

Parks, Rec Commission will meet tonight

Coventry
The Coventry Parks and Recreation Commission will hold a special meeting tonight at the Town Hall at 7:30 to consider the appointment of a part-time director.
The commission requested $12,000 for the current fiscal year to hire a full-time director to coordinate town recreation programs. But the Town Council cut the appropriation to $3,000 for a part-time director for the summer months only.
The commission will also consider a request by Head Lifeguard Tom Duffy to purchase beach umbrellas for the lifeguard chairs. Duffy reported last week that unprotected guards had been blistered and sickened by the sun.
The group is also expected to make final plans for an August tennis program headed by volunteer Anthony D'Ambrosio. William Ayer has declined to run the soccer program again this fall and speculates that there probably will be no soccer for boys and girls.

Coventry's soccer team for girls, which has remained undefeated for six years, will compete this fall in the Robbie International Girls' Soccer Tournament in Scarborough, Ont., Can.
Team Coach Karen Richardson said last week that 20 Coventry players are expected to play three to five games. The team has raised more than $1,000 through car washes, bake sales, and tag sales and has received donations from various town businesses and organizations to finance the trip.
There are only 11 high school girls' soccer teams in Connecticut. The local team received the Canadian invitation after coming in third in a Washington tournament last year.
Team Captains Pam Lietro and Mary Lou Breven have led the 33 girls registered in their program to victory in 11 games this season.
Town Manager Frank Connolly warned this week that Coventry residents must have parking stickers for Lisette Beach.

"The Police Department will be checking vehicles to ensure that each one has an appropriate sticker," the manager said.
Residents needing stickers may obtain them at the Police Department on the lower level of the Town Hall on Rt. 31.

Grasso says I-84 fate to be decided this year

HARTFORD (UPI) — Connecticut's decision on whether to extend Interstate 84 from the Hartford area to Providence, R.I., will be made by year's end in conjunction with Rhode Island officials, Gov. Ella T. Grasso said today.
Mrs. Grasso told a Capitol news conference she planned to meet with Rhode Island Gov. J. Joseph Garrahy to discuss plans for the project, which has been stalled for nearly a decade. She said she hoped to make a decision on it "soon," at least by year's end.
Environmentalists have fought approval of the project, claiming it will damage the environment in heavily rural Eastern Connecticut. But proponents of the road claim it will boost the depleted economy in that part of the state.

The federal government has approved its contribution of 90 per cent of the funding on the more than $200 million project. But officials in both states have been wrestling with the problem of whether they want to put up their share of the money.
Mrs. Grasso indicated she would not make a decision on whether to proceed with the project without knowledge that Rhode Island officials favored a similar course of action.
Mrs. Grasso made the comments when asked if she was considering trying to use the federal dollars already set aside for that project for mass transit projects instead. She has advocated such use of federal funds for other roads in the Hartford area the state has decided not to build.

She said if the state decided not to use the I-84 money for that purpose, then Connecticut would explore the possibility of using those dollars for mass transit in Eastern Connecticut.
Mrs. Grasso also said she is continuing to get mail complaining about Superior Court Judge Simon Cohen, who has been involved in a series of controversial decisions recently.
She said she imagined a new judicial review council, which was created by lawmakers this year but does not officially have any powers until Jan. 1, 1978, would look into the Cohen matter.
Jay Jackson, Mrs. Grasso's legal aide, said he thought the council, whose members are expected to be named within a week, could begin its organizational work and start assembling information on expected cases before January. But he said he didn't think the panel could do anything "substantive" before then.

In other matters Mrs. Grasso said she disapproved of a decision by the state gaming commission to lift a moratorium on accepting licenses for new legalized gambling facilities. She said it could lead to more gaming in Connecticut, which she opposes.
U.S. Transportation Secretary Brock Adams had said Detroit had expressed some interest in buying the so-called people mover at Bradley International Airport. The equipment for the project was bought during Gov. Thomas Meskill administration, but it never began operation because the cost of operation was prohibitive.

Old fashioned picnic at Lutz
With water dripping from his face, a victorious Tom Wesoloski, 8, of 182 Green Rd. crunches his prize apple at the apple-dunking contest at the Lutz Junior Museum picnic on Wednesday.

Pretty Gina Marozzi, 7, of Blue Ridge Dr. hides under her parasol, as Jeff Tolbert, 11, of 140 Strawberry Lane approaches in his "Hunchback of Notre Dame" costume. Youngsters were winners in the costume contest, one of the many activities at the Lutz picnic. Carter sees good prospects for nuclear test ban talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter said today formal negotiations will begin in Geneva Oct. 3 on a total ban on testing nuclear devices because of "sufficiently promising" preliminary talks between the United States, the Soviet Union and Great Britain.

Carter said that although there still are a number of problems, "the intensive discussions have been sufficiently promising to begin discussions in Geneva on Oct. 3" on a nuclear test ban treaty.
He told his biweekly news conference, "My hope is that other nations will join us."
Carter also strongly urged passage of a bill providing public financing of Senate election campaigns to "help restore public confidence" in the electoral process. Republicans are trying to filibuster the bill to death on the Senate floor.

"I hope the Senate will approve the financing bill," Carter said.
He said a major problem with the electoral process is "single source" campaign contributions which create potential for conflict of interest. He drew laughter by joking that a law providing for federal funding of presidential campaigns "worked very well last year."
Carter made his statements on the Geneva talks and the election financing bill to open the news conference before taking questions from the White House press corps.

In answer to a question, Carter denied that he is "setting up a competition" for arms sales among emerging nations in Africa. He said "both we and the Soviets have shown restraint" in conflicts in Africa.
Carter said, "I am determined to continue a downward trend in arms sales," and he denied that a flurry of new sales to Egypt, Sudan and Somalia contradicted his campaign promises to cut down such shipments abroad.
He said the arms sales were made in an attempt to confine the conflicts to a single geographical area, "and to reduce competition with the Soviet Union."
He said a prime consideration in arms sales is "our own defensive needs and an adequate defense for our allies." After this year, he said, there will be a reduction in such sales.
"We are trying to get other nations — France, England and the Soviet Union — to join us."

BERLIN, Conn. (UPI) — Northeast Utilities has opened its public relations drive to back up its request for a $90 million rate increase. The firm held an "informational" meeting Wednesday for about 75 business and civic leaders and said that if the increase is not granted Northeast faced irreparable financial harm.
MIDDLETOWN, Conn. (UPI) — Convicted gun thief Chester Orsini has asked for a new trial, claiming former State's Attorney Robert Hurney framed him at his 1976 trial. Orsini, a Meriden resident, filed a petition in Superior Court Wednesday charging Hurney with submitting false evidence, misconduct and tampering with witnesses.

PARK RIDGE, Ill. (UPI) — The American Farm Bureau says President Carter's proposals to amend the National Labor Relations Act "lilt the act too far in the direction of labor." The AFBF announced its opposition Wednesday in a statement to the House subcommittee on labor-management relations considering amendments to the NLRA.
The AFBF said the balance of power between management and labor has tipped too far on the side of labor, citing as an example that it is illegal for a group of corporations to get together and close down an entire industry. Yet it is perfectly legal for a labor union to close down that same industry, the statement said.

Manchester budget shows small surplus
By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter
Town of Manchester officials said this morning that the budget for 1977-78 will end with a surplus, although it may not be a very large one.
"We feel we've ended in the black," Thomas S. Moore, town controller, said. Budget Analyst Paula Yellman confirmed that projections show that there will be no deficit for the 1977-78 fiscal year, which ended June 30.

GM profits high, warns of shutdowns

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp. reported a $1.1 billion April-June profit — the biggest in its history — and then detailed plans Wednesday to close all U.S. operations by mid-September if Congress does not ease clean air rules.
It was the first time the world's largest auto company topped the billion-dollar mark in a three-month period, but the mark was overshadowed by warnings from the firm's top officers.
Chairman Thomas A. Murphy and President Elliott M. Estes noted their production of a record sales year, topping 14.6 million cars and trucks in 1973, hinged on an orderly start-up of 1978-model production. They said the first cars are scheduled to roll off assembly lines Aug. 8.
"Should Congress not act by then, plant closings would have to be scheduled immediately," they said. "Component plants would be affected first and all automobile production and market would be scheduled to be terminated by mid-September."
It was the first time GM officials had outlined a timetable for a shutdown that could idle most of the 447,000 blue collar workers employed by GM in this country. Other U.S. auto companies have voted similar warnings which Tuesday prompted President Carter to urge Congress to speed up deliberations on a new clean air bill and avoid a major economic disruption.

The GM second quarter financial report, however, was all rosy with the automaker turning in the highest unit sales, dollar sales and profits for any quarter in its history.
GM's warnings ($3.62 a share) were 20.7 per cent higher than last year's $309 million ($3.16 a share), the previous April-June high. Sales of $14.5 billion, up 18.8 per cent from $12.5 billion, also were a record for any quarter in the firm's history.
While ranked No. 2 among U.S. corporations, GM's $1.1 billion profit easily outdistanced the best ever done by No. 1 Exxon — $882 million in the fourth quarter of 1974. American Telephone & Telegraph, with a 1.59 billion profit in its latest quarter, leads the list.
Despite the record sales and profits, GM top executives said the firm's profit margin remained well below record levels — slightly more than seven cents on each sales dollar.

Coventry can hire workers

Town Manager Frank Connolly has announced that Coventry has received federal approval to hire three new employees funded by the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) and plans to submit a project application for six additional workers.
The three positions are for an administrative clerk at the Town Hall, and engineering aide to do research in rights-of-way, and a draftsman to work on property line base maps.
The six-person project being planned by the Town Council is in the area of environmental quality, transportation, and public safety involving the town's roads.
If John Lorch, project coordinator in Connecticut, approves the application, the six public safety workers will be available to Coventry for at least six months.

Top locks displayed by police

The Coventry Police Department has a display of top security locks for home protection on the main floor at the Town Hall.
The display features deadbolt entry handles, "panicproof" deadbolt entry locks, and auxiliary deadbolts. There is also a Kwikset security kit of locksets.
A large diagram explains how commercial property may be outfitted for crime protection. Officer Ronald Doughty has given a presentation on how to discourage burglars before several town groups in past months.
Police Chief Robert Kjellquist reports that "a burglar's odds are approximately 100 to 1 in his favor." In order to protect against crime, the chief recommends ample lighting, a warning sticker, marking personal property, and reporting suspicious persons.
The department will send a crime prevention officer to visit individual homes and discuss security programs upon request.

Health Systems Agency seeks citizen members

The Subarea F of the Health Systems Agency of North Central Connecticut (HSA) is seeking citizen membership for four task forces that are being established to examine health needs.

The task forces will study four areas—mental, dental, home, and industrial health care.

Dr. Alice Turek, Manchester's director of health, said that members of the community are being sought to participate in each of the four groups. She has supplied John Day, an HSA staff member, with information about local political and civic groups that might be able to find members for the task forces.

Anyone who is interested in joining the task forces should contact the Town of Manchester Health Department at 649-5281 or Day at the HSA office, 249-7581.

The Subarea F includes

Manchester, Andover, Hebron, Bolton, South Windsor, East Hartford, Glastonbury and Marlborough.

Almanac Town, union agree on grievance

In 1945, the United States Senate ratified the United Nations charter by a vote of 89 to 2.

Also in 1945, an Army B-25 bomber lost in the fog crashed into the side of the Empire State Building in New York City, killing 13 persons.

The Town of Manchester and the union representing Public Works Department employees have agreed to a letter of understanding concerning a payment resulting from a union grievance.

The letter states that the town is committed to observing rulings that result from grievances and other labor-related matters, Peter C. Horn, an assistant labor relations agent with the state, said.

The union—the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO, Local 691—filed an unfair labor charge against the town because of an alleged delay in payment, resulting from a safety shoe grievance.

The grievance was filed because the town had said that workers would have to buy the shoes, which are required when working in hazardous areas. Thus, workers bought their own shoes.

A state labor board, however, ruled that the town should make the payments. The union said that it had expected reimbursement from the town by May 13.

The town said that it had set no such deadlines as when the payment would be made. The union members were reimbursed for the shoes about three weeks after the May 13 date, Horn said.

Because it believed the payments were late, the union filed the charge. The eventual outcome was the letter of understanding between the two parties, Horn said.

Double day lilies, considered rare but not so unusual as to be valuable, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McKay on Dooley Ave., in Coventry. Flowers have an extra row of petals. Color is the familiar orange that seems to be basic for day lilies. (Herald photo by Dunn)

Gardening By FRANK ATWOOD

Barbara McKay asked on the phone if I had ever seen a double day lily. I said I had not, and accepted Mrs. McKay's invitation to see one at the home she and her husband, Arthur, occupy, with their small son, on the hillside above Coventry Lake.

The road past their home runs down the hill, and when they moved there, a brook ran down the road with every storm and spilled over on the front lawn. To block the water, Barbara's father-in-law, also Arthur McKay, of Manchester, planted a row of day lilies on the edge of the lawn, on a ridge of soil.

Day lilies form a mass of closely bound roots and they formed an effective water-break. The ground water stayed out of the yard and this year Mrs. McKay saw her day lilies in bloom.

She found to her surprise that the blossoms had a second row of petals inside the usual outer layer. They seemed to be double flowers but she had never heard of a double day lily. Unusual but not new. I checked with Miss Millicent A. Jones of Bolton who said, yes, she had some double day lilies in her garden in Manchester and thought they were probably very old.

The double day lilies were unusual, said Miss Jones, but not new, by any means. So far as she knew they are always orange.

Visiting Mrs. McKay, I met her father-in-law, who had provided the roots for this planting of day lilies from his garden on Highland St. He said they came from his mother who, he thought, had them from a friend in Massachusetts.

Since Mrs. McKay called my attention to these flowers, I have concluded they are not as rare as I had been led to think. I saw a clump of them on the roadside coming home from Coventry. When I drove to The Herald, I found a row of the double lilies in front of a home on Brainerd Pl., opposite The Herald parking lot. We could have made our picture there instead of driving out to Coventry Lake.

Since we had started with day lilies as a subject, I went to see Arthur Holgerson on Kelly Rd., South Windsor. I remembered that Mr. Holgerson had many kinds of day lilies and he told me he has 65 varieties in a large bed behind the Holgerson home.

The earliest of his day lilies, a brown and a yellow, bloomed in early June. Blossoming now, in a large varicolored block, are pink, apricot, red and one blossom that has alternate yellow and red petals. Purchase price

One of Mr. Holgerson's favorites is a clear ruffled yellow, purchased from a mail-order house in Missouri, for $12 for a single root. He has a dusty pink from the same company, also priced at $12. With other varieties, some not yet in bloom, he expects to have color in his day lily planting "almost until frost." Some of his plants, in a row at the edge of the garden, are seedlings raised from his own seed. The parents have been crossed naturally by bees and he doesn't know what colors to expect. One that is in bloom now is a nice yellow and another one is pink.

This is the way new varieties originate, except that commercial hybridizers would know what plants had been crossed to become the parents and when the grower finds a seedling that he thinks can be called "new," he gives it a name and puts it

When you look at catalogues from two suppliers, said Mr. Holgerson, you find the variety names are all different, although the blossoms, when grown, are very much alike. He thinks there must be thousands of named varieties. He has never seen a double day lily advertised.

Mr. Holgerson plants the day lilies in rows, but they multiply prodigiously. He pointed to one variety, said he planted five of them to start, and thought now there are 100.

A confession would be in order. After I had conducted this research on double day lilies, my wife found some of them growing beside our driveway on Westland St. They were there when we bought our home.

Johnson uses firm hand

Bernard Johnson deserves a compliment for his handling of two recent meetings of the Manchester Zoning Board of Appeals, which he chairs. Both meetings - a recent discussion of the Maple St. addition and a May meeting between the ZBA and Chief Building Inspector Francis J. Conti - were centers of attention when they occurred. And because of this, both had at least the potential to develop into more than just the normal, run-of-the-mill zoning appeal hearing.

Detroit - so far, so good

Some decades after the deterioration of the nation's central cities became a matter of universal concern, the verdict is still out on the question of whether any combination of public and private efforts can reverse the trend. The single most ambitious urban renewal project so far is Detroit's Renaissance Center, the $337-million privately financed brainchild of Henry Ford II and other civic-minded business leaders.

Thought

We must be prepared to meet God. It is appointed unto man once to die. Death is an enemy. It's no friend. It's no friend of yours or mine. Nowhere does the Bible speak of death as a friend. It is the last enemy.

and to experience the joy of living in Christ. We will have a home where moths and thieves can't break through and steal. Where nothing can mar our lives and our experience.

Miscarriage of justice

To the editor: I wish to express my one small voice of anger at the knowledge that a judge has the power to overrule the verdict of a jury.

One man's lonely fight against pornography

WASHINGTON - When Simon L. Leis Jr. was elected prosecuting attorney to Hamilton County, Ohio in 1971, there were 11 so-called "adult" bookstores and five adult movie houses in the county's principal city, Cincinnati. Today, thanks to an aroused citizenry and vigorous enforcement of local anti-obscenity laws, there are none of either.

other that the sale price is not high enough. To be sold as the land is now zoned it perhaps could be divided with the addition of a road into a few double A building lots. Not too long ago the church trustees had voted - (later rescinded) - to board up the Frank Cheney house so it wouldn't need to be heated and hopefully to deter vandals. Is this a better answer than renovating the homes to be used as part of a living center?

Coal slurry pipeline sparks feud

WASHINGTON - (LENS) - There is only one coal slurry pipeline operating in the world and American utility companies would like to keep it that way. Two-thirds of America's coal is transported by rail - barges haul the rest - and the railways see a highly profitable future for themselves in President Carter's plan to wean the nation off oil and natural gas by doubling coal consumption within a decade.

Railroads line up against oil producers beds in the semi-arid West - in Wyoming, Montana, Colorado and Arizona. It can be strip-mined with huge machines and without large numbers of unionized underground miners prone to strikes and annual demands for wage increases. But the greatest need for this coal is in the South - in Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Arkansas - where electricity companies are under great pressure from the government to substitute coal for the wasteful use of natural gas as a boiler fuel.

State GOP hurt by lack of funds

HARTFORD (UPI) — Connecticut's Republican party is suffering from financial ailments which leaders say may force them to close state headquarters.

Deputy state chairman Don Schmidt Wednesday said the state GOP, which is taking aim at the governor's chair and legislature after a period of powerlessness, has only three weeks of operating funds on hand.

"We don't have any choice, we'll have to close shop and cut down our overhead. The so-called party of the rich is not the party of the rich," said Schmidt.

"Too many people made promises and didn't keep them. People haven't done things they pledged to do. I'm going to make a decision about what to do about the headquarters operation in about three weeks," explained State GOP Chairman Frederick K. Biebel.

Former state Environmental Commissioner Dan Lufkin, who has been crisscrossing the state in an effort to help raise funds for the GOP, said the situation was deteriorating.

"We don't have any money in the till and campaign finance laws preclude our going back to the same people for money over and over again as we have done in the past," said Lufkin.

Lufkin is thought to be among the leading contenders for the GOP gubernatorial nomination next year.

Officials emphasized the state party was living within its budget, but anticipated revenues through fundraising had not materialized.

Schmidt said the party headquarters had a monthly overhead of between $50,000-$70,000 to pay for 14 staff members, rent for an office in Hartford and expenses. He said he hopes state headquarters will not have to be closed.

Democrats in Connecticut hold almost a 200,000 plurality in registrations in addition to controlling the governorship, both houses of the legislature, four of the six congressional seats and one of the two Senate seats.

But the GOP carried the state last fall for former President Gerald Ford and gained in the legislature. Party leaders have predicted they will win the governorship and control of the legislature in 1978.

Flow of oil halted again

VALDEZ, Alaska (UPI) — The first flow of North Slope crude oil was stopped again today, less than 20 miles from the end of the Trans-Alaska pipeline while workers repaired one more flaw in the troubled $9 billion project.

"The oil was shut down about 3 p.m. Wednesday pending repairs to a faulty weld in the terminal," said Beverly Ward, spokeswoman for Alyeska Pipeline Service Co., Inc. in Anchorage.

"We don't know when it will be restarted, but I'm still hoping it's going to be sometime Thursday."

However, an Alyeska spokesman in Valdez said the latest oil flow interruption might last anywhere from 24 to 48 hours.

The initial flow of oil along the 800-mile route has been marred by explosion, death and injuries, one bombing, and more than $20 million in damage.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I just read in a magazine that one of the most unusual letters you ever received was from a woman who said that on her honeymoon her husband wanted her to lie in a tub of cold water for 20 minutes, and then come to bed and "pretend" she was dead.

Boy he IS weird! I would have been satisfied if on our honeymoon my wife had taken a hot bath and come to bed pretending she was ALIVE!

DEAR OPPOSITE: The wife of the weirdo who likes 'em cold and lifeless wrote to my sister. Not me.

DEAR ABBY: I was raped almost two years ago and something has been bothering me ever since. I was a virgin before I was raped, and now I won't be able to wear a white wedding dress because white stands for purity, and I'm not pure anymore.

I don't have a boyfriend and I may never get one, but in case I do I'll have to tell him the whole story and he may not even believe me.

DEAR TROUBLE: Even though you may not be a virgin technically, you are still morally "pure." However, white gowns are not reserved for virgin brides only. Any bride who has never been married before may wear white.

DEAR ABBY: I recently attended a wedding with a male friend of mine. Although the invitation was sent to him, he asked me to accompany him. I accepted and we had a wonderful time. To my amazement, my friend received a bill for $25 for "making a date."

In the past, my friend and I double-dated several times with the bride and groom, so I was no stranger to them. My friend and the groom had even been roommates for a while.

I'm in my 30s and have attended many weddings myself (taking a date, or vice versa) and I have never heard of being "billed" for my guest.

The parents of the bride are supposedly "upper crust" society. Is this proper? Have you ever heard of this? SAN FRANCISCO

DEAR SAN: It is not proper, and I've never heard of it before. You fail to mention whether your friend asked if he could bring a date. If he brought you without asking, perhaps this was their way of punishing him. In any case, it was a chintzy stunt.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lusk Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped 10¢ envelope.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I just read in a magazine that one of the most unusual letters you ever received was from a woman who said that on her honeymoon her husband wanted her to lie in a tub of cold water for 20 minutes, and then come to bed and "pretend" she was dead.

Boy he IS weird! I would have been satisfied if on our honeymoon my wife had taken a hot bath and come to bed pretending she was ALIVE!

DEAR OPPOSITE: The wife of the weirdo who likes 'em cold and lifeless wrote to my sister. Not me.

DEAR ABBY: I was raped almost two years ago and something has been bothering me ever since. I was a virgin before I was raped, and now I won't be able to wear a white wedding dress because white stands for purity, and I'm not pure anymore.

I don't have a boyfriend and I may never get one, but in case I do I'll have to tell him the whole story and he may not even believe me.

DEAR TROUBLE: Even though you may not be a virgin technically, you are still morally "pure." However, white gowns are not reserved for virgin brides only. Any bride who has never been married before may wear white.

DEAR ABBY: I recently attended a wedding with a male friend of mine. Although the invitation was sent to him, he asked me to accompany him. I accepted and we had a wonderful time. To my amazement, my friend received a bill for $25 for "making a date."

In the past, my friend and I double-dated several times with the bride and groom, so I was no stranger to them. My friend and the groom had even been roommates for a while.

I'm in my 30s and have attended many weddings myself (taking a date, or vice versa) and I have never heard of being "billed" for my guest.

The parents of the bride are supposedly "upper crust" society. Is this proper? Have you ever heard of this? SAN FRANCISCO

DEAR SAN: It is not proper, and I've never heard of it before. You fail to mention whether your friend asked if he could bring a date. If he brought you without asking, perhaps this was their way of punishing him. In any case, it was a chintzy stunt.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lusk Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped 10¢ envelope.

Burials go on despite strike

A gravediggers' strike, in its second week in Connecticut Catholic cemeteries, has not held up any burials in St. James Cemetery in Manchester, according to Henry Higgins, manager of St. James Cemetery.

He said the management has taken over opening graves. Burials in other cemeteries in the Catholic Cemetery Association have dropped from about 95 a week to around 25 a week, with no settlement in sight.

The strike started July 15 when 85 gravediggers and other cemetery workers represented by the United Steelworkers of America, Local 1422, walked off their jobs.

The major obstacle, according to a union representative, is the Catholic Cemetery Association's desire to eliminate a clause guaranteeing jobs for 64 gravediggers. Fewer burials and modern gravedigging methods make the clause an unwanted burden on the association.

Negotiations conducted this week by state mediator Joseph Ferraro ended without agreement and with no new sessions scheduled. The association operates 25 cemeteries in the Diocese of Hartford.

At one point in early June, Mayor Matthew Moriarty asked that all non-essential spending be eliminated for the remainder of the fiscal year.

Some town departments, however, finished the year with surpluses, and some revenues exceeded estimates.

These factors, along with the calculation of the accounts receivable, will provide a surplus for last year, according to those officials closest to budget proceedings.

Refund from the federal government for sewer work that the town had pre-funded, Weiss said.

In the past two months, town officials had expressed concern that the budget for the 1976-77 year might end in a deficit. A shortfall of $348,000 in tax collection raised concern that the budget might end in the black.

Watchbags, police say

Detective Capt. Joseph Sartor of the Manchester Police Department is urging all women residents to take precautionary measures regarding placement of their pocketbooks in their homes, while out shopping and on the street.

Several incidents have occurred recently in which pocketbooks were stolen from kitchens and other visible locations in homes, and at least two from women while walking down the street. Sartor urges residents to keep doors locked, purses out of plain view in homes, to hang onto them while shopping.

Manchester police

Similar break-ins were reported at two Hathaway Lane homes during the early morning hours Wednesday. The breaks resulted in the theft of two women's pocketbooks containing cash, and a car from one of the homes.

Police said the entry into the homes was made through rear doors and the only items taken from inside were the pocketbooks, which were both emptied in the yards. Only the money and the car from the house and car from the one home were taken police said. The car was parked in the driveway of the home.

Another pocketbook was reported stolen from a woman by a passing bicyclist while the woman was walking on School St. Wednesday afternoon. Police said three white male youths on bicycles came from behind the woman and one of them snatched the purse. They continued down Spruce St. Cynthia Smith, 16, of Hartford, was charged with third-degree larceny Wednesday in connection with a shoplifting incident at Marshall's on Center St. She was released on $100 cash bond for court Aug. 15.

Area police report

South Windsor

South Windsor Police said that a motor vehicle reported stolen from East Hartford was found destroyed by fire in a cornfield off Nutmeg Rd. in South Windsor.

Fire crews were called to the scene, but the car was destroyed by the fire damage, police reported.

Library funding to get hearing

The South Windsor Town Council has informally agreed to appropriate the additional $46,000 for the new library project at a work session earlier this week.

The appropriation, however, will come before the public at a hearing scheduled for 7:30 tonight at the high school auditorium on Nevers Rd.

The meeting was originally planned for Town Hall, but a large crowd is expected, forcing the move to larger facilities.

The additional appropriation is needed because of a computer error in the amount of federal funds slated for the town. South Windsor has already appropriated some $260,000 in town monies and the need for another $46,000 has come as a surprise to town officials.

The proposed library is expected to cost about $831,000; however, some town officials have expressed doubt that the project can remain within the set amount.

Councilman John J. Mitchell has stated that he is opposed to still another appropriation toward the library, and has said he will vote against the project at the special council meeting following the public hearing tonight.

He warned the council it would end up appropriating even more funds because he doubted that the proposed

Town will study north-south road

Town Manager Robert B. Weiss has said that he will ask the Director of Planning Alan F. Lamson to study the possibility of a north-south road for the Town of Manchester.

Weiss made his remark in a letter to William R. Johnson, president of the Greater Manchester Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber last week said that it supports study of such a north-south road. Weiss wrote to Johnson, "I certainly concur with your suggestion and I am instructing the director of planning to give serious thought to this."

He also suggested that the chamber inform the state of its interest in such a route. "I know that some planning has gone on in the past regarding this need. We will update these and hopefully come up with some positive suggestions that we can at least consider a target," Weiss wrote to Johnson.

Nathan resigns EDC

Jerome Nathan has resigned as a member of the Manchester Economic Development Commission (EDC). Nathan, who is executive vice-president of Choice-Vend Inc. in Windsor Locks said that he is unable to attend the daytime meetings of the town's proposed industrial park.

Power lost in South Windsor

A damaged lightning arrester resulted in a loss of power Wednesday afternoon for about 1,600 South Windsor customers, including the Town Hall.

The outage occurred at 1:55 p.m. a Connecticut Light & Power spokesman said. Power was restored 20 minutes later for all customers except about 150 in the Sand Hill Estates area, the CL&P spokesman said.

Further underground cable problems kept power out in the Sand Hill Estates area after the first problem was repaired, the spokesman said.

He said that company repair crews worked until about 5 a.m. this morning repairing the underground cable problem.

Robinson enjoying game with Pirates

NEW YORK (UPI) — "I'm enjoying the game again," Bill Robinson said Wednesday night. That was after he helped the Pittsburgh Pirates defeat the Houston Astros, 3-2, in 11 innings. Miscast as a savior to 1967-69 Yankee teams, Robinson never hit higher than .240 and found more frustration than a politician with largyisms.

Since being sold to Pittsburgh in April 1975 he has pinch hit, filled in and played occasional stretches as a regular — all with authority. With Pittsburgh trailing 2-1 in the ninth he hit a Joe Sambito pitch over the centerfield fence. In the 11th he walked, advanced on a sacrifice and an error and scored on Rennie Stennett's single. Reds 6-1, Cubs 2-5. Larry Blittner delivered a run-scoring single and Jerry Morales and Manny Trillo added sacrifice flies in the eighth to give the Cubs a split after the Reds broke an eight-game losing streak, their longest in 11 years, in the opener. Mets 7, Giants 4: Rookie Steve Henderson drove in two runs and scored two others to lead a 16-hit attack on five San Francisco pitchers. Felix Millan, who had three hits for the second straight game, hit his senior homer of the year in the ninth for New York.

CARLISLE, Pa. (UPI) — Washington Redskins' running back Mike Thomas, who reported to camp Tuesday night after a two-day holdout, strained a hamstring muscle at Wednesday morning's practice. It was not considered serious. Thomas, who is obligated to the Redskins in the option year of his contract, is seeking a new contract. He and wide receiver Frank Grant, another holdout who reported late Tuesday, were fined $1,000 for missing the first two days of practice.

Concerts scheduled at band shell

Two concerts have been scheduled during August at the Manchester Bicentennial Band Shell at Manchester Community College.

The first concert will be Aug. 7 at 8:30 p.m. by the Manchester Community College Summer Winds.

The 45-piece symphonic band featuring all instruments except strings will present a program of show tunes, marches and light classical music.

The group of local musicians of all ages grew out of the MCC Summer Pops orchestra three years ago and is conducted by Philip Streifer, teacher of instrumental music in the South Windsor School system. Administrator-manager of the band is Marilyn Richardson of Manchester.

The concert numbers will include "The Lincoln Portrait" by Aaron Copland. Light refreshments will be served in the MCC student center after the concert.

The second band shell concert will be presented by the Manchester Community College Summer Pops on Aug. 20 at 8:30 p.m.

Dr. Robert Richardson, professor of English at MCC, is conductor of the 60 to 70-piece orchestra. Concert mistress is Virginia Dato.

The program will include the march from "The Love of Three Oranges," and Faradole, light classical selections. Soloists will include Sara Bauer of West Hartford and Nicole Frasher of Manchester, two second-grade students who play violin by the Suzuki method.

MCC Summer Pops was formed eight years ago.

Imported Peanuts
The peanut, native to the Americas, was imported into Africa by Portuguese traders and returned again in the 18th and 19th centuries on ships transporting slaves. Primary intended as food for the slaves during the long ocean crossing, the peanuts that were left over from these voyages were planted around the slave cabins. This was the beginning of one of the most important crops in the United States.

Area police report

East Hartford

East Hartford Police have arrested a 17-year-old Rockville resident and charged him with CB-radio thefts that occurred in early June.

Thomas J. Marshat, 17, of 79 High St., Rockville, was charged with three counts of third-degree larceny and one count of fourth-degree larceny, police said. He was presented Wednesday in East Hartford Court of Common Pleas, and his court date was set for Aug. 22.

South Windsor

South Windsor Police said that a motor vehicle reported stolen from East Hartford was found destroyed by fire in a cornfield off Nutmeg Rd. in South Windsor.

The car belonged to Irene Gentile of 233 Ellington Rd., East Hartford, police said. It was located at 1:47 a.m. today in the field.

Fire crews were called to the scene, but the car was destroyed by the fire damage, police reported.

A theft of fruits and vegetables from the Corn Crib on Buckland Rd. was reported Wednesday, police said. The missing produce was valued at $54, according to police.

Police reported that swastikas were found painted at both the South Windsor sewage treatment plant and the Temple Beth Hillel. The incidents are under investigation.

South Windsor Police made the following arrests:
- John O. Newberg, 18, of 37 Wesley Tr., East Hartford, charged with disorderly conduct and third-degree criminal mischief. Police said that the arrest was made following an incident at the Brave Bull Cafe on Rt. 5.

Newberg was released on a $250 non-surety bond. His court date is Aug. 8.

Arthur G. Sieniewicz, 57, of Springfield, Mass., charged with failure to drive in proper lane, following a one-car accident on Sullivan Ave. The accident occurred at 1:03 a.m. today, police said. Court date is Aug. 12.

Hebron

Colchester State Police made an arrest following a two-car accident Wednesday on Rt. 66 in Hebron.

Daniel M. Sisson, 20, of Williamville, was charged with failure to grant the right of way from a driveway, police said.

Library funding to get hearing

South Windsor

The South Windsor Town Council has informally agreed to appropriate the additional $46,000 for the new library project at a work session earlier this week.

The appropriation, however, will come before the public at a hearing scheduled for 7:30 tonight at the high school auditorium on Nevers Rd.

The meeting was originally planned for Town Hall, but a large crowd is expected, forcing the move to larger facilities.

The additional appropriation is needed because of a computer error in the amount of federal funds slated for the town. South Windsor has already appropriated some $260,000 in town monies and the need for another $46,000 has come as a surprise to town officials.

The proposed library is expected to cost about $831,000; however, some town officials have expressed doubt that the project can remain within the set amount.

Councilman John J. Mitchell has stated that he is opposed to still another appropriation toward the library, and has said he will vote against the project at the special council meeting following the public hearing tonight.

He warned the council it would end up appropriating even more funds because he doubted that the proposed 15,000 square foot structure could be built for $831,000.

The money is expected to be appropriated from the Capital Reserve Fund.

Outdoor music barred

Bolton

The owner of the Alpha Omega Inn on Bolton Lake have been issued a permanent injunction, effective immediately, prohibiting the application of outdoor music and vocal singing at the inn. Effective May 1, 1978, the Alpha Omega must have all windows and doors closed while music is being played.

The court order, handed down by Judge John P. Shea Jr., was based on an agreement between the attorney for the plaintiffs and the attorney for the defendant.

Atty. Daniel Harris, representing the plaintiffs, said, "I think it was a fair decision."

Atty. Richard Brown, representing the defendant, could not be reached for comment.

The case was heard in Tolland County Superior Court Wednesday. Owners of the Alpha Omega Inn were first ordered to appear in court July 13 to answer complaints by Bolton Lake area residents. The case was continued to yesterday.

At that time the plaintiffs sought and were granted a permanent injunction prohibiting the inn from playing electronically amplified music outside the building and inside the building when windows and doors are open.

Other claims by the defendants were dropped. They included a claim for $50,000 in damages and having the defendants conduct the conduct of its customers when they leave the premises.

The plaintiffs were Paul and Florine Baron, Frances and Lois O'Donnell, Shirley Lynch, Arthur Menning, Polly Harris, John and Constance Kolesko, Howard Lockward and Sarah Stephens.

Residents have been complaining for some time about the volume of music from the inn, which is apparently amplified across the water.

Charges against the inn manager, John Gorgolione, are still pending. The area followed a Crouch issued Gorgolione a summons charging him with violation of a state statute concerning liquor permit premises.

The area followed an appeal on July 19 but the case was continued pending the outcome of the lake residents' complaints.

Town Clerk Catherine Leiner said 329 persons have licensed their dogs this year. She said last year a total of 720 dogs were licensed.

$900 appropriated for lake treatment

Bolton

The Board of Selectmen adjourned its special meeting at 10:14 p.m. Monday and at 10:15 p.m. called an emergency meeting to act on a $900 appropriation.

After the special meeting was adjourned, First Selectman Henry Ryba remembered a telephone call he received from Stanley Pak, commissioner of the Department of Environmental Protection, concerning algae and bacteria treatment for Bolton Lake.

Ryba said the state would purchase the material and provide supervision of treatment for both the upper and lower lake. The $900 cost will be completely reimbursable.

A poll vote of members of the Board of Finance resulted in the appropriation being approved. The appropriation will be taken from cash surplus to the Director of Health Budget.

During its special meeting, the Board of Selectmen accepted the report of Robert Smith, Insurance Advisory Board, saying that government insurance would cost $22,410 for the present fiscal year. The amount is about $3,000 more than the amount budgeted. It does not include Board of Education insurance.

A verbal report on insurance costs was given to the selectmen by Joseph Gately.

At an earlier meeting, the selectmen had questioned $38,000 worth of bills they received in 12 "A" offices.

Of that amount, $24,000 was just transfer from revenue sharing money for library construction.

The remaining $14,000 was for routine bills, which had been added to the $24,000, making it appear there was $38,000 in bills instead of $31,000. Of the $7,000 in routine bills, the selectmen questioned about $600 from the Zoning Commission, civil preparedness and highway budgets.

At one of its first meetings, the selectmen approved payment of the bills, the bills were questioned.

At a future meeting, the selectmen hope to set up a procedure for paying bills. All concerned will be notified of the procedure.

Goss protesting island residence

Coventry

Paul Goss, president of Coventry's Believe Association in the lake area, has written to town officials protesting the construction of a residence on Turkington's Island in Coventry Lake.

Goss claims that the 66-by-284-foot island is not suitable for development and could pollute the lake through septic runoff. He also charges that municipal services would not have access to the island.

Zoning Agent Ernest Wheeler said that no building permit had been sought by owner Elmore Turkington and therefore the town could take no action at this time. Plans for development came to light recently when Town Sanitarian Donald Holmes told the Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC), which is also the town's wetlands agency, that he had issued a permit for a septic system on the island.

In other business, the PZC allowed Thomas McLaughlin to post a non-surety bond for removal of gravel from his pit on Plains Rd. McLaughlin proposed a three-phase plan for continuance of his gravel operation. Each two-acre phase will be covered for $5,000.

The commission also worked out changes to its bylaws for possible acceptance at a subsequent meeting. The changes include revision of all generic terminology such as chairman to generic terms such as chairperson.

Umpires feeling heat

"What's new?" was a question posed to Lee MacPhail, American League president, last week when our paths crossed at Yankee Stadium.

"Complaints from the ball clubs about the umpires," the league head said.

"We have seven rookie umpires on our staff, plus three who are filling in due to illness and injuries, and our office is getting a lot of complaints from the teams."

"The managers doing the most are involved in losing games," he continued.

The league has an umpiring staff of 28.

Due to mandatory retirements in the past few years, the American League staff of men in blue has undergone a radical change, plus the fact the league expanded and it meant work for four more men. Age 35 is the last year a man may call the pitches and plays on the major league scene.

"We have a good staff, and the new men have been doing a great job," MacPhail said in behalf of his staff.

"You rarely hear a complaint from a winning manager and with the closeness of the races, plus the hot weather, there tends to be an increase in complaints," he added.

With three teams in each division in the thick of the scramble for the pennant, catchers can expect to hear plenty of grief from the managers and players in the weeks ahead and MacPhail's office mail is bound to increase.

Tosomeone rates salute

Hat is doffed to Fred Compose and Phil Burgess in particular for the manner in which they worked with a committee in successfully running the third annual Candlelight Softball Tournament last two weekends.

More than $1,000 was realized for improvements to Robertson Park, site of Candlelight League regular season games. New York Yankees' next trip to Boston will be Sept. 19-20 while the Red Sox' next stop at Yankee Stadium will be Sept. 13-14, all night games. Death claimed Frank "Woody" Walliet last Tuesday at the age of 71. He was a superb catcher during his baseball playing days with the Shamrocks, Meriden Instiles and Hartford Savitt Gents. Tom Kelley will be director of athletics at Illing Junior High in the realignment of the position with Doug Pearson slated to move from Illing to Manchester High to fill the vacancy caused by Dave Wiggins' resignation. Pearson is the current varsity basketball and assistant varsity soccer coach at MHS.

Gates shows way in summer racing

Back in top form, Steve Gates showed his heels last night in the first of three "Run for Fun" races staged at Manchester Community College campus by winning the College Division.

The former Manchester High and Eastern Connecticut State College standout covered the 3.5 mile course in 19:10 to top a fine field of 37 runners.

Gates' time was a record in the SAM-sponsored run.

He was followed across the finish line by Chris Walton, Don Rowe, Pete Coy and Dan Lemieux, the latter four finishing within 20 seconds of one another.

Ed Lemieux of Manchester High ran an outstanding race to capture the High School Division and was fourth overall. John Clifford of East Catholic was second. John Lahada, Dave Timbrell and Ed Cog rounded out the top five in the division.

The night's most exciting race came in the Open Division with Bruce Laube breaking from the pack with a mile left to win in 23:06 with Bill Ogden, Roger Conley, Dave Greenbaum and Bob Massaro following.

Janine Dobson paced the women over the 1.7 miles in 10:59 with Mary Ann Bates, Lori Veal, Pam Dzen and Cassie Chapman following.

Boys Division founder Gary Gates duplicating his older brother's win over one mile in 9:08. Randy Poulan, Kent Stringfellow, Dave Gorman and Ian Cassidy followed.

Mara Walrath led the girls in the mile in 7:20 with Lisa Russell, Leslie Gates, Cheryl Veal, Martha Harvey following.

Top five in the jogger group were Brent Downing, winning in 10:57 over 1.7 miles, followed by Mark Downing, Harry Veal, Ed Gregory and R.J. Gaurin.

Master Bob Russell paced the veterans over 3.5 miles in 22:44 with Chuck Swallow second.

Next race will be Wednesday night starting at 7.

Cosmos, Sting and Raiders win

Championships were decided in the highly successful Manchester Recreation Department Summer Junior Soccer League program last night at Memorial Field.

With a crowd of 400 looking on, six champs from the three divisions performed.

Among the Pee-wees, age 6-8, the Cosmos of the East Division nipped the Eagles from the West, 3-2.

The winners got all three scores from talented Carl Skoog while Dennis Foreman and John Tiltotson tallied for the losers in a thriller from start to finish.

The Midgets, age 9-11, brought together the Metros from the North Division and the Sting representing the South.

The Sting prevailed when Jamie Gemballa tallied in the final period to break a 1-1 tie for a 2-1 success. John Janenda accounted for the other Sting tally while Mike Zotta booted the Metro's goal.

Brian Fessler and Don Gaston played well for the winners with Steve Logan, Doug McCloud and Chris Span and Zotta standouts in the setback.

Junior Division, age 12-14, found the talented Knights of the West bowing to the Raiders of the East, 2-0.

Robinson enjoying game with Pirates

NEW YORK (UPI) — "I'm enjoying the game again," Bill Robinson said Wednesday night. He was after he helped the Pittsburgh Pirates defeat the Houston Astros, 3-2, in 11 innings.

Miscast as a savior to 1967-69 Yankee teams, Robinson never hit higher than .260 and found more frustration than a politician with layabouts.

Since being sold to Pittsburgh in April 1975 he has pinch hit, filled in and played occasional stretches as a regular — all with authority.

With Pittsburgh trailing 2-1 in the ninth he hit a Joe Sambito pitch over the centerfield fence. In the 11th he walked, advanced on a sacrifice and an error and scored on Rennie Strommen's single.

Reds-6, Cubs 2-5. Larry Bittner delivered a run-scoring single and Jerry Morales and Manny Trillo added sacrifice flies in the eighth to give the Cubs a split after the Reds broke an eight-game losing streak, their longest in 11 years, in the opener.

Mets 7, Giants 4. Rookie Steve Henderson drove in two runs and scored two others to lead a 16-hit attack on five San Francisco pitchers. Felix Millan, who had three hits for the second straight game, hit his senior homer of the year in the ninth for New York.

Cardinals 5, Braves 3. Garry Templeton knocked in the tiebreaking run with a sacrifice fly and Tony Scott had three singles to pace St. Louis. Reliever Al Hrabosky, who was challenged by owner Gusie Busch to prove that long hair and a mustache are essential to his "Mad Hungarian" image, faced one batter in the seventh and earned the victory.

Dodgers 7, Phillies 5. George Hendrick hit a pair of two-run homers and rookie Tucker Ashford hit his second major league home run with one out in the bottom of the ninth inning to power San Diego. Reliever Tom Griffin, 6-9, pitched the last three innings for the win. Stan Bahsen led to 6-3.

Dodgers 7, Phillies 5. Los Angeles pinch hitter Lee Lacy slugged a three-run homer in the eighth and Lance Rautzhan retired two batters to record his first major league victory. Ron Coy hit his 19th homer and Steve Garvey hit his 24th for Los Angeles. Greg Luzinski hit his 23rd for Philadelphia.

Pero's gained the nod in the nightcap with an 8-6 success against Multi Circuit. Jim Keefer and Butch Talaga were in the two-hit game for Pero's while Bill Zwick, Fred Gilha, Dave Kossil and Tim Cunningham each had two hits for the Circuits, one of them a home run.

Two runs in the final frame gave Farr's an 8-7 decision over Klock last night at Fitzgerald. Ken Roback slammed three hits, Bob Roy, Mike Petersen and Kevin Garity each had two hits. One of the latter's drove in the winning run while Bob Roy had an inside-the-park homer.

Best in baseball were Joe Savino and Steve Thompson at Moriarty Field. Pitching also dominated the game between Crispino's and Marlborough at the latter. Tom Bonneau each with two hits.
