HARTFORD — Superior Court Judge William Bieluch has ordered the PUCA to take another look at what Hartford Electric Light Co. charges its customers in industrial and apartment developments. Bieluch ruled it was illegal for the old Public Utilities Commission to have allowed HELCO to raise its rates between 1972 and 1975.

HARTFORD — The Legislature's liquor industry investigation commission, some members restraining their anger with chief of staff Daniel Friedland, unanimously fired him Friday. The panel cited Friedland's failure to disclose disciplinary charges in Indiana, a potential conflict of interest there, and his deteriorating relationship with commission members.

HARTFORD — About 85 percent of the workers that will be hired to complete the second part of the $77.4 million Park River flood control project will be Connecticut residents, according to the project contractor. The contractor also pledged an affirmative action plan.

HARTFORD — Connecticut's NAACP, unhappy with a federal investigation, said Friday it will ask Watergate burglar G. Gordon Liddy and Congress to help unravel what happened in the July fire at the Danbury federal prison.

HARTFORD — The Public Utilities Control Authority is to begin deciding today if Northeast Utilities customers should pay more and, if so, how much. The PUC's deliberations on the requested $90 million rate hike will be public.

HARTFORD — The president of the state police union said Friday that the author of a book on the Peter Reilly case has slurred the character, integrity and professionalism of the department. Author Donald Connerly had called for the firing of State Police Commissioner Edward Leonard and others involved in the case.

Bing Crosby dies at 73

Bing Crosby, photographed at an August appearance in California, died Friday evening while playing golf in Spain. (UPI photo)

MADRID, Spain (UPI) — Bing Crosby, the golden-voiced crooner who sold more than 300 million records and serenaded three generations of lovers, died Friday evening while playing golf near Madrid. He was 73.

A spokesman for the Morejea golf club said Crosby died on the 17th hole, apparently of a heart attack.

The spokesman said Crosby collapsed on the course while playing in a foursome with three Spanish champions. Crosby was rushed to Madrid's Red Cross Hospital but was pronounced dead on arrival.

The club spokesman said Crosby had been playing with Manuel Pinero in a foursome against Valentin Barrios and Cesar de Zulueta.

A U.S. Embassy source confirmed the report of Crosby's death.

Crosby, a casual pipe-smoking baritone, also appeared in 57 motion pictures, including his famous "Road" pictures with his lifelong friend, Bob Hope.

But in his first venture into serious acting he won an Oscar for his role as the young priest in "Going My Way."

After his movie success in "Going My Way," Crosby went on to do "Bells of St. Mary's" with Ingrid Bergman and then won acclaim for his performance as an alcohol plagued singer in "The Country Girl" with Grace Kelly and William Holden.

With "White Christmas" and "Adeste Fidelis" and "Silent Night," Crosby's voice for years was almost synonymous with Christmas. During a December in Europe in World War II, Crosby's voice was broadcast to the German troops and they dubbed him "Der Bingle."

One of a family of seven children, Crosby had seven children himself — four by his first wife, Dixie Lee, who died of cancer in 1952 after a marriage of 22 years, and three by Kathryn Grant, who was 29 years younger than Bing when they wed in 1957.

An expert fisherman and hunter who went on safaris in Africa and hooked marlin off Baja California. Crosby was a golfer of almost professional skill, shooting in the low 70s until age put a creak in his swing.

Crosby's running gag feud with Hope and the pictures in which Crosby always won Dorothy Lamour in the finale was one of the trademarks of his career, along with his flamboyant dress, which was due in part to the fact he was color blind.

Born Harry Lillis Crosby in Tacoma, Wash., May 2, 1904, Bing was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lowe Crosby. Among his brothers were Bob, who became a well known singer and bandleader in his own right, and Everett and Larry who helped manage Bing's career.

Young Crosby came by the name Bing from a comic strip titled "The Bingville Bugle."

"It was a popular strip when I was a kid," he recalled some years ago. "There was a character in it called Bingo. For some reason I've forgotten, my family began calling me Bingo, and then just Bing."

His father was a bookkeeper for a pickle plant and a brewery.

The Crosby family was never replete with funds and Crosby went to work at an early age at jobs that varied from picking pickles to delivering newspapers.

"Dad was in hock most of the time," he recalled several years ago. "As soon as he finished paying for a sewing machine, he'd buy a victrola, or lawn mower, or one of us would need new clothes."

"We soon found out there wasn't a lot of money on hand for baseball bats or sodas. Whatever we got, we earned."

He attended Gonzaga High School and then studied law at Gonzaga University. He was a member of the freshman football team, the varsity baseball squad and the glee club.

Bing also worked as a clerk for a legal firm in off hours until one day he met Al Rinker, pianist and leader of a small dance band in need of a drummer. Crosby bought a set of trap drums on the installment plan, quit school and went on the road.

The band broke up in 1925 and Rinker and Crosby went into vaudeville, billed as "Two Boys and a Piano — Singing Songs Their Own Way."

One of their biggest boosters was Rinker's sister, Mildred, who went on to become one of the greatest of the blues singers, Mildred Bailey.

"If it hadn't been for Mildred," said Bing, "Al and I probably would have starved to death in less time than it takes to tell. She not only fed us, but hammered at her friends until they gave us jobs."

At one matinee in San Francisco, bandleader Paul Whiteman caught their act and signed them. A third singer, Harry Barris, made it the Paul Whiteman Rhythm Boys, a trio which toured with Whiteman for three years including a movie. "The King of Jazz."

DOT considers street repairs

James Burns, a state Department of Transportation (DOT) official, said Friday that he plans to meet with Town of Manchester representatives to discuss repairs on W. Middle Tpke. and Adams St.

Walter Senkow, Manchester's town engineer, Friday said that the town has requested work be done on the two streets. The streets were upgraded in the Urban Systems renovation project, which was completed earlier this year.

The town inspected the site in June and found several items it felt should be corrected, including cracked sidewalks and improperly sloped gutters, Senkow said.

The town sent a list of recommended repairs to the state and conducted a second inspection Wednesday, Senkow said. He said that very few of the recommended improvements had been done.

Burns, a district engineer with DOT, said that he plans to meet with town officials to talk about the improvements on the two streets.

"We are looking at each individual item that they bring to our attention," Burns said. He said that the state hopes to resolve the matter as soon as possible.

Andover's Pete Maneggia, outfitted in his softball jacket, says he can't think of a better place to live than Andover, or maybe Bolton. (Herald photo by Dunn)

Maneggia likes Andover and Andover likes him

By DONNA HOLLAND Herald Correspondent

"I've been all over the United States and I can't think of a better place to live than Andover or, for that matter, Bolton," said Peter J. Maneggia. And the feeling of his friends and neighbors in both towns is mutual. They can only wonder what either town would have been like if it hadn't known Peter J. Maneggia or his family. The Maneggia family has been involved in both social and political functions in both towns for many years.

Several years ago Pete was involved in an automobile accident (not his fault) that put him in the hospital for three months. He said, "I sincerely mean it, the people were just great to me and my family, just super great." Since then Pete has been in charge of the Andover Disposal Area, a place that has caused controversy between residents in both towns.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am not sure, but I think someone in my family is an alcoholic. He says he can take it or leave it alone, but he always seems to be "taking it." It has worried. How can I be sure?

DEAR WORRIED: The American Medical Association has devised the following list of questions that they say are useful in diagnosing alcoholism. An affirmative reply to one makes a person suspect, while an affirmative reply to two "definitely" classifies a person as a problem drinker:

- 1. Does the subject drink to calm his nerves or to sedate himself? 2. Does he become increasingly irritable while drinking? 3. Does he frequently drink until he becomes quite drunk? 4. Does he drink a steadily increasing amount of alcohol? 5. Does he hide his source of alcohol? 6. Does he lie about his drinking? 7. Does he take a drink first thing in the morning? 8. Does he miss work or slack his duties because of drinking? 9. Does he neglect his family? 10. Does he experience periods of blackout or amnesia? 11. Has he been hospitalized for drinking? 12. Has he lost his job because of drinking?

DEAR ABBY: I work in a rest home where at least half the residents are senile. They tell their families that we steal from them! Abby, sometimes, these stories are believed. Wouldn't you think that they would realize that these poor old souls are confused at times and not responsible for what they say?

DEAR ABBY: I work in a rest home where at least half the residents are senile. They tell their families that we steal from them! Abby, sometimes, these stories are believed. Wouldn't you think that they would realize that these poor old souls are confused at times and not responsible for what they say?

DEAR CARING: Orchids to you and to others who work in places where this type of understanding is so desperately needed. The only way to handle those who are not responsible for their actions, be they senile or mentally ill, is to love them, love them, love them.

It was during this visit to Hollywood that Crosby met actress Dixie Lee who was already a celebrity in the film capital. Against the advice of her friends, she married the little-known "Bing Crosby" as one paper called him in his story.

He broke house records for 20 consecutive weeks singing on the stage of the Paramount Theater in New York where Sinatra years later was to have girls swooning in the aisles.

He told me his idea and when he was finished there wasn't a dry eye in the place.

Crosby married Kathryn Grant in 1937 after dating her for two years. They met at Paramount studios where the dark-haired actress was also under contract.

In the 1960s Crosby sold his home in Bel Air and Palm Springs, Calif., and moved to Hillsborough on the outskirts of San Francisco.

Penny said that the Democratic members would participate in such a workshop, but only if there was a need for one.

He also remarked on Ferguson's comment that the Democrats voted against a workshop on the budget proposed by Vivian Ferguson, a Republican member of the board.

RICE PUDDING

WORLDWIDE FAVORITE

There's hardly a country in the world that doesn't have its own recipe for a sweet rice dessert. Some are plain; others fancy. They can be creamy—or firm enough to cut in squares. Some are made to be unmolded. In some countries, rice pudding is the main way in which rice is eaten. Even countries that serve rice for just about every meal have a rice dessert, too.

Age doesn't seem to be a factor, either. Rice Pudding is a favorite of young and old alike. And what is interesting is that rice puddings are also such nutritious desserts. For with milk, perhaps eggs, and maybe some fruit, they make a pretty complete package.

Versatile, appealing, nutritious rice puddings have another advantage... they are also economical.

It's hard to beat all those assets! And many people take advantage of medium grain rice in making rice pudding because it has the special attribute of cooking up to result in grains that tend to cling together. It makes a creamier rice pudding, although long grain rice works out just fine, too.

Try rice another way today... in scrumptious pudding that will be popular with all the family and guests, too.

HOLLAND RIJSTPUDDING (RICE PUDDING)

1 cup uncooked rice
1 cup water
1/2 cup milk
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs, beaten
1 tablespoon grated lemon peel
1/3 cup seedless raisins
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1-1/2 cups buttered bread crumbs

Combine rice and water; cook, covered, 5 minutes. Stir in 3 cups milk, butter, salt, and 1/3 cup sugar. Bring to a boil, reduce the heat, cover and cook about 30 minutes or until rice is soft and creamy, stirring frequently. Blend 1/2 cup milk and eggs; stir into pudding. Add lemon peel, raisins, and vanilla. Combine bread crumbs with remaining sugar and toss lightly. Butter a 9-1/2 x 10-1/2-inch baking dish; cover bottom and sides with half of the bread crumbs. Pour in rice mixture. Sprinkle with remaining crumbs. Bake at 325° for 15 to 20 minutes. Cool. Spoon into serving dishes and top with cooked or canned apricot halves or other fruit, if desired. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

ITALY ORANGE CREAM

2 cans (11 ounces each) Mandarin orange
1/2 cup orange juice
1 tablespoon grated orange peel
3 cups cooked rice
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sugar
3 tablespoons orange liqueur
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 cup heavy cream, whipped or 1 envelope (1-1/2 ounces) whipped topping mix, prepared

Combine syrup from orange segments, orange juice, and enough water to make 2 cups. Add orange peel, rice, salt, and sugar. Cook over medium heat until rice is thick and creamy, about 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat; stir in orange liqueur and vanilla. Chill until mixture begins to set. Stir in 1 cup whipped cream and half of the orange segments. Spoon into serving dishes; top with remaining whipped cream and orange segments. Makes 10 servings.

SWEDEN SWEDISH RICE PUDDING

1 cup milk
3 cups half-and-half (cream and milk)
8 eggs
1/2 cup sugar
3/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1-1/2 teaspoons vanilla extract
3 cups cooked rice
1/2 cup seedless raisins
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Scald milk and half-and-half. Beat eggs lightly; add remaining ingredients except butter. Stir in heated cream. Pour into a buttered shallow 2-quart baking dish. Dot with butter. Set dish in a baking pan and add 1 inch hot water to pan. Bake at 325° for about 45 minutes, stirring every 15 minutes from bottom so rice will be creamier. Serve hot or cold. Makes 8 servings.

U.S.A. MERINGUE-TOPPED PINEAPPLE RICE PUDDING

3 cups cooked rice
4 cups milk
3/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
4 eggs, separated

Stir into rice mixture. Cook about 2 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in pineapple. Pour into a buttered shallow 2-quart baking dish. Beat egg whites until foamy; gradually add 1/2 cup sugar, cream of tartar, and remaining vanilla. Beat until stiff but not dry. Swirl lightly on pudding. Bake at 400° for about 5 minutes. Top with dollops of red currant jelly. Serve warm or cold. Makes 8 servings.

Your neighbor's kitchen

By Betty Ryder

Mrs. Gloria Weiss, a registered dietician and nutritional consultant to the Manchester Public Health Nursing Association, discussed foods and their nutritional values at a recent luncheon for the elderly, sponsored by the Friendship Group of Temple Beth Shalom.

Mrs. Weiss, a former therapeutic dietician at New England Medical Center in Boston, Mass., stressed the need for good eating habits and a well-balanced diet.

Speaking at the low-cholesterol luncheon, she explained that there are six nutrient groups needed in daily meals. They are proteins, carbohydrates, fats, vitamins, minerals, and water.

"After food is digested, the nutrients are released and used to provide energy (calories); build, maintain and repair body tissues; and help regulate body processes," she said.

The senior citizens in attendance were urged to read the labels carefully on products when making a purchase.

"The first item listed in the ingredient contents is the one of which there is the most. It takes a little getting used to stop and read the labels, but it is important," she said.

The luncheon, which began with a beet borsch topped with a dollop of what looked and tasted like sour cream was followed by bluefish, carrot strips and fresh green beans. The dessert was called "Pineapple Delicious," and Mrs. Weiss gave the recipe for the whipped topping made to accompany it.

"This is not unlike the prepared whipped topping you can purchase, but it is made from non-fat dry milk powder and is equally good tasting," she said.

She also passed out the recipe for the "Sour Cream" used in the borsch.

Here are her recipes for use on special diets.

Whipped Topping

1/2-cup water
1/2-cup non-fat dry milk powder
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla or almond flavoring
Combine water and milk powder in a mixing bowl. Beat at high speed until it forms soft peaks—about 5 minutes. Add lemon juice. Continue beating until firm. Add sugar and flavoring. Beat 1 minute longer. Makes about 2 cups.

Mrs. Weiss suggests using this in place of whipped cream in low cholesterol or low-fat diets. It also can be used to cut calories. Approximately 6 calories per tablespoon.

Mrs. Weiss suggested that the sour cream recipe can be used in any way you would ordinarily use real sour cream, such as on baked potato. A dip, etc.

Also, the whipped topping may be used where a recipe calls for a topping.

Young artists will compete

The Second Congregational Church, 385 N. Main St. will sponsor a Young Artists Competition for pianists and string players of high school age. The young artists selected will present a joint recital as part of the Concert Series of Second Congregational Church. Winners will also receive a cash award.

Auditions will be Sunday, March 5, 1978, at the church. Applications may be completed and sent to Herbert Chatzky, Minister of Music, Second Congregational Church. The applications, which are available in the office of the church Monday through Friday between 10 a.m. and noon and 2 and 4 p.m. must be returned by Dec. 15.

Further information is available and applications may be requested by phone by calling the church office at 649-2883 during office hours, or by contacting Chatzky Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday evenings at 649-6188.

Judges for the competition will be Dr. Watson Morrison, assistant chairman of the piano department at Hartt College of Music, University of Hartford; Dorothy Fidler, assistant professor of cello at Hartt; Abraham Minkind, member of the violin faculty at Hartt; John Erskine, music supervisor in the Bloomfield public schools; Gerald Marks, music supervisor in the South Windsor public schools; and Chatzky.

Also judging the competition will be Donald Charlam, a graduate of Manchester High School with a bachelor's degree in music from Hartt College of Music and a master's degree in applied piano from Catholic University. Chatzky, who has arranged the church Concert Series, and who is working with the church on the Young Artists Competition listed several reasons for emphasis on youthful musicians. They are:

Bring good musicians to Manchester; encourage family activity in Manchester; raise the community's cultural standards and expectations; encourage young artists through the Young Artists Competition; encourage local talent to participate; and most important of all to Chatzky is to help enhance the image of Manchester in the Greater Hartford area.

Munson takes off for first base

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Putting their own personal squabbles aside for the moment, the New York Yankees turned their attention Friday night toward solving the sinkerball pitches of left-hander Tommy John when they met the Los Angeles Dodgers in the third game of the World Series.

Behind the seven-hit pitching of big Mike Torrez, the New York Yankees went one game up in the World Series with a 5-3 win over Los Angeles last night.

Gabe Paul defends Yanks, Martin in latest rhubarb

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Gabe Paul, his club embroiled in a player's union Friday, defended manager Billy Martin in his dispute with right fielder Reggie Jackson and tried to gloss over a new ticket controversy involving the players' wives as "merely another chapter in the tumultuous life of the 1977 Yankees."

Cotton Bowl bid Arkansas goal

NEW YORK (UPI) — Coach Lou Holtz never had it so good since leaving the New York Jets. Seemingly out of his element when he coached the National Football League team, Holtz has found a new home in the college ranks and the 4-0 record of eighth-ranked Arkansas proves it.

White sets mark in swim triumph

With surprising ease, the Manchester High girls' swimming team dunked previously unbeaten Hall, 104-68, yesterday at the local pool. The Indian tankers now sport a 3-0 CCIL ledger, 4-0 over-all, while the visiting Warriors now stand 2-1.

Manchester High swim leaders

Senior Karen McArdle continued her onslaught on the record book, shattering her own mark in the 100-yard freestyle with a 38.9 clocking. Senior Kim Noone was a double winner, taking the 200-yard freestyle by about four body lengths and the 500-yard freestyle by over a 1-1/2 lap. Teammates Tracy Knutla and Anne Morrison swept second-third in the latter event.

Senior Karen McArdle capped the 200-yard individual medley with teammates Jane Jordan and Leslie Scott right behind. McArdle also took the 100-yard butterfly as Manchester won eight of the 11 events. Scott, with a good turn heading into the third lap, cruised to a four body length win in the 100-yard backstroke with a 1:09.9 clocking.

Manchester's next meet is Tuesday at home against Conard High. Results: 200 medley relay: 1. Manchester (Scott, K. Barile, McArdle, Morrison), 2. Manchester (Kukush, Jordan, Valentine, Gagan), 3. Hall 2:08.1. 500 free: 1. Noone (M), 2. Seybolt (H), 3. Kulkish (M) 2:18.3. 100 free: 1. McArdle (M), 2. Jordan (M), 3. Scott (M) 2:30.3. 200 free: 1. Dunn (H), 2. White (M), 3. Gagan (M) 2:51.1.

Weather alters slate, home grid tilts today

East Catholic's scheduled football game last night against West Catholic was postponed because of the day-long drizzling. It is rescheduled this afternoon at 1:30 at Mt. Nebo, a switch from its original site. Also on today's slate is the Manchester High football game against Conard High at Memorial Field at 1:30.

Yale, Conn both after right track

Yale, in the unusual role of two-time loser, and the University of Connecticut, still winless after five tries, seek football victories on the road Saturday. The Elis, after four games in the Yale Bowl, play at Columbia, hoping to overcome the shock of losses two weeks in a row at the hands of Miami of Ohio and Dartmouth.

Viola sisters star in tanker victory

With sisters Kathy and Claire Viola each winning two events, the East Catholic girls' swimming team squeezed by Newton High, 88-84, yesterday in Newtoning. Kathy Viola, senior co-captain, took the 50-yard freestyle with a 28.4 clocking and the 100-yard backstroke with a time of 1:12.2. Claire Viola, an impressive freshman, doubled in the 100-yard butterfly and the 200-yard individual medley.

KATHY VIOLA

Sophomore Jane Price turned in a 1:01.0 clocking to take first in the 100-yard freestyle. She also garnered second place in the 200-yard I.M. as the Eagles, now 3-1 for the season, took one-two in the event. Freshmen Chris Harvey and Anne Tuller continued to impress in diving, taking second and third placements. Junior Bridget Anderson took seconds in the 200-yard free and 500-yard free. Senior co-captain Siobhan Scally swam well, taking thirds in the 500-free and 100-yard backstroke. Also, sophomore Kelli Dakin took a strong second in the 100-yard butterfly and paddled the second leg on the winning 200-yard medley relay quartet. Julie Tucker took second in the 100-yard butterfly and was on the victorious medley squad.

Eagle spikers top coventry

East Catholic girls' volleyball team downed Coventry yesterday, 15-4, 15-3 and 15-3, at the Eagles' Nest. Mary Carmier, Yvonne Nolen, Liz Kozuch, Geri Lombardo and Monica and Katie Murphy played well for the 4-7 Eagles.
