Ostrinsky has kept abreast of standards and procedures for packaging and presenting to various mills a product for recycling that has continually met the demand for other than natural resources. Goldwater doubts vote will be taken on canal

Military leaders divided

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Russians or the Cubans — or both — will become entrenched in Panama if the canal treaties are ratified, Adm. Thomas Moorer warned today.

"Do not be surprised," he said, "if this treaty is ratified in its present form, to see a Soviet and/or Cuban presence quickly established in the country of Panama."

Moorer, a retired former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, testified against the canal treaties as the Senate Foreign Relations Committee opened a week of hearings into the controversial plan to buy the canal over Panama by the year 2000.

But retired Gen. Maxwell Taylor, also a former JCS chairman, supported the treaties.

"It is my opinion that both from a national and hemispheric point of view, the treaties under consideration contain provisions of definite advantage," he told the senators.

At the outset, chairman John Sparkman said he was not inclined to offer a proposal by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, that the entire committee go to Panama to take testimony.

"If the committee thinks it advisable, we can go," the Alabama Democrat said, but added: "I don't think these could be considered official hearings."

However, Republican Sens. Howard Baker of Tennessee and Charles Percy of Illinois backed Church's proposal.

"I was taken with Senator Church's suggestion," Baker said. "I think members of the committee should hear first-hand from the Panamanians down there," Percy added. "I certainly support that."

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said today that he did not think the Senate would vote on the treaties.

"I don't think they're even going to

Nobel peace prizes given

OSLO, Norway (UPI) — The Norwegian Nobel Committee announced two Nobel peace prizes today — one to Amnesty International, the independent organization that campaigns worldwide for civil rights, and the other to two Northern Ireland women waging a drive for peace in that violence-torn province.

The 1977 peace prize was given to Amnesty International for its struggle against mounting violence, terrorism and torture throughout the world.

The 1977 peace prize was given to two Belfast women who have passed since the declaration of human rights was agreed on in the United Nations, positive forces in many countries have struggled to fulfill its ideals. But the world has also witnessed increased brutality and internationalization of violence, terrorism and torture.

"In this situation, Amnesty International has used its forces to protect the value of human life. Amnesty International has given practical humanitarian and impartial support to people who have been imprisoned because of their race, religion, or political views."

The citation for the women said: "The peace movement they initiated has at a goal to end the use of violence which has marked the tragic split in Northern Ireland, and which has claimed so many innocent lives. Their initiative paved the way for the strong resistance against violence and misuse of power which was present in broad circles of the people."

Alfred Nobel's wish was that the peace prize should be given to those who most actively worked for peace and brotherhood. Mairead Corrigan and Betty Williams acted from a deep conviction that the individual person can make a meaningful contribution for peace through constructive conciliation work.

Soyuz 25 flight aborted

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soyuz 25 space flight was aborted today and its two cosmonauts ordered to return to earth barely 24 hours into their mission because of unspecified problems during an attempted landing with an orbiting space station.

Soyuz 25 had been launched only a day before, lifting off before dawn Sunday bound for a mission many Western observers believed was intended as a space spectacular to mark the 20th anniversary of the launching of Sputnik 1 and the Nov. 7 celebrations of the 60th anniversary of the Russian Revolution.

Moscow radio said that at 7:09 a.m. (12:09 a.m. EDT) today Soyuz 25 cosmonauts Vladimir Kovalenok and Valery Rymyn had begun automatic docking maneuvers to link up with the new Salyut 6 space station, put into orbit on Sept. 29.

As the Soyuz reached to within 120 yards of the space station unspecified problems arose and the docking was canceled and the mission aborted.

"Because of some deviations from planned docking regime the link-up operation was cancelled," Tass news agency said. "The crew began preparing for a return to earth."

The mission was crewed by a pair of space rookies. Lt. Col. Kovalenok, 35, the commander, is a Soviet Air Force transport pilot and a paratrooper who began cosmonaut training in 1967.

Rymyn, 38, the flight engineer, had previously landed on designing and testing new space equipment and only entered cosmonaut training in 1973.

Western observers believed that the Soyuz 25 mission was intended as a spectacular to mark the two anniversaries this month and next.

They had expected the Soyuz 25 cosmonauts to either attempt to break the Soviet manned flight endurance record of 63 days in space — or participate in the linkup of two or more Salyut stations to make a giant space laboratory.

Following Sunday's Soyuz 25 launching — which was shown on national television several times during the day — Tass said the cosmonauts were taking a rest while the capsule was out of Soviet radio reach between 2 p.m. (7 a.m. EDT) and 4 p.m. (4 p.m. EDT) Sunday.

This was followed by nearly 24 hours of official silence on the mission until Moscow Radio reported on the trouble that developed at the end of its noon (5 a.m. EDT) news.

Moscow radio said the two cosmonauts had resumed work at 11:30 p.m. (4:30 p.m. EDT) Sunday night and carried out a number of assigned tasks including the failures at the docking attempt.

Moscow radio said that the new Salyut 6 space station was continuing its flight.

Carter may request $22 billion tax cut

THURMONT, Md. (UPI) — President Carter's tax package, now being readied for submission to Congress "most likely" will include $22 billion in tax cuts for individuals and businesses, according to an administration source.

Carter spent the Columbus Day weekend at Camp David, relaxing and working on his tax proposals. He was expected to return to the White House late this morning.

The administration source said the tax reduction was expected to be $15 billion for the public and $7 billion for business.

"It's impossible to know for certain what all the specifics will be at this point," the source said. "But the overall net tax reductions most likely will be around $22 billion."

It was the highest tax cut figure yet mentioned in the continuing debate over what should go into the tax reform package which Carter promised while running for the presidency.

Carter has said his proposals will include substantial reductions for taxpayers and Treasury Secretary Michael Blumenthal said Friday chances of a tax cut next year are more possible now than they were a few months ago.

But Blumenthal also has said a tax cut would be the "sweetener" in a tax package likely to reduce benefits enjoyed by many middle class taxpayers.

Columbus still gets credit despite claims of others

By KENNETH R. CLARK
United Press International

Not everybody believes Christopher Columbus discovered the New World.

As far as the Irish are concerned, it was one St. Brendan the Navigator who discovered it sometime between A.D. 484 and 587.

A Welshman will tell you a certain Prince Madoc did the job around A.D. 800, and, of course, every Norwegian knows it really was Leif Erickson who sailed the ocean blue — about 500 years before fourteen-hundred and ninety-two.

But the voices of such ethnic claimants will be drowned out today in a flood of parades, speeches and testimonials, all honoring the Italian sailor generally credited as the first to make the trans-Atlantic trip.

New York City's Hispanic community got off to an early start Sunday, marching down Fifth Avenue through a driving rain with 25 floats, 28 bands and costumed representatives of 22 Spanish-speaking nations.

The storm dumped about 2 inches of rain on the city as the United Hispanic American Parade Committee celebrated Spain's sponsorship of Columbus' voyage 485 years ago.

A second parade in the Borough of the Bronx splashed through the rain with more than 50 floats and bands under sponsorship of the Columbus Ecce Alliance and the Morris Park Community Association.

The city's official Columbus Day parade — a five-hour affair covering 40 blocks along Fifth Avenue — is scheduled for today and will feature a mayoral election pending next month, a flock of candidates will be among the thousands of marchers.

Rep. Cotter pledges effort on behalf of mini-buses

U.S. Rep. William Cotter (D-District 1) has told local and regional officials that he will do everything he can to expedite a Hartford Transit District grant, which includes application for two mini-buses for Manchester and other transportation equipment for several area towns.

Cotter met with the local representatives Friday to assess the situation on the specially-equipped buses for elderly and the handicapped. The meeting was prompted by questions which arose this week at a meeting of the American Association of Retired Persons, according to Alan Mason, director of human services for Manchester.

Thomas Ruby, program coordinator and the Greater Hartford Transit District, said that the audits of all the towns involved in the grant were completed Friday, making the grants ready for action by the Urban Mass Transit Administration (UMTA). Ruby said he will meet with UMTA officials in Washington, D.C. early this week.

Cotter also asked that Ruby report the situation to him after his meeting with UMTA.

The Greater Hartford Transit District is applying for about $250,000 in operational grants and $300,000 in capital equipment grants for towns in the capital region.

Included in the grants is Manchester's application for two mini-buses, at a cost of $22,000 each. The special vehicles will have a capacity for 16 passengers and include side-door lifts for wheelchair.

Manchester sent in its application for the grant last March and the Board of Directors approved the purchase in June.

Ruby said any delay in the grant has not been caused on the local level. He said it has been because of limited staff in the Washington office, the necessity for on-site completion in the area and the completion of the local audits.

Ruby said he had originally hoped the mini-buses would be available for use by the end of this year, but the delays will now make it after the first of the year.

Federal officials have told Ruby they will try to make a final decision on the grant by the end of this month. Another 45 days will be needed for bidding. When the buses are received will depend on who is awarded the bids, Ruby said.

The town, through the Transit District, and the federal government will share the costs of the buses on an equal basis, he said.

Other equipment included in the grants for East Hartford, a bus without a lift for Vernon, and radio equipment for South Windsor.

GOP candidates give positions on landfill fees

Two Manchester Republicans have issued statements on the controversy surrounding fees for use of the town's sanitary landfill.

Paul E. Willhite, a town director and GOP candidate for the Board of Education, said the Democratically passed fee schedule amounts to double taxation.

Peter DiRosa, Republican candidate for the Board of Directors, has supported the most recent landfill provisions released by Democratic Mayor Matthew Moriarty.

DiRosa said, "People of Manchester have every right to expect simple services to be provided such as free access to the town dump."

"It's too bad so much time had to be wasted in debate and so many Manchester residents are already inconvenienced before an acceptable solution could be found," he said.

DiRosa said that as long as the steeper system for years with few problems, I feel that the problem is that the obvious solution is sometimes not the acceptable solution.

"Instead of a plan to penalize outsiders for illegally using our landfill, the Democrats have chosen to charge the very people who are already

Congress running late and behind

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress is running pretty much like the old-time railroads—late and behind schedule.

No one is certain when the first session of the 95th Congress will close up shop. Its leaders originally had hoped to be gone by now, but the most optimistic current predictions are for a Nov. 1 adjournment and there is talk of the session running to Thanksgiving or even later.

The key is final disposition of President Carter's omnibus energy program and how fast Congress can reach that point — if ever — is anybody's guess.

There are at least two other potential roadblocks: A continuing Senate-House dispute over the use of federal funds for abortions, which is blocking $60 million in appropriations for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the Labor Department.

Town slates flushing of North End lines

The Town of Manchester Water Department will be flushing lines this week in the North End.

If sediment does get into a home's hot water tank, the homeowner should wait until the water clears and then open the faucet at the bottom of the tank to drain the collected material, which will settle at the bottom.

Also, if a load of wash is done during the period of discolored water, the load should be done again after the water clears and four ounces of cream of tartar should be added to help clean any discoloration of the clothing.

Lance knows nothing about federal deposit

CALHOUN, Ga. (UPI) — Bert Lance says he knows "nothing in the world" about $1 million in federal savings deposits reportedly placed in the National Bank of Georgia while he served as budget director and NBG officials say such deposits would not have been unusual.

The Long Island, N.Y., newspaper Newsday reported that on March 31 the Atlanta bank — once headed by Lance — held $1.3 million in such deposits while Georgia's 83 other national banks had a combined total of only $39,000.

"I know nothing in the world about it," Lance said Sunday as he walked through the period of discolored water, the load should be done again after the water clears and four ounces of cream of tartar should be added to help clean any discoloration of the clothing.

But a Treasury Department spokesman said Sunday Newsday might have been "comparing apples and oranges."

And the clerk for the U.S. District Court for Georgia's Northern District, whose funds apparently were the ones Newsday cited, said there is a difference between funds placed in savings accounts and the total amount of federal bankruptcy money placed in the bank.

Lance, whose 200,000 shares of NBG stock were placed in a blind trust while he was in office, said the first he had heard of the report was when a newsmagazine told him the story.

"I haven't the slightest idea of what they're talking about at all," he said.

"I have no knowledge of it at all. I'd make sure those facts are correct if I were you," he said.

Rain-slicked roads linked to weekend fatal accidents

United Press International Police say rain-slicked roads contributed to weekend deaths of four men and one woman in Connecticut traffic accidents, and a West Hartford, Conn., man was reported drowned in an apparent mishap on Cape Cod.

The body of Michael F. Carr, 22, of West Hartford, was recovered early Saturday from the water near Fisherman's Wharf marina in Provincetown, Mass.

A medical examiner pronounced Carr dead at the scene and scheduled an autopsy. Provincetown police said it appeared Carr accidentally fell into the water from the wharf. In Connecticut, police said 37-year-old David Smallwood was killed early Sunday when his car struck a tree on Stratford Street in Bridgeport.

In Niantic, Richard M. Mitchell, 58, of Waterford, was killed in a one-car crash about 11:30 a.m. Sunday, according to state police.

Police said Mitchell's car left the southbound lane of Route 1 and smashed into two utility poles.

MACC news

By Nancy Carr executive director
The Evening of the Performing Arts. Please save Saturday, Oct. 22, for the Evening of the Performing Arts, our annual and only fund raising effort to support the core budget of the conference of churches.

As you may know, each year local artists and talented performing groups put their talents into this evening and, with your generous cooperation, raise almost one-third of our operating budget.

Gather a group and come enjoy a delightful evening and support the work of the conference. Club rate (10 or more people) is only $1.50 per person.

Good Samaritan. We've goofed. Due to an error in communication, we thought a free bus was available and made arrangements to bring 40 patients from the Meadows Convalescent Home to enjoy the Evening of the Performing Arts with us (free, of course). Wally Fortin has bailed us out by making the Senior UNICEF appeal. Bus available but we need $33.92 to pay the driver.

The House has passed one version containing all five major parts of Carter's program. It's not identical, but fairly close to what the administration wants.

The Senate instead approved four separate bills with a fifth — energy taxes — still to be acted on. The Senate Finance Committee hopes to vote on the tax bill by Friday, but it could take longer.

Meanwhile the Senate and House can act on other legislation. The House, which is taking Columbus Day off today, comes back Tuesday to consider a bill to charge barge operators for operating on inland waterways to help pay for construction projects.

The House also plans to act on a $6.8 billion supplemental appropriation with an effort scheduled to kill $1.3 billion a House committee voted not to.

The first reorganization which wipes out some independent agencies and cuts the White House staff by 25 per cent, also is on the docket.

The Senate schedule is in a state of more uncertainty. But legal services legislation and a bill to cut down on child pornography are scheduled.

Let's keep politics in perspective

The Manchester Board of Directors deserves a pat on the back for its meeting last Tuesday night.

In contrast to the board's two September meetings, little time was spent on political speech-making at Tuesday's session.

The meeting was lengthy one, but much of the three hours was devoted to comments from the public. Meetings of the local government's ruling body should be spent in this fashion rather than on political commentary by its individual members.

Obviously, politics is an integral part of the running of Manchester or any other town. And, of course, politics is going to be at least a background issue in most of the board's discussions.

But, when the governing body sits down at its twice-monthly sessions to decide the future of Manchester, the decisions at hand, and not November's election, should be the primary objective.

During both its September meetings, some board members seem to stray from this objective. Speeches by individual members ruled the night at both meetings.

The board is to be commended for its first effort this month. Discussions were shorter and to the point, and the decisions at hand seemed to be the main concern.

Action connected with the Nov. 8 election is noticeable throughout town. The first formal "meet the candidates" session was held Wednesday and attracted most of the candidates for the Board of Directors as well as both parties' candidates for town treasurer and town clerk.

Bumper stickers are increasing in number and the campaign signs have popped up again.

The headquarters for both the Democrats and Republicans are the centers for envelope stuffers and telephone callers.

The Democratic center is located on Olcott St. across from the Marilyn Apartments. The building is usually open from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., according to Paul Phillips.

The decorations are not elaborate — some red, white and blue streamers and large signs listing the candidates they say, "Democratic Team...They Get Things Done."

"Everybody's working like a son-of-a-gun. Every night, there's a crew down here working," Phillips said. The headquarters phone number is 646-4375.

The GOP center is at 824 Main St. Its hours generally are about 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. as well as evening hours on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Bumper stickers of the party's candidates decorate the walls. There is also a hand-drawn-to-election calendar listing the number of days to election in large black numbers and the actual date in smaller print.

"We've had good workers and a good response. They're organized and ready to go," Elsie "Bizz" Swenson said at the headquarters.

The party is holding weekly sessions Tuesday morning with candidates to discuss the campaign. A supply of breakfast cereals is kept on hand for those people who have to rush out to work after the early morning session.

The phone number for GOP headquarters is 646-7472.

Call the President confused, Senator

WASHINGTON — As one member of the rabble, I am not buying the natural gas industry's argument that only the removal of price controls can produce more gas. I have in my hot little hand some

Money, politics ground

By Martha Anger and Robert Walters

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Money may be the mother's milk of politics, but too much of a good thing can sour even the cast-iron stomachs on Capitol Hill.

That is why the so-called "cargo preference" bill long sought by the maritime industry and unions has run around this year on Capitol Hill.

"Playing the game by yesterday's rules, the maritime interests poured over $1 million into 1976 congressional and presidential campaigns and then spent another $1 million on lobbying and advertising in an effort to insure a favorable climate for their pet legislation."

All they succeeded in doing, however, was embarrassing the recipients of their largesse and scaring off potential supporters.

"There's just too much of a smell attached to this legislation," said figures. They say that the ceiling price on interstate gas has risen from 28 cents per thousand cubic feet (MCF) in 1972 to $1.46, and yet reserves have decreased by 19 per cent and gas production has declined by 12 per cent.

That informs this amateur's mind that forcing more money on the natural gas industry has already failed. If a seven-fold increase in prices in five years didn't do the job, what do the ruling lords of the industry want?

10 per cent a year

An answer has been provided by the Senate vote to decontrol gas prices. By 50 to 46, the so-called people's representatives adopted a plan sponsored by Sens. James Pearson, R-Kan., and Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., which initially would set ceiling prices from $2.00 per MCF for offshore gas and $2.48 for onshore gas. Those prices would be allowed to rise roughly 10 per cent a year starting two years from now.

The cost to the country's working stiffs eventually would be another $10 billion a year. That could be embarrassing to the natural gas industry. Its financially well-padded bosses might have to conceal their profits to avoid being ridden out of town on a rail.

Senator Don Giegle, D-Mich., called deregulation, "one of the greatest unarmed robberies of all time." Not quite unarmed, sir. The industry has the power to punish by withholding campaign help to senators who misbehave.

Cost goes up
But I have no quibble with Sen. Dale Bumpers, D-Ark., who called the vote for deregulation "an outrage, a breach of faith with people who are trying to keep body and soul together." Both my body and soul have suffered while the average monthly cost of heating my hotel with gas rose from $46 to $102 in the past five years.

Meanwhile, I'm blessed if I can understand Jimmy Carter. That singular man had proposed keeping controls but raising the gas ceiling from $1.46 per MCF to $1.75, and regulating both interstate and intrastate gas at the same level. Yet he successfully did his best to assure passage of the Pearson-Bentsen formula.

Incredible? Nope. When the pro-control filibuster over the bill threatened to go on forever, darned if Carter didn't send Vice President Mondale to Capitol Hill with orders to bust the talkathon.

Teacher's pet
Like a good little teacher's pet, Mondale invoked his constitutional privilege of presiding over the Senate. When he took the chair, he had before him a sheaf of papers prepared by Majority Leader Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., telling him in simple language what rulings were expected of him.

Mondale was to recognize only Byrd as he called up the filibuster amendments one by one for the Vice President to rule out of order. Mondale did so. He also, as per teacher's orders, refused to recognize senators seeking to appeal the rulings.

Majority against, but...
Although a whopping 43-man majority of Carter's own party voted against deregulation, the measure was passed by the votes of 54 Republicans and 16 Democrats.

Senator James Abourezk, D-S.D., one of the filibuster's leaders, took note of Carter's presumed support of continued price controls and then called Carter "a liar" for shipping Mondale up to the Hill to do the deregulation crowd's dirty work for them. Well now, liar is an epithet that should be used sparingly. Call the President confused, Senator, and I'll take it to the bank with you.

maritime bill

Rep. Andy Jacobs, D-Ind., who led a sizable crop of House Democrats across the partisan divide to join Republicans fighting the cargo preference bill.

"It's the crassest thing doing," Jacobs said.

President Carter has taken a drubbing from the Republican party for agreeing to support the bill, which would require 65 per cent of all oil imported into this country to be carried on American ships.

Paying a debt?
The GOP has accused the President of pledging his support to the bill against the advice of nearly all his cabinet members and economic advisers — solely to repay the maritime interests for their campaign donations last year, contributions which totaled at least $150,000.

The existence of those donations, coupled with internal administration memos citing the political considerations involved in cargo preference, totally obscured the President's arguments on the merits of the legislation.

In fact, the real issues involved in the bill have been all but lost in the furor surrounding the maritime industry's campaign and lobbying activities.

Last year's worse
This year's bill, as it happens, is nowhere near as gross as an earlier version which sailed through Congress in 1974 only to be vetoed at the end of the session by President Ford. That measure would have required 30 per cent of imported oil to be carried on American bottoms — a goal even the industry admitted could not be reached, given the sad state of shipbuilding in this country.

If this nation is to retain a viable merchant marine, some type of cargo preference law will probably be necessary. Massive government subsidies have failed to halt the decline of America's shipping industry and concomitant loss of jobs.

Expensive
But guaranteeing that cargo will be available if more U.S. ships are built is an expensive proposition. And neither the industry nor its opponents seem able or willing to agree upon the size of the tab.

It is worth $115 million a year in taxpayers' money to keep the merchant marine afloat? That's the administration estimate of the cost of the current bill. It is worth the $300 million General Accounting Office estimates? Or the $1.2 billion the oil companies claim it would cost?

Ration ability need
Who knows? And how on earth can anybody assess the costs and benefits in a rational manner when the halls of Congress — and the White House itself — are awash in campaign funds from those seeking cargo preference in legislation?

Maritime lobbyists grouse about the "neo-Cromwellian" attitude on Capitol Hill, the "holier-than-thou" spirit displayed by congressmen elected in the past couple of years. They are missing the point. It is their own banded approach, their own failure to adjust to new political rules, which has cost them so dearly. No matter how strong a case they might be able to make on behalf of cargo preference, precious few members of Congress can afford to listen.

Some complaints

Children of single parents are less prone to like children in their classes, school principals or going to church or synagogue. They are more likely to complain that their parents don't buy them what they see advertised and don't spend enough time with them.

However else they differ, America's children share very similar ideas of what they want to be when they grow up. Entertainers, stars, athletes, doctors, lawyers, teachers, firemen and policemen head the list. Ranking very low are scientists, aviators and the clergy.

Only 23 per cent of girls say they want to be mothers. And Jimmy Carter need not feel threatened by the survey: Only 2 per cent of the children aspire to be President of the United States.

Reflections

Hal Turkington
Managing Editor

President Bill Johnson of the Chamber of Commerce, in his Opinion piece Saturday, asked the community to help the chamber develop a meaningful program of work for a short- and long-term period.

He said that chamber members were asking community organizations to help single out pressing problems and to select a list of projects.

"We request your individual input into our projects," he said.

This is not the first time the chamber has sought comment from the community on its projects and goals.

In its Forward Movement program of 1955, the chamber conducted other surveys. It asked a series of questions for high school students about their future plans for education, living in town, seeking employment in town, etc.

That program was conducted for about a month, and a later study said the chamber felt Forward Movement was a success. It helped develop a program in 1955.

Bill Johnson hopes public input will be just as successful in 1977.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Exercise affects fat levels

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have been unable to find the proper value for triglycerides anywhere. What is the normal amount?

DEAR READER — It depends upon the method and the state of the patient when studied. In general if the patient is in the fasting state — not having eaten for at least 12 hours — the level should be below 150 milligrams in 100 milliliters of blood.

Remember that triglycerides are simply fats. The amount of fat in the blood varies greatly with what you have eaten recently. Fat is slowly absorbed and slowly cleared from the blood stream compared to sugar. It is much more affected by a recent meal than your cholesterol level. One reason you are having trouble finding normal values is because of its variability.

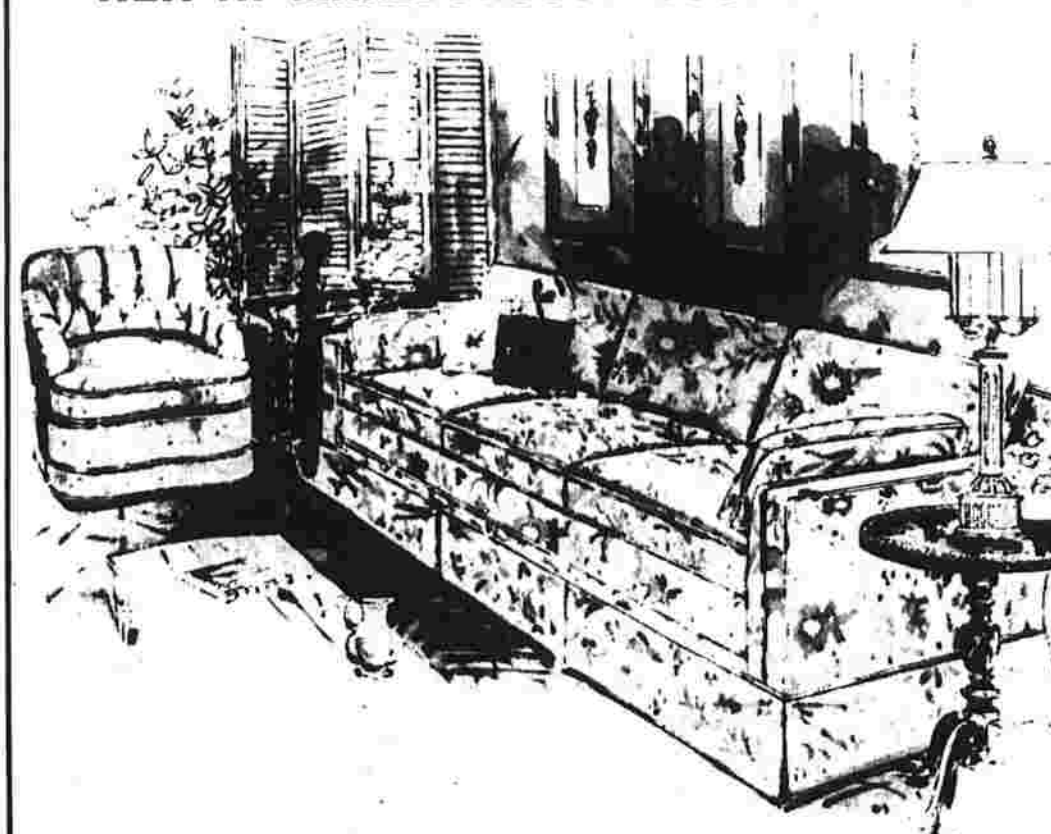

The triglyceride level will also fall if you exercise vigorously. The amount of exercise in the preceding 48 hours may affect your triglyceride level.

The triglyceride level alone has not been found to be as useful as the cholesterol level in predicting the risk of heart attack. When the size of the particles formed by the triglyceride-cholesterol combination is considered, the risk calculation for people over 50 can be improved. In that age group the amounts of particles of different sizes become more important than the cholesterol level alone. Those who want more information about triglycerides can send for The Health Letter number 12, Cholesterol, Triglycerides, Blood Fats, Atherosclerosis. Send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of The Manchester Evening Herald, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Wind storm causes damage, outages

Rain accompanied by high gusts of wind came to the Manchester area this past weekend, but its threats were worse than its results. No major damage or power outages were reported. But a tree on Main St. near Center Park was uprooted Sunday morning, and a large front window at So-Pro Fabrics at Burr Street was blown out. The window was replaced by this morning.
 There were 10 electric power outages reported, Franklin Delaney, area representative of the Hartford Electric Co., said. There were four outages on Branford St., two on Love Lane and four on Hartford Rd. The power failures were caused by branches blown against the wires, Delaney said. Power was restored in all cases in less than two hours, Delaney said.
 The town highway department reported there were no emergency flooding calls. A spokesman said that the department takes preventive measures and inspects the sewer drains regularly to ensure that they are not clogged and are able to handle any excess drainage caused by storms.
 There were more service calls than usual, a spokesman for the Southern New England Telephone Co. said, but nothing unusual. There were some cable problems.

Budget shortfall spurs call for freeze on new hiring

Manchester Board of Directors by Controller Thomas Moore has projected a $668,823 shortfall in the present budget, and Republican candidates have issued statements about the present money situation.
 Carl Zinsner, a Republican member of the board who is seeking re-election, has sent a letter to Town Manager Robert Weiss and asked that there be an immediate freeze on hiring, including the filling of vacancies.
 He has also requested a stop to all reclassifications, including three on Tuesday's agenda, and has asked for a department-by-department review of the budget.
 Moore's report to the directors, which was requested by Zinsner, said that most of the projected shortfall would be in estimated revenues.
 Collection of current on taxes is projected to fall $233,000 below estimates, and collection of prior-year taxes is projected to fall $75,000 to $100,000 below estimates.
 Revenues from education grants and tuition payments are expected to be $161,000 less than the budget figure, according to Moore's report.
 Revenues that might be overestimated include the collection of landfill fees. This item had been budgeted as a $20,000 revenue, but

Federal grant use clarified

Manchester's allotment was part of a $18.8 million commitment made by the Environmental Protection Agency to Connecticut for water treatment projects.
 Manchester was one of several towns in the state to receive federal funds for municipal water treatment construction projects.
 A question on this November's ballot will ask voters to approve the borrowing of money for the Baldwin-Concord Rd. project in anticipation of state or federal funds without the voters' approval. If the referendum question is approved, the town would borrow money for the project and then have it reimbursed through the $1.3 million federal grant.

Fourth-period scores give East upset win

By SUE FREIHEIT
Correspondent
East Catholic overcame a 13-point Northwest Catholic lead with a furious fourth quarter passing attack to upset the Indians, 14-13, at Mt. Nebo Saturday afternoon. It was East's first win of the season.

Northwest's bid for victory fell short as the penalty-plagued West Hartford team, which was hit for 10 yards in flags, had a last second touchdown pass nullified by an illegal procedure penalty.

The victory was costly, however, as running back Ken Brasa suffered a broken left arm and will be lost for at least four weeks.

The heroes were many for the Eagles but none more so than cool sophomore quarterback Tony Pachasa, who in his first varsity start teamed with sophomore Mike Freiheit and junior Dave Blake for 11 completions in 26 passing attempts for 154 yards. Freiheit hauled in eight for 128 yards and one touchdown.

Pachasa threw one touchdown pass, a 25-yard strike to Freiheit, and set up his 2-yard touchdown run with aerials to Blake and Freiheit. The winning extra points came on a pass to Co-Captain Jim Dakin as Pachasa scrambled under extreme pressure and tossed a perfect strike over Northwest defender Mike Brizal into the deep right corner of the end zone.

Northwest opened the scoring in the second quarter as East mis-handled a punt and started from its own 8-yard line. Pachasa sprinted out to his left, and after being hit from behind fumbled into the end zone. An alert defender, tackle Kevin

Hall blanks Tribe

It wasn't close, in fact it was ridiculously easy. It was like trying to defend against a Sherman tank with a popgun.

Hall High, experienced and deep in talent, did what it wanted when it wanted in crushing homecoming Manchester, 42-0, in high school football action Saturday at Memorial Field.

A crowd of 661, about two-thirds paid, saw the Silk Towners fall to their third straight CCIL loss. Hall advanced to 3-0 in the league to stay in a three-way tie for the top with Windham and East Hartford and its 4-0 overall record.

Ed Roberts, 6-2, 180-pound senior tailback and co-captain, led the Hall onslaught with five touchdown runs, four before intermission as the visitors built a 35-0 lead. He had 120 yards rushing on 18 carries tallying on scoops of seven, three, 27, one and 14 yards. Backup halfback Dan Barwald had 78 yards on the ground on nine tocs.

Manchester on the other hand could not get out of its own half. The Indians committed eight turnovers, coughing up the ball five times on fumbles and another three on interceptions. They also had another punt blocked with Craig Kearney hitting his own man in the back with the boot.

The three skyjacks and the mangled punt led to four short distance Warrior scoring drives. Hall's other score was by quarterback Mike Morris on a 23-yard option keeper through a gaping hole on the left side.

"We got beat up front both offensively and defensively," a heaht Tribe Coach Jack Holik offered Sunday, not wanting to say too much before viewing the films, "we got pummeled. It can't be the assignments because they're about five to Freiheit around an offside in the deep right corner of the end zone for the two points that put East on top 14-13.

The excitement was not over however as Northwest drove 75 yards in seven plays and had a 22-yard touchdown pass nullified by a procedure penalty on the final play.

A jubilant LaFontana exclaimed, "Winning a game after going 0-3 is like winning a championship. I'm proud of the team. Maybe today we came of age."

East, 1-0 in the HCC and 1-3 overall, travels to Dillon Stadium Friday night to take an arch-rival Sacred Catholic, a 22-21 victor over Avon last Friday.

Fred Cecchini ran 10 yards on a draw play to set up Pachasa's 25-yard TD aerial to Freiheit, whose post-flag pattern beat his defender. Dakin's extra point attempt was wide but the momentum had changed.

East attempted an on-sides kick but Northwest recovered. Monster back Brian Shea then recovered a Mike Rogers fumble and East was within sight on the Northwest 48.

Five touchdown blitz sees Colts top Miami

NEW YORK (UPI) — Officially, it was listed as John Unitas Day in Baltimore, but as far as the Miami Dolphins were concerned it turned out to be Bert Jones Day.

Unitas, the former star quarterback for the Colts, had his famous No. 19 jersey retired at halftime ceremonies. And, almost as if inspired by the festivities, Jones — the current Colts passing sensation — threw for four scores, and led a five-touchdown blitz that rallied Baltimore to a 45-20 victory over Miami.

The triumph gave Baltimore sole possession of first place in the AFC East with a 4-0 record.

Backfield mate Dan Barwald had 78 yards on the ground on nine tocs.

Manchester on the other hand could not get out of its own half. The Indians committed eight turnovers, coughing up the ball five times on fumbles and another three on interceptions.

Familiar scene in grid clash

Seven times Manchester High players had to run kickoffs back against Hall, once to start the second half and six times after receiving kickoff in CCIL game. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Manchester on the other hand could not get out of its own half. The Indians committed eight turnovers, coughing up the ball five times on fumbles and another three on interceptions. They also had another punt blocked with Craig Kearney hitting his own man in the back with the boot.

The three skyjacks and the mangled punt led to four short distance Warrior scoring drives. Hall's other score was by quarterback Mike Morris on a 23-yard option keeper through a gaping hole on the left side.

It can't be the assignments because they're about five to Freiheit around an offside in the deep right corner of the end zone for the two points that put East on top 14-13.

The excitement was not over however as Northwest drove 75 yards in seven plays and had a 22-yard touchdown pass nullified by a procedure penalty on the final play.

A jubilant LaFontana exclaimed, "Winning a game after going 0-3 is like winning a championship. I'm proud of the team. Maybe today we came of age."

East, 1-0 in the HCC and 1-3 overall, travels to Dillon Stadium Friday night to take an arch-rival Sacred Catholic, a 22-21 victor over Avon last Friday.

Patriots, Chargers gain wins

Two shutouts were recorded in Manchester. Midget Football League play last Friday night at Mt. Nebo. The Patriots 19-0, in the opener while in the nightcap the Chargers whitewashed the Giants, 16-0.

Attmore, Tim Wright, Jim Kibe, Oliver Reed and Comollo were standouts for the Patriots while Gustafson, Ted Lingard, Ron Escobedo, Rudy Patis and Jim Hare played well for the Jets.

The Chargers, 3-0, added the final tally in the third period on a 16-yard pass play from Jim Fogarty to Wayne Chasse. The pair combined for the conversion.

Belleville, Lee, Kenyon, Kevin Hrophy, Tim and Jim Fogarty and Adam Matrick were Charger standouts while Frank Maradino, Doug Spyrber, Bruce Baltovick and Mike Keeley starred for the Giants.

Hornets win 17th straight

By SHEILA TULLER Herald Correspondent

East Hartford High School, now 3-0 this season, won its 17th straight football game Saturday, defeating Wethersfield 34-14.

The Hornets were off and running early when Mike Martinez intercepted a Wethersfield pass four minutes into the game. On the next play, Martinez gained seven yards for the Hornets, starting a scoring drive.

Sophomore Scott Chadwick and Scott Fienke kept the ball moving to gain another first down. Two plays later, Chadwick, running through the middle of the Wethersfield line, scored with 6:20 showing on the clock.

Mike Christ's kick, straight and through the uprights, was good, putting the Hornets ahead, 7-0.

Late in the first quarter, Martinez got a drive going again when he downed a Wethersfield punt on the 34 yard line. Quarterback Jim Ogle connected with Maurice Gibson for the Hornets' second touchdown.

Chadwick's run was good for two points. The Hornets had a 15-0 lead at the end of the period.

Wethersfield's Eagles intercepted an Ogle pass in the middle of the second quarter. There Tim Bazzano passes led Wethersfield's drive to a TD.

"Once again we relied on a passive game," East Hartford Coach Jim Dakin said after the game. "Because our running game is not functioning as well as we'd like, we had to count on Ogle finding Grabowski, Santiago and Gibson."

Ogle connected on seven of 10, three for touchdowns. One was intercepted.

Dakin added, "It was another game where we got an early lead. This advantage and our defense against their running game forced them to throw which they did effectively."

Wethersfield completed 13 passes of 31, one for a touchdown. Five were intercepted.

Dakin complimented defensive standouts Jeff Scanlon, Ken Masson and Tom Abern. Dakin said, "This was Abern's best performance of the season." The Hornet tri-captain had five unassisted tackles and four assisted. Masson had nine individual tackles and Scanlon eight.

"The big game is coming up," Dakin said. "There are only three undefeated teams in the CCTL - Windham, which knocked Conard out Saturday, Hall, and our team."

Dakin added, "There are only six Class I schools left undefeated in the state after Saturday's action. We have to keep pace if we want to stay in the picture."

Dakin feels the winner of Saturday's game will be a contender in the I-championship game Dec. 4. The undefeated Hornets meet undefeated Hall in West Hartford at 1:30 p.m.

Gridmen romp in rain

Mad Murphy's flag football team romped through the rain Sunday morning at Martin Park before a sparse crowd to beat Eyeball Opticians, 25-8.

The few spectators who came to the game tried to watch it from their cars with the windshield wipers going.

"The games are never called," said Mrs. Tom Lawler, wife of one of the soaked players. "It's part of the league rules. The games are never called due to weather."

"We were all nuts just to be there watching them."

"But they have a good time and that's all that matters."

Tom Lawler, player on the Eyeball team, said, "I didn't mind playing in the rain. They (Murphy's) have a pretty good team but I figured we might beat 'em in the rain."

"It wasn't too bad playing. There was a downpour about halfway through the game. The end zone was two feet under water."

Murphy's quarterback Joe Washington ran for a 35-yard TD and threw two TD passes. Don Jones made four interceptions, Jim Richards made three including one for a TD and Bob Tatasiorci had two interceptions. Kevin Flanagan scored a safety.

Eyeball's Joe Serignese had three interceptions and five flags. Sam Forcucci threw a TD pass to Mike Kaczorowski.

Woodland wins.

Woodland Auto Body beat Frank's Willow Inn, 32-6, at McAuliffe Park.

Woodland's Wayne John threw three TD passes, two to John Wrobkowski and one to Mike Liappes. Pete Policario and Liappes led the defense and both scored on pass interceptions.

Maple over Attle.

Maple Cafe beat Athletic Attic, 26-0, at McAuliffe Park.

Pete Bezzini threw a TD pass to Arden Passaro and then made two TD runs himself. He threw 21 completions in 30 attempts with one interception. Jim Bresson caught six and Joe Gietek caught five.

Defense was led by Steve Morrison and Brad Phillips.

Hose Co. 3 is reported to have defeated Summit Cafe but no details were available.

Next games are Sunday at 10 a.m. at both Martin and McAuliffe Parks, rain or shine.

East Hartford police report

Mark W. Campfire, 19, of 189 Farnham Rd., South Windsor, was arrested Saturday morning and charged with first-degree sexual assault and carrying a dangerous weapon (knife).

Police said Campfire entered the Mount Vernon Dairy store at 531 Burnside Ave. where a young woman was clerk. After the only other customer in the store had left at about 7:50 a.m., Campfire allegedly put a knife to the clerk and told her to go with him to the back room, police said.

In the back room, he told her to take her clothes off, police said. At that point, a customer came in the front door and the clerk told Campfire, "I've got to wait on the customer first," police said.

He let her go and she waited on the customer and then pulled an alarm, police said. Police arrested him soon after. He was being held today on $2,500 surety bond for appearance in Common Pleas Court 12 Tuesday.

Kevin M. King, 20, of 1133 Tolland St., East Hartford, was arrested Sunday at 6:10 a.m. and charged with reckless endangerment. No details were available on the charge. King posted a $500 surety bond for court appearance Oct. 31.

A strange game Fermi beats Penney

By DICK PARADIS

When it comes to strange games this one was a beauty. Fermi of East Hartford beat Penney, 33-8, Saturday in Enfield.

Consider the fact that Penney had 108 yards rushing was opposed to 38 for Fermi. Consider the fact that Penney had seven first downs on passing as opposed to Fermi's five. And Penney had six first downs rushing as opposed to Fermi's two. It's pretty hard to figure how Penney lost, let alone the fact that Penney lost by 27 points!

Fermi High had only five first downs on passing and still got 285 yards on the passing game.

"If you saw the game, you know the answer. Penney was beaten by the 'long bombs' thrown by Fermi's

Ron Flaberty to Tom Puleri and Santo Lombardo, for 86- and 70-yard touchdowns passes, respectively. Lombardo also returned a third quarter punt for 85 yards for another TD, while his teammate, Jim Siroka, ran back another punt for a second quarter 62-yarder.

Penney was beaten by the special teams and their own pass coverage. Ted Knurek, head coach for Penney, said, "Our pass defense broke down."

As for the strangeness of the game, when is the last time anyone ever saw a high school team use a shotgun offense? Penney used it quite successfully in the last quarter of the game.

Penney marched 68 yards in the fourth quarter for Penney's only touchdown.

In the drive, Gary Courtney threw for three first downs out of the shotgun offense to Mike Noble for 17 yards, Paul Saucier for 12 yards and to Saucier again for 15 yards. Finally Noble took the ball over from the two-yard line for the score.

With the kind of success the team had using the shotgun offense, Ted Knurek said, "We plan to use it again after a little more work."

Tony DeAngelis, who had his game high for Penney last week by rushing for 120 yards against Conard, was the top rusher again Saturday, gaining 79 yards on 19 carries.

Penney is now 1-2-1 in wins, losses and ties, and plays this Saturday at home against Wethersfield.
