Town will devise way to test water in homes

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

A plan to begin a new system of testing water in some private homes was formulated at Thursday night's meeting about water problems in Manchester.

The meeting was scheduled after a 12-day period last month when water in the southwest section of town was contaminated. Residents in the area had to boil their water during the 12 days, and some are still concerned about the water quality.

Speaking about the contamination, Frank Jodaitis, water and sewer administrator, announced Thursday night that a problem that may have contributed to the water contamination was found this week.

While answering a complaint at 87 Niles Dr., his department found a sewer line that crossed a water line, he said. The sewer line had apparently collapsed.

One cause that was already given for the problem was a valve on Diane Dr. that was closed and should have been open.

Town officials said this morning that the Niles Dr. situation may have contributed to the problem after flushing of the water mains was done in an attempt to eliminate the contamination.

Although the sewer cross-connection was not found until this week, Jodaitis said that tests of water in the area have still been acceptable since the boiling order was lifted on Aug. 19.

Concerned comments

About 100 people attended the three-hour meeting, which was held in the Manchester High School auditorium.

"What I'm saying is we still have doubts in our minds. Who determines the water is safe?" Joseph Reynolds of 86 Niles Dr., which is in the southwest section, said.

Jodaitis and Bob Young of the Water Department said that testing is being done in the area daily and meets safe drinking standards. Testing is not done, however, in individual homes.

Some residents requested that such a step be taken. After some discussion, Young said that the department would seek volunteer households from all sections of town who would provide samples once a week on specific days.

He said that anyone interested in providing samples should contact the Water Department. The department will then select homes that would provide a cross-sample of the entire water system. These homeowners will take part in a training session to learn how to properly take a sample, which will be tested at the town's water laboratory.

Another concern of the residents—notification in case of an emergency—was also discussed.

Notification of the water contamination was made through the news media, and residents felt that they should have been told individually of the problem.

Jodaitis said, as he has before, that his department followed the notification procedures required by the state.

He said, however, that the department now realizes it probably should have done more.

"We feel we were a little bit erroneous just by going by the law," he told the audience.

Town Manager Robert Weiss said that if any further problems develop with water tests taken from the area, the residents will be notified by hand-delivered messages.

Petition

Reynolds also asked why a petition from 770 residents has not yet been answered by the town. The petition charged the town with breach of its contractual obligations for providing pure water and sought restitution for the 12-day period.

Weiss said that non-legal questions should be answered early next week. He had no estimate on how long it will take to answer some of the legal questions that were raised.

Other residents said that they had experienced health problems, particularly cramps and diarrhea, that they believed caused by the water.

Some speakers also discussed water problems in other areas of town. Residents from Spring St. and Duncan Rd. talked about problems that they had with water color.

Many of those who spoke talked about the need for improvements to the entire water system.

"It's time that the town look at preventive maintenance for all its facilities. You wouldn't operate your car by letting the oil run down," Charles Boggini of 15 Francis Dr. said.

The town is studying improvements to the water distribution and treatment facilities. Water officials said that such steps will improve water in Manchester. The work, which would have to be approved by a bond issue referendum, will cost several million dollars.

Anita shifts, smashes Mexico

MATAMOROS, Mexico (UPI) — Hurricane Anita, after terrifying residents of the south Texas coast for two days, dived sharply southward in the final hours and today smashed its 150 mile an hour winds into lightly populated fishing villages of northeastern Mexico.

Anita hit the coast shortly before 4 a.m. CDT at latitude 24 north near the villages of La Pesca, Las Guayavas, El Charco Largo and Soto la Marina, 135 miles south of the U.S.-Mexico border.

Gales, high tides and wind on its fringes flooded offshore towns in South Texas and raked the coastal oil city of Tampico, Mexico. Two offshore towns in South Texas were cut off from the mainland by high tides and partially flooded, but it appeared little damage had been done.

There was no immediate report on damages or injuries in the sparsely populated areas of Mexico where the eye hit the mainland. However, officials at Tampico 100 miles to the south, said residents of the villages had been evacuated late Thursday.

The storm's highest sustained winds of 155 miles an hour diminished rapidly as the hurricane moved inland on a course toward the Mexican mountains southeast of Monterey.

At 8 a.m. CDT, the National Weather Service said the hurricane eye had moved 25 miles inland and winds had weakened to less than 100 miles per hour. The NWS said the storm would continue to slide southwestward, probably to die in the eastern Sierra Madres.

Meanwhile, heavy rain moved up the Rio Grande through Texas and Mexico parallel with the hurricane.

Brownsville, Tex. police Capt. George Acres, said Mexican authorities told him it would be "quite a while" before authorities could enter the rough mountainous country where the hurricane hit.

"It's going to be hard to get in there; possibly only with helicopters," Acres said. "It's been raining hard there and the roads will be impassable."

The heavy rain created a serious threat of flash flooding. A Mexican weather service official said the San Fernando and Purificacion rivers were expected to flood all of the San Fernando Valley in the Mexican state of Tamaulipas.

Deputy David Martinez of the Cameron County (Texas) sheriff's department said the towns of Port Isabel and Boca Chica were surrounded by water. Five foot tides covered the blacktop road over the salt flats leading to the towns.

Hospital picketed by ex-patients

Several former patients of Manchester Memorial Hospital, demanding payment on their hospital bills under the Hill-Burton Act, picketed briefly in front of the hospital this morning after they failed to locate hospital officials.

However, after a brief march and distribution of flyers stating their demands and charges to passersby, the small group, including members of the Connecticut Citizens Action Group (CCAG), re-entered the hospital and presented three applications for payment under the act to George Maloney, business office manager of the hospital. They then left the hospital.

The group was unable to meet with Edward M. Kenney, hospital administrator, who left on a vacation Thursday, and George Roy, hospital comptroller, who was in a long-planned meeting, according to the hospital public relations officer, Andre Marman.

Don Cattanch of East Hartford, leader of the protesters, said the group would picket until it got definite answers on its claims from Roy. However, a short time later, they re-entered the hospital. The group had met with Roy and hospital officials previously in August, but were not satisfied with the answers they received.

The group is asking payment on their hospital bills under the Hill-Burton Act. They claim the hospital violated a part of the act which requires that information of funding available for poor patients be posted in conspicuous places in the hospital.

As of Wednesday night, two former patients, Cattanch and Mrs. Gloria Spittle of 33 Cooper St., received payment. Cattanch said others who submitted their bills at the August meeting have not heard from the hospital.

Marman issued a statement today in response to the protest. He said, "It is most unfortunate that the CCAG has chosen to continue to generate false issues with Manchester Memorial Hospital. The basic issue is that under the Hill-Burton Act requirements, Manchester Memorial Hospital is obligated to provide a certain amount of free service each year to the patients it serves. The hospital has met that obligation in full and in fact has exceeded it in each of the last three years.

"The Hill-Burton Act allows the hospital to determine in which way it will allocate the free service funds, and after careful evaluation of the needs of the patients that we serve and in insurance programs available in our area, we determined that free service should generally be allocated to the areas of obstetrics and mental health services."

He continued, "The hospital has provided this information to the CCAG and, in fact, reports the free service financial data to the state's Department of Health each year.

"The CCAG would like the hospital to go beyond the law and release the names of patients who received Hill-Burton assistance and the amounts of their bills as proof that we have met our obligation. We cannot do this, Marman said.

"The fact that a patient has been hospitalized at Manchester Hospital is privileged and confidential information by law and these names cannot be released for any reason without prior approval in writing from the patients," he continued.

"The hospital has attempted to comply with the requests of CCAG to the extent possible. The CCAG is well aware that application can be made to the hospital for free service under the Hill-Burton program and that each individual application will be evaluated and be given full consideration for Hill-Burton free service. The CCAG's present demands however, are beyond the scope to which it is possible for us to comply and beyond the scope of the law," the statement concluded.

A small group of former Manchester Memorial Hospital patients and Connecticut Citizens Action Group (CCAG) members picketed briefly in front of the hospital this morning after attempts to see hospital Comptroller George Roy failed. The group is protesting the hospital's failure to pay some of their bills and claiming that the hospital has violated the Hill-Burton Act regarding advertising of available funding for poor patients. The group marched briefly then re-entered the hospital and presented three applications for consideration of payment under the Act to George Maloney, hospital business office manager. ### State BRIDGEPORT (UPI) — Police have refused to comment on their investigation into the deaths of two young girls who were stuffed into an abandoned refrigerator. A medical examiner says they were raped. Police officials Thursday would say nothing except that a homicide investigation was under way.

Regional

WALTHAM, Mass. (UPI) — A $690 million hydroelectric project proposed in Maine would provide the area with jobs and flood control, but the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers says it also could lead to crime, prostitution, alcoholism and social conflict. An analysis of the socio-economic impacts of the Dickey-Lincoln project will have on the St. John River valley was prepared for the corps by Edward C. Jordan Co., Inc., of Portland, Me.

BOSTON (UPI) — The Allstate Insurance Co. has been threatened with fines of at least $30,000 per day if it fails to submit an auto insurance rebate schedule by Sept. 5, according to Massachusetts Insurance Commissioner James Stone. Allstate, which received notification of the possible fines late Wednesday, sought a preliminary injunction Thursday from U.S. District Court to prevent the state from imposing punitive action.

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI) — Chanting and singing out their support for a fundamentalist school, under court order to close, more than 700 Baptists rallied at the New Hampshire Statehouse Thursday. Heritage Christian School and New Testament Baptist Church leaders said the school would open today after summer vacation and they would go to jail rather than obey the order issued by Merrimack County Superior Court in July. Concord officials have charged the school violates local zoning laws.

National

CHICAGO (UPI) — The American Medical Association says federal action to allow doctors to advertise may lead to deception of patients and a break down in medical ethics. The Federal Trade Commission is scheduled to begin a hearing Wednesday in Washington to decide whether doctors should be permitted to advertise.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sirhan B. Sirhan cannot be "popped out" of prison to return to the hotel pantry where he assassinated Sen. Robert F. Kennedy to jog his cloudy memory, a judge ruled Thursday. The judge said there was no precedent for such a trip and no reason to believe it would do any good.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gerald Ford will attend the signing ceremony for the Panama Canal treaties next week and will be the guest of President Carter at the White House. The former president accepted an invitation to the ceremonies. White House Press Secretary Jody Powell said Thursday. He has made a strong public statement supporting the controversial pacts.

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Sen. Charles H. Percy said Thursday Budget Director Bert Lance's financial dealings are "beginning to hurt the President" and speedy hearings are needed to resolve the questions surrounding them. Percy said at a news conference he is not calling for Lance to resign, but that the situation is "beginning to hurt trust in public officials, which wasn't so high anyway."

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — British rock star Joe Cocker has mysteriously disappeared in Mexico City after U.S. Immigration officials refused him entrance into the United States Thursday because he did not have a proper visa and shipped him back to Mexico.

End to blockade sought by Cubans

By JIM ANDERSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Cuba is demanding an end to the economic blockade as a precondition for diplomatic relations and the United States is insisting on at least partial payment for U.S. property seized by the Castro regime.

As the two countries set up missions in each others' capitals Thursday, those conditions were laid out by Cuban and American officials.

Partial diplomatic relations resumed with cocktail parties in Washington and in the dusty old U.S. Embassy in Havana, still cluttered with mementos of the day the Americans left in 1961.

Goodwill toasts were drunk; rum concoctions in Havana and highballs in Washington. And Cuba sent word it is relaxing some restrictions on emigres in a gesture marking the first exchange of envoys since relations were ruptured.

Use coupon to enroll in Crime-Justice class

"Crime and Justice in America" is the seventh in a continuing series of educational features prepared by Courses by Newspaper. Beginning Saturday, Sept. 10, The Herald will publish the 15-week series. Manchester Community College will offer a three-credit course based on the newspaper series. This is the second year The Herald has joined with MCC to offer the popular program. Two courses in the 1976-77 school year — "Oceans" and "Moral Choices" — attracted several students to MCC and several readers to The Herald. Although The Herald and MCC have only offered the program for a year, previous Courses by Newspaper have been offered by more than 600 newspapers with a combined circulation of about 20 million readers. An estimated 30,000 readers have earned college credit at 300 colleges throughout the country. You may enroll in the MCC course by mail, using the coupon below. You may also enroll at walk-in registration sessions scheduled at the MCC administration building on the main campus, Bidwell St. Walk-in sessions are scheduled tomorrow from 9 a.m. to noon, Tuesday from 2 to 7 p.m. and next Saturday, Sept. 10, from 9 a.m. to noon. Students are required to attend an orientation session Saturday, Sept. 10, at 9 a.m. at Room MB-13 on MCC's main campus. Mid-term and final exams will also be required. Courses by Newspaper was developed in 1973 by University Extension, University of California at San Diego, and is funded by the National Endowment for the Humanities. Extra funding for this fall's course came from the Center for Studies of Crime and Delinquency, National Institute of Mental Health. For more information about the MCC course, call the Division of Community Services, 646-2137.

Sexual equality in uniform

It seems obvious to us that flying an airplane is one line of work in which women — given half a chance — should be able to excel.

Women in the average are smaller than men and maneuver better in tight quarters. They often have more manual dexterity than men. And if life expectancy tables are any indication, they do well under stresses and strains.

Yet the Air Force is only now beginning to recognize that fact. The first group of 10 female pilots will be graduated from flying school Sept. 2 at Williams Air Force Base in Arizona. A second group will go into training this fall.

The main hangup, of course, has been the legal restriction against women in combat — a restriction, by the way, that seems pretty archaic in this day and age.

The Air Force plans to get around the no-combat rule by assigning its female pilots to cargo planes, aerial tankers, weather reconnaissance, medical evacuation and other noncombat missions.

As more women are trained, however, the law should be changed so women are able to fly fighter planes, bombers and other combat aircraft along with men.

Without a draft to fall back on, all the services are re-examining their attitudes toward women. The Army, for example, is sending female soldiers on field maneuvers in West Germany next month, Navy Secretary W. Graham Clayton wants to send women to sea.

A long way from the age of sheltered femininity, perhaps, but still a long way to go before women are given the military opportunities they should have.

'Son of Sam' and the bail system

Lee Roderick

The Herald's Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON — The man had lived a steady job for six months, had his own office window at the district building, directly across Pennsylvania Avenue, where some of the 132 hostages were held by a mere dozen fanatics last March. One young reporter was shot to death by the Hanafis in this building. Four others were wounded by gunfire during the seizure, and a dozen more were cut and beaten.

Hamaas Abdul Khaalis, leader of the terrorist group, called the shots throughout the ordeal. Yet scarcely the gunman cleared the air and the blood been wiped up when Khaalis was skirted off to his home — on his own recognition — while his followers went to jail. The Hanafi trial is now history, and Khaalis is behind bars, but this city won't soon forget that he walked free immediately after bringing the capital of the world's greatest democracy to a virtual standstill for a day-and-a-half.

Other glaring cases During August there have been two other glaring cases of justice being turned on its head as a result of bail procedures. A federal civil servant, William C. Silbert, was recently apprehended for stealing more than $850,000 from the federal government. Despite the fact there is good reason to believe he may have a significant amount of it still stashed away, he was released from jail the other day on the mere promise to pay the government $50,000 if he fails to show up for further court proceedings.

The other August case involves the alleged plot to kidnap industrialist J. Willard Marriott or his wife. The accused mastermind behind the elaborate plot — which was foiled by some adroit work by the FBI — is Paul D. Shepherd, a U.S. park policeman at the time of his arrest. His accused accomplice, though a relatively minor figure in the case, is his brother Billy R. Shepherd.

Waked out of jail The U.S. Attorney's office sought a $50,000 bail reduction in each case. Second-hanna Billy went before a judge in Baltimore who quickly set his bond at the request amount, then reduced it to $100,000. Meanwhile, Paul was lucky enough to appear before a judge in the district who set his bond at $50,000, then reduced it to $20,000 the next day — the amount of equity in Shepherd's home. Paul Shepherd immediately posted it and walked out of jail to await further proceedings. Call it Justice, Washington style. SCRIPPS LEAGUE NEWSPAPERS 1977

Reign of terror

The 38-hour reign of terror here at the hands of the Hanafi Muslims is still fresh in this reporter's memory. As I wrote in this column, I'm looking out my office window at the district building, directly across Pennsylvania Avenue, where some of the 132 hostages were held by a mere dozen fanatics last March. One young reporter was shot to death by the Hanafis in this building. Four others were wounded by gunfire during the seizure, and a dozen more were cut and beaten.

Lee turns serious and halts Indians

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bill Lee is what is known in baseball dugouts as a "smart dummy."

Nicknamed "Spaceman" by his Boston Red Sox teammates, Lee enjoys nothing more than reading George Steinbrenner. Billy Martin and, for that matter, the whole New York Yankee organization which he calls the "decadent establishment."

But he also has his serious side, and Thursday was one of those days when he knew it was no time to fool around.

Keeping the ball away from batters swinging for the Fenway Park "Green Monster" left-field wall, Lee went 7 2-3 innings and for his sixth win, for a Red Sox 3-1 victory over the Cleveland Indians. The action moved the Red Sox into their 3 1/2 games of the idle Yankees in the American League's Eastern Division.

The Milwaukee Brewers won, 10-0, over the Detroit Tigers in the only other game in the majors Oakland at Minnesota was rained out. "We had to win this game," Lee said. "The Yankees were idle and we just don't want to send them into a false sense of security."

Doubles by Bernie Carbo and Fred Lynn and a single by Carl Yastrzemski gave the Red Sox a 2-0 lead in the first inning and they

The Red Sox resume their chase after the Yankees Friday night when they face the Rangers in Texas while New York plays the Twins in Minnesota. The Orioles, four games out in third place, meet the White Sox in Chicago.

The Kansas City Royals, leading the AL's Western Division by 2 1/2 games, face the Brewers in a two-night doubleheader at Kansas City. The only remaining contenders in both divisions of the National League play each other over the weekend with the Philadelphia Phillies at home and the Cincinnati Reds and the Los Angeles Dodgers hosting the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Phillies lead the Pirates by five games in the NL East while the Dodgers have an 8 1/2 game lead over the Reds in the West.

Snapped jinx

When Tom McDonald walked off the tenth courts at Charter Oak Park last Saturday noon with his first Red Men's Singles championship it marked the first time he had defeated defending champion Mike White.

"Mike beat me here in the first round the first year he won the title," McDonald recalled. The year was 1973 when the tall blond was an unknown 19-year-old and wound up a winner in his first try and repeated the next three years in Town Tournament play.

White's first success in the finals was against Martin Duke, a man who had copped five straight championships.

The second time McDonald and White, both from Buffalo, N.Y., met was in the finals of the Manchester Racquet Club's Singles Tournament and again White triumphed earlier this spring in a close match by a score of 6-4, 7-6.

It wasn't three times and out for the 33-year-old McDonald, 10 years White's senior, as the hard serving, compact challenger was up for the test and scored a straight set 6-3, 6-4 triumph.

Rutgers and Penn State launch grid play tonight

NEW YORK (UPI) — The college football season opens tonight at Giants Stadium in East Rutherford, N.J., and the game marks a historic step upward of the teams which started all this autumn madness 108 years ago.

Rutgers University, which played Princeton in the first collegiate game in 1869, is seeking to upgrade its program gradually and the Scarlet Knights will be putting the nation's longest winning streak (18 games) on the line against perennial Eastern power Penn State.

Actually, Penn State has little to gain from this game in terms of prestige. The Nittany Lions, listed 15th in the pre-season ratings, have a vastly superior program and are expected to win. If they lose, it will be embarrassing.

Yet, Penn State Coach Joe Paterno is eager to play Rutgers. He is impressed with the way the school has built its program over the years while still keeping its strong academic standards.

"We know it's going to be a tough football game, but we are happy to be playing Rutgers," said Paterno.

"Rutgers has a fine program and we think they are doing things the right way playing with people who belong in school. They seem to be developing their program the way we have and we think it is a good series with the state university."

Major League baseball scored their third run in the eighth when Yastrzemski doubled and scored on Jim Rice's triple. Yastrzemski went 3-for-4 and has driven in nine runs in the Red Sox last nine games.

The Indians scored their run in the seventh on a sacrifice fly by Rico Carty and Lee departed in the eighth with Jim Willoughby and Reggie Cleveland finishing up. Dennis Eckersley suffered his 11th loss

The new champ served as coach of the Manchester Community College. White never took a lesson and has been playing just six years. The six-footer would like to be a pro but figures the $15,000 it took for one year on the playing circuit would be too much a gamble.

Meanwhile, he's finishing up for his bachelor's degree by taking night courses at the University of Hartford after his everyday job at United Technologies in East Hartford.

The 1977 finalists were not strangers by any measure. They teamed up in '74 to win the Town Men's Doubles Tournament.

White teamed with Stu Jennings this season in Mixed Doubles and the pair hopes to get a New England rating among Class A players.

Notes off the cuff

Manchester Police and SAM workers will meet in an exhibition softball twinbill Saturday morning at Fitzgerald Field starting at 10 o'clock. New England Whalers will open the WHA season Oct. 12 in Houston and launch play at the Hartford Civic Center Oct. 15 with Birmingham. There will be 44 home games, 14 on Friday nights, 11 Saturday nights and six on Sunday, plus 11 Wednesday one Tuesday and one Thursday contest on home ice.

The foreign contingent has Mexico's Ernesto Perez Acosta, Severiano Ballesteros of Spain, Australian Graham Marsh, Issa Aoki of Japan and Ihsieh Min Nan of the Republic of China.

Portions of the final three rounds will be televised, with CBS doing the second and third rounds Saturday and Sunday and ABC the final round on Monday.

Play was stopped briefly midway through Thursday's first round because of two thunderstorms. Hot and muggy weather prevailed for most of the first day of the four-day, 72-hole tournament.

Debbie Austin, JoAnn Prentice and Sue Roberts were one stroke off the pace at 69. Stacy, who had a one-stroke lead going into her last hole, overshoot the green on her second stroke and ended up with a bogey on the par-4, 376-yard ninth hole.

Borg, Connors easy winners

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI) — With the novelty of transsexual Renee Richards now relegated to history, the next big issue in the world's richest tennis tournament is — how hurt is he?

Bjorn Borg, the No. 1 men's seed, says his shoulder is so sore that he can barely lift it to serve properly. Nevertheless, after gaining a day's postponement, he wiped out Trey Waitke of St. Louis, 6-2, 6-1, in an opening-round match of the U.S. Open Tennis Championships Thursday.

He then warned he might have to default from the tournament if there was no improvement.

Jimmy Connors, the No. 2 seed needs heat and ultrasound treatment every day for his aching back. But Thursday, he opened defense of his championship loudly trouncing Zach Singh, 6-2, 6-0.

At least one skeptical voice was raised. Vitas Gerulaitis suggested two more players simply are looking for built-in excuses in the event of defeat.

Tennis has become such a big money game, everyone is afraid to lose. "The eighth seeded New Yorker said after handily disposing of France's No. 2 player, Patrice Dominguez, 6-2, 6-4, in 44 minutes Thursday night, "I'm sure they're all hurt, but they're better off keeping it to themselves. Every tournament Connors has won he's been hurt. He must be the best hurt player in the world."

The source of Borg's ailment is a mystery. He said it might have happened while water skiing with Gerulaitis on Sunday, but Vitas said this couldn't be because his boat broke down before his Swedish friend had a chance to ski.

"I'm sure he's hurt," Gerulaitis said, "but I don't know how it happened. He called me Tuesday and said he'd come out and practice. Then his coach called me and said he hurt himself and wouldn't be over."

Following his victory over Waitke, Borg said, "At the moment there is no way I can do it. Yesterday I couldn't lift my arm...I'm pretty worried, yes, if it doesn't get better, I don't know what to do. Maybe I have to default or something."

After saying what he needed was rest, Borg learned that he would be put back in action today against John James, a young Australian. But Borg is more concerned with his shoulder than any opponent, and he said if the shoulder didn't feel better, he would default rather than risk further injury.

He said, "This is a very important thing. I don't want to default, but I may have to. What can I do?"

Connors, too, gets but a few hours more rest than Borg before returning to action tonight against Bob Lutz. "I've had the back problem for 10 years, it's nothing new," Connors said. "It's sore, but...they're going to have to beat me to take my title away. I'll play as hard as I can."

Seventh-seeded Romanian Ilie Nastase, on his best behavior in an opening-round victory, led off play on the stadium court this morning against Corrado Barazzutti of Italy, while nearby in the grandstand No. 14 seed Ken Rosewall was contending with hard-serving compatriot Phil Dent.

Billie Jean King, a four-time U.S. Open champion and the only seeded woman to receive a first-round bye, begins play today against Ann Smith of Dallas.

Among the 20 seeded men and women to play Thursday, only one was beaten. Kristen Shaw, the 11th women's seed from New York, was eliminated by Romania's Florenta Mihai, 6-3, 6-2.

Asked to resign

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — Lieutenant Jim Schoenfeld said Thursday he was asked by General Manager Punch Imlach to resign as captain of the NHL Buffalo Sabres.

Imlach said he made the move — in the best interests of the hockey club. He said since the club has a new coach, he should select a captain.

Falcons back

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The St. Louis Cardinals Thursday recalled nine players from their minor league clubs, including left-handed pitcher Pete Falcone.

Unexpected honor

There are so many public buildings that having one named after you is no very great honor. And so many politicians have been indicted lately that one of them standing trial isn't so unusual.

But the story of former Rep. Edward A. Garmatz, D-Md., is something else. He's been indicted on charges of conspiring to take $15,000 from shipping concerns in return for sponsoring legislation favorable to them.

If all goes according to schedule, he'll be tried in Baltimore — in the Edward A. Garmatz Federal Courthouse. Now there is a singular honor indeed.

Every invention has social consequences

Technology must dignify our lives

By George Bugliarello As you read this newspaper, watch a golf tournament on television, drive your car or turn on your hearing aid, you are enjoying some of the fruits of the 20th century technology. But the same technology can get you trapped in traffic jams, expose you to extreme levels of noise, introduce into your body some 3,000 chemical additives through the food you eat, and threaten your job through automation or obsolescence.

The question here and in the other developed nations of the world (and in some of the underdeveloped ones as well) is how we shall strengthen the quality of our life by continuing to benefit by products of our inventive and engineering genius, and at the same time avoid cultural or environmental shocks.

Similarly, social technology amounts to looking and planning for the future, endeavoring to understand the future implications of the choices we make today. We are beginning to exercise the same care and meticulous attention in looking at the future that, until now, archeology and anthropology have devoted to exploring history. Social technology implies that we have choices to make. We are, after all, living in a technological society with high life expectancies and creature comforts made possible by man's inventiveness and engineering.

New problems But each technological invention presents us with new problems and choices with which we must come to terms. For instance, how far can we increase automation or work efficiency without risking the alienation created by fewer jobs and an impersonal work environment?

Or how can we use computers efficiently in all levels of business and government — as we must if our complex society is to cope with an ever increasing flow of data — without invading our privacy or jeopardizing our democracy?

The fact is that we cannot ever hope to reap the great benefits that are deriving from our technology without paying for them with some side effects. The essential problem for our society is to keep these side effects at tolerable levels, and to equitably distribute the burdens.

Broad scope The scope of social technology is very broad. For instance, in medicine, technology has become so pervasive and indispensable that it dominates more and more the

Thought

"Therefore I tell you, do not worry about your life, what you will eat or drink; or about your body, what you will wear. Is not life more important than food, and the body more important than clothes? Look at the birds of the air; they do not sow or reap or store away in barns, and yet your heavenly Father feeds them. Are you not much more valuable than they? Who of you by worrying can add a single hour to his life?"

"And why do you worry about clothes? See how the lilies of the field grow. They do not labor or spin. Yet I tell you that not even Solomon in all his splendor was dressed like one of these. If that is how God clothes the grass of the field, which is here today and tomorrow is thrown into the fire, will he not much more clothe you, O you of little faith? So do not worry, saying, 'What shall we eat?' or 'What shall we drink?' or 'What shall we wear?' For the pagans run after all these things, and your heavenly Father knows that you need them. But seek first his kingdom and his righteousness, and all these things will be given to you as well. Therefore do not worry about tomorrow, for tomorrow will worry about itself. Each day has enough trouble of its own."

Matthew 6:25-34 New International Version Rev. Neale McLain Church of the Nazarene physician-patient relationship, with technical services and tests often replacing human contact with the doctor. Social technology is concerned with this problem — with how to avoid the depersonalization of health care, that has led us also to regulate the very old and the very sick away from our houses, to spend their last years or their last moments in segregation and loneliness.

The issue clearly goes beyond health care. It is one of economics, of social organization and of social preferences. But technological advances in health care created the modern hospital and nursing home, which made these social patterns possible.

Three of the major concerns dominating all our lives today are peace, energy and food. Sociotechnology is central to them. Are we going to continue to have a mutual balance of terror between nations based on stockpiles of super weapons? Or will we develop a fundamental readjustment of nations developed areas of the world to multiply crop yields of basic grains? And, if so, what are the social consequences? What are the impacts on poverty and overpopulation? Three goals In essence social technology has three objectives. The first is to study how technology affects our society in all its aspects, from urbanization, to government, to esthetics. The second is to study the way in which social processes and attitudes lead to technological decisions — for example, how the design of a housing project is influenced by the architect's conception of family life. The third objective is the identification of the technological versus the social choices open to us. A very simple example is whether to install a home burglar alarm or depend on friendly, alert neighbors. This kind of choice, multiplied by all households of the nation, can have a significant influence on our economy and on the nature of our society.

It is obvious that machines have now acquired a complexity equal to that of biological organisms. Whether we like it or not, we can no longer conceive of man or society without machines, any more than we can conceive of machines without man. We can never go back.

Imagination needed Rigid standardization was essential to the development of technology. But today, with imaginative use of computers and with committed people, we can go beyond this, and learn to produce individuality in our machines and our technological systems. We have, also, the mathematical means to go beyond the one-dimensional biological and social categories that have come to govern our lives.

We can and must produce, yes, mass produce, machines and systems that respect our need for diversity and esthetics. A system, whether it be transportation, banking or telephone communications, is an extension of our body and must care about us. It exists not to antagonize; tyrannize or destroy us, but to protect us and to enhance us.

To see that this happens is the ultimate purpose of social technology. GEORGE BUGLIARELLO is president of the Polytechnic Institute of New York

But we must insist that a machine or technological system should not weaken dignity for the sake of efficiency. No more the coffee dispenser with only one choice — milk or not milk. No more the telephone that gulps down one more dime, or the telephone operator that takes advantage of her power to cut corners, the check 22s of miscomputerized bureaucracy which forces us to answer "yes" or "no" when we would like to say "perhaps," "but," "sometimes."

No more, indeed, the rigid statistical categorization of people into "young," "middle-aged," "old," with the associated implication for jobs or retirement.

But we must insist that a machine or technological system should not weaken dignity for the sake of efficiency. No more the coffee dispenser with only one choice — milk or not milk. No more the telephone

Pair of NBA jewels acquired by Braves

BUFFALO (UPI)—The Buffalo Braves, in a steady process of reshaping their team, Thursday acquired two of the NBA's brightest jewels.

The Braves, who finished a disappointing fourth in the Atlantic Division last season, obtained guard Nate Archibald from the New Jersey Nets and swingman Billy Knight from the Indiana Pacers.

In exchange for Knight, the league's second-leading scorer last season, the Braves gave up Rookie of the Year Award Dantley and forward Mike Bantom, who signed with Buffalo a few weeks ago after playing out his option with the Nets.

To obtain Archibald Buffalo yielded center George Johnson and their first pick in the 1979 college draft.

"We feel that we finished close to the bottom of the league last year and we anticipate other trades," said Bob MacKinnon, Buffalo's director of player personnel. "We feel that deals have to be made."

The 29-year-old Archibald, who averaged 20.5 points per game before sitting out the second half of last season with a broken foot, will team with Randy Smith at guard, giving the Braves one of the most dynamic backcourt combinations in the league.

Meanwhile, Knight, who plays forward and guard, can be expected to take some of the scoring responsibilities away from Archibald.

"Billy's contract with the Pacers had two years to go and we wanted to renegotiate for him because he is a tremendous player," said Indiana Coach and General Manager Bob Leonard. "However, the Pacers are not in a financial position to."

In bringing Dantley and Bantom to the Braves, Leonard says he got the better of the deal.

Averaging 20.3 points per game, the 6-5 Dantley was Buffalo's second-leading scorer and was a unanimous selection as rookie of the year.

The 6-foot-9 Bantom averaged 18.6 points in 33 games with the Nets last season. The Nets, who obtained a big rebounding center in 6-11 Johnson, will be compensated by the Braves for Bantom at a future date.

Johnson averaged just 6 points a game for Buffalo last season but averaged 11 rebounds and blocked 177 shots.

Harris returns to Los Angeles and paces Chargers over Rams

NEW YORK (UPI)—In the wake of what might have been his most satisfying win in pro football personally, James Harris could have rubbed salt in the Los Angeles Rams' gaping wounds—but at least publicly—he chose to remain silent.

Shipped off to San Diego June 14 after the Rams acquired free agent Joe Namath, Harris returned to the Los Angeles Coliseum Friday night and led the Chargers to an exhilarating 28-25 exhibition victory.

Harris completed 10 of 30 passes for 234 yards and fired three touchdown strikes, two to 1972 Heisman Trophy winner John Rodgers, while Austrian-born Tom Fritsch beat the Rams with a 22-yard field goal on the last play of the game.

"No, this wasn't revenge," Harris said after the Chargers dealt the Rams their third straight preseason loss, "but it was a sweet victory and I like to thank my teammates."

A year ago Harris lost his No. 1 starting assignment to NFL rookie Pat Haden. He was booed frequently by Coliseum crowds and took his demotion bitterly.

There were no boos for Harris Friday night. Only cheers. When he was introduced, the Coliseum crowd of 55,946 greeted him with a strong ovation.

Pouncing on fumbles by Lawrence McCutcheon and Haden in the first quarter, the Chargers took over on the Los Angeles 24 and 11 and Harris converted those mistakes into a 14-0 lead. He threw a nine-yard touchdown strike to Chuck Bradley and a seven-yard score to Rodgers.

The Rams came back to tie the score as Haden teamed with Terry Nelson on a 22-yard pass play and threw a nine-yarder to Harold Jackson for touchdowns. They went ahead, 16-14, when Ram safetyman Bill Simpson landed on Charger punter Jeff West for a safety in the second quarter.

Fritsch booted a 36-yard field goal yards in 10 plays to set up Fritsch's game-winning field goal that gave San Diego a 3-2 exhibition record and made the Rams 1-4.

In NFL pre-season games tonight, Chicago is at St. Louis, Philadelphia at Pittsburgh, Detroit at Baltimore and Denver at Seattle. On Saturday night, Dallas is at Houston, Cleveland at Green Bay, San Francisco at Oakland, New Orleans at Miami, Tampa Bay at Buffalo and Minnesota at Cincinnati.

The New York Jets face the New York Giants and Washington is at New England on Sunday and Atlanta is at Kansas City Monday night.

DEAR ABBY: Ron is 21 and I am 19. We're newlyweds, and our problem is the TV in our bedroom. Ron likes to lie in bed and watch TV until midnight every night, and some nights he wakes up at 11 a.m. I want to turn off the TV at 11 p.m. because I have to get up at 7 a.m. for work, and if I don't get eight hours of sleep, I am very cranky the next morning. Ron gets up at 7 a.m., too, but he says he doesn't need as much sleep as I do. Anyway, I can't fall asleep while the TV is on, and Ron refuses to turn it off at 11.

How can this problem be solved? Don't suggest earplugs because I've tried them, and they bother my ears.

DEAR CRABBY: You have two choices. Separate rooms, or a 50-50 compromise. (Turn the TV off at 11 every OTHER night.) But remember, although a compromise makes a good umbrella, it's a poor roof.

DEAR ABBY: I work for a large corporation and for the last few weeks, my boss has been acting very secretive. I walked into his office yesterday, and he quickly slammed his desk drawer shut. Then I noticed smoke coming out of the drawer, but I didn't say anything.

He supposedly stopped smoking three months ago, but I know he's a regular smoker because I've seen him in the hall with a cigarette in his hand. He tried to hide it, but I'm sure he knows that I saw him.

I'm afraid he might try to ditch another burning cigarette in his desk drawer, forget about it and burn up the building.

Don't you think he's acting very immature for a 55-year-old executive? Should I write him an anonymous note and ask him who he thinks he's fooling?

DEAR ON: No. Anonymous notes are also immature. But do tell him that in the interest of safety for others, he should refrain from placing lighted cigarettes in the drawer.

DEAR ABBY: Is marriage contagious? It seems to be an epidemic around here. I'm 21, male and single, and one by one, all my friends are getting married.

My first love went away to college, and during the first quarter, she fell in love with a theology major, and they decided to get married. Now she's pregnant, and I don't know whether to cry or pray.

Another old girlfriend is soon to marry the drummer of a rock group. Other good friends, male and female, are headed in that direction.

Why would anyone want to end the fun of being young and foolproof by getting hitched, and soon? All of them are under 21. Is marriage a contagious disease? I hope not. SINGLE IN SEATTLE

DEAR SINGLE: Marriage is a disease in "contagious" like divorce, shacking up, or growing a beard; some people get the courage to do it because their friends have made the move.

Many Bolton boards violate town charter

By DONNA HOLLAND
Herald Correspondent

Two months after the implementation of Bolton's first charter, six of the town's seven elected boards are violating it, but only one of the eight appointed boards is in violation. At the November 1976 election Bolton adopted its first charter by a 1,137 to 306 vote.

The charter was fully implemented on July 1. But the violations make it appear many boards do not understand or are not aware of the charter requirements.

And there is a question of responsibility. Are the elected boards responsible for themselves? What about the appointed boards? Are they responsible for themselves or does their responsibility go to the governing body by which they were appointed, the Board of Selectmen.

Charter requirements
According to the charter the elected boards must have an organizational meeting before July 31 each year and choose a chairman (except the Board of Selectmen where the chairman shall be the first selectman) and secretary.

The appointed boards must also have an organizational meeting to elect a chairman and a secretary.

Vernon already working Area towns split over requests for CETA jobs

By BARBARA RICHMOND
Herald Reporter

While some area towns haven't yet applied for funding under new phase of the Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) and some may not apply, the Town of Vernon already has its approval and the program under way.

The new phase of the program (Title VI) has different requirements than the old phase. Persons hired must be a resident of the town, must have been unemployed for at least 15 weeks, and must meet a minimum education level.

Vernon filed its application for $231,000 in federal funds as soon as the program was announced. One of the programs listed on the application, well under way, is cleaning up the floodplain and Tuckerooson Rivers. About 24 persons have been hired and are working under the supervision of the town health department.

Upon completion of the initial river cleanup the second priority will be to clean the water at Valley Falls Park and Camp Newbova and to repair the sewage treatment plant.

The second request made in Vernon's application is for drainage improvements in the Bolton Lake area. This program has been delayed because the town hasn't been able to find, under the stringent guidelines of the funding, a civil engineer qualified for the project.

Youth complains about Coventry industrial site

Seventeen-year-old Bill Haun of Main St., Coventry, has become the first resident to file a complaint against operations of the Coventry Development Corp. at its industrial park site on Rt. 31.

Haun has written Zoning Agent Ernest Wheeler, expressing his displeasure at the fact that land has been "stripped of its trees and leveled" on the premise that businesses were ready to move in.

"Now, a few years later, it is dirt bowl across the street and an eyesore," Haun wrote. "Surely something can be done to remedy the situation."

Haun has appeared before the Town Council and the Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC) as well as having contacted Wheeler. But since the industrial corporation has not been able to sell most of its lots, much of the land remains leveled and in an undeveloped state.

Haun said Wheeler promised that no more disturbance of the land would be permitted by the town until the corporation posted a $45,000 performance bond, which could be confiscated if landscaping is not done.

Haun said the zoning agent had issued cease and desist orders against the corporation for unauthorized removal of gravel below flood water level, but the developer continued to carry on work without permits.

Corporation representative James Ladd has said that the purpose of the industrial park is to bring needed commercial resources to Coventry. Ladd has asked the zoning commission and other town agencies to assist in this effort, but has been repeatedly told that the corporation would be subject to the same regulations as other local developers.

Haun plans to attend the next PZC meeting, Sept. 12.

specific, outlined reasons only. At the annual organizational meeting again by Jan. 31, establish a schedule of regular meetings for the ensuing year and notify the Board of Selectmen and the town clerk of the schedule.

At the organizational meeting July 29, Robert Gorton was elected chairman and James Klar, secretary. The other members are Richard Morra, Renato Cocconi and Philip Savra. The commission has met twice since July 1 and has filed the required information properly.

Board of Finance
The Board of Finance has two violations. The votes of one meeting were not filed within the required 48 hours and there is no schedule of meetings.

The board has had two meetings and one poll vote since July 1. All other required information was filed properly with the town clerk.

At the organizational meeting July 29, Siddiq Sattar was elected chairman and Morris Silverstein was elected secretary. The other members are Gerald Hassett, Shirley Potter, Daniel Harris and Richard Bard.

Board of Tax Review
The Board of Tax Review is the only elected board that has no violations.

At three members held their organizational meeting July 29. John Gleason was elected chairman and Jean Gately was elected secretary. The board's third member is Ivi Cannon.

The proper information was filed with the town clerk within the required time. It was the only elected board to file a schedule of meetings with the town clerk.

Board of Library Directors
The Board of Library Directors received its final appointment July 14. It held its organizational meeting Aug. 5. It did not file a schedule of meetings but all other charter requirements were met.

Robert Gorton was elected chairman and Eileen Delagore was elected secretary. The other members are Jean Mahon Butkus, Thelma Fracchia, John Gleason, Linda Chamberland and Nancy Silverstein.

Jury Committee
The jury committee received its final appointment Aug. 1. It held its organizational meeting and filed the required information with the town clerk. Its members are Elina Dimick, Donna Holland and Shirley Riley.

Public Building Commission
The final appointment to the Public Building Commission was made Aug. 15. It has had one meeting and has filed a schedule of meetings with the town clerk.

It has one violation — votes of its meeting were not filed within the required time. The town clerk was asked for workers to research town records for references to rights of way and changes in streets, and for construction of a conservation pond at Herrick Memorial Park.

The town may also seek a full-time assistant to the park director (a volunteer position) under the first phase.

South Windsor now has five CETA workers and the town is waiting to receive its application form for the new phase under Title VI.

Application will be made for a grant of $381,000 to hire 24 persons. The majority of these will be for the Board of Education.

The Town of Hebron has two CETA employees now. First Selectman Aaron Reid said he doesn't have any plans to file for funding as far as the general government is concerned.

He said the Board of Education and the Hebron Seal campaign do intend to apply.

Coventry now has 14 CETA employees and the town has applied for six more under the new program, Town Manager Frank Connolly said.

The application asked for $71,000 in funding.

Connolly said the workers would be for the public works department and the work to be done would be on road safety projects.

J. Russell Thompson, Andover's first selectman, said that town has one CETA worker in a clerical position and this has worked out very well.

However, he said no application has been made under the new phase. He said he is not in contact with CETA. From an administrative standpoint there isn't much sense in hiring help if you don't have the personnel to supervise them, he said.

Area fire calls
South Windsor
Thursday, 2:16 p.m. — False alarm from the convalescent home on Main St.

Planning Commission
The Planning Commission has one violation. It did not file a schedule of meetings as required.

Its five members had their organizational meeting July 29. Robert Gorton was elected chairman and James Klar, secretary. The other members are Richard Morra, Renato Cocconi and Philip Savra.

The commission has met twice since July 1 and has filed the required information properly.

Board of Appeals
The Zoning Board of Appeals has not recorded anything with the town clerk since July 1. Its members are Joel Hoffman, Morris Houle, John Marinos, Robert Moura and John Roberts.

Appointed boards
The town has eight appointed boards that come under the charter provisions. They are the Board of Library Directors, Public Building Commission, Building Code Board of Appeals, Conservation Commission, Board of Health, Jury Committee and Senior Citizens Committee.

The appointed boards are not required to have an organizational meeting until they are fully appointed, and then they have 30 days to hold that meeting.

Zoning Commission
The Zoning Commission also has many violations.

At Orchard Hill
Larry Mickel, principal of the Orchard Hill School said he intends to continue to emphasize student discipline.

"We plan to place renewed emphasis on respect, both for adults as well as among the students,"

William Spohn, principal of South Windsor High School, has announced the schedule for the opening day of school, Wednesday, Sept. 7, 1977.

Students should report directly to their homerooms when they arrive at school. Homeroom assignments will be posted around the building and staff members will be available to assist students. Homeroom will begin promptly at 7:40 a.m.

Following homeroom, where students will receive their schedules, a brief orientation program will be held. Students will then report to their first class.

When students arrive on the first day, they are asked to have parents' home and work phone numbers with them so that parents may be reached in emergency situations.

Students who do not have yet registered are urged to do so as soon as possible.

The following telephone numbers can be used to reach high school personnel: Main office, 644-1595; Guidance office, 644-8848; and attendance office, 644-2645.

South Windsor schools stress math this year

By JUDY KUEHNEL
Herald Correspondent

South Windsor schools will open Wednesday for the 1977-78 school year with mathematics stressed throughout the system from kindergarten through high school.

During the past couple of years, language and its usage has been emphasized. Most school principals emphasize to continue stressing the importance of good language usage in addition to the math goals set this year.

Increased respect for adults as well as for peers is also high on the list of priorities, according to most school administrators.

Last year the lack of discipline and resulting problems was the subject of most controversy in the Timothy Edwards Middle School. A committee was formed to study the problems encountered at the Junior high school level and various suggestions were made in hopes of increasing control and making the students more involved in the school and its administration.

Concern over increasing lack of respect and discipline problems filtered down to the elementary school levels, with some elementary school principals setting up active programs in hopes of helping children be more aware of manners and proper behavior.

At Orchard Hill
Larry Mickel, principal of the Orchard Hill School said he intends to continue to emphasize student discipline.

Activity changes
Spohn said a reorganization of the activities program at South Windsor High School is under way for the coming school year.

Activities will be categorized into several major areas: orientations; large assembly programs, such as pep rallies; cultural arts programs; club meetings; mini-course programs; make-up work and extra help; and intramural sports program.

In a survey taken in June, the student body indicated its preference for mini-courses in areas such as preparation for taking college board exams, survival techniques, solar energy, basic auto mechanics, sailing techniques, various aspects of home repair, leather crafts and jewelry making.

Also, new clubs will be formed in which the students expressed an interest, including photography, CB radio, physical fitness, conservation, dance and book reviews.

less changing of teachers for various subjects. Kindergarten will change from morning to afternoon sessions on Jan. 30, 1978, with those who had been attending the morning session switching to afternoons, and vice-versa.

Vacations are scheduled Dec. 26 through Jan. 2, 1978, for Christmas and New Year's, and April 17 through April 21 for the spring recess. The last day of school is June 15, 1978, with the following week set aside for makeup days, if needed.

School hours
Opening and closing times for the schools are:
• South Windsor High School, 7:40 a.m. to 1:50 p.m.
• Ellsworth School, 8:15 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.
• Timothy Edwards School, 8:15 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

By Gayle Hamilton Real Estate Editor

WHAT THOSE WORDS MEAN

Abstract - A summary of the history of the legal title to property.
Amortization - Provision for gradually paying off the principal amount of a loan, such as a mortgage loan, at the time of each payment of interest. For example, as each payment toward principal is made, the mortgage amount is reduced or amortized by that amount.
Appraisal - An evaluation of the property to determine its value. An appraisal is concerned chiefly with market value - what the house would sell for in the open market.
Binder or "Offer to Purchase" - A receipt for money paid to secure the right to purchase real estate upon agreed terms.

Buyer's Title Insurance - Insurance that protects the ownership of a house. It usually contains a legal description of the house and its land.

Closing Costs - Sometimes called settlement costs. Costs in addition to price of house, including mortgage service charges, title search and insurance, and transfer of ownership charges. Be sure your sales contract clearly states who will pay each of these costs - buyer or seller.

Closing Day - The date on which the title for property passes from the seller to the buyer and/or the date on which the borrower signs the mortgage.

Condominium - Individual ownership of a dwelling unit and an undivided interest in the common areas and the facilities which serve the multi-unit project.

Cooperative Housing - An apartment building or a group of dwellings owned by residents and operated for their benefit by their elected board of directors. The resident occupies but does not own his unit. Rather, he owns a share of stock in the total enterprise.

Depreciation - A decline in the value of a house as the result of wear and tear, adverse changes in the neighborhood or its patterns or for any other reason.

Earnest Money - The deposit money given to the seller by the potential buyer to show that he is serious about buying the house. If the deal goes through, the earnest money is applied against the down payment. If the deal does not go through it may be forfeited.

Grasso asks Adams act on Amtrak

HARTFORD (UPI) — Gov. Ella T. Grasso has asked U.S. Transportation Secretary Brock Adams to persuade Amtrak to reverse its decision cutting by 42 percent passenger trains serving Connecticut.
 "It is my belief that the planned Amtrak action will have a terrible impact on your excellent efforts to rebuild and promote the northeast rail corridor," Mrs. Grasso said in a letter to Adams Thursday. "Key trains connecting cities in New England and all the Northeast will be affected by this threatened rail cut-back."
 "I ask that you do everything in your power to try and reverse the decision by Amtrak," Mrs. Grasso said.
 Amtrak, as part of its decision to reduce major rail service throughout the nation, Wednesday voted to eliminate 42 percent of its traffic in Connecticut, including more than 50 percent of the service along some state routes.
 Most of the reductions, which will affect traffic on the Springfield, Mass. to New Haven route which passes through Hartford, and the New York to Boston line which travels the Connecticut shore, will take effect Oct. 30.
 The cutbacks are caused by a budget shortfall in the quasi-public agency charged with running rail passenger service.
 Amtrak operates independently of the Department of Transportation, but Mrs. Grasso said she hoped Adams would do all he could to influence Amtrak to change its mind on the cutbacks.
 Mrs. Grasso Wednesday strongly complained to Donald Jacobs, chairman of the Amtrak board, which made the decision.
 The cutbacks are coupled with increased fares ranging from 2.5 percent to 5 percent in Connecticut.

Earnings above rate PUCA set

HARTFORD (UPI) — For the second month in a row, Hartford Electric Light Co.'s earnings for the previous 12 months have exceeded the amount allowed by the Public Utilities Control Authority. During the 12 months ending July 31, HELCO earned a 9.29 percent return on its rate base, the Middletown Press reported Thursday.

School calendar set

Martin Luther King Day in Connecticut falls this year on Monday—Jan. 16—which means a school vacation. In the past year, the civil rights leader's birthday fell on a Sunday and East Hartford schools did not close. Special programs were held in all the schools on the previous Friday instead.
 The rest of the school calendar for the coming year begins Tuesday, Sept. 6, when all teachers are expected to report.
 Wednesday, Sept. 7, the schools will hold a four-hour day before all schools begin regular schedules Thursday, Sept. 8.
 "No school" days start with Columbus Day, Oct. 10, followed by Election Day, Nov. 8.
 The first marking period ends Nov. 10 and Veterans Day is Nov. 11.
 The first conference week for parents and teachers is Nov. 14 to 16. There will be a four-hour day Nov. 23 followed by Thanksgiving weekend. Schools let out Friday, Dec. 23, for Christmas vacation, which ends when school reopens Tuesday, Jan. 3. King Day is Jan. 16. The end of the second marking period follows on Jan. 27.

Movie restaurant to go before PZC

By MAL BARLOW
 East Hartford Reporter

Richard N. Dupuis hopes to open "a poor man's dinner theater" on Main St. in East Hartford.
 One of his first steps to create the theater is to ask the town Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC) for a special permit at a hearing Sept. 14 at Town Hall. The permit will allow him to serve alcoholic beverages as part of his proposed motion picture theater and restaurant at 467 Main St.
 Later steps include getting a state liquor license.
 "The restaurant aspect will be more like a delicatessen," he said Thursday. "We'll serve foods like pizza and sandwiches—finger foods."
 A full-course steak meal is out, he said. The waiters and waitresses will be serving the food and drink to patrons while they watch a second or third-run film. The restaurant-theater will not be black, but it will be fairly dark, he said.
 The film projector's lamp will be extra powerful to put a sharper-than-usual image on the screen.
 The films will change each week. Examples of possible films will be "Rocky," "Pink Panther," "Pink Panther Returns," and "Magnum Force."
 Dupuis said the theater will not be able to show X-rated films due to the liquor license. The state would not allow it, he said.
 The films will be of a lighter nature—ones that have been successful in their first runs at places like Showcase Cinema, where tickets may have cost patrons $4, he said.
 A patron at Dupuis' theater should be able to see a fine film, eat well and have drinks with his meal for a total of less than $5, he said.
 Dupuis is director of sales for Arrow Bus Lines of 105 Cherry St., East Hartford. The firm is owned by his father, Rene Dupuis.
 The Dupuis family has been in business in East Hartford since the early 1930s. An uncle made Savel Bleach.
 Dupuis lives in Glastonbury.
Other PZC pleas
 Other applications before the PZC include:
 • Newlan-Lincoln Mercury for a repair garage as part of its new car dealership on Tract No. 6 in the South Meadows Urban Renewal Area off Connecticut Blvd.
 • Trash-A-Way Inc. to fill land at 32-38 Roberts St.
 • Pasquale J. Salemi to change zones of 19 acres of land at King St. and Burnham St. from Residence 5 to Residence 3.
 • Fred Viggiano, Lawrence DePonte, Eugene Casale, Bertha Shakir, Wayne Flummer and Antonio DePiano for making their lands at 339 to 351 Main St. Business 2 for 200 feet beyond Main St. All the land makes up about one acre.

The Perelandra, a 131-foot yacht, sinks deeper into Connecticut River mud off the East Hartford shore early this morning. Fire Chief Michael Fitzgerald said today his men could not have pumped it out Wednesday as owner Thomas Shakir insisted. The Coast Guard will not touch the yacht as it is not in the river's channel. But the state Department of Transportation's waterways division may Shakir said today he is making plans to raise it once more. (Herald photo by Barlow)

Police report

East Hartford
 A young man wearing a nylon stocking over his head walked up to a young woman employee of the Nugent's store of 11 Main St. as she was about to drop a night deposit bag into the slot of the Glastonbury Bank and Trust Co. at 5 Main St. Thursday at 9:15 p.m.
 He said, "I'll take that bag."
 He took it, got in a car, and drove away, police said. The bag contained $605 in cash and checks.
 Police arrested three men and a 15-year-old boy, all from Hartford, in the parking lot of the Ramada Inn on East River Dr. Thursday night.
 The men are Jose Rodriguez, 24, Augustine Alvarado, 21, and Victor Soto, 19. All are charged with possession of burglar tools, conspiracy to commit larceny, and risk of injury to a minor.
 Alvarado, driver of the car used by them, was also charged with operating an unregistered motor vehicle and operating while his license was under suspension. All three were held on $10,000 bond for appearance in Common Pleas Court 12 today.
 The boy was turned over to his parents.
 The Arco service station at 123 School St. was broken into Thursday about 4 a.m. Police are not sure yet what is missing, if anything.

Insurance to assurance was preacher's history

"I went from life insurance to life assurance," said the artist preacher who will preach Sunday, Sept. 4 at the 10 a.m. worship of the South Congregational Church on Forbes St. The Rev. Coolidge Hand of Clearwater, Fla., studied art at the Pratt Institute in Brooklyn, N.Y., when young. He considered his art a mere hobby as he sold insurance in his native New England.
 At age 53 he entered the field of "life assurance" by becoming a Methodist minister. At this time he also began to combine his art with his career.
 While a lay preacher studying at the Boston University School of Theology, he took a professor's suggestion to use his art. He illustrated a sermon with water color scenes. The response was encouraging.
 He worked full time as a minister in churches in the Northeast before retiring with his wife to live in a mobile home park in Clearwater. He guest preaches part time.
 "His theme here will be 'The Christ I know,'" illustrated with sculptured crosses of many types and designs. The public is invited.

Priceless silver slightly dented

EAST HARTFORD (UPI) — The priceless Pitkin silver collection, stolen by a convicted murderer who shot himself, his wife and his son this week, were returned only slightly damaged, according to police.
 Frank DeCorleto Jr., who killed his 20-year-old wife, Sibban, and 4-year-old son, Frank 3rd, threw a packet containing the silver to police during a 15-hour siege outside his barricaded second-floor apartment.
 Police, who refused to go near the silver collection while DeCorleto was armed, recovered the stolen goods after the paroled murderer took his own life.
 The 22-piece silver collection, which originally belonged to William Pitkin, an 18th Century Connecticut governor, was stolen from the town library two weeks before the siege.
 East Hartford Police Chief Edward Drumm said Thursday the collection has "minor dents and scratches on some pieces," but is otherwise "in excellent condition."
 Police refused DeCorleto's ransom demands for the silver, made anonymously in the weeks preceding his death.
