neighborhood," Kwash said. Joseph Swenson Sr. said, "I agree with Leo. I'm thinking of the poor people in the area with their Double A homes."

Ted Brindamour, however, said that he felt the drainage proposal was a safe one. He said that the ponds would help solve a drainage problem for the upstream area.

Brindamour moved that the subdivision plan, which proposed 79 houses on 20 acres with the other ten acres transferred to the town as open space, be approved. PZC Chairman Alfred Sieffert seconded the motion.

Brindamour and Sieffert voted for the motion. William Bayer joined Kwash and Swenson in opposing the motion.

Atty. David Call, who had made the presentation at the public hearing for the opposing neighbors, said this morning, "We are pleased. We think it was the correct decision." Call is a resident of Thayer Rd., which is near the Lent Farm tract.

"I'm glad it turned out the way it did. I think the strenuous neighborhood opposition was important," he said.

Both Stone and Goldberg said that they preferred not to comment on the PZC decision. The developers could appeal the decision in court, submit an application for a regular Residence AA Zone at the site, or drop the plan.

In other matters, the PZC approved improvements at Nathan

Other opponents echoed the remarks made by Call.

Frank Lupien of 21 Sunset Dr. called the proposal "another slick way to bring about spot zoning."

Roger Zakliskiewicz of 154 Carriage Dr. said, "There are plenty of places for housing for the elderly to be built. You people have no right to come in here and give away the value of our property that we have worked hard for."

Five others spoke against the proposed plan. The PZC took no action on the matter. It meets again on Sept. 12.

Another public hearing item Monday night was for a proposed 12-lot industrial subdivision for an 18-acre parcel of Parker St. The site is just north of Best St.

Three speakers — Zakhukiewicz, B.D. Pearl and Roy Hagedorn — questioned the effect the development would have on a brook that runs through the site.

The PZC also heard a proposal for a zone change for property at 56 and 60 Oakland St. Samuel Churches, who owns an auto dealership at 80 Oakland St., is seeking the change to Business II to permit expansion of his business.

Churches told the PZC that one or both of the houses at 56 and 60 Oakland St. might have to be removed to permit the expansion.

Hagedorn also spoke against this proposed change. He said that there are traffic problems in the area and that one of the houses — the one at 60 Oakland St. — is a landmark.

The other public hearing conducted by the PZC was an application from Hockman Valley Associates, which is seeking to change the zoning regulations so that sidewalks and curbs can be deferred for developers.

South Methodist Property Interest Committee, made the major presentation against the proposed change.

"These changes will severely weaken zoning in Manchester by permitting high-rise apartments in almost every zone in town," Call said. He also said that the proposed regulation lacks necessary protection for residential areas and that such housing would drop property values.

He presented a petition signed by 170 persons who opposed the change.

A quiet death

After years of dealing with politicians, especially during political campaigns, we have become a bit inured to the double standards they so conveniently embrace. During a campaign, every charge demands an instant rebuttal; and if none is forthcoming, the implication is quickly made that the allegation was true, otherwise, it would have been answered. One of the charges raised in the last campaign, made by Secretary of State Gloria Schaffer, a Democrat seeking the Senate seat held by Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., was that the Mobil Oil Corp., in its advertising in several magazines, was adversely affecting her candidacy. She lodged a complaint against Mobil with the Federal Election Commission and made some headlines by picketing Mobil headquarters in New York City. Mobil contended the advertising was not directed against any candidate but a point of view concerning the oil business which coincidentally was more shared by Sen. Weicker than by Mrs. Schaffer. The upshot was that Mrs. Schaffer got a lot of political mileage out of attacking a giant corporation for meddling in politics which is rather common tactic in American populist politics. After she had been thoroughly beaten, to no one's surprise, the issue was quietly dropped. So quietly, in fact, the Mobil Corp. did not find out until early June that on March 2, 1977 the Federal Elections Com-

Howard Hughes' body lies a-moldering in his grave, but his mess goes stumbling on. Legal forums in four states are still trying to piece together the tangled strands of the late industrialist's farflung financial empire. Latest mystery is what happened to an estimated $250 million to $300 million out of $600 million in liquid assets Hughes disposed of in his last years, when he not only isolated himself from the world and reality but from most of his associates. Only about half the $600 million can be accounted for by his investments in hotels, casinos, an airline and various loans. Someday the legal profession ought to erect a monument to Howard Hughes in recognition of the steady employment he provided so many lawyers, even in death.

The eagles have regular watch towers from which they keep a constant vigil. When the thunder peals and the lightning flashes the eagle gets ready for a flight, and amidst the rolling thunder and the gathering shadows she bares her breast and flies right into the storm. And the same winds that bring the storm upon the earth lift the eagle above the storm where she bathes and basks in the pure sunlight until the storm is over. But when the storm has subsided she returns to her dwelling home here below. Such is the picture of the coming of the Lord for His Bride in the Resurrection. Did you hear about the big manhunt last week? It seems a bunch of the guys were looking for the New England character who always popped off last winter with the colloquialism, "If you don't like the weather, stick around a minute, it will change." Last week that change was slower than molasses in January in coming. We think hot weather is more frustrating than cold weather - after all we weren't planning on cookouts, golfing, fishing or swimming in January. The question now is: Did Mrs. Schaffer know of the decision early in March? If she did, wasn't she remiss in not admitting she was wrong? If she did not, should we be asking some questions about the FEC? If the ruling had been against a Republican candidate, would it have softened the ruling? If the ruling had been against Mobil, would it have been kept from Mobil and the public until early June? No, we are not satisfied with the conduct of Mrs. Schaffer and the Federal Election Commission in this matter. We think fair play dictates the outcome of an inquiry into any allegation should be made promptly and publicly communicated to the accused and the accuser. Of course there is a nagging thought which we had at the time the charge was made. Mrs. Schaffer was desperate and needed a gimmick. Perhaps, the FEC had more serious and more legitimate complaints to devote its time to rather than hers, thus the delay. As it now stands, the grandstands play may have gained Mrs. Schaffer a few votes. But, fortunately, in this case, it did not alter the election outcome. If it had, we would have had the sorry situation of "dirty trick" politics paying off.

WASHINGTON - C.P. Snow, who helped build England's World War II atom bomb establishment and then turned novelist, describes a fictional wartime conference in his book, "The New Men." Writes Snow: "The Minister came in, carrying a coal-scuttle, on his hand a grimy cloth glove. He knelt by the grate, picked out lumps of coal and built up the fire." Those two lines are frequently plucked from memory when I consider professionally the lives of business luxury enjoyed by our government lords, from Cabinet members through federal bureaucrats down to the local mayor. The thought of an American official at the Minister's level working in an office heated only by a fireplace and tending the fire personally is so far-fetched as to be untenable. FBI 'old boys' vs. reformer

By Martha Angle and Robert Walters

WASHINGTON - (NEA) - A behind-the-scenes power struggle involving two senior officials of the Federal Bureau of Investigation has emerged as a major element in President Carter's politically sensitive search for a new FBI director. The central figures in the heated feud are both among the finalists in the competition for the job of leading the bureau: John A. Mintz, the FBI's general counsel for the past three years, and Neil John Welch, a veteran of 26 years of FBI service and currently special agent in charge of its Philadelphia field office. Welch's name was one of five forwarded to Carter for the final winnowing process by the nine-member selection committee appointed by the President earlier in the year to screen all candidates for the position. Not on list Mintz, 41, was not on the official list of five finalists submitted to the White House, but he reportedly was the favorite of businessman Irving S. Shapiro, chairman of the screening committee; Mary C. Lawton, the Justice Department official in charge of providing staff support to the selection committee, and Clarence M. Kelley, the outgoing FBI director. Even more important, in the weeks since the committee made public its recommendations, Mintz has emerged as the candidate of many winter's furries by corying up to the fireplace. But the real agony of hot weather is that our wish that it will go away will be realized eventually by January if not sooner. And of all the advice offered on how to cope with the heat, there is only one that we know of that was 100 per cent accepted and only about 25 per cent effective. That was when the boss said, "It's too hot to work, let's all go home." But despite the heat, Congress continues to investigate itself. Strangely enough, one committee counsel quit the job because he couldn't generate enough heat on Congress to get the probe into the Korean influence-buying scandal moving. Congress with its usual puzzling logic denied any efforts to keep its linen from being aired in public and hired Leon Jaworski who was promised a free hand. If Jaworski performs as he did in the Watergate investigation, Congress may wind up without any rug to sweep its scandals under in the future. We hope so. Of course the real reason Congress didn't push for a special prosecutor appointed by President Carter is that it would lose control of the probe and disclaimers to the contrary, the fact remains that although Jaworski may have a free rein to conduct his investigation, the Congress, not the courts, will decide what action to take. No siree, the whitewash brush has not been retired - yet. Sometimes Uncle Julius thinks there should be more congressmen engaged in investigating this and that or what have you. That way they are too busy to legislate and he thinks we now have more laws than we know what to do with. He could be right. Recently one Congressman complained about two colleagues who produced several sets of faked identification papers to make the point that instant voter registration at polls is fraught with danger. He angrily accused them of breaking a law that hadn't been passed yet. With their eyes to possible future crimes, is it any wonder that Congress is less than enthusiastic about finding out if any of its august members have done any hanky-panky in the past? Corpach special. This is especially true in warm weather. Most middle-aged people would be happier if they had a little less weight to throw around.

design. It seems the Authority has decided most of its present furniture is "inappropriate" for use in the new headquarters. James J. Corbalis Jr., engineer-director of the Authority, noted that "We've been in business for 20 years and some of the equipment is pretty ragged." He said (oh, that bureaucrats!) that equipment and furniture would be transferred from the Authority's present quarters "to the extent that functional use, condition and office decor" allow. Does wear out Well now. As any housewife can affirm, furniture does wear out. Even filing cabinets untouched by childish hands show the wear and tear of time. But 12,000 claims for a water fountain when every public official above the rank of janitor is urging us to conserve water? Jimmy Carter keeps telling us, in effect, to stop eating so well. So the Fairfax Water Authority is spending $10,000 on house plants. I like house plants. They even look nice in the office of some 13th deputy assistant director of the sewer department.

Not a cultural center Five thousand big ones for "art works." What have we got over there at the Authority, a bunch of Rembrandt and Andy Warhol fans? I like Picasso and Wyeth, but neither has ever inspired me to knock out a column on thieving politicians. The Authority is in the water-selling business; it is not charged with operating a cultural center. Calling that $300,000 budget "a brazen waste of public monies," Fairfax County Supervisor Audrey Moore cried: "It boggles the mind." It boggles the pocketbook, too. And is another reminder that despite all that talk about "the world's greatest country," Americans aren't yet secure enough - as Snow's Minister was - to use an office simply and exclusively to work in.

Moreover, if Carter is determined to reform the bureau, an FBI veteran familiar with the FBI's personal files, policies and politics would stand a far better chance than an outsider of bringing about the needed major overhaul. Welch and Lucas, an FBI special agent in the mid-1960s, were the only two men on the list of five finalists with bureau experience. But Lucas is black - a major liability within the politically conservative FBI "establishment" dominated by white males. Welch distrusted Welch, 51, is white, but he is distrusted within the FBI hierarchy because of his contempt for the widespread counter-intelligence program (Contipro), aimed at real and imagined political dissidents and the "black bag jobs" (unauthorized break-ins) which have so badly tarnished the FBI's image. Instead, Welch has emphasized a "quality case" program which focuses on investigation of organized crime, white collar crime and corruption in government, labor and business. That's precisely the direction in which the entire FBI ought to be heading. But the "good old boys" within the bureau view the prospect of a savvy reformer in the director's office as a very real threat to their hegemony. Even before the White House made

By United Press International Today is Wednesday, July 27, the 208th day of 1977 with 157 to follow. The moon is moving from its first quarter toward full. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury and Saturn. Those born on this date are under the sign of Leo. $100 bills clog toilets

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (UPI) - Police in this quiet steel town don't quite know what to do about $100 bills clogging up the toilets. At least two Bethlehem hotels have become stuffed up with stacks of torn $100 bills, which are neither counterfeit nor traceable to any recent local robbery, according to federal and local officials.

An investigation into the matter began Sunday after a plumber stated to unclog a toilet at a service station, uncovered more than $3,000 in torn $100 bills stuffed in the toilet pipes.

On Tuesday it was revealed that a cleaning woman had found more torn $100 bills in the pipes of a restaurant toilet.

Employees at the Bethlehem Sewage Treatment plant found four complete $100 bills and nine torn bills Tuesday morning.

So far about $4,400 in bills have been recovered and officials said as long as they contain complete serial numbers, the banks will accept them.

"We had a similar situation like this two years ago in Tower City," one FBI agent said. "A little boy got mad at his uncle, took his money, tore it up and flushed it down the toilet."

"That had people fishing in the sewer system," he said.

Six resignations accepted but only two posts vacant

The Manchester Board of Education Monday night accepted six resignations from the professional staff, however, only two vacancies will result, according to Wilson E. Deakin, assistant superintendent in charge of personnel. All the other positions will be filled from present staff and teachers currently on leave, Deakin said. The resignations include two for retirement purposes, Robert M. Johns, elementary instrumental music teacher since 1946 and Mrs. Roberta H. Walnum, Grade 5 teacher at Robertson School. She has taught in the Manchester system since 1963. Johns' resignation was accepted with special recognition of his long years of service. The resignation of Davis E. Wiggins, director of athletics for the schools and physical education teacher since 1965, was accepted. The other resignations include Mrs. Mary Ann Box, Spanish teacher at Bennet Junior High School for five years; Mrs. Karen Howell, Grade 2 teacher at Bentley School since 1967, and Mrs. Ceila D. Robbins, guidance counselor at Bennet Junior High for three years. The board also rescinded action taken in February on the contracts of Virginia D. Barry and Laura R. Boutlier. The teachers were among 17 who received nonrenewal notices because of budget cuts and declining enrollments. All but one of the 17 teachers has been reinstated, Deakin said, in either comparable teaching positions, temporary positions or non-teaching positions. Appointments made Monday night included Mrs. Nancy M. Fairbanks, elementary school social worker for a one-year appointment, Miss Niki C. Harris, part-time teacher at the Regional Occupational Training Center, and Mrs. Wilda R. Wyse, school psychologist. The social worker and psychologist positions will be part time for the first semester and full time the second semester. The positions were included in a temporary freeze on part of the 1977-78 school budget inacted by the school board in June. The action was taken because of allegations by the U.S. Department of Labor stating that the board had discriminated against eight female employees and would have to give the employees back pay and pay raises. The matter is in the hands of the board's counsel.

Let's Immunize Our Kids

struck by childhood diseases every year. The risk of neglecting vaccination is greater than you may realize. Outbreaks of measles have been on the rise in recent years, and more than 20,000 kids come down with the disease annually. Most of them recover completely within a week or two. But some become afflicted with mental retardation, convulsive disorders, and blindness. Polio is less common but much more dangerous, paralyzing or killing a high percentage of its victims. Mumps remains a leading cause of deafness in children. Rubella, or German measles, when carried from children to pregnant women, is a common cause of stillbirth and birth abnormalities. Diptheria, tetanus, and whooping cough are diseases that many of today's parents are too young to remember. Yet still they take their toll among children. The diseases are preventable. Safe and effective vaccines exist for all of them. Check with your doctor. Make sure your children have been fully vaccinated. The rocketing cost of health care troubles most Americans. The best way to control such costs is to prevent disease. Vaccination is the surest prevention for kids.

Here's an unsettling fact: Of the 52-million American children under 15 years of age, about 20 million of them aren't properly immunized against polio, measles, German measles, tetanus, diptheria, mumps, and whooping cough. A combination of negligence, misunderstanding, apathy, and oversight has brought vaccination rates from 85% in the early 1960s to 60%-65% of the eligible youngsters today. We as a nation have the vaccines, the public and private health-care resources, and the know-how to immunize our children. Yet we're not doing it adequately. The number of unprotected children is growing. More than 100,000 are

GLORIA STEVENS HAS BECOME A WAY OF LIFE FOR ME...

I never took off those extra pounds and inches since the birth of my last child, which was seven years ago. Then I started putting on more weight during the last year. I decided to do something about it and that is when I joined Gloria Stevens. I'm certainly much happier with myself now that I've lost 10 lbs. and 16". I never could have done it without the help of the technicians. Also the freedom at Gloria Stevens allowing us to come in at our convenience works out just great too. Frequently, I stop in to do my exercises on my way to or from something else. To top it off, I feel great too — lots more energy than I've had in years.

Vernon will appropriate $500 for algae control

The Town of Vernon will appropriate not more than $500 to assist in the control of algae on Bolton Lake.
 Stanley Pac, commissioner of environmental protection, told Mayor Thomas Benoit that it would cost about $80 for chemicals to treat the 114.9 acres of Middle Bolton Lake and about $200 for the 178.4 acres of Lower Bolton Lake.
 The work of spreading the chemicals would mean three boats, with two men per boat, would be needed for four hours each for the Middle Lake and five boats, two men per boat, four hours each, for the lower lake.
 Pac said the most serious and persistent problem on the lakes revolves around weed growth and algae blooms. He said the algae problem has been there a long time and because of increasing development around the lake areas, seems to be worsening.
 Under the state's algae reimbursement program the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) can reimburse towns and any lake authorities for a copper sulphate treatment of water bodies. Pac said, however, that strangely the legislature has never provided the DEP with funds to treat state-owned lakes.
 Pac is hopeful that the towns of Bolton and Vernon will cooperate in this project and will apply for reimbursement which would be, at best, about 70 per cent of what the towns will spend.
 Pac said his estimated costs could be reduced if town personnel is used for the work.

Football registration set Thursday and Friday

Vernon
 Initial registration for the coming football season will be at Legion Field Thursday and Friday, July 28 and 29, between 7 and 7:30 p.m.
 The announcement was made by Frank J. McKay, president of the Vernon Midget Football League.
 All boys interested should be at the field with a parent or guardian for registration.
 The Vernon Midget Football League consists of two major teams, the Vernon Shamrocks and the Vernon Pioneers, both of which play in the William Skoneski Midget Football Conference. The Vernon League also has a "C" Team known as the Apaches which is primarily for the younger or smaller boys and allows them to go through an instructional period along with several games.
 A boy must have been 8 years old on or before Jan. 1, 1977. A boy can play until he is 11, but cannot turn 14 before Nov. 1 of the playing year - Nov. 1, 1977.
 The league will ask $3 for each boy or $5 for a number of boys in a family to partially cover insurance.

Aillon counsel moves to get a new trial

NEW HAVEN (UPI)—Defense attorneys have started efforts to free on bond Guillermo Aillon, whose 1973 murder conviction was overturned by the Connecticut Supreme Court.
 Meanwhile, State's Attorney Arnold Markle said Tuesday he will ask the high court to reconsider its decision ordering a new trial for the Bolivian native who was convicted of stabbing to death his estranged wife and her parents.
 Aillon's attorney, Howard A. Jacobs, said he hoped a hearing on the motion to seek a new trial would be heard soon. But the state is also expected to ask the high court to re-examine its decision.
 Markle, who prosecuted Aillon, said if the Supreme Court rejects his bid for reconsideration, he will be ready to begin a new trial by September.
 Aillon, a former anti-poverty worker, has been incarcerated since he was arrested on Aug. 18, 1972, a few days after the bodies were found.
 He was sentenced to life imprisonment for the slaying of his estranged wife, Barbara, 26, and her parents, George Montano, 49, and his wife, Bernice, 46, in North Haven.
 The Supreme Court ruled Monday that the Superior Court trial judge, Simon S. Cohen, had an "improper" conversation with a juror, without the knowledge of the defense, that intruded on the constitutional rights of the accused.
 The high court said Cohen spoke briefly with woman juror who had sent him a note "with regard to a personal matter."
 Cohen has come under fire for his actions last week in overturning a jury's guilty verdict and setting free former Connecticut legislative leader Bernard Avocelle, accused of strangling his wife.

Summer fun in the sun

Temperatures ranging in the high 90s didn't phase those would-be Bob Cousys when Verplanck and Valley St. Playgrounds competed in the all-playground summer basketball tournament held last week at Robertson Park courts. Social Security

Q. I'm 67 and have been trying to get along on a small monthly Social Security check. I thought I might be able to get Supplemental Security Income (SSI) payments but my neighbor told me I can't apply unless I'm blind or disabled. Is that right?

A. No, that's not correct. SSI payments are for needy people 65 and over, or needy people of any age who are blind or disabled. If you think you may be eligible for these SSI checks, you should get in touch with any Social Security office as soon as possible. Someone there will be glad to give you more information and help you with your application.

Q. I'll be 62 in a couple of months and even though I'm not going to retire then, I plan to apply for Medicare. Do I have to pass a medical examination before I can get Medicare protection?

A. No, you are not required to take a medical exam to get Medicare insurance. You should get in touch with your Social Security office two to three months before you turn 65, so that Medicare protection will start at 65.

Archbishop Sheen underwent surgery

NEW YORK (UPI) — Archbishop Fulton J. Sheen, the witty television preacher whose "Life is Worth Living" series was beamed into millions of American homes in the 1950s, underwent open heart surgery earlier this month. Dr. Michael Bruno, the retired Catholic prelate's personal physician, said Tuesday Sheen's operation was performed July 15 at Lenox Hill Hospital as a "matter of urgent necessity. It was done as a life-saving measure," Bruno said Sheen was "doing well," but was "not out of danger." "He is doing well, considering the circumstances — in particular, his age being 82," Dr. Bruno said. Sheen was admitted to the hospital on July 5. The hospital spokesman said he had not suffered a heart attack prior to his admission.

Dental clinic

Board of Health, to open the clinic within a year is a feasible one.

"The background work has all been done. The pieces should start falling together," she said.

The next step will be to attempt to find funds to hire a grantmaker. The position would be created to have one person in charge of applying for funds to support the clinic.

Gallacher also said that he will present a budget for the clinic at the next dental clinic committee meeting on Sept. 20.

The committee also discussed what the HSA reaction might be to the proposal. Some felt that the organization might require the clinic to be set up on a regional basis to service several towns.

Gallacher said he felt the HSA would be receptive to the idea, especially since it knows the need for dental care.

"If we're willing to take the initiative, I don't think HSA is going to want to scratch the program to the ground," he said.

Expansion to service other communities could take place after the program is under way, he said.

Error delays liquor probe

HARTFORD (UPI) — The much-publicized investigation of Connecticut's liquor industry is ready to begin, but apparently will be delayed because legislative leaders forgot to do the necessary paperwork.

The Legislative Management Committee at its meeting Tuesday neglected to approve $38,000 to pay for the probe by a special committee of lawmakers.

Until it does, it appears the Liquor Price-Fixing Investigation Commission cannot begin work.

The Senate President Pro Tem Joseph Faillio, D-Hartford, who chaired the Legislative Management Committee meeting, said he understood his panel, made up of legislative leaders from both parties, did not have to act

Vance bluntly critical of Israeli settlements

By JIM ANDERSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Cyrus Vance was bluntly critical of Israel for creating "an obstacle to peace" by establishing three settlements in the occupied territory that could become a Palestinian homeland.

The unusual direct criticism was voiced by a department spokesman and later by Vance Tuesday.

The secretary apparently was surprised and angered by the announcement that Prime Minister Menachem Begin's government had authorized the settlements in the Jordan territory occupied by Israel since the 1967 war.

Talking to reporters, Vance said: "We are deeply disappointed. We have consistently stated — and we reiterated that during our recent discussions — that in our opinion the U.S. still holds out hope of progress for peace.

Vance met Tuesday evening with Israeli Ambassador Simcha Dinitz, who had been scheduled to talk with him about Vance's forthcoming Middle East trip which begins Sunday.

"The State Department's statement was reasserting American policy on the matter," Dinitz said. "Our action was according to Israeli policy."

Asked if there was a new rift between the two countries because of the disagreement, Dinitz replied, "Not that I know of."

Dinitz was asked how the disagreement over the settlements fits in with the agreement to discuss the placement of these settlements in conformity to international law and has presented an obstacle to progress toward peace.

National Security Affairs adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski mirrored the sentiments voiced by Vance. "We're disappointed. We don't approve," Brzezinski told UPI.

level of understanding doesn't mean you solve all disagreements."

Vance told reporters the settlements had been discussed during the Carter-Begin meetings, but said the prime minister had made no promises.

The action means, in effect, that the Israeli government gives the continued existence of the three settlements in occupied territory its full backing and authority.

An unwillingness of the settlers to withdraw would be one more complicating factor in any agreement involving removal of Israeli authority from the occupied territory of the West Bank.

The State Department said the action is contrary to the Fourth Geneva Convention of the United Nations, which forbids the permanent annexation or settlement of territories taken as the result of armed conflict.

Ban sought on BHT

WASHINGTON (UPI) — BHT, a synthetic chemical used at the rate of 1.3 million pounds a year as food preservative for everything from cake mix to potato chips, should be banned because of a possible health risk, according to one consumer group.

The Center for Science in the Public Interest made the suggestion in comments filed with the Food and Drug Administration Tuesday. The FDA earlier this year questioned the safety of BHT but did not propose an immediate ban and has been studying the question.

Dr. Michael Jacobson, co-director of BHT's one of the most poorly tested food additives and serves little or no advantage to either producers or the consumers. Other chemicals or processing methods could totally replace it."

To back up his request, Jacobson noted that the FDA when it called the chemical into question in May cited one study showing BHT caused lung and ovarian tumors in mice.

He also said BHT residues can be found in human fat tissue, BHT has caused allergic reactions among users. "Large amounts of BHT caused mice to sleep less and fight more" and BHT oxidizes to form chemicals "whose safety has not been tested."

Goodyear claims new tire provides more gas mileage

UTICA, Mich. (UPI) — Tire engineers have known for years that overinflated tires provide better fuel economy.

"They've also known that the extra air reduced tire life, gave a less comfortable ride and caused a loss in handling control."

Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. executives Tuesday unveiled a new tire they claim overcomes those problems and provides a 4 to 10 percent fuel economy improvement over current steel-belted radials — which were not improved over the older bias-belted tires.

Goodyear Chairman J. P. Pilliod Jr. said the new tire, which resembles conventional radials except that it is a little more squatty, could help automakers achieve government fuel economy standards of 27.5 miles per gallon by 1985.

Instead of the current 24 to 26 pounds air pressure recommended for today's steel-belted radials, with their characteristic underinflated look, Goodyear said its new tire should be inflated to 34 pounds.

In one demonstration, the new tire — tabbed the "Arrive" by its designers — increased fuel economy 7.8 percent over a conventional steel-belted radial, which is now standard equipment on about 70 percent of new cars.

Compared with the older bias-belted tire, fuel economy was increased 16.2 percent. The bias-belted tires still account for about one-third of all replacement tires.

Using an AMC Matador with a 304-cubic-inch V-8 traveling at 50 miles per hour, the new tire provided 18.86 miles per gallon. Fuel economy using a regular steel-belted tire dropped to 16.2 m.p.g. and fell even further — 16.2 m.p.g. — with a standard bias-belted tire.

"It's been estimated that a three-tenths of a mile per gallon improvement in all cars would be worth a billion dollars," Pilliod told newsmen at the test track.

Pilliod said Goodyear has begun showing the new tire to Detroit's automakers with the hope they would make it an original equipment option by the 1979-model year in the same manner steel-belted tires were introduced in the early '70s.

The Department of Transportation must approve the tire before it can be built.

Because the tire requires a specially built wheel, Pilliod said it was doubtful it would be offered in large numbers on the replacement market until after it becomes standard equipment on many new cars.

Arrest made in sabotage

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (UPI) — State troopers have arrested a 26-year-old Fairbanks man and charged him with malicious destruction of property in connection with a series of blasts that damaged the transmission of the $9 billion, 800-mile pipeline.

Lt. George Pollitt said today that Larry D. Wertz was arrested Tuesday outside his home on the Elliott Highway, about a mile and a half from the site of the explosions that damaged insulation and dented supports on the pipeline 18 miles north of Fairbanks.

The explosions did not stop the flow of oil.

Wertz was arrested as he walked from the woods carrying a 30-30 rifle and a pistol. He offered no resistance, troopers said.

Troopers searched Wertz' home Tuesday night for evidence in the explosions, which occurred over the last several days, but were not reported until Monday night.

The blasts did not penetrate the half-inch thick pipe and were not strong enough to be detected by Alyeska Pipeline Service Co. earthquake monitors.

Pollitt said commercial dynamite was used to set what federal and state investigators believe were at least five blasts. The explosions tore 20 to 30 yards of insulation off a section of the $9 billion, 800-mile pipeline.

Investigators said they found additional unexploded blasting caps at the scene.

Pollitt said Wertz became a suspect after questioning of local residents.

He was jailed at the Fairbanks Corrections Center in lieu of $100,000 bond and was to be arraigned in Fairbanks district court today under a current Alaska malicious destruction statute.

A new state law making it a felony to damage the pipeline is not yet in effect. No federal charges have been filed.

In Anchorage before the arrest was announced, the office of Rep. Don Young, R-Alaska, reported that Young went to Rep. Peter Rodino, D-N.J., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, and asked if he could get quick action on a bill making it a federal offense to tamper with the pipeline.

Vietnamese shell Thai fishermen

SAMUT SAKHON, this port city 55 miles southeast of Bangkok, Thailand (UPI) — A Vietnamese gunboat shelled a Thai fishing fleet in the Gulf of Thailand with Communist in a week. Twenty-five Thai soldiers and civilians were killed in two firefights along the Thai-Cambodian border on July 20 and last Sunday.

A Thai boat with 18 men aboard was captured in the attack Sunday and towed toward Vietnam by a tugboat accompanying the Vietnamese gunboat, which officials said was U.S.-built, 250-ton patrol craft.

Survivors of the attack said the fleet was about 120 miles southwest of the Vietnamese mainland — technically within the 200-mile fishing zone Vietnam declared in May — when the gunboat opened fire with cannons.

A direct hit in the engine room of one of the seven 60-foot trawlers exploded its fuel tank and sank the ship, killing nine crewmen and wounding at least eight, a Thai fisherman said.

The other Thai trawlers escaped the attack by speeding off, but one returned later to pick up three bodies and 16 survivors who had dived overboard and clung to pieces of debris for more than an hour.

Three of the eight wounded crewmen died of severe burns on the trip to

Political arena gets candidates

South Windsor
One by one, local politicians are beginning to throw their hats in the ring in preparation for November's election.

Five members of the nine-member Town Council have indicated they will not seek re-election in the fall, as well as two members of the Board of Education.

Democrats' John Archer, Bob Myette and Ed Havens will be running to retain their council seats. Republicans John Mitchell, Len Sorvick and Ray Dunkel will not run for re-election, as will Mayor Sandra Bender and Democrat Mike Enes. Democratic Councilwoman Cle Decker, a former chairman of the Board of Education, has not indicated her plans for November's election.

Both the Democrats and the Republicans will caucus Aug. 4 to select candidates to fill vacancies in the fall.

Nancy Keresnky, 35 Berle Rd., who unsuccessfully sought her party's nomination in April to fill the school board seat vacated by Bob Eversole, will seek the Democratic nomination for the school board.

Robert Sills, 366 Hilton Dr., a former council member and outspoken critic on many major town issues, will seek the nomination to fill one of the Republican seats on the Town Council.

Sills recently retired as the first lawyer ever employed by the state Department of Consumer Protection.

Also interested in a council seat is Democrat Jacqueline Smith. Mrs. Smith is a member of the town's Human Relations Commission.

All four Republicans on the Board of Education are expected to seek re-election: Joan Cucushman, Frank Devney, Fred DeGiacomo and William Neal.

Democratic incumbent Chairman Marjorie Hutensky, Alfred Sancho and John Giordano will run again. Democratic members Marion Morrisette and Donald Berghuis, former chairman of the board, will not seek re-election.

Industronics sales up

Industronics, Inc. of South Windsor, reports sales for the 9-month period ended March 31 were $2,461,906, an increase of 29 per cent. Operating income was given as $259,512, resulting in a record high net income of $141,719. Sales in the month of March and for the third quarter hit new peaks

Lydall earnings increase

Millard H. Pryor Jr., president of Lydall, Inc., announced record earnings of 64 cents per share for the second quarter of 1977, a 28 per cent increase over the same period last year. Lydall's regular quarterly dividend was increased by 25 per cent to 12 1/2 cents a share. Pryor said that this quarter's sales of $12.9 million and earnings of $832 thousand were not directly comparable with second quarter 1976 sales of $9.1 million and earnings of $502 thousand because of the inclusion of Logistics Industries Corporation's June results.

Rogers sales at record

Rogers Corporation reports record-breaking sales for both the second quarter and first half of 1977. Earnings were better than in the first quarter, but because of moving and start-up costs for the new plant, profits were still significantly below the same 1976 periods. Sales for the second quarter totaled $14,028,000, compared with $13,012,000 a year ago. The half total $27,474,000, up from $25,914,000 in the first six months of 1977. Earnings of $292,000 or 31 cents per share in the second quarter and $515,000 or 55 cents per share for the half, compared respectively with $412,000 or 44 cents per share and $764,000 or 82 cents per share a year ago.

Local women retain State softball crown

Successful defense of its Connecticut State ASA Women's Slow Pitch Softball Championship was recorded in Plainville in an all-Manchester final by the Manchester Softball Club. Formerly campaigning under the banner of Groman's Sports Shop and Brown's Trees, the sponsor-less Silk Towers trimmed David's of the championship at Plainville, 10-3. On the road to its second straight crown, the locals compiled an undefeated record in the double elimination event. The champs will now focus their attention on the New England Regional Tournament the weekend of August 19 in Milford. The locals placed second in last year's Regionals but qualified and participated in the Nationals in Chattanooga, Tenn. Undefeated against Connecticut entries, the MSC sports a 22-0 win-loss record. David's, the undefeated leader in the Manchester Field League, twice fell to the champs, being nipped in the first meeting, 8-7, before bowing in the finals. Four runs in the first inning got MSC off to a fast start in the title game but David's came back with two markers in the second and one in the third, 4-3. Putting it all together, the champs exploded for six runs in the sixth inning, battling around, to salt away the victory. Offensive standouts were Gail Smith with two hits and three RBIs, Gail Shimatis with a perfect three-for-three and two RBIs while Betsy Gilmartin, Jean McAdam, Sharyn Young and Cindy Birdsey each had two hits with Young and Marge Malone driving in two runs each. Pam Cooper was best for David's with three hits, one a triple, and Kathy Strand added two bingles. En route to the crown, MSC topped Barry's of Meriden, 11-2, bombed the New Haven Societies 13-2 before conquering David's. In the first meeting between the two local squads, David's moved to a 4-2 edge on Rachel Rosen's grand slam homer. After trailing 7-4, MSC roared back to tie the count and Gilmarin sacrificed fly with the bases loaded produced the winning marker. Smith led the attack with four hits, Birdsey had three more and Judy

Martina too tough

Emotional Chris Evert was the big attraction which helped lure a record crowd of 824 to see a Boston Lobster World Team Tennis match last night in Hartford but Martina Navratilova proved to be too tough for the Wimbledon finalist. The No. 1 (Evert) and No. 2 (Navratilova) ranking women's singles players in the world met once previously, Evert winning, 6-1, but last night at the Civic Center, the 20-year-old Czech was the master in a 6-4 win which helped the Lobsters retain their hold on first place in the Eastern WTT Division. In the battle of the divisions leaders, the Lobsters never trailed in posting a 28-20 decision this season by a 28-20 decision. Playing in the second of the five-match schedule, the Boston southpaw broke Evert's service in the third game for a 2-1 edge and never trailed. She also broke service in the fifth game taking over first place in the WTT women's singles standings by four percentage points over the expressionless Evert. "My goals are to stay No. 1 in singles and doubles (with Greer Stevens) and to do well at Forest Hills," she said as she cooed a cute black puppy named Racquettes. Evert wasn't up to meeting the media after her loss. "I was very nervous when the match started but once I served, I calmed down and I was getting in some good approach shots. I was moving well and this caused Chris to make errors. "I was hitting deeper and this put plenty of pressure on her. When she was missing with her first serve, I knew that her second serve wouldn't be that strong so I played up and made her play defensively." Roy Emerson, Lobster player-coach, who showed he could still play a top game of men's doubles with partner Tony Roche, came in for some praise from his star singles player who was winning her 20th match of the year. "I practice three hours a day with Emerson. I don't know how he does it, a 40-year-old playing six or seven solid hours of tennis a day," she continued. World Team Tennis got a plug from the player who upset the star that the record crowd came to see play. "Philadelphia Signed running back Tom Sullivan and defensive end Manny Sistrunk to two one-year contracts and released defensive tackle Glenroy, a free agent from Georgia Tech. St. Louis - Acquired rookie offensive tackle Dave Conrad and free agent defensive back Willie Jenkins on waivers. Chicago - Released defensive back Mike Andrus, safety Terry Egardahl, linebacker Bob Gregolinas and tight end Lannell Jones, all rookies. Basketball Boston - Signed guard Bill Langlob, their fifth-round draft choice from Virginia. Atlanta - Called up right-handed pitcher Preston Hanna from Savannah and gave pitcher Steve Kline his unconditional release to his contract. Milwaukee - Placed Sixto Lezcano on the 21-day disabled list and signed outfielder Jim Wynn as a free agent.

Big second half

Undefeated in 11 second half matches, Navratilova had just too much of everything - serve, forehand and backhand shots that hugged the lines. "When we played the first time, she said she never played as well," the once-befly Steve said. "I practice three hours a day with Emerson. I don't know how he does it, a 40-year-old playing six or seven solid hours of tennis a day," she continued. Cubs riding high on Reuschel arm

NEW YORK (UPI) - It has been almost 40 years since the Chicago Cubs have received the kind of pitching they're getting from Rick Reuschel. He leads the National League in win-loss percentage with a 14-3 record and a 2.15 earned run average. Not since Big Bill Lee led the Nats with a 22-9 win-loss record and a 2.66 ERA in 1938 have the Cubs had a pitcher that dominant. Reuschel, who describes himself as "just a big old farm boy," pitched a five-hitter Tuesday to give the Cubs a 3-0 victory over the Cincinnati Reds - the club's worst losing streak in eight years. Dodgers 5-1, Phillies 1-5. Rick Rhoden, with relief from Mike Garmon, won his 11th game when Glenn Burke doubled home the tie-breaking run in the seventh inning and the Dodgers added two more runs on a wild pitch and a passed ball. Steve Carlton suffered his sixth loss against 15 wins. Greg Luzinski and Mike McBride hit homers and Jim Lonborg pitched a two-hitter for the Phillies in the second game. Pirates 3, Astros 2. John Candelaria and Rich Gossage combined on a four-hitter and Ed Ott hit his fifth homer as the Pirates won their sixth straight. It was Candelaria's 11th victory against three losses while J. R. Richard led to his eighth defeat for Houston. Cesar Cedeño homered for the Astros. Cards 4, Braves 2. Keith Hernandez knocked in two runs with an inside-the-park homer in the first inning as Bob Forsch picked up his 13th victory against four losses. Dick Ruthven was the loser for the Braves. Willie Montanez hit his 14th homer for Atlanta.

American Stars tourney losers

Combining powerful hitting with near air-tight pitching, the Windsor Locks All-Stars eliminated the Manchester American Little League All-Stars in Johnny Johnson completely stymied the locals with a one-hit effort - a second inning single by Bill Hill that drew the only run. The visitors showed their power in the first inning with four runs crossing the plate. Three singles-two doubles and an error produced the tallies which proved more than enough to win. Mike Jordan rapped a two-run homer in the second on a 6-0 lead against starter and loser Glenn Dubois. Manchester's tally came when Mike McKenna walked, the only issue by Johnson, moved up a base

Homers bail out Yankees

NEW YORK (UPI) - Manager Billy Martin, who has been warned to produce, or else, was greeted by a standing ovation by the Yankee Stadium crowd when he walked up to home plate with the lineup cards Tuesday night. But it appeared for eight innings this might indeed be his last week as Yankee manager. The Baltimore Orioles, the American League East Division leaders, led, 4-2, behind Ross Grimsley entering the ninth when Cliff Johnson came to the rescue. Grimsley was replaced by Tippy Martinez after walking leadoff batter Roy White in the ninth, and after Martinez retired Graig Nettles on a pop out, Johnson unloaded a two-run homer to tie the score. One inning later, Reggie Jackson struck an leadoff homer to give the Yankees a 4-4 triumph. "It's a big moment for me, mostly because of the game and because it is very important that we beat the Orioles right now," said Jackson. Martin was almost as excited by the ovation he received as he was by the victory. "It just gives you a lift when I played," said Martin. "I appreciate it. It makes you feel real good that the fans love you that much." In other AL games, Boston nipped Milwaukee, 4-3. Chicago defeated Linebacker Sam Hunt is missing from the New England Patriots training camp and the club is worried. Chuck Foreman has agreed to a two-year extension to his contract with Minnesota Vikings. George Atkinson has been ordered out of Oakland Raider training camp until he pays $2,000 in fines, assessed by NFL. Milwaukee Brewers have signed Jimmy Wynn who was released recently by New York Yankees. New York Mayor Abe Beame says city will seek to host 1984 Olympics for $25 million. New York Knicks have agreed to allow agents to move to New Jersey.

Lobsters net win

HARTFORD (UPI) - Martina Navratilova dominated Chris Evert, 6-4, Tuesday night to pace the Boston Lobsters to a 28-20 World Team Tennis victory over the Phoenix Reds. Navratilova earlier teamed with Greer Stevens to beat Evert and Stephanie Tolson, 6-2, in the first set of the match. The Lobsters also got help from Tony Roche, who defeated Ross Case, 6-4, in the men's singles set. In other play, Stevens and Mike Estep defeated Janet Newberry and Case, 6-3, and Brian Cheney and Butch Walts beat Roche and Roy Emerson, 6-3. Emerson and Roche then defeated Cheney and Walts in a tiebreaker. As the playoffs approach, the Lobsters have three home games remaining along with seven matches on the road. Today the Lobsters face the Phoenix Reds at the Los Angeles Flings at their Walter Brown Arena home. After a West Coast road trip, Boston will make its final Connecticut appearance of the 1977 season against the Soviets August 9.

Briefs

Extend pact SMITHFIELD, R.I. (UPI) - Chuck Fairbanks has been given more time to complete the reworking of his contract with the New England Patriots from the bottom of the NFL to the verge of the Super Bowl in four seasons. The Patriots announced Fairbanks has been given an extension of his contract, which ran through the end of this season. Terms of length of contract were not disclosed.

Races tonight

First in a series of three Wednesday night road races will be staged tonight at the MCC campus starting at 7 o'clock. The main course is 3.5 miles long. Competition is open to all in seven divisions. In a classic duel between two of baseball's best lefthanders, Vida Blue outpitched Frank Tanana. Both pitchers allowed only four hits, but Larry Murray's two-run triple in the eighth inning provided Oakland with the victory. Blue raised his record to 10-11 while Tanana fell to 12-7. Mariners 9, Twins 7. Dan Meyer drove in five runs, three of them coming on his 14th homer, to highlight the Mariners' victory over the Twins. Rod Carow hit a three-run homer for Minnesota while teammate Lyman Bostock rapped out four hits.

Parks, Rec Commission will meet tonight

Coventry
The Coventry Parks and Recreation Commission will hold a special meeting tonight at the Town Hall at 7:30 to consider the appointment of a part-time director.
The commission requested $12,000 for the current fiscal year to hire a full-time director to coordinate town recreation programs. But the Town Council cut the appropriation to $3,000 for a part-time director for the summer months only.
The commission will also consider a request by Head Lifeguard Tom Duffy to purchase beach umbrellas for the lifeguard chairs. Duffy reported last week that unprotected guards had been blistered and sickened by the sun.
The group is also expected to make final plans for an August tennis program headed by volunteer Anthony D'Amore. William Ayer has declined to run the soccer program again this fall and speculates that there probably will be no soccer for boys and girls.

Coventry's soccer team for girls, which has remained undefeated for six years, will compete this fall in the Robbie International Girls' Soccer Tournament in Scarborough, Ont., Can.
Team Coach Karen Richardson said last week that 20 Coventry players are expected to play three to five games. The team has raised more than $1,000 through car washes, bake sales, and tag sales and has received donations from various town businesses and organizations to finance the trip.
There are only 11 high school girls' soccer teams in Connecticut. The local team received the Canadian invitation after coming in third in a Washington tournament last year.
Team Captains Pam Lietro and Mary Lou Brown have led the 33 girls registered in their program to victory in 11 games this season.
Town Manager Frank Connolly warned this week that Coventry residents must have parking stickers for Listic Beach.

"The Police Department will be checking vehicles to ensure that each one has an appropriate sticker," the manager said.
Residents needing stickers may obtain them at the Police Department on the lower level of the Town Hall on Rt. 31.
Huntington, W. Va., Huntington is the largest urban area in West Virginia with a city population of 74,315 and a metropolitan area of 297,200. Coventry can hire workers

Town Manager Frank Connolly has announced that Coventry has received federal approval to hire three new employees funded by the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) and plans to submit a project application for six additional workers.
The three positions are for an administrative clerk at the Town Hall, and engineering aide to do research in rights-of-way, and a draftsman to work on property line base maps.
The six-person project being planned by the Town Council is in the area of environmental quality, transportation, and public safety involving the town's roads.
If John Lorch, project coordinator in Connecticut, approves the application, the six public safety workers will be available to Coventry for at least six months.

Top locks displayed by police

The Coventry Police Department has a display of top security locks for home protection on the main floor at the Town Hall.
The display features deadbolt entry handles, "panicproof" deadbolt entry locks, and auxiliary deadbolts. There is also a Kwikset security kit of locksets.
A large diagram explains how commercial property may be outfitted for crime protection. Officer Ronald Doughty has given a presentation on how to discourage burglars before several town groups in past months.
Police Chief Robert Kjelquist reports that "a burglar's odds are approximately 100 to 1 in his favor." In order to protect against crime, the chief recommends ample lighting, a warning sticker, marking personal property, and reporting suspicious persons.
The department will send a crime prevention officer to visit individual homes and discuss security programs upon request.

Taxes due

Andover
Tax Collector Cynthia Clark reminds residents that taxes for real estate, personal property and motor vehicles are due and payable by Aug. 1. As of Aug. 2, interest rate of one per cent per month on the unpaid installment or a $2 minimum will be charged.
The tax collector's office will be open Thursday and Friday from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m., 1 to 4 p.m., Friday from 7 to 9 p.m. and Monday from 9 to 11:30 a.m., 1 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m.

The Education Ladder
There are sharp differences in the nation's educational profile, according to The Conference Board. Only 15 per cent of the 65-and-over population have had any college training. But among those between 25 and 34, 40 per cent are university-educated.

Language barrier overcome

Vietnamese girl scores straight A's

By JUNE TOMPKINS
Herald Reporter

A girl who cried every day for several weeks a couple of years ago because she couldn't make head nor tail out of subjects that were taught in a foreign language turned out to be a straight-A student the end of this past school year.
That girl who entered Manchester's Bennett Junior High School two years ago at the age of 15 was discouraged because she knew no English. Thanh Nga Dao, now of 218 Center St., had arrived in the United States with her family only a few months beforehand from Vietnam.

A special teacher was assigned to Thanh Nga and taught her English two hours a day for several months.

After about three months of her first experience in an American school, Thanh Nga says all of a sudden, the language began to sink in and her school classes became meaningful.
"I read a lot," Nga, as her friends call her, said. "Whenever my mother sees me not doing anything, she tells me to go get my books and read. She says it is very important to me to be able to speak and read the American language if I want to get a good education."

She said her teachers have been very patient with her. Her curriculum was filled with special English, algebra, history, typing (which she found challenging because the American language has letters unfamiliar to the Vietnamese), cooking, sewing and physical education.
She sews many of her own clothes and does exquisite embroidery, an art that is taught Vietnamese children from the time they're old enough to hold a needle.

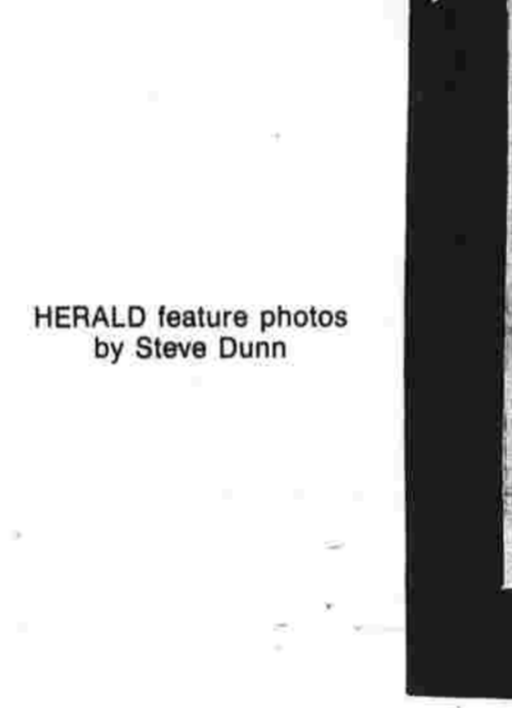

Nga will copy a design or picture she sees on cloth and then embroider it, sometimes in minuscule cross stitch.
School in Saigon, Nga's native city, is a six-day-a-week session with classes that begin early in the morning and lasting till about noon.

"We had lots more subjects and lots of homework, more than we get here," Nga said. "The algebra I had here in the eighth grade was what I had learned in the sixth grade in Saigon," she said.

Nga's family was sponsored on their arrival in Manchester by the Emanuel Lutheran Church. Nga's father, formerly a South Vietnamese Army officer who was a parachute instructor, works in the Hartford National Bank in Hartford. Mrs. Dao also works. The pretty young lady who serves you at McDonald's on W. Center St. may be Nga. She started working there recently. Evening is when the family shares the events of the day - school, work, decisions, relaxation and fun. Supper nearly always includes rice.

"I don't like noodles," Nga said. But her family enjoys meat, the same fresh vegetables that Americans enjoy, and plenty of fish.
Nga showed a bottle of imported fish sauce that is used to season just about all the food they eat. The sauce is made from anchovies and salt water and tastes very strong to those unaccustomed to it.
"Fishermen in my country drink it straight from the bottle sometimes," she said. "I think it must be good for the bones, it is rich in calcium," she added.
The family enjoys television after supper. Nga said the programs have been helpful to the family in improving their English.
Accept for certain native ways they can never forget, the Dao family is gradually merging into American society. The children are competing in the skateboard craze. The adults are joining in Manchester's social life.
And Nga, through her perseverance and natural aptitude, ended this school year at Bennett with straight A's, a mark she hopes to maintain throughout high school which she will begin in September.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

By Will Bennett

"My father scared me for life." So said a young woman when she filed a lawsuit against her father for damages.

HE SCARED ME!

But the court ruled against her. Allowing this type of claim, said the court, would open the floodgates to countless lawsuits by disgruntled children.

Occasionally, however, a third party may be held liable to the parent if not the child. Thus, one court said a mother could hold her doctor liable if he neglected to warn her of the danger of a defective birth.

Your neighbor's kitchen

By BETTY RYDER

The warm and humid weather has turned some cook's thoughts to cool, cool meals.

One such recipe for Gazpacho was received by Mrs. Abe Ostrowsky from Mrs. William H. Mayor of Paget, Bermuda.

Mrs. Mayor was here early in June when Friendship Lodge of Masons in Manchester played host to a Bermuda lodge and their spouses.

Here's Mrs. Mayor's recipe:

- Gazpacho
- 2 large tomatoes, peeled (1-3/4 lbs.)
 - 1 large cucumber, pared and halved
 - 1 medium onion, peeled and halved
 - 1 medium green pepper, seeded and halved
 - 1 pimento, drained
 - 2 cans tomato juice (12-ounce size)
 - 1/2 cup olive oil
 - 1/2 cup red wine vinegar
 - 1/4 tsp. Tabasco
 - 1 1/2 tsp. salt
 - 1/2 tsp. coarsely ground black pepper
 - 2 cloves garlic, split
 - 1/2 cup crostons
 - 1/2 cup chopped chives

Method:

In blender, puree, covered at high speed for 30 seconds:

- 1 tomato
- 1/2 cucumber
- 1/2 onion
- 1/2 green pepper

All pimento when browned enough to seal in juice, put ribs in an electric frying pan using about two cups of water. Over each rib place one or two whole allspice, a small piece of bay leaf and a small piece of onion. Fry about half an hour until some of the water cooks off.

Choco-Chip Bars

Four 1/2 cup of cooking sherry or dry sherry over all. Turn down heat and cook slowly about two hours. As water boils down add more sherry pouring directly over ribs. Use about a cup of sherry for a generous pound of ribs. More water can be added if necessary. The ribs may be cooked in the oven after first browning if preferred.

For an easy-to-make dessert, especially good served with ice cream, try these Choco-Chip Bars.

Choco-Chip Bars

- 1 pkg. Banana, Date or Nut Quick Bread Mix
- 1 cup water
- 1 egg
- 1/2 cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces, divided
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts, if desired

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Grease bottom only of a 13x9-inch pan. Pour quick bread mix into pan, add water, egg and 1/2 cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces. Stir with fork just until blended, about 2 minutes, scraping corners occasionally. Sprinkle remaining chocolate pieces and nuts evenly over batter. Bake at 375 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool. Cut into bars. Store tightly covered. Makes 2 to 3 dozen bars.

On second thought

By Jan Warren

Hey there, gorgeous girl!

There are six thousand people living in Philadelphia, Mississippi. Two of them are named Jan Warren. One is 19-year-old beauty queen. The other is me.

Now, I have never met the second Jan Warren, but last week the local newspaper ran an article on the candidates for Miss Nesbota County and there she was in living color with all her vital statistics listed below her picture. She has blond hair, blue eyes and glorious white toothy smile. She is 5'6" tall, weighs 114 pounds and her vital statistics are 34-23-34.

"Wow!" said my teenage son when he saw the picture. "Any resemblance to you, Ma, is purely coincidental."

"Don't worry," said my daughter putting me on the backside, "I'll bet you're a better cook."

In addition to sharing a name with the other Jan Warren, I share a very similar address. She lives on Tami Drive. I live in Terri Drive and we're both on Rt. #1 in Philadelphia. As a result of this our mail is frequently mixed up and several times a month, through no fault of ours, we read each others mail, readdress it, and send it back to the right Jan Warren.

She receives letters from my mother, overdue library notices, and cards from the dentist saying, "It's time for your 6-month check up." I received copies of Glamour

Declining population threatens some schools

Parents of public school children in East Hartford are concerned about their neighborhood schools.

The middle schools may all be considered safe because they fit the board's master plan for the future. O'Brien has 681, Polkin has 499, Sunset Ridge has 346, and O'Connell has 294.

Schools with healthy numbers of students and sound buildings are: Burnside with 386 (with Woodland students to be added this fall); Goodwin with 385; Langford with 348 (with a few Woodland students on their way); Mayberry with 341; Norris with 280; Silver Lane with 313; Slye with 316, and Stevens with 296.

The board released new figures recently which may tell parents in other school neighborhoods what will happen to their schools.

Of no news to anyone, the total number of students is declining. Total enrollment June 22, 1976 was 10,479. Total enrollment June 21, 1977 was 9,947.

This is a total decline of 532 in one year.

Schools not in trouble as of the end of the year may be those with high enrollments. Barnes has 401. Center School had 494.

Hockman appears to have the least to fear with a total of 898 students. However, the board has said it will work to restrict the school to just the lower grades up to fifth in the future.

Other schools nearby could easily absorb McCartin's students, school officials reasoned.

String protests by McCartin School parents in 1976 helped convince the board to wait a little longer.

Another considered for closing is Second North on Main St. It has 93 students as of this June and the building was erected in 1909.

South Grammar at the corner of Brewer and Main Sts. has 179 students and is closed and up for sale.

Also, the Grade 6 student totals for both schools was only 124, a drop of 14 from the next class.

Unless family patterns change drastically in the next few years, East Hartford residents can expect more neighborhood schools to close.

The Willowbrook School has not been mentioned for closing. Yet it lists only 118 students.

The pressure to close appears to be growing each year. The big brick buildings cost much to heat. Small schools are thought to mean a less rich school environment for learning.

The town's school age census taken April 1 showed there were 1,111 people age 17 in town. But on the same date, there were only 229 children under age one.

A student at East Hartford High School suggested this winter that his school combined with Penney High School might make a great place. The combined school would be unbeatable in sports, he said.

The thought must have crossed the minds of school officials. EHS had 1,447 students as of June. Penney had 1,635. Yet both have large and handsome plants capable of handling more.

The two parochial schools in town, St. Christopher in the South End and St. Rose of Burdette Ave., do not appear to be suffering from lack of students. Their Grade 8 students totaled 137 in June and their Grade 7 students totaled 138.

Ban sought on BHT

WASHINGTON (UPI) - BHT, a synthetic chemical used at the rate of 1 million pounds a year as food preservative for everything from cake mix to potato chips, should be banned as a possible health risk, according to one consumer group.

The Center for Science in the Public Interest made the suggestion in comments filed with the Food and Drug Administration Tuesday. The FDA earlier this year questioned the safety of BHT but did not propose an immediate ban and has been studying the question.

Dr. Michael Jacobson, co-director of the non-profit research group, said "BHT is one of the most poorly tested food additives and serves little or no advantage to either producers or the consumers. Other chemicals or processing methods could totally replace it."

To back up his request, Jacobson noted that the FDA when it called the chemical into question in May cited one study showing BHT caused lung and ovarian tumors in mice.

He also said BHT residues can be found in human fat tissue. BHT has caused allergic reactions among children and caused mice to sleep less and fight more" and BHT oxidizes to form chemicals "whose safety has not been tested."

Explorers wash cars

The East Hartford Fire and Rescue Explorer Post 1548 will hold a car wash Thursday from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the rear of the Putnam Bridge Plaza shopping center off Main St. by the Glastonbury town line.

Connecticut to be second largest mushroom producer

Connecticut will soon be the nation's second largest mushroom producing state. And mushroom growers, already a $191-million-a-year industry nationally, are one of the fastest growing segments of the food business with per capita consumption increasing rapidly in recent years.

Connecticut is mushrooming into prominence in a new field because of recent decisions by two leading food companies to establish mushroom farms in the state, the first such major installations in New England. Castle & Cooke, Inc., the parent company of Dole bananas and pineapple, and Bumble Bee seafood, announced plans for a $10-million facility in East Windsor, to produce initially 10 million pounds of mushrooms annually.

Ralston-Purina reported plans for a 13-million-pound-a-year mushroom farm in North Franklin.

The combined production of 23 million pounds a year will catapult Connecticut into second place among mushroom producing states. Pennsylvania continues to maintain a substantial lead with 179 million pounds. New York and Ohio tie for third with about 6.5 million pounds each; Delaware is next with 6 million pounds.

Castle & Cooke's facility will mark that company's entry into eastern markets with Dole fresh mushrooms, after four years of successful production of fresh mushrooms. Its East Windsor farm will deliver fresh mushrooms daily to markets extending to the metropolitan New York area, Albany and Boston.

The mushroom business has attracted companies such as Castle & Cooke and Ralston Purina for a number of reasons. It "fits" snugly with existing food lines, for example. Castle & Cooke, Inc. produces Dole bananas and pineapple, and Bumble Bee seafood, and considers itself an expert in fresh foods' production and marketing.

Further, spurred by the promotional efforts of the producers and industry groups such as the American Mushroom Institute, consumption has been rising at a far more rapid rate than many other foods and is expected to accelerate. Diet conscious consumers, for example, are aware of the low calorie count of fresh mushrooms - less than 100 calories per pound.

Finally, with technological advances earlier this year, said its leading to better yields per acre, high volume production and sales are resulting in favorable profits. Castle & Cooke told stockholders in its annual report that "fresh mushroom operations in 1976 produced the highest earnings since the company entered the business four years ago."

Ralston Purina, in discussing its 1977 outlook earlier this year, said its mushroom business "continues to be good" and "we anticipate further expansion in the fresh mushroom field."

Per capita consumption of fresh mushrooms has climbed sharply from 32 pounds five years ago to 55 pounds last year, an increase of some 70 per cent.

Political arena gets candidates

South Windsor

One by one, local politicians are beginning to throw their hats in the ring in preparation for November's election.

Five members of the nine-member Town Council have indicated they will not seek re-election in the fall, as well as two members of the Board of Education.

Democrats John Archer, Bob Myette and Ed Havens will be running to retain their council seats. Republicans John Mitchell, Len Sorasiak and Ray Dankel will not run for re-election, as well as Mayor Sandra Bender and Democrat Mike Enes. Democratic Councilwoman Cle Decker, a former chairman of the Board of Education, has not indicated her plans for November's election.

Both the Democrats and the Republicans will caucus Aug. 4 to select candidates to fill vacancies in the fall.

Nancy Kerensky, 35 Berle Rd., who unsuccessfully sought her party's nomination in April to fill the school board seat vacated by Bob Eversole, will seek the Democratic nomination for the school board.

Robert Sills, 366 Hilton Dr., a former council member and outspoken critic on many major town issues, will seek the nomination to fill one of the Republican seats on the Town Council.

Sills recently retired as the first lawyer ever employed by the state Department of Consumer Protection. Also interested in a council seat is Democrat Jacqueline Smith. Mrs. Smith is a member of the town's Human Relations Commission.

All four Republicans on the Board of Education are expected to seek re-election: Joan Cucushman, Frank Devney, Fred DeGiacomo and William Neal.

Democratic incumbent Chairman Marjorie Hutensky, Alfred Sancho and John Giordano will run again. Democratic members Marion Morrisette and Donald Berghuis, former chairman of the board, will not seek re-election.

Industronics sales up

Industronics, Inc., of South Windsor, reports sales for the 9-month period ended March 31 were $2,461,906, an increase of 29 per cent. Operating income was given as $259,512, resulting in a record high net income of $141,719. Sales in the month of March and for the third quarter hit new peaks.

Lydall earnings increase

Millard H. Pryor Jr., president of Lydall, Inc., announced record earnings of 64 cents per share for the second quarter of 1977, a 28 per cent increase over the same period last year. Lydall's regular quarterly dividend was increased by 25 per cent to 12 1/2 cents a share. Pryor said that this quarter's sales of $12.9 million and earnings of $822 thousand were not directly comparable with second quarter 1976 sales of $9.1 million and earnings of $502 thousand because of the inclusion of Logistics Industries Corporation's July results.

Rogers sales at record

Rogers Corporation reports record-breaking sales for both the second quarter and first half of 1977. Earnings were better than in the first quarter, but because of moving and start-up costs for the new plant, profits were still significantly below the same 1976 periods. Sales for the second quarter totaled $14,028,000, compared with $13,012,000 a year ago. The half totalled $27,474,000, up from $25,914,000 in the first six months of 1976. Earnings of $292,000, or 31 cents per share in the second quarter, and $515,000 or 55 cents per share for the half, compared respectively with $412,000 or 44 cents per share and $764,000 or 82 cents per share a year ago.

Local women retain State softball crown

Successful defense of its Connecticut State ASA Women's Slow Pitch Softball Championship was recorded in Plainville in an all-Manchester final by the Manchester Softball Club. Formerly campaigning under the banner of Groman's Sports Shop and Brown's Tires, the sponsor-less Silk Towners trimmed David's for the championship at Plainville, 10-3. On the road to its second straight crown, the locals compiled an undefeated record in the double elimination event. The champs will now focus their attention on the New England Regional Tournament the weekend of August 19 in Milford. The locals placed second in last year's Regionals but qualified and participated in the Nationals in Chattanooga, Tenn. Putting it all together, the champs exploded for six runs in the sixth inning, battering around, to sail away the victory. David's, undefeated leader in the Manchester Fall League, twice fell to the champs, being nipped in the first meeting, 8-7, before bowing in the final. Four runs in the first inning got MSC off to a fast start in the title game but David's came back with two runs in the second and one in the third to trail, 4-3. Martina too tough

Unemotional Chris Evert was the big attraction which helped lure a record crowd of 8,254 to see a Boston Lobster World Team Tennis match last night in Hartford but Martina Navratilova proved to be too tough for the Wimbledon finalist. The No. 1 (Evert) and No. 2 (Navratilova) ranking women's singles players in the world met once previously, Evert winning, 6-1, but last night at the Civic Center, the 20-year-old Czech was the master in a 6-4 win which helped the Lobsters retain their hold on first place in the Eastern WTT Division. In the battle of the divisions leaders, the Lobsters never trailed in posting a third decision this season by a 28-20 count. Playing in the second of the five-match schedule, the Boston southpaw broke Evert's service in the third game for a 3-1 edge and never trailed. She also broke service in the fifth game in taking over first place in the WTT women's singles standings by four percentage points over the experienced Evert. "My goals are to stay No. 1 in singles and doubles (with Greer Stevens) and to do well at Forest Hills," she said as she coddled a cute black puppy named Raquetts. Evert wasn't up to meeting the media after her loss.

Big second half

Undefeated in 11 second half matches, Navratilova had just too much of everything - serve, forehand and backhand shots that hugged the lines. "When we played the first time, she said she never played as well, the ore-betty Lobster said.

Cubs riding high on Reuschel arm

NEW YORK (UPI) - It has been almost 40 years since the Chicago Cubs have received the kind of pitching they're getting from Rick Reuschel. He leads the National League in win-loss percentage with a 14-3 record and a 2.15 earned run average. Not since Big Bill Lee led the NL with a 22-9 iron-record and a 2.66 ERA in 1958 have the Cubs had a pitcher that dominant. Reuschel, who describes himself as "just a big old farm boy," pitched a five-hitter Tuesday to give the Cubs a 3-0 victory over the Cincinnati Reds. It was the eighth straight loss for the twotime world champion Reds - the club's worst losing streak in eight years. Rick Rhoden, with relief from Mike Garman, won his 11th game when Glenn Burke doubled home the Mets 8, Giants 3. Lenny Hinkle and Felix Millan each had three hits and scored two runs to lead the Mets. Pat Zachry went 7-23 innings for his fifth win with the relief help of Bob Apodaca. Willie McCovey homered for the Giants. Padres 4-2, Expos 3-5. Dave Freistabe pitched an eight-hitter for only the second complete game for San Diego this season, winning the opener when rookie Gene Richards singled in the decisive run in the ninth inning. Richards went 6-for-7 in the marathon second game but the Expos won it in the 15th when they scored four runs to snap a 1-1 tie which had existed since the fifth inning. Tony Perez doubled in the tie-breaking run and Ellis Valentine capped the four-run rally with a two-run single.

National League

tie-breaking run in the seventh inning and the Dodgers added two more runs on a wild pitch and a passed ball. Steve Carlton suffered his sixth loss against 13 wins. Greg Luzinski and Bake McBride hit homers and Jim Laborg pitched a two-hitter for the Phillies in the second game. Pirates 3, Astros 2. Job Candalaria and Rich Gossage combined on a four-hitter and Ed Ott hit his fifth homer as the Pirates won their sixth straight. It was the eighth straight loss for Candalaria's 11th victory against three losses while J. R. Richard fell to his eighth defeat for Houston. Cesar Cedeno homered for the Astros. Cards 4, Braves 2. Kelly Hernandez knocked in two runs with an inside-the-park homer in the first inning as Bob Forsch picked up his 13th victory against four losses. Dick Ruthven was the loser for the Braves. Willie Montanez hit his 14th homer for Atlanta.

American Stars journey losers

Combining powerful hitting with near air-tight pitching, the Windsor Locks American Little League All-Stars eliminated the Manchester District Eight play at Leber Field last night, 10-1. Johnny Johnson completely stymied the locals with a one-hit effort - a second inning single by Bill Hill that drove in the lone run. The visitors showed their power in the first inning with four runs crossing the plate. Three singles, two doubles and an error produced the tallies which proved more than enough to win. Mike Jorden paced a two-run homer in the second for a 6-0 lead against starter and loser Glenn Dibbits. Manchester's tally came when Mike McKenna walked, the only one issued by Johnson, moved up a base

Homeers bail out Yankees

NEW YORK (UPI) - Manager Billy Martin, who has been warned to produce, or else, was greeted by a standing ovation by the Yankee Stadium crowd when he walked up to home plate with the lineup cards Tuesday night. But it appeared for eight innings this night indeed he has his last week as Yankee manager.

The Baltimore Orioles, the American League East Division leaders, led 4-2, behind Ross Grimsley entering the ninth when Cliff Johnson came to the rescue. Grimsley was replaced by Tippy Martinez after walking leadoff batter Roy White in the ninth, and after Martinez retired Graig Nettles on a pop out, Johnson unloaded a two-run homer to tie the score. One inning later, Reggie Jackson stroked a leadoff homer to give the Yankees a 5-4 triumph.

"It's a big moment for me, mostly because of the game and because it is very important that we beat the Orioles right now," said Jackson. Martin was almost as excited by the ovation he received as he was by the victory. "It just gives you chills. I never had an ovation like that when I homer for Detroit.

Detroit, 8-3, Minnesota crushed Toronto, 14-0, Oakland edged California 3-1, and Seattle outslugged Minnesota, 8-7. Red Sox 4, Brewers 3. The Red Sox were sorely in need of a well-pitched game and they got it from rookie Don Anze, who was recalled from the minors earlier in the day. Anze struck out 11 and scattered nine hits in his major league debut. Jim Rice helped with his league-leading 28th homer in the first inning and Rick Miller singled home the tie-breaking run in the seventh. White Sox 8, Tigers 3. The White Sox, the scourge of AL pitchers, ran their winning streak to six games as Richie Zisk drove in five runs with his 20th homer and a triple and Chet Lemon added a two-run homer. Rusty Staub hit a two-run homer for Detroit.

Loobsters net win

HARTFORD (UPI) - Martina Navratilova dominated Chris Evert, 6-4, Tuesday night to pace the Boston Lobsters to a 28-20 World Team Tennis victory over the Phoenix Raquetts. Navratilova earlier teamed with Greer Stevens to beat Evert and Stephanie Tolleson, 6-2, in the first set of the match. The Lobsters also got help from Tony Roche, who defeated Ross Case, 6-4, in the men's singles 1/2. In other play, Stevens and Mike Estep defeated Janet Newberry and Case, 6-3, and Brian Cheney and Butch Walls beat Roche and Roy Emerson, 6-3, in the women's doubles. The Lobsters have three home games remaining, along with seven matches on the road. Today, the Lobsters face the Natick, Rosie Casals and the Los Angeles Strlings at their Waterbury home.
