Lance says overdrafts were ethical

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Bert Lance testified today he "certainly" feels it was ethical for him to overdraw his Georgia bank account by large sums in the face of a federal law which forbids loans of over $5,000 to bank executives.

And he told a Senate committee that the allegations surrounding his personal banking have not damaged the operation of the Office of Management and Budget he heads — "Our work is exactly on schedule." Under sharp questioning from Sen.

William Roth, R-Del., Lance said he was preoccupied with state and political business at the time of his bank overdrafts. But he said a federal investigation had cleared him of any wrongdoing. Roth sharply attacked Lance, who has refused to resign over allegations of poor personal business practices. "It reminds me a little bit of the person who goes through a red light when nobody was looking," Roth said. "He says nobody was hurt, there was no accident, nobody was injured — so it was all right." But Sen. Thomas Eagleton, D-Mo., charged the committee was using McCarthy tactics in handling the Lance issue. He said charges against Lance were being refuted as fast as they arose.

Lance was president of the First National Bank of Calhoun, Ga., when the overdrafts occurred. Roth suggested Lance might have been trying to circumvent a federal law which prohibits banks from lending large sums to their own officials. "I am asking you the very simple question," Roth told Lance. "Do you think it reflects the high standard of ethics for bank president to have permitted a policy of permitting overdrafts, originally at no interest, to officials of the bank when there was a law on the books that said loans in excess of $5,000 should not be made?"

"Senator, certainly," said Lance. But he conceded that it would "be better if those circumstances did not occur," referring to the fact that he was running for governor of Georgia and heading the state transportation department at the time.

Sen. John Danforth, D-Mo., a Lance supporter, asked him "has the Office of Management and Budget been falling apart?" during the turmoil over his personal banking operations. "Absolutely not," Lance replied. "That work has gone on extremely well. I wish somebody would go investigate that operation as much as they've investigated my banking operations in the past few months... because our work is exactly on schedule." "How is it running? I would say it is running extremely well."

Earlier testimony indicated Lance, members of his family and directors of the Calhoun (Ga.) First National Bank overdraw their accounts by some $450,000 — and that some of the money was used in his unsuccessful 1974 bid for the Georgia governorship.

Eagleton, noting that Lance's personal integrity and reputation are on the line, said some committee members too readily have accepted charges against President Carter's close adviser. "We are dealing with a man's reputation here," Eagleton said. "In the 1940s one official made a high art of finding guilt by association. Now it's guilt by accumulation."

Unlike the opening day, today's round of questions were not nationally televised. Lance testified with little emotion but smiled often.

At one point during the questioning, Roth asked whether Lance had stayed "within the spirit of the loan" in his overdrawing his checking accounts at the Georgia bank he headed in the early 1970s.

"Spirit of the law, senator," Lance said.

"Uh," replied Roth.

"You said spirit of the loan." Lance seemed to be in complete control as the hearings opened Thursday.

Lance said his credentials rest on a 25-year banking career and not just the 1972-75 period of great distractions when he was in state government, running a campaign, chairing one bank and becoming chief operating officer of another.

Lance said his "conscience is clear" in a 10-point refutation of charges of widespread illegalities and financial irregularities.

Lance appeared to have won the first round in the confrontation with members of the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee, who fell into dispute among themselves on parliamentary points while Lance sat quietly for periods of up to 40 minutes.

But GOP Sen. Jacob Javits of New York, a senior committee member, told reporters after the national television cameras went dark Thursday. "There is a question of whether Mr. Lance can continue to function while carrying the burden of responding to these charges."

The hearing took on a distinctly political tone during questioning by Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., the chief Lance critic. Percy was frequently interrupted by Sens. Lawton Chiles, D-Fla., and Sam Nunn, D-Ga., who objected to his approach.

Percy focused on the issue of Lance pledging the same 14,800 shares of stock as collateral for two separate loans from two New York banks.

"It's not collateral if they have a piece of paper that's not worth anything," Percy said, referring to Lance's note guaranteeing to forfeit the stock in case of default.

Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., told Lance he had only one question — "How could an individual have so many overdrafts over such a period of time?"

"A man in the street has deep concerns" over this one issue, Jackson said. "That is what people are really talking about... I mean people on Main Street. It's the heart of our inquiry."

Jackson said the public is "going to say — is that good management?" Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., the committee chairman, said he was particularly disturbed by Lance's overdrafts, which included overdrafts by his wife, his family, and his unsuccessful campaign for governor in 1974.

Lance said that he was speaking only of his personal account which was overdrawn by only a few thousand dollars during a time while he had a $110,000 savings certificate on deposit.

On advice of his attorney, Lance stuck with the fact that he was responsible only for his personal account and not for others.

Primary balloting results varied

Party-endorsed candidates were ousted in some Connecticut mayoral primaries held Thursday, while city council races produced at least one possible double vote by a candidate and one tie.

In East Hartford, incumbent Richard Blackstone soundly defeated challenger Joseph Paquette, 2,240 to 1,207, to remain the Democratic candidate for mayor. Details on Page 1-B.

In South Windsor, maverick Deputy Mayor Robert Myette, ousted from the Democratic slate at the party caucus, regained his slot on the ticket. In Coventry, Joyce Carilli lost her bid for a slot on the Democrats' Town Council ticket. Details on Page 2-B.

Elsewhere in Connecticut, the results remained unofficial, but Democrats apparently ousted Mayor Abraham Grossman of Meriden and New Britain Mayor Matthew Avitabile in mayoral primaries Thursday.

The hottest battle of the year saw New Haven Mayor Frank Logue getting 187 votes more than challenger Biagio DiLieto to win the Democratic nomination.

Logue feels certain he can win in November, but DiLieto vowed to challenge the election in court. Logue unofficially got 10,602 and DiLieto, 10,415.

Bridgeport Mayor John Mandanici apparently turned back three challengers. The unofficial tally was 6,754 votes for Mandanici, 1,961 votes for Roger Floyd, 877 votes for Sydney Evans and 1,160 votes for Albert Perrocco.

Bridgeport Republicans apparently gave William Seres their nomination. Seres defeated challenger Leonard Paoleta by an unofficial 180-vote margin.

"I'm a little shocked. After all I've done for the people of Meriden..." said Grossman as he glared out the window of his campaign headquarters at the jubilant victory parade of Dennis C. Mazzone, the city comptroller.

The unofficial tally was 3,093 votes for Mazzone and 1,072 votes for Grossman. The GOP candidate is Walter Evilia.

New Britain Mayor Avitabile placed fourth in a field of five as Alderman William McNamara was the narrow winner in New Britain's primary.

The unofficial totals showed McNamara with 2,788 votes, Henry Olszewski with 2,738; William P. Candelori, 2,510; Avitabile, 2,507; and Joseph C. Pac, 522. The Republican nominee is Joseph Shiliga.

In Waterbury, one-term Democratic Mayor Edward Bergin defeated challenger Maurice F. Fabiani by an unofficial 3,000 votes. Bergin got a 7,620 votes to his opponent's 4,632. The Republican nominee is Pasquale Mangini.

Unofficial totals showed Norwalk Mayor Jennie Cave won the Independent Party's endorsement, 263-126, defeating Fred Canevari, who will still be on the ballot as the candidate of his newly founded Consumers' Party. The Republican candidate is Frank Esposito.

In Danbury, Democrat Roy Costa

Democrats challenged to work

By GREG PEARSON

Herald Reporter
Manchester's Democratic party opened its election headquarters Thursday night, and the evening's discussion concentrated on the achievements of the past and the work of the future.

"The theme here is very simple. It's that this is a place of work," Democratic Town Chairman Theodore Cummings said as he welcomed about 75 party members to the Olcott St. headquarters. "That's what will win the election," he said. Cummings talked about the work load that lies ahead, including a mailing of about 15,000 brochures to Democrats, unaffiliates and selected Republicans "who can enjoy and appreciate a side that gets things done."

Looking around the white-walled, sparsely decorated building, which is the former site of Fazz Auto Parts, Cummings said, "Our theme is work. We just don't have time for any trills. It's not that kind of year."

Several of the party's candidates who spoke repeated the work-ethic message. Betty Intagliata, a candidate for the Board of Directors, said that she has picked a slogan for her campaign — "Willing to listen, and ready to work."

"I sincerely believe in those two thoughts," she said. Stephen Cassano, also a director candidate, said, "You know by the recent actions of the minority that it's election time. If that's the kind of government we're going to have, we have to work hard to maintain the majority."

The record of the past six years, when the Democrats have been the majority party, also was mentioned by the candidates.

"We've got six years of a fantastic record that we have nothing to be ashamed of," Roger Negro, seeking re-election as town treasurer, said.

Eleanor Coltman, who is running for another term on the Board of Education, said, "Under the Democratic majority on the Board of Education, good things have been going on in education in Manchester. I'm glad to be part of a team that will make a good thing even better."

Auxiliary plans fundraiser

The Manchester Auxiliary of Child and Family Services will hold its first fund-raising event for the 1977-78 year on Sept. 27 at noon at the Signature Restaurant in Hartford Civic Center.

Carlo Galazzo, executive chef at the restaurant, will present a cooking class luncheon. Reservations are limited to 60 and the deadline is Monday. Further information and reservations may be made by contacting either Penney Teigen, 51 Hillcrest Rd. or Pat Cook, 64 Wyllys St. The luncheon is open to guests and friends, as well as members.

The organization's schedule of coming events includes a coffee and tour of Children's Village, Hartford, on Oct. 14; Box luncheon auction and general meeting, Oct. 26; Holiday walk and visit to three Christmas decorated houses, Dec. 1; Spring luncheon, May 15; and the annual picnic meeting and auction, June 6.

At a recent meeting, the following officers were elected for the 1977-78 year: Mrs. William Fitzerald and Mrs. Edward Glenny, co-chairmen; Mrs. John Hutchinson, vice-chairman; Mrs. Ben DeMastro, secretary; Mrs. Anthony Urbanetti, treasurer; Mrs. Mitchell Fendell, program; Mrs. John Teigen and Mrs. Aaron Cook, ways and means; Mrs. Louis Champagne, publicity.

Panel approves higher SS earnings ceiling

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Substantial increases in Social Security benefits for the 13 million Americans under 72 who receive outside income have been approved by a House Ways and Means subcommittee.

The current $3,000 earnings test would be boosted to $4,500 in 1978 and $6,000 in 1979 under a proposal approved by the subcommittee. No earnings test is applied to those over 72. They receive full benefits no matter how much they earn.

Under the earnings test, Social Security benefits are decreased $1 for every $2 in excess of $3,000 a year. Under present law, the test is estimated to rise automatically to $3,240 in 1978 and $3,480 in 1979 to keep pace with inflation.

The subcommittee is considering numerous proposals to shore up the sagging Social Security trust fund. Many of the proposals would result in reduced future benefits or higher payroll taxes.

About town

The executive board of the Women's Club of Manchester will meet Monday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Sam Crispino, 352 Hackmatack St. and Mrs. Raymond Peracchio, nominating. Also, Mr. Donald Forstrom, volunteers; Mrs. Rudolph Gorsch, telephone; Mrs. Raymond Korbusieski, membership; Mrs. Edgar Cheney and Mrs. Lynn Spillman, hospitality; Mrs. Walter Schardt and Mrs. Walter Fuss, horse show; and Mrs. Roger Bagley, legislative.

Representatives to the board of auxiliaries are Mrs. Robert Ahlness, Mrs. Fuss, Mrs. Forstrom, Mrs. Hutchinson and Mrs. Peracchio.

Happy anniversary

Twenty-five years have gone by—and gone by fast—since Community Baptist Church organized in Manchester.
Baptists had not had a congregation in this town for more than 125 years, but families with Baptist backgrounds saw a need for a church here, and they set about fulfilling that need.

terim pastors who served the congregation until full-time pastors were called—the Rev. Vanhoe McCullum and the Rev. Frederick R. Bruce. The Rev. Mr. Bruce was a graphologist.
Those pastors have quietly served the parishioners of Community Baptist, and the church has taken a leading role with the Manchester Area Conference of Churches.

Happy anniversary, Community Baptist.

Wrong numbers

Revelations that the governor, state attorney general and assorted state legislators have made personal long-distance calls on state phones and let the taxpayers pick up the tab have got people in Washington in a tizzy.
Extent of the alleged telephone freeloading ranges from $8.58 for the governor to $562 for the vice chairman of the state Democratic party.

Watergate morality."

What ethics?

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Perhaps it's the humidity, which makes this city notoriously sticky and possibly warps national thought processes. Whatever the cause, summertime seems to bring out the worst in Washington and its politicians.
The low point of the now-fading summer of 1977 undoubtedly was the spectacle of a "good government" president engaging in an embarrassing display of public affection for a banker-turned-politician whose fiscal follies were disavowed by even the American Bankers Association, a group not previously known for its zealous concern about industry ethics.

off on a European junket.
Unusual dalliance
Flyn't's unusual dalliance with the Ford Motor Co. is well known in Geneva, where it was a major campaign issue in 1974, but the story more than makes up for its lack of national to illustrate prevailing ethical standards in the House.

Ranking right behind that show in terms of outlandish political behavior was the strange episode in which the House of Representatives feigned surprise upon learning of "discovering" that the toothless pussycats selected long ago as members of its Ethics Committee weren't fierce tigers in disguise.
Unbroken record
The committee has a virtually unbroken record of ignoring or sweeping under the rug all potentially embarrassing cases, a felicitous approach for the minority of corner-cutters and crooks as well as the majority of legislators who simply abhor scandals in their midst.

Two months' rent
Ford stored his cars on Flyn't's farm for five weeks and paid him two months' rent totaling $12,500. Slightly more than a year later, Ford and the nation's other major auto makers were on Capitol Hill to seek one of the numerous delays in implementation of tough federal emission control standards. Flyn't voted for the postponement.

Key to survival
The 12-member committee is composed almost exclusively of men who continue to support the discredited philosophy of "to get along you've got to go along" as the key to survival and success in the House.

CCIL champion EHHS will be buzzing again

By LEN AUSTER
Herald Sportswriter

East Hartford High's football team in 1977 will not win as many games as it did last year. But that doesn't necessarily mean the Hornets, 11-0 with the CCIL and State Class L titles to their credit, won't be as good.

Because of scheduling difficulties, head Coach Jim Dakin's crew won't open up a nine-game regular-season slate until next Saturday at Simsbury High. So the most it can win is "only" 10.

East Hartford lost 10 starters who filled 16 positions. "We go two ways because we play the best personnel and spell them," Dakin explained. But the absenteeism is deceptive inasmuch as a couple who went one direction last year will double up and a few more who would've started didn't for one reason or other. That means less than half the berths will be filled by what can be termed inexperience.

"We'll be competitive. To what extent I'm not sure. We have question marks but have people with good athletic ability. How fast they mature will tell how we do," the 15-year coach explained.

"We'll be a team to fool a lot of people. We'll have a good defense, that's my forte. A lot of times last year the defense set up the scores. The offense will have to grow."

On defense, the Hornets will field Karl Grabowski and Mike Christ at ends, either Tom Ahern or Kevin McKinney at middle guard and Mike Walters and Mike Hardy at tackles. The strength lies with Grabowski and Walters at tackle because the latter has good acceleration and the former is very fast. More speed, explosiveness, is being sought in the backfield whereas speed will be in the lines will be in abundant commodity.

"Last year's crew was an exceptional one, one you won't find like that again," Dakin reasoned.

"Right now we're the highest. How long we can keep going I'm unsure. The bubble may burst but I feel we're still a high caliber football team. We'll use the state title from our psychological point of view. In my mind, we'll make a run for it (CCIL title)."

Indians working hard

By LEN AUSTER
Herald Sportswriter

Over a week still remains before Manchester High's first football game of the 1977 campaign. While things are being straightened out and taken care of, matters are going slowly. That's what you have to do coming off an 0-10 season.

"It's still early," reminded Indian head Coach Jack Holik Wednesday morning. "People (the fans, etc.) are going to have to be patient with us. We only have eight or nine seniors in the squad. We're going to be very young."

The fortunes of war have not gone slowly. That's what things are changing. Holik and staff are working with a group of 95-55 and that's not bad, at all. It's indeed difficult to keep up youngsters' interest in a program which in all appearances is going nowhere.

Help might be on the way in the future as turnovers at Bennet and Iling junior highs were good. Bennet has about 80 out for the gridiron sport while Iling Coach Bill Troy notes he has about 50. Both figures are improvements from previous years.

Attitude, somewhat a problem last year, has improved tremendously. Holik noted. "The attitude, it's just different. The kids are out there and not complaining and showing up on time for practice. If we stay together it'll pay off in the long run."

What may play to the locals' disadvantage is the opening schedule. Manchester opens up with always tough Penney High in East Hartford Sept. 24 followed by East Hartford, Hall and Conard. "We open up with the CCIL pre-season favorites. I'm really not sure how the schedule is going to affect us," Holik voiced.

The won-lost record is important to many gridiron fans. It is important. Holik admits, but isn't everything.

"If they put out all the time you can't ask for anything more," he states.

Manchester

We (the coaches) are also there to develop the kids' character, their overall development. We had some come out after the first week of practice but if they didn't notify us we wouldn't take them. Sure, we'll maybe lose some quality players but,

Step forward aim of Eagles

By LEN AUSTER
Herald Sportswriter

"We're in the cellar," pointed out East Catholic head football Coach John LaFontana, "and we have to fight our way out."

The Eagles, in last place in the HCC a year ago at 0-4 and a dismal 2-8 overall, will try to take the first step upward they hope in the 1977 campaign Saturday night at Mt. Nebo at 7:30 against South Windsor High.

East made headway in a week-long stay at a camp in New London County but a recent scrimmage showed LaFontana and staff some positions needed shoring up. "We came back experience and we have a couple of good receivers," LaFontana voiced.

"We'll be in a long struggle but we have a good attitude."

On the defensive side, sophomore Dan Tully lines up at middle guard. Andrew and Chris Soares, a senior, at tackle and senior Shovak and sophomore John Karzar, a returning starter, at the ends.

Brian Shea and Dave Butaro are at the linebacking slots with Bob Smith and Frelheit at cornerback and senior Tony Tiemann and junior Marty Varhue at safety.

"We want to win. Everyone is tired of losing. But again we have a tough schedule. We feel we'll be in games which will be decided by who wants it more. Maybe we'll take 'em this year. It'll be a tough season but if they are tough enough we'll win."

The Eagles have shown to be good hitters in pre-season engagements but we need to perfect our techniques. They might hit somebody but not block (or tackle) them effectively. Our execution has been terrible," LaFontana candidly offered.

"We have to get much better. We have three days and our primary objective both fundamentally and team is execution."

But if East is going to improve over last year's mark, its "hitters" are going to have to make contact. Otherwise the Eagles will strike out.

Starting team key for Penney season

By LEN AUSTER
Herald Sportswriter

What is probably an unwelcomed trademark will once again, however, be reoccurring theme for Penney High football. The 1977 edition of the Black Knights, similar to some of its most recent predecessors, will rise or fall on the first stringers as depth will be a problem.

Penney High

Penney was 5-5 over-all in 1976. 4-5 in the Central Connecticut Interscholastic League (CCIL). It has 11 returning lettermen, nine of which will start. Six starters, including a couple who went both ways, are back to lead the East Hartford eleven into the new campaign which gets underway Saturday at home against Bloomfield High in a 1:30 start.

Talented Bill DiBartolomeo, 6-4, 185-pound senior, from his split end post will be a key on offense. If the Knights can get him the ball, the fleet-footed receiver can do big things with it. That assignment of delivering the pigskin falls to senior Gary Courtney who takes over the quarterback post on a fulltime basis after filling in nicely for several games last year for an injured Mark Lynch, who has since graduated.

The rest of the offensive platoon should find seniors in all but one slot. Co-Captain Paul Saucier is at tight end. Keith Ostermann and Larry

'No one gets injured' battle cry with Rams

By LEN AUSTER
Herald Sportswriter

"No one gets injured. That's the standard rule," joshed Rockville High head football coach Mike Simmons nine days before the 1977 opener Saturday in West Hartford against non-league foe Hall High. He might not be kidding, though.

Last year, the Rams blanked Hall, 27-0, and that was just the first brick in a campaign which led to the annexation of the Central Valley Conference championship with a 6-0 mark. Rockville was 9-1 over-all with a defense which yielded just 75 points and racked up three shutouts.

But if Rockville hopes for a repeat performance, it's going to have to remain injury-free. Simmons, now in his fifth year at the helm, openly acknowledges "So far we're optimistic," he states, "but not to the extent where we feel we can win it all. We're going to need some breaks."

"We have a good nucleus, good people in skill positions who'll be instrumental if we win or lose. But the second teamers have to improve considerably. We went 9-1 because of depth. We had people hurt last year but had replacements. This year's starters to the extent of technique and quality are as good as last year's as far as football ability. But we have no depth. There is too much of a gap. Injuries will cause us to suffer."

The Rams were hard hit by graduation with 17 starters taken. There are seven lettermen, five starters, returning. Rockville had its accustomed good turnout for football with about 115-120 candidates, approximately 50 freshmen Simmons will carry a 49-man varsity roster with the last couple of positions based on jayvee game performances.

One key returnee is senior Russ Allen, who'll be a three-year starter at quarterback. He underwent knee surgery the end of last season but is back healthy. He tossed for 10 TDs and over 600 yards and rushed for 253 yards in '76.

How much he runs depends week to week. But I tell you he can throw the ball, he's a passing quarterback. He can run but injuries could catch us," Simmons surmised.

First win campaign envisioned by Bobcats

By LEN AUSTER
Herald Sportswriter

Never before has South Windsor High fielded a winning football team. The Bobcats have come close but...

This year all that should change, head Coach Ralph McCarroll states.

"We're close to going over the top and this year we can do it."

"Opening game is a key game. We want to get off on the right foot." That comes Saturday night at Mt. Nebo in Manchester at 7:30 against East Catholic.

South Windsor had made steady progression of 2-8, 3-6, 1-7 seasons. But the 1975 campaign brought a 2-9 mark. "The bottom fell out," McCarroll recalls. "We had a lot of injuries and some discipline problems."

"But last year's team brought us back. We had our first three and then came back (winning four of seven for a final 4-6 ledger). We had trouble moving the ball but made some adjustments. Three scrimmages so far have shown we can move it."

The Bobcats have experienced personnel, 11 returning lettermen including several who started and others who had a gross of playing time. They two-platoned last year, but with a heavy loss on the defensive side, as many as eight will go both ways. "We'll like to play a lot but going two platoon would hurt ourselves," McCarroll explains.

The offensive team lists Mike McGuiness at center, Howard Murphy and Kee See at guard and split end and senior Bill Jacobs and tackle Steve Cecchini sharing the flanker slot.

Defensively, See is middle guard, Reardon and senior Brian DiCiancia at tackle and Jeffers and senior Greg Daugherty at running backs, either Steve Tenebaum or Rick Mazur at tailback.

"What we do the first couple of games will determine how we do in the league. The CVC is pretty well balanced with Newington seeming to have a solid group back giving it a slight edge."

The key is to win so the kids believe they can win. We've had the ability to win before, but lacked that extra something. I think that extra something is there this year."

South Windsor schedule:
Sept. 17 East Catholic
24 Northwest Catholic
Oct. 1 Glastonbury
7 Windsor Locks
15 Bulkeley
22 Newington
29 Bloomfield
Nov. 5 Windsor

Seven of the state's nine varsity college teams will play with Yale, the University of New Haven, and Western Connecticut opening their seasons at home.
Trinity and Wesleyan don't get under way until Sept. 24.
Last week, only one of the state's four teams won in season openers as Central Connecticut topped Norwich 34-30. The University of Connecticut was drubbed 49-0 at Lehigh. Southern Connecticut lost 11-13 at AIC and the visiting Merchant Marine Academy scuttled the Coast Guard 10-6 in a night game.
Central is home Saturday to host Springfield. UConn will play at Navy. Albany State visits Southern Connecticut. Framingham State invades New Haven. Western Connecticut hosts Jersey City State and the Coast Guard travels to RPI.

Shift franchise
NEW HAVEN (UPI)—Unsuccessful after two years in Hartford and one season in New Haven, Connecticut today is without a North American Soccer League franchise.

New field
CINCINNATI (UPI)—Local politics has beckoned former major league pitcher Jim Bunning.
Bunning, 45, who spent 16 years in the majors with the Philadelphia Phillies and other teams, has filed to run this fall for a seat on the suburban Ft. Thomas, Ky., city council.

against Rham High, a 4-0 victor over Hale-Ray in its opener.
A nice give-and-go down the left side with winger Fred Nassiff set Marciano, a sophomore, up in front of the goal. Bulldog goalie Jeff Winkler belatedly came out but the Eagle striker was able to chip it up and over for a 1-0 edge at the 15-minute mark.
Bolton, which missed golden opportunities in the first half, was able to

Dual position

Jack Redmond, manager and head teaching pro at the Manchester Racquet Club, will also coach the East Catholic High girls' tennis team next spring as well as the Eagle boys' squad.
Cliff Demers, ECHS director of athletics, made the announcement.
Redmond thus returns to the dual post at East that he held while a guidance counselor at the school. He will retain his positions at the Racquet Club as well.

Area soccer

Three area soccer teams kicked off the 1977 season on the right foot yesterday while only Coventry High came out on the short end of the scoreboard.
Andy Goodwin scored three goals and Eric Carlson one in leading South Windsor to a 4-0 blanking of Bloomfield. Rich Gagne found the mark in a 1-0 Ellington triumph over East Granby. Cahill, Managlia, Bunker and Rose tallied as Rham High whitewashed Hale-Ray, 4-0, and finally Coventry bowed to defending state Class LL champ E.O. Smith, 3-1. Chip Bowen found the back of the twine for the Patriots.

Petrie quits

ATLANTA (UPI)—Atlanta Hawks guard Geoff Petrie has announced he's quitting basketball because of an injured knee.
Petrie, who was traded from the Portland Trail Blazers last year, spent his first season with the Hawks on the sidelines after knee surgery. Before joining the Hawks, Petrie had averaged 20 points or better a season.

Mrs. Ley to instruct tour directors

Mrs. Christa Ley

Mrs. Christa Ley of Manchester will be an instructor for the National Academy of Tourism which will begin fall classes on Oct. 11 at the Holiday Inn in East Hartford.

The course, entitled "How To Become a Professional Tour Director," will include day and evening classes.
Mrs. Ley has had considerable experience in the travel field and is currently a tour director with Thomas Cook of New York City, where she has worked for the past two years.
She is also a certified travel tour escort. This year she has traveled more than 50,000 miles taking groups to Hawaii, Munich, Florida, Washington, D.C., and three week tours to California.
A native of Germany, Mrs. Ley began her career by escorting American G.I.s, who were stationed there, and their families on tours of her country.
Mrs. Ley resides with her husband, Ernest, and their two children at 63 Ardmore Rd.
Explaining her work, Mrs. Ley said, "As a tour director with Cook I am involved in city tours in Chicago, San Francisco, Salt Lake City, and Las Vegas.
"Also, there are optional flights over Grand Canyon by private charter planes, arranging cocktail parties and dinners, and taking people to the theatre.

"I hope the classes will appeal to

Maloney-Boenig

Nancy Lee Boenig and Francis Thomas Maloney, both of Manchester, were married Aug. 27 at St. Joseph's Church in Norwich.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Boenig Jr. of Versailles. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Maloney of 139 Avery St.

The Rev. Joseph Horan of St. Joseph's Church celebrated the nuptial Mass and performed the double-ring ceremony. Darlene Boenig of Versailles, the bride's cousin, was organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white tulle and imported Venice lace with hand-cut blossoms of lace accenting the waistline, and cuffs of the long-fitted sleeves and Victorian collar. The Empress bodice was inserted with a cameo of Brussels lace and a chapel-length train was attached to the A-line skirt. Her elbow-length veil was attached to a lace Camelot cap and she carried a bouquet of white roses, and blue baby's breath.

Miss Eileen J. Boenig of Versailles was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Cathy A. Boenig of Versailles, the bride's sister; Mrs. Francine T. Yorker of Windsor and Mrs. Joan E. Holloway of Vernon.

William Maloney of Manchester was his brother's best man. Ushers were Chris Johnson of Broad Brook, Bryan Becker of Manchester and Don Melanson of Glastonbury.
A reception was held at the Knights of Columbus Home in Jewett City, after which the couple left for Orlando, Fla. They are residing in Manchester.

Mrs. Maloney is employed as a junior tax accountant at Connecticut Bank & Trust Co. in Hartford. Mr. Maloney is employed as a machinist at Hamilton Standard in Windsor Locks. (Avery photo)

Vernon plan revision under way

By BARBARA RICHMOND
Herald reporter
Several components of a five-part program to revise Vernon's town plan have been started, Town Planner John Loranger said in a report to the Planning Commission.

Loranger said the plan could be divided into five components: Housing, transportation, public facilities, recreation-open space-environmental, and economic development.

He added that each of these could be further broken down into four parts: Goals and objectives, data base, identification of problem areas and potential for improvement, and development of alternatives to solve problems and/or take advantage of potential improvements.

Loranger said much of the data on soil, wetlands, slopes, ledge and drainage will be needed to evaluate the development potential of vacant land in the housing component.

All veterans who are recipients of a disability rating from the Veterans administration must file the necessary certificates of disability with the Assessors prior to November 1, 1977. Any claimant, still serving and unable to appear in person, may forward to the Town Clerk "annually" a written statement, signed by the commanding officer of his unit, ship, or station, or by some other appropriate officer, or by the presentation of a notarized statement of a parent, guardian, spouse or legal representative of the claimant. Section 6 of Public Act 74-343 states that any land that has been classified by the recorder as furnished pursuant to section 12-104, or Open Space land pursuant to section 12-106, shall remain so classified without the filing of any new application subsequent to such classification. All Real Property, Automobiles, and Snowmobiles are declared by the Assessor. Dated at East Hartford, Connecticut, this 15th day of September, 1977. Signed Anthony S. Barber, Assessor of East Hartford, Connecticut.

Three Kinds Of Home Loans

There are three kinds of mortgages available to home buyers today. 1. Conventional mortgages are two-party affairs between you and the lender. Generally, conventional loans are more easily available and more flexible than the other two kinds. About 80% of home financing today is through conventional loans. Anybody can apply. At the present time you can borrow up to $55,000 from a federally insured savings and loan association. Down payments would vary according to local market conditions. 2. Mortgages insured by the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) are three-party affairs involving you, the lender, and the FHA, which insures the lender against your possible default. Anybody can apply. You can borrow up to $45,000 with from 3% to 10% down payment (depending on the size of the loan) with an FHA insured loan. 3. Mortgages guaranteed by the Veterans Administration (VA) are also three-party affairs in which the VA guarantees repayment of part of the loan to the lender in the event of default. To get this so-called loan you have to be a qualified veteran of military service

Town spells out requirements for subdivision improvements

Streets in Manchester are required to meet the town's subdivision regulations and public improvement regulations, Jay Giles, director of public works, and Walter Senkow, town engineer, said.

A controversy recently developed concerning recommendations by town administrative officials that the town accept five streets — Briarwood and Nutmeg Drs. and Strawberry, Huckleberry and Curry Lanes — in the Manchester West subdivision.

The streets were inspected and okayed by workers in the Public Works Department. Residents of the area, however, protested that some improvements were needed.

Because of the protest, the Manchester Board of Directors Tuesday voted to table acceptance of the streets until all improvements requested by the town are done.

Some of the complaints from residents of the area were on specific measurements that did not meet town standards.

For instance, some driveways were found to be less wide than the minimum established by the subdivision and public improvement regulations.

Several problems suggested for future PZC assessment

Town Planner Alan Lamson has suggested some items that the Manchester Planning and Zoning Commission (PZC) might consider at its future meetings. These include an apparent siting problem at Folly Brook and setting specified limits on noise and odor.

Lamson, at this week's PZC meeting, listed some items that he felt the commission might want to consider at upcoming meetings.

He read a letter from Ernest Machell, zoning enforcement officer, who said that he has received complaints about siting into Folly Brook.

The Andrew Ansaldo Co. has a pending law suit against Society for Savings, the financier of the Manchester West subdivision. The Ansaldo suit is in connection with the town's purchase of its Bidwell St. plant near the brook.

A spokesman for the bank said that officials from Society have met with Town Engineer Walter Senkow and are working on a solution. The PZC indicated that it would like to meet with representatives from Society and First Hartford Realty Corp., the developer of Manchester West.

Lamson also suggested that the commission consider amending the zoning regulations to include specified maximum limits for such factors as noise and odors.

When complaints develop about such things, there is no adequate means of enforcement, according to town officials.

The regulations say that such factors should not be "injurious, noxious, offensive and hazardous." The regulations, however, contain no actual levels to measure whether there is a violation.

Lamson also suggested that the PZC consider a change that might require public improvements, such as sidewalks and curbs for special exception development in residential zones.

These special exception developments, including churches, hospitals and convalescent homes, presently do not require the public improvements.

About town

All members of the seafood committee of American Legion Post No. 102 are asked to report to Art Gravelle, chairman, tonight before 6 p.m. for the opening of the fall program.

The Manchester Grange Fair will be held Saturday at 10 a.m. at the Grange Hall, 205 Spencer St. A chicken barbecue will be served at noon.

Sunset Rebekah Lodge will have its first meeting of the season Monday at 7 p.m. at the Marine Corps League Home, Parker St. After the meeting, there will be refreshments.

Blackstone wins primary 2-1

Paquette sorry turnout less than 25 per cent

By MAL BARLOW
East Hartford Reporter

Mayor Richard Blackstone beat Joseph Paquette Thursday in the East Hartford Democratic primary for the mayoral nomination by 2,240-1,207.

The winner and the loser had different views of the meaning of the result.

"People who sling garbage aren't going to win the voters' confidence," said Blackstone.

"This was a very satisfying result. It reflected the public's confidence in me and in the work I'm doing as mayor. They know what's going on in this town."

Paquette, a plumbing contractor and maverick Democrat once active in the local party, was sorry the voter turnout was less than 25 per cent.

"People didn't even know there was an election," he said.

"I said before we had to have at least 40 per cent to win. We just didn't turn out the vote."

He blamed poor publicity. He said his press releases were not run by all the media. And when they were, they often were distorted, he said.

A Paquette supporter pointed out to Paquette as the results came in Thursday evening at his headquarters that he was doing better at that point than did primary challenger Harry Ravalese in 1975. Final figures then were Blackstone by 2,278-1,413.

"We know (the Democrats in control of the party) can be beat if we can get the people out to vote," he said.

"People are happy now drinking beer and watching the Red Sox," he said.

Blackstone ran on his record of eight years in office. He cited the low tax rate of 46.9 mills and fine services.

Joe Paquette, challenger for the East Hartford Democratic party's nomination for mayor in Thursday's primary, listens to another set of figures from a town district after 8 p.m. when the polls closed. Next to him in his headquarters at his home is his wife, Adeline Paquette. He cited poor publicity for his failure to get out the voters. Turnout was light. (Herald photo by Barlow)

Black Knights ready

By SHEILA TULLER
Herald Correspondent

Penney High School's Black Knights are ready for Saturday's football game in East Hartford Saturday at 1:30 p.m.

Coach Ted Knurek's team will open the season against Bloomfield High. He expects Bloomfield to be one of the toughest teams the Knights will face.

"They have two of the best backs around," he said.

Penney's cross-town rival, East Hartford High School, and Conard

High of West Hartford will also be tough, he said.

Conard's recent loss of a quarterback should hurt them.

Eight starters from the 5-5 1976 team have graduated, he said. But several experienced players are set to start Saturday.

Captains Mike Noble, a Central Connecticut Interscholastic League (CCLL) halfback, and Paul Sawyer will lead the team.

Senior Bill DiBartolomeo, another CCLL standout, will be at the end position.

Other senior starters will be center Steve Gould, tackles Keith Osterman and Larry Puchalsky, quarterback Gary Courtney and halfback Lee DeAngelis.

Juniors Ken Strickland and John Almquist will fill fullback and quarterback slots.

Dave Leito and Roger Brown have been tapped for guard play.

Knurek and the Knights hope to better their 5-5 record of last year. "Our goal is to win as many as possible," Knurek said. "All if we can."
