Joseph Reynolds, 86 Niles Dr., presented a petition with about 650 signatures to Town Clerk Edward Tomkiel this morning at the Municipal Building, stating the complaints and demands of residents relating to the recent contamination of water in the southwest section of Manchester. A citizens group organized this week after 10 days of a boiling advisory on the water. Water tests in the past two days have indicated the contamination has cleared and the advisory may be lifted later today if a final test shows negative results, town officials said. ## Officials voice optimism on water service problem

By SUSAN VAUGHN

Herald Reporter
While a petition as being presented to the town clerk this morning stating citizens' complaints regarding contaminated water, town officials were meeting on the problem and expressing optimism that a 12-day boiling advisory on the water will be lifted today.

A final decision on lifting the boiling advisory will not be made until later today, Frank Jodanis, water and sewer administrator said, but test samples taken Thursday and today were all good.

One more test was being conducted today by Metropolitan District Commission (MDC), which was using highly sensitized equipment to check for leaks on Diane Dr., where one cause, a closed valve, was found earlier this week.

If that test indicates no leaks in the water or sewer pipes, then the advisory will be lifted and homeowners on the 42 affected streets will be notified, Jodanis said.

Should the MDC find a problem, it will be fixed and the advisory will remain until it is taken care of, Assistant Town Manager Charles McCarthy said.

The MDC had experience with a similar problem in Hartford about 15 years ago, McCarthy said. The commission agreed to check the problem here at no cost to the town, McCarthy said.

In addition to the citizens' petition which is asking for restitution of damages incurred by the water contamination, Democratic candidate for the Board of Directors Steve Cassano called for a joint meeting of the town directors and local citizens to discuss the water emergency.

Cassano called the water situation

Consumer index up .4%

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumer prices rose a moderate 0.4 per cent in July — the smallest increase of 1977 — as shoppers enjoyed lower grocery and gasoline costs, the Labor Department announced today.

The overall monthly increase, reflecting a 4.8 per cent annual inflation rate, appeared to be the start of a cooling trend that economists have been predicting for the last half of 1977.

The July figure compared with large monthly increases averaging 0.7 per cent — or an 8.4 per cent annual rate — during the first half of the year. But economists believe the underlying inflation rate is somewhere between these two extremes at about 6 per cent.

Food costs, the chief source of soaring prices during the first half of the year, have also been responsible for the recent slowdown. All food prices — including restaurant bills — rose a bare 0.1 per cent last month, and grocery prices actually declined 0.1 per cent.

Commodities other than food rose only 0.1 per cent in July, smallest increase since July, 1975. This slowdown was attributed to declining used car and gasoline prices.

The Consumer Price Index in July was 182.6 — meaning consumer goods and services cost $100 a decade ago now cost $182.60, an increase of more than 80 per cent. Prices have risen 5.7 per cent over the past year.

Not since last December have food prices and overall retail prices shown such a small increase. But service costs continued to climb at a 0.8 per cent rate in July, similar to the pace set earlier this year.

Coffee was among the food items with lower prices in July. Sugar and pork prices fell for the first time this year. Also down were beef, poultry, fresh fruits and vegetables. Unlike other years, used car prices declined in July — down 2.7 per cent. Gasoline and motor oil prices also fell 0.3 per cent and increases for other non-food commodities were moderate.

Summer sales were credited for moderate price increases on clothing and household goods. Although fuel oil and coal prices rose 0.6 per cent, it was the smallest such rise this year.

Housing and medical costs were the primary cause of an unabated rise in service prices. Mortgage interest rates increased sharply, reflecting higher rates on FHA loans. Gas and electricity bills also were much bigger.

Mourners given flowers after Presley funeral

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Mournful Elvis Presley fans, barred from his private funeral, raced down a winding cemetery road today to grab a final souvenir from their idol — a flower from the thousands of floral arrangements banked around the mausoleum where the rock 'n' roll star's body is sealed in a crypt.

At the request of the family, the fans were blocked today from entering the gray marble columned mausoleum where Presley's body was laid to rest Thursday in a seamless copper coffin.

But flowers handed out flowers from the more than 3,000 arrangements sent to Memphis from all over the world following the unexpected death of Presley from heart failure at his Graceland mansion Tuesday at the age of 42.

A crowd of more than 300 massed around the entrance to the cemetery early in the morning, and then rushed inside as the gates swung open on schedule at 8:30 a.m.

The original plan was to give each fan one flower, but there were so many handing out the blooms that it was easy for a fan to come up with several.

Weeping, brown-haired Bonnie Hutchings of Rochester, N. Y. clutched a small clump of flowers. She said she would be 34 Monday and had planned to ask Elvis for a birthday kiss following one of his concerts.

"What am I going to do? I'm afraid these flowers are going to die. They are going to die like Elvis. I have no place to stay, nothing to eat. I just don't know what to do," she said.

Three young boys jugged the mile down the road from the gate to the mausoleum and arrived ahead of the rest of the crowd.

One of them was Darold Noss, 17, Vermilion, Ohio. "I always said if he died I would have to see him, no matter where he was," said the youngster, clutching a single red carnation. "He was the world's most famous man alive, the most wonderful man alive."

Thousands watched Thursday as a white hearse carried the body of the superstar from his 18-room mansion to Forest Hill Cemetery.

Four miles from the midtown cemetery, only a handful of the 75,000

Free lunch business

President Carter in his populist-style campaign for the presidency, railed against the special interests in Washington. Presumably the President maintains his own list of good friends, wise consultants and special groups that he consults from time to time on legislation.

So even the money guidelines are not too clear. The broader test is whether a piece of legislation focuses narrowly on rewarding a special class of citizens or whether all Americans seem to benefit from its passage. But this can be as complicated as the money problem. Lobbyists concentrate on this national interest argument and many times it veils a fairly narrow interest.

Identifying special interests is a difficult political problem and is overlaid with name-calling from those across the party fences.

If the Chamber of Commerce lobbies Republicans, is the Chamber viewed as a special interest leader by Democrats? You bet.

If the AFL-CIO does the same thing for Democrats, are the union leaders viewed as special interest leaders by Republicans? You bet.

It would be handy if there were an easy way to sort out genuine special interests. Unfortunately, there is no clear path through this muddy, well-trampled field, only a few signposts.

One of those signposts is money. Suppose you met a special interest walking down the street and it offered you lunch or dinner. "Well," you say, "no harm in that."

Suppose it added a weekend of trout fishing in Wyoming. "Hmmmhmmhmm."

Suppose it hinted at a little booze and sex. "Now wait just a moment. It's stepping over the line."

Then let's go back to lunch. Suppose it called and said it wanted to take you to a $25 lunch but can't make it today so it is sending over the cash instead. "Graft. Bribery. Corruption."

Women don't smell like they used to

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON — Equality for women has done us males in. Women don't smell as good as they used to. In the rush to doff her femininity in order to get elected dictator, the average female seems to feel that a sniff of Lifebuoy is more appropriate to her new status.

Indeed, the more dedicated — or frenzied — among the Women's Lib movement make a point of neglecting association even with a bar of soap in the mistaken belief that exuding the effluvia of a peasant just in from slopping the hogs gives them special standing with the masses. But let that pass.

Years for Tabu
I yearn for the bad old perfumed days of Tabu and Unbrilled Passion, when women were dangerous and therefore objects of pursuit. Of Tabu, it used to be said it was "so intimate there might be those who would say you should wear it only when entirely alone."

Unfair competition
The United States could not fairly compete, however, if such imports were entering the domestic market as a result of evenhanded competition. What is happening, however, is that American companies, with little support from our government, are forced to compete against foreign steel firms propped up by their governments in an effort to export their unemployment to our shores.

What can be done about it? For starters, the Carter Administration should take a long, hard second look at its tentative plans to kill the significant tax incentive given to U.S. exporters of steel and other products. The program is called DISC (for Domestic International Sales Corporations) and allows exporters to defer taxes on some profits. While by no means offsetting foreign government efforts, DISC helps.

Aggressive action needed
The domestic steel industry, to its credit, generally favors continued attempts to achieve more fair competition through negotiation rather than import quotas or other protectionist moves. But it is clear something must be done.

The stakes were outlined in a recent paper by a group called the Special Committee for U.S. Exports. "The failure to develop a policy of more aggressive export expansion — and export competitiveness — will be translated in the U.S. economy as higher inflation, the further devaluation of the dollar and less jobs for American workers."

Willhide remarks draw more reaction

Remarks made by Mr. Paul Willhide, Republican candidate for the Board of Education.

Dear sir: Mr. Paul Willhide's attitude toward education seems to be a most unfortunate one. If he considers the advances made in our public school system during the past several years to be "status quo, complacent and mediocre," then I gravely doubt his ability to objectively judge a very complex educational process.

It is quite probably immaterial to James Kennedy if he is addressed as doctor, mister or Jim. What is material is a lack of courtesy for what the title doctor, attributed to a doctoral degree represents. Mr. Willhide has, in his statements, antagonized many people who have worked towards a degree. But more than that, he denigrates higher education.

He seems to be gleefully anticipating the power that will come to him should he be elected to a very responsible position on the Board of Education. Perhaps he should be reminded that the power rests not there, but ultimately with us, the voting public. It is advantageous to no one to have a witchhunt conducted in an area that could conceivably affect our most precious resource, the children of Manchester.

Sincerely, Elaine Kahaner, 23 Ladhaw Rd., Manchester

Tribute to DellaFera

Dear sir: I recently returned from a business trip to hear the very sad news that Francis DellaFera had succumbed. It was, indeed, sad news for me as I am sure it was for many who have been active in the health community with the rapid changes which this community has undergone in the last few years.

Mr. DellaFera was a very reasonable, intelligent man, who was interested not only in cost containment, but cost containment combined with a sincere interest in quality of care for each human being.

He will be sadly missed by many of us who have been active in health affairs in recent years. Sincerely yours, Virginia Connolly, State Representative, 91 Old Farms Rd., West Simsbury

Wanted: A better excuse

By Martha Angle and Robert Walters
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Ever since this country took its first reluctant steps four years ago to confront what has come to be known as the "energy crisis," the petroleum industry has offered the same facile explanation whenever critics have complained about unconscionable profits.

The one which strikes the locals fancy is the battle between the Yanks and Red Sox which has been bornly clinging on. The Bostonians have been on a tear, 16 of 18, but haven't been able to put any distance as do the Yanks and Red Sox, but the additional aspect of a three-way brawl will be lacking. Young was two strokes behind leader Nancy Narkon of Manchester Country Club after the front nine. Narkon had taken over the lead from Gail Appell of the Golf Club of Avon who went to five strokes back.

Young, who over the three days of the tourney played the most consistently, had a bogey on the second hole, a double-bogey on the fifth and a triple bogey on the sixth.

On the back nine she had six pars, taking bogies only on the 13th, 16th and 18th holes, which she closed out the tourney by three-putting.

Great races
A script writer couldn't have done better. There are two close and one near to pennant races in major league baseball and the moguls must sport ear-to-ear grins.

It's hard to analyze what's going on. The Los Angeles Dodgers early in the season looked unstoppable but have tailed off considerably. But Cincinnati has not gained much ground with erratic pitching the cause and that deal is all but over.

Philadelphia set a club record by 13 consecutive victories before being derailed Wednesday night by the Expos. The Phillies have supplanted Los Angeles as the club with the best record in both leagues.

But the representatives from the City of Brotherly Love haven't gone and hid as Pittsburgh is still hot on their trail. The Cubs' barings of the early season, have fallen on hard times. They've found out what life is like without a relief pitcher and not too deep benches as injuries have hurt tremendously.

While not discussed too much locally, the best race is in the American League West where four clubs were within two games of each other in the lone column. It should also be remembered that California is not out of it yet, lurking behind but definitely in striking range.

Moriarty's gains Twi League finals

Gaining the Twilight League playoff finals last night was Moriarty Bros. with a 3-2 verdict over defending champion Bristol at St. Thomas in Bloomfield.

The locals earned the right to face Hartford Jay-Ala in the best three-of-five final which begins tonight at 8:30 at St. Thomas.

MBS John Serafini and Cassin Bob Nicoletti hooked up in an old fashioned pitching duel but each surrendered key blows.

Moriarty's took a 2-0 lead in the bottom of the first as Fred Flynn singled, and Eastern Connecticut State College standout Bud Silveletta a two-run homer over the rightfield barrier.

It stood that way until the top of the fourth when the Cassins tied it. A walk and two-run homer by Hartford Jay-Ala won the American Division and Moriarty's was runner-up.

American Steel vs. the world

Lee Roderick

The Herald's Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON — "Is America getting trapped by foreign steel... as we are by foreign oil?" This question, compliments of Bethlehem Steel, the nation's No. 2 producer, recently headed a full-page advertisement in a number of leading U.S. publications.

Most foreign steelmakers are either owned, subsidized, financed, aided and/or protected in one way or another by their governments," reads the ad. "They don't have the same pressure we do to operate profitably or generate capital."

"We believe that much of the steel being imported into the U.S. is being 'dumped' — that is, sold at prices lower than those charged in the producer's own country, and usually below the foreign steelmaker's full costs of production. Dumping is illegal, but it has been hard to prove."

Interdependence
Conventional wisdom has it that the increasingly interdependent world economic structure, let alone peace itself, is enhanced by free trade among nations and threatened by protectionism. Perhaps nowhere is the workability of that simplistic premise more starkly challenged than in the area of steel.

Japan's prime minister, Takeo Fukuda, speaking recently at the National Press Club during a visit to the United States, noted that during the great depression one of the major country after another closed its doors to free trade. "As a result, world economic conditions further deteriorated."

"Between 1929 and 1933, world trade shrank by 40 per cent, and the combined industry product of the major economic powers dropped by 30 per cent. Economic paralysis contributed to social instability and than double the rate of steel imports into the U.S. as a whole last year, and was the equivalent of 18,000 jobs.

The United States could not fairly compete, however, if such imports were entering the domestic market as a result of evenhanded competition. What is happening, however, is that American companies, with little support from our government, are forced to compete against foreign steel firms propped up by their governments in an effort to export their unemployment to our shores.

Thought
What do the Scriptures say? By Scriptures we mean the old and new testaments. Spirit given-God breathed (2 Timothy 3:16) through various men chosen by God at different times.

God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto Himself, not counting their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation. Now then we are ambassadors for Christ. (2 Corinthians 5: 19-20)

This is good news; this is the Gospel. Once we "were not a people, but now are the people of God; which had not obtained mercy." (1 Peter 2:10) Yes: "the wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord." (Romans 6:23)

Bert Lance still faces unresolved questions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter has thrown his full support behind Budget Director Bert Lance, who has been cleared of criminal wrongdoing in his $6 million personal bank dealings. But other serious questions remain unresolved. "Bert, I am proud of you," said Carter, warmly shaking Lance's hand at the start of a 50-minute news conference Thursday. Comptroller of Currency John Heimann said, in a lengthy report, "We do not believe the information developed to date in the inquiry warrants the prosecution of any individuals." Lance was gratified. He said the report should put to rest allegations about his personal finances, and declared: "I don't know of any circumstances where I've done anything improper or illegal and I think that report says that."

The report compiled by more than 30 federal banking examiners dealt with Lance loans of $6 million from New York and Chicago banks at which the National Bank of Georgia opened interest-free accounts, and hundreds of thousands of dollars in overdrafts at another bank Lance headed in 1974. But Heimann said there are still some unsettled issues concerning the second most powerful man in the administration, who sometimes is called the "assistant president." These include: Whether Lance violated federal campaign laws by illegal use of the National Bank of Georgia's aircraft for presidential candidate Jimmy Carter; Whether the comptroller's office committed any violations in its earlier reviews of Lance's financial transactions. Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., said he expected Heimann to complete the inquiry before testifying before the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee Sept. 7. Ribicoff's committee confirmed Lance to the budget post in January and gave him a "clean bill of health" following a one-day hearing a month ago.

UTC ups offer for B&W shares

HARTFORD (UPI) — United Technologies Inc. has upped its tender offer for any or all common shares of Babcock and Wilcox Co. by 7 to 85 a share, the same price offered by J. Ray McDermott & Co. The latest United tender offer for Thursday, representing the second increase from its original offer of $42 a share, intensified the battle for B&W, a New York-based maker of boilers for generating plants. United, a diversified producer of aircraft engines and electrical products, said its offer would expire Aug. 25 and remained the same condition as its first offer made Aug. 4. United subsequently raised its offer to $48 a share for any and all B&W common stock. McDermott's $55 a share offer is limited to 4.3 million shares of B&W and is scheduled to expire Aug. 25. McDermott, a New Orleans maker of oil rigs, previously owned 1.2 million B&W shares. It would hold 45 percent of B&W's common stock if its offer is successful. The B&W directors, who opposed the previous United offer, have endorsed the McDermott proposal. McDermott has announced plans for an eventual merger with B&W, assuming it obtained the shares it is seeking through its tender.

Uniroyal denies rumor

NAUGATUCK (UPI) — Uniroyal Inc. has denied published reports it is considering closing its Naugatuck speaker factory and laying off 1,700 workers. The Waterbury Republican Thursday quoted an unnamed company source as saying Uniroyal has not made a final decision but there is a possibility the footwear plant may suspend production in November. "There are no plans that we know of at this time," to close, Thomas Nelligan, industrial relations manager said Thursday. Uniroyal employed 3,100 workers at the Naugatuck plant at the start of the year, but said in March it was planning to layoff 1,400 of them. The corporation said the layoffs were necessary because a long strike made "Naugatuck-manufactured products less competitive in the marketplace."

Canal treaty gains conservative nods

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Opposition to the proposed Panama Canal treaty is not rock solid among conservative Republicans in the Senate, an encouraging sign for President Carter's efforts to win approval of the pact. Absence of solidarity on the issue among GOP conservatives was signaled Wednesday when S.J. Hayakawa, R-Calif., said he was ready to lend support "if the treaties look as acceptable in particulars as they do in principle." Hayakawa's announcement in San Francisco followed a statement by Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., last week that he was withholding final judgment and cautioning against hasty action.

Goldwater, the dean of the group, and Hayakawa, a freshman, both are regarded as staunch members of the Senate's conservative bloc. Manchester police report

About $100 in cash was stolen Thursday night in an armed robbery at the Cumberland Farms Store, 210 W. Center St. Police reported the suspect, described as a white male, about 5 feet 10, 130-140 lbs., entered the store carrying a revolver and wearing a black mask and a hat, and forced the lone cashier to remove money from the store cash register and safe. He then forced the clerk into the cooler at the back of the store before he fled, police said. Another burglary was reported at Anderson Bros. gas station at 707 Main St. Thursday morning. Less than $100 was taken from a drawer in the station. Theft of a large amount of cash, coins and jewelry was reported from a Hilliard St. home Thursday. Police said there was no evidence of a forced entry. The theft was from a safe which had been forced open. Attempted breaks were reported at an office in the Andrews Building, 63 E. Center St. and at an Eldridge St. home Thursday. The woman at the residence said some unknown persons knocked at her door, and when she refused to open it, they attempted to break in, but her screams frightened the intruders away.

Summer program ends with picnic

Participants in the summer playground program at Beechwood Apartments enjoyed a windup picnic Thursday which concluded the summer activities. The playground, as well as one at the Squire Village apartments, was sponsored by the Community Services Division of Manchester Community College. Youth workers were provided by the Comprehensive Youth Work Experience Program (CYWEP). The Manchester Recreation Department also provided some materials and bus transportation to townwide playground events. (Herald photo by Pinto)

In 'Son of Sam' murder case

No-bail release report infuriates Mayor Beame

NEW YORK (UPI) — A city agency asked that David Berkowitz, the man accused of killing six in the "Son of Sam," be released without bail the day after his capture — simply because he had a place to live, a steady job and no criminal record. Those interested in attending the event are asked to call Walter Atken, 643-4537. Manchester Chapter, SPEBSQSA, will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the Teen Center Annex of Manchester Recreation Center. The meeting is open to all area men interested in singing quartet barbershop harmony. Manchester Chapter, Partners Without Partners, will have a chicken barbecue Saturday from 1 to 7 p.m. at the Red Barn on Andover Street. Dinner will be served at 5. Those interested in attending the event are asked to call Walter Atken, 643-4537. Manchester's Commission on Aging will not meet Monday night as reported because its bylaws do not require a meeting on August meeting. The meeting of the commission will be Sept. 26 at Crestfield Convalescent Home.

'Operation I.D.' helps trace stolen goods

Police Chief Robert D. Lannan reports a recent incident in which a CB radio unit was recovered by the police department and the owner was located through the driver's license number which was inscribed on it. The inscription was made through the Police Department's "Operation I.D." program. Chief Lannan said the incident proves that the I.D. program does work as intended. Any personal property which has been inscribed with the owner's driver's license number, or other identification, is recorded and kept on file at the Police Department. The department has held several sessions of the I.D. program for CB radio owners and will hold another one in mid-September. Fiches are available from the department on loan to any resident who wishes to put identification numbers on property such as stereo systems, cameras, televisions and other property. Information on the program may be obtained from Community Relations Officer James McCoo at the Police Department.

Area police report

Vernon Gregory Desrosiers, 17, of 18 Miriam Dr., Vernon, was charged Thursday with disorderly conduct and interfering with a police officer. Police had to shoot a dog who attacked two officers. Police said they responded to a call about a suspicious person behind the Vernon Elementary School on Rt. 30. They said a scuffle followed and a dog with Desrosiers bit Officer Robert Albert and then attacked Officer Terry Fretto, who came to his assistance. Fretto shot the dog, which was later taken to a veterinarian for treatment. Also arrested in connection with the same incident was Stephen Achille, 17, of Hartford. He was charged with disorderly conduct, interfering with a police officer and illegal possession of a cannabis substance (less than four ounces). Desrosiers posted a $250 nonreturn bond and is scheduled to appear in Common Pleas Court 18, Rockville, Sept. 14. Achille was held overnight at the police station in lieu of bond and he was to be presented in court today. Frances Kepleski, 38, of 48B Mt. Vernon Dr., Vernon, was charged Thursday with fraudulently obtaining a controlled drug at a local pharmacy. He was released on a $1,000 nonreturn bond for court appearance Sept. 14. Peter Lurttsema, 20, of White Birch Rd., Tolland, who has been held at the Hartford Correctional Center on charges of kidnapping, first and second-degree sexual assault, risk of injury, and burglary and larceny, was arrested Thursday on a Superior Court bench warrant charging that with first-degree sexual assault. Lurttsema was presented before Judge Eli Kramer in Tolland County Superior Court, Rockville. Bond was set at $35,000 and court date set for Sept. 6. He was returned to jail. Carl Vidito Jr., 18, of Enfield, was charged Thursday with obstruction of an emergency vehicle and failure to obey an officer's signal. The arrest was made in connection with a high speed chase July 16 in which Vidito was injured in an accident. His court date is Sept. 13.

Elderly seek hobby area

Vernon
Representatives of senior citizen groups in Vernon would like to see some areas, in a proposed new complex for the elderly, be devoted to woodworking.

Barkan Development Corp. of Chestnut Hill, Mass., met with a group in Vernon Thursday afternoon to discuss plans for conversion of the former U.S. Envelope building on W. Main St. to an apartment complex for the elderly.

The firm announced its plans for the building last week and asked for input from residents as to what they would like to see incorporated in the conversion plans.

Those attending seemed primarily interested in the amount of storage space, proposed garden areas, what the rent charges would be and such. Barkan officials will take these into consideration when making final plans. If an agreement is reached on buying the building, Barkan will seek funding for the proposed conversion, which officials said last week would run about $3 million. From the Connecticut Housing Finance Agency.

Plans are to change the building into a 115-apartment complex. The building is in a general industrial zone and the developers will have to obtain a zone change to residential and approval of the plan from the town's Zoning Commission. It may also be necessary to obtain variances from the Zoning Board of Appeals.

Firehouse to get sprinklers

South Windsor
The South Windsor Public Building Commission (PBC) has decided to include a sprinkler system in the new firehouse headquarters on Ellington Rd.

Howard Fitts, PBC member, said the sprinklers will cost about $6,000. Fitts said the money will be taken from the project's $20,000 contingency fund.

Funds advanced by the Town Council in the amount of $4,600 will be included in the contingency fund, giving officials more flexibility when items such as the sprinkler system arise during construction of the building.

Fitts said the $4,600 was advanced before the firehouse project was approved in referendum and does not have to be deducted from the total $765,000 approved for construction. Town Atty. Thomas Dennis and Controller G. Ted Ellis have agreed the additional funds should be kept separate.

Officials are faced with a delay in the arrival of steel for the firehouse, but the project is still expected to be completed by the end of the year.

The new firehouse, which will serve as a headquarters for the South Windsor Fire Department, is being built across the street from the old firehouse No. 1. It will be used as a meeting house and training facility as well as a firehouse.

PZC decisions
The South Windsor Planning and Zoning Commission has voted to:

- Approve, with conditions, the application of Franklin Distributors Inc. for a site plan of development on property located on Nutmeg Rd.

Approve, with conditions, the application of Industriatics Inc. for zone change from General Commercial to Industrial on property owned by William and Anna Jurgelas, located east and adjacent to the present Industriatics site.

Approve, with conditions, the application of Savin Brothers Inc., 480 Sullivan Ave., for rezoning of property on Nutmeg Rd.

Tower may open to public

Vernon
The Memorial Tower on Fox Hill in Henry Park, Rockville, is being cleaned in the hope that it can again be open to the public.

Mayor Thomas Benoit said Thursday that he hopes, after the tower is cleaned, it can be opened for the public in the fall.

Several other attempts have been made to keep the tower open but vandals have made this impossible.

The tower, which gives a panoramic view of several towns, has been worked over to remove the graffiti which covered the entryway and the walls around the winding stairway that leads to the top.

The next step will be to paint the entire inside. The Frank Volpe Co. of Williamstown, Mass., is working with William and Anna Jurgelas, located east and adjacent to the present Industriatics site.

Volpe said the frost got under the stones and caused them to buckle. His crew is taking out all of the defective stones and replacing them. The town plans to put in an alarm system at the tower when money is available.

The guidance office at Rockville High School is open Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. until Sept. 1. These students should have transcripts sent to Rockville High from the school they last attended.

Police station grant okayed

Vernon
Bids will go out soon for construction of Vernon's new police station. Word of approval of funding through the National Economic Development Administration (EDA) was received Thursday afternoon.

The grant is for $1.2 million. Work must start within 90 days on the 17,800-square-foot facility, which will replace the existing 5,000-square-foot station. The new station has been designed to accommodate an 80-person staff and should be large enough to last through the year 2000.

The plans were designed with the advice of the National Clearinghouse of Criminal Justice Planning and Architecture.

Associates of Farmington is the architect. The new station has been designed to accommodate an 80-person staff and should be large enough to last through the year 2000.

GOP ticket slot still open

Hebron
Hebron's Republican Town Committee failed to fill the vacancy on the fall ticket Thursday night. The vacancy is for the position of selectman caused by the withdrawal of caucus-approved candidate Marilyn Horton.

Mrs. Horton was forced to withdraw her name because she is a state employee.

An executive session was held before the Town Committee meeting to discuss the matter. Town Chairman Clay Osborn said the nominating committee had two persons interested in the slot. The final selection is up to the Town Committee officers, as they were empowered by the caucus earlier this month to fill any vacancies.

Osborn said the nominating committee was not allowed to proceed in a reasonable and unbarred fashion to make its recommendation. He did not give the names of the two potential candidates. He said he expected the committee to meet with the officers to make a final decision on the names with the Secretary of the State this week.

Group wary about land buy

Coventry
Possibly one of the Salvation Army land, which is up for sale, were discussed by the Coventry Parks and Recreation Commission at a recent meeting.

Other members of the Parks and Recreation Commission emphasized that the land looks good, but that acquisition would require a careful look because Coventry needs things besides more land.

Jeff Lancaster, commission member, was a bit more graphic when he said that the purchase could prove to be a monster, "and right now I would say no to the purchase."

Sandra Young's objection to the purchase of the land concerned the lack of adequate parking in the area. Ms. Young also said there is a dangerous street to cross.

The safety hazard troubles me as a patrolman for traffic, and a full-time director," she said.

The land offered for sale by the Salvation Army comprises 77 acres in several parcels. Zoning Agent Ernest Wheeler has reported that the seven-acre parcel on Cross St. presents no problem for drainage, but the 54-acre parcel which adjoins Robertson School has a large wetland area and interior soils which would present problems.

Sixteen acres of the land are on the lake front, and contains 34 cottages and other buildings, several of which are year-round buildings.

Wheeler has also reported that most of the buildings on the property do not conform to zoning regulations.

Grant to Bolton schools is higher than expected

The Town of Bolton will receive $43,009 from Connecticut's Guaranteed Tax Base (GTB) school finance equalization program.

School Supt. Raymond Allen said he was told the amount Wednesday by Dr. Mark Shedd, state commissioner of education.

The Board of Education originally estimated Bolton would receive $16,000 from the program. Last year the town received $18,500. The 1977-78 budget estimate for the grant is $18,500.

The $43,009 is above and beyond what Bolton receives from the state ADM (Average Daily Membership) grant.

The purpose of the GTB program is to equalize educational opportunities for Connecticut students. Allen said he believes the amount ($43,009) will increase over the next two or three years.

Siddis Sattar, chairman of the Board of Finance, said he needs to find out more about the program before he can say where the money will go and how it will be distributed.

He said he believes when the money comes into town it will go into the town's general fund, but he's not sure.

A pamphlet published by the state Department of Education said towns may use the GTB grant for increasing school expenses, reducing local property taxes, or some combination of these two.

The state raises the money for the program through its Instant Lottery. More money for schools.

Allen said he and the school board learned recently that the amount of their budget being estimated too high was true.

Allen said when the Insurance Advisory Board recently gave the actual insurance costs to the school board, they were $7,000 lower than the amount budgeted. But, said Allen, "the board will need the money."

The budgeted amount for insurance is $27,541.

Bids awarded

Allen said bids for roof drains and paving at Bolton Elementary School

and paving at Bolton High School have been awarded.

The contract for the roof drain at the elementary school, $1,500, was awarded to RWA Inc. to Coventry. The school board had estimated $1,800.

Both paving contracts were awarded to G&H Paving & Construction Co. of Bolton.

The playground at the elementary school will cost $1,725 and the driveway and entrance to the parking lot at the high school will cost $3,750. The school board had estimated $1,800 and $4,000, respectively.

Allen said the school board returned $267 to the town from its Title I program. He said the money was for administrative costs not directly chargeable to the program. He said there will be an additional return later this month.

Resignations, appointments

The school board accepted the resignation of Mary Jane Padua as reading consultant. She was with the school system for six years.

The resignation of George Rohack and Lynnell Morris were also accepted. Rohack was a half-time guidance counselor and cooperative work experience program coordinator and Morris was a half-time guidance counselor. Both worked at the high school.

The board appointed Barbara Jo Robb as half-time learning disabilities teacher and half-time tutor to the Title I program.

The board appointed Ann Klein as reading consultant.

The appointment of Anne Manning as payroll clerk was approved by the board. She fills a vacancy created by the resignation of Carol Wood.

Allen said the high school guidance jobs and cooperative work experience position are still vacant.

Allen said Bolton is eligible for an entitlement of $1,700 for its handicapped students. He said a project must be written up and an application completed in order for the board to get the money.

Bulletin board

The Democratic Town Committee will meet tonight at 8 at the Community Hall. Fundraisers will be discussed.

Maher seeking welfare boost

HARTFORD (UPI) — Social Services Commissioner Edward Maher has called for Connecticut welfare payments to be raised.

Maher said Thursday gains the program made during the legislative session this year are not enough. He has not released details of just how much he thinks payments should be raised.

Swim meet is Sunday

By SHEILA TULLER
Herald Correspondent

Swimmers from 7 to 17 representing the town's indoor and outdoor pools will compete Sunday at Penney High.

The annual town championship meet will begin at noon.

Drennan's team, 1976 defending champs, is the leading 1977 team, winning most of the summer meets.

Lisa Lussier and Steve Nishiyama coach Gold Star Pool swimmers. Each team's roster boasts swimming families which have been team leaders in past meets.

The Donovans — Dan, Doug, Don, Dave and Mary Jo — from Drennan won six events and placed in several races in the championships last year. Drennan's Sue Cushman, holder of a 1972 record and former most valuable swimmer title holder, will be swimming in her last town meet. She will swim against her brother, Dave, who opted for the Martin EHHS team coached by her big sister, Kathy.

Martin also has the Marshes, Teddy swimmers in the 13-14 division. Starter Tracy will be defending her 1975 breast stroke record.

The Dakin sisters, Kelly, Lynn and Meg, from Gold Star, last year won all three breast stroke events. Lynn broke a meet record in 1976 beating the 1975 11-12 breast stroke record by nine seconds.

Kelly Dakin beat her own 1975 13-14 breast stroke record by three seconds.

Resident meeting a sign of future

By MAL BARLOW
East Hartford Reporter

The Larrabee-Woodland Association meeting Wednesday night may be a sign of things to come for the other five neighborhood groups which sprang up this summer.

The Larrabee group is the oldest. Neighbors with and without Woodland School children banded together to fight to keep the school open to elementary grades. They failed.

But the Connecticut Citizen Action Group (CCAG) gave them aid and encouragement. When the East Hartford Citizen Action Group (EHCAG) began to form this spring and summer, the Larrabee area neighbors were already in a loose neighborhood group.

Speeding on Larrabee St. prompted the neighbors to fight again. This time they used EHCAG guidance and even a full-time staff person, Karen Santana of CCAG.

The neighbors had set up teams with captains. They knew how to get word out in the neighborhood when a meeting would be held or a new problem came up. They printed flyers and passed them door-to-door.

Mrs. Santana prepared loose agendas and printed them for the meetings.

Wednesday night was quiet. Only 11 neighbors came to the meeting in the basement of St. Rose Church. The group likes to meet in Woodland School but School Supt. Eugene Dugga is now remodeling much of the building for administration offices and storage.

Catherine Larson, chairman of the meeting, said Mrs. Santana had written the agenda in the hospital. It printed, and her husband had dropped it off.

Mrs. Margaret Archambault led off the meeting with a short prayer.

Mrs. Larson then started out at the top of the agenda and moved forward.

Everyone said how pleased they were to see progress on Larrabee St. A new stop sign, a painted crosswalk, signs warning of children and speed traps have done much good, they said.

There's no more roaring around the corner of Tolland and Larrabee Sts. at 50 miles per hour," said Ronald Whaley.

"They agreed to send a letter to Police Chief Clarence Drumm thanking him and urging him to continue helping them."

But two other problems still exist. A bump on Larrabee St. almost made a fire truck lose control, said Ernest Vigue. And a tree branch obscures a stop sign.

They agreed Mrs. Larson would write to Public Works Director Arthur Mulligan about the problems.

Kathy Fallette brought up the hazards former Woodland students will face in walking to Burnside School. There are few if any crossing guards at busy corners, she said.

Parents of children closer to Burnside who have been walking the same routes for years never complained to the police, an officer told Mrs. Fallette.

"So nothing was done about it," she said.

She and Mrs. Jeanne Wlochowski are part of an association school committee looking into the problem. They will ask for a special meeting before school starts if they cannot get satisfaction from school leaders.

Mrs. Larson said they should give their support to Mrs. Mary Ann Pressamarita of 46 Long Hill St. (a neighbor in her fight against pornography in town).

Mrs. Archambault told the story of a woman crossing guard last year. A Grade 7 boy dropped something as he hurried across her street at the Norris School. The guard picked it up and took it to his classroom. There she and the teacher discovered it was a porn filmstrip.

"That's the kind of thing that gets people going," said Mrs. Archambault.

"The boy was probably going to use the school media center," said Whaley.

"For show and tell," said Mrs. James Bruffee.

Mrs. Fallette asked the association if it would be the sponsors for Boy Scout Troop 57 and Cub Pack 57. They lost their sponsors when the school closed, she said. The group voted unanimously to do so.

"I guess we're now the proud parents of Troop 57 and Pack 57," said Mrs. Larson, a little surprised at their action.

Mrs. Elsie Anderson, 75, said she had walked to the meeting despite the night's heat and possible rain. She had a personal problem.

The Metropolitan District Commission (MDC) had sent her a bill for $36 for one quarter's use of water. This was far higher than it had ever been. A plumber found a leak and fixed it for her.

But the next quarter, this past one, Mrs. Anderson's bill was $102.

Mrs. Larson told her to tell the MDC she would not pay the bill unless they came out and told her why it was so big.

"I think there's something wrong with the meter," said Mrs. Anderson.

She said she had already called the MDC office in Hartford and they told her to pay the bill. She was highly upset by telling the story. The encouragement she got from the group made her feel much better, she said.

Mrs. Archambault raised the last problem discussed Wednesday.

"The rapist has not been caught yet," she said.

Police protection against rising crime bothers her and many others. She asked that the Larrabee group make a committee to work with the Burnside Center group in stemming area crime. It was done and she is to head it.

Service is Saturday for wife of pastor

A service in celebration of the life of Rosemarie K. Nicholson will be held at the South Congregational Church at 120 Forbes St., East Hartford, Saturday at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Nicholson, wife of the church pastor, Roger S. Nicholson, died Saturday after three years of fighting cancer. She was a member of the English faculty at Penney High School for eight years.

She developed breast cancer in 1974 and finally succumbed to it in 1976 after a brief stay in Hartford Hospital when she had pneumonia. During her long illness, she was an inspiration to other cancer victims she met at the Hartford Oncology Center and to those who watched her pursue her work.

Her family has asked that The Rosemarie K. Nicholson Memorial Scholarship Fund be established with the South Congregational Church as trustee. She had worked at the church with her husband since 1957. Gifts to the fund may be sent to First Federal Savings, 1137 Main St.

East Hartford police report

A patrol officer spotted a fight taking place in front of the Eastview Cafe at 389 Main St. today at 1 a.m.

Police arrested Dennis A. Raymond, 20, of 44 Brewer St., and Thomas E. Curtin, 27, of 40 Pitkin St., both of East Hartford.

Raymond is charged with breach of peace, assault on an officer, interfering with an officer, and possession of marijuana.

Curtin is charged with breach of peace, refusal to be fingerprinted, and possession of a controlled substance.

Raymond was being held this morning on $5,000 surety bond and Curtin on $500.

Both were to be presented in Common Pleas Court 12 today.

Council split on copy fees

Republican Minority Leader Esther Clarke asked the Town Council this week to refer fees for copies of town records to the council's fees committee. She suspects some town agencies charge the public far too much per page for copies. The state requires only 25 cents for most copies.

Democrats David Killian, William Bailey Jr., and Dick Torpey outvoted Mrs. Clarke and Republican James Corrier 3-2.

"What is this?" asked Mrs. Clarke. "I can't even make a referral."

She insisted the Democrats will not allow a Republican to take any action on the council.

Three members of the Cardinals, an East Hartford midget football team, run during a weeknight practice at Labor Field as they prepare for this fall. # Elderly seek hobby area

Vernon
Representatives of senior citizen groups in Vernon would like to see some areas, in a proposed new complex for the elderly, be devoted to space for hobbies such as woodworking.

Barkan Development Corp. of Chestnut Hill, Mass., met with a group in Vernon Thursday afternoon to discuss plans for conversion of the former U. S. Envelope building on W. Main St. to an apartment complex for the elderly.

The firm announced its plans for the building last week and asked for input from residents as to what they would like to see incorporated in the conversion plans.

Those attending seemed primarily interested in the amount of storage space, proposed garden areas, what the rent charges would be and such. Barkan officials will take these into consideration when making final plans if an agreement is reached on buying the building.

Barkan will seek funding for the proposed conversion, which officials said last week would run about $3 million, from the Connecticut Housing Finance Agency.

Plans are to change the building into a 115-apartment complex. The building is in a general industrial zone so the developers will have to obtain a zone change to residential and approval of the plan from the town's Zoning Commission. It may also be necessary to obtain variances from the Zoning Board of Appeals.

Firehouse to get sprinklers

South Windsor
The South Windsor Public Building Commission (PBC) has decided to include a sprinkler system in the new firehouse headquarters on Ellington Rd.

Howard Fitts, PBC member, said the sprinklers will cost about $6,000. Fitts said the money will be taken from the project's $20,000 contingency fund.

Funds advanced by the Town Council in the amount of $4,000 will be taken from the contingency fund, giving officials more flexibility when items such as the sprinkler system arise during construction of the building.

Fitts said the $4,000 was advanced before the firehouse project was approved in referendum and does not have to be deducted from the total $765,000 approved for construction.

Town Atty. Thomas Dennis said Controller G. Ted Ellis has agreed the additional funds should be kept separate.

Officials are faced with a delay in the arrival of steel for the firehouse, but the project is still expected to be completed by the end of the year.

The new firehouse, which will serve as a headquarters for the South Windsor Fire Department, is being built across the street from the old firehouse No. 1. It will be used as a meeting house and training facility as well as a firehouse.

Tower may open to public

Vernon
The Memorial Tower on Fox Hill in Henry Park, Rockville, will be cleaned in the hope that it can again be open to the public.

Mayor Thomas Benoit said Thursday that he hopes, after the tower is cleaned, it can be opened for the public in the fall.

Several other attempts have been made to keep the tower open but vandals have made this impossible.

The tower, which gives a panoramic view of several towns, has been worked over to remove the graffiti which covered the entryway and the walls around the winding stairway that leads to the top.

The next step will be to paint the entire inside. The Frank Volpe Co. of Willimantic, stone masons, are now making repairs to the wide and long flagstone walk that leads to the tower.

Mayor Benoit said this area used to be used for many wedding parties, especially for picture-taking because of the picturesque setting. In recent years this has been impossible because of the condition of the flagstone.

Volpe said the frost got under the stones and caused them to buckle. His crew is taking out all of the defective stones and replacing them.

The town plans to put in an alarm system at the tower when money is available.

Office is open
The guidance office at Rockville High School is open Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. until Sept. 1 to register new students to enter the high school in the fall.

These students should have transcripts sent to Rockville High from the school they last attended.

Mayor's Day in Rockville

It was annual Mayor's Day on the summer playgrounds in Rockville Thursday. This is the day the mayor goes to each playground area and treats the children to popsicles. At Henry Park, Mayor Thomas Benoit treated the children and in turn was given several presents made during the summer sessions. One of these was a large "B," made out of macaroni, to hang on his office wall. (Herald photo by Richmond)

Police station grant okayed

Vernon
Bids will go out soon for construction of Vernon's new police station. Word of approval of funding through the federal Economic Development Administration (EDA) was received Thursday afternoon.

The grant is for $1.2 million. Work must start within 90 days on the 17,800-square-foot facility, which will replace the existing 5,000-square-foot station.

It will be built on town-owned land adjacent to the existing one on West Rd. and Rt. 30. The existing station will be maintained as a public facility. It was originally built for civil defense and part of it will have to continue to be used for that purpose.

David Eveleth of McHugh & Associates of Farmington is the architect. The new station has been designed to accommodate an 80-person staff and should be large enough to last through the year 2000.

The plans were designed with the advice of the National Clearinghouse of Criminal Justice Planning and Architecture.

GOP ticket slot still open

Hebron
Hebron's Republican Town Committee failed to fill the vacancy on the fall ticket Thursday night. The vacancy is for the position of selectman caused by the withdrawal of caucus-sponsored candidate Marilyn Horton.

Mrs. Horton was forced to withdraw her name because she is a state employee.

An executive session was held before the Town Committee meeting to discuss the matter. Town Chairman Clay Osborn said the nominating committee had two persons interested in the slot. The final selection is up to the Town Committee of the fall ticket Thursday night. The vacancy is for the position of selectman caused by the withdrawal of caucus-sponsored candidate Marilyn Horton.

Group wary about land buy

Coventry
Possible uses of the Salvation Army land, which is for sale, were discussed by the Coventry Parks and Recreation Commission at a recent meeting.

Tony Roberto said the land and buildings could serve as a senior citizens center or as a central meeting point for the residents of Coventry.

However, Roberto added that Coventry is not ready for the Salvation Army land. He argued that the cost of maintenance alone is beyond the town's resources.

"We need material for Sandy Shores, Lisick Beach and Miller Richardson Little League Field," he said.

Roberto also said the question of sewers is coming up again, and that would require bonds for the town.

Other members of the Parks and Recreation Commission emphasized that the land looks good, but that acquisition would require a careful look because Coventry needs things besides more land.

Jeff Lancaster, commission member, was a bit more graphic when he said that the purchase could prove to be a monster, "and right now I would say no to the purchase."

Sandra Young's objection to purchase of the land concerned the lack of adequate parking in the area. Ms. Young also said there is a dangerous street to cross.

"The safety hazard troubles me considerably. There would have to be a patrolman for traffic, and a full-time director," she said.

The land offered for sale by the Salvation Army comprises 77 acres in several parcels. Zoning Agent Ernest Wheeler has reported that the seven-acre parcel on Cross St. presents no problem for drainage, but the 54-acre parcel which adjoins Robertson School has a large wetland area and inferior soils which would present problems.

Sixteen acres of the land are on the lake front and contains 34 cottages and other buildings, several of which are year-round buildings.

Wheeler has also reported that most of the buildings on the property do not conform to zoning regulations.

A prospective buyer is more likely to want to see the inside of your home if the outside is presentable. . . so dispose of that old woodpile and rubbish that may be hanging around your house.

Grant to Bolton schools is higher than expected

The Town of Bolton will receive $43,000 from Connecticut's Guaranteed Tax Base (GTB) school finance equalization program. School Supt. Raymond Allen said he was told the amount Wednesday by Dr. Mark Sheid, state commissioner of education. The Board of Education originally estimated Bolton would receive $15,000 from the program. Last year the town received $18,500. The 1977-78 budget estimate for the grant is $18,500.

The $43,000 is above and beyond what Bolton receives from the state ADM (Average Daily Membership) grant.

The purpose of the GTB program is to equalize educational opportunities for Connecticut students. Allen said he believes the amount ($43,000) will increase over the next two or three years.

Siddiq Sattar, chairman of the Board of Finance, said he needs to find out more about the program before he can say where the money will go and how it will be distributed. He said he believes when the money comes into town it will go into the town's general fund, but he's not sure.

A pamphlet published by the state Department of Education said towns may use the GTB grant for increasing school expenses, reducing local property taxes, or some combination of these two.

The state raises the money for the program through its Instant Lottery. More money for schools

Allen said he and the school board learned recently that what they suspected about the insurance portion of their budget being estimated too high was true.

Allen said when the Insurance Advisory Board recently gave the actual insurance costs to the school board, they were $7,000 lower than the amount budgeted. But, said Allen, "the board will need the money."

The budgeted amount for insurance is $27,544.

Bids awarded

Allen said bids for roof drains and paving at Bolton Elementary School

and paving at Bolton High School have been awarded.

The contract for the roof drain at the elementary school, $1,500, was awarded to RWA Inc. to Coventry. The school board had estimated the job would cost $1,800.

Both paving contracts were awarded to G&H Paving & Construction Co. of Bolton.

The playground at the elementary school will cost $1,725 and the driveway and entrance to the parking lot at the high school will cost $3,750. The school board had estimated $1,800 and $4,000, respectively.

Allen said the school board returned $267 to the town from its Title I program. He said the money was for administrative costs not directly chargeable to the program. He said there will be an additional return later this month.

Resignations, appointments

The school board accepted the resignation of Mary Jane Pazda as reading consultant. She was with the school system for six years.

The resignation of George Rohack and Lynell Morris were also accepted. Rohack was a half-time guidance counselor and cooperative work experience program coordinator and Morris was a half-time guidance counselor. Both worked at the high school.

The board appointed Barbara Jo Robb as half-time learning disabilities teacher and half-time tutor to the Title I program.

The board appointed Ann Klein as reading consultant.

The appointment of Anne Manning as payroll clerk was approved by the board. She fills a vacancy created by the resignation of Carol Wood.

Allen said the high school guidance jobs and cooperative work experience position are still vacant.

Allen said Bolton is eligible for an entitlement of $1,700 for its handicapped students. He said a project must be written up and an application completed in order for the board to get the money.

Maher seeking welfare boost

HARTFORD (UPI) — Social Services Commissioner Edward Maher has called for Connecticut welfare payments to be raised.

Maher said Thursday gains the program made during the legislative session this year are not enough. He has not released details of just how much he thinks payments should be raised.
