New Welfare Work Order Discounted

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new federal law requiring 1.8 million men and women on welfare to register for work or job training is expected to have minimal impact on the nation's swollen welfare rolls.

SS Hikes May Wait Elections

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional efforts to tighten the Social Security checks of millions of voters before the election day may be thwarted by a Senate deadlock on welfare reform.

Minimal Impact

The dilemma took shape at the Senate Finance Committee. Many members of Congress are anxious for the Social Security bill to be included in the omnibus bill containing the welfare provisions as well as the Social Security reform.

It's Flag Day

For Stanley Tomkiel of 91 Greatwood Dr., today is a memorable date. Not only is it Flag Day, but it is his birthday—he is 78 today—and it was exactly 54 years ago today that he was wounded in World War I in France, when he was a member of the 23rd Infantry.

Heavy Construction Peril

NEW HAVEN (AP)—Two wood "Boney" Mets, head of half of the nation's 6,000 members of the International Union of Operating Engineers, were given until midnight Sunday to produce a contract proposal that is acceptable to a union of heavy-equipment operators.

IRA Cease-Fire Ruled Out

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP)—William Whitelaw, Britain's top man in Northern Ireland, Tuesday night rejected as an "ultimatum from terrorists" an Irish Republican Army offer for a week's cease-fire in return for peace negotiations.

Whitlaw Incensed

The British minister's declaration drew an angry retort from Bernard Devlin, the militant young Catholic member of the British Parliament from Londonderry.

Sheinwold on Bridge

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

The average bridge player is awed by the kind of detective work that goes on in an expert game. How does the expert know after just a few tricks that South has a new-eyed king in his hand and a strawberry-shaped birthmark just under his left shoulder blade? It's easy, because the expert has learned to count up to 13.

West opened the deuce of spades, and East's ten was captured by the ace. South led out the ace of diamonds and led another diamond toward dummy. West discarded a club, and South tried a finesse with dummy's jack of diamonds. After all, nobody could see the king of hearts all by itself in his hand.

West would not have led from a four-card spade suit if he held some other suit of greater length. Since West showed up with a singleton diamond, he was bound to have exactly four hearts and four clubs. East counted the hearts: Four in dummy, four in his own hand and four known to be in the West hand. Therefore, South surely had a singleton heart. After coming to this conclusion, East led the ace of hearts dropping South's singleton king. East continued with a low heart to the jack, after which it was easy to continue with two more heart tricks, defeating the contract.

Nancy Hanks Birthplace Now Marked

KEYSER, W. Va. (AP) — The birthplace of Nancy Hanks, mother of President Abraham Lincoln, is to be dedicated as a small park here Saturday by the Mineral County Historical Society.

The park is part of a 340-acre farm purchased by William Lawrence, a pilot from Massachusetts, Va.

While looking over the land, Lawrence found a marker erected in 1853 by the Nancy Hanks Association stating that Lincoln's mother had been born there.

8th District Elects Officers on June 21

The board of directors of the 8th District has scheduled the district's annual meeting for June 21 at 7:30 p.m., in the auditorium of Bentley School on Hollister St.

In addition to electing a president, treasurer, clerk, tax collector and two directors, the district tax payers will be asked to approve a budget for 1972-73, to be released on Saturday; and to approve a tax rate for 1972-73, expected to be a repeat 2.5 mills, the same rate in effect for over 25 years.

The district's 2.5 mill tax rate is computed at 1.25 mills for fire protection and 1.25 mills for sewage service.

There is only one vacancy at present among the officers to be voted for on June 21. The three-year terms of directors Edward McKeever and Milton Acres, compared with

Former Actress Turns Talents To Designing, Selling Jewelry

By PEACE MOFFAT
NEW YORK (AP) — With her neatly coiffed reddish-brown hair, long manicured fingernails, finely chiseled features and fashionable black pants suit, Maggie Hayes looks more like a lady of leisure than a hard-working saleswoman. The founder of a Fifth Avenue department store.

But that's just where this former actress, model, designer and store executive is selling the jewelry she designs and makes herself and her "Maggie Hayes Jewelry Book," which she wrote to pass on her skills to others.

Including a necklace of African beads and five rings on one finger, Miss Hayes said her professional jewelry-making days began after a trip to the Orient.

"I had bought some miniature figures and thought it would be dull just to have them sitting around. So I decided if they were turned into jewelry they could be both wearable and sellable."

The first piece was a funny face pin—an ivory head with one eye wide open and the other squeezed shut. As a pin, he's set in sapphires and pearls," she says.

Even before she began de-

Board Okays Staff Shifts

The Board of Education Monday night approved seven faculty appointments for next year, accepted five resignations, and granted a leave of absence for the school year.

Appointments were Raymond Cocchi to teach science at Benet Junior High School, where he has substituted since March. A resident of Hartford, he received his BA from the University of Hartford and is studying for his master's there. He was in military service four years.

Also, Miss Mary Fulginiti, to teach physical education at Manchester High School, where she also taught from 1960 to 1966. Since then, she has been an instructor at the University of Hartford. She is a resident of Hartford.

Also, Mrs. Susan Moody, who lives in Rockville, to teach special education at Buckley School. She received her BA from the University of Connecticut last year.

Also, Mrs. Micheline Forenba of Enfield, to teach mathematics at Benet. She received a BS in education from Lesley College and taught mathematics and social studies two years in Concord, N.H.

Also, Mrs. Dolores Peters, to teach special education in the system. She earlier was approved to teach the last 30 days of the current school year.

Also, Mrs. Myrna Spector of Manchester, to teach special education at Keneby St. School. She received a BS in education from Lesley College and is presently teaching in Ellington.

Also, Miss Andrea Diary of Manchester, to teach biology at MHS. She has a BA from Central Connecticut State College.

The board accepted the resignations of the following, who are currently on leaves of absence: Robert M. Escarich, Mrs. Patricia Hays, Miss Leah Lentocho and Mrs. Linda H. Hennigan. The board also accepted the resignation, effective at the close of the school year, of Mrs. Lorraine Rignall, psychological examiner.

A leave of absence was granted to Mrs. Mary Jane Blase, fourth grade teacher at Keneby.

Credit-Ability

Big business financing for the small businessman.

CBT's Credit-Ability is a new line of business financing similar to that which is used by major corporations. Only it's designed specifically for you — the small to medium sized businessman. There's no top limit to the size of your Credit-Ability line loan. And terms can be tailored to meet your special business needs.

CBT's Credit-Ability: The flexible financial plan. With CBT's Credit-Ability there's no need to re-negotiate a new loan every time you need more money.

You simply draw on funds set aside for you as you need them. And if you have plenty of financial elbow room, Credit-Ability allows you to operate your business with a constant source of readily available capital. Just like the giant corporations.

CBT's Credit-Ability: How to put it to work for your business. It's simple. Call the manager at your nearest CBT branch office. He'll give you all the information you need to get you started with Credit-Ability.

Jewelry Designer Maggie Hayes, at left, says making jewelry isn't as difficult as one might think.

New Guinea Tribespeople Don't Worry About Dentist

ANGORAM, New Guinea (AP) — Constant flooding of the Sepik River. Now, he's in the area with a research team to try to find out why the villagers never have to worry about dentists.

Barnes said that although all village people in the 10-village area had the same diet, there was a heavy contrast in the rate of dental decay between the rate of dental decay of the Sepik River and the rate of dental decay of the Sepik River.

He Turns Tusks Into Toothpicks

By ALISON LEBRICK
 PARIS (AP) — "Once some elephants gave an elephant of mine phantoms," said President Nixon, says crammed in the closet and Pierre Heckmann with dust chunks there flew away on infatuation. "I don't know why, sheaves according to shape. On but America is simply wild the floor is a carton for mild tusks of elephants who passed on to their children."

Himself, Heckmann can take away in their youth. He leaves an elephant, but he feels very strongly indeed or even hippopotamus teeth about their tusks. In his left hand he holds a tusk, but only an elephant has the two tons of ivory a year ... gain claim to the name. "There tusk is a big rage for walrus tusks in at anywhere from 40 to 100 pounds."

"The quantity isn't earthy study the competition. He is shaking, but it adds up to quite one of his own, covered with a few elephants," admits Heckmann, who could pass for the dentist in his white coat. To be exact, after an annual 25 to 50 elephants are separated from about ivory. It's a long operation, "defence," he explains. In any word for tusks—Heckmann case, you just treat it like turns the latter into anything wood. First, he eyes his selection into a tin to single out the right tusk "hand of figs," the Brazilian for the job.

Next, he pops it in a vice, good luck charm. The least expensive item, says, chisel and flies away though, is his 40 cent toothpick, for people who want to clean their teeth in public, but in a piece of pine. At a thickness of one tenth of a millimeter, an American ivory tusk is just transparent enough to paint miniature on. "But the English, an entire tusk may be cut out French, Spanish and especially Portuguese love ivory the most to make a statue a mirror, a because it reminds them of their colonial days. You know, nostalgic and force of habit," says Heckmann. And he should know, because he cut his teeth on tusks.

"I was born in this shop or, rather, upstairs. It's the same thing," he says fondly. "My father worked in ivory before me. You might say it's an art passed from father to son." Half a century ago, the Heckmann dynasty emigrated to Paris from Diego, the ivory port par excellence since the 18th century.

Now, his own son has inherited the upstairs as workshop, which he shares with Heckmann's 160 little. The pater familias tools away in the 18th century.

Two central Connecticut men pleaded guilty Tuesday to being part of a ring that printed more than $500,000 in counterfeit $20 and $50 bills.

Roy J. Schmid of the Plainville section of Southington and James Wilson, 21, of Meriden made their admissions before U.S. District Court Judge T. Emmet Clark.

The two men were arrested Feb. 11 when police seized $200,000 worth of phony money in a car parked at Bradley International Airport in Windsor Locks. Police said it was the largest haul of its kind in Connecticut.

A third man, Daniel Brookes, 25, of Southington was arrested before the discovery and charged with passing counterfeit bills in New York City. Police said Brookes' later confession led them to the cache in Connecticut.

Schmid, whose home allegedly was used to manufacture the fake money, and Wilson could be penalized with up to 15 years imprisonment and a fine of $250,000.

Brookes pleaded guilty earlier to a lesser charge in connection with the counterfeiting ring. He faces a sentence that could run up to five years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

Gun Controls Go Before Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional gun control legislation comes before the Senate Judiciary Committee today, but passage of any bill is doubtful. Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., said he would try to win approval of his bill to ban the sale of handguns not suitable for sporting purposes.

But the two were unable to reconcile their differences. Hruska said a crowded agenda might prevent the committee from considering gun control legislation.

Each senator decided to introduce his own bill after the passage of any bill is doubtful. Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., said he would support a bill which would require a license to purchase a handgun.

Introduced by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., it would require a license to purchase a handgun. Two days after the attempted assassination of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, a subcommittee headed by Bayh failed to report out a gun control bill with the understanding the minimum of 25 for the weapon.

Bayh, chairman of the Judiciary Committee, said a bipartisan coalition of Democrats and Republicans would work out a compromise bill to be voted on by the full committee.

Dissidents Fill Rome

ROME (AP) — A growing number of Soviet political dissidents has taken up residence in Rome.

People close to the dissident community estimate that 200 Soviet families have come to Rome within six months.

Alexander Yessin-Volpin, a mathematician who arrived last week, says:

"The Soviet government offered me the choice of leaving the country forever or never being able to leave. I chose to leave but I am not giving up the fight for freedom of all Soviet citizens to travel when they please and for the freedom to say what they please."

The 46-year-old son of the late Russian poet Sergei Yesenin was one of five Russians who signed a letter published in London, March 9. It indicated they had been offered a chance of foreign exile but reflected their apprehension on preparing to leave their homeland.

Other signers of the letter also are in Rome: Yri Titov, an artist involved in civil rights politics; and Yuri Glazov, an Orientalist who was expelled from the Academy of Sciences and Moscow State University after a 1968 political protest and Yri Titov, an artist involved in civil rights politics.

Traditionally, Italy has opened its doors to exiles from Eastern countries. There is a colony here of Czechoslovak refugees.

For many Soviet exiles, however, Italy is a way station. Yessin-Volpin said he is considering going to either Israel or America. His mother was Jewish.

Patric Titov, who came here with his wife Yelena last month, had hoped to open an exhibition of his paintings.

When the 37 canvases arrived from Moscow all had been scarred by acid, a fellow exile charged they had been damaged by "Soviet punitive forces."

He's A Monkey Watcher

By MARTIN KRUMING
 SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — There are bird watchers and China watchers. But Jim Loy is a monkey watcher.

To do so he gets up before dawn, drives 30 minutes to the small fishing village of La Parquera on Puerto Rico's west coast and takes a five minute motor boat ride to a place called "monkey island."

Wearing a Navy blue baseball cap, an Army jungle fatigues jacket and hiking boots, he gathers the only equipment needed to watch the furry creatures—a pair of binoculars, and a pencil.

Then from shortly after sunrise—before the temperature reaches into the 90s—until afternoon, the tall, anthropologist patiently watches monkeys. "It takes a lot of patience. After a thorough day with the monkeys feel much older," says Loy, 28, who works for the Caribbean Primate Research Center based near San Juan and affiliated with the University of Puerto Rico.

These primates are of three different varieties on the island. All but 13 are the rhesus type, Macaca mulatta. The 13 non-rhesus are patas monkeys from Zambia in east Africa and near San Juan.

Relatives date back to the Pliocene in the 1700s.

Loy, a native of Knoxville, Tenn., is scientist in charge of the La Parquera colony.

"Monkey Island" is two islands—Cueva and Guayacan—stretching over 150 acres of mangrove swamp, tall bush and cactus.

La Parquera first was stocked with monkeys (there are no monkeys on Puerto Rico) 11 years ago when a load of rhesus was shipped from India.

The only other monkey colony in the western hemisphere is on Barro Colorado in the Panama Canal zone, says Dr. C. H. Conaway, 46, director of the primate center who helped set it up in 1961.

But no records have been kept, he says, and all they have "is a bunch of monkeys with no background."

Accurate records for the colony are kept at La Parquera including sex, birth and death rates, parents and grand-children and social ranking. For this reason each is tattooed with a black dye.

Rhesus monkeys were chosen for the colony because "the animals are free of tuberculosis and many virus diseases including measles," says Conaway.

No studies are being conducted regarding mental illness, cancer or other diseases but there are a number of experiments under way.

These include night observations, rhombus, responses of monkey troops to defective infants who have had their vision impaired, and aggression during the mating season and wild factors regulate the mating season.

Much of the data compiled at La Parquera and Cayo Santiago has been published in scientific journals. However, information on the recent epidemic is not yet conclusive.

There are two other monkey watchers on La Parquera. One is a wife, Kent, a teacher who observes the patas and green monkeys.

The other is Lee Drickamer, 26, a sociologist from Illinois working on a grant from the North Carolina Foundation of Mental Health Research.

Since monkeys are such close biological relatives to man, the results of experiments now under way have human implications. However, test results have not been concluded.

New Exchange Board Undergoes Analysis

By JOHN CUNIFF
 NEW YORK (AP) — Two factors stand out in an analysis of the list of 30 nominees proposed to represent the public interest on the new board of the New York Stock Exchange: The list is made up of extraordinarily heavy people. Most of the nominees are associated with big business. The two who have little or no business connection, Jerome H. Holland and Juanita M. Krupa, are involved in jobs that seemingly would occupy them fulltime.

Holland is ambassador to Sweden. Krupa is professor of economics, dean of the women's college and assistant provost at Duke University.

In the past it was often assumed that there was no limit to the number of responsibilities that could be handled by a businessman. "Give a public nominee will be able to LEBRON (AP) — Abel Rodrigues never went to medical school. But every week hundreds of Portuguese visit his Lisbon shop seeking relief from various ailments.

According to Rodrigues, this usually effects a cure within two to three weeks.

Ever since the HMO practitioners of a rabbit's feet are ahead of the front footprints?

U.S. Savings Bonds are leading pace with annual growth of 10 percent. The payroll savings plan remains a brilliantly effective way for you to help yourself while you help your country's economy.

There is little evidence either that some nominees have established reputations for anticipating or being sensitive to consumer and small investor interests, some represent companies that have been targets of consumer groups and ecologists.

There is no representative of any small investor group, such as the National Association of Investment Clubs, even though it is known that the NAIC sought a vote.

What all have in common, besides being busy, is considerable ability, which has been shared broadly and often selflessly, frequently without remuneration.

These are some of the outside activities of the nominees as published in the 1972 Standard & Poor's Register.

William M. Batten not only is chairman of J.C. Penney Co., one of the nation's largest merchandisers, but is listed as a director of four other corporations, including American Telephone, First National City Bank and Boeing.

Karl R. Bendetsen, chairman of Champion International, is listed on the board of two other corporations, the Conference Board, and three industry institutes.

Donald C. Cook, heads American Electric Power Co., which also puts him on the board of 24 electric utility operating companies. He is a director also of four outside corporations.

McClellan Runoff Victor After Effort by Backers

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — never sought a major office before. Sen. John L. McClellan's county organizations turned out the vote Tuesday and gave the veteran lawmaker a victory over a youthful challenger in the Democratic runoff primary.

Two weeks ago, after Rep. David Pryor, Sr. forced the 76-year-old McClellan into a runoff, political observers counted the senator among the defeated.

After a vigorous primary campaign, McClellan led Pryor 241,712 to 222,989 in virtually complete returns from 2,592 precincts.

McClellan, seeking a sixth one-term term which he says will be his last, faces token opposition in the general election set in Arkansas' 4th District to Republican Wayne Babcock, a veterinarian who has porters, "I took a big chance, system just because he had forced into a runoff loss.

McClellan said in his victory speech that he was "pleased to work with him to make the system work."

Through three months of hard work following World War II, Miss Carson warned that it was spreading and persisting in the environment and other environmentalists soon began campaigning against the pesticide.

Near-Full Ban Set In DDT Use

WASHINGTON (AP) — Environmental Protection Administrator William D. Ruckelshaus ordered today an almost complete ban on use of the pesticide DDT in the United States.

Ruckelshaus made the ban effective Dec. 31, 1972, to allow a transition to substitute pesticides.

Under his order, the use of DDT will be permitted in this country only for public health purposes and in three minor uses to protect crops where no effective alternatives are available—that is, on green peppers, onions and sweet potatoes in storage.

All remaining crop uses of DDT—mainly on cotton, peanuts and soybeans—will be banned.

Ruckelshaus' decision was based on a 17-month study by EPA on the effects of the widely used chemical.

The long-awaited decision gave environmental groups a victory in one of their earliest and toughest battles that began with the publication of the late Rachel Carson's now-famous book, "Silent Spring."

Everybody's talking about Pathmark and the Charge of the Night Brigade

"My husband and I both work nights. What takes us 20 minutes at night takes about 1 1/2 hours during the day." Jo Ann Sobalsky 1:00 a.m.

"I like these hours. I get through work at 3 a.m., and we'll be coming to Pathmark now." Mr. & Mrs. Harry Carney 4:15 a.m.

"We just closed our nightclub, and we're flipped that Pathmark is open 24 hours a day. A great after-hours spot!" The Teardrops 5:30 a.m.

"I was out and I stopped in because I'm out of cat food." Lynda Cimaszewski 3 a.m.

We knew you loved Pathmark during the day. We had no idea you'd love us as much at night. It's been exciting to find out how many people needed us. But they caught us unawares.

That's why you may have found yourself temporarily inconvenienced. We admit it . . . we weren't prepared. But we're getting everything straightened out.

We'll be back to normal for all our day people as soon as possible. In the meantime, get to know the night people.

Image of Madness Left In Shadows

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Society's image of the madman is changing, the once sharp line that seemed to separate sanity from madness is blurring and the American public's concept of mental illness growing more vague. The "violent, seriously disturbed madman" is no longer the image used by psychiatrists as a warning. On the other hand, ordinary people whose counterparts a generation ago wouldn't have dreamed of seeking psychiatric help are doing just that today. They want to ease a variety of mental malaises ranging from plain unhappiness to lack of personal identity. These shifting sands of mental health are concerning many psychiatrists. The subject received considerable attention during the American Psychiatric Association's recent meeting here. Psychiatrists are perplexed about the answer, but many place the blame on rapidly changing social and cultural values which are producing new stresses on the individual as he attempts to cope with the rigors of life. "The changes going on in our culture are so fast that we can hardly catch our breath and adjust to them," said Dr. Roy Grinker, professor of psychiatry at the University of Chicago, who presented a scientific paper and then discussed it in an interview. "Sigmund Freud once said psychoanalysts should be able to help the person adjust to the normally expectable environment," he said. "But now we have to modify that because the normally expectable environment has come to mean the unexpectable." The result has been felt in psychiatrists' offices. "There certainly has been a big change in the kind of people who come to see a psychiatrist in private practice and at a Washington, D.C., psychiatrist in private practice and a clinical professor at George Washington University. In a scientific paper, Chodoff said the new stresses are producing an "alienated man" who regards himself as a quantity to be marketed. He is searching for a guiding force to give him definition and boundaries. "In an earlier age, he may have sought his salvation through religion," Chodoff said. "Today, he seeks it through psychotherapy. The indications for seeking psychotherapy have widened and broadened enormously and have come to merge with what people in previous generations would have regarded as the vicissitudes of life—things that happen to people that you never would have thought of going to a psychiatrist about." Besides seeking psychiatrists to treat the traditional mental problems that don't require hospitalization, such as depression, patients now seek psychiatric care for loneliness, unhappiness, the lack of fulfillment and lack of personal identity, Chodoff said.

Jaywalker Surrenders

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Officer B. R. Wallace was cruising on his police motorcycle when he saw a man jaywalking across the street to a car. When Wallace wheeled over and prepared to give him a ticket, the man quickly raised his hands in surrender. The surprised officer soon learned that the man, who refused to give his name, had the $700 and was booked for investigation of robbery, authorities said Tuesday. The only bid on plumbing supplies, $4,358.64, was submitted by Manchester Pipe and Sup. U.S. 130.2 million tons. Main St., is $560.24. The other ply, Inc. of 160 Hartford Rd. was $62.20.

USY Installs New Officers

Aaron Beth Bayer, son of Atty. and Mrs. Philip Bayer of 31 Gerard St., Friday night was installed as president of the Manchester USY (United Synagogue Youth). He succeeds Barbara Brody, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brody, of 98 Tracy Dr. Miss Brody will graduate Tuesday from Manchester High School. Bayer will be a member. The installation was at Temple Beth Shalom's Sabbath Eve Services.

Other officers installed are Karen Knoppel and Susan Kraatz, vice presidents for committees; Garry Segal and Barbara Freedman, vice presidents for Kadimah; Susan Port, vice president of religious affairs; Debra Novitch, treasurer; Ellen Gordon, recording secretary; and Ellen Platch, corresponding secretary.

The installing officer was Robert Mendall, outgoing president of the Connecticut Valley Region of USY.

Miss Brody listed the activities during her term as president. She will be a member of the Manchester USY.

Dear Reader—Yes, it is true. Vegetarians are living proof of this. Not only that, but many vegetarians are in exceptionally good health. One reason for their good health is that they eat a diet rich in protein, particularly those that come from animal fats.

In general, individuals who avoid eating excess numbers of calories and excess fat in their diet are healthier than most of the rest of the general population. It is true that the body needs a variety of sources for protein. Some non-animal products that usually tend to eliminate a lot of calories, particularly those that come from animal fats.

Dear Reader—There are constant numbers of letters to this column concerning this problem. It is especially important that everyone recognize that bleeding from the rectum can be a serious disease, in some instances, it is the first sign of cancer of the rectum, although there are many other causes for it including hemorrhoids. No case of bleeding from hemorrhoids, however, should be ignored.

Each one deserves a medical examination because what is thought to be hemorrhoids may even turn out to be cancer. There is only one recommendation that I can possibly make to people with this problem: seek a medical examination as soon as possible. There is no other reasonable alternative.

STAYTON ISLAND, N.Y. (AP)—Elio Pucci, the Italian master of prints, winged into Manhattan recently with some philosophical concepts on the day's fashion and cultural scene, and newly recorded his impressions for "Pucci's International, which started color-dyeing.

Exploring the visual impact of fashion and human relationships from early civilizations such as Egyptian—with its two-foot headresses and "skirts to stretch the pharaohs' and queen's image—Pucci dramatically said, "Today there is a supreme lack of interest in other people. We have substituted an attitude of liking people but really it's one of not giving a damn. It shows in voice, in lack of respect."

Pucci contrasted this with the vital image of ancient and not so ancient times when respect was conveyed by how a person behaved, looked, acted.

Exploring the world-wide throwaway culture and disdain for quality among the young generation, he lamented to a man from Italy spoke of values or more precisely the lack of them in everything from dinner parties to dress.

"People assume the effort that goes into preparing a beautiful dinner party setting comes easy; they take it for granted."

"Are the hostesses taking better care of the uniforms?" he asked a Braniff representative. The answer was negative and Pucci noted perhaps it would impress these young women if they had to pay $700 for the double-faced reversible tunic coat.

All in not dramatic. Least of all Pucci's vibrant ecological colorings for the hostess ensembles in green to symbolize growing fields and hope and blue for "the sky and recently we need in our lives a psychological need to return to the land."

"There is a reaction of man against noise and air pollution—against all the polluted situations they are surrounded by because they are unnatural."

"I could dress hostesses in plastic uniforms; they would be automata. Instead I try to inject a pleasant element on a jacket; well-tailored, well-proportioned, conveying the presence of a human being. With this kind of look, the hostess is both psychological and spiritual. It conveys a sense of trust. How would you like to see the plans' a copy appeared in dapples and a polka dot shirt."

Haute couture, Pucci agreed, is dead. "For corporations, yes, and as a research laboratory, when it is busy, universal."

Mayfair Ladies Visit Library

The Wilton Memorial Library staff held Open House yesterday morning from 10 to 11 for 25 ladies who are residents of nearby Mayfair Gardens.

The purpose was to acquaint the guests with library services and facilities. Since the housing for the elderly opened last year at the North End, Mrs. Shirley Sarkis, assistant librarian, has been taking books and magazines to the community hall in the housing area and filling requests on a monthly basis.

Mrs. Dorothy Gibson, head librarian, greeted the visitors. After they were conducted on a tour of the main floor, refreshments were served. Other staff members who assisted were Mrs. Gordon Moore, Mrs. Dorothy Williams, Mrs. Shirley Hull, and Mrs. Claris Cahan.

Dr. Rubin Chairman of Red Cross Branch

The meeting, held in the Municipal Building, immediately followed the branch's first annual meeting.

Other officers elected are Robert Dixon, vice chairman; Mrs. John Roberts, secretary; and George English Jr., treasurer.

At the annual meeting, reports of activities in the branch for July 1971 to June 1972. The reports included that of English, branch treasurer, who advised that operating expenses for the Manchester office, excluding the salaries for the director and one part-time assistant were $4,100.34. He said that the branch has succeeded in staying within the budget for the year.

Edward Kenney, blood program chairman, indicated in his report that Manchester has had a most successful year in reaching year terms. Atty. Scott Clegg, monthly quota at seven of seven. Dr. Donald Hennigan, regular monthly operations. L. Robert Lannan, Mrs. Milton Jensen, Fred P. Lindsay, Joseph, 2,172 pints of blood have been collected; the annual three-year terms; John Doran, Robert P. Fuller, Everett Kennedy, Sgt. Richard Sarrett, the Rev. Clifford Simpson, Atty. Dominic Squatrito and Mrs. Blanche Stone.

Dr. Rubin welcomed all new and past members to the board and introduced Francis Larala who has been appointed as the new branch chairman of disaster service. Dr. Rubin also noted that the board has received the resignation of Mrs. Howard Boyd as chairman of nursing service. Mrs. Boyd was commended for her many years of service and the board extended its official thanks and appreciation to her.

At the board's quarterly meeting, which followed, a report was made by Dixon on the results of the Red Cross Fund Drive conducted in the Bolton area this spring. He said that on a quota of $200, a total of $504.65 was raised, and added that in his opinion that was the result of a recently undertaken concentrated effort to better inform Bolton residents of what Red Cross does and to keep them up-to-date on current activities. There are now five members of the board of directors representing the Bolton community.

Dr. Rubin advised the members that he has been unable to acquire the use of a second vehicle for use by the Red Cross Motor Service. Recent months have shown that a second car for providing service to local elderly and infirm persons is essential and requests for transportation have increased but must be turned down due to lack of space or time.

The next regular meeting of the board will be held in September.

Four-Year Terms Voted For Clerk, Registrars

By SOL R. COHEN (Herald Reporter)

Thanks to a 7 to 1 vote by the Board of Directors last night, Manchester's town clerk and registrars of voters will serve four-year terms, starting with the next election. They now serve two-year terms.

The lone dissenting vote was cast by Republican William Elman, who said he favors a four-year term for the town clerk but not the registrars. He offered a motion to vote on the proposal separately. The motion lost for lack of a second.

The board then proceeded to adopt an ordinance which specifies that, pursuant to an enabling act adopted by the 1971 General Assembly, Manchester's Democratic and Republican registrars will be elected to four-year terms at this year's Nov. 7 election, and the Manchester town clerk will be elected to a four-year term at the November 1973 election.

Manchester Town Clerk Edward Tomblin, who is president of the Connecticut Town Clerks Association, was credited in the State Capitol with steering the enabling legislation to adoption. Director Vivian Purgant took note of Tomblin's successful efforts when she said last night, "Ed Tomblin was the leader for the proposal and we should show him our support."

And Edward William Gerald, who offered the motion for adoption of the ordinance, said, "I am in favor of the change in the terms of the present occupants of the offices are for it."

Mayor John Thompson noted that the Charter Revision Commission has a proposal before it for making the office of town clerk an appointive one. "If the commission recommends it and it is approved at referendum, the action would remove the ordinance for four-year elective terms," he explained. The vote followed.

Near the end of last night's meeting, Elman, who has submitted his resignation from the board effective June 30, was praised for his services by the other directors and was given a standing vote of appreciation. His resignation was accepted "with regret."

The person the Republicans have chosen to replace Elman when the board conducts its July meeting is Charles McFadden, treasurer of the GOP town committee, secretary of the Board of Tax Exemptions and alternate on the Steering Board of Appeals.

Elman, who is deputy state comptroller, resigned because of his heavy work load in his state position.

Among The Few Who Survived

AN LOC, Vietnam (AP)—The two little girls came out into the sunlight today. They were tired, frightened, lonely, naked and starving.

Solely, they lifted their empty rice bowls to the South Vietnamese soldiers who stood looking down at them.

They lived 71 days underground while bombs and bombs crashed all about them. They had seen their mother killed and had watched on what was left of her body as they scavenged in desperate forays into the streets.

They were among the miraculous few civilians who had survived the steps of An Loc. They know how many other civilians lived through the two months of hellish barrage, and how many died.

The little provincial capital of Saigon remained held up in flames to the south. But it was clear that an end to An Loc's agony was nearly at hand.

The northern end of town, where North Vietnamese troops were virtually clear by late today, enough so that South Vietnamese troops could explore the rubble-strewn streets in relative safety.

They contained ruined enemy tanks, rusting munitions and the tactical indications of North Vietnamese command. Some of the soldiers stepped a snuck attack on the demilitarized zone for the benefit of a government television camera team.

They also passed at one of the few nearly unscathed structures, the military museum, with its statue of a charging soldier, in the center of the town.

Just north of An Loc, South Vietnamese commando troops reportedly raised their flag early by taking on a small hilltop, and found hundreds of dead enemy soldiers, killed earlier by B52 strikes and artillery.

In the southern part of town, mass graves dug by bulldozers sold the bodies of hundreds of persons—civilians and military from both sides.

The best official estimate so far—given by an American who was there—is that 2,000 South Vietnamese soldiers and an equal number of civilians have died during the stage of An Loc, which began April 7.

About 800 wounded South Vietnamese were still awaiting evacuation from An Loc. They were waiting, or being carried on stretchers, to a newly established helicopter pickup point hidden in the rubber trees along Highway 13 just south of town. The site was under occasional enemy fire, however, and more casualties were taken as the rockets and mortar shells fell.

Until Highway 13, the Helms from Saigon, is open all the way, allied officers and the stage of An Loc will not be ended. They call that a matter of days.

More Cuts Needed in School Budget

The Board of Education concluded last night's meeting without balancing the budget for the 1972-73 fiscal year. It has to cut an additional $214 from the total recommended by the Town Council to be used for education for the coming year.

Cuts were made in the remodeling account totaling $1,885; pupil transportation services, $5,000; teaching supplies, $6,000; and from the PPSB accounting system being prepared for full implementation in two years, $2,000.

This still left the board with $231 overexpended with an estimated $8,800 suggested to be set aside to pay for electricity which was not accounted for when the budget was drawn up and before the Connecticut Light and Power Co. received approval for an additional rate increase.

According to School Superintendent Charles Warner, an increase of $6,827 kilowatt hours was recorded as used over the previous year totals and is responsible for the substantial and unexpected overexpenditure of the 1971-72 account. Warner did not elaborate as the cause of the hour used increase, but did point out that at the all-electric Eli Terry School, the relatively mild winter was reflected in the kilowatt hours which had decreased 2,700 hours.

Warner had suggested that the board consider cutting the CREC and METRO programs from the budget in order that the electricity account be covered. He also suggested that some of the costs be absorbed by the teacher's salaries account which will be changed. He said four teachers have retired from the system who had reached the maximum salary level and replacements will be hired at lower salaries.

GOP Claims New Deterrent To Block in Revamp Law

HARTFORD (AP) — Republican officials are seeking a reappointment order to remove an obstructionist from Judge Sidor, GOP found by Democratic officials in the way of implementing last year's legislative reapportionment plan. The objection is a law passed this year by the General Assembly suspending all nominating and election procedures for state legislators until a reapportionment plan is approved by a "court of competent jurisdiction."

Republicans say such a court could well be that of Superior Court Judge Walter Sidor, who had been asked last year to correct the defects in the Republican-drafted 1971 plan and it implemented. The law suspended that law until the U.S. Supreme Court Monday when it "stayed" the entry of an order by District Court's injunction against the plan, which had enacted this year after the low-pollution plan was rejected or federal court had rejected it implemented. Stamps In the News

By SYD KRONBERG AP Newsmagazine It isn't often an airline stewardess gets an opportunity to be featured on a postage stamp, but it has just happened on a new 10-cent issue.

Depicted in the foreground is the stewardess wearing the airline's original uniform. In the rear is a brilliantly striped orange, yellow and cerise DC-8 against the background of the island's Blue Mountains.

The 4-cent stamp in this set shows an aerial view of the Causeway in Kingston, Jamaica. Eight additional stamps were issued by Jamaica at the same time as part of its latest definitive series.

The Republic of China on Taiwan now is preparing for its first international stamp show scheduled Oct. 24 at the National Historical Museum in Taipei.

On the other side of the Pacific, right here in this country, the recent Stamp Expo '72, held in Anaheim, Calif., broke all attendance records for such exhibits sponsored by the International Stamp Collectors Society.

One of the highlights of the show was a precious collection from the U.S. Postal Service Philatelic Museum of die proofs of U.S. stamps from 1847 to 1967.

Did you ever hear of the following flowers: Diddle dee, scurvy grass, prickly burr, fuchsia, lavender and fenton's flower?

The world's first postage stamp was the famous "Penny Black" of 1840 issued by Great Britain and featuring a profile portrait of Queen Victoria.

Even if a person doesn't specialize in Great Britain's adhesives, it is always nice to say that one has a "Penny Black" of 1840 in his collection.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"You Dirty Crook!"

Baseball umpires and football referees take it in stride. But there are times when the cry "You dirty crook!" or words to that effect—can amount to slander.

How the courts look upon such outbursts tells a great deal about the law of defamation of character.

Take this case: During an argument at a golf course, one player called another "a lousy crook." The latter filed suit for slander, charging that the epithet had branded him as a common criminal.

But the court disagreed. At least in this situation, said the court, the words were no more than generalized bluster.

Oliver Wendell Holmes once expressed the law's attitude as follows:

"A word is not a crystal, transparent and unchanged; it is the skin of a living thought, and may vary greatly in color and content according to the circumstances and the time in which it is used."

Accordingly, another court found it was indeed defamatory for a jeweler to say of a rival jeweler that he was "a crook mixed up in some crooked deals."

This time the comment, made during a business conference, was clearly meant to be taken literally.

Even in a non-business setting, this kind of language may be defamatory. At a club meeting, one of the members denounced the club president as "a cheat and a fraud." In short order, the president filed suit for slander.

In a court hearing he pointed out that the remark had been made not merely as a general insult but as a specific comment on his performance in office. The court decided that, since the office was one of trust and honor, the words were weighty enough to support a suit.

"Those words," said the judge, "cannot be taken in confidence in the (president's) ability to hold the office."

State Leasing Plan Supported

HARTFORD (AP) — In light of recent attacks on the state's policy of leasing instead of buying or building various properties, state Public Works Commissioner Edward Koslowick Tuesday came to the defense of the leasing program.

Koslowick said it would take more than $100 million in capital outlay to provide the property now leased to the state for various operations.

In testimony before the General Assembly's State and Urban Development Commission, Koslowick said that the state has reduced its leases from 372 to 352, adding that the current cost of those leases is $7,823,400.

The legislative committee Koslowick appeared before is reviewing the state leasing policy and Koslowick told the committee that his department is conducting a complete review of the program.

State Sen. George L. Gunther, R-Stratford, has severely criticized the program. He said that rentals increased from $4,365,000 in 1969 to $6,200,000 in the last fiscal year. Gunther recently called the leasing program inefficient and costly.

PORT MORRISBY, New Guinea (AP) — The Australian Army said today it has nearly finished destroying 1,450 American poison gas bombs sent to New Guinea in 1962 for use in retaliation if Japan had resorted to gas.

Disposal squads in the past 18 months have destroyed 1,400 of the phosgene and cyanide bombs and are working on the last 50, said Capt. Derek Taylor, an army spokesman.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt warned Japan that a retaliatory system was being developed if the Japanese used gas as they had done against the Chinese from 1937 to 1941.

Phosgene, used in World War I, severely irritates the respiratory system. Various derivatives of cyanide under certain conditions could cause instant death to entire regiments. Cyanides are used in penitentiary gas chambers.

School Gets Teacher Aid On Ecology

Through the combined efforts of the Federal Garden Clubs of Connecticut and the Women's Committee of the Connecticut Farm Bureau and through the generosity of the Hebron Chapter, the Gilead Hill School has been presented a series of eight volumes of Teachers' Guides to Conservation Education, "People and Their Environment."

This plan to reach this goal by making available to the state's elementary and secondary teachers the appropriate volume of the guides which will provide the teachers with a method and a means to instill in their students an understanding and appreciation of our natural, economic and human resources.

The series was written and edited by Dr. Matthew J. Brennan, who presently is director of the Breen Environmental Center in Milford, Pennsylvania, and a consultant to the House Committee on Education for the Environmental Education Act.

Previously, Dr. Brennan served as a specialist for elementary science in the U.S. Office of Education, as Chief of Conservation Education for the U.S. Forest Service, and as Director of the Pinchot Institute for Conservation Studies in Milford, Pa.

The author of numerous articles and textbooks, his book, "The World of Living Things," was the first science text which used conservation as its basic theme.

The third volume deals with Science, the fourth and fifth with social studies for Grades 7, 8 and 9 and for Grades 10, 11 and 12.

And the subjects of the last three volumes cover Outdoor Laboratory, Soil, Economics and Biology.

The Gilead Hill School is fortunate in that it has received the entire eight volume series as a gift from the now dissolved Hebron Chapter 11.

The Grange wished to make a donation in the community with funds left in its treasury and chose this worthwhile project.

Mrs. Douglas Porter, local member and vice-chairman of the Connecticut Farm Bureau Women's committee as well as chairman of the Women's Committee of the Tolland County Farm Bureau, said she was pleased that through community efforts, the entire series will also be available to the Hebron Elementary School.

She mentioned that the project has ready to go the enthusiastic support of Connecticut Commissioner of Education Dr. William B. Sanders and State Commissioner of Agriculture and Natural Resources John T. Macdonald.

Macdonald has stated that "these instructional aids provide an excellent and most needed resource to elementary and secondary level teachers who are seeking a means for instruction in basic conservation principles."

"I recommend," he added, "the curriculum guides to every teacher, administrator and school board member concerned with providing a sound conservation education program for his community."

And this is exactly what the Federal Garden Clubs of Connecticut and the Women's Committee of the Connecticut Farm Bureau are attempting to do.

Anyone interested in further information regarding the project may call Mrs. Porter.

West Hartford Budget Sliced

WEST HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — The Town Council unanimously adopted a $44.3 million budget Tuesday night after cutting almost $1 million from budget requests.

The new budget gives the town a 59-mill tax rate, two mills higher than the current rate.

Included in the cuts by the council was $500,000 slashed from the Board of Education request. That was more than had ever been cut from the education budget and it came despite School Supt. Charles O. Rivo's warning that cuts of over $500,000 would mean disaster for the school system.

Book Review

IRRELIANT DEFENSE. By John Nicholas Hammel. Dutton. With the hammock days of summer approaching, here's a well-thought-out thriller to read to fill the hours.

Hammel, a New York City lawyer, has taken a contemporary situation which may well end and made out of it a tight tale that races along without inducing even a stifled yawn along the way.

The plot is built on the premise that there is a group of blacks no longer willing to settle for the drapings from organized crime while white mobsters scoop off the gravy. It is an effort to muscle into the white-dominated big time, the blacks kidnap several minor mobsters and then grab a big one—the head of a Sicilian Family.

The kidnaped man, Ed Angaletti, apparently is the only one in his gang with any real brains. But his men are smart enough to know that if they can't figure out a way to get him back alive they can get someone who can. The man they get is Gianni Aquilino, once a very big man in the mob but retired for some years.

The character of Aquilino is the best Iannuzzi has drawn in this book. The man's thinking processes are fascinating to follow, the complete logic of his moves always icily right. What Aquilino does—and does not do—in the race to recover his kidnaped friend is the nub of the book and to reveal what happens would be unfair. It is, however, worth reading the book to find out.

A CONCISE HISTORY OF RUSSIA. By Ronald Hingley. Viking Press. $14. With American-Soviet relations poised for a new stage since President Nixon's summit visit to Moscow, the time is apt for an informative but compact history of Russia and the Soviet Union for the ordinary reader.

Hingley, a university lecturer in Russian at Oxford University and a fellow at St. Anthony's College there, goes a long way to meeting this need. While he frankly acknowledges that the very compactness he strives for lays him open to challenge on every page by authorities in this or that field, he tells a convincing, consecutive story from the dawn of Old Russian history around Kiev in the 9th century A.D. to today's U.S.S.R. of Leonid Brezhnev and Alexei Kosygin.

For some years the criterion of such a work has been "A History of Russia" by the late British authority, Sir Bernard Pares. While Pares' book affords more explanation and detail of earlier Russian history, it devotes a smaller proportion to the revolutionary and post-revolutionary period, coming down only to Stalin. By contrast, nearly a third of Hingley's history deals with the Communist era.

And it has one feature which Pares lacks: Numerous fascinating line drawings, paintings, reproductions and photographs, all in black and white, illustrating his story, from pre-Christian times to today's communist.

Hingley's brief characterizations and comparisons generally carry conviction. For instance, he finds no ruler in the long tragedy that is Russia so going off and threatening to go real much like the instantly brutal off all over the place in real

Nixon Daughters In Dedication

Mayor Balks On Term Limit

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Mayor Frank Rizzo has hatched a two-term limit on Philadelphia mayors.

Rizzo wanted the change in the city's charter placed on the November ballot, along with a plan to let the city accept bids other than the lowest.

Asked at a news conference Tuesday if he was moving too quickly, Rizzo, who took office this year, said, "I think you're right. Maybe we shouldn't move it that fast."

His mid-voters could decide on charter changes after an 11-member commission, appointed by himself and City Council President George Schwartz, submits the changes to a referendum.

Coventry

Joint Effort Starts on Septic Tank Problem

Lake area residents, most of them from the Lakeview Terrace development, signed up last night to seek collective help for their individual septic tank failures, indicating their willingness to comply with pollution abatement orders recently issued to some homeowners by the town of Coventry.

The affected residents, meeting with their attorney, David Rappe, and Town Councilman Richard Brauni were told by the town that the town can take legal action against residents who do not comply with the state health codes in the specifications for their septic systems.

The problem as outlined by both residents and Rappe last night is not a new one, but seems to have hit particularly hard this year for two reasons: the unusually wet conditions, plus the fact that the town is "cracking down" on septic violations in an effort to curb some lake area pollution problems.

Those residents who received orders have 30 days by which to at least show their willingness to comply, and must submit plans drawn by a qualified engineer with some certainty that the system will work for a reasonable period of time.

Brauni said that such systems must have a guarantee of 10 years proper functioning is mistaken. He said that the engineer must offer the guarantee of "reasonable" length of time as a protection for the resident who is seeking the plans.

Reasons for issuance of the orders was explained by Rappe, who cited the unusually high water level, coupled with performance of dye tests on properties that indicate septic tank effluent and waste is coming to the surface.

He cited temporary measures that can be taken to alleviate, at least somewhat, individual problems. These include lowering the level of the lake, taking showers instead of baths, eliminating or lessening the use of dishwashers and washing machines, and adjusting toilets to require less water for flushing.

Residents themselves felt that they must be made by the council by Sept. when the town must again appear before the State Water Resources Commission with a plan on how to curb lake pollution.

About Town

The Assumption Junior High School Chorus Class will hold a paper drive in the church parking lot Saturday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Pickup service may be obtained by calling the school office through Friday until 5 p.m. Papers should be tied.

At of now, it appears that each plan commands only the backing of 30 to 35 senators, well under the majority of 61 needed for passage.

Ribicoff has been negotiating with the administration, but says that so far the President apparently hasn't given the word to swing the administration behind a compromise.

Million Spent in Air Force Depressure Tests

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Last year the U.S. Air Force spent more than $1 million sending 18,000 pilots and flight crew members through pressure chambers to simulate rapid decompression, the emergency descent of an airplane.

But America's major airlines, which carried 182 million passengers in the United States last year, don't require this emergency training for their pilots and stewardesses, a poll indicated Tuesday Federal Aviation Administration regulations don't require it.

Only pilots with military experience and a handful of stewardesses know what it feels like when the unexpected bang comes, followed by a whoosh of air, a cold mist fogging the cabin, and objects whistling about.

The incident Monday night raises new questions about whether such training should be mandatory for airline crews.

Meatcutters Beef About Salary Range

HARTFORD (AP)—The federal Pay Board and butchers for First National Stores and Grand Union Supermarkets in Connecticut are involved in a beef over salaries.

The Amalgamated Meatcutters and Butcherment's Union, Local 371, is preparing to negotiate wage increases negotiated in February, 1971, according to Robert Petronella, local president.

At the time of negotiations, the contract with First National set the pattern for meatcutters in New England and provided for consecutive annual increases of 10 and 11 per cent in a two-year contract.

The 11 per cent hike, which went into effect in February, 1971, is being challenged.

The meatcutters' contract with Grand Union, which is similar to the First National agreement, was also agreed on during the winter of 1971.

"Such an expression of support means a great deal to a Democrat," said McGovern, who trails far behind Humphrey in delegate said he saw "substantial support."

Humphrey Chases Southern Vote

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)— McGovern's campaign for the presidential nomination is being challenged by Humphrey in the South Carolina's 23rd convention which McGovern pledged delegates are expected to win.

Humphrey flew here Tuesday from delegates-in-training in Texas, seats at stake. McGovern delegates are expected to win the state legislature, pledged delegates are running, drew warm support from his own supporters in the state.

McGovern Shines For New Yorkers

NEW YORK (AP)— Sen. George McGovern, back for another day of campaigning and rally and concert at Madison Square Garden, has challenged race for the Democratic nomination in the Albany region, today's news conference to disclose the names of those who contributed more than $1 million to his re-election fund.

Finley New Owner Of Memphis Pros

NEW YORK (AP)—In this age of sports expansion, the American Basketball Association is contracting. But the league is adding one of sports' most colorful owners — Charles O. Finley.

An 11-team league since its birth in 1967, the ABA will operate only nine clubs next season. The Pittsburgh Condors and the Florida Pros were dissolved Tuesday.

At the same time, the controversial Finley, who says his middle initial is "O for owner," acquired the Memphis Pros, leaving football as the only major professional sport that he's not involved in as a proprietor. He already owns baseball's Oakland A's and hockey's California Golden Seals.

While Finley was saving the Pros with a last-minute offer, the ABA's two other insolvent franchisees—the Pittsburgh Condors and the Florida Pros—were going down the drain.

Commissioner Jack Dolph, who has submitted his resignation, effective when his three-year contract expires in October, disclosed the news late Tuesday.

The league has purchased, at undisclosed terms, the franchises of Florida and Pittsburgh, and approved the sale of the Memphis franchise to Charles O. Finley," said the commissioner.

Dolph explained that Finley's acquisition of the Pittsburgh and Florida Pros is subject to approval in principle by the Memphis stockholders and the league's board of directors. The Pros currently are a community-owned team, with more than 4,000 stockholders having paid $5 a share last year to keep the team alive.

Representatives of the Pros and league attorney Martin Heller were in Chicago today to confer with Finley.

Terms of the deal were not released, but it was learned Finley placed $100,000 in the ABA's bank account Tuesday to cover the Pros' debts to the league. He reportedly will assume Memphis' other debts.

Finley moved into the Memphis picture when Landrum Napper Sr., Dallas businessman, withdrew their offer of $12 million for the Pros.

Efforts to save the Pittsburgh and Florida franchises, were not successful. The Condors, reportedly, were going to move to New Haven, Conn., and the Florida Pros were going to be sold to Dallas and Memphis.

"All the decisions we made were designed to strengthen us as a league," Dolph said. "We have pruned our league to what we call the variety."

Following the announcements concerning the three weak franchisees, the Trustees reconvened and worked out a dispersal of the struggling draft of the Pittsburgh and Florida players.

Memphis, which had finished last in the West Division last season, was given the first pick and took Pittsburgh's George Thompson, who had averaged 27 points per game last season. The Florida's Warren Jabali, a 20-point scorer.

Carolina followed by taking Mike Briska of Pittsburgh and Dallas tabbed the Condors' Finley placed $100,000 in the ABA's bank account Tuesday to cover the Pros' debts to the league. He reportedly will assume Memphis' other debts.

Pebble Beach Finest Strategy Course in World

Nicklaus Solid 6-1 Choice To Add Leg to Grand Slam

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Jack Nicklaus carries a torch for Pebble Beach with a golf course into the 72nd U.S. Open championship Thursday as the solid 6-1 favorite to add his second leg to an unprecedented professional Grand Slam.

"This is the finest strategy golf course in the world," Nicklaus said. "It's a position course. You must place your tee shots in the right position."

Nicklaus, who needs to add to his U.S. and the British and the U.S. PGA to his list of 12 major championships to complete a sweep that has escaped all golfing giants of the past, was asked by one interviewer what is his favorite course.

He needed only a moment to reply.

"Like Pebble Beach better than any of them," he said. "It was here that he won one of his U.S. Amateur titles during 1961, and the Crosby in 1967 and 1972."

Nicklaus' ardor for the 6,818-yard course that winds along the crashing waves of Carmel Bay is not shared by many of the amateurs who have competed at Pebble Beach links that he has most of the other 149 competitors chewing on their fingernails.

"You have to use your head to win here," Nicklaus added. "The Augusta is a position course. You must place your tee shots in the right position."

Shoemaker 'Little Excited' Over Richest Match Race

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—$100,000 so it would be only fair to consider the remainder of the purse for feet.

Neither jockey wants to award points for this race. Both agree in American history has him "a little excited."

Owners Fletcher Jones of Typecast and Leonard Levin of Convenience want to find out who is the better horse, so they've put up $100,000 each for a 1.8-mile showdown Saturday at Hollywood Park. Another $50,000 was added by Hollywood Turf Club, making it a $250,000 winner-take-all race.

The 60-year-old shoemaker who has won purses amounting to more than $47 million in 23 years of riding, pilot Typecast, Jerry Lambert, 31, will be aboard the gelding. Each of the gals must carry 120 pounds.

"It's something different something that doesn't happen all the time," explains Shoemaker of his first ride. He has ridden 95 winners of $100,000 races, but the winning ride Saturday could receive a reward equal to three or four hundred-granders.

"We haven't discussed much," the Sho says, "but I imagine it will be 30 per cent of $100,000. The man is putting up

Erving Suing To Break Pact

NEW YORK (AP)—Julius Erving, an American Basketball Association player who has signed a contract with Atlanta of the National Basketball Association, is suing to break his pact with Virginia of the ABA, The Daily News reported Tuesday night.

The newspaper said a federal grand jury has indicted Erving for breaching his contract with Virginia.
