power and Steve Stone credits ex-teammate Bill Bonham for telling him last year about a changeup that Stone put to use Sunday in a 3-2 White Sox victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Spencer hit his 14th homer, breaking a 2-2 tie in the sixth inning. He also doubled home a run in the second.

Zisk suggested that Spencer switch to the bigger bat from his normal 3½ ounce model.

He has big hands. He was yanking everything deep but foul and for a man his size I suggested the heavier bat," said Zisk, who leads the club with 19 home runs.

NEW YORK (UPI) — By the end of the summer, the Chicago Cubs may be cursing the day their late owner Phil Wrigley decided not to install lights at Wrigley Field.

The first-place Cubs wilted under the intense heat at Philadelphia this past weekend, dropping three of four games and losing the series to the Yankees.

Johncock second

CAMBRIDGE JUNCTION, Mich. (UPI) — Danny Onglick streaked away from Gordon Johncock when the green flag came back out for the final lap Sunday to be the surprise winner of the championship half of the season.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: We know a woman in her 60s who's been going with a man about her age for about 18 years. He has given her many very expensive gifts such as jewelry, a fur coat, a car, etc.

DEAR ABBY: I need an answer but I can't sign my name because if anybody ever found out about this it could cost my husband his job.

DEAR ABBY: I have two adopted children and when I introduce them I never say, "This is my ADOPTED daughter for son."

DEAR MOTHER: I'm with you. Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box No. 69700, L.A., Cal. 90069. Enclose stamped envelope, please.

Region's beaches jammed

By United Press International
New Englanders jammed beaches and lakes — some shedding clothing for relief from scorching temperatures — as a record-cracking weekend heat wave predicted to continue today gripped the region.

Connecticut forecasters issued a pollution alert for most of the state Sunday, and offered tips on beating the heat.

They include wearing light clothing, getting plenty of salt and water but not too much protein, slowing down to avoid shock, and avoiding sunburn.

At least two drownings were reported. Police said Robert Leonard, 16, of Dedham, Mass., drowned Saturday while swimming with friends at Buck Master Pond in Westwood, Mass. In Thomaston, Conn., Amy St. Amund, 4, of Bristol, Conn., drowned Sunday at the Northfield Dam while on a family outing.

Nearly 555,000 people crowded beaches along the Massachusetts shore from Newburyport to Cape Cod, officials said.

Police said he created a disturbance at the home of his ex-wife, Carol Dimmock, 113 Terrace Dr., Rockville, 112. He was charged Sunday with failure to drive in the proper lane. He was involved in a one-car accident on John Flitch Blvd.

Retirement center a wise investment

The campus of South Methodist Church is a good place for a retirement center and the Methodist group backing it is a good organization to build and operate a retirement center.

Moynihan backs New York

When he was ambassador to the United Nations, Daniel Patrick Moynihan minced no words when lecturing third world nations. He has retained his bluntness as a U.S. senator from New York.

Moynihan charges flatly that the federal government is responsible for the economic decline of New York, both the state and the city. He sees "a fundamental bias against New York" in the way the government collects and distributes its tax revenues.

Girl Scouts will be cutting a cake up on Gardner St. tomorrow.

Merrie-Wood is a day camp that has been serving Manchester Girl Scouts and Brownies during the summer for 30 years (except during the years of World War II).

The late Miss Marjorie Stephens was the first director of Camp Merrie-Wood. Other early leaders of the camp were the late Mrs. Esther Fickles and Miss Eveline Penland.

Logic dictates that some states, presumably the richer ones, have to be in this situation. They can't all receive back more, or even as much, as they contribute to the national wealth.

O'Neill puts on the squeeze

WASHINGTON (NEA) — House Speaker Tip O'Neill may be the administration's most valuable ally on Capitol Hill but President Carter is paying a stiff price for the speaker's help in steering his programs through Congress.

Not the first squeeze This is not the first time O'Neill has put the squeeze on Carter over a major appointment. Last winter, the speaker balked at the president's reneging on his decision to retain Republican Jack Eckerd as head of the General Services Administration.

McGarry tapped? Although no formal announcement had been made at this writing, administration sources report Carter will appoint John McGarry, a veteran staff aide on the House Administration Committee, to the $50,000-a-year FEC post.

McGarry was not the White House's first choice for the sensitive FEC job. Carter's personal advisors and political aides had strongly supported the candidacy of Susan King, 37, the top staff aide to FEC Chairman Thomas E. Harris.

HARTFORD (UPI) — Connecticut has joined 28 other states who say they will drop their suits against the General Motors Corp. if the giant automaker agrees to compensate customers who got Chevrolet engines in their new Oldsmobiles, Pontiacs and Buicks.

The 37 states sued GM last spring, claiming the company deceived about 120,000 customers who bought their cars when they were getting the more powerful, eight-cylinder "Rocket 88" engine. An estimated 1,500 Connecticut consumers purchased the so-called Chevymobiles.

Heat wave creates host of problems

By United Press International. Fire fighters battled two major brush and grass fires in the West Sunday but firemen in Ohio turned their hoses on thousands of curious music fans who flocked to a redneck version of Woodstock.

Millions also crowded East Coast beaches to escape the lingering heat wave and farmers in drought-stricken Georgia hired a rainmaker to try to save dying peanut and soybean crops.

High fire fighters battled a blaze in the tinder-dry Ashley National Forest that gutted 1,400 acres of sagebrush. But forest service officials said Sunday night that high winds had diminished and the fire was expected to be contained today.

The blaze killed three men Saturday. Some 300 firemen fought a major effort near Missoula, Mont., that forced the evacuation of 250 persons and destroyed five homes. The fire scoured more than 2,000 acres and Gov. Thomas Judge declared it a disaster area, warning residents not to return to their homes until the flames were brought under control.

A volunteer fireman from St. Clairsville, Ohio, provided free showers for many of the 25,000 country music lovers who turned out in 90-degree heat to applaud such headliners as Johnny Cash, Barbara Mandrell and Tom T. Hall. At least 400 persons were treated for heat prostration and officials said 700 others were treated at a special medical tent.

One observer dubbed the outdoor festival "a redneck version of Woodstock." Farmers and businessmen at Dawson, Ga. — about 20 miles from President Carter's hometown of Plains, Ga. — hired a rainmaker for $25,000 a month to seed clouds with silver iodide.

Shortfall is $350,000

Town tax collections total $15.5 million

By GREG REAPOR. Final figures for the 1976-77 fiscal year show that the Town of Manchester collected $15,508,506.34 in taxes, a shortfall of almost $350,000.

The report from Collector of Revenue James A. Turk includes all tax revenues, collected during the fiscal year that ended June 30.

The Board of Directors, while preparing the 1976-77 budget, set a tax collection figure of $15,947,477. That estimate was based on collection of about 88 per cent of current taxes.

The final collection figure for the year falls $348,970.66 short of the board's estimate. Turk said that the final figures represent a collection of 97.8 per cent of estimates.

Last year, the town collected $14,578,537.48 in taxes. That figure represented a collection of 96.6 per cent of estimates, Turk said.

The shortfall in tax collection will have to be made up in other areas if the 1976-77 budget is going to end up with a surplus.

Carter prepares for talks with new Israeli leader

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Carter, on the eve of a crucial round of meetings with Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin, is trying to make certain the talks go smoothly, according to officials on both sides.

Much of Carter's efforts for a Middle East peace settlement hinge on the talks with Begin, which begin Tuesday with a formal welcoming ceremony.

"Obviously, we want things to go smoothly," a White House official said. "It is important to come out of this with a sense of accomplishment."

Members of the Israeli delegation in Washington say the administration has made it clear through the advance ground work, that it is placing a special significance on the first meeting between Carter and Begin.

If the new Israeli government is to be convinced to go along with some of the concessions sought by the Arabs, Washington will have to prove that its support of the Jewish state will remain firm.

Some of that effort undoubtedly will be tied to discussions on U.S. arms sales and the extent to which the administration will help Israel build up its weapons arsenal.

Mt. Etna erupting

CATANIA, Sicily (UPI)— Lava from the erupting Mt. Etna reached 1.5 miles down the mountain's treeless slopes today but experts said it had yet to threaten the numerous nearby villages.

The eruption, which began Saturday and marked the most violent activity of Etna in 18 months, has provided a nighttime show similar to a fireworks display for the thousands of tourists in eastern Sicily.

Experts at the Catania Volcanology Institute said the lava flow from Etna's northeast crater was following cracks in the mountain side as it coursed slowly down to a level area known as the Valley of the Lion.

The lava has been accompanied by thick clouds of acrid black smoke that began pouring out of the crater seven days ago.

Four group operators in the Catania area have been taking groups up to Etna's main crater, currently quiet, to get a better look at the mist-shrouded northeast crater.

At 10,700 feet, Etna is Europe's tallest and most active volcano. Its last full-scale eruption came in November 1975.

Carter says no to prosecutor for Korean influence scandal

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Carter has "no plans" to appoint a special prosecutor to investigate charges of South Korean influence buying on Capitol Hill, despite fresh demands for an independent probe.

Returning to the White House from a weekend at the presidential retreat in Camp David, Md., Carter was asked whether he would appoint a special prosecutor to substitute for the ongoing investigation by the House Ethics Committee.

"I have no plans to," Carter said. Key Senate and House Republicans have called for appointment of a special prosecutor, as have 25 Democratic junior congressmen.

Pressure for an independent investigation follows the resignation of the committee's chief counsel, Philip Lacovara. A former member of the Watergate prosecutor's staff, Lacovara resigned from the Korean investigation Friday, saying Chairman John P. O'Neill was slowing the investigation.

Lacovara is in England in a report from England, ABC radio Sunday said it learned from an unnamed source close to the investigation that House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill and House Democratic Leader James Wright personally have "reason to be concerned" about the investigation of Korean influence-buying.

The network quoted its source as saying "it appears to be true" that O'Neill put pressure on the House Ethics Committee to slow its probe of South Korean figures, contributions and gifts to congressmen over the last several years.

Dead soldiers begin long journey home

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI)— Hundreds of travelers waiting for flights at the airport silently watched the brief memorial services, which included a 21-gun salute by a seven-member military rifle squad and the playing of Taps by a bugler.

On hand for a 15-minute memorial service were about 200 U.S. and South Korean officials, including U.S. Ambassador Richard Schneider, South Korean army Chief of Staff Gen. Lee Saeho and Mrs. Glenn Swanne, the wife of the lone survivor of the helicopter incident.

The dead were CWJ Joseph A. Miles, 26, of Washington, Ind., the pilot; Ronald E. Wells, 22, of El Paso, Tex., the crew chief, and Sgt. Robert C. Hayes, 28, of Dodge City, Kan.

The sole survivor of the shooting incident was the copilot, CWO Joseph M. Schwane, 28, of Spring Green, Wis., who today was reported in good condition at a U.S. Army hospital camp near the demilitarized zone.

The helicopter was shot down by North Korean ground fire after it strayed over Communist air space, apparently due to a navigational error.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: In Joan Crawford's obituary it noted that she had four adopted children. Why not that she had four children? When Karen Quinlan was in the paper so often, why was she always referred to as "the adopted child of the Quinlans?" Why is it necessary for the general public to know something so personal? It should be the business of the families concerned and no one else.
