J. C. Penney complex involved

Environmental challenge trial to open Wednesday

By GREG PEARSON
Herald Reporter

The trial that affects the proposed industrial park in Manchester now has been scheduled to begin Wednesday with Judge T. Clark Hull presiding.

This marks the third Superior Court Judge who has been assigned to the case of the Manchester Environmental Coalition vs. Edward Stockton et al. The case originally had been placed on the Superior Court's Sept. 5 trial list, but the start of the trial has been postponed three times.

Several other matters concerning the industrial park have also developed. These include:

- J.C. Penney Co., which would be the major occupant in the proposed park, will apply next week to the Town of Manchester for a building permit.

Town manager Robert Weiss has expressed concern about an expected second legal action connected with the park. The effect that action will have, particularly on the pending court case, is not clear at this time.

The fact that Penney will not purchase its land from the town by Oct. 1 will mean a loss of about $80,000 in tax revenue, according to Weiss.

Penney had been eyeing an Oct. 15 date for breaking ground in Manchester, but an attorney representing the company said that the date was an estimate and is not an ultimate deadline.

Atty. Thomas DeMille of the Hartford law firm of Updike, Kelly & Spellacy, which represents Penney, said this morning that the company will apply for the building permit next week.

"We are continuing to do all the things necessary to close the (land) deal," he said.

It was learned Thursday that a second legal action, involving a group called "Concerned Taxpayers of Manchester," apparently will be taken within the next week. The plaintiffs, according to their lawyer, Atty. Raymond Cantin, are concerned that the town is planning to sell property to Penney at a cost less than the town's purchase price.

Cantin has suggested that his case might be combined with the environmental case.

DeMille said that he would be opposed to any delay in the starting of the environmental case.

Weiss said, as he has in the past, that he is concerned about any possible delays involving Penney.

He also said that he feels the proposed purchase price of $20,000 an acre for Penney does represent the fair market value.

"It's a matter of what is the value of the land weighed against benefits to the community," he said.

Weiss also said that if Penney had purchased the property before Oct. 1, the deadline for the upcoming Grand List, it could have meant about $80,000 in tax revenues for the town. This date is now unattainable.

It had been reported that Penney was looking to Oct. 15 as a date for beginning work in Manchester.

DeMille said that this date may have been mentioned because it was an estimate on when a final decision would be reached in the court case.

He said that the firm has set no firm deadline on when it has to begin construction.

Radiation monitoring in progress

HARTFORD (UPI) — The Connecticut Health Department is closely watching the state's water and milk supplies to detect possible contamination from radioactive fallout from a nuclear test in China last week.

Janet Kapish, assistant director of the department's laboratory, Thursday said monitoring had so far failed to find any contamination. She said state residents had nothing to worry about.

She said the laboratory was conducting tests on food and water samples from around the state as a precaution in case atomic debris was brought out of the atmosphere by rain.

To plan 4.1 million expansion

Funds approved for Cheney Tech

By JUNE TOMPKINS
Herald Reporter

The state Bonding Commission this morning approved bonding for $163,750 in funds to plan an expansion of Howell Cheney Regional Vocational Technical School.

Gov. Ella Grasso had asked the commission for approval.

The overall cost of the project would be about $4.1 million and it would provide for 42,000 square feet of construction. Construction cost is estimated at $3.25 million.

The items included in the program are:

- Second floor addition over existing classrooms.
- New two-story shop wing.
- Parking area expansion.
- Expansion of gym and cafeteria.

This will be the first addition to the school which was built for $2 million and opened in 1962. The school serves a 12-town region and many students are turned away each year for lack of facilities.

John Garafalo, director of Cheney Tech, said he hopes that construction will be under way within two years.

Manchester's vocational education program began in 1912 through the efforts of Howell Cheney who established a textile school on Hartford Rd.

From its beginning, the school was destined to grow to meet the demands of its students and industry. In 1915, the program was so successful that it expanded to include instruction in carpentry, electricity, machine shop and mechanical drafting.

With its need for more space and better facilities, the school moved into the Franklin Building of the Bennett Junior High School complex and soon became known as the Manchester State Trade School.

The next move occurred in 1924 when the school occupied a building constructed by the town especially for training students for industry. This new school was on School Street and in 1943 was named the Howell Cheney Technical School in honor of its founder.

In order to combine an academic program with the vocational instruction, a cooperative plan with Manchester High School was begun in 1946. This was discontinued in 1955 in favor of a full-time program at the technical school.

The present structure on W. Middle Tpke. was erected in 1962 and opened with an enrollment of about 300 students.

At the school's 50th anniversary celebration, it was noted that the school's registration was "about 325, close to its capacity of 350 students."

As of this school year, about 450 students are enrolled, an increase of 17 over last year, and the largest enrollment ever in the history of Manchester's technical school, and the school continues to turn down applicants every year.

The new facilities should increase the capacity of the school by about 50 per cent or to a total of 700 to 750 students when completed, Garafalo said.

Garafalo plans for an expanded educational program to meet the needs of the technical field — programs with particular appeal to young women who are enrolling at the school in increasing numbers each year.

Plans for the new programs are tentative, Garafalo said, but could include air conditioning and refrigeration, plumbing and heating, welding, electrical drafting, small engine repair and oil and gas-fired heating.

A lot of the new enrollment could also come from an expanded electrical and electronic departments and auto repair.

With the expansion of the school's educational program over the years, the athletic program has grown to include basketball, baseball, track, wrestling and soccer, in addition to actively clubs within the school.

Until 1968, students had to provide their own transportation to the school from wherever they lived in Manchester and area towns. Then the Board of Education approved bus transportation for the students.

In recent years, a Parents Club formed to support the school and its programs.

Carter announces world tour plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter will make an 11-day trip to South America, Africa, Asia and Europe beginning Nov. 22 "to promote the sort of world we all want to live in," the White House announced today.

Zbigniew Brzezinski, Carter's national security adviser, said the visits to four continents will underline traditional ties, expand the scope of America's international relations and symbolize cooperation with systems "different from ours."

Carter will first fly to Venezuela and wind up the trip with a visit to European Common Market and NATO meetings in Brussels in early December.

"It is to promote the sort of world we all want to live in," Brzezinski told a news conference called to coincide with simultaneous announcements in foreign capitals.

The White House said the president will be accompanied on his second overseas trip since taking office by his wife Rosalynn, Secretary of State Cyrus Vance and other officials.

They will go first to Caracas on Nov. 22. Then Carter will then fly to Brasilia, Brazil, on Nov. 23; Lagos, Nigeria, Nov. 25; New Delhi, India, Nov. 27-28; Tehran, Iran, Nov. 29; Paris, Nov. 30; Warsaw, Dec. 1, and Brussels Dec. 2.

The Carters will leave Brussels for Washington late on Dec. 2.

The visit to Nigeria will be the first of a U.S. president to a black African country.

Brzezinski said the administration considered Nigeria "a most important African country" which has had a "moderating influence" in African politics.

The president will probably be accompanied there by U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young, officials said.

On the homeward leg of the trip, Carter will stop in Poland, where his national security adviser was born.

Connors to replace Schaffer on ticket

Beldon Schaffer, a Democratic member of the Manchester Board of Directors who had been nominated for re-election, has withdrawn from

Thomas Connors

Explosion levels tire warehouse

BRIDGEPORT (UPI) — A thundering explosion early today leveled a Tire City warehouse on Route 1 and blew out windows in at least four businesses. Police said arson was suspected.

Police said a 15-year-old youth in the area at the time of the 3 a.m. explosion was injured and he was being questioned at the hospital about the blast. They refused to release his identity because of his age.

The explosion was felt through a large section of the area and woke up residents who called police. Police said an initial check in-the race. He will be replaced by Thomas Connors, who was nominated originally as a candidate for the Board of Education.

The Democratic Town Committee will meet next week to approve the switch of Connors and to select a candidate for the Board of Education, Theodore Cummings, Democratic town chairman, said today. The party's nominating committee will meet this weekend or early next week to make a recommendation to pass to the entire town committee, Cummings said.

Schaffer, in a brief letter to Cummings, said that he decided to withdraw because of "personal health reasons." Schaffer missed the Sept. 13 Board of Directors meeting and the party's opening of election headquarters because of illness.

"We are saddened by Beldon's withdrawal. But, we're most fortunate to have a big man to fill a big job," Cummings said of the change.

dictated the explosion and fire was gasoline set.

The blast sent flames shooting hundreds of feet into the night air and leveled the Tire City warehouse and gutted the business showroom next door. It also knocked out windows in four businesses including a bank office, a Howard Johnson's diner and a carpet store, police said.

Firemen worked for several hours to knock down the flames in the Tire City complex. The force of the explosion twisted steel girders inside the warehouse and dumped heavy debris over Boston Avenue which police closed off to all traffic.

ARC creates disaster unit

With memories of the disastrous 1975 ice storm serving as reminders of how ill-equipped most communities are to handle similar situations, the Manchester-Bolton Branch, American Red Cross, is doing something about it.

It has created a Disaster Service Committee with Durward J. Miller its chairman.

At Tuesday's bi-monthly meeting of the local Red Cross Board of Directors, emphasis was placed on two highlights of recent Red Cross involvement — the creation of the Manchester-Bolton Disaster Service Committee and the full-scale, round-the-clock work by the National Red Cross during last week's torrential rain and flooding in Kansas City, Mo.

The local Disaster Service Committee has the responsibility for providing food, clothing and shelter in the event of a disaster. Its goal is 50 or more shelter managers, trained volunteers who would be available if needed. Toward that end, a training session for potential managers was held Wednesday night in the old Spruce St. firehouse.

Miller called the session "very satisfying." He said that, "other than the training sessions, there are no other demands on the time of the volunteer shelter managers, unless a disaster occurs."

A report from the National Red Cross headquarters indicates that about 1,850 families suffered losses in the Kansas City floods. The Red Cross used seven mobile canteens to feed the victims and countless Red Cross volunteers worked throughout the area. More than 25,000 meals were served the first week. The Kansas City Red Cross Chapter launched an emergency Disaster Fund Appeal and the response was "most gratifying," the report stated.

Up to 12 inches of rain fell on the area in 24 hours, with resulting deaths and injuries, treated in hospitals.

Clifford O. Simpson, chairman of the Manchester-Bolton Branch, said Tuesday, "When one hears the word 'Red Cross,' one immediately thinks of disasters and of help on the way. And that help is supplied by volunteers, whether here in Manchester or in Kansas City. Without volunteers, there wouldn't be a Red Cross. I thank God every day for the fine people we have in this world."

An ice cream social will be held today from 5 to 7 p.m. on the grounds at Verplank School. In case of rain, it will be in the school cafeteria.

Mrs. Samuel Smith will host a coffee at her home at 301 Kennedy Rd. Tuesday at 10 a.m. for Planned Parenthood. Guest speaker will be Thelma Lowell, head of the Hartford office of Planned Parenthood.

An ice cream social will be held today from 5 to 7 p.m. on the grounds at Verplank School. In case of rain, it will be in the school cafeteria.

About town

Director suggests weekly meetings on town problems

The Great Books Discussion Group will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. William Sleith, 32 Wyllys St. Dostoyevsky's "Crime and Punishment" will be discussed. New members are welcome.

A member of the Manchester Board of Directors has criticized the performance of a town department in connection with the recent complaint about water at Bentley School.

Vivian Ferguson, a Republican member of the board who is seeking re-election, also has recommended to Town Manager Robert Weiss that he hold a special weekly briefing session with town department heads to discuss such matters.

Mrs. Ferguson's remarks came after a recent incident at Bentley School when a parent complained of muddy water in a bubbler at the school.

The parent said that he notified the principal, the Town Health Department and the school administration about the matter. Dissatisfied with the outcome, he spoke with Mrs. Ferguson.

Mrs. Ferguson praised Charles Pratt & Whitney Aircraft field manager, said that he had testing done at the school soon after she called him. The tests showed that the water was safe.

"I am disturbed, however, that there was no such prompt action on the part of the Health Department and, as far as I can determine, no action whatsoever," she wrote in a letter to Weiss.

"It appears that town employees do not know how to judge a complaint, do not know where to seek help and do not have the proper answers. This has become increasingly apparent," Mrs. Ferguson wrote.

Ronald Kraatz, assistant health administrator, said earlier this week that the department's responsibility is connected with health matters.

If the health department receives a complaint about muddy water, the complaint is referred to the Water Department. If there were related health problems, however, the Health Department would become actively involved, Kraatz said.

McCavanaugh to emcee March of Dimes roast

James R. McCavanaugh of 121 Park St. will be master of ceremonies of the Oct. 14 "Roast of Matt Moriarty Jr.," the highlight of a dinner-dance that will kick off Manchester's March of Dimes campaign.

The event will be at the Colonial Inn at 6:30 p.m. will be followed by dinner at 7:30, "The Roast," and dancing. Manchester Mayor Moriarty is leaving office in November. Citing family and business responsibilities, he declined nomination for another term on the Board of Directors.

McCavanaugh, who is serving also as general chairman of the Oct. 14 dinner-dance, is on the staff of J.D. Real Estate Associates Inc. A graduate of local schools, he has concluded many courses in automotive sales, the field he was in before his present endeavor. He is a 4th Degree member of Hartford's Bishop McMahon General Assembly.

P&W expects 100,000 at open house

More than 100,000 persons are expected to attend an open house, "Family Sunday 77," for employees and their guests Sunday at all Connecticut plants of Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Group of United Technologies Corp.

Employees, their children, relatives and P&WA retirees will tour factory and office areas and view two art shows being held in the plants in conjunction with the event.

Two years ago, in celebration of the company's 50th anniversary, Pratt & Whitney Aircraft held a similar open house for both employees and the general public. Nearly one-half million persons visited the East Hartford headquarters plant and Rentschler Airport where about 45 aircraft powered by P&WA engines were on display.

"Since the anniversary celebration, we have had many requests from our employees for another opportunity to show their families through the plants," said Bruce N. Torrey, P&WA Group president.

"Family Sunday provides the answer to those requests."

Unlike the 1975 event, Family Sunday 77 "will not be open to the general public."

Town to begin flushing of North End lines

The Town of Manchester Water Department will begin flushing lines Monday in the North End.

The flushing schedule for the week will be:

Monday — Lydall St. west to Woodbridge St., then along Woodbridge to Main St.

Tuesday — Area near North Elm St. east to Woodbridge St.

Wednesday — Main St. to Woodbridge St. and W. Middle Tpk.

Thursday and Friday — Main St. and side streets east to N. Elm St.

There may be discoloration of water and reduced pressure during the flushing. If water appears discolored, the homeowner should try to avoid drinking it until it clears.

If sediment does get into a home's hot water tank, the homeowner should wait until the water clears and then open the faucet at the bottom of the tank to drain the collected material, which will settle at the bottom.

If a load of wash is done during the period of discolored water, the load should be done again after the water clears. Four ounces of cream of tartar should be added to help clean any discoloration of the clothing.

Bipartisanship urged

John Yavis, a Democratic member of the Manchester Board of Education who is seeking reelection, has asked that the board's tradition of bipartisanship be continued.

"The tone of the campaign to date gives me great concern that the preservation of this tradition may be in jeopardy, and by speaking now I hope that the level of discussion during the remainder of the campaign will be such that this valuable tradition can be preserved," he said.

"In the past, members of both parties have cast aside their political affiliations in search of learning programs, as well as facilities and personnel, which would best meet the needs of every Manchester student," Yavis said.

"Our mutual goal as board members has been to advance the educational system in Manchester and to do so without motivation by partisan interests. I, as well as other Democratic board members and candidates, will continue to strive for that goal," he said.

Yavis said the standard of bipartisanship set by past board members is one for candidates to recall during the present campaign.

State gives approval to sewer project

The State of Connecticut has approved the Town of Manchester's plans for a sewer project in the Baldwin-Concord Rds. area.

While the town has not yet received final word on funding for the project, Jay Giles, director of public works, said that the state's approval of the plans is the second positive sign that funding will be provided.

The project includes installation of a trunk line sewer from Union Pond to Tolland Tpk. and street sewers in the Baldwin-Concord Rds. area.

The town applied for federal funds that are being made available by the state for such sewer projects. The deadline for awarding money for the projects is Sept. 30.

Last week, the town received notification from the federal Environmental Protection Agency that the project would cause no environmental harm. This notification and the state's approval of the plans are two good signs that funding for the project will be approved, Giles said.

If the funding is provided, the November ballot will include a referendum question that asks voters to approve the borrowing of $1,280,000 in anticipation of the federal money. The Town Board of Directors did approve $315,000 in town funds for the project. This money will come from sewer assessments paid by property owners in the area.

Vernon sets example

It's refreshing to see that some old vacant buildings, once considered more fit for parking lots, are being recycled for other uses. There's an excellent example of the idea now under way in Vernon — Barkan Development Co.'s plans to convert the old U.S. Envelope Co. factory in Rockville into housing for the elderly. And there's another example in Vernon — the U.S. Postal Service's remodeling of an old A&P supermarket into its new post office. The old post office? It's being considered either for school expansion or for public health offices. It seems unlikely, though, that Vernon will come up with the $60,000 needed to refurbish the old post office. If the town can't handle it, we hope a private developer can. As for the Barkan proposal, we hope federal housing officials support it as much as the Town Council has. The project, which would create 115 apartments, would help improve Rockville and reduce the list of elderly people waiting for housing, as well as put a vacant building to use.

The right to retire

In a manifesto published in the current issue of The Humanist magazine, more than 100 leading Americans, including 50 U.S. senators and representatives, declare mandatory retirement to be "morally wrong" and a denial of the fundamental right to earn a living. Retirement, they say, should be a matter of voluntary choice, and they pledge to work toward that goal in all areas of employment.

Well, no doubt forced retirement at some arbitrary age (currently and generally 65 in the private sector, 70 in the government) can be an injustice and a waste in some cases. But there is something inappropriate about such exceptional elder citizens as historians Will and Ariel Durant or inventor and sage Buckminster Fuller prescribing for all other Americans. We don't know about congressmen, who can continue to hold office as long as the voters put up with them, but the Durants or Fullers or Dr. Spock (another signer) will be active and creative in their fields if they live to be 110. Not so for the vast majority of us. Indeed, the trend in manufacturing in recent years has been to retire earlier and earlier than mind-stultifying jobs as automobile assembly. The signers of the document also think it is terrible that the median income of men forced to retire drops from $7,890 annually to $3,300, working "a hardship on both the individual and the American economy." Well, again there is no doubt that retirement can be a hardship if a person, for whatever the reasons, is not prepared for it. Even if the compulsory retirement age were raised or eliminated, of course, a worker still would be free to retire at 65 — or earlier, if he could swing it financially. But we see nothing "voluntary" about it if inflation were to force people to work beyond 65 simply to make ends meet, or to help bail out a mismanaged Social Security system. This, we believe, also would be morally wrong and the denial of another fundamental right: The right of older Americans to enjoy the fruits of a lifetime's labor at ease and in financial security.

Politics Pearson

By GREG PEARSON

There is no question that the 1977 political campaign in Manchester is now in full swing. Both the Democratic and Republican parties opened their headquarters in the past week. And the Board of Directors meetings are becoming long, drawn-out affairs with plenty of verbiage. The board had one of its shortest agendas in the past year during the month of September. Yet, the first meeting of the month lasted the standard three hours and the second meeting stretched over 3½ hours. The directors did complete the agenda for the month in the two meetings. There will be only two more board meetings before Election Day — Oct. 4 and Oct. 11. The general approaches of the two parties for the election have been outlined and are not surprising. The Democrats, who have been in power for six years, say that they will run on the record that they have established during that period. The Republicans, however, say that the record is filled with incorrect decisions. Residents of Manchester are ready for a change, they say. Remarks from the two candidates for town treasurer show the contrast in the two sides. "We've got six years of a fantastic record that we have nothing to be ashamed of," Roger Negro, Democratic town treasurer who is seeking re-election, said the night his party opened its headquarters. Betty Sadoski, the GOP candidate for treasurer, said at her party's opening, "I'm surprised the Democrats are running on their performance." She then mentioned the recent letter from Town Manager Robert Weiss that said the town might be facing a budget deficit as large as $1 million for 1977-78. "A performance? Yes. But, not one you would like to continue," she said. When the Democrats opened headquarters, Town Chairman Theodore Cummings mentioned the construction of Regional Occupational Training Center, the renovation of Lincoln School, the reconstruction of W. Middle Tpk., and the proposed J.C. Penney Co. facility. When the Republicans opened headquarters, Town Chairman Thomas Ferguson pointed to the possible budget deficit, the recent water contamination problem and the firehouse constructed in Buckland.

Square dance lessons being offered beginners

Dear sir: The Manchester Square Dance Club is once again offering beginner lessons to those interested in learning how to square dance. Square dancing in Manchester is part of the town's adult recreation program, as the use of the school gyms is provided to the club at no charge. The regular Saturday evening dances are held at Manchester High School, the finest dancing facility anywhere in the area. Square dancing is an amazing form of recreation; it meets the needs of all ages from teens to senior citizens. The common bondages is the dance bringing all together in pursuit of this enjoyment. Together we meet and form new friendships. There is much more to square dancing than an outsider might think. It's true it does sharpen one's coordination and reflexes; but after the challenge of the dance is accomplished, the greatest discovery is the fun and fellowship and the many new friends made in square dancing. Come experience the joy of square dancing, come and make new friends, come to our introduction to square dancing, come to our Fun Night, Oct. 3, Wadwell School, 111 Broad St., 7:30 p.m. Don't miss this opportunity. The club guarantees it will change your life. Sincerely, Donald and Rella Dickie 461 Parker St. Manchester

My motto is dignity be damned

WASHINGTON — In this trade, we all have slow days when it seems the entire human race is on vacation. I presume the Washington Star was suffering from this malady when it devoted its daily Page 1 Q and A interview to the pie-throwing activities of a Yippy named Aaron Kay. Kay has thrown pies in the faces of Sen. Dan Moynihan, E. Howard Hunt, G. Gordon Liddy, Phyllis Schlafly, Columnist Bill Buckley and Tony Ulawicz, the clumsy Watergate bagman, among others. He must be a celebrity to a whopping 100 or so Americans. So this 27-year-old self-styled "freedom fighter" was interviewed by Starman Ned Scharif. The result suggests that the Star's news day had gotten to a screeching halt. "Symbolism" explained Consider Kay's reply when he was asked to explain the "symbolism" of pie-throwing. Said Kay: "When you throw a pie at a certain person you get the message across and at the same time you deflate their ego. I more or less adopt the tradition (of) the old Chinese Red Guards" during the Chinese Cultural Revolution. "They were against capitalist readers, and they would try them in public." But why throw a pie at G. Gordon Liddy? Because, replied Kay, "I felt that the U.S. court system was too easy on him. Like we protested his being released from jail because he's a dangerous man." Very well. But the reader is vainly hanging. One wonders in vain why Kay didn't throw a pie at the parole board or some Supreme Court justice. "Freedom fighters" are supposed to be fearless. Fascinating rationale But I was fascinated by Kay's pie-throwing rationale. His victim, he said, had to be "somebody who goes around violating human rights. I could even be some councilman who blocks passage of a certain bill that would benefit the people."

Ho-ho and a gadzooks or two. Kay indeed limits his freedom fighting to small fry. The Chinese Communist regime is more contemptuous of human rights than even the Soviet Union. After pieing Liddy, Kay could have walked a few blocks and found a gaggle of targets at Peking's liaison mission to the United States. Some weren't too happy Of course, there is the fact that you don't go to jail for throwing pies at American public figures. Asked about the reaction of his victims, Kay said the Bill Buckley and the conservative Mrs. Schlafly "seemed to take it very well...Moynihan, Ulawicz and Howard Hunt weren't too happy about it." However, Kay has never been arrested for this. He says he has the gall to press charges against me for assault with a deadly pie," he said. "In this day of shootings, muggings, rapes, it would really look silly for some of these people to testify against me in court for just a pie in the face." Played paties Unfortunately, that sums up the attitude of Kay's victims. Apparently, they feel it is beneath their dignity to demand that he be prosecuted. Yet hitting anybody with anything, including a pie, is a crime. Moreover, my doctor, who has never been an alarmist, notes that there is a finite danger a Kay target could be blinded by some of the stuff you find in store-bought pies. Faugh! The Moynihans, Buckyeys, et al have played straight men — paties — to this creep. They only talk a good game of law and order. I am not built like a linebacker and there wasn't a kid on my block I could whip, but let Kay hurl a pie in my face and he forthwith will find his soul full of fist as notice that I will sue hell out of him. Under certain conditions, my motto is dignity be damned.

By United Press International Today is Friday, Sept. 23, the 266th day of 1977 with 99 to follow. The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Saturn, Jupiter, Mars and Venus. There are no evening stars. Those born on this date are under the sign of Libra. Actor Walter Pidgeon was born (in Canada) on Sept. 23, 1908. On this day in history: In 1950, Congress adopted the U.S. Internal Security Act, providing for registration of Communists. Communist registration later was ruled unconstitutional by the U.S. Supreme Court. In 1974, Massachusetts Sen. Edward Kennedy said he would not seek the Democratic presidential nomination in 1976 and would not accept a draft.

Politics of confirmation

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The brouhaha inspired by Bert Lance's financial hanky-panky has produced a proposal for far-reaching institutional reform in the Senate. The idea has considerable merit — but it probably will be rejected because of petty politics. The innovation is being actively promoted by Sens. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., and Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., the chairman and banking minority member of the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee, the forum for the congressional hearings on Lance's activities. Uniformity needed Ribicoff and Percy note correctly that the Senate currently has no standardized qualifications, guidelines, time-tables or other requirements for handling the confirmation of those nominated by the President to high government offices. They seek to bring some needed rationality and uniformity to that process. Specifically, Ribicoff and Percy propose the establishment of a new Senate office whose staff members would conduct independent background and financial checks of nominees as well as evaluate the reports on background investigations made by the FBI and other governmental agencies. Political process In theory, that approach is splendid one. In practice, the Senate confirmation process is an intensely political one which is highly incompatible with rationality. The dynamics vary, depending Management and Budget. Lacked staff The two senators note that some Senate committees are hobbled by a lack of staff members qualified to conduct sensitive background investigations. But their panel, which performed so poorly in the current case, has no such excuse. The government Affairs Committee included a subcommittee on permanent investigations, whose staff is widely reputed to be the toughest group of investigators on Capitol Hill. In past years, that subcommittee gained considerable fame for its wide-ranging probes of organized crime and corrupt labor unions. The same staff could have conducted a thorough investigation of Lance, who correctly notes that the committee was aware last January of many of the questionable practices which were the subject of this month's hearings. Reluctant to dig But no such probe was undertaken because the Democrats who control the committee initially were very reluctant to dig deeply into the background of a man who not only had been nominated by, but also was a longtime personal friend of the President. That's typical of the situations where politics is the controlling factor in determining the outcome of a confirmation hearing. Until and unless Ribicoff and Percy can devise some means of subordinating political considerations, their proposed new office unfortunately will be a useless appendage.

Interest high in girls' sports

It seems athletic energy and interest has reached a new time high in this fall's girls' sports program, with all four teams brimming with anticipated members.

Cross Country Coach Phil Blanchette, whose 1976 team consisted of less than 10 runners, was pleased with this year's turnout of 15 girls. Oldies but goodies Lori Veal, Kate Hennessy and Janice Meyer, along with several excellent newcomers who remained relatively undefeated for the past few years, are some of the high points that are bolstering Blanchette's hopes for the season's success. He's looking forward to the Farmington Invitational Sept. 16, the team's first, and hopes for a season's end with the state championship in his pocket.

Swim Team manager, Paul Brindamour holds an optimistic outlook for the team's success this fall. Coached by Dave Frost, the team had a turnout of 30 girls, more than last year, with returning bright spots and record holders like Karen McCardie, Leslie Scott, Chris White, Tessie Mazzotta, and Ingrid Jacobson. After practicing every day after school and Saturdays, the team can't help but be prepared for its first meet on September 27 at Hartford Public.

"There's a lot of new faces and talent," beams coach Mary Fainant about the 1977 field hockey team, "It's just a matter of getting together as a working unit." With point-getters like captains Doreen Downham and Linda Cheney coming back to lead the pack of 37 members, Fainant's hopes don't seem unreasonable. The power is there, and it's sure to burst Sept. 16 in the first game of the season at Meriden.

Perhaps the most surprised at the large turnout is the volleyball coach Priscilla Mally. "It looks quite promising; there's never been this much of a turnout." With 45 to 50 girls trying out for the team, cuts will have to be made, but the team will undoubtedly benefit from the wide selection. Old pros like Cathy Carpenter, Sandy Irish, Mel Koski and Kathy McCon will help lead the team to victory in its first game Sept. 20, "and," says Mally assuredly, "there will be a definite improvement over last year's 5-8 record."

With interest soaring, the teams are off and running even before the first competition, and with morale so high, win or loss, the season can be nothing but a success. — Carolyn Egan

Principal greets MHS students

"I want to take this opportunity to welcome all of you and wish everyone the very best in the year ahead."

For all of you returning to MHS, along with all of the new students, I hope that you will note how very nice our building and grounds look. The custodial staffs worked extremely hard this summer for us and I sincerely hope that we shall all make every effort to continue to keep everything looking neat and clean.

Although we made a change in our open campus policies for incoming sophomores to begin the school year, we have not changed our policies for upperclassmen. As these privileges are a reward for our own selves as well as a responsibility to the school, I shall expect that, in return, each and everyone of you will do your part in respecting all of the rules and standards that are set forth for your direction.

Those of you who have been students here at MHS in the past will recall our special efforts to clean up our school in several different ways. I am referring to the problems that we've had with litter and vandalism, the nonstudent problem, and the use of drugs and alcohol on our campus. I feel that we've made good progress in the past three years in trying to eliminate these problems and have been very pleased with the overall positive support of our student body.

In a change made three years ago, I shall continue to spend several hours of each day in the cafeteria area — away from my office in the front of the building, as you well know, with a student body as large as ours, it is very difficult to get to know every individual, but I would like very much to get to meet as many of you as possible during this school year. Thank you and good luck to everyone. — George Emmerling, Principal MHS

Many opportunities available at MHS

September may mark the beginning of books, exams and sleepless nights, but it can also mark the beginning of a year jammed with fulfilled activities and sports events. If you're an "anxiously-awaiting-graduation" senior, an apathetic junior, or just a timid sophomore, what better time to burst from your shell of indifference than in the beginning of another school year, when all of the great activities are starting anew.

In the wide variety of activities at MHS, there is one that appeals to every kind of person. For those whose favorite class is algebra, the math team is always a challenge. The literarily-inspired have a wider scope to choose from in HSW and Art-dian.

Arty students can photograph their way through Somniths, sketch their way through Art-dian, sing their way through Roundtable, and act their way through Sock and Buskin. The Outing Club may appeal to the ascetics and Thoreau fans.

No one is expecting you to be the captain of the football team, a Somniths editor or student assembly president, but no one is keeping you from it, either. Get involved for your own enjoyment and make the best of your high school years. — Carolyn Egan

Water-minded people are urged to join the Deep-Sixers or the Aquatics, while socially-minded people might find their niche in the AFS Club, Announcers Club, Deca, FSA and Band are just more of the activities available. The Commencement Committee may even stimulate all those aforementioned "anxiously-awaiting-graduation" seniors.

Sports can also serve as a means of enjoyment for both sexes. Kick out your frustrations in a game of football or soccer. Vent your spleen through basketball, volleyball, field hockey, baseball, softball, swimming, tennis, or track. If you're in the athletic but not competitive spirit, intramurals may be just what you're looking for.

As well as upperclassmen are encouraged to join. Sock 'n' Buskin is not only for people interested in acting, carpenters, painters, electricians, scavengers, sewers, artists, draftsmen, musicians, organizers, and all others interested in having a good time are needed. The club is really many activities rolled into one, and a member can become involved as much or as little as he wants.

For those of you who plan in advance, our first production of the year is "The Hounds of the Baskervilles," a Sherlock Holmes mystery. The dates to see are November 4, 5, 11, and 12. — Paul Marté

Sock 'n' Buskin starts to act up

For the first couple of weeks of school, all students are preoccupied with something. Seniors are counting the days until June, juniors are adjusting to their new teachers, and sophomores are trying to look like they're not lost. Now that two weeks have passed and the seniors have settled down and the juniors have adjusted, the sophomores are still lost, and their minds have turned to thoughts of extra-curricular activities. The various clubs and sports are looking for members to become involved, and most of all, have fun.

One of the most popular groups in school is Sock 'n' Buskin, the MHS drama club. Interested sophomores as well as upperclassmen are encouraged to join. Sock 'n' Buskin is not only for people interested in acting, carpenters, painters, electricians, scavengers, sewers, artists, draftsmen, musicians, organizers, and all others interested in having a good time are needed. going to build sets. Construction?"

"How about the other guys?"

"Well, Pete was talking about some language club meeting, and John went with Dave White to talk with some teacher about a scuba diving club."

"Who's Dave White?"

"Oh, he's a new friend of Pete's from Iling. Hey, he's a pretty decent kid. Real funny. You should meet him."

"Mmm. Hey, would you like to go out someplace Friday night? We could go to..."

"Sorry, I can't. I'm going to the dance with a girl I met in French. Why aren't you going?"

"Aw, come on! School dances stink! Who wants to be in school on Friday night? I'm gonna party!"

Gradually, Bill's friends drifted away from him. They spoke to him less and less not because they didn't like him, but because they had made new friends. These new friends were from Bennet and Iling alike.

They were people who shared common interests. Paul had lots of fun with his friends in drama. John went away on weekend dives with friends who were interested in scuba. All of Bill's Bennet buddies went to school dances and sports games and met new people. Some became involved in student government, some wrote articles about the clubs they were in

MHS guidance notes

The Guidance Department activities continued through the summer as counselors worked on resolving conflicts in schedules, programmed new and returning students, and counseled students, parents and adults who "dropped in."

Orientation and testing for incoming 10th graders was held on two days prior to the opening of school. With school in session again, counselors began meeting this week with seniors. L. Donald Brooks and Mrs. Grace Kunz have been having small group sessions with seniors planning further education to make them aware of the steps to take in applying to post high school institutions. They also discuss the preparation of a resume for their guidance folder. In addition, seniors are asked to write their own recommendations for college. These may be included in the school recommendation and augmented by counselor comments.

Also this week, Ronald Mocado and Mrs. Sara Robinson are meeting with seniors who do not plan further

Debaters prepare for new season

If you enjoy expressing your ideas, would like to overcome any fear of presenting speeches, would like to learn how to organize your thoughts, or are interested in the Health Care System, then your best bet would be to join the Debate Club for the 1977-78 season.

Last year, the team of Susan Launi and Mary Toland were the state Chaste-Rosemary, Hopkins, Notre Dame, Rippowam, and Stamford Catholic. For the first time, MHS will sponsor a tournament at the high school, on Nov. 8. To gain more debating skill, we plan to go out-of-state to UMass, Harvard, Dartmouth, Bates (Maine), and Burlington, R. I.

If you're a sophomore, junior, senior, or a freshman, come to Room 217 on Tuesdays or Thursdays right after school to see for yourself what it's really like. — Richard Walden

Palestinians attack border positions

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Palestinian guerrillas said today they successfully attacked Israeli and rightist positions in southern Lebanon during the night. Israeli reported rockets fired from Lebanon slammed into the northern Israeli town of Kiryat Shmona in the worst such attack in years.

Carter suffers setback in natural gas dispute

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter is insisting on continued government controls over natural gas prices, despite a setback for his policy in a preliminary Senate vote.

Sens. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio; James Abourezk, D-S.D.; and John Durkin, D-N.H., Carter allies in the fight, released a new study they said showed a phaseout of controls would cost $183.5 billion through 1985.

In a joint statement they called for "full debate," another way they would force filibuster until they get some concessions on continuing controls.

The Senate worked late Thursday, quitting for the night once it became clear the leaders could not limit debate. With more than 140 amendments pending to the natural gas bill, the filibuster threat was a potent one.

Carter's chief energy ally, Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., lost 52 to 46 on an attempt Thursday to kill a proposal by Sens. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., and James Pearson, R-Kan., to remove controls from new onshore gas immediately and from offshore gas in five years.

The vote left that deregulation plan alive, a setback for Carter but not the final resolution of that question.

Carter wants controls, which now cover sales of gas across state lines, extended to sales within the state in which the gas is produced. He would put all gas under a new federal ceiling of approximately $1.75 per thousand cubic feet, compared with the current ceiling of approximately $1.45.

After the threats of filibuster Thursday, Jackson showed reporters a letter he received from Carter saying, "I do not consider acceptable any amendment that provides for natural gas prices substantially higher than the Carter plan and does not provide for regulation of intrastate natural gas prices."

Bentsen told reporters after his preliminary victory, "We have a long fight ahead on this. I think it is going to be nip and tuck." Pearson agreed: "It's no time for anybody to be cocky."

They clashed with machine guns and hand grenades and B7s (Soviet-made rocket-propelled grenade launchers), destroying a 50-caliber heavy machine gun position and causing death and injury to the enemy forces," he said.

Directors to conduct rev-share hearings

Two public hearings — one concerning a proposed change in the landfill fee schedule and the other concerning the proposed use of federal Revenue Sharing money — will be part of the Manchester Board of Directors meeting, scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 4.

The landfill fee schedule has been the subject of a recent controversy. The town erroneously had been charging owners of private cars a $1 fee. Such a charge was not included in the original fee schedule, which was approved by the board this summer.

Director Carl Zinsser asked for a review of the law, and Mayor Matthew Moriarty said that the review would be undertaken at the October meeting.

Jay Giles, director of public works, has written some amendments to the fee schedule.

He has recommended that a $1 charge for noncommercial vehicles, including pickups, campers, vans and station wagons, be continued.

Similar vehicles used for commercial or semi-commercial use will be charged $12 per year. The $12 charge will also be levied against non-residents conducting a bona fide business in Manchester, according to his recommendation.

Another change would levy a $36 charge against dump trucks, rack body trucks, stake body trucks or platform trucks owned by a resident or a non-resident using a bona fide business in Manchester. All other charges will not be changed, according to the proposal.

The hearing item on the fee schedule will be part of the board's regular meeting, which begins at 8 p.m. The board will also meet at 7:30 p.m. to hold a public hearing on the appropriation of Revenue Sharing funds.

Town Manager Robert Weiss has recommended that three divisions of the Public Works Department — Highway, Sanitation and Park — each receive $90,500. A fourth Public Works budget item, street lighting, would receive $90,616, according to the recommendation.

A sum of $65,000 in Revenue Sharing money would also be appropriated to the Fire District Special Fund and $40,000 would be appropriated to intersection improvements and traffic control equipment for Urban Systems projects.

The meeting will be held in the Municipal Building's hearing room.

Thought
"Have no anxiety. — And may the peace of God which surpasses all understanding guard your hearts and your minds in Christ Jesus." (St. Paul in Philippians, IV-6:7)

We ought to have patience with our faults, since there is nothing which encourages them more than a troubled eagerness to get rid of them.

Francis R. Idzkowski, Church of the Assumption

In Tel Aviv, the military command said a barrage of 12mm Soviet-made rockets slammed into Kiryat Shmona, about three miles from the Lebanese border, wounding two persons, including a young boy, and damaging buildings and cars.

On Wednesday, Katyusha rockets struck about 10 miles from Lebanon, slightly injuring two persons and damaging houses and automobiles.

"It was just lucky there weren't more casualties or damage," an Israeli military spokesman said.

He said today's attack was worse than even the shelling of Israeli communities during the 1973 war. "It's something extremely bad," Israeli artillery immediately pounded the suspected source of the rockets, the spokesman said, but there was no indication whether the target was hit.

The PLO spokesman said another unit attacked a position "where an infantry unit and a tank unit of the Zionist army is stationed. We were able to destroy and silence all arms at the position, inflicting death and injury. Our men returned safely to base."

The PLO official also reported heavier shelling on Palestinian and leftist positions in the south following a lull during Israel's observance of Yom Kippur, the holiest day on the Hebrew calendar.

Several families in the Eighth Utilities District which submitted claims for damages caused by sewer backups in two separate incidents will be paid.

Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Hood and Mrs. Laurie May, White St. residents who have been seeking restitution since the June 1 backup, will receive checks today from the Travelers Insurance Co., which holds the insurance for the district.

An earlier claim by the residents was rejected by the insurance company. But the recent favorable decision was made after additional information from district officials was submitted, Wallace J. Irish, the local insurance agent for the district, said today.

Irish also said claims from four families on Loomis St., based on a sewer backup last week, will also be paid by next week.

At that time, District Counsel John D. LaBelle Jr. said the information showed a history of blockages, mostly in the lateral sewer lines to the homes, and also some street blockages, for which the district is liable.

Mrs. May said she expects to receive $360 for the damages to her home caused by the sewer backup. She said she is very happy with the amount of payment.

Mrs. May also said she felt the she and the Hoods would not have received the payment and the second consideration by the insurance company if they had not pushed the district officials for it.

The Hood family had submitted a request for about $2,000 in damages, but the exact amount of their payment is not known.

Gordon Lassow, district president, said today he is appreciative of what Irish did to help obtain the payments.

Miss Ann Kibbie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Kibbie of 21 St. John St., has been awarded the Verplanck School PTA Scholarship of $200.

Miss Kibbie, a 1977 graduate of Manchester High School, is attending Boston University, where she is majoring in French.

The scholarship is awarded to former students at Verplanck School who intend to further their education on the basis of scholastic achievement and financial need.

"Until this year, the scholarship was limited to students who had not received another scholarship for $450 or more. As this requirement limited the number of applicants for the scholarship, the PTA last spring dropped that requirement so that it is now open to any former student who qualifies.

Democratic director responds to GOP

Stephen Penny, a Democratic member of the Manchester Board of Directors who is seeking re-election, has responded to a criticism that Democratic critics are "hiding issues under the rug until after the election."

The criticism was made by Ted LaBonne, who is the Republican's campaign chairman. LaBonne quoted remarks about the water situation made by Penny at a recent directors meeting.

At that meeting, Penny said, "I think this board is contributing to that fear because we keep bringing the subject up week after week after week. We have a study committee out there waiting for their report. We have an election coming up — this board is not going to be sitting, the simple answer is we are not going to do anything until November."

LaBonne said, "Palatable, safe water is essential today, tomorrow and every day, not when the Democrat board decides that it should be discussed."

Penny responded to LaBonne's criticism by saying, "The decisions that are going to be made are major ones that require proper preparation."

He said that at an earlier meeting the board asked the Water Department for a list of immediate steps that could be taken to help the water situation. The Water Department supplied such a list.

Penny said that the board approved immediate steps, including the filling of a chief filtration operator's position.

Thus, the board has taken action that could be done immediately, he said. Other action cannot be taken until proper study is completed.

He referred to the Water Study Committee, which is analyzing information on water treatment system. The board cannot take any action until the committee's report is complete.

"This is not a simple matter. It's not a decision we're going to make tomorrow unless we're prepared to make that decision tomorrow," he said.

Analyzing Your Housing Needs

Consider the needs and wants of your family. Set some priorities before you look for a place to live. This is important because the "just right" place is seldom found. It usually is necessary to make some concessions to find a home that suits your family and budget.

It is a good idea to make a list of the things that you consider important and essential in a home. This way you won't be swept off your feet by features that are eye catching but unimportant. They may have been put there for that very purpose! You may also want to list other things you would like to have but do not consider of first importance. Then if you need to make a choice you will know whether or not you want to include them as extras.

You will not only want to consider your family's needs and circumstances today, but what these will be in the years ahead. If you are thinking of buying a home, you will want to look farther ahead than if you are renting.

Know Roofer's Language

An understanding of some roofing terms is helpful. For example, roofing is measured in "squares." One square is the amount of roofing material required to cover a 100-square-foot (10'x10') area of roof surface.

The roofing contractor may also refer to the "weight" of the material. Asphalt shingle manufacturers no longer print shingle "weight" on the bundles, because normal variations in shingle manufacture could make the printed weight inaccurate. Some manufacturer catalogs, however, still mention approximate or nominal weight. Generally speaking, the heavier the shingle the longer the life expectancy. One exception: asphalt shingles with a fiber glass base mat are comparatively lighter than those with an organic base mat of equivalent life expectancy. It is suggested that the homeowner consider "design life" when comparing roofing materials; for asphalt shingle, the usual range is 15 to 25 years.

Vernon considers second I-park

By BARBARA RICHMOND
Herald Reporter

The town of Vernon is researching several sites for creation of a second town-sponsored industrial park. In view of this, Mayor Thomas Benoit has sent letters to industry and business heads and developers.

The mayor said Thursday that because of the complexities of financing and the detailed planning needed to insure success, the town doesn't expect any land will be available until 1980.

It takes some time for a firm to decide to expand and to make other decisions, he said, so he wants to make existing companies aware of the plan.

The existing Industrial Park started in 1964, is now completed. Over the past few years, however, the town has lost several industries, including Cavrok, Contromatics, U. S. Envelope, and Albi Manufacturing.

He said the town intends to help local industry in any way possible before irreversible decisions are made to close a plant or move to another town or city.

Town Planner John Loranger said there are three or four sites being considered that are primarily zoned for industry. The prime site is along Rt. 83. This runs south from Dart Hill Rd. to north of the Overbrook Heights development and to the South Windsor town line. Another is south of Feeder Rd. between Bolton and Tunnel Rds. The other is in the northwest quadrant of Exit 98 in the Mile Hill Rd. area.

Since a town-sponsored industrial park isn't likely to be available until 1980, the mayor said the town wants to induce private developers to market private industrial parcels.

He said most of these developers are experienced in construction of industrial buildings and the necessary site improvements. He noted that the expansion of I-96, now under way, will be a positive factor in increasing the desirability of industrial parcels.

He assured business people that if they have plans for expanding a facility or building a new one, that the various boards which review these proposals will act swiftly.

He cautioned that the boards are charged with protecting the overall public interest by assuring that adequate sewerage, drainage, traffic, environmental and buffering facilities are provided.

He said the town can act as a middleman to aid businessmen in obtaining equipment loans, construction financing, job training programs and other services.

He said that Mercury Electric Corp., which recently moved into the existing industrial park from New York, obtained $2.2 million in long-term, low interest financing from the state, using the town's help.

Citizens set 4 projects

By MAL BARLOW
East Hartford Reporter

The East Hartford Citizens Action Group (EHCAG) set up four project committees this week. The committees express both EHCAG's concerns and its growing pains.

First, EHCAG delegates from neighborhood groups set up a committee on crime. Members of the committee are Ernie Vigneau, Eve Hlesanu, John Lazarowski and Donna Russell.

Al Levie of Patton St. cautioned the committee members against vigilante acts.

"Vandals are also victims," he said.

The crime committee will try to keep in touch with each of the six neighborhood groups in EHCAG. They will support the efforts of each and try to avoid wasted efforts.

They will pressure people making budget decisions in the next six months. They will be seeking such things as foot patrols in Burnside Center and Hockanum Village and more surveillance.

EHCAG also set up a fair rent committee. Members are Gary LeBeau, EHCAG's newly elected treasurer, and Mrs. Kathy Falletti.

They will study setting up a local housing court, fair rent laws in town, and complaints from landlords and tenants of the thousands of apartments in East Hartford.

LeBeau said landlords "blacklist" tenants who complain.

"There is no place we can go to ask for justice," he said.

The next two committees formed express the need EHCAG members feel they will be here a long time and will spend money. The group which began to take form only this spring set up a foundation grant committee and a fund raising committee.

"I've written a few grants," said LeBeau, head teacher of the Synergy School, East Hartford's alternative high school now located in the Woodland School building.

Working with LeBeau will be Mrs. Falletti, Aldo Rovero, Roberta

Echelon and Marcella Fahey, newly elected EHCAG vice-president.

"If the mayor (Richard Blackstone) can come up with $40,000 for tennis courts in town, we ought to be able to get some money for our projects," said Tom Meila, a Burnside Center resident.

The Rev. Alphonse Labieniec proposed the group approach Pratt & Whitney Aircraft for support.

"Forget it, father," said a woman at the meeting. "You'll never get anything out of them."

"I think you may be wrong," he said. "If we present what we're going to do, what roads we'll take, the people at the aircraft may be very interested."

The fund raising committee was assigned the job of talking to aircraft leaders and running a tag sale.

A giant tag sale got the most enthusiastic response from all the people at the meeting. LeBeau and Mrs. Falletti were asked to work on it.

Jet Banking brings back the day that made borrowing simpler and faster.

LOAN DAY TWO

Until last spring, getting a loan was a dragged out routine of filling out applications and then waiting anxiously for the bank to answer.

That's why CBT introduced Loan Day. It was just what people were waiting for: a fast and simple way to apply for a loan. In a very short period, over 10,000 people used our easy Jet Banking ways to apply for loans at CBT.

So if you need a loan this fall we're making it faster and simpler again. With Loan Day Two.

It's Saturday.

Most CBT Offices will be open for loan applications on Saturday mornings. From 9AM to Noon, until November 5.

It's everyday.

If weekdays are more convenient for you, Loan Day Two also brings you a lot of ways to make applying for a loan simple, fast and easy. For example:

- It's a same day loan. Apply for your loan any weekday before noon and in most cases, we'll have an answer for you by 3 o'clock that same afternoon.
- It's a phone loan. Maybe you just can't get to the bank at all. So just pick up your phone and dial 1-800-842-2060 (toll free) weekdays 9AM-9PM, Saturdays 9AM-1PM. That'll put you in touch with someone who will be happy to take your loan application over the phone. And call you back with an answer the next business day.
- It's a take home loan. Who said loan applications have to be filled out in the bank? Loan Day Two lets you take an application home, fill it out at your leisure and mail it back to us or drop it off at the CBT branch most convenient to you.

It's hard-to-beat rates.

CBT's loan rates are competitive with most other banks. And it costs you nothing extra for the Jet Banking service you only get at CBT.

It's simple ways to repay.

With CBT's Jet Banking, paying back your loan is simple too. If you want, we'll remember to make your payments for you. If you pay in person, our Jet Deposit Box eliminates standing in line. Or, use Barney, CBT's Alltime Jet Banker, 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

We want to give you your next loan

Hornets face test Saturday

By SHEILA TULLER
Herald Correspondent

The 1976 CCL and state football champions, East Hartford High School's Hornets, will face their first test of the new season Saturday afternoon at Simsbury High School.

"To us, the season is this Saturday," said Hornet Coach Jim Dakin this week. "A taste of victory early will put things together for us."

Dakin expects Simsbury will really test his squad.

"They're a very big team," he said.

Besides having strength in numbers, they'll meet the Hornets with a new coach and a first-game win over Windsor Locks last Saturday.

The Hornets starting lineup, idle last week because of a scheduling conflict, won't have the edge of a last-week win. But they will have a few things in their favor.

Their captains, Tom Ahern, Carl Grabowski and Jim Ogle, were all starting members of last year's No. 1 team. Ahern and Grabowski also won CCL individual honors and national recognition.

Ahern and Grabowski were two of three Connecticut players who were ranked on an honorable mention high school team listed by Joe Namath Publications recently.

Ahern is slated to start at tackle. Grabowski, who caught passes last year, has nailed down the tight end position.

Ogle was Dakin's number one quarterback last year, and will direct the team again.

Jesse Santiago is slated to start at the other end. Chris Sirois will be at the Center.

Besides Ogle, the offensive backfield includes Scott Flenke, Mike Martinez, and Maurice Gibson. Dakin's defensive starters include tackles Ahern and Tom McKenzie, ends Grabowski and Brian Brown, linebackers Steve Farmer and Ken Masslow, quarterbacks Mark Fiengo and Jeff Scanlon, and safeties Scott Chadwick and Joe Scanlon.

Along with the 19 starters, three playing both ways.

Dakin mentioned Mike Christ, who played defensive end last year until he was sidelined by an injury.

Vandals hit six times

The vandalism report of Police Chief Clarence Drumm to Mayor Richard Blackstone for Sept. 1 to 6 lists six incidents.

On Sept. 1, a park department worker reported a seesaw broken in half and a picnic table seat broken at Martin Park. The water fountain was dismantled which caused flooding to the area around it. A railing on a staircase was broken. Total cost of repairs and replacement was set at $375. Police have no suspects.

On Sept. 2, the soccer goal post was found pulled out of the ground and a water fountain head was removed, causing some flooding at Labor Field. Damage was set at $25.

On Sept. 3, police found someone had broken into a storage box outside the Anne Norris School at 3:39 a.m. The games and craft supplies were all destroyed. No cost estimate was available.

The same day at Shea Park, someone broke the water fountain and stole the head.

On Sept. 6 at McAuliffe Park, someone drove a vehicle through four bushes of a hedge by the parking lot. Cost was set at $40.

The same day at Labor Field, the goal post was found broken again. Damage was set at $36.

Police said they have no suspects for any of the vandal attacks.

The town library reported someone broke into the Hockanum Library Sept. 9 and stole about $5

Few hear of bike safety

The East Hartford Police Department and members of the state Safety Commission held a seminar on bike safety Wednesday night.

- Bicyclists can't carry anything that prevents their using both hands pedestrians and other bikes.

- Bicyclists can't carry anything that prevents their using both hands

- No bike can have a siren or whistle.
- The 10-mile-an-hour speed limit is lifted.
- Bicyclists riding two abreast must keep within one lane of traffic.
- The bike's brakes must stop it within 25 feet on clear, dry, level pavement at 10 m.p.h.

Silver Lane traffic moves slowly

Officer Albert J. Kerling directs traffic past a construction site hole on Silver Lane in front of Oak St. Thursday afternoon. Lt. Richard Lewis said traffic Wednesday during rush hour was bottled up badly at the site. Commander Joseph Leone, Lewis, and Officer Walt Kehoe worked with the Addison Construction Co. and the Metropolitan District Commission to change traffic flows at the site. It worked better Thursday night, Lewis said. But they still request motorists take other routes. Workmen will be at the site putting in new sewers for the next two months, he said. ### Who owns Perelandra?

The Perelandra, a yacht more than 100 feet long now stuck in mud of the Connecticut River off the shore of East Hartford, may not be owned by Thomas Shakir of Main St.

Joseph Trantino, deputy commissioner of waterways for the state Department of Transportation, said he was not seen proof Shakir owns it. Nor has Shakir taken out a permit to refurbish the rotting hull.

Shakir says he now has a buyer in East Hampton at $5,000. But he must refloat the yacht and take it down river to the buyer.
