Carter is hopeful about Geneva talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter is hopeful a Geneva peace conference will be held this fall despite "major differences" between Arab and Israeli leaders over Palestinian representation and border issues.

Prospects for the conference, however, appeared to be diminishing in the aftermath of Secretary of State Cyrus Vance's recent journey to the Middle East.

Carter also says he is pleased with the "better than expected" initial response to the Panama Canal treaty. He arranged lunch today with former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger to enlist support.

Throughout the Nixon and Ford administrations, Kissinger was intimately involved in the treaty negotiations, which have been held off and on for 13 years.

Carter also planned to see Budget Director Bert Lance today for the first time in two weeks to discuss government reorganization plans.

In an ABC-TV interview Sunday, Carter said he believed Lance would take the initiative immediately "to step aside" if investigations into his previous banking transactions show he did anything improper or illegal.

But the President added that "no improprieties have been proven," and that he did not know the details of the probe being conducted by the comptroller of currency and does not want to get involved.

Carter heard a 2½-hour report from Vance on his Middle East peace mission Sunday.

Afterwards, the White House said that while some progress was made, "major differences between Arabs and Israelis remain on how Palestinian views can best be represented in negotiations, but also on the definition of secure and recognized borders and the nature of a Palestinian settlement."

The President remains "hopeful a conference can be reconvened this fall," the White House said.

Vance planned to continue talks at the United Nations with the foreign ministers of the Middle East nations, and Carter also will meet with them.

In the interview, Carter said "no one can expect miracles" and "we may or may not be successful, but we are going to continue to try in a very determined and tenacious way."

The Carters will head for Camp David Tuesday for a rest and work sojourn at the presidential retreat through the remainder of the week.

PLO eases policy on homeland issue

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — The Palestine Liberation Organization today aroused new hopes for an Arab-Israeli peace, saying it favors a Palestinian state linked to Jordan and may drop its demands to attend the Geneva peace talks.

But in announcing the PLO's second policy moderation in a week, Farouk Kaddoumi, the PLO's foreign minister, charged recent U.S. and Israeli peace moves were a cover for Israeli war preparations.

"We must not let the Americans and the Israelis fool us," Kaddoumi said. "We must keep our finger on the trigger because gun language is the only language American imperialism understands."

Kaddoumi told Monday Morning, an English language weekly journal, the PLO may accept a Palestinian state linked in some sort of confederation to Jordan and hinted it may abandon its demands to attend the Geneva conference.

"We are in favor of a link between that (Palestinian) state and Jordan because the Jordanians and the Palestinians are one people," he said, but added the state must first be established as an independent nation.

His statements on a Palestinian state — probably on West Bank of the Jordan and the Gaza Strip — reversed the PLO's rejection of a similar proposal last month by President Carter and Egyptian President Anwar Sadat.

Kaddoumi also said the issue of whether the PLO would be included in the stalled Geneva talks — a demand rejected by Israel and considered one of the main stumbling blocks to reconvened peace talks — was "not a major issue."

"The most important issue is whether the Palestinians will regain their lands and rights," he said, adding the makeup of a Palestinian delegation could be "settled easily among the Arabs."

Kaddoumi's comments came only six days after the PLO said it may be willing to recognize Israel's right to exist if the United Nations upgrades a U.N. resolution that refers to the Palestinians only as "refugees."

But Israel has said it would not accept a Palestinian nation — even one linked to Jordan.

Car disintegrates in crash

Woman dies in crash

Jeanne A. Sanford, 26, of 36 School St., Rockville was killed Sunday about 2:12 a.m. when the car she was driving veered off I-84 in East Hartford and crashed into several trees, state police said.

Police said this morning they are still investigating the accident and could not yet give a cause.

The car left the eastbound lane of I-

84 near the Simmons Rd overpass at a point where there are no guard rails. The large car disintegrated on striking several trees. It stripped most of the bark off the base of one.

The car burst into flames upon impact but the flames had died out by the time of arrival of East Hartford fire fighters.

Fire fighters used a rescue tool to remove the woman from the wreckage. She was taken to Manchester Memorial Hospital where she was pronounced dead on arrival.

One veteran state trooper said at the scene it was the worst looking accident he'd ever seen.

LOURDES, France — Thousands of pilgrims today celebrated Assumption Day in Lourdes despite a bomb explosion at the St. Pius X underground basilica, one of the world's most revered Roman Catholic shrines. No one was hurt in the blast early Sunday.

TEL AVIV, Israel — Prime Minister Menahem Begin insisted today Israel's plans to extend government services to occupied Arab territories reflected no intention to annex them. He said Sunday's decision was a humanitarian move to give nearly 1 million Arabs living in the West Bank of Jordan and Gaza Strip the same rights and protection enjoyed by Israeli citizens.

MOSCOW — The Communist party newspaper Pravda says President Carter's drive to reorganize the U.S. intelligence community is a play to cover up the "dirty operations of the cloak-and-dagger knights." Carter recently named CIA Director Stansfield Turner as head of an umbrella agency to set specific overall goals for the intelligence community.

More forest fires flare up

By ROBERT D. LURATI
United Press International

More dangerous forest fires flared in California today as fire fighters battled to save wilderness areas from the worst fire season in years.

The latest blazes to give serious concern to officials at the joint state-federal fire control center in Sacramento were the Bear Trap and Long Canyon fires.

The Bear Trap, possibly man-caused, began last Sunday and quickly spread to 300 acres in Sequoia National Forest in the Sierra Nevada. Officials dispatched 125 fire fighters, but said there was no estimate on containment. The Long Canyon blaze burst forth as the result of lightning strikes and within a few hours burned roughly 100 acres of piñon and juniper on the southeast side of the Sierra in Inyo County.

But the big problem plaguing 9,000 fire fighters pitted against the recent rash of uncontrolled California fires remained along the central coast, where the Marble Cone blaze east of Big Sur had grown to 130,000 acres with no sign of containment.

Two other fires near the Klamath River in the north consumed more than 12,000 acres and flared across rugged ridges despite efforts to restrain them.

Water problem status unchanged

Frank Jodaitis, Manchester water and sewer administrator, said at noon today, that the status of the water situation hasn't changed.

The spring at Highland Park is still closed until further notice and residents in the southwest section of town are still cautioned to boil their drinking water.

Jodaitis said he would like, as much as anybody, to have the matter cleared up, but testing of the water, which was found to be contaminated, still continues and will continue until the source of the problem is found. Jodaitis said he isn't going to say the water doesn't have to be boiled until he is really sure it is safe for drinking.

War criminal is missing

ROME (UPI) — Herbert Kappler, former Nazi SS colonel serving a life term for the World War II massacre of 335 Italian hostages, vanished from a Rome military hospital today amid conflicting reports he had escaped or been kidnapped.

The Italian news agency ANSA received an anonymous telephone call four hours after Kappler's disappearance was detected purporting to be from an Italian-speaking member of the West German urban terrorist group called Red Morning, and claiming the 70-year-old Kappler had been kidnapped.

The voice demanded the release of German guerrilla leader Andreas Baader and other "political" prisoners in West Germany in exchange for Kappler.

The male voice said: "Long live Ulrike Meinhoff" before hanging up. Miss Meinhoff, leader with Baader of the terrorist Meinhoff-Baader group, committed suicide in a West German jail.

Red Morning is the terrorist group that claimed responsibility for the July 30 killing of Jurgen Ponto, head of the Dresden Bank, West Germany's second largest.

Kappler, reportedly suffering from terminal stomach cancer, had been transferred several months ago from his jail in Gaeta, south of Rome, to the Celio military hospital.

Reporters who went to the hospital said he had apparently been under no guard there.

Before the "Red Morning" call, an Italian state television reporter said it was believed Kappler's German wife Annelise, who married him while he was in prison, had come to the hospital, along with a man, and picked up her husband.

The initial report said Kappler's

Pope Paul VI speaks of prospect of death

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (UPI) — Pope Paul VI spoke in a trembling voice of the prospect of his own death today following a mass at a small church near the papal summer residence at Castel Gandolfo south of Rome.

Inaugurating the small church of Santa Maria del Lago on the banks of Lake Albano, the 79-year-old pontiff told 2,000 visitors he would like to celebrate a similar mass next year.

"But who knows if I, old now as I am, can hope to mark again this feast day (Assumption) with you again," he said.

Then he exclaimed: "If God wife and the man had walked to a red Fiat car either carrying a suitcase and escorting Kappler, or carrying a trunk in which Kappler was thought to be hidden.

FRB act may hinder sale of Lance stock

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Reserve Board has placed the National Bank of Georgia on a margin list limiting the loan value of its stocks, a move which could complicate the sale of Budget Director Bert Lance's holdings in the bank.

The action, announced Sunday, also could have an impact on the $3.4 million loan Lance got seven months ago from the First National Bank of Chicago.

When the Federal Reserve Board puts a bank on the margin list, it means the bank's stock, when used as collateral, is limited to 50 per cent of its market value. When a bank is not on the margin list, no limit is placed on the value of the stock for collateral purposes.

Lance and his deputy director James McIntyre were summoned to meet with President Carter after lunch today, but it was described as a prearranged meeting on government reorganization matters unrelated to Lance's financial problems.

Carter has not commented on Lance's problems up to now, but in an ABC-TV interview Sunday he said he believes that "if anything should be proven concerning Bert Lance, that is either improper or illegal, that Bert would immediately take the initiative to either resign or step aside or offer to... So far no improprieties have been proven."

Lance, former president of the Georgia bank, has said he used 200,000 shares of its stock and other unidentified assets as collateral to secure the loan from the Chicago bank.

East Hartford wins appeal

Mayor Richard Blackstone said this afternoon the judges of the U.S. Court of Appeals of the Second Circuit have voted 6-4 in favor of East Hartford on its appeal of a 1976 decision denying the town $440,000 in Community Development Block Grant Funds.

"It gives me great satisfaction," said the mayor who has claimed his position on the grant was the correct one despite criticism from the City of Hartford and from townspeople. He said he hopes the city will not appeal the latest decision to the U.S. Supreme Court further delaying East Hartford's use of the funds.

Fielding, a 1977 graduate of Rockville High School, selected a position in the telecommunications control specialist field and departed for basic training Aug. 8.

After completion of six weeks of basic training at Lackland Air Force Base near San Antonio, Tex., he is scheduled to receive technical training.

Three Manchester men recently enlisted in the Navy's Seaman Apprenticeship Program and are undergoing recruit training in Orlando, Fla.

They are: Brian S. Kingsley, son of Mrs. Maryann Burdick, 200 Wetherell St.; Peter A. Krawitz, son of Mrs. Marie Krawitz, 907 Rachel Rd.; and John M. Griffin, son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Griffin, 84 Greenwood Dr.

Upon completion of recruit training, they will receive further instruction designed to familiarize them with the ratings in the Seaman Specialty Field.

OTH plans Charity Ball

The Organization of the Handicapped (OTH), a non-profit group will sponsor a Charity Ball on Saturday, Sept. 24 from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. at Manchester Armory on Main St. to raise funds to help support their community projects.

Continuous dancing will be the theme, with music provided by Bob Tyler and Al Gentle's Little Band with vocalist Mary Richards.

Joseph Blette of Trotter St., a member of OTH, has been named chairman.

Blette is a past president of OTH, is chairman of its board of directors, and in July 1975 was the delegate for OTH at its annual convention in Chicago.

He is second vice-president of the Hartford Chapter of the National Federation of the Blind, past chairman of its Ways and Means Committee, active in Civitan Collegiate Group of Manchester and was a charter member of its board of directors.

He is a volunteer for the Manchester Sheltered Workshop and recently volunteered his time to do all the cooking at "Tidal River Christian Camp for Teenagers" in East Haddam on a camping trip during the crippling ice storm a few years ago. Blette was head cook at the Manchester Armory where he received a "Good Citizen Award" from the Board of Directors of the Town of Manchester for his efforts during the ice storm and a citation from the Manchester Association for the Mentally Retarded Citizens for his workshop activities.

Blette resides with his two teenage daughters, Faith, a recent graduate of Benet Junior High School and Hope, who is a student at the school.

For ticket information and reservations, call 643-9779. Guests may B.Y.O.B.

Opinion

No campaign on energy

President Carter has chided the American public for "not paying attention" to the energy crisis and not heeding his calls for voluntary conservation.

In a recent talk with visiting editors and broadcast news directors at the White House, Carter hinted he might call for stronger steps to save fuel.

"I am concerned that the public has not responded well," he said, "and I think voluntary compliance is probably not adequate at all."

Now the President's concern is justified. Last month oil imports ran 12 percent over the July, 1976 rate. Energy consumption will set a new record this year. In short, we are a nation of gas guzzlers and will not ease up until a shortage hits or the Arab-led oil cartel skyrockets prices from today's $14 a barrel to, say, $25.

That said, Carter is wrong to put all blame for lack of conservation on energy junkies. He himself has made only occasional statements on the subject and hasn't waged a sustained campaign.

More important, Carter himself has failed to take some fuel-conservation measures within his power. For example, the single most effective gas-saving step would be to enforce the national 55-mile-an-hour speed limit, and it's not being done.

One doesn't have to drive far this summer to see hordes of trucks, buses and passenger cars roaring past law-abiding driver at 60 to 70 miles per hour. Enforcement by states is lachrymose and ineffective.

The federal government has made financial levers to induce states to enforce the speed limit and to punish those that refuse. All it needs is the will to act, which it seemingly lacks.

Another case in point: The Ford administration tried to get the Interstate Commerce Commission to change its notorious "backhaul" regulations. They require many thousands of trucks to return empty after making deliveries, an idiotic form of fuel squandering.

Carter now has his own man as chairman of the ICC. But if anything is being done to end the backhauling scandal, it is not apparent to the human eye.

One could go on and on, but that isn't necessary to make the point. Sure, a self-indulgent, gas-wasting public still drives one block to the drug store. But a big-talking administration, which apparently lacks the nerve to take on powerful lobbies like the truckers and the states, isn't doing its part either.

Springboard for discussion

Candidates for public office in town have started addressing themselves to topics and issues that will attract your interest during the next three months.

There is division over whether a Charter Revision Commission should be formed, and should it redefine the conflict of interest section.

You will hear views on taxation, federal grants, and the education process.

Are there other issues that you, the reader, feel the candidates should be considering?

Willhide remark criticized

To the editor, This is written in reference to the following statement Paul Willhide voiced concerning James Kennedy's use of "Dr." before his name: "He's not a medical doctor and it's going to be Mr. Kennedy as far as I'm concerned."

As one running for the Board of Education and thus, interested in or involved in education, certainly Mr. Willhide must know that our society consists not only of Doctors of Medicine (MDs) but Doctors of Philosophy (Ph.Ds) as well. There are also a few other doctors around that I will acquaint Mr. Willhide with: DFA (Doctor of Fine Arts), DLitt (Doctor of Letters, Literature), DSc (Doctor of Science), DVM (Doctor of Veterinary Medicine), JCD (Doctor of Canon Law), DDS (Doctor of Dental Science), ThD (Doctor of Theology), and even an STD (Doctor of Sacred Theology).

I should think Dr. Kennedy deserves his title as a matter of respect. The word "pretentious" should not be confused with the word "protocol" as Mr. Willhide has apparently done: Dr. Kennedy's use of his rightly earned title is not an ostentatious act; Mr. Willhide's implication merits contempt.

If this is indeed the only issue Paul Willhide can raise concerning Dr. Kennedy, I am certainly not casting my vote for a man who not only flaunts his ignorance but displays it so flagrantly while busy nitpicking. Sincerely, Phyllis A. Muldoon 150 Eldridge St. Manchester

Contraception education suggested by reader

To the editor, Why, oh why, should we have 300,000 females (est.) in this country of ours, seeking abortions, when almost every nook and cranny in every community, has clinics, hospital emergency rooms, schools, competent teachers in various organizations, telling them how not to get pregnant?

Or, are they so naive, or ignorant, to think they can have relations without every nook and cranny in every community, has clinics, hospital emergency rooms, schools, competent teachers in various organizations, telling them how not to get pregnant?

Another case in point: The Ford administration tried to get the Interstate Commerce Commission to change its notorious "backhaul" regulations. They require many thousands of trucks to return empty after making deliveries, an idiotic form of fuel squandering.

Carter now has his own man as chairman of the ICC. But if anything is being done to end the backhauling scandal, it is not apparent to the human eye.

One could go on and on, but that isn't necessary to make the point. Sure, a self-indulgent, gas-wasting public still drives one block to the drug store. But a big-talking administration, which apparently lacks the nerve to take on powerful lobbies like the truckers and the states, isn't doing its part either.

Reflections

Masonic Sports Nights have had their share of "no shows" among major leagues, and the very first one came at the second sports night in 1959.

Imagine a Bill Skowron and Bill Monbouquette commentary on their respective teams, or a Jim Bouton and Dick Radatz on pitching.

1958: Gene Woodling and Bob Steele. 1959: White Ford, Jackie Farrell, Gene Johnson and Moe Morhardt. 1960: Bill Skowron, Bill Monbouquette and Bill Crowley. 1961: Hal Goodnough, Hall of Famer catcher Mickey Cochran, and Billy Gardner of the Yankees and later the Red Sox.

1962: Red Martin of the Red Sox and Eddie Stanky of the Yankees. 1963: Joe Pepitone, then of the Yankees, and Carl Yastrzemski of the Red Sox. 1964: Farrell, Yankee pitcher Jim Bouton and Red Sox pitcher Dick Radatz. 1965: Goodnough, Farrell, and Yankee pitcher Al Jackson. 1966: Goodnough, Detroit shortstop Dick McAuliffe and New York Mets outfielder Ed Kranepool. 1967: None. 1968: Ned Martin, and linesman Larry Eisenhauer of the Boston Patriots. Red Sox outfielder Reggie Smith didn't show. 1969: Goodnough, and Hall of Famer Frankie Frisch. 1970: Yankee infielder Gene Michaels, Red Sox outfielder Billy Conigliaro was a "no show." 1971: Pittsburgh Pirates pitcher Steve Blass. 1972: Umpire Tom Gorman, and New York Giants back Bob Duhon. 1973: Whalers goalie Bruce Landau and others from the Hartford Civic Center. 1974: Red Sox catcher Bob Montgomery and Yankee infielder-outfielder Roy White. 1975: Red Sox second baseman Doug Griffin and catcher Tim Blackwell. 1976: None. 1977: None.

Most of the ball players and other invited guest speakers arrived in Manchester late afternoon for a VIP party prior to the sports night. We hosted a couple of them; the masters of the lodge also hosted them, and it gave opportunity for a small group to visit with the players on an informal basis. You can bet there were some pretty fair parties, especially when they had a player from each team there.

Enjoys Globe Hollow

To the editor, I would like to take this opportunity to compliment the group of lifeguards and all the other workers at the Globe Hollow Swimming Pool for the efficient and courteous manner in which they handle their duties to all the children and adults at this town pool.

The area around the pool is kept very clean. They have the children under control at all times. I had the pleasure of spending several afternoons this week at this pool with my grandson and it was enjoyable to sit and watch the small children having such a good time without incident.

I think we are very fortunate to have a pool such as this with such a large group of children each day handled in such a superb manner. Being a native of Manchester I can assure that Globe Hollow has come a long way. Mrs. Leo Kwach 14 Elm Terrace Manchester

Last of the 'fat cats'

WASHINGTON (NEA) - Sworn testimony in a recently resolved court case provides new evidence of organized labor's audacity in circumventing the law designed to minimize the influence of large contributions in campaigns for federal office.

The civil suit, filed by the Republican National Committee in U.S. District Court in Alexandria, Va., alleged that the Communications Workers of America (CWA) abused its privilege to mail political literature at the Postal Service's low-cost "bulk rate."

Candid testimony An out-of-court agreement settled the dispute before a trial had been scheduled, but pre-trial depositions produced some unusually candid testimony from Mike J. Miller, chief political operative for the CWA, whose members include more than 500,000 telephone company employees.

Questioned under oath, Miller acknowledged that during last autumn's presidential campaign he had "in the neighborhood of maybe a dozen" telephone conversations with Landon Butler, political director of Jimmy Carter's campaign organization.

"The bulk of the conversations," said Miller, "dealt with the kinds of activities that we were doing and communicating with our members on behalf of the presidential campaign in terms of, you know, the materials we were sending out, the kinds of material we were planning to send out."

Scores of other unions operated with similar impunity, making them the last of the "fat cats" in an era when large political contributions have been widely recognized as a corrupting, unhealthy influence on the electoral process.

MACC news

By Nancy Carr Executive Director

Summer Time ho-hum? Are you finding the TV summer viewing blah? Your favorite bridge partner out of town? Time getting a little heavy on your hands? The Conference has several suggestions which will not only liven up your weekend but bring some sting into the life of someone who needs you.

Make a new friend. There are a number of patients in Manchester convalescent homes who seldom, if ever, have a visitor. One of these lovely summer evenings would be perfect to visit your new friend. If they can still "get around" how delightful they would find an evening drive or perhaps an opportunity for a short shopping trip. Call Adrienne Johnson at 211 Brookfield St., 648-5893 (MACC coordinator of Convalescent Home Visitation) or Sister Genevieve Packham, chairman, MACC subcommittee on Convalescent Homes, 648-1864. They will be more than happy to match you up with your new friend.

If you are really looking for some excitement you don't invite an inner-city child to spend a week or two with you and your family. They will be able to walk with your children down tree shaded streets to the neighborhood pool in perfect safety or perhaps join in the fun at the closest playground program. Such activities are taken very much for granted by us but a taste of the promised land for your guest. You'll love it.

Manchester police report

Three men were being held by Manchester police under $5,000 bond for court arraignment today on charges in connection with a housebreak on St. John St. July 17.

Arrested on warrants Friday were David H. Irwin, 18, of 123 Benton St., Robert M. Erison, 17, of 159 Olcott St.

Irwin was charged with third-degree burglary and larceny, possession of a controlled substance and risk of injury to a minor. Martin was arrested on the same charges except the larceny charge. Erison was charged with third-degree burglary and larceny, second-degree larceny and third-degree larceny by possession.

A purse was stolen in the housebreak, police said. The risk of injury charge related to a minor female companion.

Red Sox beat point spread with Paxton on the mound

BOSTON (UPI) — When kiddie corps' member Mike Paxton is on the mound, it's not a question of whether the Boston Red Sox will win, but whether they'll beat the point spread.

The 23-year-old rookie right-hander, the beneficiary of 35 runs in his last three starts while allowing only five, Sunday saw his slugging teammates push seven runs across in the first three innings and coasted to a 11-1 victory over the Seattle Mariners.

The victory was the Red Sox' 14th in the last 15 games and their 10th in a row over the expansion Mariners, who lost their eighth straight. The triumph enabled the Red Sox to maintain their 2 1/2 game lead over Baltimore in the American League East. Paxton, with last inning relief help from Jim Willoughby, notched his sixth triumph against just two losses, scattering nine hits, while striking out four and walking just one.

"He's a good man to have out there with an 11-run lead because he won't walk people," said Manager Don Zimmer. "That's a lot of hits to wipe out an eleven run lead."

"Maybe they figure I need them," laughed Paxton, referring to his mates' productive offense. "But it's nice to get runs and know that if you do the job you'll win the ballgame."

"When I get in that situation I just try to stay ahead of the hitters," explained Paxton, who had beaten Milwaukee, 12-0, and the Mariners, 12-4, in his two previous starts. "I

Orioles keep pace behind Mora

NEW YORK (UPI) — Andres Mora blasted a three-run homer in the sixth inning Sunday that enabled the second-place Orioles to remain 2 1/2 games behind Boston with a 5-4 victory over the hapless Oakland Athletics.

The 22-year-old outfielder, who is finally getting a chance to play regularly in the wake of another leg injury to Elliott Maddox and Pat Kelly's batting slump, has played in just 40 games this year.

But he's delivered, driving in 20 runs with his 24 hits, 12 of which have gone for extra bases. In addition, Mora has now hit seven homers, and is 7-for-15 as a pinch hitter.

"I feel like I'm hitting the ball now like I did in spring training," said Mora. "I'd like to be playing every day, but I'm happy now just because I'm playing much more."

Southpaw Ross Griswold went 8 1/3 innings for his 11th victory in 17 decisions.

"(But) Nobody's gonna beat Boston for us it seems," he said. Blue Jays 6, Royals 3.

Roy Howell's bases-loaded single keyed a six-run eighth inning as the Blue Jays came from behind to shock the Orioles and Dennis Leonard, who had a four-hit shutout that point. Dave McKay doubled in the first two Jays' runs in the eighth and Sam Ewing capped the inning with another RBI double.

hits and buried his eighth straight complete game.

Angels 12-14, Brewers 4-5
Claudell Washington drove in four runs with a homer and a single to spark the Rangers, who moved to within one game of the first-place White Sox in the AL West. Chicago's "iron squad" pitching staff blew a 6-0 first-inning lead, two of which came on Eric Soderholm's 18th homer.

Whalers to oppose Bruins

HARTFORD (UPI) — New England's two major league professional hockey teams will face off for the first time this fall, although it will only be an exhibition game.

The New England Whalers of the World Hockey Association Saturday announced part of their eight-game exhibition schedule will be a first-ever meeting with the Boston Bruins in Hartford.

The Whalers will host the National Hockey League team Oct. 1 at the Hartford Civic Center, according to Jack Kelley, director of hockey operations for the Whalers.

The Bruins are one of six NHL teams to play the Whalers, which was among the most vigorous proponents for a merger with the NHL. Hopes for such a merger, at least for next season, were ended last week when an NHL committee voted down the plan to absorb six WHA teams.

The Whalers also will host the Chicago Black Hawks, Washington Capitals, New York Rangers and Pittsburgh Penguins. They will play the Atlanta Flames twice, here and in Atlanta, and at Springfield, Mass., against the Springfield Indians of the American Hockey League.

Kelley said the six NHL games will give Whaler fans a chance to evaluate their team against NHL competition.

The exhibition schedule:
Sun., Sept. 25, Chicago, Wed., Sept. 28, Washington; Fri., Sept. 30, New York; Sat., Oct. 1, Boston; Tues., Oct. 4, at Atlanta; Thurs., Oct. 6, at Springfield; Fri., Oct. 7, Pittsburgh and Sunday Oct. 9, Atlanta.

Washed out
Rain washed out last night's Twilight League playoff action. Tonight beginning at 5:30 at St. Thomas, Moriarty's faces Bristol in game No. 2 of their best of three series. Bristol topped the opener.

RBI Larry Christensen allowed only four hits in going the distance to gain his 11th victory.

In the nightcap, Ted Sizemore's run-scoring single in the sixth inning snapped a 2-2 tie and helped Jim Lonborg to his seventh triumph in 10 decisions. Greg Luzinski also hit his 31st homer as the Phillies tagged Steve Renko with the loss.

The Phillies, who have played at a 547 pace since June 1, attribute their surge to a strong bench manager Danny Ozark has utilized well.

"We're a happy-go-lucky, loosey-goosey bunch," said Schmidt. "We have an abundance of talent here."

As well as the Phillies have played they have been unable to pull away from the Pirates. Phil Garner hit a two-run homer and winning pitcher John Candelaria drove in a pair of runs to spark Pittsburgh victory over the Mets Sunday. The victory was the Pirates' 20th in their last 21 games.

In other NL games, Montreal topped St. Louis, 6-2, Houston beat Tampa St., 6-3, Los Angeles nipped Atlanta, 1-0, and San Francisco downed Cincinnati, 6-1, then lost, 9-3.

Expos 6, Cardinals 2
Steve Rogers and Joe Kerrigan combined on a five-hitter and Tony Perez knocked in two runs to help the Expos snap a six-game losing streak. Rogers went eight innings to gain his 13th triumph in 24 decisions. Del Unser homered for Montreal while Ken Reitz homered for St. Louis.

Astros 6, Padres 3
Joe Niekro pitched a five-hitter and Jose Cruz scored four runs in helping the Astros snap the Padres' five-game winning streak. George Herter hit a pair of homers for San Diego.

Angels in need of pitching aid
NEW YORK (UPI) — "I'm hurting bad for pitchers," Angel Manager Dave Garcia was quoted as saying Sunday.

And who would doubt him? The Yankees blitzed California 15-3 Sunday in a rain-delayed game.

Wayne Simpson, now 6-9, started for the Yankees against Yankee relief specialist Dick Tidrow. "Rivers makes the Yankees attack go," Garcia said. "He likes to play against us and he always seems to do well." Rivers was obtained by the Yankees before the 1976 season in a trade with the Angels in which Bobby Bonds went to California and right-hander Ed Figueroa also came to the Yankees.

"And Roy White can do so many things behind Mickey," continued Garcia, "that he sets up the local ball hitters. I don't like to see Rivers and White in their lineup." Rivers raised his season average to .322 and White scored twice and drove in a run.

Phillies exhibit power

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Phillies finally have regained the polish and poise that enabled them to win the National League East pennant a year ago and now boast the best overall record (71-44) in the major leagues.

The Phillies completed a 10-2, 4-2 sweep of the Chicago Cubs Sunday, and in so doing, set a club record for most consecutive victories (12). In their sweep of the Cubs during the weekend, the Phillies dropped the Chicago into a third-place tie with St.

Wadkins cops PGA title in playoff over Littler

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Lanny Wadkins had beaten Gene Littler in sudden death only a few minutes before to win the PGA Championship, and one of the first questions thrown at him was, did he realize what he had done or was it going to take a few days before everything sank in.

"I know it means a lot of things," he replied, "but the most important is that I won me 10 years of exemption on the tour."

Wadkins, and the rest of the field Sunday, seemingly had no chance to catch or beat Littler, the veteran Californian who went into the final round with a four-shot lead, which he widened to five on the turn.

But a series of mistakes — four bogies in a row, the biggest being a triple on the 15th — gave Jack Nicklaus and Wadkins a chance to fight it out.

"I made a lot of bad decisions," Littler said sadly. "I mis-clubbed at least a half dozen times, which you can't do on Pebble Beach."

Nicklaus, whose 15 victories in major events is an all-time record, couldn't get his game together, at least not enough, and he bowed out with a bogey on the 17th. Wadkins, playing earlier, birdied the 18th and was waiting on the sidelines for Littler to finish.

Littler parred in for a 76, compared to Lanny's 70, and he and Wadkins went off to the first hole to begin the first playoff in history for a major championship. Nicklaus finished only a shot back (at 5-under 283) and he was disappointed.

It was only the fourth victory in Wadkins' pro career, which started in 1971 and never really went anywhere.

"Your approach to the game is a lot different when you know you don't have to qualify in order to play," Wadkins said. "As I said, that is very important to me. Of course, winning

Austin's fortunes have turned

HUPPAUGE, N.Y. (UPI) — Debbie Austin is a 10-year veteran of the LPGA tour who, prior to this year, had never won a tournament — but things have improved drastically.

Sunday, she captured the $100,000 Long Island Country Classic with a 9-under-par, four-hole shot, two strokes better than veteran Kathy Whitworth and newcomer Nancy Lopez, and three strokes in front of Judy Rankin. It was Austin's fourth victory of the year and the $15,000 prize pushed her money earnings over the $65,000 mark for the season — more than she earned overall her first six years on the tour.

"I seriously thought of quitting," said the 29-year-old Austin. "I was giving myself 'til the end of the year and if things didn't work out I was going to reconsider my position. I was tired of people telling me 'You'll win eventually.' It had reached the point where I didn't believe it anymore."

But on May 1 she won the Birmingham Classic and with that victory came a renewed confidence.

On Sunday, Austin was paired with Lopez, the young woman who has now finished second in all three tournaments she has played as a pro. Lopez, who started the day three strokes behind Austin, bogeyed the first two holes before she took command of her game. She wound up with five birdies and tied Austin on the 12th after making her third consecutive birdie.

"Nancy had put so much pressure on me all day," said Austin. "She didn't let up, so I had to keep up with her. She's very consistent," said Lopez. "But I think she played conservatively until I caught up."

"I'm pleased with the way I played," she added. "There was no pressure on me after I bogeyed the first two holes. After that I just kept charging because I felt I had nothing to lose. I can't believe I've finished second three times, but I sure want first bad."

But for Debbie Austin, after nine long years, seeing her name on the leader board is becoming a matter of habit.

She's very consistent," said Lopez. "But I think she played conservatively until I caught up."

"I'm pleased with the way I played," she added. "There was no pressure on me after I bogeyed the first two holes. After that I just kept

Simpson on beam

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Detroit defenders must have thought whatever caused the blurry vision in O.J. Simpson's left eye was contagious.

Simpson was just a blur to the Lions' line Saturday night in the 17-0 victory over the Lions in Buffalo. He rushed for 55 yards in nine carries and scored two touchdowns to spark the triumph.

In other games Saturday night, it was Seattle 27 Dallas 17, in overtime, Chicago 20 Oakland 13, Los Angeles 20 Philadelphia 3, New Orleans 13 New York Giants 7, San Diego 21 San Francisco 13, Miami 27 Washington Redskins 13, Kansas City 23 Pittsburgh 21, New England 38 Green Bay 3, Minnesota 24 Cleveland 23, Denver 51 St. Louis 7, New York Jets 17 Atlanta 2 and Cincinnati 4 Tampa Bay 0.

In the only game Sunday, Baltimore topped Houston, 14-7.

Obituaries

Mrs. Roger S. Nicholson EAST HARTFORD - Mrs. Rose Marie Kissing Nicholson, 49, of 9 Fraser Dr., English teacher at Fenwick High School in East Hartford, died Saturday at Hartford Hospital. She was the wife of the Rev. Roger S. Nicholson, pastor of South Congregational Church, East Hartford.

Mrs. Nicholson was born in Tubingen, Germany, and lived in East Hartford 20 years. Mrs. Nicholson founded the Weekday Nursing School at South Congregational Church where she was a member, and was past president of the Hartford District Women's Fellowship of the United Church of Christ. She also served as a Christian Education consultant for area churches.

She had served as director of Christian Education at Asbury-First United Methodist Church in Rochester, N.Y. During her eight years on the staff at Fenwick High School, she taught a course called "The Bible as Literature."

She was a graduate of Salem State College (Mass.) and Hartford Seminary. She was a founding member of the board of advisors of Manchester Community College.

Other survivors are a son, Mark A. Nicholson, and a daughter, Karen Nicholson, both at home; and a brother, Erwin J. Kissing Jr. of Cherry Hill, N.J. A private graveside service was held today at Greenlawn Cemetery, Salem, Mass.

A memorial service will be held Saturday, Aug. 20, at 2 p.m. at South Congregational Church, 1301 Forbes St., East Hartford, with the Rev. Nathaniel P. Coppell, head minister of the Connecticut Conference of the United Church of Christ, officiating. The family suggests that friends wishing to do so may make memorial gifts to the Rose Marie K. Nicholson Scholarship Fund, in care of First Federal Savings, 1157 Main St., East Hartford, 06108.

Newkirk and Whitney Funeral Home, 318 Burnside Ave., East Hartford, is in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Katherine A. McEntee Mrs. Katherine A. McEntee, 87, of 365 W. Center St., died Friday at a local convalescent home. Mrs. McEntee was born in Hartford where she lived most of her life before moving to Manchester about three years ago.

The funeral is Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. from John F. Tierney Funeral Home, 219 W. Center St., with a Mass at 11 a.m. at the Church of the Assumption. Burial will be in St. Patrick Cemetery in Hartford.

There are no calling hours.

Mrs. Adam P. Karkevich ELLINGTON - Mrs. Mary DeCarli Karkevich, 57, of 44 Sads Mill Rd., died today at Hartford Hospital. She was the wife of Adam P. Karkevich.

Mrs. Karkevich was born Aug. 4, 1920, in Ellington, daughter of Mary Lusa DeCarli and the late Angelo DeCarli.

Other survivors are a son, John D. Murphy Jr. of Harwinton; two daughters, Mrs. Mary Ellen Misiowicz Lynwood, N.J., and Irene E. Murphy of East Hartford; two brothers, Michael Murphy of Dingle, Ireland, and Thomas Murphy of East Hartford; two sisters, Mrs. Karkevich of Bristol; a daughter, Mrs. Frances Bailey of Bristol; four brothers, Angelo DeCarli of Vernon, Antonio DeCarli and Francis DeCarli, both of Ellington, and Leon DeCarli of Stafford Springs; a sister, Mrs. Joseph Karkevich of Ellington, and three grandchildren.

There will be a Mass Wednesday at 10 a.m. at the Church of St. Luke. Burial will be at the convenience of the family.

There are no calling hours. The family suggests that friends wishing to do so may make memorial gifts to the Building Fund of Rockville General Hospital.

The Burke-Fortin Funeral Home, 76 Prospect St., Rockville, is in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Mary W. Carey EAST HARTFORD - Mrs. Mary Welch Carey, 94, of 38 Mill Rd., died Saturday at Hartford Hospital. She was the widow of William H. Carey Sr.

Mrs. Carey lived in the Hartford area all her life. Survivors are 2 sons, William H. Carey Jr. of Waterbury and Joseph M. Carey of East Hartford; a daughter, Mrs. Richard Bowman of Manchester, 13 grandchildren and 3 great-grandchildren.

The funeral is Tuesday at 8:15 a.m. from the Farley-Sullivan Funeral Home, 50 Nubuc Ave., Glastonbury, with a Mass at 9 a.m. at Sacred Sacrament Church, East Hartford. Burial will be in Rose Hill Memorial Park, Rocky Hill.

Friends may call at the funeral home today from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Mrs. Doris H. Cook EAST HARTFORD - Mrs. Doris H. Cook, 72, of 745 Main St., died Thursday at a local convalescent home.

The funeral is Saturday at the Carmon Funeral Home, 5 Popponock Ave., Windsor. Burial will be in Riverside Cemetery, Windsor.

Mrs. Cook was born in Concord, N.H., and lived in the Hartford area most of her life. Survivors are a daughter, Mrs. Paulette Bouline of Enfield; two brothers, Leon Stewart of West Hartford and Wallace Stewart of Windsor, and four grandchildren.

Louis Hafner, 50, dies, was former YR official

Louis Hafner, 50, of 68 Elsie Dr., an attorney and a former treasurer of the Young Republicans of Connecticut died Saturday at Manchester Memorial Hospital. He was the husband of Mrs. Mary Jacqueline Hutchinson Hafner.

Mr. Hafner was born in Norwich and lived in Manchester most of his life. He was graduated from the University of Notre Dame and Notre Dame Law School and later practiced law in this area.

He was a materials analyst for the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics in Groton. Before that, he worked in administrative positions with Colt Firearms, Hartford.

Mr. Hafner was active in the Boy Scouts in Manchester.

Bridget Connor of Holyoke, Mass., and Mrs. James Shortell of the Bronx, N.Y., are grandchildren. The funeral is Wednesday at 8:15 a.m. from the Callahan Funeral Home, 1622 Main St., East Hartford, with a Mass at 9 a.m. at St. Rose Church. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery, East Hartford.

Friends may call at the funeral home Tuesday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Paquette says campaign list was destroyed

Joseph Paquette, a Democrat who has vowed to primary against Richard Blackstone for his party's nomination for mayor in the Nov. 8 elections, filed a complaint Friday against the East Hartford town clerk.

Paquette began his campaign for his party's nomination by claiming town agencies grant zoning variances and building plans to certain firms only. He would not name the firms but promised to later.

Barry said he expects to have the list in question copied soon. He had to dig up the original list.

The list does not have a major contributor to the mayor's campaign besides the Democratic Town Committee. The committee's list of contributors is still available, Barry said. That list is also on file with the Secretary of State's office, he said.

Most of the committee's income is from party fundraisers such as dinners, raffish and Fiesta East.

Paquette said he is very close to getting the required number of signatures of town Democrats to force a primary with the mayor. He needs more than 800, five per cent of the registered Democrats.

Deadline for filing with the town clerk is Friday. "We'll make it," Paquette said.

Oil bid to Hartford The T.L.C. Oil Co. of Hartford will apply East Hartford with fuel oil for the 1977-78 fiscal year at a price of 38.36 per gallon, said Purchasing Agent Jack Martin.

The bid is a tenth of a cent more than the town paid this past year, he said. The town will need about one million gallons to heat all town buildings including schools.

Cotter visit First District Congressman William R. Cotter will send his mobile office to the Charter Oak Mall off Silver Lane Wednesday from noon to 2 p.m. Residents can then tell Cotter a staff of their needs and concerns.

Stop sign victory The stop sign erected on Larrabee St. last Wednesday is claimed as the first victory of the Larrabee-Woodland Association, an affiliate of the East Hartford Citizen Action Group (EHGAG).

Kathleen Ullmar of Larrabee St. said "We're very pleased. Average people can fight city hall."

The association will hold their third neighborhood meeting Wednesday at 7 p.m. at the St. Rose Church basement. Louise Reid of Livingston Rd. said a meeting topic will be dealing with the Board of Education.

Catherine Larson said they will also discuss speeding on Bliss St., car damage from a bump in the road at Larrabee Ave. and Larrabee St., and stop sign runners at Livingston Rd. All residents are invited.

Photo correction Laura Stracski appeared in a photograph published in The Herald Friday along with three other East Hartford young women and Sen. Lowell Weicker. But the caption placed her at the wrong end of the line of people; Laura was at the far left, not far right.

Foot patrol demanded The need for a return to police foot patrolling in the Burnside Center area was the consensus of more than 30 residents of the area who formed a neighborhood association last week.

Homeer Kines, a Wind Rd. resident, said, "At our next meeting we hope to convey our feelings to Police Chief Clarence Drumm and a representative of the state Health Department."

Million dollar deadline The staff of Mayor Richard Blackstone has been working into the night and on the weekends as they strive to complete all the paperwork to fully qualify for every penny of $3.8 million aimed at East Hartford through a federal public works program.

"It's a tough grind on the staff," said the mayor. "But we'll make it."

Besides building a pool, roads, sewers and more, the program should open up many jobs.

A Mister Softee ice cream truck driver reported to police two black males held him up on Park Ave. Sunday about 7:25 p.m. They took $20 from him.

Citizens say HUD figure is a must

Three members of the East Hartford Citizen Action Group (EHGAG) last week presented Mayor Richard Blackstone with a demand that he follow the federal Housing and Urban Development (HUD) guidelines when applying for the Community Development block grant next year. The three were Mrs. Donna Russell, Mrs. Sherill Sheehan and Vincent Burro.

Mrs. Russell said the town has not received any CDA funds for the last three years due to the mayor's failure to follow HUD rules as to the town's ETR (expected to reside) figure. The ETR represents the number of low income families who work in a town and would live there if enough low-priced housing were available.

The mayor's figure is 374 and HUD's is 928.

The mayor repeated his explanation of his stand: To use the HUD guidelines would be to lie about the town and its needs. He has said he will not be forced to lie for the federal funds.

The potential funds for each of the past three years has been $400,000. Next year's grant is to be $220,000.

EAST HAMPTON (UPI) — Officials today estimate damages to be more than $1,000 in a raid by vandals of Lakeview Cemetery, where at least 25 headstones were toppled and 50 others damaged.

The cemetery contains graves dating from the 1700s. George White, president and secretary of the Lakeview Cemetery Association, said the damage, which occurred sometime in the early morning darkness Sunday, was the worst he had seen in several vandal raids of the cemetery.

White said he went to the cemetery early Sunday for some routine work and found the gates closed, his first indication that something was wrong.

White said some of the damage is to stones from the 1700s and 1800s and is apparently irreparable.

Paquette says campaign list was destroyed

By MAL BARLOW
East Hartford Reporter

Joseph Paquette, a Democrat who vowed to primary against Richard Blackstone for his party's nomination for mayor in the Nov. 8 elections, filed a complaint Friday against the East Hartford town clerk.

Paquette began his campaign for his party's nomination by claiming town agencies grant zoning variances and building plans to certain firms only. He would not name the firms but promised to later.

Barry said he expects to have a list in question copied soon. He had to dig up the original list.

The list does not have a major contributor to the mayor's campaign besides the Democratic Town Committee. The committee's list of contributors is still available, Barry said. That list is also on file with the Secretary of State's office, he said.

Most of the committee's income is from party fundraisers such as dinners, raffles and Fiesta Events. Paquette said today he is very close to getting the required number of signatures of town Democrats to force a primary with the party. He needs more than 800, five per cent of the registered Democrats.

Deadline for filing with the town clerk is this Friday. "We'll make it," Paquette said.

Paquette filed his complaint about the destroyed list with the state Elections Commission. Barry said this morning, "I couldn't believe this. Everybody looked at the list at the time. It was in all the newspapers."

Barry said the election laws at the time did not require him to keep the list available for the whole term of the elected official. State laws now do. And the laws will change again in October to require that the list be kept for at least three years.

"I do have copies," Barry said. "I told Mr. Paquette I'd make them available to him but I couldn't do it right away. He wouldn't wait."

Paquette's complaint reads, "On Aug. 10, Joseph Paquette, along with William Wikie (also of East Hartford) appeared at the office of the Town Clerk of East Hartford. I asked to see the contributors list of Mayor Blackstone for the 1975 campaign."

Police report

A resident of a Silver Lane home near the Manchester town line reported to police someone had rung his doorbell about 11:15 p.m. Sunday night. He did not answer it.

A few minutes later he saw three people going into the backyard of his home. He chased them out. Police were able to catch two youths they suspect were in the man's basement.

The two are Lawrence Harlow, 17, of 70 Kane St., and Richard R. Napolitano, 16, of 121 Michael Ave. Both were held overnight on $500 surety bonds for appearance today in Common Pleas Court 12.

A Mister Softee ice cream truck driver reported to police two black males held him up on Park Ave. Sunday about 7:25 p.m. They took $50 from him.

Opinion

No campaign on energy

President Carter has chided the American public for "not paying attention" to the energy crisis...

In a recent talk with visiting editors and broadcast news directors at the White House, Carter hinted he might call for stronger steps to save fuel.

"I am concerned that the public has not responded well," he said, "and I think voluntary compliance is probably not adequate at all."

Now the President's concern is justified. Last month oil imports ran 12 per cent over the July, 1976 rate.

More important, Carter himself has failed to take some fuel-conservation measures within his power.

Springboard for discussion

Candidates for public office in town have started addressing themselves to topics and issues that will attract your interest during the next three months.

There is division over whether a Charter Revision Commission should be formed, and should it redefine the conflict of interest section.

You will hear views on taxation, federal grants, and the education process.

What do the Scriptures say? By Scriptures we mean the old and new testaments. Spirit given-God breathed (2 Timothy 3:16) through various men chosen by God at different times.

Willhide remark criticized

To the editor, This is written in reference to the following statement Paul Willhide voiced concerning James Kennedy's use of "Dr." before his name.

As one running for the Board of Education and thus, interested in or involved in education, certainly Mr. Willhide must know that our society consists not only of Doctors of Medicine (MDs) but Doctors of Philosophy (Ph.Ds) as well.

Contraception education suggested by reader

To the editor, Why, oh why, should we have 300,000 females (est.) in this country of ours, seeking abortions, when almost every nook and cranny in every community, has clinics, hospital emergency rooms, schools, competent teachers in various organizations, telling them how not to get pregnant?

Or, are they so naive, or ignorant, to think they can have relations with the opposite sex, without something happening?

I have relations in Europe — brothers, sisters, nieces, nephews, their children, etc. and they are

Reflections

Masonic Sports Nights have had their share of "no shows" among major league, and the very first one came at the second sports night in 1959.

Howie Waddell again was general chairman, and he went right back to the Yankees to secure his program.

He had Bill Skowron, the first baseman-outfielder, lined up, but just days before the sports night, Moose was in the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., for a checkup.

They didn't release him in time to honor his commitment to Manchester.

In addition, Manchester Lodge of Masons paid tribute to Manchester athletes for their contributions on the diamond — Moe Morhardt who made it to the Chicago Cubs and Gene Johnson who has been an outstanding baseball player on the local level now for 25 years.

But Moose Skowron did keep his Manchester date, a year later. He was on the program with Bill Monbouquette, Red Sox pitcher, and Bill Crowley, Red Sox public relations man.

The sports night committee tried to keep it a Yankee program one year and a Red Sox program the next, but on several occasions there was a mixture of Red Sox and Yankees.

Hal Goodnough came on the scene in 1961 and has been less than a stranger to Manchester and Connecticut audiences. Goodnough, when we first became acquainted with him, was the Milwaukee Braves' back during the time when Ernie Johnson was a relief pitcher there—in the mid-50's.

On this day in history: In 1914, an American ship passed from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean officially opening the Panama Canal.

Most of the ball players and other invited guest speakers arrived in Manchester late afternoon for a VIP party prior to the sports night. We hosted a couple of them; the masters of the lodge also hosted them, and it gave opportunity for a small group to visit with the players on an informal basis.

You can bet there was some pretty fair parties, especially when they had a player from each team there.

Enjoys Globe Hollow

To the editor: I would like to take this opportunity to compliment the group of lifeguards and all the other workers at the Globe Hollow Swimming Pool for the efficient and courteous manner in which they handle their duties to all the children and adults at this town pool.

The area around the pool is kept very clean. They have the children under control at all times.

I had the pleasure of spending several afternoons this week at this pool.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Sworn testimony in a recently resolved court case provides new evidence of organized labor's audacity in circumventing the influence of large contributions in campaigns for federal office.

The civil suit, filed by the Republican National Committee in U.S. District Court in Alexandria, Va., alleged that the Communications Workers of America (CWA) abused its privilege to mail political literature at the Postal Service's low-cost "bulk rate."

An out-of-court agreement settled the dispute before a trial had been scheduled, but pre-trial depositions produced some unusually candid testimony from Mikel K. Miller, chief political officer for the CWA, whose members include more than 500,000 telephone company employees.

Questioned under oath, Miller acknowledged that during last autumn's presidential campaign he had "in the neighborhood of maybe a dozen" telephone conversations with London Butler, political director of Jimmy Carter's campaign organization.

"The bulk of the conversations," said Miller, "dealt with the kinds of activities that we were doing and communicating with our members on behalf of the presidential campaign in terms of, you know, the materials we were sending out, the kinds of material we were planning to send out."

Pro-Carter brochure He also described what occurred "when we decided in late September, early October, to produce a brochure and produce a letter from CWA President Glenn E. Watts to all active and retired union members, urging them to vote for Carter."

"To get an accurate reflection of Carter's position," explained Miller, the union relied on a letter the candidate had sent to Watts and on "transcriptions of two conversations of two speeches, if you want to put it that way, from Jimmy Carter to the CWA at our conventions in '75 and '76.... We excerpted heavily from those two speeches or conversations."

The Federal Election Commission, in implementing campaign finance reform legislation of recent years, has allowed labor unions to spend unlimited funds "to make partisan communications in connection with federal elections to members and their families."

Rigid rules But the commission's rigid rules require that "the material constitutes a communication of the view of... the labor organization" and cannot "simply be republication or reproduction... of any broadcast transcript or tape, or any written, graphic or other form of campaign materials prepared by the candidate" or campaign committee.

Despite that restriction, the Republican lawsuit turned up one case where CWA local 2233 in the pool with my grandson and it was enjoyable to sit and watch the small children having such a good time without incident.

I think we are very fortunate to have a pool such as this with such a large group of children each day handled in such a superb manner. Being a native of Manchester I can assure that Globe Hollow has come a long way.

Summer Time ho-hum?

Are you finding the TV summer viewing blah? Your favorite bridge partner out of town? Time getting a little heavy on your hands?

The Rejuvenation Corps would be more than happy to "match up" a child with your own children for a week's visit. Call 249-7223 and talk to Ann or Kathy about Operation Fun.

Make a new friend. There are a number of patients in Manchester convalescent homes who seldom, if ever, have a visitor. One of these lovely summer evenings would be perfect to visit your new friend if they can still "get around" how delightful they would find an evening ride or perhaps an opportunity for a short shopping trip. Call Call Address: Johnston, 23 Brookfield St., 649-3893 (MACC coordinator of Convalescent Home Visitation) or Sister Genevieve Packham, chairwoman, MACC subcommittee on Convalescent Homes, 649-1854. They will be more than happy to match you up with your new friend.

If you are really looking for some excitement why not invite an inner-city child to spend a week or two with you and your family. They will be able to walk with your children down tree shaded streets to the neighborhood pool in perfect safety or perhaps join in the fun at the closest playground program. Such activities are taken very much for granted by us but a taste of the promised land for your guest. You'll

BOSTON (UPI)—When kidie corps' member Mike Paxton is on the mound, it's not a question of whether the Boston Red Sox will win, but whether they'll beat the point spread.

The 23-year-old rookie right-hander, the beneficiary of 38 runs in his last three starts while allowing only five, Sunday saw his slugging teammates pour seven runs across in the first three innings and coasted to a 11-1 victory over the Seattle Mariners.

The victory was the Red Sox' 14th in the last 15 games and their 10th in a row over the expansion Mariners, who lost their eighth straight. The triumph enabled the Red Sox to maintain their 2-1/2 game lead over Baltimore in the American League East.

Paxton, with last inning relief help from Jim Willoughby, notched his sixth triumph against just two losses, scattering nine hits, while striking out four and walking just one.

"He's a good man to have out there with an 11-run lead because he won't walk people," said Manager Don Zimmer. "That's a lot of hits to wipe out eleven run lead."

"Maybe they figure I need them," laughed Paxton, referring to his mates' productive offense. "But it's nice to get runs and know that if you do the job you'll win the ballgame."

"When I get in that situation I just try to stay ahead of the hitters and get the bats of Carlton Fisk and Dwight Evans."

Fisk triggered a four-run second inning rally with his 18th homer, a two-run shot. With two out, Rick Burleson added a two-run double. "I

Orioles keep pace behind Mora

NEW YORK (UPI)—Andres Mora blasted a three-run homer in the sixth inning Sunday that enabled the second-place Orioles to remain 2 1/2 games behind Boston with a 5-4 victory over the hapless Oakland Athletics.

The 22-year-old outfielder, who is finally getting a chance to play regularly in the wake of another leg injury to Elliott Maddox and Pat Kelly's batting slump, has played in just 40 games this year.

"But he's delivered, driving in 20 runs on his 41 hits, 12 of which have come for extra bases," said Mora. "I feel like I'm hitting the ball now like I did in my training camp."

"I'd like to be playing every day, but I'm happy now just because I'm playing much more."

Southpaw Ross Grimsley went 8-13 in his 11th victory in 17 decisions.

"(But) Nobody's gonna beat Boston for us it seems," he said.

Roy Howell's bases-loaded single keyed a six-run eighth inning as the Jays came from behind to shock the Royals and Dennis Leonard, who had a four-hit shutout that point. Dave McKay doubled in the first two RBIs runs in the eighth and Sam Rice capped the inning with another RBI double.

hits and hurled his eighth straight complete game.

Rangers 12, White Sox 9
Tim Corcoran belted a pinch-hit homer with one out in the eighth to snap a 5-5 tie and give fellow rookie Dave Rozema his 13th victory. Ben Ogilvie hit two homers for the Tigers, while Rozema spaced eight homer.

Indians 12-14, Brewers 4-5
Andre Thornton drove in four runs in the nightcap with his 20th homer and a triple as the Indians swept their fourth doubleheader this year from the slumping Brewers. Wayne Garland, 10-13, scattered nine hits in hurling his 14th complete game in the opener.

It was only the fourth victory in the next 10 years. Wadkins won in 1971 and never really went anywhere.

"Your approach to the game is a lot different when you know you don't have to qualify in order to play," Wadkins said. "As I said, that is very important to me. Of course, winning

Phillies exhibit power

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Phillies finally have regained the polish and poise that enabled them to win the National League East pennant a year ago and now boast the best overall record (71-44) in the major leagues.

The Phillies completed a 10-2, 4-2 sweep of the Chicago Cubs Sunday, and in so doing, set a club record for most consecutive victories (12). In their sweep of the Cubs during the weekend, the Phillies dropped Chicago into a third-place tie with St.

Whalers to oppose Bruins

HARTFORD (UPI)—New England's two major league professional hockey teams will face off for the first time this fall, although it will only be an exhibition game.

The New England Whalers of the World Hockey Association Saturday announced part of their eight-game exhibition schedule will be a first-ever meeting with the Boston Bruins in Hartford.

The Whalers will host the National Hockey League team Oct. 1 at the Hartford Civic Center, according to Jack Kelley, director of hockey operations for the Whalers.

Simpson on beam

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Detroit defenders must have thought whatever caused the blurry vision in O.J. Simpson's left eye was contagious.

Simpson was just a blur to the Lions' line Saturday night in the Bills 17-0 victory over the Lions in Buffalo. He rushed for 55 yards in nine carries and scored two touchdowns to spark the triumph.

In other games Saturday night, it was Seattle 27 Dallas 17, in overtime, Chicago 20 Oakland 13, Los Angeles 20 Philadelphia 3, New Orleans 23 New York Giants 7, San Diego 23 San Francisco 13, Miami 27 Washington 15, Kansas City 23 Pittsburgh 21, New England 38 Green Bay 3, Minnesota 24 Cleveland 23, Denver 15 St. Louis 7, New York Jets 17 Atlanta 2 and Cincinnati 45 Tampa Bay 0.

In the only game Sunday, Baltimore topped Houston, 14-7.

Washed out

Rain washed out last night's Twilight League playoff action. Tonight beginning at 5:30 at St. Thomas, Moriarty's faces Bristol in Game No. 2 of their best of three series. Bristol capped the opener.

NEW YORK (UPI)—"I'm hurting bad for pitchers," Angel Manager Dave Garcia was saying. And who would doubt him? The Yankees blitzed California 15-3 Sunday in a rain-delayed game.

Wayne Simpson, now 6-9, started for the Angels against Yankee relief specialist Dick Tidrow. But where Tidrow was stingy, Simpson was generous. The Yankee righty, making his first start this year, gave up only two singles in six innings and hit his record to 74.

Mickey Rivers started the barrage against Simpson in the first inning by socking his sixth homer over the right-field wall. Rivers wound up with four hits in five at bats, driving in three runs and scoring three times.

Reggie Jackson, with a bases-loaded triple, and Graig Nettles, with a three-run homer, his 27th, also drove in three runs for the streaking Yankees, who have now won six in a row.

Wadkins cops PGA title in playoff over Littler

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (UPI)—Lanny Wadkins had beaten Gene Littler in sudden death only a few minutes before to win the PGA Championship, and one of the first questions thrown at him was, did he realize what he had done or was it going to take a few days before everything sank in.

"I know it means a lot of things," he replied, "but the most important is that it won me 10 years of exemption on the tour."

Wadkins, and the rest of the field Sunday, seemingly had no chance to catch or beat Littler, the veteran Californian who went into the final round with a four-shot lead, which he widened to five on the 18th.

But a series of mistakes—four bogies in a row, from the 12th through the 15th—gave Jack Nicklaus and Wadkins a chance to fight it out.

"I made a lot of bad decisions," Littler said sadly. "I mis-clubbed at least a half dozen times, which you can't do on Pebble Beach."

Nicklaus, whose 16 victories in major events is an all-time record, couldn't get his game together, at least not enough, and he bowed out with a bogey on the 17th. Wadkins, playing earlier, birdied the 18th and was waiting on the sidelines for Littler to finish.

Littler parred in for a 76, compared to Lanny's 70, and he and Wadkins went off to the first hole to begin the championship. Nicklaus finished only a shot back (at 5-under 283) and was disappointed.

It was only the fourth victory in the next 10 years. Wadkins won in 1971 and never really went anywhere.

"Your approach to the game is a lot different when you know you don't have to qualify in order to play," Wadkins said. "As I said, that is very important to me. Of course, winning a major championship is something special. It kind of caps my year."

In addition to four exempt status for the next 10 years, Wadkins won $45,000, the biggest check of his career, five-year exemptions to the Masters and U.S. Open and places in the Ryder Cup competition, the World Series of Golf and the World Cup.

Littler won $25,000 and had things started turning around."

charging because I felt I had nothing to lose. I can't believe I've finished second three times, but I sure want first bad."

But for Debbie Austin, after nine long years, seeing her name on the leader board is becoming a matter of habit.

Austin's fortunes have turned

HUPPAUGE, N.Y. (UPI)—Debbie Austin is a 10-year veteran of the LPGA tour, who prior to this year, had never won a tournament—but things have improved drastically.

Sunday, she captured the $100,000 Long Island Charity Classic with a 9-under-par, four-day total of 27, two strokes better than veteran Kathy Whitworth and newcomer Nancy Lopez, and three strokes in front of Judy Rankin. It was Austin's fourth victory of the year and the $15,000 first prize pushed her money earnings over the $65,000 mark for the season—more than she earned overall her first six years on the tour.

"I seriously thought of quitting," she said the 29-year-old Austin. "I was giving myself 'til the end of the year and if things didn't work out I was going to reconsider my position. I was tired of people telling me 'You'll win eventually.' It had reached the point where I didn't believe it anymore."

But on May 1 she won the Birmingham Classic and with that victory came a renewed confidence.

On Sunday, Austin was paired with Lopez, the young woman who has now finished second in all three tournaments she has played as a pro. Lopez, who started the day three strokes behind Austin, bogeyed the first two holes before she took command of her game. She wound up with five birdies and tied Austin on the 12th after making her third consecutive birdie.

"Nancy had put so much pressure on me all day," said Austin. "She appeared headed for his second world driving championship for three years.

Lauda, the 28-year-old Ferrari driver who continued to pad his point total, placed second to Jones in a Shadow.

It was the first Grand Prix victory for an Australian driver since the golden days of world champion Jack Brabham and the first Grand Prix success of a British Shadow as well.

Sports in brief

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UPI)—U.S. decathlon champ Fred Dixon placed third or better in eight of 10 events Saturday and Sunday to lead the United States' team to victory over the Soviet Union and Canada.

The U.S. team's 46,724 points were the third highest ever by a team. Dixon's 8,392 points was his best performance ever and the sixth-highest score in history.

By hand limit instead of the electronic timing, the Closter, N.J., decathlete had 8,435 points, the second-highest total ever.

The Soviet team got 46,234 points, led by individual runnerup Aleksandr Grebenyuk, who grabbed 8,114 points with wins in the discus, javelin and shot put and good performances in the non-throwing events.

19th hole

ZELTWEG, Austria (UPI)—Austrian Alana Jones captured the Austrian Formula 1 Grand Prix Monday, but Austrian Niki Lauda appeared headed for his second world driving championship for three years.

Lauda, the 28-year-old Ferrari driver who continued to pad his point total, placed second to Jones in a Shadow.

JUNIOR LEGION
Manchester Jr. Legion dropped both ends of a Saturday doubleheader to Loomis All Star Sports School, 16-0 and 3-2, in Windsor.

In the mid-wintering opener, Mike Gilbert and Joe Demayo each had three hits and Dave Bottaro, Dave Blake and Mike Freilheit two apiece.

In the nightcap, Freilheit knocked out two hits including a three-base bouncer to Loomis All Star Sports School, 16-0 and 3-2, in Windsor.

Sports briefs

Second-seeded Manuel Orantes of Spain upset No. 1 ranked Jimmy Connors 6-1, 6-3 Sunday to capture the U.S. Open Clay Court tennis championships in Indianapolis. Orantes, who also won in 1975, collected top prize money of $17,000. Connors' consolation was $8,750.

Top-seeded Brian Gottfried and Guillermo Vilas of Argentina moved into the finals of the Wendy's Tennis Classic in Dublin, Ohio. Gottfried beat Raul Ramirez of Mexico 6-3, 6-2 in one semifinal match while Vilas pushed his winning streak on clay to 34 straight with a 6-0, 6-2 triumph over Billy Martin of Palos Verdes, Calif.

Giorgio Chinaglia scored three goals in leading Cosmos to a resounding 8-3 win over the Ft. Lauderdale Strikers in a North American Soccer League playoff tilt. A capacity crowd of 77,691, the largest ever to watch a soccer game in North America, saw the contest at the Meadowlands in New Jersey.

Of local interest, Zone Eight champ East Hartford remained alive in the double elimination state American Legion baseball tournament with a 4-0 blanking of Torrington as Tom Dawson threw a four-hitter Sunday at Legion Field in Meriden. Saturday, East Hartford dropped an 11-inning 2-1 defeat to Waterbury.
