Treasury Considers Cutting Amount of Silver in Coins

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Treasury is considering proposals to reduce or eliminate the silver in coins, the most conservative sources said today. The change in the nation's monetary policy would require several years. Officials apparently are undecided whether to ask Congress to merely reduce the amount of silver in coins or to replace it with another metal.

What's Show Biz

One of the most unusual "shows" around these parts this fall is the famed "musical ride" of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, known in song and story as the Mounties.

The chaps "who always get their man" appeared last week at Eastern States Exposition and are currently equipping the Danbury Fair. Next week they'll be in Haverhill, N.C.

While the formal presentation is scheduled to start with the off-stage time of the 40 or so Canadian was just as good.

The Mounties family, three-fourths of it at least, chattered with several of the Mounties before and after one of their performances last week. Each of the several young men we met was polite, personable and informal.

Whether answering questions about their group or helping a lady who got the Mounties' names tops. We saw and listened to several other similar happenings during our brief stay at their midweek entertainment.

It is one of the Mounties' interesting features that there are 32 men (and one of them is a woman) who are in the show. There are 32 men (and one of them is a woman) who are in the show. There are 32 men (and one of them is a woman) who are in the show.

'Molly' Hits Record Gross In N.Y. Hall

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"Molly," the Broadway play by Edward Albee, is doing so well in New York City that it is being produced in London.

The play, which opened at the New York City Music Hall last week, has broken a record for the city's largest theater in its first week.

The play's success is a surprise because it is a play about a family in a small town, and it is a play about a family in a small town.

Windmill Theater Closing London Strip Clubs Succeed Where World War II Failed

The government had imposed restrictions on the export of livestock products to protect the domestic market.

The National Farmers Organization had argued that the restrictions were unfair to farmers and had caused a loss of income.

Catholic Opus Dei Grows at High Rate

CHICAGO (AP) — Opus Dei, a Catholic Roman Catholic lay association devoted to the study of the Bible and the promotion of its members' present and future, is growing rapidly in the United States.

Organized in the United States in 1963, the underground association now operates nearly 30 nonsectarian retreats, meetings, houses, and student centers across the country. Its membership, only a handful 18 years ago, is now estimated in the thousands by association officials.

"There's a lot of people who are striving to do things — to help others," Father James Prannell, Midwest counselor of Opus Dei, said in an interview Thursday. "We just give them a chance."

Opus Dei, or God's Work, was founded 26 years ago in Spain by Mary Jose Maria Escrivá de Balaguer, who still directs the association from its Rome headquarters.

It is officially described by the Vatican as a secular institute attempting to "spread the life of evangelic perfection among the members of civil society, especially among the intellectuals."

Opus Dei officials said they prefer to describe the group as an "association of faithful." Lay members, most of them from nearby communities, wear civilian clothes and rarely live in the retreats or residences.

Now with an estimated 50,000 members in more than 60 countries, Opus Dei began its work in the United States with a small student boarding house at the University of Chicago.

Expansion of the current expansion, Opus Dei has just completed the three-story Northview Center in Chicago's Far North Side. For a nominal fee, high school students can

A handicap is a certain degree of limitation, but within the limitation of each handicapped person remains a usefulness and productivity. Because the handicapped are intent on proving their value, in the right job they often set standards for workmanship and production which prove that hiring the handicapped is good business. Employers know from experience that the handicapped individual, when matched to the requirements of the job, is no longer handicapped. Our Town
There ought to be, somewhere just above the noise and clutter of this town election, somebody's concept of what political life in Manchester ought to be like. We all ought to have some ideas about what kind of government, and what kind of service in it, we would like to have for our town.

To try to set up such a guiding concept for ourselves need not mean that we turn ourselves into a community of angels, or that all our politicians suddenly sprout wings. We are all human beings with our imperfections. And politics is an honorable profession, in which human beings engage, also with imperfections.

It is especially true that being a Democrat or being a Republican does not endow any human being with any particular virtue. We have to take them all as they come. Sometimes there is a good run of Republicans. Sometimes there is a good run of Democrats.

Many modern communities which "want to guard themselves against the unpredictable tides and shifting distinctions of the political parties have tried to do so by setting themselves up as a political party.
This was what Manchester tried to do for itself 17 years ago. Up to that time, it had always been governed by one political party, which may have had the best and the worst of virtues, but which never had any healthy competition at the polls. Although they had never, up to that time, shared turns at running Manchester's government, both parties did cooperate in drawing up, sponsoring, and obtaining approval for the Town Charter of 1947. Doing this, reasonable Republicans and Democrats alike knew that they were signing away some part of the traditional old political privileges. Under the Charter, the Board of Directors and the Board of Selectmen were to be elected by civil service examination procedure; contracts awarded on the basis of low bids; the General Manager, as the town's chief executive and administrative officer, was to be held directly responsible to no political party; to the contrary, he was supposed to be left free to do all that his practices and observe business standards in the conduct of the town's departments and services.

This was something of the concept prepared and adopted 17 years ago. If it had all worked perfectly according to ideal and plan this would have been a wonderful world and a wonderful town in which to live. In fact, it has been 17 years in which human and political nature have been growing restive under the system Manchester set up for itself. Performance inside the system has been human, and the political system just outside it has, over the years, felt less and less obligation to defend it. Seventeen years is a short time, but long enough to mean that there are thousands of voters in Manchester today who never paid taxes or watched town money and policy under any straight political system of government. It is natural and perhaps inevitable fact that there is some yearning to Manchester today, as there is in Hartford, and particularly in the ranks of the political party which considers itself most likely to dominate that return to straight political government which is usually called, nowadays, the "strong mayor" form of government, for a jinking of the non-partisan, business-like ideas of the General Manager-Board of Directors kind of Charter form of government as it did when it originally helped establish it here.

Perhaps neither party is happy with the General Manager-Board of Directors form of government as it did when it originally helped establish it here. Perhaps either party is happy with the strong mayor form of government, but our judgment would be that the system which would stand a better chance of survival under the Republicans, who have demonstrated that they still respect its principles, than under the Democrats, who either want it done away with or perverted and changed until it merely becomes a system for transmitting orders from the party boss chairman.
—Frank Drea, Toronto, IN THE NATIONAL OBSERVER.

But one thing should be quite clear. Neither political party in Manchester is out to fight to the death for the survival of the manager form of government with its inevitable checks on the operations of the political parties themselves.
The best way to see it is that the political parties defend the system, or at least in their plotting against it, would be for the people of Manchester to make it clear that they themselves defend it.

In this election, the only prospect for the basic concept of the Charter is to be found with the Republicans, the article, sheathed in beautifully simple ABC words about "improving" the Charter, is in the hands of the Democrats.
One thing seems certain: a Republican victory in the town election Monday will mean we concentrate on improving the system we adopted in 1947 instead of junking it; a Democratic victory will be taken, by the Democratic generalship, as license for the introduction of direct political controls to every phase of the town government.
It would be difficult to imagine a town election in which the town's welfare is more at stake. Not merely for the mess and mismanagement which the Democrats have managed to get into the system in the past two years, but for what they will do to the system if they are returned to office, with their own brand of ideas about the candidity of the Democrats is something to be feared. There must be thousands of voters in Manchester who care more about this town than about either political party in it. They should make it their business to be out Monday, voting for Manchester. And this time Manchester's best hopes ride on the second, the Republican, lever.

The Governor Turns shy
It would indeed have been embarrassing for the Democratic Governor of Connecticut to be planning a public orchid on the lap of James Herdic, a Republican, as the best recreation director in Connecticut, one short week after the Democratic members of the Board of Directors had seen the culmination, back in Manchester, of their long campaign to drive Herdic from office.
For the Democratic Governor to be honoring Herdic while his fellow Democrats in Manchester were proudly exhibiting his political scrap would not have been good intra-party relationship, between Manchester and Hartford.
To the knowledgebase, there are paths of communication, sometimes subtle, between Manchester and Hartford. It is through these paths that the Governor of Connecticut is kept abreast of the activities of the Board of Directors in Manchester. He has not been good at it. He has not been good at it. He has not been good at it.
The Governor of Connecticut is kept abreast of the activities of the Board of Directors in Manchester. He has not been good at it. He has not been good at it. He has not been good at it.

One assumes that such communications are being established. The results? One day the State Tax Department decided it wanted to reopen its examination of the Manchester Papers. The man who looks after an examination it itself had once declared closed.
And when the day for the state award to James Herdic arrived, the Governor was presented with one of the most unusual non-pictures in its history. The Democratic Governor of Connecticut was, it developed, camera-shy. The Democratic Governor of Connecticut was not going to be caught planning any award on the best recreation superintendent in Connecticut just four days before the Democrat of Manchester had to go into a town election wearing the departure of Herdic from his post as one of the triumphs of their administration.
"You have not yet received instruction invalidating the letter the Governor wrote to Mr. Herdic, so perhaps it should be reproduced once more, to go along with the 'strong mayor' part of the Charter."
"I have just learned," the Democratic Governor of Connecticut wrote to Mr. Herdic, "with pleasure that the Connecticut Recreation Society has voted to make the Governor's Conference on Recreation an occasion to bestow an annual award on some Connecticut recreation director. That you have been named as the first recipient. My warmest congratulations, which I look forward to presenting in person at the conference on Oct. 1."
But that was, of course, before Manchester Democrats got on the hot line with their urgent, pleading reading would the Democratic Governor please stop dropping H-Bombs on their local campaign and do everything he could to repair the damage he had already done.
There can be, from Hartford, we would think, an answering message, going somewhat as follows: "Message received. I am sure your reading would be good luck for a winning Democratic victory at the polls Monday."

Falcons To Aid Airplanes
Since 1961, gulls, starlings, and migratory birds have caused over $100,000 damage in some 400 collisions with aircraft at Canadian airports. The government is trying to train birds to fly over the airports, without success. But the Canadian Department of Transport is now trying a new weapon. Another bird, taken from their nests this summer, six Arctic gulls are undergoing specialized training by a professional falconer at Shearwater Naval Base, near Halifax, Nova Scotia. These falcons are also being trained. However, the two-foot-long gyrfalcon, more powerful and slightly bigger than its cousin, will be relied on for most of the guard duty.
Hopefully, the falcons will be trained at all the Canadian airports within a year, or so. Birds experts believe about six falcons at each field will be enough to chase away even the most peevish offenders, the gulls, who haven't even been frightened by shotgun blasts.
—Frank Drea, Toronto, IN THE NATIONAL OBSERVER.

To the Editor,
In the face of adversity the Democrats have resorted to the time old practice of name-calling, since when confronted with real issues and there is complete lack of ability to refute them intelligently, verbal abuse becomes the easiest weapon within reach.
The latest of these, a statement by Democratic Director Richard Woodhouse regarding Mr. Herdic, Superintendent of Recreation is evidence of this type of attack with the Democratic leadership as an accomplice. I am surprised that porters trying desperately to shift the blame to voting machines can by heaping abuse upon abuse.

Ask Woodhouse, Mr. Stamer and Mayor Mahoney to recall Republican attempts to ascertain what was going on in the town when the letter requesting an executive session of the Board of Directors was written. Repeated requests for information by Harlan Taylor, Harold Turkington and myself were continually brushed aside with the excuse that "something big" was about to happen, Jim Herdic is in serious trouble and the board would be informed in due time. What happened is now quite clear. Certain Democratic Directors who really thought they had something to say about the board, were being hounded out in the backwash of their own handwork.

Answers Woodhouse
To the Editor,
In the face of adversity the Democrats have resorted to the time old practice of name-calling, since when confronted with real issues and there is complete lack of ability to refute them intelligently, verbal abuse becomes the easiest weapon within reach.

His task further will be complicated by the lack of a friend collaborator in the White House. Mutual friends say relationships between the former Attorney-General and President Johnson, as well as noticeably warm, have cooled almost to the point of non-communication.

There has been fighting between the Johnson-Humphrey campaign and the Kennedy campaign. During Sen. Hubert Humphrey's recent visit, local Johnson-Humphrey men (not not Humphrey) were furious when a joint press conference featuring Humphrey and Kennedy was scheduled. Humphrey ended by giving a solo performance.

WRESTLER KILLED

His name was Arthur L. Baughens, who wrestled under the name Larry Cheney. Police reported they found a speeding ticket in his car charging for a single other Democratic candidate to get a standard license. It had been issued only five hours before his body was discovered.

COMPROMISE HAIR CUT
ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — A shaggy-haired youth in jail for a traffic violation declared he would rather remain there than get a crew-cut.
Magistrate Margaret Young offered to put him on parole if he had a crew-cut but the 19-year-old refused. A compromise was reached whereby the youth agreed to get a standard haircut, rather than wear his hair long and Magistrate Young put him on parole.

From 1950 until 1962 Manchester was governed by essentially the same group who now seeks election under the name of the Manchester Citizens' League. A community will prosper and grow only under this kind of capable and responsible leadership.

Treasury Considers Cutting Amount of Silver in Coins
An announcement that the silver content of coins would be reduced might cause more hoarding and collecting of the present silver coins. Silver Treasury stands ready to sell any amount of silver at a monetary price of about $1.20 per ounce, there might be a run on Treasury stocks by silver speculators.
The more drastic action of eliminating silver from coins altogether apparently would leave a plentiful supply of metal since the part is the world's biggest consumer, but it might drop the price to a point where silver producers would be discouraged.

Road into Park Partially Paved
Approximately 400 feet of the 1,000-foot long Liberty St. Ext. in Center Springs Park has been paved a width of 14 feet, and the remainder will be completed in time for the ice-skating season, according to Horace F. Murphy, superintendent of the park department.
The new road, which connects Liberty St. with Lodge Dr., has been paved at its steepest grade of incline, and the rest has been treated with tar and will be asphalted.
Liberty St. Ext. will be 14 feet wide its whole length, except for a 20-foot-wide section where it joins Liberty St. This area will be used as a parking lot. The road will be paved as the Treasury supply is exhausted.

Two Mill Oversight May Be Advantage

The board of finance turned an oversight into what it hopes may be an advantage to the town at a hastily called meeting last night.

In preparing the budget for the annual town meeting Monday the board was so intent on lowering the mill rate down that it forgot to include two mills that are set aside each year. One for capital and non-recurring expenses and one for change to a uniform fiscal year. This would mean about $2,000,000 added to the $27,000,000 budget and at least a .42 mill rate.

The board decided last night that perhaps the error was fortuitous. It felt that there was enough money for the time being in the capital and non-recurring expense fund, but, especially, it felt that an ideal opportunity had presented itself for a thorough study of adopting a uniform fiscal year. Since neither item can be acted on at the annual town meeting the call has already been drawn up. A special town meeting will be called in the near future.

The 1969 ordinance making it mandatory to set aside a minimum of one mill of the grand list each and every year for capital and non-recurring expenses and one mill a year "until such time as the town adopts a fiscal year" would have to be rescinded or amended at the special meeting unless the two mills are added then.

The board of finance will attach notes to the budget sheets for the annual meeting stating that the budget does not include the two mills for the reserve funds and that the capital and non-recurring fund balance of $4,000,000.

"Because of the large amount of money in the reserve fund, the board feels the town should discuss whether or not to add this to the 1969 budget," the note says. "This discussion would have to be held at a future special town meeting."

As for the uniform fiscal year fund of about $25,000, the board of finance feels that sufficient progress cannot be made through this method toward changing over to a uniform fiscal year and that more definite action should be taken soon.

Copies of the budget are available at the selectmen's and town clerk's offices. The totals are correct, but Chairman Preuss, board chairman, said a faculty adding machine was responsible for some interior inaccuracies, which the board last night was adjusting.

NEW SAVEN (AP)—Harry Dorigan, the only one of three trustees of the bankrupt New Haven Railroad serving full time, will receive $25,000 for his services in the next 12 months, Federal Judge Robert Anderson said yesterday. The judge decided on the distribution of $60,000 approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission for trustee salaries. Anderson said $25,000 should go to Richard Joyce Smith and $20,000 to William J. Kirk. Anderson, who is overseeing the reorganization of the New Haven Railroad under Federal bankruptcy laws, said the services of the trustees are worth more than the maximum allowed by the ICC.

Director Candidates Answer Questions Raised by V

Each town election year the League of Women Voters asks candidates for the board of directors from both parties to answer their views on issues the league sees as important to Manchester. This year, the league chose to question 12 candidates in Monday's election about the town's tax base, industrial development, consolidation and re-evaluation, and operation and administration of town commissions and departments.

The Herald once again cooperates with the LWV in presenting the candidates' views on those questions.

QUESTIONS

1. Should Manchester's tax base be broadened? How would you propose to accomplish this? Specifically, comment on industrial development, consolidation with the Eight District and the effect of the 1966 re-evaluation of property.

2. What do you foresee as the work of the newly established Human Relations Commission, and how would you propose to support it?

3. What improvements can you suggest for the operation and administration of town commissions and departments?

posed itinerary. There have been presidents who suddenly decide they are going somewhere and the secret service does not have the chance always to cover the area.

"Second, avoid publicizing routes of travel as long as possible. In Dallas, the route was publicized at least 24 hours before anyone knew where he would be driving.

"Third, use a specially armored car with bullet-proof glass and have such cars readily available in locations frequently visited. The president (Kennedy) has one now which I supplied to Secret Service and they will have one made, no doubt, in due time for the president's use. But, if it had been armored, I believe, President Kennedy would be alive today.

"Fourth, avoid setting a specific pattern of travel or other activity such as visiting the same church at the same time each Sunday.

Hoover said that, in public appearances, persons attending should be screened as much as possible, and detection devices sensitive to the amount of metal required in a firearm or grenade should be used.

He said a bullet-proof shield should be employed in front of the entire podium in such public appearances as the swearing in at the Capitol on inauguration day, the reviewing stand in front of the White House the same day, and appearances on the parade of trains.

The president's movements with crowds should be kept to a minimum, Hoover said, and he should limit public appearances by using television wherever possible.

He should avoid walking in public except when absolutely necessary, and "he must never ride in any open car," Hoover said.

Area Residents Serve on Panel

At yesterday's Governor's Conference on Recreation, held at Hartford's Statler-Hilton Hotel, one of the workshop sessions had a local flavor with three of the five participants residents of the Manchester area.

The workshop on "The Community Role in Recreation for the Mentally Retarded" had as its chairman, Francis Kelly, superintendent of the Mansfield State Training School and as two of the four panelists, Harry F. Smith, director of Manchester's Camp Kennedy, and James M. Malo, recreation supervisor at the Mansfield school.

The other two panelists were Mrs. Madelyn Neumann, executive director of the Hartford Association Retarded Children and Nicholas DeLuigio, recreation superintendent, Southbury Training School.

The discussion centered around recent innovations of recreation in preparing the mentally retarded for a social life which, in the past, had been almost unattainable to them and the need for developing a program of volunteer teenage workers who might become interested enough to make the work their future vocation.

PROVES CHARM

BOLYAR, Mo. (AP)—George Young Bonner Jr., 19, is convinced that a rabbit foot he carried in his car really works. The youth told Trooper W. D. Stephens he attempted to dodge a dog, lost control of his car on wet pavement and hit a bridge railing. Two men from the patrol went completely through the car, passing over the passenger seat and into the trunk. The auto then veered off the bridge and dropped 15 feet into a creek. Bonner was pinned under the car but was able to free himself because of soft ground. He escaped with minor lacerations.

The women's auxiliary to the Andover Volunteer Fire Department held its September meeting Monday night at the fire house.

Both have had long experience in auxiliary work and brought out numerous ways the local group could be of greater service. South Country Women's Auxiliary has invited the Andover women to attend a meeting there on Oct. 13.

To raise funds to operate, Mrs. Marjorie Solomon, chairman of the ways and means committee, announced a progressive tea would be started. The first tea will be held at the home of Mrs. Doris Hutchinson's home on Oct. 7. Membership cards are to be made up. Refreshments were served.

MARRIED-AT LAST!

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP)—Rose Ann Caligaris, 19, and Sam Rodenbeck, 19, are married at last, but only after a series of mishaps that convinced them that the course of true love indeed never runs smooth.

First, the original wedding date had to be postponed for two weeks because the prospective bridegroom was hospitalized with broken ribs when he was in an accident. Then, when the date was reset they had to find another best man because the one scheduled for the role was in the hospital with tonsillitis the morning of the wedding. Rodenbeck's tuxedo was stolen from his automobile. He went through the ceremony in a tux borrowed from his brother, an usher.

Lawyer Attempting to End Churches' Tax Exemptions

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—The Bible that says churches have to spend this much money looking good," he said. "Only money is involved. It's the question of freedom of conscience."

Kerpelman himself is a man who believes in freedom of conscience. He is trying to outlaw state and federal tax exemptions for church property and church-related businesses.

He says he may be helped by the Supreme Court, which has ruled on church-state relationships in the United States.

He estimates that in Baltimore alone, taxation of church buildings would add $70 million to annual tax income. His clients in the suits are the Free Thought Society and the group's president, Landon Cree. The society pays Kerpelman a $100,000 retainer fee.

Many states, including Maryland, allow property tax exemptions for church buildings. Kerpelman already has presented opening arguments in Baltimore Superior Court against the Maryland exemptions, contending that the exemptions violate the constitution's provision against establishment of a religion.

He says all taxpayers are forced to contribute involuntarily to the support of churches because the churches use public money for such services as streets and police and fire protection.

"The churches are saying, 'Serve us. We serve God,'" Kerpelman said.

In another suit, Kerpelman is attacking federal income tax regulations which allow churches tax exemptions on profits from businesses they own, including hotels, service stations and publishing houses. He says the exemptions run into millions of dollars.

Some churches voluntarily pay the taxes, but Kerpelman says exemptions also are unconstitutional because they violate the constitutional provision of the separation of church and state, he maintains.

He says he filed the church property suit, Kerpelman says. "I have begun to realize that being feminine is the most important thing for a woman," said Mrs. Legendre, who credits professional beauticians with stimulating the desire of women to become more attractive.

Joe Cotten Still Waits To End Film

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Last May Joseph Cotten began work on a movie which he expected to finish by last month. He hopes to finish the job sometime this month. He is now waiting for the movie to be called "Hush... Hush, Sweet Charlotte." That's the studio's punctuation, and it is yours you've heard about it.

Lean and slightly balding, he looks tough — except when he smiles as he often does.

Last summer he was cited for contempt of court for bringing into a closed grand jury room.

Twenty-two local lawyers offered to defend him. The judge let him off with a lecture.

In July, the city dedicated a new plaza, complete with fountain and pool. Kerpelman and a group of his friends escorted him from their law offices to watch the dedication ceremony.

"We energized ourselves. One thing led to another. I saw what you did."

The man caught in the middle of the kerfuffle is Joe Cotten. He was arrested for a picture of Kerpelman, his wife and four children in the nude. He is in jail and is being held in a cell. He is being held in a cell. He is being held in a cell.

Quiet Wives Turn Wild On Outside

By Hal Boyle
NEW YORK (AP) — It happens at least a million times a day in America. Every day.

But this famous 10th century tale has had an infamous 20th century sequel. It is the story of Mrs. Jekyll and Mrs. Hyde.

When Mrs. Jekyll leaves her home — no matter whether she has a nip or two from a bottle in her kitchen laboratory — a sudden change comes over her.

Economic Pinch Felt, Auto Strike Goes On

More than $7 million daily in wages and that the figure could rise to $8 million as more layoffs become necessary.

Automobile production for the industry as a whole fell off from last week's 130,324 to 88,762.

Wall Street brokers said the GM strike has had a dampening effect on the stock market, reflected in a lower trading pace and some signs of retreat.

General Motors stock itself, however, remained close to 210 a share, just under its all-time record level.

Other business firms have felt the shock, though.

In Alpena, Mich., the strike closed down Dresser Products Corp., which has two plants employing about 200 workers.

The company manufactures seaming-lace for seat covers as well as three main for Buick and other GM divisions.

In Kansas City, Mo., Charles Taylor, acting president of IAW Local 93 at the Chevrolet and Lincoln body plants, told The Associated Press:

"I'm really concerned. It doesn't look to me like much is going to be done."

Thursday, pot roast, mashed potatoes, green beans, ice cream; Friday, minato soup, pizza or egg salad sandwiches, coffee pudding. Milk will be served with all meals.

Elementary Schools: Monday, frankfurters on roll, potato salad, shredded lettuce with dressing; Tuesday, hamburger steaks, buttered peas, fry bread and butter sandwich, cookies; Friday, cod fish cakes, candied sweet potatoes, buttered green and yellow beans, garden salad, peanut butter and jelly sandwich, milk.

STAMFORD HOLDUP: Three men drove off in a car bearing New Jersey license plates yesterday after a $30 holdup at the PTF Post Office starting at 9:56, told police she was alone in the Soltek Liquor store when two men entered. One of them pointed a gun at her. She screamed and ran to the rear of the store while one of the gunmen scooped up the money from the cash register. Witnesses said they saw two men run from the store in the car where a third man waited. All three then drove away.

Eight Fuel Tanks Lost in Explosion

MARYVILLE, Mo. (AP)—An explosion spread fire among eight gasoline and fuel oil storage tanks at the east edge of Maryville, and flames burst out today after blocking their path to more tanks and nearby buildings.

Seven of the tanks either exploded or ruptured. About half an hour after the initial explosion Thursday night, a sudden mushroom of flames and smoke erupted. Chief of Police David Archer estimated it was a block in diameter.

The only casualty reported was Gail Donnelly, who volunteered to help the firemen. Running back from the second big explosion, he fell and gashed a knee.

Chaplain Camp Talks to Masons

The Rev. Russell B. Camp, flavoring a talk about his work at Connecticut State Prison with occasional bits of humor, spoke last night at the Harvest Dinner Meeting of Friendship Lodge of Masons.

There were 22 Masons in attendance at the event held at the Masonic Temple. A chicken dinner was prepared and served by the wives of Friendship Lodge officers.

The Rev. Mr. Camp, who is Protestant chaplain at the prison in Somers and active with many Masonic fraternal bodies, told about chaplaincy work with inmates and the problems facing the parole as he returns to society.

Russell Sees Marina as 'Baffling'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Richard B. Russell, looking back on 10 months of "most anxious duty" on the Warren commission, says the widow of Lee Harvey Oswald is "a baffling personality."

Russell, 64, a Georgia Democrat, told a newsmen that serving on the commission which investigated the assassination of President John F. Kennedy was "a sad and morbid experience" in the "most strenuous" year of his life.

The commission's report was made public Sunday night. It found that Oswald acted alone in the shooting death of Kennedy and the wounding of Texas Gov. John B. Connally last Nov. 22 in Dallas.

Nonaligned Nations Set To Rap U.S.

CAIRO (AP)—The United States isn't invited to the conference of nonaligned nations opening in Cairo Monday. But it probably will play the role of whipping boy.

Conference sources said the United States and probably Britain and Communist China also — are bound to be targets of some Asian and African nations whose foreign ministers began preconference talks Thursday night.

The foreign ministers' discussion on the agenda indicated, the sources said, that some participants are planning to set up a "third force" to act as a counterweight to the United States and the Soviet Union.

US-British Union Sure Regardless of Election

LONDON (AP)—British and American officials indicate major parties are firmly bound to maintain close partnership with the United States on world problems no matter which wins the election two weeks hence.

Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home of the Conservative party and Harold Wilson, the Labor party chief, do not agree on all the elements needed for an effective understanding with the United States, but both parties would have Britain play a more independent role in the world.

One issue fundamental to British-American relations and to the future of NATO finds Conservatives and Laborites in accord.

This is in the military and strategic role they want for Britain in defense of the non-Communist world.

Douglas-Home wants to preserve Britain's nuclear deterrent, he has said. "France and Red China will take over place of the international councils of the world."

Wilson wants "the new Britain" to shed what is called the "imperialist" role of a "superpower" and to be a "detached" power.

The need to check the spread of nuclear weapons. "No matter which party wins the election, the British government of the day would want to preserve the tradition of some of our best men for the West and for the United Nations and their representatives."

East, Manchester in Home Football Openers

2 o'Clock Start Set Each Field

Victory will be the goal of all four teams in local schoolboy football action tomorrow but it will be more satisfying if the local teams could make out on the long an' looser in their openers last week. Manchester High returns to face Platt High of Meriden, and East Catholic, dumped by Hartford High in its 10-15, enters the Windsor High Flat and Windsor both were first week winners.

Both games have a o'clock starting time. The C.C.H. meeting between the Indians and Windsor. All East home starts this fall will be at Mt. Nebo. Coach Norm Gerber of East announced his starting backfield today, no changes from last week. The backfield consists of Tom Davier and Skip Martin at the halfback slots and Joe Ahubick at full.

Only two-way performer will be Johnny Mac, guard on offense and linebacker on defense.

Hopeful to get some new offensive punter, Tony Albino at Manchester High will go along with Mark Heller at quarterback and Tom Heller at center. East Catholic is expected to go to the air in an attempt to snap Coach Jim W. H. B. Harward's nine-game losing streak which has stretched over two years.

Midgets Play Tonight Again

The Manchester Midgets footballers will hold their second doubleheader under the lights tonight starting at 6:30. Despite the pressure and first night jitters, all four teams performed like veterans last Friday in the openers.

This week's date will match the Patriots and Eagles in the first contest and the Giants and the Jets in the nightcap. The Patriots and the Giants, winners last week, are going for wins No. 3 and the Jets and Eagles will be out to get into the win column for the first time.

Everyone in the program was elated over the turnout of fans last week and hope that even more will attend tonight's games.

Mercine Honored

NEW YORK (AP) — Yale Guitank Chuck Mercine has been named to the weekly Eastern College Athletic Conference All-East football team. Mercine was named as a backfield player by rushing 166 yards and kicking 11 r. p. conversions.

Other players named to the team were Boston College's Jim W. H. B. Harward, a line-backer, and Harvard's Gene Skowronski and Dick Donovan, both running backs.

Yale After 600th Victory, Wesleyan, Trinity Home

BOSTON (AP) — Yale's Blue got off the big 600th, Holy Cross faces Little-Flody, that is—and Howland sends the longest current New England college football winning streak against Wesleyan at a jinx.

Dick is averaging 70 yards to carry and is third among major college running backs. The team stands 10-1.

The first Ivy League game of the season involving New England teams sends Penn to Brown where Bryant's Coach New Ed Laughty wasn't pleased with the passing against Lafayette last week. Brown ranks 10th nationally in rushing defense (11.0), eighth in rushing offense (179.3) and 15th in total offense (350.9). Harvard will have John McCooker back at quarterback to face Bucknell although the boy hasn't been able to practice all week.

The little Army-Navy game finds pass-conscious Coach Gaud at Norwich where the Cadets have moved sophomore Joe Roy into the No. 1 quarterback spot over senior Paul Nugent.

Connecticut is worried about the loss of fullback Brian Smith and fine ability of a fullback which held Princeton to a mere 156 yards total offense in a 14-0 setback last week. Connecticut when Yale achieved number four national ranking in rushing (215.0) and fullback Chuck Mercine reached 18th (188) among individual ball carriers.
